speaketh with thee. ⁵Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is mighty and valiant of courage. ⁶He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted. ⁷He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with Kings in ye throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted. ⁸And if they bee bound in fetters and tyed with the cordes of affliction, ⁹Then will he shewe them their worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude. ¹⁰He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquity. ¹¹If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperity, and their yeres in pleasures. ¹²But if they wil not obey, they shall passe by the sworde, and perish without knowledge. ¹³But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them. ¹⁴Their soule dyeth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers. ¹⁵He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble. ¹⁶Euen so woulde he haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broade place and not shut vp beneath: and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat. ¹⁷But thou art ful of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things. ¹⁸For Gods wrath is, least hee should take that away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee. ¹⁹Wil he regard thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excel in strength. ²⁰Be not carefull in the night, howe he destroyeth the people out of their place. ²¹Take thou heede: looke not to iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction. ²²Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him? ²³Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly? ²⁴Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold. ²⁵All men see it, and men beholde it afarre off. ²⁶Beholde, God is excellent, and we knowe him not, neither can the nomber of his yeres bee searched out. ²⁷When he restraineth the droppes of water, the rayne powreth down by the vapour thereof, ²⁸Which raine the cloudes do droppe and let fall abundantly vpon man. ²⁹Who can know the diuisions of ye clouds and the thunders of his tabernacle? ³⁰Beholde, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea. ³¹For thereby hee iudgeth the people, and giueth meate abundantly. ³²He couereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to go against it. ³³His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

¹At this also mine heart is astonied, and is mooued out of his place. ²Heare the sound of his voyce, and the noyse that goeth out of his mouth. ³He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the endes of the world. ⁴After it a noyse soundeth: hee thundereth with the voyce of his maiestie, and hee will not stay them when his voyce is heard. ⁵God thundereth marueilously with his voyce: he worketh great things, which we know not. ⁶For he sayth to the snowe, Be thou vpon the earth: likewise to the small rayne and to the great rayne of his power. ⁷With the force thereof he shutteth vp euery man, that all men may knowe his worke. ⁸Then the beastes go into the denne, and remaine in their places. ⁹The whirlewind commeth out of the South, and the colde from the North winde. ¹⁰At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters is made narrowe. ¹¹He maketh also the cloudes to labour, to water the earth, and scattereth the cloude of his light. ¹²And it is turned about by his gouernment, that they may doe whatsoeuer he commandeth them vpon the whole worlde: ¹³Whether it be for punishment, or for his lande, or of mercie, he causeth it to come. ¹⁴Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand and consider the wonderous workes of God. ¹⁵Diddest thou knowe when God disposed them? and caused the light of his cloud to shine? ¹⁶Hast thou knowen the varietie of the cloude, and the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge? ¹⁷Or howe thy clothes are warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South winde? ¹⁸Hast thou stretched out the heaues, which are strong, and as a molten glasse? ¹⁹Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we can not dispose our matter because of darknes. ²⁰Shall it be told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shalbe destroyed? ²¹And nowe men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and clenseth them. ²²The brightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible. ²³It is the Almightye: we can not finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he afflicteth not. ²⁴Let men therefore feare him: for he will not regarde any that are wise in their owne conceit.

¹Then answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirle winde, and said, ²Who is this that darkeneth the counsell by wordes without knowledge? ³Girde vp nowe thy loynes like a man: I will demande of thee and declare thou vnto me. ⁴Where wast thou when I layd the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast vnderstanding, ⁵Who hath layde the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it: ⁶Whereupon are the foundations thereof set: or who layed the corner stone thereof: ⁷When the starres of the morning prayed me together, and all the children of God reioycd: ⁸Or who hath shut vp the Sea with doores, when it yssued and came foorth as out of the wombe: ⁹When I made the cloudes as a couering thereof, and darkenesse as the swadeling bands thereof: ¹⁰When I stablished my commandement vpon it, and set barres and doores, ¹¹And said, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no farther, and here shall it stay thy proude waues. ¹²Hast thou commanded the morning since thy dayes? hast thou caused the morning to knowe his place, ¹³That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be shaken out of it? ¹⁴It is turned as clay to facion, and all stand vp as a garment. ¹⁵And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, and the hie arme shalbe broken. ¹⁶Hast thou entred into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth? ¹⁷Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or hast thou seene the gates of the shadowe of death? ¹⁸Hast thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knowest all this. ¹⁹Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkenesse, ²⁰That thou shouldest receiue it in the boundes thereof, and that thou shouldest knowe the paths to the house thereof? ²¹Knewest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and because the number of thy dayes is great? ²²Hast thou entred into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seene the treasures of ye haile, ²³Which I haue hid against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell? ²⁴By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East winde vpon the earth? ²⁵Who hath deuided the spowtes for the raine? or the way for the lightning of ye thunders, ²⁶To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wildernes where there is no man? ²⁷To fulfil the wilde and waste place, and to cause the bud of the herbe to spring forth? ²⁸Who is the father of the rayne? or who hath begotten the droppes of the dewe? ²⁹Out of whose wombe came the yee? who hath ingendred the frost of the heauen? ³⁰The waters are hid as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frozen. ³¹Canst thou restraine the sweete influences of the Pleiades? or loose the bandes of Orion? ³²Canst thou bring foorth Mazzaroth in their time?

 canst thou also guide Arcturus with his sonnes? ³³Knowest thou the course of heauen, or canst thou set the rule thereof in the earth? ³⁴Canst thou lift vp thy voice to the cloudes that the aboundance of water may couer thee? ³⁵Canst thou sende the lightnings that they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loe, heere we are? ³⁶Who hath put wisdom in the reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding? ³⁷Who can nomber cloudes by wisdom? or who can cause to cease the bottels of heaue, ³⁸When the earth groweth into hardnesse, and the clottes are fast together? ³⁹Wylt thou hunt the pray for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelpes, ⁴⁰When they couche in their places, and tarie in the couert to lye in wayte? ⁴¹Who prouideth meate for the rauens, when his young ones crye vnto God, and flee about for lacke of meate?

CHAPTER 39

¹Wilt thou hunt the pray for the lyon? Or fill the appetite of the lyons whelpes, ²When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lye in waite? ³Who prepareth for the rauens his meate, when his birdes crie vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?
⁴Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring foorth yong?
 Or doest thou marke when the hindes doe calue? ⁵Canst thou 1000pieth the 1000pieth that they fulfill? Or knowest thou the time when they bring foorth? ⁶They bow them selues: they bruise their yong and cast out their sorowes. ⁷Yet their yong waxe fatte, and growe vp with corne: they goe foorth and returne not vnto them. ⁸Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? Or who hath loosed the bondes of the wilde asse? ⁹It is I which haue made the wilderness his house, and the salt places his dwellings. ¹⁰He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the crie of the driuer. ¹¹He seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing. ¹²Will the vnicorne serue thee? Or will he tary by thy cribbe? ¹³Canst thou binde the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrowe? Or will he plowe the 1001pieth1001 after thee? ¹⁴Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him? ¹⁵Wilt thou beleue him, that he will bring home thy seede, and gather it vnto thy barne? ¹⁶Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the 1001pieth1001p? Or winges and feathers vnto the ostriche? ¹⁷Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them hote in the dust, ¹⁸And forgetteth that the foote might scatter the, or that the wild beast might breake the. ¹⁹He sheweth 1001pieth1001 cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauailed in vaine. ²⁰For God had depriued him of wisdom, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding. ²¹When time is, he mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider. ²²Hast thou giuen the horse strength? Or couered his necke with neying? ²³Hast thou made him afraid as the 1001pieth1001pper? His strong neying is fearefull. ²⁴He diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth in his strength: he goeth foorth to meete the harnest man. ²⁵He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sworde, ²⁶Though the quier rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield. ²⁷He swalloweth the ground for fearcenes and rage, and he beleueth not that it is the noise of the trumpet. ²⁸He sayth among the trumpets, Ha, ha: hee smellleth the battell afarre off, and the noyse of the captaines, and the shouting. ²⁹Shall the hauke flie by thy wisdom, stretching out his wings toward the South? ³⁰Doeth the eagle mount vp at thy commandment, or make his nest on hie? (Job) Shee abideth and remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the toppe of the rocke, and the tower. : (Job) From thence shee 1002pieth for meate, and her eyes beholde afarre off. : (Job) His young ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine are, there is she. : (Job) Moreouer ye Lord spake vnto Iob, and said, : (Job) Is this to learne to strue with the Almighty? He that reprooueth God, let him answere to it. : (Job) Then Iob answered the Lord, saying, : (Job) Beholde, I am vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth. : (Job) Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea twise, but I will proceede no further. :

¹Againe the Lord answered Iob out of the whirle winde, and said, ²Girde vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demaunde of thee, and declare thou vnto me. ³Wilt thou

disanul my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayst be iustified? ⁴Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him? ⁵Decke thy selfe now with maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glory. ⁶Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proude, and abase him. ⁷Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place. ⁸Hide them in the dust together, and binde their faces in a secret place. ⁹Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can saue thee. ¹⁰Behold now Behemoth (whom I made with thee) which eateth grasse as an ox. ¹¹Behold now, his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the naui of his belly. ¹²When hee taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar: the sinews of his stones are wrapt together. ¹³His bones are like stauies of brasse, and his small bones like stauies of yron. ¹⁴He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: he that made him, will make his sworde to approach vnto him.

¹⁵Surely the mountaines bring him forth grasse, where all the beastes of the fielde play. ¹⁶Lyeth hee vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes? ¹⁷Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuier compasse him about? ¹⁸Behold, he spoyleth the riuier, and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth. ¹⁹Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him. ²⁰Canst thou drawe out Liuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue? ²¹Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou perce his iawes with an angle? ²²Will he make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire? ²³Will hee make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer? ²⁴Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bynd him for thy maydes? (Job :) Shall the companions baket with him? shall they deuide him among the marchants? (Job :) Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fishpanier with his head? (Job :) Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battel, and do no more so. (Job :) Behold, his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

¹None is so fearece that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand before me? ²Who hath preuented mee that I shoulde make an ende? Al vnder heauen is mine. ³I will not keepe silence concerning his partes, nor his power nor his comely proportion. ⁴Who can discouer the face of his garmet? or who shall come to him with a double bridle? ⁵Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about. ⁶The maiestie of his scales is like strog shields, and are sure sealed. ⁷One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them. ⁸One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundered. ⁹His niesings make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning. ¹⁰Out of his mouth go lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.

¹¹Out of his nostrels commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron. ¹²His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth. ¹³In his necke remayneth strength, and labour is reiected before his face.

¹⁷When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergeon.

¹⁸He esteemeth yron as strawe, and brasse as rotten wood. ¹⁹The archer canot make him flee: ye stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him: ²⁰The dartes are counted as strawe: and hee laugheth at the shaking of the speare. ²¹Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre. ²²He maketh the depth to boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oyntment. ²³He maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.

²⁴In the earth there is none like him: hee is made without feare.

²⁵He beholdeth al hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

¹Then Iob answered the Lord, and sayd, ²I knowe that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hidde from thee.

³Who is hee that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderfull for me, and which I knew not.

⁴Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demaunde of thee, and declare thou vnto me. ⁵I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee. ⁶Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes. ⁷Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, ye Lord also said vnto Eliphaz ye Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for yee haue not spoken of me the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

⁸Therefore take vnto you nowē seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and go to my seruānt Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruānt Iob shall pray for you: for I wil accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing, which is right, like my seruānt Iob. ⁹So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had saide vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob. ¹⁰Then the Lord turned the captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before. ¹¹Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for al the euil, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of golde. ¹²So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had foureteene thousand sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses. ¹³He had also seue sonnes, and three daughters. ¹⁴And he called the name of one Iemimah, and the name of the seconde Keziah, and the name of the third Kerenhappuch. ¹⁵In all the lande were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritaunce among their brethren. ¹⁶And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeres, and sawe his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations. ¹⁷So Iob dyed, being old, and full of dayes.

PSALMS

¹Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in ye seate of the scornfull: ²But his delite is in the Lawe of the Lord, and in his Lawe doeth he meditate day and night. ³For he shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruite in due season: whose leafe shall not fade: so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper. ⁴The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away. ⁵Therefore the wicked shall not stande in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assemblie of the righteous. ⁶For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

¹Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmure in vaine? ²The Kings of the earth band themselues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ. ³Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cordes from vs. ⁴But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision. ⁵Then shall hee speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexee them in his sore displeasure, saying, ⁶Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine. ⁷I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me, 'Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee. ⁸Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the endes of the earth for thy possession. ⁹Thou shalt krush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessell. ¹⁰Be wise nowe therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth. ¹¹Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling. ¹²Kisse the sonne, least he be angry, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne. blessed are all that trust in him.

¹A Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalom. Lord, howe are mine aduersaries increased? howe many rise against me? ²Many say to my soule, 'There is no helpe for him in God. Selah. ³But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head. ⁴I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah. ⁵I layed me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord susteined me. ⁶I will not be afrayde for ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about. ⁷O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked. ⁸Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid. Heare me when I call, O God of my righteousnes: thou hast set me at libertie, when I was in distresse: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer. ²O ye sonnes of men, howe long will yee turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lyes? Selah. ³For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him. ⁴Tremble, and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah. ⁵Offer the sacrifices of righteousnes, and trust in the Lord. ⁶Many say, Who will shewe vs any good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs. ⁷Thou hast giuen mee more ioye of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine did abound. ⁸I will lay mee downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou, Lord, onely makest me dwell in safetie.

¹To him that excelleth upon Nehiloth. A Psalme of Dauid. Heare my wordes, O Lord: vnderstande my meditation. ²Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray. ³Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will waite. ⁴For thou art not a God that loueth wickednes: neither shall euill dwell with thee. ⁵The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie. ⁶Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes: the Lord will abhorre the bloodie man and deceitfull. ⁷But I wil come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple. ⁸Leade me, O Lord, in thy righteousnes, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face. ⁹For no constancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue. ¹⁰Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee. ¹¹And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee. ¹²For thou Lord wilt blesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compasse him, as with a shielde.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth upon the eith tune. A Psalme of Daud. O lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. ²Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for my bones are vexed. ³My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay? ⁴Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake. ⁵For in death there is no remembrance of thee:

in the graue who shall prayse thee? ⁶I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares. ⁷Mine eye is dimmed for despight, and sunke in because of all mine enemies. ⁸Away from mee all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping. ⁹The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer. ¹⁰All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame suddenly.

¹Shigaion of Daud, which he sang unto the Lord, concerning the wordes of Chush the sonne of Iemini. O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust: saue me from all that persecute me, and deliuer me, ²Least he deuoure my soule like a lion, and teare it in pieces, while there is none to helpe. ³O Lord my God, if I haue done this thing, if there be any wickednes in mine handes, ⁴If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with mee, (yea I haue deliuered him that vexed me without cause) ⁵Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him treade my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah. ⁶Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the iudgement that thou hast appointed. ⁷So shall the Congregation of the people compasse thee about: for their sakes therefore returne on hie.

⁸The Lord shall iudge the people:
 Iudge thou me, O Lord,
 according to my righteousness, and according to mine innocencie, that is in mee. ⁹Oh let the malice of the wicked come to an ende: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins. ¹⁰My defence is in God, who preserueth the vpriht in heart. ¹¹God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God euery day.
¹²Except he turne, he hath whet his sword: he hath bent his bowe and made it readie. ¹³Hee hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordeine his arrowes for them that persecute me. ¹⁴Beholde, hee shall trauaile with wickednes: for he hath conceiued mischief, but he shall bring foorth a lye. ¹⁵Hee hath made a pitte and digged it, and is fallen into the pit that he made.

¹⁶His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, and his crueltie shall fall vpon his owne pate. ¹⁷I wil praise the Lord according to his righteousness, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

¹To him that excelleth on Gittith.
 A Psalme of Dauid. O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the worlde! which hast set thy glory aboue the heauens. ²Out of the mouth of babes and suckelings hast thou ordeined strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the auenger.
³When I beholde thine heauens, euen the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordeined, ⁴What is man, say I, that thou art mindefull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him? ⁵For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship. ⁶Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feete: ⁷All sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beastes of the field: ⁸The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the paths of the seas. ⁹O Lord our Lord, howe excellent is thy Name in all the world!

CHAPTER 9

¹To him that excelleth vpon Muth Laben. A Psalme of Dauid. I will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake of all thy marueilous workes. ²I will bee glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High, ³For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall, and perish at thy presence. ⁴For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudgest right. ⁵Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and

euer. ⁶O enemie, destructions are come to a perpetual end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them. ⁷But the Lord shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement. ⁸For he shall iudge the worlde in righteousness, and shall iudge the people with equitie. ⁹The Lord also wil be a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction. ¹⁰And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee. ¹¹Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes. ¹²For whe he maketh inquisition for blood, hee remembreth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore. ¹³Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord: consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate mee, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death, ¹⁴That I may shewe all thy praises within the gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation. ¹⁵The heathen are sunken downe in the pit that they made: in the nette that they hid, is their foote taken. ¹⁶The Lord is known by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne handes. Higgaion. Selah. ¹⁷The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God. ¹⁸For the poore shall not bee alway forgotten: the hope of the afflicted shall not perish for euer. ¹⁹Vp Lord: let not man preuaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy sight. ²⁰Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may knowe that they are but men. Selah.

¹Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction? ²The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the craftes that they haue imagined. ³For the wicked hath made boast of his owne heartes desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord. ⁴The wicked is so proude that hee seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alwayes, 'There is no God. ⁵His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are hie aboue his sight: therefore defieth he all his enemies. ⁶He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger. ⁷His mouth is full of cursing and deceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie. ⁸He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth hee murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore. ⁹He lyeth in waite secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lyeth in waite to spoyle the poore: he doeth spoyle the poore, when he draweth him into his net. ¹⁰He croucheth and boweth: therefore heaps of the poore doe fall by his might. ¹¹He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see. ¹²Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hande: forget not the poore. ¹³Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God? he saith in his heart, 'Thou wilt not regard. ¹⁴Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse. ¹⁵Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searche his wickednes, and thou shalt finde none. ¹⁶The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed foorth of his land. ¹⁷Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bendest thine eare to them, ¹⁸To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man cause to feare no more.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid. In the Lord put I my trust: howe say yee then to my soule, Flee to your mountaine as a birde? ²For loe, the wicked bende their bowe, and make readie their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at them, which are vpriight in heart. ³For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done? ⁴The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lordes throne is in the heauen: his eyes wil consider: his eye lids will try the children of men. ⁵The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate. ⁶Vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the porcion of their cup. ⁷For the righteous Lord loueth righteousness: his countenance doeth beholde the iust.

¹To him that excelleth upon the eight tune. A Psalm of Dauid. Helpe Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are fayled from among the children of men. ²They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart. ³The Lord cut off all flattering lippes, and the tongue that speaketh proude things: ⁴Which haue saide, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs? ⁵Now for the oppression of the needy, and for the sighes of the poore, I will vp, sayeth the Lord, and will set at libertie him, whom the wicked hath snared. ⁶The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, as the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen folde. ⁷Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preserue him from this generation for euer. ⁸The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. Howe long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for euer? howe long wilt thou hide thy face from me? ²How long shall I take counsell within my selfe, hauing wearinesse dayly in mine heart? how long shall mine enemy be exalted aboue me? ³Beholde, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death: ⁴Lest mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide. ⁵But I trust in thy mercie: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lord, because he hath delt louingly with me.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. The foole hath said in his heart, There is no God: they haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good. ²The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God. ³All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one. ⁴Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord. ⁵There they shall be taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust. ⁶You haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust. ⁷Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

¹A Psalme of Dauid. Lord, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy Mountaine? ²He that walketh vprightly and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the trueth in his heart. ³He that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiueth a false report against his neighbour. ⁴In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not. ⁵He that giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh reward against the innocent: hee that doeth these things, shall neuer be moued.

¹Michtam of Dauid. Preserue mee, O God: for in thee doe I trust. ²O my soule, thou hast sayd vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my weldoing extendeth not to thee, ³But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delite is in them. ⁴The sorowes of them, that offer to an other god, shall be multiplied: their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make mention of their names with my lips. ⁵The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt mainteine my lot. ⁶The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage. ⁷I wil prayse the Lord, who hath giuen me counsell: my reines also teach me in the nightes. ⁸I haue set the Lord alwayes before me: for hee is at my right hand: therefore I shall not slide. ⁹Wherefore mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope. ¹⁰For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy one to see corruption. ¹¹Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is the fulnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

¹The prayer of Dauid. Heare the right, O Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfaigned. ²Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes beholde equitie. ³Thou hast prooued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend. ⁴Concerning the workes of men, by the wordes of thy lips I kept mee from the paths of the cruell man. ⁵Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feete doe not slide. ⁶I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my wordes. ⁷Shewe thy marueilous mercies, thou that art the Sauour of them that trust in thee, from such as resist thy right hand. ⁸Keepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadowe of thy wings, ⁹From the wicked that oppresse mee, from mine enemies, which compasse me round about for my soule. ¹⁰They are inclosed in their owne fat, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth. ¹¹They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground: ¹²Like as a lyon that is greedy of pray, and as it were a Lyons whelp lurking in secret places. ¹³Vp Lord, disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked with thy sworde, ¹⁴From men by thine hand, O Lord, from men of the world, who haue their portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their children haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children. ¹⁵But I will beholde thy face in righteousnes, and when I awake, I shalbe satisfied with thine image.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord delivered him for the hande of all this enemies, and from the hand of saul) and sayd, I will loue thee dearely, O Lord my strength. ²The Lord is my rocke, and my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the horne also of my saluation, and my refuge. ³I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be prayed: so shall I be safe from mine enemies. ⁴The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednes made me afraide. ⁵The sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me. ⁶But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye did come before him, euen into his eares. ⁷Then the earth trembled, and

quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angrie. ⁸Smoke went out at his nostrels, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat. ⁹He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and darkenes was vnder his feete. ¹⁰And he rode vpon Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde. ¹¹He made darkenes his secrete place, and his paulion round about him, euen darkenesse of waters, and cloudes of the ayre. ¹²At the brightnes of his presence his clouds passed, haylestones and coles of fire. ¹³The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue his voyce, haylestones and coales of fire. ¹⁴Then hee sent out his arrowes and scattedred them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them. ¹⁵And the chanel of waters were seene, and the foundations of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrels. ¹⁶He hath sent downe from aboue and taken mee: hee hath drawn mee out of many waters. ¹⁷He hath deliuered mee from my strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me. ¹⁸They preuented me in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay. ¹⁹Hee brought mee forth also into a large place: hee deliuered mee because hee fauoured me. ²⁰The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompensed me: ²¹Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God. ²²For all his Lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his commandements from mee. ²³I was vpriight also with him, and haue kept me from my wickednes. ²⁴Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness, and according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight. ²⁵With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpriight man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpriight. ²⁶With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shewe thy selfe froward. ²⁷Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proude lookes. ²⁸Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God wil lighten my darkenes. ²⁹For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall. ³⁰The way of God is vncorrupt: the worde of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him. ³¹For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God? ³²God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way vpright. ³³He maketh my feete like hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places. ³⁴He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of brasse is broken with mine armes. ³⁵Thou hast also giuen me the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy louing kindenes hath caused me to increase. ³⁶Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder mee, and mine heeles haue not slid. ³⁷I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them. ³⁸I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete. ³⁹For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me. ⁴⁰And thou hast giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me. ⁴¹They cryed but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but hee answered them not. ⁴²Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did treade them flat as the clay in the streetes. ⁴³Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not knowen, shall serue me. ⁴⁴As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shall be in subiection to me. ⁴⁵Strangers shall shrink away, and feare in their priuie chambers. ⁴⁶Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted. ⁴⁷It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me. ⁴⁸O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set mee vp from them, that rose against me: thou hast deliuered mee from the cruell man. ⁴⁹Therefore I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the nations, and wil sing vnto thy Name. ⁵⁰Great deliuerances giueth hee vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anoynted, euen to Dauid, and to his seede for euer.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid. The heauens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth ye worke of his hands. ²Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge. ³There is no speach nor language, where their voyce is not heard. ⁴Their line is gone forth through all the earth, and their words into the endes of the world: in them hath he set a tabernacle for the sunne. ⁵Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his chamber, and reioyceth like a mightie man to runne his race. ⁶His going out is from the ende of the heauen, and his compasse is vnto the endes of ye same, and none is hid from the heate thereof. ⁷The Lawe of the Lord is perfite, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisdom vnto the simple. ⁸The statutes of the Lord are right and reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes. ⁹The feare of the Lord is cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are truth: they are righteous altogether, ¹⁰And more to be desired then golde, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then honie and the honie combe. ¹¹Moreouer by them is thy seruant made circumspect, and in keeping of them there is great reward. ¹²Who can vnderstand his faultes? cense me from secret fautes. ¹³Keepe thy seruant also from presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer me: so shall I be vpriight, and made cleane from much wickednes. ¹⁴Let the wordes of my mouth, and the meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Daud. The Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the name of ye God of Iacob defend thee: ²Send thee helpe from the Sanctuarie, and strengthen thee out of Zion. ³Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes. Selah: ⁴And graunt thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose: ⁵That we may reioyce in thy saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions. ⁶Now know I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will heare him from his Sanctuarie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand. ⁷Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the Name of ye Lord our God. ⁸They are brought downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stand vpriight. ⁹Saue Lord: let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Daud. The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation! ²Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denyed him the request of his lips. Selah. ³For thou diddest preuent him with liberall blessings, and diddest set a crowne of pure gold vpon his head. ⁴He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer. ⁵His glory is great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou laid vpon him. ⁶For thou hast set him as blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance. ⁷Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercie of the most High, he shall not slide. ⁸Thine hand shall finde out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall finde out them that hate thee. ⁹Thou shalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them. ¹⁰Their fruite shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men. ¹¹For they intended euill against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not preuaile. ¹²Therefore shalt thou put them aparte, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make readie against their faces. ¹³Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and prayse thy power.

¹To him that excelleth upon Aiiieyth Hasshahar. A Psalme of Dauid. My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so farre from mine health, and from the wordes of my roaring? ²O my God, I crie by day, but thou hearest not, and by night, but haue no audience. ³But thou art holy, and doest inhabite the prayses of Israel. ⁴Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didest deliuer them. ⁵They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded. ⁶But I am a worme, and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people. ⁷All they that see me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe and nod the head, saying, ⁸He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he loueth him. ⁹But thou didest draw me out of ye wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts. ¹⁰I was cast vpon thee, euen from ye wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly. ¹¹Be not farre from me, because trouble is neere: for there is none to helpe me. ¹²Many yong bulles haue compassed me: mightie bulles of Bashan haue closed me about. ¹³They gape vpon me with their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lyon. ¹⁴I am like water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the middes of my bowels. ¹⁵My strength is dried vp like a potsheard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought me into the dust of death. ¹⁶For dogges haue compassed me, and the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they perced mine hands and my feete. ¹⁷I may tell all my bones: yet they beholde, and looke vpon me. ¹⁸They part my garments among them, and cast lottes vpon my vesture. ¹⁹But be thou not farre off, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me. ²⁰Deliuer my soule from the sword: my desolate soule from the power of the dogge. ²¹Saue me from the lyons mouth, and answere me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes. ²²I wil declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying, ²³Prayse the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iaakob, and feare ye him, all the seede of Israel. ²⁴For he hath not despised nor abhorred ye affliction of the poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard. ²⁵My prayse shalbe of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes will I perfourme before them that feare him. ²⁶The poore shall eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall prayse him: your heart shall liue for euer. ²⁷All the endes of the worlde shall remember themselues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kinreds of the nations shall worship before thee. ²⁸For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations. ²⁹All they that be fat in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that go downe into the dust, shall bowe before him, euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule. ³⁰Their seede shall serue him: it shalbe counted vnto the Lord for a generation. ³¹They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnesse vnto a people that shall be borne, because he hath done it.

¹A Psalme of David. The Lord is my shepheard, I shall not want. ²He maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters. ³He restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the paths of righteousnesse for his Names sake. ⁴Yea, though I should walke through the valley of the shadowe of death, I will feare no euill: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staffe, they comfort me. ⁵Thou doest prepare a table before me in the sight of mine aduersaries: thou doest anoynt mine head with oyle, and my cuppe runneth ouer. ⁶Doubtlesse kindnesse and mercie shall follow me all the dayes of my life, and I shall remaine a long season in the house of the Lord.

¹A Psalme of David. The earth is the Lordes, and all that therein is: the worlde and they that dwell therein. ²For he hath founded it vpon the seas: and established it vpon the floods. ³Who shall ascende into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stand in his holy place? ⁴Euen he that hath innocent handes, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his minde vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully. ⁵He shall receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his saluation. ⁶This is the generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iaakob. Selah. ⁷Lift vp your heads ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euerlasting doores, and the King of glory shall come in. ⁸Who is this King of glorie? the Lord, strong and mightie, euen the Lord mightie in battell. ⁹Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and lift vp your selues, ye euerlasting doores, and the King of glorie shall come in.

¹A Psalme of David. Unto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule. ²My God, I trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer mee. ³So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause. ⁴Shew me thy waies, O Lord, and teache me thy paths. ⁵Leade me foorth in thy trueth, and teache me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day. ⁶Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue beene for euer. ⁷Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindenesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord. ⁸Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teache sinners in the way. ⁹Them that be meeke, will hee guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way. ¹⁰All the pathes of the Lord are mercie and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies. ¹¹For thy Names sake, O Lord, be merciful vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great. ¹²What man is he that feareth the Lord? him wil he teache the way that hee shall chuse. ¹³His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seede shall inherite the land. ¹⁴The secrete of the Lord is reueiled to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding. ¹⁵Mine eyes are euer towarde the Lord: for he will bring my feete out of the net. ¹⁶Turne thy face vnto mee, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore. ¹⁷The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: drawe me out of my troubles. ¹⁸Looke vpon mine affliction and my trauel, and forgiue all my sinnes. ¹⁹Beholde mine enemies, for they are manie, and they hate me with cruell hatred. ²⁰Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee. ²¹Let mine vprightness and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee. ²²Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

¹A Psalme of David. Judge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocency: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide. ²Proue me, O Lord, and trie mee: examine my reines, and mine heart. ³For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth. ⁴I haue not hanted with vaine persons, neither kept companie with the dissemblers. ⁵I haue hated the assemblie of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked. ⁶I will wash mine handes in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar, ⁷That I may declare with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and set forth all thy wonderous woorkes. ⁸O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth. ⁹Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloodie men: ¹⁰In whose handes is wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes. ¹¹But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me. ¹²My foote standeth in vprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

¹A Psalme of David. The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shall I be afraide? ²When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon mee to eate vp my flesh; they stumbled and fell. ³Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraide: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in this. ⁴One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple. ⁵For in the time of trouble hee shall hide mee in his Tabernacle: in the secrete place of his pauillion shall he hide me, and set me vp vpon a rocke. ⁶And now shall hee lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies rounde about mee: therefore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I wil sing and praise the Lord. ⁷Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I crie: haue mercie also vpon mee and heare mee. ⁸When thou saidest, Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face. ⁹Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruat away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake mee, O God of my saluation. ¹⁰Though my father and my mother shoulde forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp. ¹¹Teache mee thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies. ¹²Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly. ¹³I should haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnes of the Lord in the land of the liuing. ¹⁴Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

¹A Psalme of David. Unto thee, O Lord, doe I crie: O my strength, be not deafe toward mee, lest, if thou answer me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit. ²Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I holde vp mine handes toward thine holy Oracle. ³Drawe mee not away with the wicked, and with the woorkers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts. ⁴Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense them after the woorkes of their handes: render them their reward. ⁵For they regarde not the woorkes of the Lord, nor the operation of his handes: therefore breake them downe, and builde them not vp. ⁶Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions. ⁷The Lord is my strength and my shielde: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him. ⁸The Lord is their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed. ⁹Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

¹A Psalme of David. Give vnto the Lord, ye sonnes of the mightie: giue vnto the Lord glorie and strength. ²Giue vnto the Lord glorie due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie. ³The voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glorie maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters. ⁴The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious. ⁵The voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon. ⁶He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and Shirion like a yong vnicorne. ⁷The voice of the Lord deuideth the flames of sire. ⁸The voice of the Lord maketh the wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of Kadesh to tremble. ⁹The voice of the Lord maketh the hindes to calue, and discovereth the forests: therefore in his Temple doth euery man speake of his glory. ¹⁰The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer. ¹¹The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

¹A Psalme or song of the dedication of the house of David. I will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted mee, and hast not made my foe to reioyce ouer me. ²O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me. ³O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit. ⁴Sing praises vnto the Lord, ye his Saintes, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holinesse. ⁵For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning. ⁶And in my prosperitie I sayde, I shall neuer be moued. ⁷For thou Lord of thy goodnes hadest made my mountaine to stande strong: but thou didest hide thy face, and I was troubled. ⁸Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and praied to my Lord. ⁹What profite is there in my blood, when I go downe to the pit? shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shall it declare thy truth? ¹⁰Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper. ¹¹Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded mee with gladnesse. ¹²Therefore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. In thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let mee neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousness. ²Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer mee: be vnto me a stronge rocke, and an house of defence to saue me. ³For thou art my rocke and my fortresse: therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me. ⁴Drawe mee out of the nette, that they haue layde priuilie for mee: for thou art my strength. ⁵Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth. ⁶I haue hated them that giue them selues to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord. ⁷I wil be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities, ⁸And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of the enemy, but hast set my feete at large. ⁹Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule and my bellie are consumed with griefe. ¹⁰For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed. ¹¹I was a reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in the streete, fled from me. ¹²I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell. ¹³For I haue heard the rayling of great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against mee, and consulted to take my life. ¹⁴But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, 'Thou art my God. ¹⁵My times are in thine hande: deliuer mee from the hande of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me. ¹⁶Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me through thy mercie. ¹⁷Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion, and to silence in the graue. ¹⁸Let the lying lips be made dumme, which cruelly, proudly and spitefully speake against the righteous. ¹⁹Howe great is thy goodnesse, which thou hast layde vp for them, that feare thee! and done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men! ²⁰Thou doest hide them priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues. ²¹Blessed be the Lord: for hee hath shewed his marueilous kindenesse toward me in a strong citie. ²²Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voyce of my prayer, when I cryed vnto thee. ²³Loue ye the Lord all his Saintes: for the Lord preserueth the faithfull, and rewardeth abundantly the proud doer. ²⁴All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and he shall establish your heart.

¹A Psalme of David to give instruction. Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiuen, and whose sinne is couered. ²Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirite there is no guile.

³When I helde my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day, ⁴(For thine hand is heauie vpon me, day and night: and my moysture is turned into ye drought of summer. Selah)

⁵Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah. ⁶Therefore shall euery one, that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a time, when thou mayest be founde: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come neere him. ⁷Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou compassest me about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah. ⁸I will instruct thee, and teache thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye. ⁹Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridle, least they come neere thee. ¹⁰Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compasse him. ¹¹Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpriight in heart.

¹Reioice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it becommeth vpriight men to be thankfull.

²Prayse the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole and instrument of ten strings. ³Sing vnto him a newe song: sing cheerefully with a loude voyce.

⁴For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithfull. ⁵He loueth righteousnesse and iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord. ⁶By the worde of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth. ⁷He gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in his treasures. ⁸Let all the earth feare the Lord: let al them that dwell in the world, feare him. ⁹For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it stood. ¹⁰The Lord breaketh the counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuices of the people. ¹¹The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages. ¹²Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Lord: euen the people that he hath chosen for his inheritance. ¹³The Lord looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men. ¹⁴From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth. ¹⁵He facioneth their hearts euery one, and vnderstandeth all their workes. ¹⁶The King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength. ¹⁷A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength. ¹⁸Beholde, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercie, ¹⁹To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine. ²⁰Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shielde. ²¹Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name. ²²Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

¹A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauour before Abimelech, who droue him away, and he departed. I will alway giue thanks vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually. ²My soule shall glory in the Lord: the humble shall heare it, and be glad. ³Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together. ⁴I sought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my feare. ⁵They shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying, ⁶This poore man

cryed, and the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles. ⁷The Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them. ⁸Taste ye and see, howe gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him. ⁹Feare the Lord, ye his Saintes: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him. ¹⁰The Lyons doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seeke the Lord, shall want nothing that is good. ¹¹Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teache you the feare of the Lord. ¹²What man is he, that desireth life, and loueth long dayes for to see good? ¹³Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips, that they speake no guile. ¹⁴Eschewe euill and doe good: seeke peace and follow after it. ¹⁵The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crie. ¹⁶But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth. ¹⁷The righteous crie, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles. ¹⁸The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in Spirite. ¹⁹Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all. ²⁰He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken. ²¹But malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish. ²²The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none, that trust in him, shall perish.

¹A Psalme of Dauid. Pleade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me. ²Lay hand vpon the shielde and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe. ³Bring out also the speare and stop the way against them, that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation. ⁴Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt. ⁵Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them. ⁶Let their way be darke and slipperie: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them. ⁷For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule. ⁸Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, and let his net, that he hath laid priuile, take him: let him fall into the same destruction. ⁹Then my soule shalbe ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation. ¹⁰All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is too strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him! ¹¹Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knewe not. ¹²They rewarded me euill for good, to haue spoyled my soule. ¹³Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and my praier was turned vpon my bosome. ¹⁴I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother. ¹⁵But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered them

selues together: the abiects assembled themselues against me, and knewe not: they tare me and ceased not, ¹⁶With the false skoffers at bankets, gnashing their teeth against me. ¹⁷Lord, how long wilt thou beholde this? deliuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions. ¹⁸So will I giue thee thanks in a great Congregation: I will praise thee among much people. ¹⁹Let not them that are mine enemies, vniustly reioyce ouer mee, neyther let them winke with the eye, that hate mee without a cause. ²⁰For they speake not as friendes: but they imagine deceitfull woordes against the quiet of the lande. ²¹And they gaped on mee with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, our eye hath seene. ²²Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord. ²³Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord. ²⁴Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteousness, and let them not reioyce ouer mee. ²⁵Let them not say in their hearts, O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, We haue deuoured him. ²⁶Let them bee confounded, and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselues against me. ²⁷But let them be ioyful and glad, that loue my righteousnesse: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the prosperitie of his seruant. ²⁸And my tongue shall vtter thy righteousnesse, and thy praise every day.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, the servant of the Lord. Wickedness sayeth to the wicked man, euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes. ²For hee flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is foud worthy to be hated. ³The wordes of his mouth are iniquitie and deceit: hee hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good. ⁴Hee imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he setteth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill. ⁵Thy mercy, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulness vnto the cloudes. ⁶Thy righteousnesse is like the mightie moutaines: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast. ⁷How excellent is thy mercy, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings. ⁸They shall be satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures. ⁹For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light. ¹⁰Extend thy louing kindnes vnto them that knowe thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpriight in heart. ¹¹Let not ye foote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of ye wicked men moue me. ¹²There they are fallen that worke iniquity: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

¹A Psalme of David. Fret not thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers. ²For they shall soone bee cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe. ³Trust thou in the Lord and do good: dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly. ⁴And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and hee shall giue thee thine hearts desire. ⁵Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe. ⁶And he shall bring foorth thy 1033imself1033sness as the light, and thy iudgement as the 1033imself day. ⁷Waite patiently vpon the Lord and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe. ⁸Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe also to doe euill. ⁹For euill doers shall be cut off, and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land. ¹⁰Therefore yet a 1033imself while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found. ¹¹But meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their delite in the multitude of peace. ¹²The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him. ¹³But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his day is I. ¹⁴The wicked haue drawn their sworde, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needie, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersation. ¹⁵But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shalbe broken. ¹⁶A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie. ¹⁷For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men. ¹⁸The Lord knoweth the cut off. ²³The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way. ²⁴Though he fall, hee shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand. ²⁵I haue beene yong, and am olde: yet I sawe neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seede begging bread. ²⁶But hee is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seede enioyeth the blessing. ²⁷Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer. ²⁸For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saintes: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off. ²⁹The righteous men shall inherit the lande, and dwell therein for euer. ³⁰The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement. ³¹For the Lawe of his God is in his heart, and his steppes shall not slide. ³²The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him. ³³But the Lord wil not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is iudged. ³⁴Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the lande:

when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see. ³⁵I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himself like a greene bay tree. ³⁶Yet he passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be founde. ³⁷Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace. ³⁸But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, and the ende of the wicked shall bee cut off. ³⁹But the saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lord: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble. ⁴⁰For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

¹A Psalm of Dauid for remembrance. O Lord, rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. ²For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me. ³There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones

because of my sinne. ⁴For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weightie burden they are too heauie for me. ⁵My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnes. ⁶I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe mourning all the day. ⁷For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh. ⁸I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very grieve of mine heart. ⁹Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee. ¹⁰Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne. ¹¹My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand a farre off. ¹²They also, that seeke after my life, laye snares, and they that go about to do me euil, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually. ¹³But I as a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth. ¹⁴Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes. ¹⁵For on thee, O Lord, do I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God. ¹⁶For I said, Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for when my foote slippeth, they extol themselues against me. ¹⁷Surely I am ready to halte, and my sorow is euer before me. ¹⁸When I declare my paine, and am sory for my sinne, ¹⁹Then mine enemies are alieue and are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are many. ²⁰They also, that rewarde euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I follow goodnesse. ²¹Forsake me not, O Lord: be not thou farre from me, my God. ²²Haste thee to helpe mee, O my Lord, my saluation.

¹To the excellent musician Ieduthun. I thought, I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridleed, while the wicked is in my sight. ²I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silece euen from good, and my sorow was more stirred. ³Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindeled, and I spake with my tongue, saying, ⁴Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee knowe howe long I haue to liue.

⁵Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

⁶Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them. ⁷And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee. ⁸Deliuier me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish. ⁹I should haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because thou didest it. ¹⁰Take thy plague away from mee: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand. ¹¹When thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a mothe makest his beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah. ¹²Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a strager with thee, and a soiourner as all my fathers. ¹³Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, before I go hence and be not

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. I Waited patiently for the Lord, and he inclined vnto me, and heard my cry. ²Hee brought mee also out of the horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings. ³And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord. ⁴Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lyes. ⁵O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse. ⁶Sacrifice and offering thou didest not desire: (for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sinne offering hast thou not required.

⁷Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me, ⁸I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Lawe is within mine heart. ⁹I haue declared thy righteousnesse in the great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lippes: O Lord, thou knowest. ¹⁰I haue not hidde thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation. ¹¹Withdrawe not thou thy tender mercie from mee, O Lord: let thy mercie and thy trueth alway preserue me. ¹²For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number then the heares of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me. ¹³Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me. ¹⁴Let them be confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroye it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt. ¹⁵Let them be destroyed for a rewarde of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha. ¹⁶Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them, that loue thy saluation, say alway, The Lord be prayسد. ¹⁷Though I be poore and needie, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no taryng.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. Blessed is he that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in ye time of trouble. ²The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliue: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies. ³The Lord wil strengthen him vpon ye bed of sorow: thou hast turned al his bed in his sicknes. ⁴Therefore I saide, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee. ⁵Mine enemies speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish? ⁶And if hee come to see mee, hee speaketh lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth foorth, he telleth it. ⁷All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt. ⁸A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shall no more rise. ⁹Yea, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me. ¹⁰Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon mee, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them. ¹¹By this I know that thou faouorest me, because mine enemy doth not triumph against me. ¹²And as for me, thou vpholdest me in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy face for euer. ¹³Blessed be the Lord God of Israel worlde without ende. So be it, euen so be it.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. As the harte brayeth for the riuers of water, so panteth my soule after thee, O God. ²My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God? ³My teares haue bin my meate day and night, while they dayly say vnto me, Where is thy God? ⁴When I remembred these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the House of God with the voyce of singing, and prayse, as a multitude that keepeth a feast. ⁵Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence. ⁶My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee, from the land of Iorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar. ⁷One deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me. ⁸The Lord will graunt his louing kindenesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life. ⁹I wil say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? why goe I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me? ¹⁰My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproch me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God? ¹¹Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe, and my God.

¹Judge me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmercifull people: deliuer mee from the deceitfull and wicked man. ²For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me? ³Sende thy light and thy trueth: let them leade mee: let them bring mee vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles. ⁴Then wil I go vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe wil I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God. ⁵Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my present helpe, and my God.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. We haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes, that thou hast done in their dayes, in the olde time: ²Howe thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people, and caused them to grow. ³For they inherited not the lande by their owne sworde, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme and the light of thy countenance, because thou didest fauour them. ⁴Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Iaakob. ⁵Through thee haue we thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs. ⁶For I do not trust in my bowe, neither can my sworde saue me. ⁷But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs. ⁸Therefore will wee praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. Selah. ⁹But now thou art farre off, and putttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies. ¹⁰Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersary, and they, which hate vs, spoile for theselues. ¹¹Thou giuest vs as sheepe to bee eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations. ¹²Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and doest not increase their price. ¹³Thou makest vs a reproche to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs. ¹⁴Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people. ¹⁵My confusion is dayly before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me, ¹⁶For the voyce of the slaunderer and rebuker, for the enemie and auenger. ¹⁷All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale wee falsly concerning thy couenant. ¹⁸Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths, ¹⁹Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death. ²⁰If wee haue forgotten the Name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a strange god, ²¹Shall not God searche this out? for hee knoweth the secrets of the heart. ²²Surely for thy sake are we slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter. ²³Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer. ²⁴Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our miserie and our affliction? ²⁵For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground. ²⁶Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

¹To him that excelleth on Shoshannim a song of love to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. Mine heart will vtter forth a good matter: I wil intreat in my workes of the King: my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer. ²Thou art fayrer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer. ³Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to wit, thy worship and

thy glory, ⁴And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the worde of trueth and of meekenes and of righteousnes: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things. ⁵Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee. ⁶Thy throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousnesse. ⁷Thou louest righteousnes, and hatest wickednesse, because God, euen thy God hath anoynted thee with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy fellowes. ⁸All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou comdest out of the yuorie palaces, where they haue made thee glad. ⁹Kings daughters were among thine honorable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir. ¹⁰Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house. ¹¹So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him. ¹²And the daughter of Tyrus with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents. ¹³The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broydred golde. ¹⁴She shalbe brought vnto the King in raiment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee. ¹⁵With ioy and gladnes shall they be brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace. ¹⁶In steade of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth. ¹⁷I will make thy Name to be remembred through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee world without ende.

¹To him that excelleth upon Alamothe a song committed to the sonnes of Korah. God is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found. ²Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountaines fall into the middes of the sea. ³Though the waters thereof rage and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah, ⁴Yet there is a Riuer, whose streames shall make glad the citie of God: euen the Sanctuarie of the Tabernacles of the most High. ⁵God is in the middes of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very earely. ⁶When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were moued, God thundred, and the earth melted. ⁷The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah. ⁸Come, and behold the workes of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth. ⁹He maketh warres to cease vnto the endes of the world: he breaketh the bowe and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire. ¹⁰Be still and knowe that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I wil be exalted in the earth. ¹¹The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. All people clap your hands: sing loude vnto God with a ioyfull voyce. ²For the Lord is high, and terrible: a great King ouer all the earth. ³He hath subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete. ⁴Hee hath chosen our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iaakob whom he loued. Selah. ⁵God is gone vp with triumph, euen the Lord, with the sound of the trumpet. ⁶Sing prayses to God, sing prayses: sing prayses vnto our King, sing prayses. ⁷For God is the King of all the earth: sing prayses euey one that hath vnderstanding. ⁸God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne. ⁹The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he is greatly to be exalted.

¹A song or Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. Great is the Lord, and greatly to be prayسد, in the Citie of our God, euen vpon his holy Mountaine. ²Mount Zion, lying Northwarde, is faire in situation: it is the ioy of the whole earth, and the Citie of the great King. ³In the palaces thereof God is knowen for a refuge. ⁴For lo, the Kings were gathered, and went together. ⁵When they sawe it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe. ⁶Feare came there vpon them, and sorowe, as vpon a woman in trauaile. ⁷As with an East winde thou breakest the shippes of Tarshish, so were they destroyed. ⁸As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the citie of the Lord of hostes, in the Citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah. ⁹We waite for thy louing kindnes, O God, in the middes of thy Temple. ¹⁰O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy prayse vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousness. ¹¹Let mount Zion reioyce, and the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements. ¹²Compassse about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towres thereof. ¹³Marke well the wall thereof: beholde her towres, that ye may tell your posteritie. ¹⁴For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shall be our guide vnto the death.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah. Heare this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world, ²As well lowe as hie, both rich and poore. ³My mouth shall speake of wisdom, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge. ⁴I will incline mine eare to a parable, and vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe. ⁵Wherefore should I feare in the euil dayes, when iniquitie shall compassse me about, as at mine heeles? ⁶They trust in their goods, and boast them selues in the multitude of their riches. ⁷Yet a man can by no meanes redeeme his brother: he can not giue his raunsome to God, ⁸(So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for euer) ⁹That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue. ¹⁰For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others. ¹¹Yet they thinke, their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and call their lands by their names. ¹²But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beastes that die. ¹³This their way vttereth their foolishnes: yet their posteritie delite in their talke. Selah. ¹⁴Like sheepe they lie in graue: death deuoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the morning: for their beautie shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue. ¹⁵But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will receiue me. Selah. ¹⁶Be not thou afrayd when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased. ¹⁷For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descende after him. ¹⁸For while he liued, he reioyced himselfe: and men will prayse thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe. ¹⁹He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not liue for euer. ²⁰Man is in honour, and vnderstandeth not: he is like to beastes that perish.

¹A Psalm of Asaph. The God of Gods, euen the Lord hath spoken and called the earth from the rising vp of the sunne vnto the going downe thereof. ²Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beautie, hath God shined. ³Our God shall come and shall not keepe silence: a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mightie tempest shall be mooued round about him. ⁴Hee shall call the heauen aboue, and the earth to iudge his people. ⁵Gather my Saints together vnto me, those that make a couenant with me with sacrifice. ⁶And the heauens shall declare his righteousness: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah. ⁷Heare, O my people, and I wil speake: heare, O Israel, and I wil testifie vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God. ⁸I wil not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not bene continually before me. ⁹I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy foldes. ¹⁰For all the beastes of the forest are mine, and the beastes on a thousand mountaines. ¹¹I knowe all the foules on the mountaines: and the wilde beastes of the field are mine. ¹²If I bee hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is. ¹³Will I eate the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goates? ¹⁴Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High, ¹⁵And call vpon me in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me. ¹⁶But vnto the wicked said God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, ¹⁷Seeing thou hatest to bee reformed, and hast cast my wordes behinde thee? ¹⁸For when thou seest a thiefe, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers. ¹⁹Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgest deceit. ²⁰Thou sittest, and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne. ²¹These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reproue thee, and set them in order before thee. ²²Oh cosider this, ye that forget God, least I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you. ²³He that offereth praise, shall glorifie mee: and to him, that disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David, when the Prophet Nathan came unto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba. Have mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindnes: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities. ²Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquitie, and clense me from my sinne. ³For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me. ⁴Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudgest. ⁵Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceiued me. ⁶Beholde, thou louest trueth in the inwarde affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart. ⁷Purge me with hyssope, and I shalbe cleane: wash me, and I shalbe whiter then snowe. ⁸Make me to heare ioye and gladnes, that the bones, which thou hast broken, may reioyce. ⁹Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities. ¹⁰Create in mee a cleane heart, O God, and renue a right spirit within me. ¹¹Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me. ¹²Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free Spirit. ¹³Then shall I teache thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shalbe conuerted vnto thee. ¹⁴Deliuier me from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousness. ¹⁵Open thou my lippes, O Lord, and my mouth shall shewe foorth thy praise. ¹⁶For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delitest not in burnt offering. ¹⁷The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. ¹⁸Bee fauourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: builde the walles of Ierusalem. ¹⁹Then shalt thou accept ye sacrifices of righteousness, euen the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calues vpon thine altar.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and saide to him, Dauid is come to the house of Abimelech. Why boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O man of power? the louing kindenesse of God indureth dayly. ²Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe razor, that cutteth deceitfully. ³Thou doest loue euill more then good, and lies more then to speake the trueth. Selah. ⁴Thou louest all wordes that may destroye, O deceitfull tongue! ⁵So shall God destroy thee for euer: he shall take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and roote thee out of ye land of the liuing. Selah. ⁶The righteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying, ⁷Beholde the man that tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, and put his strength in his malice. ⁸But I shall bee like a greene oliue tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercie of God for euer and euer. ⁹I will alway praise thee, for that thou hast done this, and I will hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

¹To him that excelleth on Mahalath. A Psalme of David to give instruction. The foole hath saide in his heart, There is no God. they haue corrupted and done abominable wickednes: there is none that doeth good. ²God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God. ³Euery one is gone backe: they are altogether corrupt: there is none that doth good, no not one. ⁴Doe not the workers of iniquitie knowe that they eate vp my people as they eate bread? they call not vpon God. ⁵There they were afraide for feare, where no feare was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that besieged thee: thou hast put them to confusion, because God hath cast them off. ⁶Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when God turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David, to give instruction. When the Ziphims came and said unto Saul, Is not David hid among us? Save mee, O God, by thy Name, and by thy power iudge me. ²O God, heare my prayer: hearken vnto the wordes of my mouth. ³For strangers are risen vp against me, and tyrants seeke my soule: they haue not set God before them. Selah. ⁴Beholde, God is mine helper: the Lord is with them that vpholde my soule. ⁵He shall rewarde euill vnto mine enemies: Oh cut them off in thy trueth! ⁶Then I will sacrifice freely vnto thee: I wil praise thy Name, O Lord, because it is good. ⁷For he hath deliuered me out of al trouble, and mine eye hath seene my desire vpon mine enemies.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David to give instruction. Heare my prayer, O God, and hide not thy selfe from my supplication. ²Hearken vnto me, and answeare me: I mourne in my prayer, and make a noyse, ³For the voyce of the enemye, and for the vexation of ye wicked, because they haue brought iniquitie vpon me, and furiously hate me. ⁴Mine heart trembleth within mee, and the terrours of death are fallen vpon me. ⁵Feare and trembling are come vpon mee, and an horrible feare hath couered me. ⁶And I said, Oh that I had wings like a doue: then would I flie away and rest. ⁷Beholde, I woulde take my flight farre off, and lodge in the wildernes. Selah. ⁸Hee would make haste for my deliuerance from the stormie winde and tempest. ⁹Destroy, O Lord, and deuide their tongues: for I haue seene crueltie and strife in the citie. ¹⁰Day and night they goe about it vpon the walles thereof: both iniquitie and mischief are in the middes of it. ¹¹Wickednes is in the middes thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streetes. ¹²Surely mine enemye did not defame mee: for I could haue borne it: neither did mine aduersarie exalt himselfe against mee: for I would haue hid me from him. ¹³But it was thou, O man, euen my companion, my guide and my familiar: ¹⁴Which delited in consulting together, and went into the House of God as companions. ¹⁵Let death sense vpon them: let them goe downe quicke into the graue: for wickednes is in their dwellings, euen in the middes of them. ¹⁶But I will call vnto God, and the Lord will saue me. ¹⁷Euening and morning, and at noone will I pray, and make a noyse, and he wil heare my voice. ¹⁸He hath deliuered my soule in peace from the battel, that was against me: for many were with me. ¹⁹God shall heare and afflict them, euen hee that reigneth of olde, Selah. because they haue no changes, therefore they feare not God. ²⁰Hee layed his hande vpon such, as be at peace with him, and he brake his couenant. ²¹The wordes of his mouth were softer then butter, yet warre was in his heart: his words were more gentle then oyle, yet they were swordes. ²²Cast thy burden vpon the Lord, and hee shall nourish thee: he wil not suffer the righteous to fall for euer. ²³And thou, O God, shalt bring them downe into the pitte of corruption: the bloudie, and deceitfull men shall not liue halfe their dayes: but I will trust in thee.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David on Michtam, concerning the dumme doue in a farre countrey, when the Philistims tooke him in Gath. Be mercifull vnto me, O God, for man would swallow me vp: he fighteth continually and vexeth me. ²Mine enemies would dayly swallowe mee vp: for many fight against me, O thou most High. ³When I was afrayd, I trusted in thee. ⁴I will reioyce in God, because of his word, I trust in God, and will not feare what flesh can doe vnto me. ⁵Mine owne wordes grieue me dayly: all their thoughtes are against me to doe me hurt. ⁶They gather together, and keepe them selues close: they marke my steps, because they waite for my soule. ⁷They thinke they shall escape by iniquitie: O God, cast these people downe in thine anger. ⁸Thou hast counted my wandrings: put my teares into thy bottel: are they not in thy register? ⁹When I cry, then mine enemies shall turne backe: this I know, for God is with me. ¹⁰I will reioyce in God because of his worde: in the Lord wil I reioyce because of his worde. ¹¹In God doe I trust: I will not be afrayd what man can doe vnto me. ¹²Thy vowes are vpon me, O God: I will render prayes vnto thee. ¹³For thou hast deliuered my soule from death, and also my feete from falling, that I may walke before God in the light of the liuing.

¹To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. When he fled from Saul in the cave. Have mercie vpon me, O God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadowe of thy wings wil I trust, till these afflictions ouerpasse. ²I will call vnto the most high God, euen to the God, that performeth his promise toward me. ³He will send from heauen, and saue me from the reproofe of him that would swallowe me. Selah. God wil send his mercy, and his trueth. ⁴My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth are speares and arrowes, and their tongue a sharpe sworde. ⁵Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth. ⁶They haue layd a net for my steps: my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the mids of it. Selah. ⁷Mine heart is prepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue prayse. ⁸Awake my tongue, awake viole and harpe: I wil awake early. ⁹I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations. ¹⁰For thy mercie is great vnto the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes. ¹¹Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

¹To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. Is it true? O Congregation, speake ye iustly? O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly? ²Yea, rather ye imagine mischiefe in your heart: your hands execute crueltie vpon the earth. ³The wicked are strangers from ye wombe: euen from the belly haue they erred, and speake lyes. ⁴Their poyson is euen like the poyson of a serpent: like ye deafe adder that stoppeth his eare. ⁵Which heareth not the voyce of the inchanter, though he be most expert in charming. ⁶Breake their teeth, O God, in their mouthes: breake the iawes of the yong lions, O Lord. ⁷Let them melt like the waters, let them passe away: when hee shooteth his arrowes, let them be as broken. ⁸Let them consume like a snayle that melteth, and like the vntimely fruite of a woman, that hath not seene the sunne. ⁹As raw flesh before your pots feelee the fire of thornes: so let him cary them away as with a whirlewinde in his wrath. ¹⁰The righteous shall reioyce when he seeeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feete in the blood of the wicked. ¹¹And men shall say, Verily there is fruite for the righteous: doutlesse there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

¹To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalm of David on Michtam. When Saul sent and they did watch the house to kill him. O my God, deliuer mee from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against me. ²Deliuer me from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloody men. ³For loe, they haue layd waite for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against me, not for mine offence, nor for my sinne, O Lord. ⁴They runne and prepare themselues without a fault on my part: arise therefore to assist me, and beholde. ⁵Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O

God of Israel awake to visit all the heathen, and be not merciful vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah. ⁶They goe to and from in the euening: they barke like dogs, and goe about the citie. ⁷Behold, they brag in their talke, and swords are in their lips: for, Who, say they, doeth heare? ⁸But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen. ⁹He is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence. ¹⁰My mercifull God will preuent me: God wil let me see my desire vpon mine enemies. ¹¹Slay them not, least my people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield, ¹²For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be taken in their pride, euen for their periurie and lies, that they speake. ¹³Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that they be no more: and let them knowe that God ruleth in Iaakob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah. ¹⁴And in the euening they shall go to and from, and barke like dogs, and go about the citie. ¹⁵They shall runne here and there for meate: and surely they shall not be satisfied, though they tary all night. ¹⁶But I wil sing of thy power, and will prayse thy mercy in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble. ¹⁷Vnto thee, O my Strength, wil I sing: for God is my defence, and my mercifull God.

¹To him that excelleth upon Shushan Eduth, or Michtam. A Psalme of David to teach. When he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against Aram Zobah, when Joab returned and slew twelve thousand Edomites in the salt valley. O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast scattered vs, thou hast bene angry, turne againe vnto vs. ²Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken. ³Thou hast shewed thy people heauy things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddines. ⁴But now thou hast giuen a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy trueth. Selah. ⁵That thy beloued may be deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me. ⁶God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I will reioyce: I shall deuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth. ⁷Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iudah is my lawgiuer. ⁸Moab shalbe my wash pot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: Palestina shew thy selfe ioyfull for me. ⁹Who will leade me into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom? ¹⁰Wilt not thou, O God, which hadest cast vs off, and didest not go forth, O God, with our armies? ¹¹Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man. ¹²Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David. Heare my cry, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer. ²From the endes of the earth will I crye vnto thee: when mine heart is opprest, bring me vpon the rocke that is higher then I. ³For thou hast bene mine hope, and a strong tower against the enemye. ⁴I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah. ⁵For thou, O God, hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name. ⁶Thou shalt giue the King a long life: his yeeres shalbe as many ages. ⁷Hee shall dwell before God for euer: prepare mercie and faithfulness that they may preserue him. ⁸So will I alway sing prayse vnto thy Name in performing dayly my vowes.

¹To the excellēt musician Ieduthun. A Psalme of David. Yet my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him commeth my saluation. ²Yet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not much be moued. ³How long wil ye imagine mischief against a man? ye shalbe all slaine: ye shalbe as a bowed wall, or as a wall shaken. ⁴Yet they consult to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah. ⁵Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him. ⁶Yet is hee my strength, and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be moued. ⁷In God is my saluation and my glory, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust. ⁸Trust in him alway, ye people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah. ⁹Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie. ¹⁰Trust not in oppression nor in robberie: be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon. ¹¹God spake once or twice, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God, ¹²And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou rewardest euery one according to his worke.

¹A Psalme of David. When he was in the wilderness of Iudah. O God, thou art my God, earely will I seeke thee: my soule thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drye land without water. ²Thus I beholde thee as in the Sanctuarie, when I beholde thy power and thy glorie. ³For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lippes shall prayse thee. ⁴Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy name. ⁵My soule shalbe satisfied, as with marowe and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lippes, ⁶When I remember thee on my bedde, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches. ⁷Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings wil I reioyce. ⁸My soule cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me. ⁹Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest partes of the earth. ¹⁰They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall be a portion for foxes. ¹¹But the King shall reioyce in God, and all that sweare by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lyes, shall be stopped.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. Heare my voyce, O God, in my prayer: preserue my life from feare of the enemye. ²Hide me from the conspiracie of the wicked, and from the rage of the workers of iniquitie. ³Which haue whette their tongue like a sword, and shot for their arrowes bitter wordes. ⁴To shoote at the vpriight in secrete: they shoote at him suddenly, and feare not. ⁵They encourage themselues in a wicked purpose: they commune together to lay snares priuilie, and say, Who shall see them? ⁶They haue sought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which they sought out, euen euery one his secret thoughtes, and the depth of his heart. ⁷But God will shoote an arrowe at them suddenly: their strokes shalbe at once. ⁸They shall cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoeuer shall see them, shall flee away. ⁹And all men shall see it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought. ¹⁰But the righteous shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shall reioyce.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of David. O God, praise waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall the vowe be perfourmed. ²Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall all flesh come. ³Wicked deedes haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our transgressions. ⁴Blessed is he, whom thou chusest and causest to come to thee: he shall dwell in thy courtes, and we shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holy Temple. ⁵O God of our saluation, thou wilt answeere vs with fearefull signes in thy righteousness, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the sea. ⁶He stablisheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength. ⁷He appeaseth the noyse of the seas and the noyse of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people. ⁸They also, that dwell in the vttermost parts of the earth, shalbe afraide of thy signes: thou shalt make the East and the West to reioyce. ⁹Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very riche: the Riuer of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for so thou appointest it. ¹⁰Thou waterest abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou causest the raine to descende into the valleies thereof: thou makest it soft with showres, and blessest the bud thereof. ¹¹Thou crownest ye yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steppes droppe fatnesse. ¹²They drop vpon the pastures of the wilderness: and the hils shalbe compassed with gladnes. ¹³The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleis also shalbe couered with corne: therefore they shoute for ioye, and sing.

¹To him that excelleth. A song or Psalme. Reioice in God, all ye inhabitants of the earth. ²Sing forth the glory of his name: make his praise glorious. ³Say vnto

God, Howe terrible art thou in thy workes! through the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be in subiection vnto thee. ⁴All the worlde shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah. ⁵Come and beholde the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing towarde the sonnes of men. ⁶He hath turned the Sea into drie land: they passe through the riuer on foote: there did we reioyce in him. ⁷He ruleth the worlde with his power: his eyes beholde the nations: the rebellious shall not exalt them selues. Selah. ⁸Prayse our God, ye people, and make the voyce of his prayse to be heard. ⁹Which holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slippe. ¹⁰For thou, O God, hast proued vs, thou hast tryed vs as siluer is tryed. ¹¹Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and layed a strait chaine vpon our loynes. ¹²Thou hast caused men to ryde ouer our heads: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a welthie place. ¹³I will go into thine House with burnt offrings, and will pay thee my vowes, ¹⁴Which my lippes haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction. ¹⁵I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullocks and goates. Selah. ¹⁶Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule. ¹⁷I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue. ¹⁸If I regard wickednesse in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me. ¹⁹But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer. ²⁰Praysed be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercie from me.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song. God be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and cause his face to shine among vs. Selah. ²That they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy sauing health among all nations. ³Let the people prayse thee, O God: let all the people prayse thee. ⁴Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.

⁵Let the people prayse thee, O God: let all the people prayse thee. ⁶Then shall the earth bring foorth her increase, and God, euen our God shall blesse vs. ⁷God shall blesse vs, and all the endes of the earth shall feare him.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. God will arise, and his enemies shalbe scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him. ²As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God. ³But the righteous shalbe glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioye. ⁴Sing vnto God, and sing prayes vnto his name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name Iah, and reioyce before him. ⁵He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation. ⁶God maketh the solitarie to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in stocks: but the rebellious shall dwell in a dry land.

⁷O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest through the wilderness, (Selah) ⁸The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.

mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God deliteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer. ¹⁷The charrets of God are twentie thousande thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuarie of Sinai. ¹⁸Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and receiued giftes for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there. ¹⁹Praysed be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which ladeth vs dayly with benefites. Selah. ²⁰This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the issues of death. ²¹Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hearie pate of him that walketh in his sinnes. ²²The Lord hath sayde, I will bring my people againe from Bashan: I will bring them againe from the depths of the Sea: ²³That thy foote may bee dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy dogges in the blood of the enemies, euen in it. ²⁴They haue seene, O God, thy goings, the goings of my God, and my King, which art in the Sanctuarie. ²⁵The singers went before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the maides playing with timbrels. ²⁶Praise yee God in the assemblies, and the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel. ²⁷There was litle Beniamin with their ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assemblie, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali. ²⁸Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that, which thou hast wrought in vs, ²⁹Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and Kings shall bring presents vnto thee. ³⁰Destroy the company of the spearmen, and multitude of the mightie bulles with the calues of the people, that tread vnder feete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delite in warre. ³¹Then shall the princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall hast to stretche her hands vnto God. ³²Sing vnto God, O yee kingdomes of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah) ³³To him that rideth vpon ye most high heauens, which were from the beginning: beholde, he will send out by his voice a mightie sound.

³⁴Ascribe the power to God: for his maiestie is vpon Israel, and his strength is in the cloudes. ³⁵O God, thou art terrible out of thine holie places: the God of Israel is hee that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

¹To him that excellesh upon Shoshannim. A Psalme of David. Save mee, O God: for the waters are entred euen to my soule. ²I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no staie is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me. ³I am wearie of crying: my throte is drie: mine eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God. ⁴They that hate mee without a cause, are moe then the heares of mine heade: they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies falsly, are mightie, so that I restored that which I tooke not. ⁵O God, thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my fautes are not hid from thee. ⁶Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through mee, O God of Israel. ⁷For thy sake haue I suffred reproofe: shame hath couered my face. ⁸I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes. ⁹For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me. ¹⁰I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe. ¹¹I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them. ¹²They that sate in the gate, spake of mee, and the drunkards sang of me. ¹³But Lord, I make my praier vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the trueth of thy saluation. ¹⁴Deliuier mee out of the myre, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters. ¹⁵Let not the water flood drowne mee, neither let the deepe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me. ¹⁶Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnes is good: turne vnto me according to ye multitude of thy tender mercies. ¹⁷And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me. ¹⁸Draw neere vnto my soule and redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies. ¹⁹Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee. ²⁰Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none. ²¹For they gaue me gall in my meate, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke. ²²Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine. ²³Let their eyes be blinded that they see not: and make their loynes alway to tremble. ²⁴Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them. ²⁵Let their habitation be voide, and let none dwell in their tents. ²⁶For they persecute him, whome thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorrowe of them, whome thou hast wounded. ²⁷Laie iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousness. ²⁸Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous. ²⁹When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me. ³⁰I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thankesgiuing. ³¹This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath hornes and hoofes. ³²The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God, shalbe glad, and your heart shall liue. ³³For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners. ³⁴Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them. ³⁵For God will saue Zion, and builde the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there and haue it in possession. ³⁶The seede also of his seruants shall inherit it: and they that loue his name, shall dwel therein.

¹To him excelleth. A Psalme of David to put in remembrance. O God, haste thee to deliuer mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord. ²Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them bee turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt. ³Let them be turned backe for a rewarde of their shame, which said, Aha, aha. ⁴But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwaies, God be praised. ⁵Nowe I am poore and needie: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no taryng.

¹In thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed. ²Rescue mee and deliuer me in thy righteousnes: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me. ³Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou hast giuen commandement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse. ⁴Deliuer mee, O my God, out of the hande of the wicked: out of the hande of the euill and cruell man. ⁵For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my trust from my youth. ⁶Vpon thee haue I beene stayed from the wombe: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shalbe alwaies of thee. ⁷I am become as it were a monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust. ⁸Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy glory euery day. ⁹Cast mee not off in the time of age: forsake me not when my strength faileth. ¹⁰For mine enemies speake of mee, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, ¹¹Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him. ¹²Goe not farre from me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me. ¹³Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt. ¹⁴But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more. ¹⁵My mouth shall daily rehearse thy righteousnesse, and thy saluation: for I knowe not the nomber. ¹⁶I will goe forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousnesse, euen of thine onely. ¹⁷O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntill nowe: therefore will I tell of thy wonderous workes, ¹⁸Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and graie head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them, that shall come. ¹⁹And thy righteousnes, O God, I wil exalt on high: for thou hast done great thinges: O God, who is like vnto thee! ²⁰Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt returne, and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth. ²¹Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me. ²²Therefore will I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O Holy one of Israel. ²³My lippes will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule, which thou hast deliuered. ²⁴My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousness daily: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

¹A Psalme of Salomon. Give thy iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousness to the Kings sonne. ²Then shall he iudge thy people in righteousness, and thy poore with equitie. ³The mountaines and the hilles shall bring peace to the people by iustice. ⁴He shall iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needie, and shall subdue the oppressor. ⁵They shall feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generatio to generation. ⁶He shall come downe like the rayne vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showres that water the earth. ⁷In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shalbe so long as the moone endureth. ⁸His dominion shall be also from sea to sea, and from the Riuier vnto the endes of the land. ⁹They that dwell in ye wildernes, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall licke the dust. ¹⁰The Kings of Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the Kings of Sheba and Seba shall bring giftes. ¹¹Yea, all Kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.

¹²For he shall deliuer the poore when he cryeth: the needie also, and him that hath no helper. ¹³He shalbe mercifull to the poore and needie, and shall preserue the soules of the poore. ¹⁴He shall redeeme their soules from deceite and violence, and deare shall their blood be in his sight. ¹⁵Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the golde of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and dayly blesse him. ¹⁶An handfull of corne shall be sown in the earth, euen in the toppe of the mountaines, and the fruite thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall florish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth. ¹⁷His name shall be for euer: his name shall indure as long as the sunne: all nations shall blesse him, and be blessed in him. ¹⁸Blessed be the Lord God, euen the God of Israel, which onely doeth wonderous things. ¹⁹And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glorie. So be it, euen so be it. HERE END THE prayers of Dauid, the sonne of Ishai.

¹A Psalm committed to Asaph. Yet God is good to Israel: euen, to the pure in heart. ²As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had well neere slipt. ³For I feared at the foolish, when I sawe the prosperitie of the wicked. ⁴For there are no bandes in their death, but they are lustie and strong. ⁵They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men. ⁶Therefore pride is as a chayne vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment. ⁷Their eyes stande out for fatnesse: they haue more then heart can wish. ⁸They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously. ⁹They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth. ¹⁰Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them. ¹¹And they say, Howe doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in the most High? ¹²Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches. ¹³Certainely I haue clenſed mine heart in vaine, and waſhed mine hands in innocencie. ¹⁴For dayly haue I bene puniſhed, and chaſtened euery morning. ¹⁵If I ſay, I will iudge thus, beholde the generation of thy children: I haue trespaſſed. ¹⁶Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me, ¹⁷Vntill I went into the Sanctuarie of God: then vnderſtoode I their ende. ¹⁸Surely thou haſt ſet them in ſlipperie places, and caſteſt them downe into deſolation. ¹⁹How ſuddenly are they deſtroyed, periſhed and horribly conſumed, ²⁰As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when thou raiſeſt vs vp, thou ſhalt make their image deſpiſed. ²¹Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reins: ²²So fooliſh was I and ignorant: I was a beaſt before thee. ²³Yet I was alway with thee: thou haſt holden me by my right hand. ²⁴Thou wilt guide me by thy counſell, and afterward receiue me to glory. ²⁵Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue deſired none in the earth with thee. ²⁶My fleſh fayleth and mine heart alſo: but God is the ſtrength of mine heart, and my portion for euer. ²⁷For loe, they that withdrawe themſelues from thee, ſhall periſh: thou deſtroyeſt all them that goe a whoring from thee. ²⁸As for me, it is good for me to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my truſt in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

¹A Pſalme to give inſtruction, committed to Aſaph. O God, why haſt thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled againſt the ſheepe of thy paſture? ²Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou haſt poſſeſſed of olde, and on the rod of thine inheritance, which thou haſt redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou haſt dwelt. ³Lift vp thy ſtokes, that thou mayeſt for euer deſtroy euery enimie that doeth euill to the Sanctuarie. ⁴Thine aduerſaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, and ſet vp their banners for ſignes. ⁵He that lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one, that brought a thing to perfection: ⁶But nowe they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers. ⁷They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, and rased it to the grounde, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name. ⁸They saide in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land. ⁹We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth howe long. ¹⁰O God, howe long shall the aduersarie reproche thee? shall the enimie blaspheme thy Name for euer? ¹¹Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? drawe it out of thy bosome, and consume them. ¹²Euen God is my King of olde, working saluation in the middes of the earth. ¹³Thou didest deuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters. ¹⁴Thou brakest the head of Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meate for the people in wilderness. ¹⁵Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuier: thou driedst vp mightie riuers. ¹⁶The day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne. ¹⁷Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter. ¹⁸Remember this, that the enimie hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name. ¹⁹Giue not the soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer. ²⁰Consider thy couenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell. ²¹Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needie prayse thy Name. ²²Arise, O God: mainteine thine owne cause: remember thy dayly reproche by the foolish man. ²³Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumult of them, that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

¹To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph. We will prayse thee, O God, we will prayse thee, for thy Name is neere: therefore they will declare thy wonderous workes. ²When I shall take a conuenient time, I will iudge righteously. ³The earth and all the inhabitantes thereof are dissolued: but I will establish the pillars of it. Selah. ⁴I saide vnto the foolish, Be not so foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not vp the horne. ⁵Lift not vp your horne on high, neither speake with a stiffe necke. ⁶For to come to preferment is neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South, ⁷But God is the iudge: he maketh lowe and he maketh hie. ⁸For in the hand of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and he powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dregges thereof. ⁹But I will declare for euer, and sing prayes vnto the God of Iaakob. ¹⁰All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the righteous shalbe exalted.

¹To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph. God is knowen in Iudah: his Name is great in Israel. ²For in Shalem is his Tabernacle, and his dwelling in Zion. ³There brake he the arrowes of the bowe, the shielde and the sword and the battell. Selah. ⁴Thou art more bright and puissant, then the mountaines of pray. ⁵The stout hearted are spoyled: they haue slept their sleepe, and all the men of strength haue not found their hands. ⁶At thy rebuke, O God of Iaakob, both the chariot and horse are cast a sleepe. ⁷Thou, euen thou art to be feared: and who shall stand in thy sight, when thou art angrie! ⁸Thou didest cause thy iudgement to bee heard from heauen: therefore the earth feared and was still, ⁹When thou, O God, arose to iudgement, to helpe all the meeke of the earth. Selah. ¹⁰Surely the rage of man shall turne to thy praise: the remnant of the rage shalt thou restrayne. ¹¹Vowe and performe vnto the Lord your God, all ye that be rounde about him: let them bring presents vnto him that ought to be feared. ¹²He shall cut off the spirit of princes:

he is terrible to the Kings of the earth.

¹For the excellent musician Ieduthun. A Psalme committed to Asaph. My voyce came to God, when I cryed: my voyce came to God, and he heard me. ²In the day of my trouble I sought ye Lord: my sore ranne and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort. ³I did thinke vpon God, and was troubled: I praied, and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah. ⁴Thou keepest mine eyes waking: I was astonied and could not speake. ⁵Then I considered the daies of olde, and the yeeres of ancient time. ⁶I called to remembrance my song in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently. ⁷Will the Lord absent him selfe for euer? and will he shewe no more fauour? ⁸Is his mercie cleane gone for euer? doeth his promise faile for euermore? ⁹Hath God forgotten to be mercifull? hath he shut vp his teder mercies in displeasure? Selah. ¹⁰And I sayde, This is my death: yet I remembered the yeeres of the right hand of the most High. ¹¹I remembered the workes of the Lord: certainly I remembered thy wonders of olde. ¹²I did also meditate all thy woorkes, and did deuise of thine actes, saying, ¹³Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuarie: who is so great a God as our God! ¹⁴Thou art ye God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people. ¹⁵Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, euen the sonnes of Iaakob and Ioseph. Selah. ¹⁶The waters sawe thee, O God: the waters sawe thee, and were afraide: yea, the depths trembled. ¹⁷The cloudes powred out water: the heauens gaue a sounde: yea, thine arrowes went abroad. ¹⁸The voyce of thy thunder was rounde about: the lightnings lightened the worlde: the earth trembled and shooke. ¹⁹Thy way is in the Sea, and thy paths in the great waters, and thy footsteps are not knowen. ²⁰Thou diddest leade thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

¹A Psalme to give instruction committed to Asaph. Heare my doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto the wordes of my mouth. ²I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of olde. ³Which we haue heard and knowen, and our fathers haue tolde vs. ⁴Wee will not hide them from their children but to the generation to come we wil shewe the praises of the Lord his power also, and his wonderful woorkes that he hath done: ⁵How he established a testimonie in Iaakob, and ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they shoulde teache their children: ⁶That the posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children: ⁷That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God but keepe his commandements: ⁸And not to bee as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirite was not faithfull vnto God. ⁹The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell. ¹⁰They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Lawe, ¹¹And forgate his Actes, and his wonderfull woorkes that he had shewed them. ¹²Hee did marueilous thinges in the sight of their fathers in the lande of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan. ¹³He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape. ¹⁴In the day time also hee led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire. ¹⁵He claue the rockes in the wildernes, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths. ¹⁶He brought floods also out of the stonie rocke; so that hee made the waters to descend like the riuers. ¹⁷Yet they sinned stil against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wilderness, ¹⁸And tempted God in their heartes in requiring meate for their lust. ¹⁹They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness? ²⁰Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people? ²¹Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, ²²Because they beleueed not in God, and trusted not in his helpe. ²³Yet he had comanded the clouds aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, ²⁴And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen. ²⁵Man did eate the bread of Angels: hee sent them meate ynough. ²⁶He caused the Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the Southwinde. ²⁷Hee rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea. ²⁸And hee made it fall in the middes of their campe euen round about their habitations. ²⁹So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire. ³⁰They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, ³¹When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

³²For all this, they sinned stil, and beleueed not his wonderous woorkes. ³³Therefore their daies did hee consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily. ³⁴And when hee slewe them, they sought him and they returned, and sought God earely. ³⁵And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer. ³⁶But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue. ³⁷For their heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant. ³⁸Yet he being merciful forgauē their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath. ³⁹For he remembered that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe. ⁴⁰How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes? and grieue him in the desert? ⁴¹Yea, they returned, and tempted God, and limited the Holie one of Israel. ⁴²They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy, ⁴³Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the fiele of Zoan, ⁴⁴And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke. ⁴⁵Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them. ⁴⁶He gaue also their frutes vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grassehopper. ⁴⁷He destroyed their vines with haile, and their wilde figge trees with the hailestone. ⁴⁸He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderboltes. ⁴⁹Hee cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill Angels. ⁵⁰He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, ⁵¹And smote al the firstborne in Egypt, euen the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham. ⁵²But hee made his people to goe out like sheepe, and led them in the wildernes like a flocke. ⁵³Yea, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies. ⁵⁴And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased. ⁵⁵He cast out the heathe also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles. ⁵⁶Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies, ⁵⁷But turned backe and delt falsely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bowe. ⁵⁸And they prouoked him to anger with their high places, and mooued him to wrath with their grauen images. ⁵⁹God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel, ⁶⁰So that hee forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men, ⁶¹And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beautie into the enemies hand. ⁶²And hee gaue vp his people to the sworde, and was angrie with his inheritance. ⁶³The fire deuoured their chosen men, and their maides were not praised. ⁶⁴Their Priestes fell by the sworde, and their widowes lamented not. ⁶⁵But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his wine crieth out, ⁶⁶And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame. ⁶⁷Yet he refused the tabernacle of Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim: ⁶⁸But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued. ⁶⁹And he built his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he stablished for euer. ⁷⁰He chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the shepewolds. ⁷¹Euen from behinde the ewes with yong brought he him to feede his people in Iaakob, and his inheritance in Israel. ⁷²So he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

¹A Psalme committed to Asaph. O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones. ²The dead bodies of thy seruats haue they giuen to be meat vnto foules of ye heauen: and the flesh of thy Saintes vnto the beastes of the earth. ³Their blood haue they shead like waters rounde about Ierusalem, and there was none to burie them. ⁴Wee are a reproche to our neighbours, euen a scorne and derision vnto them that are round about vs. ⁵Lord, howe long wilt thou be angrie, for euer? shall thy gelousie burne like fire? ⁶Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that haue not knowen thee, and vpon the kingdomes that haue not called vpon thy Name. ⁷For they haue deuoured Iaakob and made his dwelling place desolate. ⁸Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie. ⁹Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glorie of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake. ¹⁰Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let him be knowen among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed. ¹¹Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie arme preserue the children of death, ¹²And render to our neighbours seuen folde into their bosome their reproche, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord. ¹³So wee thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set foorth thy praise.

¹To him that excelleth on Shoshannim Eduth. A Psalme committed to Asaph. Heare, O thou Shepheard of Israel, thou that ledest Ioseph like sheepe: shewe thy brightnes, thou that sittest betweene the Cherubims. ²Before Ephraim and Beniamin and Manasseh stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs. ³Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine that we may be saued. ⁴O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angrie against the prayer of thy people? ⁵Thou hast fedde them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure. ⁶Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselues. ⁷Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shalbe saued. ⁸Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it. ⁹Thou madest rourke for it, and didest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land. ¹⁰The mountaines were couered with the shadowe of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars. ¹¹Shee stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the Riuier. ¹²Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her? ¹³The wilde bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the field haue eaten it vp. ¹⁴Returne we beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and beholde and visite this vine, ¹⁵And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the young vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe. ¹⁶It is burnt with fire and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance. ¹⁷Let thine hande be vpon the man of thy right hande, and vpon the sonne of man, whome thou madest strong for thine owne selfe. ¹⁸So will not we goe backe from thee: reuiue thou vs, and we shall call vpon thy Name. ¹⁹Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hostes: cause thy face to shine and we shalbe saued.

¹To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalme committed to Asaph. Sing ioyfully vnto God our strength: sing loude vnto the God of Iaakob. ²Take the song and bring forth the timbrel, the pleasant harpe with the viole. ³Blowe the trumpet in the newe moone, euen in the time appointed, at our feast day. ⁴For this is a statute for Israel, and a Law of the God of Iaakob. ⁵Hee set this in Ioseph for a testimonie, when hee came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language, that I vnderstoode not. ⁶I haue withdrawn his shoulder from the burden, and his handes haue left the pots. ⁷Thou calledst in affliction and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I prooued thee at the waters of Meribah. Selah. ⁸Heare, O my people, and I wil protest vnto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken vnto me, ⁹Let there bee no strange god in thee, neither worship thou any strange god. ¹⁰For I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt: open thy mouth wide and I will fill it. ¹¹But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me. ¹²So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnesse of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counsels. ¹³Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my wayes. ¹⁴I would soone haue humbled their enemies, and turned mine hand against their aduersaries. ¹⁵The haters of the Lord should haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time should haue endured for euer. ¹⁶And God would haue fedde them with the fatte of wheat, and with honie out of the rocke would I haue sufficed thee.

¹A Psalme committed to Asaph. God standeth in the assemblie of gods: hee iudgeth among gods. ²How long wil ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah. ³Doe right to the poore and fatherlesse: doe iustice to the poore and needie. ⁴Deliuere the poore and needie: saue them from the hand of the wicked. ⁵They knowe not and vnderstand nothing: they walke in darkenes, albeit all the foundations of the earth be mooued. ⁶I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High. ⁷But ye shall die as a man, and yee princes, shall fall like others. ⁸O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

¹A song, or Psalme committed to Asaph. Keep not thou silence, O God: bee not still, and cease not, O God. ²For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, haue lifted vp the head. ³They haue taken craftie counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones. ⁴They haue said, Come and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance. ⁵For they haue consulted together in heart, and haue made a league against thee: ⁶The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims: ⁷Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitants of Tyrus: ⁸Asshur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Selah. ⁹Doe thou to them as vnto the Midianites: as to Sisera and as to Iabin at the riuier of Kishon. ¹⁰They perished at Endor, and were dung for the earth. ¹¹Make them, euen their princes like Oreb and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmuna. ¹²Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God. ¹³O my God, make them like vnto a wheele, and as the stubble before the winde. ¹⁴As the fire burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire: ¹⁵So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraide with thy storme. ¹⁶Fill their faces with shame, that they may seeke thy Name, O Lord. ¹⁷Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish, ¹⁸That they may knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most High ouer all the earth.

¹To him that excelleth upon Gittith. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. O Lord of hostes, howe amiable are thy Tabernacles! ²My soule longeth, yea, and fainteth for the courtes of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God. ³Yea, the sparowe hath found her an house, and the swallow a nest for her, where she may lay her yong: euen by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God. ⁴Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praise thee. Selah. ⁵Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes. ⁶They going through the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also couereth the pooles. ⁷They goe from strength to strength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion. ⁸O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iaakob. Selah. ⁹Beholde, O God, our shielde, and looke vpon the face of thine Anointed. ¹⁰For a day in thy courtes is better then a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the House of my God, then to dwell in the Tabernacles of wickednesse. ¹¹For the Lord God is the sunne and shielde vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly. ¹²O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. Lord, thou hast bene fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iaakob. ²Thou hast forgien the iniquitie of thy people, and couered all their sinnes. Selah. ³Thou hast withdrawen all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the fiercenes of thy wrath. ⁴Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger toward vs. ⁵Wilt thou be angry with vs for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another? ⁶Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee? ⁷Shew vs thy mercie, O Lord, and graunt vs thy saluation. ⁸I will hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saintes, that they turne not againe to follie. ⁹Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land. ¹⁰Mercie and trueth shall meete: righteousnes and peace shall kisse one another. ¹¹Trueth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnes shall looke downe from heauen. ¹²Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase. ¹³Righteousnesse shall go before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

¹A prayer of David. Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needy. ²Preserue thou my soule, for I am mercifull:

my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee. ³Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I crie vpon thee continually. ⁴Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule. ⁵For thou, Lord, art good and mercifull, and of great kindenes vnto all them, that call vpon thee. ⁶Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and hearken to the voyce of my supplication. ⁷In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me. ⁸Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can doe like thy workes. ⁹All nations, whome thou hast made, shall come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name. ¹⁰For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone. ¹¹Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name. ¹²I wil prayse thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I wil glorifie thy Name for euer. ¹³For great is thy mercie toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue. ¹⁴O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them. ¹⁵But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger and great in kindenes and trueth.

¹⁶Turne vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the sonne of thine handmayd. ¹⁷Shew a token of thy goodnes towarde me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

¹A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah. God layde his foundations among the holy mountaines. ²The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboue all the habitations of Iaakob. ³Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God. Selah. ⁴I will make mention of Rahab and Babel among them that knowe me: beholde Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, There is he borne. ⁵And of Zion it shall be sayde, Many are borne in her: and he, euen the most High shall stablish her. ⁶The Lord shall count, when hee writeth the people, He was borne there. Selah. ⁷Aswell the singers as the players on instruments shall prayse thee: all my springs are in thee.

¹A song or Psalme of Heman the Ezrahite to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth upon Malath Leannoth. O Lord God of my saluation, I cry day and night before thee. ²Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry. ³For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue. ⁴I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength: ⁵Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whome thou remembreth no more, and they are cut off from thine hand. ⁶Thou hast layde me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, and in the deepe. ⁷Thine indignation lyeth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy waues. Selah. ⁸Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me, and made mee to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get foorth. ⁹Mine eye is sorowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call dayly vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee. ¹⁰Wilt thou shewe a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and prayse thee? Selah. ¹¹Shall thy louing kindenes be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulness in destruction? ¹²Shall thy wonderous workes be known in the darke? and thy righteousness in the land of obliuion? ¹³But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and early shall my prayer come before thee. ¹⁴Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me? ¹⁵I am afflicted and at the point of death: from my youth I suffer thy terrours, doubting of my life. ¹⁶Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off. ¹⁷They came round about me dayly like water, and compassed me together. ¹⁸My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance hid themselues.

¹A Psalme to give instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite. I will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation. ²For I said, Mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou stablsh in ye very heauens. ³I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant, ⁴Thy seede will I stablsh for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah. ⁵O Lord, euen the heauens shall prayse thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the Congregation of the Saints. ⁶For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods? ⁷God is very terrible in the assemblie of the Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all, that are about him. ⁸O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee? ⁹Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them. ¹⁰Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme. ¹¹The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast layde the foundation of the world, and all that therein is. ¹²Thou hast created the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name. ¹³Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand. ¹⁴Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercy and trueth goe before thy face. ¹⁵Blessed is the people, that can reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy countenance, O Lord. ¹⁶They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnes shall they exalt them selues. ¹⁷For thou art the glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted. ¹⁸For our shield apperteineth to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel. ¹⁹Thou spakest then in a vision vnto thine Holy one, and saydest, I haue layde helpe vpon one that is mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people. ²⁰I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anoynted him. ²¹Therefore mine hande shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him. ²²The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him. ²³But I will destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him. ²⁴My trueth also and my mercie shall be with him, and in my Name shall his horne be exalted. ²⁵I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the floods. ²⁶He shall cry vnto mee, 'Thou art my Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation. ²⁷Also I wil make him my first borne, higher then the Kings of the earth. ²⁸My mercie will I keepe for him for euermore, and my couenant shall stande fast with him. ²⁹His seede also will I make to endure for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen. ³⁰But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements: ³¹If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements: ³²Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes. ³³Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth. ³⁴My couenant wil I not breake, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips. ³⁵I haue sworne once by mine holines, that I will not fayle Dauid, saying, ³⁶His seede shall endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me. ³⁷He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, and as a faythfull witnes in the heauen. Selah. ³⁸But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angry with thine Anoynted. ³⁹Thou hast broken the couenant of thy seruant, and profaned his crowne, casting it on the ground. ⁴⁰Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layd his fortresses in ruine. ⁴¹All that goe by the way, spoyle him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours. ⁴²Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce. ⁴³Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battell. ⁴⁴Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground. ⁴⁵The dayes of his youth hast thou shortned, and couered him with shame. Selah. ⁴⁶Lord, howe long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire? ⁴⁷Remember of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men? ⁴⁸What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hande of the graue? Selah. ⁴⁹Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth? ⁵⁰Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mightie people. ⁵¹For thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the footsteps of thine Anointed. ⁵²Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

¹A prayer of Moses, the man of God. Lord, thou hast bene our habitation from generation to generation. ²Before the mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting thou art our God. ³Thou turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam. ⁴For a thousande yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night. ⁵Thou hast ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse: ⁶In the morning it florisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth. ⁷For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled. ⁸Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance. ⁹For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue spent our yeeres as a thought. ¹⁰The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away. ¹¹Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger. ¹²Teach vs so to number our dayes, that we may apply our heartes vnto wisdome. ¹³Returne (O Lord, howe long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants. ¹⁴Fill vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes. ¹⁵Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill. ¹⁶Let thy worke bee seene towarde thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children. ¹⁷And let the beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our handes.

¹Who so dwelleth in the secrete of the most High, shall abide in the shadowe of the Almightye. ²I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust. ³Surely he will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence. ⁴Hee will couer thee vnder his winges, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his trueth shall be thy shielde and buckler. ⁵Thou shalt not be afraide of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flyeth by day: ⁶Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day. ⁷A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee. ⁸Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou beholde and see the reward of the wicked. ⁹For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge. ¹⁰There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle. ¹¹For hee shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes. ¹²They shall beare thee in their handes, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone. ¹³Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the yong lyon and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete. ¹⁴Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath knowen my Name. ¹⁵He shall call vpon me, and I wil heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him. ¹⁶With long life wil I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

¹A Psalme or song for the Sabbath day. It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High, ²To declare thy louing kindenesse in the morning, and thy trueth in the night, ³Vpon an instrument of tenne strings, and vpon the viole with the song vpon the harpe. ⁴For thou, Lord, hast made mee glad by thy workes, and I wil reioyce in the workes of thine handes. ⁵O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughtes are very deepe. ⁶An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this, ⁷(When the wicked growe as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish) that they shall be destroyed for euer. ⁸But thou, O Lord, art most High for euermore. ⁹For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed. ¹⁰But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, and I shalbe anoynted with fresh oyle. ¹¹Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me. ¹²The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a Cedar in Lebanon. ¹³Such as bee planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courtes of our God. ¹⁴They shall still bring foorth fruite in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing, ¹⁵To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

¹The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established, that it cannot be mooued. ²Thy throne is established of olde: thou art from euerlasting. ³The floodes haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floodes haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues. ⁴The waues of ye sea are marueilous through the noyse of many waters, yet the Lord on High is more mightie. ⁵Thy testimonies are very sure: holinesse becommeth thine House, O Lord, for euer.

¹O Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shewe thy selfe clearly. ²Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the worlde, and render a reward to the proude. ³Lord how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph? ⁴They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselues. ⁵They smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage. ⁶They slay the widowe and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse. ⁷Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Izaakob regard it. ⁸Vnderstande ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise? ⁹Hee that planted the eare, shall hee not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see? ¹⁰Or he that chastiseth the nations, shall he not correct? hee that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not knowe? ¹¹The Lord knoweth the thoughtes of man, that they are vanitie. ¹²Blessed is the man, whom thou chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Lawe, ¹³That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pitte is digged for the wicked. ¹⁴Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance. ¹⁵For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpriight in heart shall follow after it. ¹⁶Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie? ¹⁷If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence. ¹⁸When I said, My foote slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me. ¹⁹In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comfortes haue reioyced my soule. ²⁰Hath the throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a Lawe? ²¹They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood. ²²But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope. ²³And hee will recompence them their wickednes, and destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

¹Come, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing aloude vnto the rocke of our saluation. ²Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loude vnto him with Psalmes. ³For the Lord is a great God, and a great King aboue all gods. ⁴In whose hande are the deepe places of the earth, and the heightes of the mountaines are his: ⁵To whome the Sea belongeth: for hee made it, and his handes formed the dry land. ⁶Come, let vs worship and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker. ⁷For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his hande: to day, if ye will heare his voyce, ⁸Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, and as in the day of Massah in the wilderness. ⁹Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, though they had seene my worke. ¹⁰Fourtie yeeres haue I contended with this generation, and said, They are a people that erre in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes. ¹¹Wherefore I sware in my wrath, saying, Surely they shall not enter into my rest.

¹Sing vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord, all the earth. ²Sing vnto the Lord, and prayse his Name: declare his saluation from day to day. ³Declare his glory among all nations, and his wonders among all people. ⁴For the Lord is great and much to be prayed: he is to be feared aboue all gods. ⁵For all the gods of the people are idoles: but the Lord made the heauens. ⁶Strength and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuarie. ⁷Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power. ⁸Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courtes. ⁹Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth. ¹⁰Say among the nations, 'The Lord reigneth: surely the world shalbe stable, and not moue, and he shall iudge the people in righteousness. ¹¹Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is. ¹²Let the field be ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce ¹³Before the Lord: for he commeth, for he cometh to iudge the earth: he wil iudge the world with righteousnes, and the people in his trueth.

¹The Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the multitude of the yles be glad. ²Cloudes and darkenes are round about him: righteousness and iudgement are the foundation of his throne. ³There shall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about. ⁴His lightnings gaue light vnto the worlde: the earth sawe it and was afraide. ⁵The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth. ⁶The heauens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory.

⁷Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, and that glory in idoles: worship him all ye gods. ⁸Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord. ⁹For thou, Lord, art most High aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods. ¹⁰Ye that loue the Lord, hate euill: he preserueth the soules of his Saints: hee will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked. ¹¹Light is sown for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart. ¹²Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holy remembrance.

¹A Psalme. Sing vnto the Lord a newe song: for hee hath done marueilous things: his right hand, and his holy arme haue gotten him the victorie. ²The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hath he reueiled in the sight of ye nations. ³He hath remembred his mercy and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

⁴All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lord: crie out and reioyce, and sing prayses. ⁵Sing prayse to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce. ⁶With shalmes and sound of trumpets sing loude before the Lord the King. ⁷Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein. ⁸Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together ⁹Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousness shall hee iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

¹The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth betweene the Cherubims, let the earth be moued. ²The Lord is great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people. ³They shall prayse thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy) ⁴And the Kings power, that loueth iudgement: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob. ⁵Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his footestool: for he is holy. ⁶Moses and Aaron were among his Priests, and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them. ⁷Hee spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Lawe that he gaue them. ⁸Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didst take vengeance for their inuentions. ⁹Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

¹A Psalme of Praise. Sing ye loude vnto the Lord, all the earth. ²Serue the Lord with gladnes: come before him with ioyfulness. ³Knowe ye that euen the Lord is God: hee hath made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture. ⁴Enter into his gates with prayse, and into his courts with reioycing: prayse him and blesse his Name. ⁵For the Lord is good: his mercy is euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

¹A Psalme of David. I will sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing. ²I will doe wisely in the perfite way, till thou comest to me: I will walke in the vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house. ³I wil set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me. ⁴A froward heart shall depart from me: I will knowe none euill. ⁵Him that priuily slandereth his neighbour, wil I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and hie heart, I cannot suffer. ⁶Mine eyes shalbe vnto the faithfull of the lande, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, he shall serue me. ⁷There shall no deceitful person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lyes, shall not remaine in my sight. ⁸Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

¹A prayer of the afflicted, when he shall be in distresse, and pour forth his meditation before the Lord. O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my crye come vnto thee.

⁴Mine heart is smitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread. ⁵For the voyce of my groning my bones doe cleaue to my skinne. ⁶I am like a pelicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts. ⁷I watch and am as a sparrowe alone vpon the house top. ⁸Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage against me, haue sworne against me. ⁹Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, ¹⁰Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe. ¹¹My dayes are like a shadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse. ¹²But thou, O Lord, doest remaine for euver, and thy remembrance from generation to generation. ¹³Thou wilt arise and haue mercy vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the appointed time is come. ¹⁴For thy seruants delite in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof. ¹⁵Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the Kings of the earth thy glory, ¹⁶When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare in his glory, ¹⁷And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer. ¹⁸This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people, which shalbe created, shall prayse the Lord. ¹⁹For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen did the Lord beholde the earth, ²⁰That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death: ²¹That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his prayse in Ierusalem, ²²When the people shalbe gathered together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord. ²³He abated my strength in the way, and shortened my dayes.

²⁴And I sayd, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation. ²⁵Thou hast aforetime layde the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands. ²⁶They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed. ²⁷But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not fayle. ²⁸The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand fast in thy sight.

¹A Psalme of David. My soule, prayse thou the Lord, and all that is within me, prayse his holy Name. ²My soule, prayse thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites. ³Which forgiueth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities. ⁴Which redeemeth thy life from the graue, and crowneth thee with mercy and compassions. ⁵Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renued like the eagles. ⁶The Lord executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed. ⁷He made his wayes knowen vnto Moses, and his workes vnto the children of Israel. ⁸The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slowe to anger and of great kindnesse. ⁹He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer. ¹⁰He hath not dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities. ¹¹For as high as the heauen is aboue ye earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him. ¹²As farre as the East is from the West: so farre hath he remooued our sinnes from vs. ¹³As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him. ¹⁴For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust. ¹⁵The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flowre of the fiede, so florisheth he. ¹⁶For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall knowe it no more. ¹⁷But the louing kindnesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his righteousnes vpon childrens children, ¹⁸Vnto them that keepe his couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to doe them. ¹⁹The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his Kingdome ruleth ouer all. ²⁰Prayse the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voyce of his worde. ²¹Prayse the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure. ²²Prayse the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, prayse thou the Lord.

¹My soule, prayse thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art clothed with glorie and honour. ²Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine. ³Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde. ⁴Which maketh his spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers. ⁵He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue. ⁶Thou coueredst it with the deepe as with a garment: the waters woulde stand aboue the mountaines. ⁷But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste away. ⁸And the mountaines ascend, and the valleis descend to the place which thou hast established for them. ⁹But thou hast set them a bounde, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth. ¹⁰He sendeth the springs into the valleis, which runne betweene the mountaines. ¹¹They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the fildes, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst. ¹²By these springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches. ¹³He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes. ¹⁴He causeth grasse to growe for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth, ¹⁵And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

¹⁶The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, ¹⁷That ye birdes may make their nestes there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees. ¹⁸The high mountaines are for the goates: the rockes are a refuge for the conies. ¹⁹He appoynted the moone for certaine seasons: the sunne knoweth his going downe. ²⁰Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beastes of the forest creepe forth. ²¹The lions roare after their praye, and seeke their meate at God. ²²When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couche in their dennes. ²³Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening. ²⁴O Lord, howe manifolde are thy workes! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. ²⁵So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beastes and great. ²⁶There goe the shippes, yea, that Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein. ²⁷All these waite vpon thee, that thou maiest giue them foode in due season. ²⁸Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things. ²⁹But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they dye and returne to their dust. ³⁰Againe if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renuest the face of the earth. ³¹Glory be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes. ³²He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke. ³³I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will prayse my God, while I liue. ³⁴Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord. ³⁵Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, prayse thou the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹Praise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people. ²Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes. ³Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

⁴Seeke the Lord and his strength:
seeke his face continually.
⁵Remember his marueilous woorkes, that he hath done, his wonders and the iudgements of his mouth, ⁶Ye seede of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iaakob, which are his elect. ⁷He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are through all the earth. ⁸He hath alway remembred his couenant and promise, that he made to a thousand generations, ⁹Euen that which he made with Abraham, and his othe vnto Izhak: ¹⁰And since hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a lawe, and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, ¹¹Saying, Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance. ¹²Albeit they were fewe in number, yea, very fewe, and strangers in the land, ¹³And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people, ¹⁴Yet suffered he no man to doe them wrong, but reprooued Kings for their sakes, saying, ¹⁵Touche not mine anoointed, and doe my Prophets no harme. ¹⁶Moreouer, he called a famine vpon ye land, and vtterly brake the staffe of bread. ¹⁷But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was solde for a slaue. ¹⁸They helde his feete in the stockes, and he was laide in yrons, ¹⁹Vntill his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tryed him. ²⁰The King sent and loosed him: euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him. ²¹He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, ²²That he shoulde binde his princes vnto his will,

and teach his Ancients wisdom.
²³Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham. ²⁴And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours. ²⁵He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.
²⁶Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.
²⁷They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham. ²⁸He sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not disobedient vnto his commission.
²⁹He turned their waters into blood, and slewe their fish. ³⁰Their land brought forth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers. ³¹He spake, and there came swarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters. ³²He gaue them haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land. ³³He smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes. ³⁴He spake, and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable, ³⁵And did eate vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruite of their ground. ³⁶He smote also all the first borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength. ³⁷He brought them forth also with siluer and golde, and there was none feeble among their tribes. ³⁸Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them. ³⁹He spred a cloude to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night. ⁴⁰They asked, and he brought quailles, and he filled them with the bread of heauen. ⁴¹He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the drye places like a riuer. ⁴²For he remembred his holy promise to Abraham his seruant, ⁴³And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse, ⁴⁴And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession, ⁴⁵That they might keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye the Lord because he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer. ²Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lord, or shewe forth all his prayse? ³Blessed are they that keepe iudgement, and doe righteousness at all times. ⁴Remember me, O Lord, with the fauour of thy people: visite me with thy saluation, ⁵That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance. ⁶We haue sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly. ⁷Our fathers vnderstoode not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red sea. ⁸Neuerthelesse he saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowen. ⁹And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dryed vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wilderness. ¹⁰And he saued them from ye aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from ye hand of the enemye. ¹¹And the waters couered their oppressours: not one of them was left. ¹²Then beleueed they his wordes, and sang prayse vnto him. ¹³But incontinently they forgate his workes: they wayted not for his counsell, ¹⁴But lusted with concupiscence in the wildernes, and tempted God in the desert. ¹⁵Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leannesse into their soule. ¹⁶They enuied Moses also in the tentes, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord. ¹⁷Therefore the earth opened and swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the companie of Abiram. ¹⁸And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked. ¹⁹They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

²⁰Thus they turned their glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse. ²¹They forgate God their Sauour, which had done great things in Egypt, ²²Wonderous woorkes in the lande of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea. ²³Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stand in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, least he shoulde destroy them. ²⁴Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleueed not his worde, ²⁵But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not vnto the voice of the Lord. ²⁶Therefore hee lifted vp his hande against them, to destroy them in the wilderness, ²⁷And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countries. ²⁸They ioyned themselues also vnto Baalpeor, and did eate the offrings of the dead. ²⁹Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them. ³⁰But Phinehas stode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was staied. ³¹And it was imputed vnto

³²They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes, ³³Because they vexed his spirit, so that hee spake vnadvisedly with his lippes.

³⁴Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, ³⁵But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, ³⁶And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.

³⁷Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, ³⁸And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande was defiled with blood.

³⁹Thus were they steined with their owne woorkes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions.

⁴⁰Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.

⁴¹And hee gaue them into the hande of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lordes ouer them.

⁴²Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

⁴³Many a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.

⁴⁴Yet hee sawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crie.

⁴⁵And he remembred his couenant toward them and repented according to the multitude of his mercies, ⁴⁶And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that lead them captiues.

⁴⁷Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise.

⁴⁸Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise yee the Lord.

¹Praise the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

²Let them, which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shewe how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour, ³And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the South. ⁴When they wandered in the desert and wilderness out of the waie, and founde no citie to dwell in, ⁵Both hungrie and thirstie, their soule fainted in them. ⁶Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse, ⁷And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation. ⁸Let them therefore confesse before ye Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull woorkes before the sonnes of men. ⁹For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungrie soule with goodnesse. ¹⁰They that dwell in darkenesse and in the shadowe of death, being bounde in miserie and yron, ¹¹Because they rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High, ¹²When he humbled their heart with heauines, then they fell downe and there was no helper. ¹³Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse. ¹⁴He brought them out of darkenes, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bandes asunder.

¹⁵Let them therefore cofesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull woorkes before the sonnes of men. ¹⁶For hee hath broken the gates of brasse, and brast the barres of yron asunder. ¹⁷Fooles by reason of their transgression, and because of their iniquities are afflicted. ¹⁸Their soule abhorreth al meat, and they are brought to deaths doore. ¹⁹Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their distresse. ²⁰He sendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their graues. ²¹Let them therefore cofesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderful woorkes before the sonnes of men, ²²And let them offer sacrifices of praise, and declare his workes with reioycing. ²³They that goe downe to the sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, ²⁴They see the woorkes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe. ²⁵For he commaundeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof. ²⁶They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to ye deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble. ²⁷They are tossed to and from, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunning is gone. ²⁸Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse. ²⁹He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still. ³⁰When they are quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be. ³¹Let them therfore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull woorkes before the sonnes of men. ³²And let them exalt him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders. ³³He turneth the floodes into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drinesse, ³⁴And a fruitfull land into barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein. ³⁵Againe hee turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the drie lande into water springs. ³⁶And there he placeth the hungrie, and they builde a citie to dwell in, ³⁷And sowe the fieldes, and plant vineyardes, which bring foorth fruitfull increase. ³⁸For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattell. ³⁹Againe men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppression, euill and sorowe. ⁴⁰He powreth contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way. ⁴¹Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe. ⁴²The righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stoppe her mouth. ⁴³Who is wise that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

¹A song or Psalme of David. O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise. ²Awake viole and harpe: I will awake early. ³I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations. ⁴For thy mercy is great aboue the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the clouds. ⁵Exalt thy self, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth, ⁶That thy beloued may be deliuered: helpe with thy right hand and heare me. ⁷God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce, I shall deuide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth. ⁸Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my lawgiuer. ⁹Moab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edom wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph. ¹⁰Who will leade mee into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom? ¹¹Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and diddest not goe forth, O God, with our armies? ¹²Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man. ¹³Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall treade downe our enemies.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. Holde not thy tongue, O God of my praise. ²For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceite are opened vpon me: they haue spoken to me with a lying tongue. ³They compassed me about also with words of hatred, and fought against me without a cause. ⁴For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to praier. ⁵And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship. ⁶Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand. ⁷Whe he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his praier be turned into sinne. ⁸Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his charge. ⁹Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widowe. ¹⁰Let his children be vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed. ¹¹Let the extortioner catch al that he hath, and let the strangers spoile his labour. ¹²Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: neither let there be any to shewe mercie vpon his fatherlesse children. ¹³Let his posteritie be destroied, and in the generation following let their name be put out. ¹⁴Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away. ¹⁵But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memorial from ye earth. ¹⁶Because he remembred not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowfull hearted to slay him. ¹⁷As he loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him. ¹⁸As he clothed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones. ¹⁹Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alway girded. ²⁰Let this be the rewarde of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule. ²¹But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good) ²²Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me. ²³I depart like the shadowe that declineth, and am shaken off as the grasshopper. ²⁴My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnes. ²⁵I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shook their heads. ²⁶Helpe me, O Lord my God: saue me according to thy mercie. ²⁷And they shall know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it. ²⁸Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce. ²⁹Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion, as with a cloke. ³⁰I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth and praise him among ye multitude. ³¹For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that woulde condemne his soule.

¹A Psalm of David. The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstoole. ²The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of Zion: be thou ruler in the middes of thine enemies. ³Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shalbe as the morning dewe. ⁴The Lord sware and wil not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after ye order of Melchizedek. ⁵The Lord, that is at thy right hand, shall wound Kings in the day of his wrath. ⁶He shalbe iudge among the heathen: he shall fill all with dead bodies, and smite the head ouer great countreis. ⁷He shall drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

¹Praise ye the Lord. I will prayse the Lord with my whole heart in the assemblie and Congregation of the iust. ²The workes of the Lord are great, and ought to be sought out of al them that loue them. ³His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer. ⁴He hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion. ⁵He hath giuen a portion vnto them that feare him: he wil euer be mindfull of his couenant. ⁶He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen. ⁷The workes of his handes are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true. ⁸They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equitie. ⁹He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commanded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name. ¹⁰The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue them, haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Blessed is the man, that feareth the Lord, and deliteth greatly in his commandements. ²His seede shall be mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed. ³Riches and treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer. ⁴Vnto the righteous ariseth light in darkenes: he is merciful and full of copassion and righteous. ⁵A good man is mercifull and lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement. ⁶Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance. ⁷He will not be afraide of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleueth in the Lord. ⁸His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies. ⁹He hath distributed and giuen to ye poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his horne shalbe exalted with glory. ¹⁰The wicked shall see it and be angrie: he shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Praise, O ye seruants of the Lord, prayse the Name of the Lord. ²Blessed be the Name of the Lord from hencefoorth and for euer. ³The Lordes Name is prayed from the rising of ye sunne, vnto ye going downe of the same. ⁴The Lord is high aboue all nations, and his glorie aboue the heauens. ⁵Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high! ⁶Who abaseth himselfe to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth! ⁷He raiseth the needie out of the dust, and lifteth vp the poore out of the dung, ⁸That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people. ⁹He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, and a ioyfull mother of children. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹When Israel went out of Egypt, and the house of Iakob from the barbarous people, ²Iudah was his sanctification, and Israel his dominion. ³The Sea saw it and fled: Iorden was turned backe. ⁴The mountaines leaped like rams, and the hils as lambes. ⁵What ailed thee, O Sea, that thou fleddest? O Iorden, why wast thou turned backe? ⁶Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hils as lambes? ⁷The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iakob, ⁸Which turneth the rocke into waterpooles, and the flint into a fountaine of water.

¹Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie and for thy truethes sake. ²Wherefore shall the heathen say, Where is nowe their God? ³But our God is in heauen: he doeth what so euer he will. ⁴Their idoles are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands. ⁵They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and see not. ⁶They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not. ⁷They haue handes and touche not: they haue feete and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throte. ⁸They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them. ⁹O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shielde. ¹⁰O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shielde. ¹¹Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield. ¹²The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he will blesse, he will blesse the house of Israel, he will blesse the house of Aaron. ¹³He will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

¹⁴The Lord will increase his graces towarde you, euen toward you and toward your children. ¹⁵Ye are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth. ¹⁶The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lordes: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men. ¹⁷The dead prayse not the Lord, neither any that goe downe into the place of silence. ¹⁸But we will prayse the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹I love the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce and my prayers. ²For he hath inclined his eare vnto me, whe I did call vpon him in my dayes. ³When the snares of death copassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: when I founde trouble and sorowe. ⁴Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule. ⁵The Lord is mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion. ⁶The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me. ⁷Returne vnto thy rest, O my soule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee, ⁸Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling. ⁹I shall walke before the Lord in the lande of the liuing. ¹⁰I beleueed, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled. ¹¹I said in my feare, All men are lyers. ¹²What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me? ¹³I will take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord. ¹⁴I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people. ¹⁵Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saintes. ¹⁶Beholde, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broken my bondes. ¹⁷I will offer to thee a sacrifice of prayse, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord. ¹⁸I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the presence of all his people, ¹⁹In the courtes of ye Lords house, euen in the middes of thee, O Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

¹All nations, praise ye the Lord: all ye people, praise him. ²For his louing kindnes is great toward vs, and the trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

¹¹They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them. ¹²They came about mee like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them. ¹³Thou hast thrust sore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me. ¹⁴The Lord is my strength and song: for he hath beene my deliuerance. ¹⁵The voice of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly. ¹⁶The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly. ¹⁷I shall not die, but liue, and declare the woorkes of the Lord. ¹⁸The Lord hath chastened me sore, but he hath not deliuered me to death. ¹⁹Open ye vnto me the gates of righteousnes, that I may goe into them, and praise the Lord. ²⁰This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it. ²¹I will praise thee: for thou hast heard mee, and hast beene my deliuerance. ²²The stone, which the builders refused, is the head of the corner. ²³This was the Lordes doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes. ²⁴This is the day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it. ²⁵O Lord, I praie thee, saue now: O Lord, I praie thee nowe giue prosperitie. ²⁶Blessed be he, that commeth in the Name of the Lord: wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord. ²⁷The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar. ²⁸Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee. ²⁹Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

¹ALEP Blessed are those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the Lawe of the Lord. ²Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart. ³Surely they woorke none iniquitie, but walke in his waies. ⁴Thou hast commanded to keepe thy precepts diligently. ⁵Oh that my waies were directed to keepe thy statutes! ⁶Then should I not be confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandements. ⁷I will praise thee with an vpright heart, when I shall learne the iudgements of thy righteousnesse. ⁸I will keepe thy statutes: forsake mee not ouerlong. ⁹BET Wherewith shall a yong man redresse his waie? in taking heede thereto according to thy woorde. ¹⁰With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements. ¹¹I haue hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee. ¹²Blessed art thou, O Lord: teache mee thy statutes. ¹³With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth. ¹⁴I haue had as great delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches. ¹⁵I will meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy waies. ¹⁶I will delite in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy worde. ¹⁷GIMEL. Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may liue and keepe thy woorde. ¹⁸Open mine eies, that I may see the wonders of thy Lawe. ¹⁹I am a stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

²⁰Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway. ²¹Thou hast destroyed the proud: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements. ²²Remoue from mee shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies. ²³Princes also did sit, and speake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes. ²⁴Also thy testimonies are my delite, and my counsellors. ²⁵DALET My soule cleaueth to the dust: quicken me according to thy worde. ²⁶I haue declared my waies, and thou heardest me: teache me thy statutes. ²⁷Make me to vnderstand ye way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wondrous workes. ²⁸My soule melteth for heauinesse: raise mee vp according vnto thy worde. ²⁹Take from mee the way of lying, and graunt me graciously thy Lawe. ³⁰I haue chosen the way of trueth, and thy iudgements haue I laied before me. ³¹I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not. ³²I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart. ³³HE. Teach mee, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the ende. ³⁴Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I wil keepe it with my whole heart. ³⁵Direct mee in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite. ³⁶Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to couetousnesse. ³⁷Turne away mine eies from regarding vanitie, and quicken me in thy way. ³⁸Stablish thy promise to thy seruaunt, because he feareth thee. ³⁹Take away my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good. ⁴⁰Beholde, I desire thy commandements: quicken me in thy righteousnesse, ⁴¹VAV. And let thy louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise. ⁴²So shall I make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy woorde. ⁴³And take not the woorde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements. ⁴⁴So shall I alway keepe thy Lawe for euer and euer. ⁴⁵And I will walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts. ⁴⁶I will speake also of thy testimonies before Kings, and will not be ashamed. ⁴⁷And my delite shalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued. ⁴⁸Mine handes also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes. ⁴⁹ZAIN. Remember the promise made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused me to trust. ⁵⁰It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me. ⁵¹The proude haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Lawe. ⁵²I remembred thy iudgements of olde, O Lord, and haue bene comforted. ⁵³Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Lawe. ⁵⁴Thy statutes haue beene my songes in the house of my pilgrimage. ⁵⁵I haue remembred thy Name, O Lord, in the night, and haue kept thy Lawe. ⁵⁶This I had because I kept thy precepts. ⁵⁷CHET O Lord, that art my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes. ⁵⁸I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto me according to thy promise. ⁵⁹I haue considered my waies, and turned my feete into thy testimonies. ⁶⁰I made haste and delaied not to keepe thy commandements. ⁶¹The bandes of the wicked haue robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Lawe. ⁶²At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements. ⁶³I am companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts. ⁶⁴The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercie: teache me thy statutes. ⁶⁵TET O Lord, thou hast delt graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy woorde. ⁶⁶Teach me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleued thy commandements. ⁶⁷Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy woorde. ⁶⁸Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes. ⁶⁹The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I wil keepe thy precepts with my whole heart. ⁷⁰Their heart is fatte as grease: but my delite is in thy Lawe. ⁷¹It is good for me that I haue beene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes. ⁷²The Lawe of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of golde and siluer.

that persecute me? ⁸⁵The proude haue digged pittes for mee, which is not after thy Lawe. ⁸⁶All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: helpe me. ⁸⁷They had almost consumed me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts. ⁸⁸Quicken me according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimony of thy mouth. ⁸⁹LAMED. O Lord, thy worde endureth for euer in heauen. ⁹⁰Thy trueth is from generation to generation: thou hast layed the foundation of the earth, and it abideth. ⁹¹They continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants. ⁹²Except thy Lawe had bene my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction. ⁹³I wil neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me. ⁹⁴I am thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts. ⁹⁵The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies. ⁹⁶I haue seene an ende of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large. ⁹⁷MEM. Oh howe loue I thy Lawe! it is my meditation continually. ⁹⁸By thy commandements thou hast made mee wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with mee. ⁹⁹I haue had more vnderstading then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation. ¹⁰⁰I vnderstoode more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts. ¹⁰¹I haue refrained my feete from euery euil way, that I might keepe thy word. ¹⁰²I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for thou didest teach me. ¹⁰³Howe sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth! yea, more then hony vnto my mouth. ¹⁰⁴By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood. ¹⁰⁵NUN. Thy worde is a lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path. ¹⁰⁶I haue sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements. ¹⁰⁷I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word. ¹⁰⁸O Lord, I beseeche thee accept the free offerings of my mouth, and teach mee thy iudgements. ¹⁰⁹My soule is continually in mine hande: yet doe

I not forget thy Lawe. ¹¹⁰The wicked haue layed a snare for mee: but I swarued not from thy precepts. ¹¹¹Thy testimonies haue I taken as an heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart. ¹¹²I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the ende. ¹¹³SAMEC I hate vaine inuentions: but thy Lawe doe I loue. ¹¹⁴Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy worde. ¹¹⁵Away from mee, yee wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God. ¹¹⁶Stablish me according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope. ¹¹⁷Stay thou mee, and I shall be safe, and I will delite continually in thy statutes. ¹¹⁸Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their deceit is vaine. ¹¹⁹Thou hast taken away all ye wicked of the earth like drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies. ¹²⁰My flesh trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraide of thy iudgements. ¹²¹AIN. I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressours. ¹²²Answer for thy seruant in that, which is good, and let not the proude oppresse me. ¹²³Mine eyes haue failed in waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promise. ¹²⁴Deale with thy seruant according to thy mercie, and teache me thy statutes. ¹²⁵I am thy seruant: graunt mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies. ¹²⁶It is time for thee Lord to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Lawe. ¹²⁷Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue golde, yea, aboue most fine golde. ¹²⁸Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false wayes. ¹²⁹PE. Thy testimonies are wonderfull: therefore doeth my soule keepe them. ¹³⁰The entrance into thy wordes sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple. ¹³¹I opened my mouth and panted, because I loued thy commandements. ¹³²Looke vpon mee and bee mercifull vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name. ¹³³Direct my steppes in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me. ¹³⁴Deliuier mee from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts. ¹³⁵Shew the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teache me thy statutes. ¹³⁶Mine eyes gush out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Lawe. ¹³⁷TSADDI. Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements. ¹³⁸Thou hast commanded iustice by thy testimonies and trueth especially. ¹³⁹My zeale hath euen consumed mee, because mine enemies haue forgotten thy wordes. ¹⁴⁰Thy word is prooued most pure, and thy seruant loueth it. ¹⁴¹I am small and despised: yet do I not forget thy precepts. ¹⁴²Thy righteousness is an euerlasting righteousness, and thy Lawe is trueth. ¹⁴³Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: yet are thy commandements my delite. ¹⁴⁴The righteousness of thy testimonies is euerlasting: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall liue. ¹⁴⁵KOP I haue cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes. ¹⁴⁶I called vpon thee: saue mee, and I will keepe thy testimonies. ¹⁴⁷I preuented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word. ¹⁴⁸Mine eyes preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word. ¹⁴⁹Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy iudgement. ¹⁵⁰They drawe neere, that follow after malice, and are farre from thy Lawe. ¹⁵¹Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy commandements are true. ¹⁵²I haue knowen long since by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer. ¹⁵³RES Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer mee: for I haue not forgotten thy Lawe. ¹⁵⁴Pleade my cause, and deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy word. ¹⁵⁵Saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes. ¹⁵⁶Great are thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy iudgements. ¹⁵⁷My persecutours and mine oppressours are many: yet doe I not swarue from thy testimonies. ¹⁵⁸I saw the transgressours and was grieued, because they kept not thy worde. ¹⁵⁹Consider, O Lord, how I loue thy precepts: quicken mee according to thy louing kindenesse. ¹⁶⁰The beginning of thy worde is trueth, and all the iudgements of thy righteousnesse endure for euer. ¹⁶¹SCHIN. Princes haue persecuted mee without cause, but mine heart stood in awe of thy wordes. ¹⁶²I reioyce at thy worde, as one that findeth a great spoyle. ¹⁶³I hate falshood and abhorre it, but thy Lawe doe I loue. ¹⁶⁴Seuen times a day doe I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements. ¹⁶⁵They that loue thy Law, shall haue great prosperitie, and they shall haue none hurt. ¹⁶⁶Lord, I haue trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements. ¹⁶⁷My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly. ¹⁶⁸I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: for all my wayes are before thee. ¹⁶⁹TAV. Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, and giue me vnderstanding, according vnto thy worde. ¹⁷⁰Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer me according to thy promise. ¹⁷¹My lippes shall speake praise, when thou hast taught me thy statutes. ¹⁷²My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous. ¹⁷³Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts. ¹⁷⁴I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Lawe is my delite. ¹⁷⁵Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy iudgements shall helpe me. ¹⁷⁶I haue gone astraye like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

¹A song of degrees. I called vnto the Lord in my trouble, and hee heard me. ²Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lippes, and from a deceitfull tongue. ³What doeth thy deceitfull tongue bring vnto thee? or what doeth it auaille thee? ⁴It is as the sharpe arrowes of a mightie man, and as the coales of iuniper. ⁵Woe is to me that I remaine in Meschech, and dwell in the tentes of Kedar. ⁶My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace. ⁷I seeke peace, and when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

¹A song of degrees. I will lift mine eyes vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come. ²Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hath made the heauen and the earth. ³He wil not suffer thy foote to slippe: for he that keepeth thee, will not slumber. ⁴Beholde, he that keepeth Israel, wil neither slumber nor sleepe. ⁵The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand. ⁶The sunne shall not smite thee by day, nor the moone by night. ⁷The Lord shall preserue thee from all euil: he shall keepe thy soule. ⁸The Lord shall preserue thy going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

¹A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. I rejoiced, when they sayd to me, We wil go into the house of the Lord. ²Our feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem. ³Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is compact together in it selfe: ⁴Whereunto the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord go vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to prayse the Name of the Lord. ⁵For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of Daud. ⁶Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee. ⁷Peace be within thy walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces. ⁸For my brethren and neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie. ⁹Because of the House of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

¹A song of degrees. I lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens. ²Behold, as the eyes of seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a mayden vnto the hand of her mistres: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God vntil he haue mercie vpon vs. ³Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue suffered too much contempt. ⁴Our soule is filled too full of ye mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnes of the proude.

CHAPTER 124

¹A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. If the Lord had not bene on our side, (may Israel now say)

²If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs, ³They had then swallowed vs vp quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs. ⁴Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:

⁵Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule. ⁶Praysed be the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a praye vnto their teeth. ⁷Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the snare of the foulers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered. ⁸Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

¹A song of degrees. They that trust in the Lord, shalbe as mount Zion, which can not be remooued, but remaineth for euere. ²As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth and for euere. ³For the rod of the the righteous, least the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednes. ⁴Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts. ⁵But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

¹A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. When ye Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame.

²Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioye: then sayd they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them. ³The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce. ⁴O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South. ⁵They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.

⁶They went weeping and caried precious seede: but they shall returne with ioye and bring their sheaues.

¹A song of degrees, or Psalme of Salomon. Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine. ²It is in vaine for you to rise earely, and to lie downe late, and eate the bread of sorow: but he wil surely giue rest to his beloued. ³Beholde, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruite of the wombe his rewarde. ⁴As are the arrowes in the hand of ye strong man: so are the children of youth. ⁵Blessed is the man, that hath his quiuer full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

¹A song of degrees. Blessed is euery one that feareth the Lord and walketh in his wayes. ²When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee. ³Thy wife shalbe as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the oliue plantes round about thy table. ⁴Lo, surely thus shall the man be blessed, that feareth the Lord. ⁵The Lord out of Zion shall blesse thee, and thou shalt see the wealth of Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life. ⁶Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

¹A song of degrees. They haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may Israel nowe say) ²They haue often times afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me. ³The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes. ⁴But the righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked. ⁵They that hate Zion, shalbe all ashamed and turned backward. ⁶They shalbe as the grasse on the house tops, which withereth afore it commeth forth. ⁷Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the glainer his lap: ⁸Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

¹A song of degrees. Out of the deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord. ²Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers. ³If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? ⁴But mercie is with thee, that thou mayest be feared. ⁵I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde. ⁶My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning. ⁷Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great redemption. ⁸And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

¹A song of degrees or Psalme of David. Lord, mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me. ²Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is wained. ³Let Israel waite on the Lord from hencefoorth and for euer.

¹A song of degrees. Lord, remember Dauid with all his affliction. ²Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying, ³I will not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed, ⁴Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber, ⁵Vntill I finde out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iaakob. ⁶Lo, we heard of it in Ephrathah, and found it in the fieldes of the forest. ⁷We will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footestool. ⁸Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength. ⁹Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce. ¹⁰For thy seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anointed. ¹¹The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he wil not shrink from it, saying, Of the fruite of thy body will I set vpon thy throne. ¹²If thy sonnes keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for euer. ¹³For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, ¹⁴This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delite therein. ¹⁵I will surely blesse her vitales, and will satisfie her poore with bread, ¹⁶And will clothe her Priests with saluation, and her Saints shall shoute for ioye. ¹⁷There will I make the horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted. ¹⁸His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall florish.

¹A song of degrees or Psalme of David. Behold, howe good and howe comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen together. ²It is like to the precious oyntment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments: ³And as the dew of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing and life for euer.

CHAPTER 134

¹A song of degrees. Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stande in the house of the Lord. ²Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord. ³The Lord, that hath made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him. ²Ye that stande in the House of the Lord, and in the courtes of the House of our God, ³Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing. ⁴For the Lord hath chosen Iaakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure. ⁵For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods. ⁶Whatsoever pleased the Lord, that did hee in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths. ⁷He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the lightnings with ye raine: he draweth forth the winde out of his treasures. ⁸He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast. ⁹He hath sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants. ¹⁰He smote many nations, and slew mightie Kings: ¹¹As Sihon King of the Amorites, and Og King of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan: ¹²And gaue their lande for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people. ¹³Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation. ¹⁴For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants. ¹⁵The idoles of the heathen are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens handes. ¹⁶They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes and see not. ¹⁷They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth. ¹⁸They that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them. ¹⁹Praise the Lord, ye house of Israel: praise the Lord, ye house of Aaron. ²⁰Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord. ²¹Praised bee the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

¹Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer. ²Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer. ³Praise ye the Lord of lordes: for his mercie endureth for euer: ⁴Which onely doeth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer: ⁵Which by his wisdom made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer: ⁶Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his mercie endureth for euer: ⁷Which made great lightes: for his mercie endureth for euer: ⁸As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercie endureth for euer: ⁹The moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁰Which smote Egypt with their first borne, (for his mercie endureth for euer) ¹¹And brought out Israel from among them (for his mercie endureth for euer) ¹²With a mightie hande and stretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹³Which deuided the red Sea in two partes: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁴And made Israel to passe through the mids of it: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁵And ouerthrewe Pharaoh and his hoste in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁶Which led his people through the wildernes: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁷Which smote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁸And slewe mightie Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer: ¹⁹As Sihon King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer: ²⁰And Og the King of Bashan: for his mercie endureth for euer: ²¹And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer: ²²Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercie endureth for euer: ²³Which remembred vs in our base estate: for his mercie endureth for euer: ²⁴And hath rescued vs from our oppressours: for his mercie endureth for euer: ²⁵Which giueth foode to all flesh: for his mercie endureth for euer.

²⁶Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

¹By the riuers of Babel we sate, and there wee wept, when we remembred Zion. ²Wee hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the middes thereof. ³Then they that ledde vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when wee had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion. ⁴Howe shall we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land? ⁵If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play. ⁶If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefe ioy. ⁷Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which saide, Rase it, rase it to the foundation thereof. ⁸O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs. ⁹Blessed shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

¹A Psalme of David. I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee. ²I will worship toward thine holy Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindenesse and for thy trueth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word. ³When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast encreased strength in my soule. ⁴All the Kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth. ⁵And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great. ⁶For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude he knoweth afarre off. ⁷Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch foorth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me. ⁸The Lord will performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not the workes of thine handes.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. O Lord, thou hast tried me and knowen me. ²Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afarre off. ³Thou compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes. ⁴For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord. ⁵Thou holdest mee strait behind and before, and layest thine hand vpon me. ⁶Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for mee: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it. ⁷Whither shall I goe from thy Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? ⁸If I ascende into heauen, thou art there: if I lye downe in hell, thou art there. ⁹Let mee take the winges of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea: ¹⁰Yet thither shall thine hand leade me, and thy right hand holde me. ¹¹If I say, Yet the darkenes shall hide me, euen the night shalbe light about me. ¹²Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenes and light are both alike. ¹³For thou hast possessed my reines: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe. ¹⁴I will praise thee, for I am fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well. ¹⁵My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and facioned beneath in the earth. ¹⁶Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were facioned, when there was none of them before. ¹⁷Howe deare therefore are thy thoughtes vnto me, O God! how great is ye summe of them! ¹⁸If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I wake, I am still with thee. ¹⁹Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from mee: ²⁰Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine. ²¹Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee? ²²I hate them with an vnfained hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.

²³Try mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: prooue me and know my thoughtes, ²⁴And consider if there be any way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the way for euer.

¹To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. Deliuer me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the cruel man: ²Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually. ³They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poyson is vnder their lips. Selah. ⁴Keepe mee, O Lord, from the handes of the wicked: preserue mee from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steppes to slide. ⁵The proude haue layde a snare for me, and spred a nette with cordes in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah. ⁶Therefore I saide vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers. ⁷O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou hast couered mine head in the day of battel. ⁸Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord:

performe not his wicked thought, least they be proude. Selah. ⁹As for the chiefe of them, that compasse me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them. ¹⁰Let coles fal vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they rise not. ¹¹For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction. ¹²I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore. ¹³Surely the righteous shall prayse thy Name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

¹A Psalme of David. O Lord, I call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee. ²Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice. ³Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips. ⁴Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their delicates. ⁵Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: and let him reprocue me, and it shalbe a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen pray in their miseries. ⁶When their iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweete. ⁷Our bones lye scattered at the graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth. ⁸But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute. ⁹Keepe me from the snare, which they haue layde for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie. ¹⁰Let the wicked fall into his nettes together, whiles I escape.

¹A Psalme of David, to give instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the cave. I cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord. ²I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence. ³Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily layde a snare for me. ⁴I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would knowe me: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule. ⁵Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and sayde, thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing. ⁶Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought very lowe: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me. ⁷Bring my soule out of prison, that I may prayse thy Name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

¹A Psalme of David. Hear my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy trueth and in thy righteousness. ²(And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none that liueth, be iustified) ³For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath layde me in the darkenes, as they that haue bene dead long agoe: ⁴And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine heart within me was amased. ⁵Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands. ⁶I stretch forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah. ⁷Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit fayleth: hide not thy face from me, els I shall be like vnto them that go downe into the pit. ⁸Let me heare thy louing kindenes in the morning, for in thee is my trust: shewe mee the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee. ⁹Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee. ¹⁰Teach me to doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade me vnto the land of righteousness. ¹¹Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble. ¹²And for thy mercy slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy seruant.

¹A Psalme of David. Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battell. ²He is my goodnes and my fortresse, my towre and my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me. ³Lord, what is man that thou regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him! ⁴Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow, that vanisheth. ⁵Bow thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke. ⁶Cast forth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them. ⁷Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers, ⁸Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood. ⁹I wil sing a new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings. ¹⁰It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto Kings, and rescueth Dauid his seruant from the hurtfull sworde. ¹¹Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood: ¹²That our sonnes may be as the plantes growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace: ¹³That our corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousand in our streetes: ¹⁴That our oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes. ¹⁵Blessed are the people, that be so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

¹A Psalme of David of Praise. O my God and King, I will extold thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer. ²I will blesse thee dayly, and prayse thy Name for euer and euer. ³Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be prayed, and his greatnes is incomprehensible. ⁴Generation shall praise thy works vnto generation, and declare thy power. ⁵I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes, ⁶And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnes. ⁷They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousness. ⁸The Lord is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great mercie. ⁹The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes. ¹⁰All thy workes prayse thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee. ¹¹They shewe the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power, ¹²To cause his power to be knowne to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome. ¹³Thy kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages. ¹⁴The Lord vpholdeth all that fall, and lifteth vp all that are ready to fall. ¹⁵The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season. ¹⁶Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure. ¹⁷The Lord is righteous in all his

wayes, and holy in all his workes. ¹⁸The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in trueth. ¹⁹He wil fulfill the desire of them that feare him: he also wil heare their cry, and wil saue them. ²⁰The Lord preserueth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked. ²¹My mouth shall speake the prayse of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Praise thou the Lord, O my soule. ²I will prayse the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I wil sing vnto my God. ³Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him. ⁴His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughtes perish. ⁵Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God. ⁶Which made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer: ⁷Which executeth iustice for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord loseth the prisoners. ⁸The Lord giueth sight to the blinde: the Lord rayseth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous. ⁹The Lord keepeth the strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked. ¹⁰The Lord shall reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely. ²The Lord doth builde vp Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel. ³He healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores. ⁴He counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names. ⁵Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite. ⁶The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the ground. ⁷Sing vnto the Lord with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God, ⁸Which couereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaines: ⁹Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that crie. ¹⁰He hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man. ¹¹But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attende vpon his mercie. ¹²Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: prayse thy God, O Zion. ¹³For he hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee. ¹⁴He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the floure of wheate. ¹⁵He sendeth foorth his commandement vpon earth, and his worde runneth very swiftly. ¹⁶He giueth snowe like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes. ¹⁷He casteth foorth his yce like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof? ¹⁸He sendeth his worde and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blowe, and the waters flowe. ¹⁹He sheweth his word vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel. ²⁰He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they knowen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: prayse ye him in the high places. ²Prayse ye him, all ye his Angels: praise him, all his armie. ³Prayse ye him, sunne and moone: prayse ye him all bright starres. ⁴Prayse ye him, heauens of heauens, and waters, that be aboue the heauens. ⁵Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created. ⁶And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe. ⁷Prayse ye the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all depths: ⁸Fire and hayle, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his worde: ⁹Mountaines and all hils, fruitfull trees and all ceders: ¹⁰Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and fethered foules: ¹¹Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde: ¹²Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children: ¹³Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his prayse aboue the earth and the heauens. ¹⁴For he hath exalted the horne of his people, which is a prayse for all his Saintes, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Sing ye vnto the Lord a newe song: let his prayse be heard in the Congregation of Saints. ²Let Israel reioyce in him that made him, and let ye children of Zion reioyce in their King. ³Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayses vnto him with the timbrell and harpe. ⁴For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance. ⁵Let ye Saints be ioyfull with glorie: let them sing loud vpon their beddes. ⁶Let the high Actes of God bee in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands, ⁷To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

⁸To binde their Kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, ⁹That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is written: this honour shall be to all his Saintes. Prayse ye the Lord.

¹Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye God in his Sanctuarie: prayse ye him in the firmament of his power. ²Prayse ye him in his mightie Actes: prayse ye him according to his excellent greatnesse. ³Prayse ye him in the sounde of the trumpet: prayse yee him vpon the viole and the harpe. ⁴Prayse ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginales and organs. ⁵Prayse ye him with sounding cymbales: prayse ye him with high sounding cymbales. ⁶Let euery thing that hath breath prayse the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

PROVERBS

¹The Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel, ²To knowe wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand ye wordes of knowledge, ³To receiue instruction to do wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie, ⁴To giue vnto the simple, sharpenesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion. ⁵A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attayne vnto wise counsels, ⁶To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of ye wise, and their darke sayings. ⁷The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction. ⁸My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching. ⁹For they shalbe a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke. ¹⁰My sonne, if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not. ¹¹If they say, Come with vs, we will lay waite for blood, and lie priuile for the innocent without a cause: ¹²We wil swallow them vp aliue like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit: ¹³We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle: ¹⁴Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one purse: ¹⁵My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their path. ¹⁶For their feete runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood. ¹⁷Certainely as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing: ¹⁸So they lay waite for blood and lie priuily for their liues. ¹⁹Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: he would take away the life of the owners thereof. ²⁰Wisdomes cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the streetes. ²¹She calleth in the hye streete, among the prease in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying, ²²O ye foolish, howe long will ye loue foolishnes? and the scornefull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge? ²³(Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes) ²⁴Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none woulde regarde. ²⁵But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction. ²⁶I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke, when your feare commeth. ²⁷Whe your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirle wind: whe affliction and anguish shall come vpon you, ²⁸Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answeare: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not finde me, ²⁹Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord. ³⁰They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction. ³¹Therefore shall they eate of ye fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises. ³²For ease slaieth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them. ³³But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

¹My sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and hide my commandements within thee, ²And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdome, and encline thine heart to vnderstanding, ³(For if thou callest after knowledge, and cryest for vnderstanding: ⁴If thou seekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for treasures, ⁵Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and finde the knowledge of God. ⁶For the Lord giueth wisdome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding. ⁷He preserueth the state of the righteous: he is a shilde to them that walke vprihtly, ⁸That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preserueth the way of his Saintes) ⁹Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.

¹⁰When wisdome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy soule, ¹¹Then shall counsell preserue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee, ¹²And deliuer thee from the euill way, and from the man that speaketh froward things, ¹³And from them that leaue the wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darkenes: ¹⁴Which reioyce in doing euill, and delite in the frowardnesse of the wicked, ¹⁵Whose wayes are crooked and they are lewde in their paths.

¹⁶And it shall deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes. ¹⁷Which forsaketh the guide of her youth, and forgetteth the couenant of her God. ¹⁸Surely her house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto the dead. ¹⁹All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.
²⁰Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous. ²¹For the iust shall dwell in the land, and the vpriht men shall remaine in it.
²²But the wicked shalbe cut off from ye earth, and the transgressours shalbe rooted out of it.

¹My sonne, forget not thou my Lawe, but let thine heart keepe my commandements. ²For they shall increase the length of thy dayes and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperitie. ³Let not mercie and trueth forsake thee: binde them on thy necke, and write them vpon the table of thine heart. ⁴So shalt thou finde fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man. ⁵Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdome. ⁶In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes. ⁷Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill. ⁸So health shalbe vnto thy navel, and marowe vnto thy bones. ⁹Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruites of all thine increase. ¹⁰So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall burst with newe wine. ¹¹My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be griued with his correction. ¹²For the Lord correcteth him, whome he loueth, euen as the father doeth the childe in whom he deliteth. ¹³Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding. ¹⁴For the marchandise thereof is better then the marchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then golde. ¹⁵It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her. ¹⁶Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory. ¹⁷Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her pathes prosperitie. ¹⁸She is a tree of life to them that lay holde on her, and blessed is he that retaineth her. ¹⁹The Lord by wisdom hath layde the foundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heauens through vnderstanding. ²⁰By his knowledge the depthes are broken vp, and the cloudes droppe downe the dewe. ²¹My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom, and counsell. ²²So they shalbe life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke. ²³Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shall not stumble. ²⁴If thou sleepest, thou shalt not bee afraide, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shalbe sweete. ²⁵Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it commeth.

²⁶For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserue thy foote from taking. ²⁷Withhold not the good from the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it. ²⁸Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morow wil I giue thee, if thou now haue it. ²⁹Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doeth dwell without feare by thee. ³⁰Striue not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme. ³¹Bee not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes. ³²For the frowarde is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous. ³³The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the righteous. ³⁴With the scornfull he scorneth, but hee giueth grace vnto the humble. ³⁵The wise shall inherite glorie: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

¹Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding. ²For

I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake yee not my lawe. ³For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother, ⁴When he taught me, and sayde vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my woordes: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue. ⁵Get wisdom: get vnderstading: forget not, neither decline from the woordes of my mouth. ⁶Forsake her not, and shee shall keepe thee: loue her and shee shall preserue thee. ⁷Wisedome is the beginning: get wisedome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding. ⁸Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her. ⁹She shall giue a comely ornamet vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glorie. ¹⁰Heare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe many. ¹¹I haue taught thee in ye way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousness. ¹²Whe thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall. ¹³Take holde of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for shee is thy life. ¹⁴Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men. ¹⁵Auoide it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by. ¹⁶For they can not sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth except they cause some to fall. ¹⁷For they eate the breade of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence. ¹⁸But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that shineth more and more vnto the perfite day. ¹⁹The way of the wicked is as the darkenes: they knowe not wherein they shall fall. ²⁰My sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, incline thine eare vnto my sayings. ²¹Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the middes of thine heart. ²²For they are life vnto those that find them, and health vnto all their flesh. ²³Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth life. ²⁴Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lippes farre from thee. ²⁵Let thine eyes beholde the right, and let thine eyelids direct thy way before thee. ²⁶Ponder the path of thy feete, and let all thy waies be ordred aright. ²⁷Turne not to the right hande, nor to the left, but remoooue thy foote from euill.

¹My sonne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and incline thine eare vnto my knowledge. ²That thou maiest regarde counsell, and thy lippes obserue knowledge. ³For the lippes of a strange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more soft then oyle. ⁴But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sworde. ⁵Her feete goe downe to death, and her steps take holde on hell. ⁶She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are moueable: thou canst not knowe them. ⁷Heare yee me nowe therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth. ⁸Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house, ⁹Least thou giue thine honor vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell: ¹⁰Least the stranger should be silled with thy strength, and thy labours bee in the house of a stranger, ¹¹And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy bodie) ¹²And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction! ¹³And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught mee, nor enclined mine eare to them that instructed me! ¹⁴I was almost brought into all euil in ye mids of the Congregation and assemblie. ¹⁵Drinke the water of thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well. ¹⁶Let thy fountaines flow foorth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes. ¹⁷But let them bee thine, euen thine onely, and not the strangers with thee. ¹⁸Let thy fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth. ¹⁹Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her brests satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually. ²⁰For why shouldest thou delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger? ²¹For the waies of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes. ²²His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne. ²³Hee shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great follie.

¹My sonne, if thou be surety for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger, ²Thou art snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the woordes of thine owne mouth. ³Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hande of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends. ⁴Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyelids. ⁵Deliuer thy selfe as a doe from the hande of the hunter, and as a birde from the hande of the fouler. ⁶Goe to the pismire, O sluggarde: beholde her waies, and be wise. ⁷For shee hauing no guide, gournour, nor ruler, ⁸Prepareth her meat in the sommer, and gathereth her foode in haruest. ⁹Howe long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggarde? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe? ¹⁰Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, a litle folding of the hands to sleepe. ¹¹Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man. ¹²The vnthrifitie man and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth. ¹³He maketh a signe with his eyes: he signifieth with his feete: he instructeth with his fingers. ¹⁴Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions. ¹⁵Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: hee shall be destroyed suddenly without recouerie. ¹⁶These sixe things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen: ¹⁷The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood, ¹⁸An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, feete that be swift in running to mischief, ¹⁹A false witnesse that speaketh lyes, and him that rayseth vp contentions among brethren. ²⁰My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction. ²¹Binde them alway vpon thine heart, and tye them about thy necke. ²²It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee. ²³For the commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life, ²⁴To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from ye flatterie of ye tongue of a strange woman. ²⁵Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eye lids. ²⁶For because of the whorish woman a man is brought to a morsell of brad, and a woman wil hunt for the precious life of a man. ²⁷Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt? ²⁸Or can a man go vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt? ²⁹So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoeuer toucheth her. ³⁰Men do not despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his soule, because he is hungrie. ³¹But if he be founde, he shall restore seuen folde, or he shall giue all the substance of his house. ³²But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule. ³³He shall finde a wounde and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away. ³⁴For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance. ³⁵He cannot beare the sight of any raunsome: neither will he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

¹My sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee. ²Keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes. ³Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart. ⁴Say vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman, ⁵That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smoothe in her wordes. ⁶As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my windowe, ⁷And I sawe among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding, ⁸Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house, ⁹In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be blacke and darke. ¹⁰And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots behaiour, and subtill in heart. ¹¹(She is babling and loud: whose feete can not abide in her house. ¹²Nowe she is without, nowe in the streetes, and lyeth in waite at euery corner) ¹³So she caught him and kissed him and with an impudent face said vnto him, ¹⁴I haue peace offerings: this day haue I payed my vowes. ¹⁵Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee. ¹⁶I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt. ¹⁷I haue perfumed my bedde with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom. ¹⁸Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance. ¹⁹For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off. ²⁰He hath taken with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed. ²¹Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeelde, and with her flattering lips she entised him. ²²And he followed her straight wayes, as an oxe that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stockes for correction, ²³Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that he is in danger. ²⁴Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth. ²⁵Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths. ²⁶For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the strong men are all slaine by her. ²⁷Her house is the way vnto ye graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

wise in heart. ⁶Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes, shall teache things that be right. ⁷For my mouth shall speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednesse. ⁸All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardnesse in them. ⁹They are all plaine to him that will vnderstande, and streight to them that woulde finde knowledge. ¹⁰Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde. ¹¹For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her. ¹²I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsels. ¹³The feare of the Lord is to hate euill as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I doe hate. ¹⁴I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength. ¹⁵By me, Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice. ¹⁶By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth. ¹⁷I loue them that loue me: and they

that seeke me earely, shall finde me. ¹⁸Riches and honour are with me: euen durable riches and righteousnesse. ¹⁹My fruite is better then golde, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer. ²⁰I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the middes of the paths of iudgement, ²¹That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures. ²²The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his workes of olde. ²³I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning and before the earth. ²⁴When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water. ²⁵Before the mountaines were setled: and before the hilles, was I begotten. ²⁶He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde. ²⁷When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compasse vpon the deepe. ²⁸When he established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe, ²⁹When he gaue his decree to the Sea, that the waters shoulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the foundations of the earth, ³⁰Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was dayly his delight reioycing alway before him, ³¹And tooke my solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delite is with the children of men. ³²Therefore nowe hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes. ³³Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth mee, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores. ³⁴For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord. ³⁵But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

maydens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying, ⁴Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, she sayth, ⁵Come, and eate of my meate, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawn. ⁶Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding. ⁷He that reproueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot. ⁸Rebuke not a scorner, least he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee. ⁹Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teache a righteous man, and he will increase in learning. ¹⁰The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is vnderstanding. ¹¹For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe augmented. ¹²If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer. ¹³A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

¹⁴But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seate in the hie places of the citie, ¹⁵To call them that passe by the way, that go right on their way, saying, ¹⁶Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, shee sayth also, ¹⁷Stollen waters are sweete, and hid bread is pleasant. ¹⁸But he knoweth not, that ye dead are there, and that her ghestes are in the depth of hell.

¹THE PARABLE OF SALOMON. A wise sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauines to his mother. ²The treasures of wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death. ³The Lord will not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked. ⁴A slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche. ⁵He that gathereth in sommer, is the sonne of wisdom: but he that sleepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion. ⁶Blessings are vpon

the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked. ⁷The memoriall of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rotte. ⁸The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talke shalbe beaten. ⁹He that walketh vprightly, walketh boldely: but he that peruerteth his wayes, shalbe knowen. ¹⁰He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he yet is foolish in talke, shalbe beaten. ¹¹The mouth of a righteous man is a welspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked. ¹²Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses. ¹³In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisdom is founde, and a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom. ¹⁴Wise men lay vp knowledge: but ye mouth of the foole is a present destruction. ¹⁵The riche mans goodes are his strong citie: but the feare of the needie is their pouertie. ¹⁶The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne. ¹⁷He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way. ¹⁸He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slaunder, is a foole. ¹⁹In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refrayneth his lippes, is wise. ²⁰The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is litle worth. ²¹The lippes of the righteous doe feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom. ²²The blessing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde no sorowes with it. ²³It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man. ²⁴That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God wil graunt the desire of the righteous. ²⁵As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation. ²⁶As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthful to them that send him. ²⁷The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked shalbe diminished. ²⁸The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish. ²⁹The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie. ³⁰The righteous shall neuer be remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land. ³¹The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out. ³²The lips of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

¹False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite weight pleaseth him. ²When pride commeth, then commeth shame: but with the lowly is wisdom. ³The vprightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnes of the transgressors shall destroy them. ⁴Riches auaille not in the day of wrath: but righteousnes deliuereth from death. ⁵The righteousnes of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes. ⁶The righteousnesse of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednes. ⁷When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish. ⁸The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his steade. ⁹An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge. ¹⁰In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioye. ¹¹By the blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked. ¹²He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence. ¹³Hee that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but hee that is of a faithfull heart concealeth a matter. ¹⁴Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellors are, there is health. ¹⁵Hee shall be sore vexed, that is suretie for a stranger, and he that hateth suretiship, is sure. ¹⁶A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches. ¹⁷Hee that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his own flesh, is cruel. ¹⁸The wicked worketh a deceitful worke: but hee that soweth righteousnes, shall receiue a sure rewarde. ¹⁹As righteousnes leadeth to life: so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death. ²⁰They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delite. ²¹Though hande ioyne in hande, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape. ²²As a iewell of golde in a swines snoute: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion. ²³The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation. ²⁴There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but hee that spareth more then is right, surely commeth to pouertie. ²⁵The liberall person shall haue plentie: and he that watereth, shall also haue raine. ²⁶He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shalbe vpon the head of him that selleth corne. ²⁷He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him. ²⁸He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall florish as a leafe. ²⁹He that troubleth his owne house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole shalbe seruant to the wise in heart. ³⁰The fruite of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise. ³¹Beholde, the righteous shalbe recompensed in the earth: howe much more the wicked and the sinner?

¹He that loueth instruction, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole. ²A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked immaginations will hee condemne. ³A man cannot be established by wickednesse: but the roote of the righteous shall not be mooued. ⁴A vertuous

woman is the crowne of her husband: but she that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones. ⁵The thoughtes of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull. ⁶The talking of the wicked is to lye in waite for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliuer them. ⁷God ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand. ⁸A man shall be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shalbe despised. ⁹He that is despised, and is his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe and lacketh bread. ¹⁰A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell. ¹¹He that tilleth his lande, shalbe satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding. ¹²The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth fruite. ¹³The euill man is snared by the wickednesse of his lips, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie. ¹⁴A man shalbe satiate with good things by the fruite of his mouth, and the recompence of a mans hands shall God giue vnto him. ¹⁵The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsell, is wise. ¹⁶A foole in a day shall be knowen by his anger: but he that couereth shame, is wise. ¹⁷He that speaketh trueth, will shewe righteousnes: but a false witnes vseth deceite. ¹⁸There is that speaketh wordes like the prickings of a sworde: but the tongue of wise men is health. ¹⁹The lip of trueth shall be stable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently. ²⁰Deceite is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counsellors of peace shall be ioye. ²¹There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euill. ²²The lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truely are his delite. ²³A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fooles publisheth foolishnes. ²⁴The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shalbe vnder tribute. ²⁵Heauines in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good worde reioyceth it. ²⁶The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked will deceiue them. ²⁷The deceitfull man rosteth not, that hee tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious. ²⁸Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path way there is no death.

¹A wise sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scorner will heare no rebuke. ²A man shall eate good things by the fruite of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence. ³Hee that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lips, destruction shall be to him. ⁴The sluggard lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie. ⁵A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked causeth slander and shame. ⁶Righteousnesse preserueth the vpright of life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the sinner. ⁷There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches. ⁸A man will

giue his riches for the ransome of his life: but the poore cannot heare ye reproch. ⁹The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out. ¹⁰Onely by pride doeth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisdom. ¹¹The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them. ¹²The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, it is as a tree of life. ¹³He that despiseth the worde, hee shall be destroyed: but hee that feareth the commandment he shalbe rewarded. ¹⁴The instruction of a wise man is as the welspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death. ¹⁵Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated. ¹⁶Euery wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly. ¹⁷A wicked messenger falleth into euill: but a faithfull ambassadour is preservation. ¹⁸Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but hee that regardeth correction, shalbe honoured. ¹⁹A desire accomplished deliteth ye soule: but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euil. ²⁰He that walketh with the wise, shalbe wise: but a companion of fooles shalbe afflicted. ²¹Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good. ²²The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the riches of the sinner is layde vp for the iust. ²³Much foode is in the felde of the poore: but the felde is destroyed without discretion. ²⁴He that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that loueth him, chasteneth him betime. ²⁵The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

¹A wise woman buildeth her house: but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne handes. ²He that walketh in his righteousness, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him. ³In the mouth of the foolish is the rod of pride: but the lippes of the wise preserue them. ⁴Where none oxen are, there the cribbe is emptie: but much increase cometh by the strength of the oxe. ⁵A faithfull witnes will not lye: but a false record will speake lyes. ⁶A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstande. ⁷Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge. ⁸The wisdom of ye prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnes of the fooles is deceite. ⁹The foole maketh a mocke of sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour. ¹⁰The heart knoweth the bitternes of his soule, and the stranger shall not medle with his ioy. ¹¹The house of the wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall florish. ¹²There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the wayes of death. ¹³Euen in laughing the heart is sorowful, and the ende of that mirth is heauinesse. ¹⁴The heart that declineth, shall be sate with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

welspring of life, to auoyde the snares of death. ²⁸In the multitude of the people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the Prince. ²⁹He that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisdom: but he that is of an hastie minde, exalteth follie. ³⁰A sounde heart is the life of the flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones. ³¹He that oppresseth the poore, reprooueth him that made him: but hee honoureth him, that hath mercie on the poore. ³²The wicked shall be cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death. ³³Wisedome resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen in the mids of fooles. ³⁴Iustice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people. ³⁵The pleasure of a King is in a wise seruant: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

¹A soft answer putteth away wrath: but grievous wordes stirre vp anger. ²The tongue of the wise vseth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles babbleth out foolishnesse. ³The eyes of the Lord in euery place beholde the euill and the good. ⁴A wholesome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnes therof is the breaking of ye minde. ⁵A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent. ⁶The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is trouble. ⁷The lippes of the wise doe spread abroad knowledge: but ye heart of the foolish doth not so. ⁸The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him. ⁹The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteousness. ¹⁰Instruction is euill to him that forsaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die. ¹¹Hell and destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the sonnes of men? ¹²A scorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither will he goe vnto the wise. ¹³A ioyfull heart maketh a chearefull countenance: but by the sorow of the heart the minde is heauie. ¹⁴The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fedde with foolishnes. ¹⁵All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast. ¹⁶Better is a litle with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure, and trouble therewith. ¹⁷Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled oxe and hatred therewith. ¹⁸An angrie man stirreth vp strife: but hee that is slowe to wrath, appeaseth strife. ¹⁹The way of a slouthfull man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine. ²⁰A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother. ²¹Foolishnes is ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walketh vprightly. ²²Without counsel thoughts come to nought: but in the multitude of counsellors there is stedfastnesse. ²³A ioy commeth to a man by the answeere of his mouth: and how good is a word in due season? ²⁴The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoide from hell beneath. ²⁵The Lord will destroye the house of the proude men: but hee will stablish the borders of the widowe. ²⁶The thoughts of ye wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure haue pleasant wordes. ²⁷He that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth giftes, shall liue. ²⁸The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euil thinges. ²⁹The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous. ³⁰The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat. ³¹The eare that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise. ³²Hee that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding. ³³The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour, goeth humilitie.

¹The preparations of the heart are in man: but the answere of the tongue is of the Lord. ²All the

wayes of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the spirits. ³Commit thy workes vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shalbe directed. ⁴The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill. ⁵All that are proude in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though hand ioyne in hand, he shall not be vnpunished. ⁶By mercy and trueth iniquitie shalbe forgien, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill. ⁷When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him. ⁸Better is a litle with righteousness, then great reuenues without equitie. ⁹The heart of man purposeth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his steppes. ¹⁰A diuine sentence shalbe in the lips of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement. ¹¹A true weight and balance are of the Lord: all the weightes of the bagge are his worke. ¹²It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is stablished by iustice. ¹³Righteous lips are the delite of

Kings, and the King loueth him that speaketh right things. ¹⁴The wrath of a King is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it. ¹⁵In the light of the Kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloude of the latter raine. ¹⁶Howe much better is it to get wisdom then golde? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer. ¹⁷The path of the righteous is to decline from euil, and hee keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way. ¹⁸Pride goeth before destruction, and an high minde before the fall. ¹⁹Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to deuide the spoyle with the proude. ²⁰He that is wise in his busines, shall finde good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed. ²¹The wise in heart shall bee called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lippes shall increase doctrine. ²²Vnderstanding is wel spring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of fooles is folly. ²³The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lippes. ²⁴Faire wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, and health to the bones. ²⁵There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death. ²⁶The person that traueileth, traueileth for himselfe: for his mouth craueth it of him. ²⁷A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lippes is like burning fire. ²⁸A frowarde person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes. ²⁹A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good. ³⁰He shutteth his eyes to deuise wickednes: he moueth his lippes, and bringeth euil to passe. ³¹Age is a crowne of glory, when it is founde in the way of righteousness. ³²He that is slowe vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and hee that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie. ³³The lot is cast into the lap: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

¹Better is a dry morsell, if peace be with it, then an house full of sacrifices with strife. ²A discrete seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewde sonne, and hee shall deuide the heritage among the brethren. ³As is the fining pot for siluer, and the fornace for golde, so the Lord trieth the heartes. ⁴The wicked giueth heed to false lippes, and a lyer hearkeneth to the naughtie tongue. ⁵Hee that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him, that made him: and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be vnpunished. ⁶Childres children are the crowne of the elders: and the glory of ye children are their fathers. ⁷Hie talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince. ⁸A rewarde is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whithersoouer it turneth. ⁹Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but hee that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince. ¹⁰A reproofe entereth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundreth stripes into a foole. ¹¹A sedicious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruel messenger shall be sent against him. ¹²It is better for a man to meete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his follie. ¹³He that rewardeth euil for good, euil shall not depart from his house. ¹⁴The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore or the contention be medled with, leaue off. ¹⁵He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord. ¹⁶Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath none heart? ¹⁷A friende loueth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie. ¹⁸A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the hande, and becommeth suretie for his neighbour. ¹⁹He loueth transgression, that loueth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction. ²⁰The froward heart findeth no good: and he that hath a naughtie tongue, shall fall into euill. ²¹He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy. ²²A ioyfull heart causeth good health: but a sorowfull minde dryeth the bones. ²³A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to wrest the wayes of iudgement. ²⁴Wisdome is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world. ²⁵A foolish sonne is a grieffe vnto his father, and a heauines to her that bare him. ²⁶Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that ye princes should smite such for equitie. ²⁷Hee that hath knowledge, spareth his wordes, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit. ²⁸Euen a foole (when he holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and hee that stoppeth his lips, prudent.

¹For the desire thereof hee will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisdome. ²A foole hath no delite in vnderstanding: but that his heart may be discouered. ³When the wicked commeth, then commeth contempt, and with the vile man reproch. ⁴The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the welspring of wisdome is like a flowing riuier. ⁵It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause ye righteous to fall in iudgement. ⁶A fooles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes. ⁷A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule. ⁸The wordes of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly. ⁹He also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster. ¹⁰The Name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted. ¹¹The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an hie wall in his imagination. ¹²Before destruction the heart of a man is hautie, and before glory goeth lowlines. ¹³He that answereth a matter before hee heare it, it is folly and shame vnto him. ¹⁴The spirit of a man will susteine his infirmitie: but a wounded spirit who can beare it? ¹⁵A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the eare of the wise seeketh learning. ¹⁶A mans gift enlargeth him, and leadeth him before great men. ¹⁷He that is first in his owne cause, is iust: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh inquirie of him. ¹⁸The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie. ¹⁹A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace. ²⁰With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled. ²¹Death and life are in the power of ye tongue, and they that loue it, shall eate the fruite thereof. ²²He that findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and receiueth fauour of the Lord. ²³The poore speaketh with prayers: but the rich answereth roughly. ²⁴A man that hath friends, ought to shew him selfe friendly: for a friend is neerer then a brother.

¹Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole. ²For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that hasteth with his feete, sinneth. ³The foolishnesse of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart freateth against the Lord. ⁴Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour. ⁵A false witnes shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall not escape. ⁶Many reuerence the face of the prince, and euery man is friend to him that giueth giftes. ⁷All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: howe much more will his friends depart farre from him? though hee be instant with wordes, yet they will not. ⁸He that possesseth vnderstanding, loueth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to finde goodnesse. ⁹A false witnes shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall perish. ¹⁰Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes. ¹¹The discretion of man deferreth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence. ¹²The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a lyon: but his fauour is like the dewe vpon ye grasse. ¹³A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping. ¹⁴House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife commeth of the Lord. ¹⁵Slouthfulnes causeth to fall asleepe, and a deceitfull person shall be affamished. ¹⁶He that keepeth the commandement, keepeth his owne soule: but hee that despiseth his wayes, shall dye. ¹⁷He that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen. ¹⁸Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring. ¹⁹A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliuer him, yet wil his anger come againe. ²⁰Heare counsell and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter ende. ²¹Many deuises are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand. ²²That that is to be desired of a man, is his goodnes, and a poore man is better then a lyer. ²³The feare of the Lord leadeth to life: and he that is filled therewith, shall continue, and shall not be visited with euill. ²⁴The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and wil not put it to his mouth againe. ²⁵Smite a scorner, and the foolish wil beware: and reprove the prudent, and he wil vnderstand knowledge. ²⁶He that destroyeth his father, or chaseth away his mother, is a lewde and shamefull childe. ²⁷My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from ye words of knowledge. ²⁸A wicked witnes mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of ye wicked swalloweth vp iniquitie. ²⁹But iudgements are prepared for the scorners, and stripes for the backe of the fooles.

¹Wine is a mocker and strong drinke is raging: and whosoeuer is deceiued thereby, is not wise. ²The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lyon: hee that prouoketh him vnto anger, sinneth against his owne soule. ³It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be medling. ⁴The slouthfull will not plowe, because of winter: therefore shall he beg in sommer, but haue nothing. ⁵The counsell in the heart of man is like deepe

waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will drawe it out. ⁶Many men wil boast, euery one of his owne goodnes: but who can finde a faithfull man? ⁷He that walketh in his integritie, is iust: and blessed shall his children be after him. ⁸A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, chaseth away all euill with his eyes. ⁹Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne? ¹⁰Diuers weightes, and diuers measures, both these are euen abomination vnto the Lord. ¹¹A childe also is knowne by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right. ¹²The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see. ¹³Loue not sleepe least thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread. ¹⁴It is naught, it is naught, sayth the buyer: but when he is gone apart, he boasteth. ¹⁵There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lips of knowledge are a precious iewel. ¹⁶Take his garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger. ¹⁷The bread of deceit is sweete to a man: but afterward his mouth shalbe filled with grauel. ¹⁸Establish the thoughtes by counsell: and by counsell make warre. ¹⁹He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips. ²⁰He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shalbe put out in obscure darkenes. ²¹An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed. ²²Say not thou, I wil recompense euill: but waite vpon the Lord, and he shall saue thee. ²³Diuers weightes are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitful balances are not good. ²⁴The steps of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way? ²⁵It is a destruction for a man to deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to inquire. ²⁶A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the wheele to turne ouer them. ²⁷The light of the Lord is the breath of man, and searcheth all the bowels of the belly. ²⁸Mercie and trueth preserue the King: for his throne shall be established with mercie. ²⁹The beautie of yong men is their strength, and the glory of the aged is the gray head. ³⁰The blewnes of the wound serueth to purge the euill, and the stripes within the bowels of the belly.

¹The Kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the riuers of waters: he turneth it whithersoever it pleaseth him. ²Euery way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts. ³To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice. ⁴A hautie looke, and a proude heart, which is the light of the wicked, is sinne. ⁵The thoughtes of the diligent doe surely bring abundance: but whosoever is hastie, commeth surely to pouertie. ⁶The gathering of treasures by a deceitfull tongue is vanitie tossed to and from of them that seeke death. ⁷The robberie of the wicked shall destroy them: for they haue refused to execute iudgement. ⁸The way of some is peruerted and strange: but of the pure man, his worke is right. ⁹It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house. ¹⁰The soule of the wicked wisheth euill: and his neighbour hath no fauour in his eyes. ¹¹When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth the wise, he wil receiue knowledge. ¹²The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euill. ¹³He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also cry and not be heard. ¹⁴A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bosome great wrath. ¹⁵It is ioye to the iust to doe iudgement: but destruction shalbe to the workers of iniquitie. ¹⁶A man that wandreth out of the way of wisdom, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead. ¹⁷Hee that loueth pastime, shalbe a poore man: and he that loueth wine and oyle, shall not be riche. ¹⁸The wicked shalbe a ransome for the iust, and the transgressour for the righteous. ¹⁹It is better to dwell in the wilderness, then with a contentious and angry woman. ²⁰In the house of the wise is a pleasant treasure and oyle: but a foolish man deuoureth it. ²¹He that followeth after righteousnes and mercy, shall finde life, righteousnes, and glory. ²²A wise man goeth vp into the citie of the mightie, and casteth downe the strength of the confidence thereof. ²³He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions. ²⁴Proude, hautie and scornefull is his name that worketh in his arrogancie wrath. ²⁵The desire of the slouthfull slayeth him: for his hands refuse to worke. ²⁶He coueteth euermore greedily, but the righteous giueth and spareth not. ²⁷The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked minde? ²⁸A false witnes shall perish: but hee that heareth, speaketh continually. ²⁹A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he will direct his way. ³⁰There is no wisdom, neither vnderstanding, nor counsell against the Lord. ³¹The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but saluation is of the Lord.

¹A good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue siluer and aboue golde. ²The rich and poore meete together: the Lord is the maker of them all. ³A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished. ⁴The rewarde of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life. ⁵Thornes and snares are in the way of the frowarde: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them. ⁶Teache a childe in the trade of his way, and when he is olde, he shall not depart from it. ⁷The rich ruleth the poore, and the borrower is seruant to the man that lendeth. ⁸He that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the rodde of his anger shall faile. ⁹He that hath a good eye, he shalbe blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore. ¹⁰Cast out the scorner, and strife shall go out: so contention and reproche shall cease. ¹¹Hee that loueth purenesse of heart for the grace of his lippes, the King shalbe his friend. ¹²The eyes of the Lord preserue knowledge: but hee ouerthroweth the wordes of the transgressour. ¹³The slouthfull man saith, A lyon is without, I shall be slaine in the streete. ¹⁴The mouth of strage women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angry, shall fall therein. ¹⁵Foolishnesse is bounde in the heart of a childe: but the rodde of correction shall driue it away from him. ¹⁶Hee that oppresseth the poore to increase him selfe, and giueth vnto the riche, shall surely come to pouertie. ¹⁷Incline thine eare, and heare the wordes of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge. ¹⁸For it shalbe pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy bellie, and if they be directed together in thy lippes. ¹⁹That thy confidence may be in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede. ²⁰Haue not I written vnto thee three times in counsels and knowledge, ²¹That I might shewe thee the assurance of the wordes of trueth to answe-

the wordes of trueth to them that sende to thee? ²²Robbe not the poore, because hee is poore, neither oppresse the afflicted in iudgement. ²³For the Lord will defende their cause, and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them. ²⁴Make no friendship with an angrie man, neither goe with the furious man, ²⁵Least thou learne his wayes, and receiue destruction to thy soule. ²⁶Be not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts. ²⁷If thou hast nothing to paye, why causest thou that he should take thy bed from vnder thee? ²⁸Thou shalt not remooue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made. ²⁹Thou seest that a diligent man in his businesse standeth before Kings, and standeth not before the base sort.

¹When thou sittest to eate with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee, ²And put the knife to thy throte, if thou be a man giuen to the appetite. ³Be not desirous of his deintie meates: for it is a deceivable meate. ⁴Trauaile not too much to be rich: but cease from thy wisdom. ⁵Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing? for riches taketh her to her wings, as an eagle, and flyeth into the heauen. ⁶Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euil eye, neither desire his deintie meates. ⁷For as though he thought it in his heart, so will hee say vnto thee, Eate and drinke: but his heart is not with thee. ⁸Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweete wordes. ⁹Speake not in the eares of a foole: for hee will despise the wisdom of thy wordes. ¹⁰Remooue not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fieldes of the fatherlesse. ¹¹For he that redeemeth them, is mightie: he will defend their cause against thee. ¹²Apply thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the wordes of knowledge. ¹³Withhold not correction from the childe: if thou smite him with the rodde, he shall not die. ¹⁴Thou shalt smite him with the rodde, and shalt deliuer his soule from hell. ¹⁵My sonne, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also. ¹⁶And my reynes shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things. ¹⁷Let not thine heart bee enuious against sinners: but let it bee in the feare of the Lord continually. ¹⁸For surely there is an ende, and thy hope shall not be cut off. ¹⁹O thou my sonne, heare, and bee wise, and guide thine heart in the way. ²⁰Keepe not company with drunkards, nor with gluttons. ²¹For the drunkard and the glutton shall bee poore, and the sleeper shalbe clothed with ragges. ²²Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is olde. ²³Bye the trueth, but sell it not: likewise wisdom, and instruction, and vnderstanding. ²⁴The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and hee that begetteth a wise childe, shall haue ioy of him. ²⁵Thy father and thy mother shall be glad, and she that bare thee shall reioyce. ²⁶My sonne, giue mee thine heart, and let thine eyes delite in my wayes. ²⁷For a whore is as a deepe ditch, and a strange woman is as a narrowe pitte. ²⁸Also she lyeth in wait as for a praye, and she increaseth the transgressors among men. ²⁹To whome is woe? to whome is sorowe? to whom is strife? to whom is murmuring? to whom are woundes without cause? and to whome is the rednesse of the eyes? ³⁰Euen to them that tarie long at the wine, to them that goe, and seeke mixt wine. ³¹Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly. ³²In the ende thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice. ³³Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things. ³⁴And thou shalt bee as one that sleepeth in the middes of the sea, and as hee that sleepeth in the toppe of the maste. ³⁵They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten mee, but I knew not, when I awoke: therefore will I seeke it yet still.

¹Be not thou enuious against euill men, neither desire to be with them. ²For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lippes speake mischief. ³Through wisdom is an house builded, and with vnderstanding it is established. ⁴And by knowledge shall the chambers bee filled with all precious, and pleasant riches. ⁵A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding encreaseth his strength. ⁶For with counsel thou shalt enterprise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell, is health. ⁷Wisdom is hie to a foole: therefore he can not open his mouth in the gate. ⁸Hee that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an autour of wickednes. ⁹The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men. ¹⁰If thou bee faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small. ¹¹Deliuier them that are drawen to death: wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine? ¹²If thou say, Beholde, we knew not of it: he that pondereth the heartes, doeth not hee vnderstand it? and hee that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not? will not he also recompense euery man according to his workes? ¹³My sonne, eate hony, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is sweete vnto thy mouth. ¹⁴So shall the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, and there shall be an ende, and thine hope shall not be cut off. ¹⁵Laye no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place. ¹⁶For a iust man falleth seuen times, and riseth againe: but the wicked fall into mischiefe. ¹⁷Bee thou not glad when thine enemie falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when hee stumbleth, ¹⁸Least the Lord see it, and it displease him, and he turne his wrath from him. ¹⁹Fret not thy selfe because of the malicious, neither be enuious at the wicked. ²⁰For there shall bee none ende of plagues to the euill man: the light of the wicked shall bee put out. ²¹My sonne feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are sedicious. ²²For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them both? ²³ALSO

THESE THINGS PERTEINE TO THE WISE, It is not good to haue respect of any person in iudgement. ²⁴He that saith to the wicked, Thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him. ²⁵But to them that rebuke him, shall be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodnesse. ²⁶They shall kisse the lippes of him that answereth vpriht wordes. ²⁷Prepare thy worke without, and make readie thy thinges in the felde, and after, builde thine house. ²⁸Be not a witnes against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lippes? ²⁹Say not, I wil doe to him, as he hath done to mee, I will recompence euery man according to his worke. ³⁰I passed by the felde of the slouthfull, and by the vineyarde of the man destitute of vnderstanding. ³¹And lo, it was al growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had couered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken downe. ³²Then I behelde, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and receiued instruction. ³³Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, a litle folding of the handes to sleepe. ³⁴So thy pouertie commeth as one that traueileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

¹THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the men of Hezekiah King of Iudah copied out. ²The glorie of God is to conceale a thing secret: but the Kings honour is to search out a thing. ³The heaues in height, and the earth in deepenes, and the Kings heart can no man search out. ⁴Take the drosse from the siluer, and there shall proceede a vessell for the finer. ⁵Take away the wicked from the King, and his throne shall be stablished in righteousnes. ⁶Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men. ⁷For it is better, that it be saide vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to be put lower in the presece of the prince whom thine eyes haue seene. ⁸Goe not forth hastily to strife, least thou know not what to doe in the ende thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame. ⁹Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another, ¹⁰Least he that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not cease. ¹¹A word spoken in his place, is like apples of golde with pictures of siluer. ¹²He that reprooueth the wise, and the obedient eare, is as a golden earering and an ornament of fine golde. ¹³As the colde of the snowe in the time of haruest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters. ¹⁴A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like cloudes and winde without raine. ¹⁵A Prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones. ¹⁶If thou haue found hony, eate that is sufficient for thee, least thou be ouerfull, and vomit it. ¹⁷Withdraw thy foote from thy neighbours house, least he be weary of thee, and hate thee. ¹⁸A man that beareth false witnes against his neighbour, is like an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrowe. ¹⁹Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth and a sliding foote. ²⁰Hee that taketh away the garment in the colde season, is like vineger powred vpon nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauy heart. ²¹If hee that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke. ²²For thou shalt lay coles vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee. ²³As the Northwinde driueth away the raine, so doeth an angry countenance the slandering tongue. ²⁴It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house. ²⁵As are the colde waters to a weary soule, so is good newes from a farre country. ²⁶A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring. ²⁷It is not good to eate much hony: so to search their owne glory is not glory. ²⁸A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a citie which is broken downe and without walles.

¹As the snowe in the sommer, and as the raine in the haruest are not meete, so is honour vnseemely for a foole. ²As the sparowe by flying, and the swallow by flying escape, so the curse that is causeles, shall not come. ³Vnto the horse belongeth a whip, to the asse a bridle, and a rod to the fooles backe. ⁴Answer not a foole according to his foolishnes, least thou also be like him. ⁵Answer a foole according to his foolishnes, least he be wise in his owne conceite. ⁶He that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, is as he that cutteth off the feete, and drinketh iniquitie. ⁷As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a fooles mouth. ⁸As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is he that giueth glory to a foole. ⁹As a thorne standing vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles. ¹⁰The excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors. ¹¹As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, so a foole turneth to his foolishnes.

potsheard, so are burning lips, and an euill heart. ²⁴He that hateth, will counterfaite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceite. ²⁵Though he speake fauourably, beleue him not: for there are seuen abominations in his heart. ²⁶Hatred may be couered by deceite: but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the congregation. ²⁷He that diggeth a pit shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him. ²⁸A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

¹Boast not thy selfe of to morowe: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth. ²Let another man prayse thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lips. ³A stone is heauie, and the sand weightie: but a fooles wrath is heauier then them both. ⁴Anger is cruell, and wrath is raging: but who can stand before enuie? ⁵Open rebuke is better then secret loue. ⁶The wounds of a louer are faithful, and the kisses of an enemie are pleasant. ⁷The person that is full, despiseth an hony combe: but vnto the hungry soule euery bitter thing is sweete. ⁸As a bird that wandreth from her nest, so is a man that wandreth from his owne place. ⁹As oyntment and perfume reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetenes of a mans friend by hearty counsell. ¹⁰Thine owne friend and thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off. ¹¹My sonne, be wise, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that reprocheth me. ¹²A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished. ¹³Take his garment that is surety for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger. ¹⁴He that prayseth his friend with a loude voyce, rising earely in the morning, it shall be counted to him as a curse. ¹⁵A continual dropping in the day of raine, and a contentious woman are alike. ¹⁶He that hideth her, hideth the winde, and she is as ye oyle in his right hand, that vttereth it selfe. ¹⁷Yron sharpeneth yron, so doeth man sharpen the face of his friend. ¹⁸He that keepeth the fig tree, shall eate the fruite thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shall come to honour. ¹⁹As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man. ²⁰The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satisfied. ²¹As is the fining pot for siluer and the fornace for golde, so is euery man according to his dignitie. ²²Though thou shouldest bray a foole in a mortar among wheate brayed with a pestell, yet will not his foolishnes depart from him. ²³Be diligent to know ye state of thy flocke, and take heede to the heardes. ²⁴For riches remaine not alway, nor the crowne from generation to generation. ²⁵The hey discovereth it selfe, and the grasse appeareth, and the herbes of the mountaines are gathered. ²⁶The lambes are for thy clothing, and the goates are the price of the field. ²⁷And let the milke of the goates be sufficient for thy foode, for the foode of thy familie, and for the sustenance of thy maydes.

¹The wicked flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bolde as a lyon. ²For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long. ³A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no foode. ⁴They that forsake the Law, prayse the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselues against them. ⁵Wicked men vnderstand not iudgemnt: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things. ⁶Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then hee that peruerteth his wayes, though he be riche. ⁷He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father. ⁸He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore. ⁹He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shalbe abominable.

¹⁰He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things. ¹¹The riche man is wise in his owne conceite: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie him.

¹²When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried.

¹³He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy. ¹⁴Blessed is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

¹⁵As a roaring lyon, and an hungry beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people. ¹⁶A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but hee that hateth couetousnes, shall prolong his dayes.

¹⁷A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not stay him.

¹⁸He that walketh vprightly, shalbe saued: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall. ¹⁹He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouertie. ²⁰A faythfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to be riche, shall not be innocent. ²¹To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread. ²²A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shall come vpon him. ²³He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at length, then he that flattereth with his tongue. ²⁴Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and sayth, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth. ²⁵He that is of a proude heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be fatte. ²⁶Hee that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered. ²⁷He that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses. ²⁸When the wicked rise vp, men hide them selues: but when they perish, ye righteous increase.

¹A man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed and can not be cured. ²When the righteous are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh. ³A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance. ⁴A King by iudgement mainteineth ye countrey: but a man receiuing giftes, destroyeth it. ⁵A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps. ⁶In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce. ⁷The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge. ⁸Scornefull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath. ⁹If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest. ¹⁰Bloodie men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule. ¹¹A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward. ¹²Of a prince that hearkeneth to lyes, all his seruants are wicked. ¹³The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes. ¹⁴A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shalbe established for euer. ¹⁵The rodde and correction giue wisdome: but a childe set a libertie, maketh his mother ashamed. ¹⁶When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but ye righteous shall see their fall. ¹⁷Correct thy sonne and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule. ¹⁸Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Lawe, is blessed. ¹⁹A seruant will not be chastised with words: though he vnderstand, yet he will not answere. ²⁰Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him. ²¹He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen as his sone. ²²An angrie man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression. ²³The pride of a man shall bring him lowe: but the humble in spirit shall enioy glory. ²⁴He that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, and declareth it not. ²⁵The feare of man bringeth a snare: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shalbe exalted. ²⁶Many doe seeke the face of the ruler: but euery mans iudgement commeth from the Lord. ²⁷A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpriight in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

¹THE WORDS OF AGUR THE SONNE OF JAKE The prophecie which ye man spake vnto Ithiel, euen to Ithiel, and Vcal. ²Surely I am more foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me. ³For I haue not learned wisdome, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things. ⁴Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the winde in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the endes of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell? ⁵Euery worde of God is pure: he is a shield to those, that trust in him. ⁶Put nothing vnto his wordes, least he reprove thee, and thou be found a lyar. ⁷Two things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I die. ⁸Remooue farre from me vanitie and lyes: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede me with foode conuenient for me, ⁹Least I be full, and denie thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or least I be poore and steale, and take the Name of my God in vaine. ¹⁰Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest he curse thee, when thou hast offended. ¹¹There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother. ¹²There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceite, and yet are not washed from their filthinesse. ¹³There is a generation, whose eies are hautie, and their eye liddes are lifted vp. ¹⁴There is a generation, whose teeth are as swordes, and their chawes as kniues to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men. ¹⁵The horse leache hath two daughters which crye, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is ynough. ¹⁶The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water, and the fire that sayeth not, It is ynough. ¹⁷The eye that mocketh his father and despiseth the instruction of his mother, let ye rauens of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles eate it. ¹⁸There be three thinges hid from me: yea, foure that I knowe not, ¹⁹The way of an eagle in the aire, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, ye way of a ship in ye middes of the sea, and the way of a man with a maide. ²⁰Such is ye way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and wipeth her mouth, and sayth, I haue not committed iniquitie. ²¹For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe: ²²For a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate, ²³For the hatefull woman, when she is married, and for a handmaid that is heire to her mistres. ²⁴These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise and full of wisdom: ²⁵The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in sommer: ²⁶The conies a people not mightie, yet make their houses in the rocke: ²⁷The grashopper hath no King, yet goe they forth all by bandes: ²⁸The spider taketh holde with her handes, and is in Kings palaces. ²⁹There be three thinges that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going, ³⁰A lyon which is strong among beastes, and turneth not at the sight of any: ³¹A lusty grayhound, and a goate, and a King against whom there is no rising vp. ³²If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth. ³³When one churneth milke, he bringeth forth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

¹THE WORDS OF KING LEMUEL: The prophecie which his mother taught him. ²What my

sonne! and what ye sonne of my wombe! and what, O sonne of my desires! ³Giue not thy strength vnto women, nor thy wayes, which is to destroy Kings. ⁴It is not for Kings, O Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drink wine nor for princes strog drinke, ⁵Lest he drinke and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction. ⁶Giue ye strong drinke vnto him that is readie to perish, and wine vnto them that haue grieve of heart. ⁷Let him drinke, that he may forget his pouertie, and remember his miserie no more. ⁸Open thy mouth for the domme in the cause of all the children of destruction. ⁹Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted, and the poore. ¹⁰Who shall finde a vertuous woman? for her price is farre aboue the pearles. ¹¹The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no neede of spoyle. ¹²She will doe him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life. ¹³She seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her handes. ¹⁴She is like the shippes of marchants: shee bringeth her foode from afarre. ¹⁵And she riseth, whiles it is yet night: and giueth the portion to her houshold, and the ordinarie to her maides. ¹⁶She considereth a field, and getteth it: and with the fruite of her handes she planteth a vineyarde. ¹⁷She girdeth her loynes with strength, and strengtheneth her armes. ¹⁸She feeleth that her merchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night. ¹⁹She putteth her handes to the wherue, and her handes handle the spindle. ²⁰She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth foorth her hands to the needie. ²¹She feareth not the snowe for her familie: for all her familie is clothed with skarlet. ²²She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple is her garment. ²³Her husband is knowen in the gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land. ²⁴She maketh sheetes, and selleth them, and giueth girdels vnto the marchant. ²⁵Strength and honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce. ²⁶She openeth her mouth with wisdome, and the lawe of grace is in her tongue. ²⁷She ouerseeth the wayes of her housholde, and eateth not the bread of ydlenes. ²⁸Her children rise vp, and call her blessed: her husband also shall prayse her, saying, ²⁹Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all. ³⁰Fauour is deceitfull, and beautie is vanitie: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be prayed. ³¹Giue her of the fruite of her hands, and let her owne workes prayse her in the gates.

ECCLESIASTES

¹The wordes of the Preacher, the sonne of Daud King in Ierusalem. ²Vanitie of vanities, sayth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie. ³What remaineth vnto man in all his trauaile, which he suffereth vnder ye sunne? ⁴One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for euer. ⁵The sunne riseth, and ye sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place, where he riseth. ⁶The winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth towarde the North: the winde goeth rounde about, and returneth by his circuites. ⁷All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers goe vnto ye place, whence they returne, and goe. ⁸All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing. ⁹What is it that hath bene? that that shalbe: and what is it that hath bene done? that which shalbe done: and there is no newe thing vnder the sunne. ¹⁰Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe? it hath bene already in the olde time that was before vs. ¹¹There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after. ¹²I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem: ¹³And I haue giuen mine heart to search and finde out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauaile hath GOD giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby) ¹⁴I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit. ¹⁵That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, cannot be nombred. ¹⁶I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge. ¹⁷And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdom and knowledge, madnes and foolishnes: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit. ¹⁸For in the multitude of wisdom is much grieve: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorowe.

¹I said in mine heart, Goe to nowe, I will proue thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and beholde, this also is vanitie. ²I saide of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest? ³I sought in mine heart to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enioy vnder the sunne: the whole number of the dayes of their life. ⁴I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards. ⁵I haue made me gardens and orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite. ⁶I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that growe with trees. ⁷I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeues and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem. ⁸I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, and the delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues. ⁹And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me. ¹⁰And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in al my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauaile. ¹¹Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne. ¹²And I turned to beholde wisdom, and madnes and follie: (for who is the man that will come after the King in things, which men nowe haue done?) ¹³Then I saw that there is profite in wisdom, more then in follie: as the light is more excellent then darkenes. ¹⁴For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darknes: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all. ¹⁵Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to ye foole. Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I sayd in mine heart, that this also is vanitie. ¹⁶For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And howe dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

¹⁷Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grieuous vnto me: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit. ¹⁸I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shalbe after me. ¹⁹And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie.

²⁰Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne. ²¹For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisdom, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall he giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe. ²²For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne? ²³For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

²⁴There is no profit to man: but that he eate, and drinke, and delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God. ²⁵For who could eate, and who could haste to outward things more then I? ²⁶Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

¹To all things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen. ²A time to bee borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted. ³A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to builde. ⁴A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance. ⁵A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing. ⁶A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away. ⁷A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake. ⁸A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace. ⁹What profite hath hee that worketh of the thing wherein he trauaileth? ¹⁰I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to ye sonnes of men to humble them thereby. ¹¹He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also he hath set the worlde in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end. ¹²I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life. ¹³And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour. this is the gift of God. ¹⁴I knowe that whatsoeuer God shall doe, it shalbe for euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him. ¹⁵What is that that hath bene? that is nowe: and that that shalbe, hath now bene: for God requireth that which is past. ¹⁶And moreouer I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie. ¹⁷I thought in mine heart, God wil iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke. ¹⁸I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselues as beastes. ¹⁹For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellency of man aboue ye beast: for all is vanitie. ²⁰All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust. ²¹Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vppward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth? ²²Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man shoulde reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shalbe after him?

¹So I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and beholde the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and lo, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them. ²Wherefore I prayed the dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue. ³And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet bin: for he hath not seene the euill workes which are wrought vnder the sunne. ⁴Also I beheld all trauaile, and all perfection of workes that this is ye enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit. ⁵The foole foldeth his hands, and eateth vp his owne flesh. ⁶Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit. ⁷Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne. ⁸There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne

nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doeth he thinke, For whome doe I trauaile and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile. ⁹Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour. ¹⁰For if they fal, the one wil lift vp his fellow: but wo vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp. ¹¹Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate? ¹²And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefolde coard is not easily broken. ¹³Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde and foolish King, which will no more be admonished. ¹⁴For out of the prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore. ¹⁵I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place. ¹⁶There is none end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit. (Ecclesiastes :) Take heede to thy foote when thou entrest into the House of God, and be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of fooles: for they knowe not that they doe euil.

¹Be not rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe. ²For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes. ³When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast vowed. ⁴It is better that thou shouldest not vowe, then that thou shouldest vow and not pay it. ⁵Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to sinne: neither say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God bee angry by thy voyce, and destroy the worke

of thine hands? ⁶For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many wordes: but feare thou God. ⁷If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for hee that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they. ⁸And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King also consisteth by the felde that is tilled. ⁹He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loueth riches, shalbe without the fruite thereof: this also is vanitie. ¹⁰When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes? ¹¹The sleepe of him that traueileth, is sweete, whether he eate litle or much: but the sacietie of the riche will not suffer him to sleepe. ¹²There is an euill sickenes that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches reserued to the owners thereof for their euill. ¹³And these riches perish by euill trauel, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing. ¹⁴As hee came foorth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath caused to passe by his hand.

¹⁵And this also is an euill sickenes that in all pointes as he came, so shall he goe, and what profit hath he that he hath traueiled for the winde? ¹⁶Also all his dayes hee eateth in darkenes with much grieve, and in his sorowe and anger. ¹⁷Beholde then, what I

haue seene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he traueileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion. ¹⁸Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

¹⁹Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart. ²⁰For he thinketh not much howe long he shall lyue, forasmuch as God fylleth his heart with gladnesse.

¹There is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men: ²A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sicknesse. ³If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruite is better then he.

⁴For he commeth into vanitie and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall be couered with darkenesse. ⁵Also he hath not seene ye sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other. ⁶And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place? ⁷All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled. ⁸For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing? ⁹The sight of ye eye is better then to walke in ye lustes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit. ¹⁰What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is nowe named: and it is knowen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is stronger then he.

¹Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaieth it man? ²For who knoweth what is good for man in the life and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadowe? For who can shewe vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne? ³A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne. ⁴It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart. ⁵Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better. ⁶The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth. ⁷Better it is to heare ye rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles. ⁸For like ye noyse of the thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie. ⁹Surely oppression maketh a wise man mad: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart. ¹⁰The ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the pacient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit. ¹¹Be not thou of an hastie spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles. ¹²Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing. ¹³Wisedome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne. ¹⁴For man shall rest in the shadowe of wisedome, and in the shadowe of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisedome giueth life to the possessers thereof. ¹⁵Beholde the worke of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked? ¹⁶In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man shoulde finde nothing after him. ¹⁷I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice. ¹⁸Be not thou iust ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate? ¹⁹Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time? ²⁰It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all. ²¹Wisedome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in ye citie. ²²Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not. ²³Giue not thine heart also to all ye wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee. ²⁴For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others. ²⁵All this haue I prooued by wisdom: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me. ²⁶It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it? ²⁷I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wisdom, and reason, and to knowe the wickednesse of follie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse, ²⁸And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes and snares, and her handes, as bands: he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her. ²⁹Beholde, sayth the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count: (Ecclesiastes) And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde. : (Ecclesiastes) Onely loe, this haue I founde, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inuentions.

¹Who is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shalbe changed. ²I aduertise thee to take heede to ye mouth of the King, and to the worde of the othe of God. ³Haste not to goe forth of his sight: stand not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatsoever pleaseth him. ⁴Where the word of ye King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou? ⁵He that keepeth the commandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time and iudgement. ⁶For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him. ⁷For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tell him when it shalbe? ⁸Man is not lorde ouer the spirit to retaine the spirite: neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessers thereof. ⁹All this haue

I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt. ¹⁰And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie. ¹¹Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill. ¹²Though a sinner doe euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shalbe well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him. ¹³But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God. ¹⁴There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie. ¹⁵And I praysed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne. ¹⁶When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdom, and to behold the busines that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, ¹⁷Then I behelde the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out ye worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

¹I have surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth eyther loue or hatred of all that is before them. ²All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe. ³This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their heartes whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead. ⁴Surely whosoever is ioyned to all ye liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon. ⁵For the liuing knowe that they shall dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten. ⁶Also their loue, and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne. ⁷Goe, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God nowe accepteth thy workes. ⁸At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head. ⁹Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou labourest vnder the sunne. ¹⁰All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whither thou goest. ¹¹I returned, and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance commeth to them all. ¹²For neither doth man knowe his time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly. ¹³I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me. ¹⁴A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded fortes against it. ¹⁵And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the citie by his wisdom: but none remembred this poore man. ¹⁶Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard. ¹⁷The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles. ¹⁸Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

¹Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apoticarie: so doeth a litle follie him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glorie. ²The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand. ³And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that he is a foole. ⁴If the spirite of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlenes pacifieth great sinnes. ⁵There is an euil that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth. ⁶Follie is set in great excellencie, and the riche set in the lowe place. ⁷I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground. ⁸He that diggeth a pit, shall fal into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him. ⁹He that remooueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and hee that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby. ¹⁰If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom. ¹¹If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babbler. ¹²The words of ye mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure himselfe. ¹³The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter ende of his mouth is wicked madnesse. ¹⁴For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him? ¹⁵The labour of the foolish doeth wearie him: for he knoweth not to goe into the citie. ¹⁶Woe to thee, O lande, when thy King is a childe, and thy princes eate in the morning. ¹⁷Blessed art thou, O land, when thy King is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse. ¹⁸By slouthfulnes the rooffe of the house goeth to decaie, and by the ydlenesse of the handes the house droppeth through. ¹⁹They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all. ²⁰Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

¹Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many daies thou shalt finde it. ²Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shalbe vpon ye earth. ³If the clouds be full, they wil powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shalbe. ⁴He that obserueth ye winde, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape. ⁵As thou knowest not which is ye way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all. ⁶In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whither shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shalbe a like good. ⁷Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne. ⁸Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet hee shall remember the daies of darkenesse, because they are manie, all that commeth is vanitie. ⁹Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God wil bring thee to iudgement. ¹⁰Therefore take away grieve out of thine heart, and cause euil to depart from thy flesh: for childehood and youth are vanitie.

¹Remember nowe thy Creator in the daies of thy youth, whiles the euill daies come not, nor the yeeres approche, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them: ²Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor ye light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the cloudes returne after the raine: ³When the keepers of ye house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow them selues, and the grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that looke out by ye windowes: ⁴And the doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voice of the birde: and all the daughters of singing shall be abased. ⁵Also they shalbe afraide of the hie thing, and feare shalbe in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grassehopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners goe about in the streete. ⁶Whiles the siluer coarde is not lengthened, nor the golden ewer broken, nor the pitcher broken at the well, nor the wheele broken at the cisterne: ⁷And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the spirit returne to God that gaue it. ⁸Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie. ⁹And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched foorth, and prepared many parables. ¹⁰The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vpright writing, euen the wordes of trueth. ¹¹The wordes of the wise are like goads, and like nailes fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one pastour. ¹²And of other things beside these, my sone, take thou heede: for there is none ende in making many bookes, and much reading is a wearines of the flesh. ¹³Let vs heare the end of all: feare God and keepe his commandements: for this is the whole duetie of man. ¹⁴For God will bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

SONG OF SOLOMON

¹Let him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine. ²Because of the sauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the virgins loue thee. ³Drawe me: we will runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his chabers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous do loue thee. ⁴I am blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tentes of Kedar, and as the curtaines of Salomon. ⁵Regard ye me not because I am blacke: for the sunne hath looked vpon mee. The sonnes of my mother were angry against mee: they made me the keeper of ye vines: but I kept not mine owne vine. ⁶Shewe me, O thou, whome my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flockes of thy companions? ⁷If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee fourth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepherds. ⁸I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the charets of Pharaoh. ⁹Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines. ¹⁰We will make thee borders of golde with studdes of siluer. ¹¹Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.

¹²My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my breasts. ¹³My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi. ¹⁴My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves. ¹⁵My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is greene: ¹⁶The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

¹I am the rose of the felde, and the lillie of the valleys. ²Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters. ³Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruite was sweete vnto my mouth. ⁴Hee brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me. ⁵Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

⁶His left hande is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth embrace me. ⁷I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the felde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.
⁸It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, hee commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles. ⁹My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: loe, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing him selfe through the grates. ¹⁰My welbeloued spake and said vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.
¹¹For beholde, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away. ¹²The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land. ¹³The figtree hath brought forth her yong figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away. ¹⁴My doue, that art in the holes of ye rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewe mee thy sight, let mee heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely. ¹⁵Take vs the foxes, the little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes. ¹⁶My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: hee feedeth among the lilies, ¹⁷Vntil the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

¹In my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not. ²I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, and wil seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not. ³The watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: to whome I said, Haue you seene him, whome my soule loueth? ⁴When I had past a litle from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me. ⁵I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please. ⁶Who is shee that commeth vp out of the wildernes like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the marchant? ⁷Beholde his bed, which is Salomons: threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel. ⁸They all handle the sworde, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night. ⁹King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon. ¹⁰Hee made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was pauer with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem. ¹¹Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, and behold the King Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in ye day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

breake, and the shadowes flie away, I wil go into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense. ⁷Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee. ⁸Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the toppe of Amanah, from the toppe of Shenir and Hermon, from the dennes of the lyons, and from the mountaines of the leopards. ⁹My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke. ¹⁰My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue? howe much better is thy loue then wine? and the sauour of thine oyntments then all spices? ¹¹Thy lippes, my spouse, droppe as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauoure of thy garments is as the sauoure of Lebanon. ¹²My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp. ¹³Thy plantes are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenarde, ¹⁴Euen spikenarde, and saffran, calamus, and cynamon with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices. ¹⁵O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon. ¹⁶Arise, O North, and come O South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruite.

¹I am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine hony combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merie, O welbeloued. ²I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto mee, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the droppes of the night. ³I haue put off my coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, howe shall I defile them? ⁴My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him. ⁵I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handels of the barre. ⁶I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I coule not finde him: I called him, but hee answered mee not. ⁷The watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: they smote me and wounded me: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from me. ⁸I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue. ⁹O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another loue, that thou doest so charge vs? ¹⁰My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand. ¹¹His head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen. ¹²His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels. ¹³His cheekes are as a bedde of spices, and as sweete flowres, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe. ¹⁴His hands as rings of gold set with the chrysolite, his belly like white yuorie couered with saphirs. ¹⁵His legges are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars. ¹⁶His mouth is as sweete thinges, and hee is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Ierusalem. (Song of Solomon :) O the fairest among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

¹My welbeloued is gone downe into his garden to the beds of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies. ²I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies. ³Thou art beautifull, my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Ierusale, terrible as an army with baners. ⁴Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: thine heare is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead. ⁵Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them. ⁶Thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate. ⁷There are threescore Queenes and fourescore concubines and of the damsels without nober. ⁸But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praised her. ⁹Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning, fayre as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners! ¹⁰I went downe to the garden of nuttes, to see the fruites of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished. ¹¹I knewe nothing, my soule set me as the charets of my noble people. ¹²Returne, returne, O Shulamite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

¹Howe beautifull are thy goings with shooes, O princes daughter! the ioynts of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hande of a cunning workeman. ²Thy navel is as a round cuppe that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with lilies. ³Thy two breastes are as two young roes that are twinnes. ⁴Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like the fishe pooles in Heshbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus. ⁵Thine head vpon thee is as skarlet, and the bush of thine head like purple: the King is tyed in the rafters. ⁶Howe faire art thou, and howe pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasures! ⁷This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy brestes like clusters. ⁸I saide, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take holde of her boughes: thy breastes shall now be like the clusters of the vine: and the sauour of thy nose like apples, ⁹And the roufe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, and causeth the lippes of the ancient to speake. ¹⁰I am my welbeloueds, and his desire is toward mee. ¹¹Come, my welbeloued, let vs go forth into the field: let vs remaine in the villages. ¹²Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs see if the vine florish, whether it hath budded the small grape, or whether the pomegranates florish: there will I giue thee my loue. ¹³The mandrakes haue giuen a smelll, and in our gates are all sweete things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

¹Oh that thou werest as my brother that sucked the brestes of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kisse thee, then they should not despise thee. ²I will leade thee and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teache me: and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and newe wine of the pomegranate.

³His left hand shalbe vnder mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me. ⁴I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you stir not vp, nor waken my loue, vntil she please. ⁵(Who is this that commeth vp out of the wilderness, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I rayseed thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceiued thee: there she coceiued that bare thee. ⁶Set mee as a seale on thine heart, and as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruel as the graue: the coles thereof are fierie coles, and a vehement flame. ⁷Much water can not quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: If a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it. ⁸Wee haue a litle sister, and she hath no breastes: what shall we do for our sister when she shalbe spoken for? ⁹If shee be a wall, we will builde vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, we wil keepe her in with bordes of cedar. ¹⁰I am a wall, and my breasts are as towres: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace. ¹¹Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue the vineyarde vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for ye fruite thereof a thousand pieces of siluer. ¹²But my vineyarde which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon appertaineth a thousand pieces of siluer, and two hundreth to them that keepe the fruite thereof. ¹³O thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it. ¹⁴O my welbeloued, flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong harte vpon ye mountaines of spices.

¹A vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he sawe concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the dayes of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah. ²Heare, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath sayde, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me. ³The ox knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib: but Israel hath not knowen: my people hath not vnderstand.

⁴Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backward.

⁵Wherefore shoulde ye be smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

⁶From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

⁷Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers deuoure your lande in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrowe of strangers.

⁸And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyarde, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

⁹Except the Lord of hostes had reserued vnto vs, euen a small remnant: we should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

¹⁰Hear the worde of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

¹¹What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, sayth the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goates.

¹²When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

¹³Bring no more oblations, in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I can not suffer your newe moones, nor Sabbaths, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

¹⁴My soule hateth your newe moones and your appointed feastes: they are a burden vnto me: I am weary to beare them.

¹⁵And when you shall stretch out your hands, I wil hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make many prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood.

¹⁷Learne to doe well: seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse and defend the widowe. ¹⁸Come now, and let vs reason together, sayth the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimson, they shalbe made white as snowe: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as wooll. ¹⁹If ye consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land. ²⁰But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. ²¹Howe is the faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murtherers. ²²Thy siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water. ²³Thy Princes are rebellious and companions of theeues: euery one loueth giftes, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them. ²⁴Therefore sayth the Lord God of hostes, the mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies. ²⁵Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it be pure, and take away all thy tinne. ²⁶And I will restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, and a faithfull citie. ²⁷Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice. ²⁸And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners shalbe together: and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed. ²⁹For they shalbe confounded for the okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shall be ashamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen. ³⁰For ye shalbe as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water. ³¹And the strong shall be as towe, and the maker thereof, as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

¹The worde that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem. ²It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall be exalted about the hilles, and all nations shall flowe vnto it. ³And many people shall go, and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Lawe shall go foorth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem, ⁴And he shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into siethes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more. ⁵O house of Iaakob, come ye, and let vs walke in the Lawe of the Lord. ⁶Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, and abound with strange children. ⁷Their land also was full of siluer and golde, and there was none ende of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charets were infinite. ⁸Their land also was full of idols: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, which their owne fingers haue made.

⁹And a man bowed himselfe, and a man humbled himselfe:
therefore spare them not. ¹⁰Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie. ¹¹The hie looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in that day. ¹²For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shalbe made lowe. ¹³Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan, ¹⁴And vpon all the hie mountaines, and vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp, ¹⁵And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall, ¹⁶And vpon all the shippes of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures. ¹⁷And the hautinesse of men shalbe brought low, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day. ¹⁸And the idoles will he vtterly destroy.
¹⁹Then they shall goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

²⁰At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) to the mowles and to the backes, ²¹To goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

²²Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAPTER 3

¹For lo, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay and the strength: euen all the staye of bread, and all the stay of water,

²The strong man, and the man of warre, the iudge and the prophet, the prudent and the aged, ³The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man. ⁴And I will appoint children to bee their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them. ⁵The people shalbe oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory. ⁹The triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes as Sodom, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euil vnto themselues. ¹⁰Say ye, Surely it shalbe well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes. ¹¹Woe be to the wicked, it shalbe euill with him: for the reward of his handes shalbe giuen him. ¹²Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths. ¹³The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people. ¹⁴The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyarde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses. ¹⁵What haue ye to do, that ye beate my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hoasts? ¹⁶The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and minsing as they goe, and making a tinkeling with their feete, ¹⁷Therefore shall the Lord make the heades of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secrete partes. ¹⁸In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tyres, ¹⁹The sweete balles, and the brasselets, and the bonnets, ²⁰The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the head bandes, and the tablets, and the earrings, ²¹The rings and the mufflers, ²²The costly apparell and the vailles, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes, ²³And the glasses and the fine linen, and the hoodes, and the launes. ²⁴And in steade of sweete sauour, there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in steade of dressing of the heare, baldnesse, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackecloth, and burning in steade of beautie. ²⁵Thy men shall fall by the sworde, and thy strength in the battell. ²⁶Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

¹And in that day shall seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we wil weare our owne garments: onely let vs bee called by thy name, and take away our reproche. ²In that day shall the budde of the Lord bee beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel. ³Then hee that shalbe left in Zion, and hee that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shalbe called holy, and euery one shalbe written among the liuing in Ierusalem, ⁴When the Lord shall wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, and purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the middes thereof by the spirite of iudgement, and by the spirit of burning. ⁵And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glory shall be a defence. ⁶And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme and for the raine.

¹Now will I sing to my beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyarde, My beloued had a vineyarde in a very fruitefull hill, ²And hee hedged it, and gathered

out the stones of it, and hee planted it with the best plants, and hee builde a towre in the middes thereof, and made a wine presse therein: then hee looked that it should bring foorth grapes: but it brought foorth wilde grapes. ³Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betweene me, and my vineyarde. ⁴What coulde I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring foorth grapes, and it bringeth foorth wilde grapes? ⁵And nowe I will tell you what I will do to my vineyarde: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe: ⁶And I will laye it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers, and thornes shall growe vp: I will also commande the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it. ⁷Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde a crying. ⁸Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and laye fiede to fiede, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth. ⁹This is in mine cares, saith the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shall be desolate, euen great, and faire without inhabitant. ¹⁰For ten acres of vines shall yelde one bath, and the seede of an homer shall yelde an ephah. ¹¹Wo vnto them, that rise vp early to follow drunkennes, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine doe inflame them. ¹²And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feastes: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his handes. ¹³Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glorie thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst. ¹⁴Therefore hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it. ¹⁵And man shalbe brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proude shalbe humbled. ¹⁶And the Lord of hostes shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sanctified in iustice. ¹⁷Then shall the lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat. ¹⁸Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes: ¹⁹Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may knowe it. ²⁰Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre. ²¹Woe vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight. ²²Wo vnto them that are mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke: ²³Which iustifie the wicked for a rewarde, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him. ²⁴Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is cosumed of the flame: so their roote shalbe as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel. ²⁵Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee hath stretched out his hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkases were torne in the middes of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hande was stretched out still. ²⁶And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations a farre, and wil hisse vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speede. ²⁷None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken: ²⁸Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hoofes shall be thought like flint, and his wheelles like a whirlwinde. ²⁹His roaring shalbe like a lyon, and he shall roare like lyons whelpes: they shall roare, and lay holde of the praye: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it. ³⁰And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, beholde darkenesse, and sorowe, and the light shalbe darkened in their skie.

¹In the yeere of the death of King Vzziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower partes thereof filled the Temple. ²The Seraphims stoode vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his face, and with twaine hee couered his feete, and with twaine he did flie. ³And one cryed to another, and sayde, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory. ⁴And the lintles of the doore cheekes moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke. ⁵Then I sayd, Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes. ⁶Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the altar with the tongs: ⁷And he touched my mouth, and sayd, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall be taken away, and thy sinne shalbe purged. ⁸Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send me. ⁹And he sayd, Goe, and say vnto this people, Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue. ¹⁰Make the heart of this people fatte, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them. ¹¹Then sayd I, Lord, howe long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, ¹²And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land. ¹³But yet in it shalbe a tenth, and shall returne, and shalbe eaten vp as an elme or an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

¹And in the dayes of Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the King of Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it. ²And it was tolde the house of Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde. ³Then sayde the Lord vnto Isaiah, Goe foorth now to meete Ahaz (thou and Sheariashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field, ⁴And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne: ⁵Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying, ⁶Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a King in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of Tabeal. ⁷Thus sayth the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be. ⁸For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and threescore yeere, Ephraim shalbe destroyed from being a people. ⁹And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shall not be established. ¹⁰And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying, ¹¹Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath or in the height aboue. ¹²But Ahaz sayd, I wil not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord. ¹³Then he sayd, Heare you now, O house of Daud, Is it a small thing for you to grieue men, that ye will also grieue my God? ¹⁴Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name Immanu-el. ¹⁵Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good. ¹⁶For afore the childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of both her Kings. ¹⁷The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of Asshur. ¹⁸And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the lande of Asshur, ¹⁹And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thorny places, and vpon all bushy places. ²⁰In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, the head and the heare of the feete, and it shall consume the beard.

²¹And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe. ²²And for the abundance of milke, that they shall giue, hee shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land. ²³And at the same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shalbe at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shalbe for the briers and for the thornes. ²⁴With arrowes and with bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes. ²⁵But on all the mountaines, which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shalbe for the sending out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

¹Moreover, the Lord sayd vnto me, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a mans penne, Make speede to the spoyle: haste to the praye. ²Then I tooke vnto me faithfull witnesses to recorde, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah

the sonne of Ieberechiah. ³After, I came vnto the Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to me, Call his name, Mahershalalhashbaz. ⁴For before the childe shall haue knowledge to crye, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the King of Asshur. ⁵And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying, ⁶Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah, ⁷Nowe therefore, beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their banks, ⁸And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanu-el. ⁹Gather together on heapes, O ye people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys:

gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces.

¹⁰Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

¹¹For the Lord spake thus to me in taking of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, ¹²Say ye not, A confederacie to all them, to whome this people sayth a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor be afayrd of them.

¹³Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, ¹⁴And he shalbe as a Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

¹⁵And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall and shalbe broken and shalbe snared and shalbe taken.

¹⁶Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

¹⁷Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I wil looke for him.

¹⁸Beholde, I and the children whome the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

¹⁹And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, Should not a people enquire at their God? from the liuing to the dead?

²⁰To the Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde: it is because there is no light in them.

²¹Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and from in it: and when he shalbe hungry, he shall euen freat himselfe, and curse his King and his gods, and shall looke vpwrd.

²²And when he shall looke to the earth, beholde trouble, and darkenes, vexation and anguish, and he is driuen to darkenes.

¹Yet the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction that it had when at the first hee touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when he was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galile of the Gentiles. ²The people that walked in darkenes haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadowe of death, vpon them hath the light shined. ³Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioye: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioye in haruest, and as men reioyce when they deuide a spoyle. ⁴For the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian. ⁵Surely euery battell of the warriour is with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire. ⁶For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his name Wonderfull, Counsellor, The mightie God, The euerlasting Father, The prince of peace, ⁷The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from hencefoorth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this. ⁸The Lord hath sent a worde into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel. ⁹And all the people shall knowe, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart, ¹⁰The bricke are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into ceders. ¹¹Neuerthelesse the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and ioynes his enemies together. ¹²Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. ¹³For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes. ¹⁴Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branche and rush in one day.

¹⁵The ancient and the honorable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile. ¹⁶For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured. ¹⁷Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh follie: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out stil. ¹⁸For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke. ¹⁹By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of ye fire: no man shall spare his brother. ²⁰And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungrie: and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate ye flesh of his owne arme. ²¹Manasseh, Ephraim: and

Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

¹Woe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grievous things, ²To keepe backe ye poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse. ³What will ye doe nowe in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your glorie? ⁴Without me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slayne: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. ⁵O Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation. ⁶I will sende him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to treade them vnder feete like the mire in the streete. ⁷But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations. ⁸For he sayeth, Are not my princes altogether Kings? ⁹Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus? ¹⁰Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria: ¹¹Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof? ¹²But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruite of the proude heart of the King of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes, ¹³Because he said, By ye power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man. ¹⁴And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper. ¹⁵Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod shoulde lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood. ¹⁶Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send amog his fat men, leannes, and vnder his glorie he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire. ¹⁷And the light of Israel shalbe as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briers in one day: ¹⁸And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fieldes both soule and flesh: and he shalbe as ye fainting of a standard bearer. ¹⁹And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tell them. ²⁰And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iacob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon ye Lord, ye Holy one of Israel in trueth. ²¹The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God. ²²For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shall ouerflow with righteousness. ²³For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen determined, in the middes of all the land. ²⁴Therefore thus saith ye Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of Egypt: ²⁵But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction. ²⁶And ye Lord of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt. ²⁷And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed because of the anoynting. ²⁸He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour. ²⁹They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraide: Gibeah of Saul is fled away. ³⁰Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth. ³¹Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together. ³²Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem. ³³Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the hie shalbe humbled. ³⁴And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

¹But there shall come a rodde foorth of the stocke of Ishai, and a grasse shall growe out of his

rootes. ²And the Spirite of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirite of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirite of counsell and strength, the Spirite of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord, ³And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove by ye hearing of his eares. ⁴But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reprove for the meeke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked. ⁵And iustice shall be ye girdle of his loynes, and faithfulness the girdle of his reines. ⁶The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shall leade them. ⁷And the kow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lie together: and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke. ⁸And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained childe shall put his hand

vpon the cockatrice hole. ⁹Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holines: for the earth shalbe full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea. ¹⁰And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious. ¹¹And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea. ¹²And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the worlde. ¹³The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shalbe cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah vexe Ephraim: ¹⁴But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience. ¹⁵The Lord also shall vtterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie winde shall lift vp his hand ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes. ¹⁶And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

¹And thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will prayse thee: though thou wast angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me. ²Beholde, God is my saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for ye Lord God is my strength and song: he also is become my saluation. ³Therefore with ioy shall ye drawe waters out of the welles of saluation. ⁴And ye shall say in that day, Prayse the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted. ⁵Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the worlde. ⁶Cry out, and shoute, O inhabitant of Zion: for great is ye holy one of Israel in the middes of thee.

¹The burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see. ²Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles. ³I haue commanded them, that I haue sanctified: and I haue called ye mightie to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my glorie. ⁴The noyse of a multitude is in the mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes nombreth the hoste of the battell. ⁵They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land. ⁶Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hande: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almightye. ⁷Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt, ⁸And they shalbe afraid: anguish and sorowe shall take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shall be amased at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like flames of fire. ⁹Beholde, the day of the Lord commeth, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land wast: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it. ¹⁰For the starres of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shalbe darkened in his going foorth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine. ¹¹And I will visite the wickednes vpon the worlde, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I wil cause the arrogancie of the proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants. ¹²I will make a man more precious then fine golde, euen a man aboue the wedge of golde of Ophir. ¹³Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

¹⁴And it shall be as a chased doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp. euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee eche one to his owne lande. ¹⁵Euery one that is founde, shall be stricken through: and whosoever ioyneth himselfe, shall fal by the sworde. ¹⁶Their children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wiues rauished. ¹⁷Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regarde siluer, nor be desirous of golde. ¹⁸With bowes also shall they destroy ye children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eies shall not spare the children. ¹⁹And Babel the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shall be as the destruction of God in Sodom and Gomorah. ²⁰It shall not bee inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepherdes make their foldes there. ²¹But Ziim shall lodge there, and their houses shall be ful of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwel there, and the Satyrs shall dance there. ²²And Iim shall crie in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is readie to come, and the daies thereof shall not be prolonged.

¹For the Lord wil haue compassion of Iaakob, and wil yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne lande: and the stranger shall ioyne him selfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob. ²And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruants and handmaids: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours. ³And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bodage, wherein thou didest serue, ⁴Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, Howe hath the oppressor ceased? and the gold thirsty Babel rested? ⁵The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers: ⁶Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let. ⁷The whole worlde is at rest and is quiet: they sing for ioye. ⁸Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs. ⁹Hel beneath is mooued for thee to meete thee at thy comming, raising vp the deade for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kinges of the nations. ¹⁰All they shall crie, and saie vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs? ¹¹Thy pompe is brought downe to ye graue, and the sounde of thy violes: the worme is spred vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee. ¹²How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cutte downe to the ground, which didest cast lottes vpon the nations? ¹³Yet thou saidest in thine heart, I will

ascende into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sitte also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North. ¹⁴I wil ascend aboue ye height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most high. ¹⁵But thou shalt bee brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit. ¹⁶They that see thee, shall looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes? ¹⁷He made the worlde as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners. ¹⁸All the Kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glorie, every one in his owne house. ¹⁹But thou art cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorowe with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete. ²⁰Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne lande, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renoumed for euer. ²¹Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fil the face of the world with enemies. ²²For I wil rise vp against them (sayth the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephew, sayth the Lord: ²³And I wil make it a possession to ye hedgehogge, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ²⁴The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand: ²⁵That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I treade him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder. ²⁶This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hande stretched out ouer all the nations, ²⁷Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hande is stretched out, and who shall turne it away? ²⁸In the yeere that King Ahaz died, was this burden. ²⁹Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beat thee, is broken for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit therof shalbe a firy flying serpent. ³⁰For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needie shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant. ³¹Howle, O gate, crie, O citie: thou whole lande of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shalbe alone, at his time appointed. ³²What shall then one answere the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

¹The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroied, and brought to silece in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroied, and brought to silence in a night. ²He shall goe vp to the temple, and to

Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heades shalbe baldnesse, and euery beard shauen. ³In their streetes shall they bee gilded with sackcloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping. ⁴And Heshbon shall crie, and Elealeh: their voyce shall bee heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriers of Moab shall showt: the soule of euery one shall lament in him selfe. ⁵Mine heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, an heiffer of three yere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crie of destruction. ⁶For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe. ⁷Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes. ⁸For the crie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof

vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elim, ⁹Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lyons vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

¹Send yee a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wildernesse, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion. ²For it shall be as a birde that flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the foordes of Arnon. ³Gather a counsel, execute iudgement: make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled. ⁴Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall ende: the destroyer shalbe consumed, and the oppressour shall cease out of the land. ⁵And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, and hee shall sit vpon it in stedfastnesse, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hasting iustice. ⁶We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so. ⁷Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for the foundations of Kirhareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shalbe stricken. ⁸For ye vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof: they are come vnto Iazer: they wandred in the wildernesse: her goodly branches stretched out them selues, and went ouer the sea. ⁹Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer fruits, and vpon thy haruest a showting is fallen. ¹⁰And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull felde: and in the vineyardes shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease. ¹¹Wherefore, my bowels shall sounde like an harpe for Moab, and mine inwarde partes for Ker-haresh. ¹²And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his hie places, then shall hee come to his temple to praie, but he shall not preuaile. ¹³This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time. ¹⁴And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeres, as the yeeres of a hireling, and the glorie of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shalbe very small and feeble.

¹The burden of Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape. ²The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flockes: for they shall lye there, and none shall make them afraide. ³The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glory of the children of Israel, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ⁴And in that day the glorie of Iaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shalbe made leane. ⁵And it shalbe as when the haruest man gathereth the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim. ⁶Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an oliue tree, two or three beries are in the top of the vpmost boughes, and foure or fiue in the hie branches of the fruite thereof, sayeth the Lord God of Israel. ⁷At that day shall a man looke to his maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel. ⁸And hee shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall he looke to those thinges, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images. ⁹In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation. ¹⁰Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plantes, and shalt graffe strange vine branches: ¹¹In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to florish: but the haruest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shalbe desperate sorrowe. ¹²Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters. ¹³The people shall make a sounde like the noise of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlwinde. ¹⁴And loe, in the euening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

¹Oh, the lande shadowing with winges, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, ²Sending ambassadours by the Sea, euen in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying, Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroade, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by litle and litle, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoyled. ³Al ye the inhabitants of ye world and dwellers in the earth, shall see when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall heare. ⁴For so the Lord saide vnto me, I will rest and beholde in my tabernacle, as the heate drying vp the rayne, and as a cloude of dewe in the heate of haruest. ⁵For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes: ⁶They shall be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beastes of the earth: for the foule shall sommer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it. ⁷At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

¹The burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her. ²And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome. ³And the spirite of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the southsayers. ⁴And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of the cruell Lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, sayth the Lord God of hostes. ⁵Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuers shall be dried vp, and wasted. ⁶And the riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe. ⁷The grasse in the riuier, and at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuier, shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more. ⁸The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuier, shall lament, and they that spread their nette vpon the waters, shall be weakened. ⁹Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nettes. ¹⁰For their nettes shalbe broken, and all they, that make pondes, shalbe heauie in heart. ¹¹Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counselors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings? ¹²Where are nowe thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt? ¹³The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of

Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the corners of the tribes thereof. ¹⁴The Lord hath mingled among them the spirite of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite. ¹⁵Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the tayle, ye branch nor the rush. ¹⁶In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraide and feare because of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it. ¹⁷And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraid thereat, because of ye counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it. ¹⁸In that day shall fiue cities in the lande of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, and shall sweare by the Lord of hostes. one shall be called the citie of destruction. ¹⁹In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord. ²⁰And it shall be for a signe and for a witnes vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shall send them a Sauour and a great man, and shall deliuer them. ²¹And the Lord shall be knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them. ²²So ye Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto ye Lord, and he shall be intreated of them and shall heale them. ²³In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur. ²⁴In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land. ²⁵For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

¹In the yeere that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon King of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it, ²At the same time spake the Lord by ye hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loose the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote. ³And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia, ⁴So shall the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt. ⁵And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory. ⁶Then shall the inhabitant of this yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither we fledde for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Asshur, and howe shall we be deliuered?

¹The burden of the desert Sea. As the whirlewindes in the South vse to passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land. ²A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease. ³Therefore are my loynes filled with sorow: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauayleth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amased when I sawe it. ⁴Mine heart failed: fearefulnesse troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me. ⁵Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: arise, ye princes, anoynt the shilde. ⁶For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth. ⁷And he sawe a charet with two horsemen: a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camel: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede. ⁸And he cryed, A lyon: my lorde, I stand continually vpon ye watche towre in the day time, and I am set in my watche euery night: ⁹And beholde, this mans charet commeth with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground. ¹⁰O my threshing, and the corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you. ¹¹The burden of Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in ye night? Watchman, what was in the night? ¹²The watchman saide, The morning commeth, and also the night. If yee will aske, enquire: returne and come. ¹³The burden against Arabia. In the forest of Arabia shall yee tarie all night, euen in the waies of Dedanim. ¹⁴O inhabitants of the lande of Tema, bring foorth water to meete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread. ¹⁵For they flee from the drawen swords, euen from the drawen sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grievousnesse of warre. ¹⁶For thus hath the Lord sayd vnto me, Yet a yeere according to the yeeres of an hireling, and all the glorie of Kedar shall faile. ¹⁷And the residue of the number of ye strong archers of the sonnes of Kedar shall be fewe: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

¹The burden of the valley of vision. What aileth thee now that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the house toppes? ²Thou that art full of noise, a citie full of brute, a ioyous citie: thy slaine men shall not bee slaine with sworde, nor die in battell. ³All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shalbe bound: all that shall be found in thee, shall be bound together, which haue fled from farre. ⁴Therefore said I, Turne away from me: I wil weepe bitterly: labour not to comfort mee for the destruction of the daughter of my people. ⁵For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a crying vnto the mountaines. ⁶And

Elam bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncovered the shield. ⁷And thy chiefe valleis were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate. ⁸And hee discovered the couering of Iudah: and thou didest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest. ⁹And ye haue seene the breaches of the citie of Daud: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole. ¹⁰And yee nombred the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall, ¹¹And haue also made a ditche betweene the two walles, for the waters of the olde poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde. ¹²And in that day did the Lord God of hosts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes and girding with sackcloth. ¹³And beholde, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morowe we shall die. ¹⁴And it was declared in ye eaues of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, til ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes. ¹⁵Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, Goe, get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, ¹⁶What haste thou to doe here? and whome hast thou here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitation for him selfe in a rocke? ¹⁷Beholde, the Lord wil carie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee. ¹⁸He wil surely rolle and turne thee like a bal in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glory shalbe the shame of thy lordes house. ¹⁹And I wil driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee. ²⁰And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, ²¹And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hande, and hee shalbe a father of the inhabitats of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah. ²²And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open. ²³And I will fasten him as a naile in a sure place, and hee shall be for the throne of glorie to his fathers house. ²⁴And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie all small vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musike. ²⁵In that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes, shall the naile, that is fastned in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden, that was vpon it, shall bee cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

¹The burden of Tyrus. Howle, yee shippes of Tarshish: for it is destroied, so that there is none house: none shall come from the lande of Chittim: it is reueiled vnto them. ²Be still, yee that dwell in the yles: the marchantes of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee. ³The seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the haruest of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations. ⁴Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not trauailed, nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins. ⁵When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be sorie, concerning the rumour of Tyrus. ⁶Goe you ouer to Tarshish: howle, yee that dwell in the yles. ⁷Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient daies: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a soiourner. ⁸Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that crowneth men) whose marchantes are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the worlde? ⁹The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth. ¹⁰Passe through thy lande like a flood to the daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength. ¹¹He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroy the power thereof. ¹²And he saide, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: O virgin daughter of Zidon: rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest. ¹³Behold the lande of the Caldeans: this was no people: Asshur founded it by the inhabitantes of the wilderness: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof and hee brought it to ruine. ¹⁴Howle yee shippes of Tarshish, for your strength is destroyed. ¹⁵And in that day shall Tyrus bee forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one King) at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus sing as an harlot. ¹⁶Take an harpe and go about the citie: (thou harlot thou hast beene forgotten) make sweete melodie, sing moe songes that thou maiest be remembred. ¹⁷And at the ende of seuentie yeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world. ¹⁸Yet her occupying and her wages shall bee holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be laied vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shalbe for them that dwell before the Lord, to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

¹Behold, the Lord maketh the earth emptie, and hee maketh it waste: hee turneth it vpside downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof. ²And there shalbe like people, like Priest, and like seruaunt, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like bier, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie. ³The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoiled: for the Lord hath spoken this worde. ⁴The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feeble and decaied: the proude people of the earth are weakened. ⁵The earth also deceiueh, because of the inhabitantes thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

⁶Therefore hath the curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitantes thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are burned vp, and fewe men are left. ⁷The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merie heart, doe mourne. ⁸The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioye of the harpe ceaseth. ⁹They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it. ¹⁰The citie of vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in. ¹¹There is a crying for wine in the streetes: al ioy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away. ¹²In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction. ¹³Surely thus shall it bee in the middes of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended. ¹⁴They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea. ¹⁵Wherefore praise yee the Lord in the valleis, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea. ¹⁶From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard praises, euen glory to the iust, and I sayd, My leanesse, my leanesse, woe is mee: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grievously offended. ¹⁷Feare, and the pitte, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth. ¹⁸And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake. ¹⁹The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is mooued exceedingly. ²⁰The earth shall reele to and from like a drunken man, and shall be remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more. ²¹And in that day shall the Lord visite the hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the Kinges of the world that are vpon the earth. ²²And they shall be gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many daies shall they be visited. ²³Then the moone shall be abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shalbe before his ancient men.

¹O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will prayse thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable trueth. ²For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built. ³Therefore shall the mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee. ⁴For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blaste of the mightie is like a storme against the wall. ⁵Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heate in a drie place: he wil bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heate in the shadowe of a cloude. ⁶And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat thinges, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat thinges full of marow, of wines fined and purified. ⁷And he will destroy in this mountaine the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations. ⁸He wil destroy death for euer: and the Lord God wil wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it. ⁹And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation. ¹⁰For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is thressed in Madmenah. ¹¹And he shall stretche out his hande in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his handes shall he bring downe their pride. ¹²The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay lowe, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

CHAPTER 26

¹In that day shall this song be sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

²Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in. ³By an assured purpose wilt thou preserue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee. ⁴Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

⁵For hee will bring downe them that dwell on hie: the hie citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground wil he cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust. ⁶The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the poore, and the steppes of the needie. ⁷The way of the iust is righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust. ⁸Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgemets: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee. ⁹With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousnesse.

¹⁰Let mercie bee shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnesse will he do wickedly, and will not beholde the maiestie of the Lord. ¹¹O Lord, they will not beholde thine hie hande: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them.

¹²Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs. ¹³O Lord our God, other lords beside thee, haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

¹⁴The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie. ¹⁵Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord:

thou hast increased the nation:
 thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth. ¹⁶Lord, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them. ¹⁷Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord. ¹⁸We haue coceiued, we haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.
¹⁹Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise.
 Awake, and sing, ye that dwel in dust: for thy dewe is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead. ²⁰Come, my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.
²¹For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

¹In that day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.
²In that daye sing of the vineyarde of redde wine. ³I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day. ⁴Anger is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battel? I would go through them, I would burne them together. ⁵Or will he feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with me?
⁶Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall florish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruite. ⁷Hath hee smitten him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him? ⁸In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contende with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde. ⁹By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iakob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: whe he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp. ¹⁰Yet the defenced citie shalbe desolate, and the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof. ¹¹When the boughes of it are drie, they shalbe broken: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstading: therefore hee that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them. ¹²And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel. ¹³In that day also shall the great trumpet be blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the lande of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

¹Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are ouercome with wine. ²Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlwinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily. ³They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim. ⁴For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as the hastie fruite afore sommer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it. ⁵In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people: ⁶And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate. ⁷But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astraye through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement. ⁸For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane. ⁹Whome shall he teache knowledge? and whome shall he make to vnderstand the thinges that hee heareth? them that are weyned from the milke, and drawn from the breastes. ¹⁰For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle. ¹¹For with a stammering tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people. ¹²Vnto whome hee saide, This is the rest: giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare. ¹³Therefore shall the worde of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle and there a litle, that they may goe, and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken. ¹⁴Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye scornefull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem. ¹⁵Because ye haue said, We haue made a couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid, ¹⁶Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will laye in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. Hee that beleeueth, shall not make haste. ¹⁷Iudgement also will I laye to the rule, and righteousness to the balance, and the haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe the secret place. ¹⁸And your couenant with death shalbe disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it. ¹⁹When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shalbe onely feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing. ²⁰For the bed is streight that it can not suffice, and the couering narowe that one can not wrappe himselfe. ²¹For the Lord shall stand as in mount Perazim: hee shall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strage worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte. ²²Nowe therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth. ²³Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach. ²⁴Doeth the plowe man plowe all the day, to sowe? doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground? ²⁵When he hath made it plaine, wil he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place? ²⁶For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him. ²⁷For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but ye fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod. ²⁸Bread cometh when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof. ²⁹This also commeth from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in workes.

¹Ah altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere: let them kill lambs. ²But I wil bring the altar into distresse, and there shalbe heauines and sorowe, and it shall be vnto me like an altar. ³And I wil besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee. ⁴So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speach shalbe as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirite of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust. ⁵Moreouer, the multitude of thy strangers shalbe like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly. ⁶Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire. ⁷And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and lay siege vnto it. ⁸And it shalbe like as an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion. ⁹Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke. ¹⁰For the Lord hath couered you with a spirite of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered. ¹¹And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can not: for it is sealed. ¹²And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I can not reade. ¹³Therefore the Lord sayd, Because this people come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, ¹⁴Therefore behold, I wil againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdome of their wise men shall perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid. ¹⁵Wo vnto them that seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenes, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs? ¹⁶Your turning of deuises shall it not be esteemed as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that facioned it, He had none vnderstanding? ¹⁷Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall be turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a forest? ¹⁸And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse. ¹⁹The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel. ²⁰For the cruel man shall cease, and the scornefull shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off: ²¹Which made a man to sinne in ye worde, and tooke him in a snare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause. ²²Therefore thus sayth the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale. ²³But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids

of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel. ²⁴Then they that erred in spirit, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

¹Wo to the rebellious children, sayth the Lord, that take counsell, but not of me, and couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne: ²Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen them selues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt. ³But the strength of Pharaoh shalbe your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion. ⁴For his princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came vnto Hanes. ⁵They shalbe all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche. ⁶The burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bouches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite. ⁷For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto her, Their strength is to sit still. ⁸Now go, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the last day for euer and euer: ⁹That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the law of the Lord. ¹⁰Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie errors. ¹¹Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs. ¹²Therefore thus saith the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this worde, and trust in violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon, ¹³Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment. ¹⁴And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit. ¹⁵For thus sayd the Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnes shall ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not. ¹⁶For ye haue sayd, No, but we wil flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter. ¹⁷A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fise shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship maste vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill. ¹⁸Yet therefore will the Lord waite, that he may haue mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that hee may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him. ¹⁹Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he wil certainly haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy crye: when he heareth thee, he wil answere thee. ²⁰And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine. ²¹And thine eares shall heare a worde behind thee, saying, 'This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left. ²²And ye shall pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence. ²³Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures. ²⁴The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shoouel and with the fanne.

²⁵And vpon euery hie mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall. ²⁶Moreouer, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the sunne, and the light of the sunne shalbe seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound. ²⁷Beholde, the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire. ²⁸And his spirit is as a riuier that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it deuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people. ²⁹But there shall be a song vnto you as in the night, when solemne feast is kept: and gladnes of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel. ³⁰And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones. ³¹For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod. ³²And in euery place that ye staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it. ³³For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

¹Woe vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor seeke vnto the Lord. ²But he yet is wisest: therefore he wil bring euill, and not turne backe his worde, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie. ³Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh and not spirite: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile. ⁴For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lyon or lyons whelpe roareth vpon his praye, against whom if a multitude of shepheards be called, hee will not be afraide at their voyce, neither will humble him selfe at their noise: so shall the Lord of hostes come downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof. ⁵As birds that flie, so shall the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it. ⁶O ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are sunken deepe in rebellion. ⁷For in that day euery man shall cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your handes haue made you, euen a sinne. ⁸Then shall Asshur fall by the sworde, not of man, neither shall the sworde of man deuoure him, and hee shall flee from the sworde, and his yong men shall faint. ⁹And he shall go for feare to his towre, and his princes shall be afraide of the standart, sayeth the Lord, whose fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ierusalem.

¹Behold, a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule in iudgement. ²And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in a weary land. ³The eyes of the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken. ⁴And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shalbe ready to speake distinctly. ⁵A nigard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle riche. ⁶But the nigarde will speake of nigardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile. ⁷For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuise wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake against the poore in iudgement. ⁸But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie. ⁹Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye carelesse daughters: hearken to my wordes. ¹⁰Yee women, that are carelesse, shall be in feare aboute a yeere in dayes: for the vintage shall faile, and the gatherings shall come no more. ¹¹Yee women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O yee carelesse women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde sackcloth vpon the loynes. ¹²Men shall lament for the teates, euen for the pleasant fieldes, and for the fruitfull vine. ¹³Vpon the lande of my people shall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioye in the citie of reioysing, ¹⁴Because the palace shalbe forsaken, and the noise of the citie shalbe left: the towre and fortresse shalbe dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, ¹⁵Vntill the Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruitfull field, and the plenteous field be counted as a forest. ¹⁶And iudgement shall dwel in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull field. ¹⁷And the worke of iustice shall bee peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer. ¹⁸And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places. ¹⁹When it haileth, it shall fall on the forest, and the citie shall be set in the lowe place. ²⁰Blessed are ye that sowe vpon all waters, and driue thither the feete of the oxe and the asse.

¹Woe to thee that spoylest, and wast not spoiled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoiled: when thou shalt make an

ende of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee. ²O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which waste their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble. ³At the noise of the tumult, the people fled: at thine exalting the nations were scattered. ⁴And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillers: and he shall go against him like the leaping of grasshoppers. ⁵The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice. ⁶And there shall be stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shalbe his treasure. ⁷Behold, their messengers shall cry without, and ye ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly. ⁸The pathes are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: hee hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man. ⁹The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: Sharon is like a wildernes, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel. ¹⁰Now will I arise, saith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

¹¹Ye shall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

¹²And the people shall be as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire. ¹³Heare, yee that are farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power.

¹⁴The sinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwel with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings? ¹⁵Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his handes from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill.

¹⁶He shall dwell on hie: his defence shall be the munitions of rockes: bread shalbe giuen him, and his waters shalbe sure.

¹⁷Thine eyes shall see the King in his glory: they shall beholde the lande farre off. ¹⁸Thine heart shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is hee that counted the towres? ¹⁹Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speache, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstande. ²⁰Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be remooued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof be broken. ²¹For surely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs, as a place of floods and broade riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby. ²²For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our lawe giuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs. ²³Thy cordes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their maste, neither coulde they spread the saile: then shall the praye be deuided for a great spoile: yea, the lame shall take away the pray. ²⁴And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgien.

¹Come neere, ye nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and al that proceedeth thereof. ²For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter. ³And their slaine shalbe cast out, and their stincke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood. ⁴And all the hoste of heauen shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shall be folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree. ⁵For my sword shalbe drunken in the heauen: beholde, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement. ⁶The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat and with the blood of the lambes and the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

⁷And the vnicorne shall come downe with them and the heiffers with the bulles, and their lande shalbe drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnesse. ⁸For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yeere of recompence for the iudgement of Zion. ⁹And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitche, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch. ¹⁰It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall goe vp euermore: it shall be desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe through it for euer. ¹¹But the pelicane and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauens shall dwel in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of vanitie, and the stones of emptinesse. ¹²The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shalbe none, and all the princes thereof shalbe as nothing. ¹³And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shall be an habitation for dragons, and a court for ostriches. ¹⁴There shall meete also Ziim and Iim, and the Satyre shall cry to his fellow, and the shricheowle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling. ¹⁵There shall the owle make her nest, and laye, and hatche, and gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the vultures also bee gathered, euery one with her make. ¹⁶Seeke in the booke of the Lord, and reade: none of these shall fayle, none shall want her make: for his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them. ¹⁷And he hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath deuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

¹The desert and the wildernes shall reioyce: and the waste ground shalbe glad and flourish as the rose. ²It shall flourish abundantly and shall greatly reioyce also and ioye: the glory of Lebanon shalbe giuen vnto it: the beautie of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God. ³Strengthen the weake handes, and comfort the feeble knees. ⁴Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: beholde, your God commeth with vengeance: euen God with a recompense, he will come and saue you. ⁵Then shall the eyes of the blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened. ⁶Then shall ye lame man leape as an hart, and the dumme mans tongue shall sing: for in the wildernes shall waters breake out, and riuers in ye desert. ⁷And the dry ground shalbe as a poole, and the thirstie (as springs of water in the habitation of dragons: where they lay) shall be a place for reedes and rushes. ⁸And there shalbe a path and a way, and the way shalbe called holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for he shalbe with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre. ⁹There shall be no lyon, nor noysome beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke. ¹⁰Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shall bee vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioye and gladnesse, and sorow and mourning shall flee away.

thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him. ⁷But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar? ⁸Nowe therefore giue hostages to my lorde the King of Asshur, and I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them. ⁹For howe canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lordes seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen? ¹⁰And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord sayd vnto me, Goe vp against this land and destroy it. ¹¹Then sayd Eliakim and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

¹²Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eate their owne dounge, and drinke their owne pisse with you? ¹³So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and sayd, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur. ¹⁴Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you. ¹⁵Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshur. ¹⁶Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus sayth the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne fig tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well, ¹⁷Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate, and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, ¹⁸Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur? ¹⁹Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand? ²⁰Who is hee among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand? ²¹Then they kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not. ²²Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

¹And when the King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and came into the House of the Lord. ²And he sent Eliakim the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackcloth vnto Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz. ³And they sayd vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring foorth. ⁴If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left. ⁵So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. ⁶And Isaiah sayde vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afrayd of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me. ⁷Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noyse, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land. ⁸So Rabshakeh returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish. ⁹He heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying, ¹⁰Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur. ¹¹Beholde, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered? ¹²Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar? ¹³Where is the King of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah? ¹⁴So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord. ¹⁵And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying, ¹⁶O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth. ¹⁷Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God. ¹⁸Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, and their countrey, ¹⁹And haue cast their gods in ye fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them. ²⁰Nowe therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord. ²¹Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Asshur, ²²This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against him, the virgine, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne:

the daughter of Ierusalem, hath shaken her head at thee. ²³Whome hast thou railed on and blasphemed? and against whome hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the holy one of Israel. ²⁴By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heightes of his top and to the forest of his fruitfull places. ²⁵I haue digged and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in. ²⁶Hast thou not heard howe I haue of olde time made it, and haue formed it long ago? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and layde on ruinous heapes, as cities defended? ²⁷Whose inhabitants haue small power, and are afrayd and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or corne blassed afore it be growen. ²⁸But I know thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy comming in, and thy fury against me. ²⁹Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, and wil bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest. ³⁰And this shalbe a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the second yeere, such things as growe without sowing: and in the third yeere, sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof. ³¹And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downward and beare fruite vpward. ³²For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shall doe this. ³³Therefore thus sayth the Lord, concerning the King of Asshur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it. ³⁴By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord. ³⁵For I will defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant Dauids sake. ³⁶Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth, fourescore, and fiue thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, beholde, they were all dead corpses. ³⁷So Saneherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at Nineueh. ³⁸And as he was in the temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes slewe him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Ararat: and Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his steade.

¹About that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and sayd vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt dye, and not liue. ²Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, of the residue of my yeeres. ¹¹I said, I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world. ¹²Mine habitation is departed, and is remoued from me, like a shepherds tent: I haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day to night, thou wilt make an ende of me. ¹³I rekoned to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me. ¹⁴Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eies were lift vp on high: O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me. ¹⁵What shall I say? for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke weakely all my yeeres in the bitternesse of my soule. ¹⁶O Lord, to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirite shalbe knowen, that thou causedst me to sleepe and hast giuen life to me. ¹⁷Beholde, for felicitie I had bitter grieve, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption:

³And saide, I beseeche thee, Lord, remember nowe howe I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfite heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore. ⁴Then came the worde of the Lord to Isaiah, saying, ⁵Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeeres. ⁶And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the King of Asshur, and this citie: for I will defende this citie. ⁷And this signe shalt thou haue of ye Lord, that ye Lord will do this thing that he hath spoken, ⁸Beholde, I will bring againe the shadowe of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by tenne degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe. ⁹The writing of Hezekiah King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sicknesse. ¹⁰I saide in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued

for thou hast cast all my sinnes behinde thy backe. ¹⁸For the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth. ¹⁹But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the children shall declare thy trueth. ²⁰The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the House of the Lord. ²¹Then said Isaiah, Take a lump of drye figs and lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer. ²²Also Hezekiah had said, What is ye signe, that I shall goe vp into the House of the Lord?

¹At the same time, Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered. ²And Hezekiah was glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was founde in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not. ³Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel. ⁴Then saide he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them. ⁵And Isaiah saide to Hezekiah, Heare the worde of the Lord of hostes, ⁶Beholde, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layed vp in store vntill this day, shall be caried to Babel: nothing shall be left, sayeth the Lord. ⁷And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel. ⁸Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he saide, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

¹Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, will your God say.

²Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and crye vnto her, that her warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand double for all her sinnes. ³A voyce cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God. ⁴Euery valley shall be exalted, and euery mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shalbe streight, and the rough places plaine. ⁵And the glory of the Lord shalbe reueiled, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. ⁶A voyce saide, Crie. And he saide, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof is as the floure of the field. ⁷The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the Spirite of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse. ⁸The grasse withereth, the floure

fadeth: but the worde of our God shall stand for euer. ⁹O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraide: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Beholde your God. ¹⁰Beholde, the Lord God will come with power, and his arme shall rule for him: beholde, his rewarde is with him, and his worke before him, ¹¹He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with young. ¹²Who hath measured the waters in his fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed ye mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a balance? ¹³Who hath instructed ye Spirit of the Lord? or was his counselor or taught him? ¹⁴Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

dwel in. ²³He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, ²⁴As though they were not plated, as though they were not sowed, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlwinde will take them away as stubble. ²⁵To whom nowe will ye liken me, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one? ²⁶Lift vp your eyes on hie, and beholde who hath created these things, and bringeth out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names? by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth. ²⁷Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God? ²⁸Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the endes of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his vnderstanding. ²⁹But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power. ³⁰Euen the yong men shall faint, and be wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall. ³¹But they that waite vpon the Lord, shall renue their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

¹Keep silence before mee, O ylands, and let the people renue their strength: let the come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement. ²Who raised vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the Kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bowe. ³He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete. ⁴Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the first, and with the last I am ye same. ⁵The yles sawe it, and did feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drew neere, and came. ⁶Euery man helped his neighbour, and saide to his brother, Be strong. ⁷So the workeman comforted the founder, and he that smote with ye hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, and he fastened it with nayles that it shoulde not be mooued. ⁸But thou, Israel, art my seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend. ⁹For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and saide vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away. ¹⁰Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraide, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice. ¹¹Beholde, all they that prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, and they that striue with thee, shall perish. ¹²Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought. ¹³For I the tree, the elme and the boxe tree together. ²⁰Therefore let them see and knowe, and let them consider and vnderstande together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel hath created it. ²¹Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith ye King of Iaakob. ²²Let them bring foorth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that wee may consider them, and knowe the latter end of them: either declare vs things for to come. ²³Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, doe good or doe euill, that we may declare it, and beholde it together. ²⁴Beholde, ye are of no value, and your making is of naught: man hath chosen an abomination by them. ²⁵I haue raised vp from the North, and he shall come: from the East sunne shall he cal vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the foote. ²⁶Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may knowe? or before time, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your wordes. ²⁷I am the first, that saieth to Zion, Beholde, beholde them: and I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings. ²⁸But when I behelde, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellor, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a woorde. ²⁹Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I wil helpe thee. ¹⁴Feare not, thou worme, Iaakob, and ye men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, sayth the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel. ¹⁵Behold, I wil make thee a roller, and a newe threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountaines, and bring them to pouder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe. ¹⁶Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shall carie them away, and the whirlewinde shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy one of Israel. ¹⁷When the poore and the needy seeke water, and there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them) ¹⁸I will open riuers in the toppes of the hils, and fountaines in the middes of the valleis: I will make the wilderness as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water. ¹⁹I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah tree, and the mirre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the firre

¹Behold, my seruauent: I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule deliteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles. ²He shall not crie, nor lift vp, nor cause his voice to be heard in the streete. ³A bruised reede shall hee not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in trueth. ⁴He shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue set iudgement in the earth: and the yles shall waite for his lawe. ⁵Thus sayeth God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spred them abroad: he that stretched foorth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein) ⁶I the Lord haue called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles, ⁷That thou maist open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sitte in darkenesse, out of the prison house. ⁸I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory wil I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images. ⁹Beholde, the former thinges are come to passe, and newe things doe I declare: before they come foorth, I tell you of them. ¹⁰Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, and his praise from the ende of the earth: yee that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof. ¹¹Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shoute from the toppe of the mountaines. ¹²Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands. ¹³The Lord shall go forth as a gyant: he shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shout and crie, and shall preuaile against his enemies. ¹⁴I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue beene still and refrained my selfe: now will I crie like a trauailling woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once. ¹⁵I will make waste mountaines, and hilles, and drie vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles. ¹⁶And I will bring the blinde by a way, that they knewe not, and lead them by paths that they haue not known: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked thinges straight. These thinges will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them. ¹⁷They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods. ¹⁸Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regarde, that ye may see. ¹⁹Who is blinde but my seruauent? or deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blind as the perfit, and blinde as the Lordes seruant? ²⁰Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not? ²¹The Lord is willing for his righteousnesse sake that he may magnifie the Lawe, and exalt it. ²²But this people is robbed and spoiled, and shalbe all snared in dungeons, and they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, Restore. ²³Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for afterwarde? ²⁴Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not ye Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they woulde not walke in his waies, neither be obedient vnto his Lawe. ²⁵Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and he knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

¹But nowe thus sayeth the Lord, that created thee, O Iaakob: and hee that formed thee, O Israel, Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine. ²When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee. ³For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee. ⁴Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue man for thee, and people for thy sake. ⁵Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West. ⁶I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth. ⁷Euery one shall be called by my Name: for I created him for my glorie, formed him and made him. ⁸I will bring foorth the blinde people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares. ⁹Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this and shewe vs former things? let them bring foorth their witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them heare, and say, It is truth. ¹⁰You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore yee shall knowe and beleue me and yee shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. ¹¹I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauour. ¹²I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, sayeth the Lord, that I am God. ¹³Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it? ¹⁴Thus sayeth the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Chaldeans crie in the shippes.

¹⁵I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

¹⁶Thus sayeth the Lord which maketh a way in the Sea, and a path in the mighty waters. ¹⁷When hee bringeth out the charet and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towe.

¹⁸Remember yee not the former things, neither regard the things of olde. ¹⁹Behold, I do a new thing: now shall it come foorth: shall you not knowe it? I wil euen make a way in the desert, and floods in the wildernesse. ²⁰The wilde beastes shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wildernesse to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect. ²¹This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shewe foorth my praise. ²²And thou hast not called vpon mee, O Iaakob, but thou hast wearied me, O Israel. ²³Thou hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense. ²⁴Thou boughtest mee no sweete sauour with money, neither hast thou made mee drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made mee to serue with thy sinnes, and wearied mee with thine iniquities.

²⁵I, euen I am he that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes. ²⁶Put me in remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maist be iustified. ²⁷Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me. ²⁸Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuarie, and haue made Iaakob a curse, and Israel a reproche.

¹Yet nowe heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen. ²Thus sayeth the Lord, that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruaunt, and thou righteous, whome I haue chosen. ³For I will powre water vpon the thirstie, and floods vpon the drie ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy buddes. ⁴And they shall grow as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters. ⁵One shall say, I am the Lordes: another shalbe called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel. ⁶Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hostes, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God. ⁷And who is like me, that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before me, since I appointed the ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shewe vnto them. ⁸Feare ye not, neither be afraide: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not. ⁹All they that make an image, are vanitie, and their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shalbe confounded. ¹⁰Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing? ¹¹Beholde, all that are of the fellowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together. ¹²The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint. ¹³The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreiyeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in an house. ¹⁴He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it. ¹⁵And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it. ¹⁶He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and sayth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire. ¹⁷And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and sayeth, Deliuer me: for thou art my god. ¹⁸They haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their heartes, that they cannot vnderstand. ¹⁹And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree? ²⁰He feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lye in my right hand? ²¹Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not. ²²I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee. ²³Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, ye lower partes of the earth: brast forth into prayes, ye mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob and will be glorified in Israel. ²⁴Thus sayeth the Lord thy redeemer and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spred out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe. ²⁵I destroy the tokens of ye southsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse. ²⁶He confirmeth the worde of his seruant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, 'Thou shalt bee inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall be built vp, and I will repayre the decayed places thereof. ²⁷He saith to the deepe, Be drye and I will drye vp thy floods. ²⁸He saith to Cyrus, 'Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, 'Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, 'Thy foundation shall be surely layed.

¹Thus sayeth the Lord vnto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of Kings and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut: ²I will goe before thee and make the crooked streight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres. ³And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou maist know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel. ⁴For Iaakob my seruants sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name and name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

⁵I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee though thou hast not knowen me, ⁶That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other. ⁷I forme the light and create darkenes: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things. ⁸Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe righteousness: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue created him. ⁹Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, It hath none hands? ¹⁰Woe vnto him that sayeth to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought foorth? ¹¹Thus saith the Lord, the holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine hands: commande you me. ¹²I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie. ¹³I haue raised him vp in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for price nor rewarde, saith the Lord of hostes. ¹⁴Thus sayth the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides. ¹⁵Verely thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauour of Israel. ¹⁶All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images. ¹⁷But Israel shall be saued in the Lord, with an euermlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded worlde without ende. ¹⁸For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other. ¹⁹I haue not spoken in secrete, neither in a place of darkenes in the earth: I saide not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you me: I the Lord doe speake righteousness, and declare righteous things. ²⁰Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, ye abiection of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them. ²¹Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauour: there is none beside me. ²²Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued: all the endes of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there is none other. ²³I haue sworne by my selfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not returne, That euery knee shall bowe vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me. ²⁴Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that prouoke him, shall be ashamed. ²⁵The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

¹Bel is bowed downe: Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden. ²They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they coulde not rid them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie. ³Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth. ⁴Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare heares: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will cary you and I will deliuer you. ⁵To whom will ye make me like or make me equall, or copare me, that I should be like him? ⁶They draw gold out of the bagge and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe, and worship it. ⁷They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation. ⁸Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, O you transgressors. ⁹Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me, ¹⁰Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoever I will. ¹¹I call a birde from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it. ¹²Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from iustice. ¹³I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I wil giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

⁷And thou saidest, I shall be a ladie for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy mind to these things, neither diddest thou remember ye latter end therof. ⁸Therefore nowe heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, Shee sayeth in her heart, I am and none els: I shall not sit as a widowe, neither shall knowe the losse of children. ⁹But these two thinges shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowhoode: they shall come vpon thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters. ¹⁰For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast sayd, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast saide in thine heart, I am, and none els. ¹¹Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shall fal vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware. ¹²Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy southsaiers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou maist haue profit, or if so be thou maist haue strength. ¹³Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticatours stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee. ¹⁴Beholde, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coles to warme at, nor light to sit by. ¹⁵Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

¹Hear yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousnesse. ²For they are called of the holy citie, and staie themselues vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hostes. ³I haue declared ye former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe. ⁴Because I knewe, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brasse, ⁵Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them. ⁶Thou hast heard, behold all this, and wil not yee declare it? I haue shewed thee newe things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not. ⁷They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shouldest say, Beholde, I knewe them. ⁸Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the wombe. ⁹For my Names sake will I defer my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, that I cut thee not off. ¹⁰Behold, I haue fined thee, but not as siluer: I haue chosen thee in the fornace of affliction. ¹¹For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake wil I doe it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I wil not giue my glory vnto another. ¹²Heare me, O Iaakob and Israel, my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last. ¹³Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heaues: when I cal them, they stand vp together. ¹⁴All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these thinges? The Lord hath loued him: he wil doe his will in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans. ¹⁵I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper. ¹⁶Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath sent me. ¹⁷Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profite, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe. ¹⁸Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandements! then had thy prosperitie bene as the floude, and thy righteousness as the waues of the sea. ¹⁹Thy seede also had bene as the sande, and the fruite of thy body like the grauell thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me. ²⁰Goe yee out of Babel: flee yee from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel and declare this: shewe it foorth to the end of the earth: say yee, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob. ²¹And they were not thirstie: hee led them through the wilderness: hee caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out. ²²There is no peace, sayeth the Lord, vnto the wicked.

¹Hear yee me, O yles, and hearken, yee people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers bellie.

²And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sworde: vnder the shadowe of his hande hath he hid mee, and made me a chosen shafte, and hid me in his quiuer, ³And sayd vnto me, Thou art my seruauant, Israel, for I will be glorious in thee. ⁴And I said, I haue labored in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my woorke with my God. ⁵And now sayeth the Lord, that formed me from the wombe to be his seruauant, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I bee glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength) ⁶And hee sayde, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruauant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest bee my saluation vnto the ende of the worlde. ⁷Thus sayeth the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruauant of rulers, Kinges shall see, and arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithfull: and ye Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee. ⁸Thus sayeth the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, and wil giue thee for a couenant of ye people, that thou maiest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages: ⁹That thou maiest say to the prisoners, Goe forth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Shewe your selues: they shall feede in the waies, and their pastures shall bee in all the toppes of the hilles. ¹⁰They shall not be hungrie, neither shall they be thirstie, neither shall the heat smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them. ¹¹And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted. ¹²Beholde, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim. ¹³Reioyce, O heauens: and bee ioyfull, O earth: brast foorth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

¹⁴But Zion saide, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me. ¹⁵Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet wil I not forget thee.
¹⁶Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy walles are euer in my sight. ¹⁷Thy builders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee. ¹⁸Lift vp thine eies round about and behold: all these gather themselues together and come to thee: as I liue, sayeth the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and girde thy selfe with them like a bride.
¹⁹For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away. ²⁰The children of thy barennesse shall say againe

in thine eares, The place is strait for mee: giue place to me that I may dwell. ²¹Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am baren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and from? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was
²²Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will lift vp mine hande to the Gentiles and set vp my stadart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be caried vpon their shoulders.
²³And Kings shalbe thy nourcing fathers, and Queenes shalbe thy nources: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the dust of thy feete:
and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me. ²⁴Shall the pray be taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered? ²⁵But thus sayeth the Lord, euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I wil contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, ²⁶And will feede them that spoile thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne bloode, as with sweete wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy sauour and thy redeemer, the mighty one of Iaakob.

¹Thus sayeth the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whome I haue cast off? or who is the creditour to whome I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are yee solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken. ²Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Beholde, at my rebuke I drie vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst. ³I clothe the heauens with darkenesse, and make a sacke their couering. ⁴The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I shoulde knowe to minister a woord in time to him that is weary: he will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned. ⁵The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe. ⁶I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting. ⁷For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shall not be ashamed. ⁸Hee is neere that iustifieth mee: who will contend with me? Let vs stande together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me. ⁹Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shall eat them vp. ¹⁰Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: hee that walketh in darkenesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and staye vpon his God. ¹¹Beholde, all you kindle a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lye downe in sorowe.

¹Heare me, ye that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged. ²Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him. ³Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shalbe founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing. ⁴Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a Law shall proceede from me, and I will bring foorth my iudgement for the light of the people. ⁵My righteousness is neere: my saluation goeth foorth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme. ⁶Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not bee abolished. ⁷Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproche of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes. ⁸For the mothe shall eat them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eat them like wool: but my righteousness shalbe for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation. ⁹Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as in the olde time in the generations of the worlde. Art not thou the same, that hath cutte Rahab, and wounded the dragon? ¹⁰Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer? ¹¹Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto

Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy, and gladnesse: and sorow and mourning shall flee away. ¹²I, euen I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse? ¹³And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layde the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is readie to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour? ¹⁴The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pitte, nor that his bread should faile. ¹⁵And I am the Lord thy God that deuised the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes is his Name. ¹⁶And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people. ¹⁷Awake, awake, and stande vp, O

Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hande of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out. ¹⁸There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whome she hath brought foorth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp. ¹⁹These two thinges are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sworde: by whome shall I comfort thee? ²⁰Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a nette, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God. ²¹Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine. ²²Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hande the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more. ²³But I will put it into their hande that spoile thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bowe downe, that wee may goe ouer, and thou hast layde thy bodie as the grounde, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

¹Aries, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on thy garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for hencefoorth there shall no more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

²Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion. ³For thus sayeth the Lord, Yee were solde for naught: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

⁴For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe afore time into Egypt to sojourne there, and Asshur oppressed them without cause. ⁵Nowe therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for naught, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is blasphemed?

⁶Therefore my people shall know my Name: therefore they shall know in that day, that I am he that doe speake: beholde, it is I. ⁷How beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth peace? that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth? ⁸The voyce of thy watchmen shalbe heard: they shall lift vp their voyce, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion. ⁹O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, bee glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem. ¹⁰The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the endes of the earth shall see the saluation of our God. ¹¹Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence and touche no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: be ye cleane, that beare the vessels of the Lord. ¹²For ye shall not goe out with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will goe before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together. ¹³Beholde, my seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very hie. ¹⁴As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) so shall hee sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their mouthes at him: for that which had not bene tolde them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstande.

¹Who will beleue our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lord reueiled? ²But hee shall growe vp before him as a branche, and as a roote out of a dry ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that wee should desire him. ³He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes and hath experience of infirmities: we hidde as it were our faces from him: he was despised and we esteemed him not. ⁴Surely hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried our sorowes: yet wee did iudge him, as plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled. ⁵But hee was wounded for our transgressions, hee was broken for our iniquities: the

chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed. ⁶All we like sheepe haue gone astraye: wee haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layed vpon him the iniquitie of vs all. ⁷Hee was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: hee is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth. ⁸Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgement: and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the lande of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued. ⁹And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, though hee had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceite in his mouth. ¹⁰Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subiect to infirmities: when hee shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seede and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand. ¹¹Hee shall see of the trauaile of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities. ¹²Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall deuide the spoyle with the strong, because hee hath powred out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressors, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widdowhoode any more. ⁵For hee that made thee, is thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the Holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world. ⁶For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a yong wife when thou wast refused, sayth thy God. ⁷For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee. ⁸For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a litle season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, sayth the Lord thy redeemer. ⁹For this is vnto me as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee. ¹⁰For the mountaines shall remoue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

¹¹O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, beholde, I wil lay thy stones with the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with sapphirs, ¹²And I will make thy windowes of emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones. ¹³And all thy children shalbe taught of the Lord, and much peace shalbe to thy children. ¹⁴In righteousnes shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee. ¹⁵Beholde, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without me: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall. ¹⁶Beholde, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy. ¹⁷But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and every tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnesse is of me, sayth the Lord.

¹Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no siluer, come, bye and eate: come, I say, bye wine and milke without siluer and without money. ²Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in fatnes. ³Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the sure mercies of Dauid. ⁴Beholde, I gaue him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people. ⁵Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for hee hath glorified thee. ⁶Seeke ye the Lord while he may be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere. ⁷Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for hee is very ready to forgiue.

⁸For my thoughtes are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayth the Lord. ⁹For as ye heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughtes aboue your thoughts. ¹⁰Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth, ¹¹So shall my worde be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it. ¹²Therefore ye shall go out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountaines and the hilles shall breake foorth before you into ioye, and all the trees of the fielde shall clap their handes. ¹³For thornes there shall growe firre trees: for nettles shall growe the myrrhe tree, and it shalbe to the Lord for a name, and for an euerlasting signe that shall not be taken away.

¹Thus saith the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousness to be reueiled. ²Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: hee that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill. ³And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a drye tree. ⁴For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my couenant, ⁵Euen vnto them wil I giue in mine House and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out. ⁶Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant, ⁷Them wil I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shall be called an house of prayer for all people. ⁸The Lord God sayth, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet wil I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them. ⁹All ye beastes of the fiede, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forest. ¹⁰Their watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe and delite in sleeping. ¹¹And these griedy dogs can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose. ¹²Come, I wil bring wine, and we wil fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morowe shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

¹The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away from the euill to come. ²Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him. ³But you witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer and of the whore. ⁴On whome haue ye iested? vpon whome haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seede? ⁵Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks? ⁶Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the riuier: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delite in these? ⁷Thou hast made thy bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice. ⁸Behinde

the doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it. ⁹Thou wentest to the Kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine oyntments and sende thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell. ¹⁰Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneys, yet saydest thou not, There is no hope: thou hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved. ¹¹And whome diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast lyed vnto me, and hast not remembred me, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me. ¹²I will declare thy righteousness and thy workes, and they shall not profite thee. ¹³When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherite the lande, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine. ¹⁴And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people. ¹⁵For thus sayth he that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirite to reuiue the spirite of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart. ¹⁶For I will not contende for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, for the spirite should fayle before me: and I haue made the breath. ¹⁷For his wicked couetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart. ¹⁸I haue seene his wayes, and wil heale him: I wil leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him. ¹⁹I create the fruite of the lips, to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere, sayth the Lord: for I will heale him.

²⁰But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt. ²¹There is no peace, sayth my God, to the wicked.

¹Crye aloud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes. ²Yet they seeke me dayly, and will knowe my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they wil drawe neere vnto God, saying, ³Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke your will, and require all your dettes. ⁴Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboue. ⁵Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bull rush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord? ⁶Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery yoke? ⁷Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh? ⁸Then shall thy light breake foorth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy righteousnes shall goe before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shall embrace thee. ⁹Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answere: thou shalt cry and hee shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting foorth of the finger, and wicked speaking: ¹⁰If thou powre out thy soule to the hungrie, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenes, and thy darkenes shalbe as the noone day.

¹¹And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watred garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

¹²And they shalbe of thee, that shall builde the olde waste places: thou shalt rayse vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach and the restorer of the pathes to dwell in. ¹³If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, ¹⁴Then shalt thou delite in the Lord, and I wil cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of ye Lord hath spoken it.

that it cannot heare. ²But your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hidde his face from you, that he will not heare. ³For your handes are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie. ⁴No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth iniquitie. ⁵They hatch cockatrice egges, and weaue the spiders webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent. ⁶Their webbes shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their handes. ⁷Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths. ⁸The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not knowe peace. ⁹Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we waite for light, but loe, it is darkenesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darkenesse. ¹⁰Wee grope for the wall like the blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men. ¹¹We roare all like beares, and mourne like dooues: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs. ¹²For our trespasses are many before thee, and our sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we knowe our iniquities. ¹³In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false matters. ¹⁴Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter. ¹⁵Yea, trueth faileth, and hee that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe a praye: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement. ¹⁶And when he sawe that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer him selfe. Therefore his arme did saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it. ¹⁷For he put on righteousnes, as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke. ¹⁸As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repaire the ylands. ¹⁹So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away. ²⁰And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquitie in Iacob, saith the Lord. ²¹And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord. My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lord, from hencefoorth euen for euer.

¹Arise, O Ierusalem: be bright, for thy light is come, and the glorie of the Lord is risen vpon thee. ²For beholde, darknesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darknesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee. ³And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp. ⁴Lift vp thine eyes round about, and beholde: all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side. ⁵Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee. ⁶The multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shewe foorth the prayses of the Lord. ⁷All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to bee accepted vpon mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glorie. ⁸Who are these that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes? ⁹Surely the yles shall waite for mee, and the shippes of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer, and their golde with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee. ¹⁰And the sonnes of strangers shall builde vp thy walles, and their Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee. ¹¹Therefore thy gates shalbe open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shutte, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought. ¹²For the nation and the kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed. ¹³The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my feete. ¹⁴The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the Holy one of Israel. ¹⁵Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated: so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glorie, and a ioye from generation to generation. ¹⁶Thou shalt also sucke ye milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breastes of Kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Sauour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob. ¹⁷For brasse will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouvernement peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse. ¹⁸Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates. ¹⁹Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glorie. ²⁰Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorowe shalbe ended. ²¹Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the grasse of my planting shalbe the worke of mine handes, that I may be glorified. ²²A litle one shall become as a thousande, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord wil hasten it in due time.

¹The Spirit of the Lord God is vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anoynted mee: hee hath sent mee to preache good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the broken hearted, to preach libertie to the captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison, 2To preache the acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne, 3To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for ashes, the oyle of ioye for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called trees of righteousnesse, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. 4And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many generations. 5And the strangers shall stande and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines. 6But ye shall be named the Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God, Ye shall eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie. 7For your shame you shall receiue double, and for confusion they shall reioyce in their portion: for in their lande they shall possesse the double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them. 8For I the Lord loue iudgement and hate robberie for burnt offering, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them. 9And their seede shall be known among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed. 10I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed mee with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousnes: hee hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tireth herselfe with her iewels. 11For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sown in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousnesse to grow and praise before all the heathen.

1For Zions sake I will not holde my tongue, and for Ierusalems sake I wil not rest, vntil the righteousnes thereof breake foorth as the light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe. ²And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnesse, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name. ³Thou shalt also be a crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God. ⁴It shall no more be sayd vnto thee, Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah: for the Lord deliteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband. ⁵For as a yong man marieth a virgine, so shall thy sonnes marry thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee. ⁶I haue set watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: ye that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence, ⁷And giue him no rest, till hee repaire and vntill hee set vp Ierusalem the prayse of the worlde. ⁸The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I wil no more giue thy corne to be meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured. ⁹But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and prayse the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courtes of my Sanctuarie. ¹⁰Go through, go through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones and set vp a standart for the people. ¹¹Beholde, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the endes of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauour commeth: beholde, his wages is with him, and his worke is before him. ¹²And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A citie sought out and not forsaken.

¹Who is this that commeth from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparel and walketh in his great strength: I speake in righteousnesse, and am mightie to saue. ²Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in ye wine presse? ³I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment. ⁴For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redeemed is come. ⁵And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me. ⁶Therefore I wil tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and wil bring downe their strength to the earth. ⁷I wil remember the mercies of the Lord and the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies. ⁸For he saide, Surely they are my people, children that wil not lie: so he was their Sauour. ⁹In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually. ¹⁰But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemie and he fought against them. ¹¹Then he remembred the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with the shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him? ¹²He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name. ¹³Hee led them through the deepe, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble, ¹⁴As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirite of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name. ¹⁵Looke downe from heauen, and

 of thine holines, and of thy glory.
 Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions?
 they are restrained from me.
¹⁶Doutles thou art our Father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel knowe vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer. ¹⁷O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance. ¹⁸The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it, but a litle while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie. ¹⁹We haue bene as they, ouer whome thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

CHAPTER 64

¹Oh, that thou wouldest breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence! ²As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence. ³When thou diddest terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence. ⁴For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstande with the eare, neither hath ye eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him. ⁵Thou diddest meete him, that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy wayes: beholde, thou art angrie, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be sau'd. ⁶But we haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and all our righteousnes is as filthie cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away. ⁷And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities. ⁸But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands. ⁹Be not angry, O Lord, aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: lo, we beseech thee beholde, we are all thy people. ¹⁰Thine holy cities lye waste: Zion is a wildernes, and Ierusalem a desert. ¹¹The House of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, where our fathers prayed thee, is burnt vp with fire and all our pleasant things are wasted. ¹²Wilt thou holde thy selfe still at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

¹I haue bene sought of them that asked not: I was found of them that sought me not: I sayd, Beholde me, beholde me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name. ²I haue spread out mine handes all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne imaginations: ³A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon bricke. ⁴Which remaine among the graues, and lodge in the desarts, which eate swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels. ⁵Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath and a fire that burneth all the day. ⁶Beholde, it is written before me: I wil not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome. ⁷Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shalbe together (sayth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome. ⁸Thus sayth the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one sayth, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole. ⁹But I will bring a seede out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherit my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherit it, and my seruants shall dwell there. ¹⁰And Sharon shalbe a sheepefolde, and the valley of Achor shalbe a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me. ¹¹But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

¹²Therefore wil I number you to the sword, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answe: I spake, and ye heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

¹³Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shall eate, and ye shalbe hungrie: beholde, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed. ¹⁴Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioye of heart, and ye shall crye for sorow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde. ¹⁵And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you and call his seruants by another name. ¹⁶He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselues from mine eyes. ¹⁷For lo, I will create newe heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde.

¹⁸But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for beholde, I will create Ierusalem, as a reioycing and her people as a ioye, ¹⁹And I wil reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioye in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

²⁰There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath not filled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundreth yeeres old, shall dye as a yong man: but the sinner being an hundreth yeeres olde shall be accursed. ²¹And they shall build houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruite of them. ²²They shall not build, and another inhabite: they shall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall inioye in olde age the worke of their handes. ²³They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them. ²⁴Yea, before they call, I will answere, and whiles they speake, I will heare. ²⁵The wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord.

¹Thus saith the Lord, The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footestool: where is that house that ye will builde vnto me? and where is that place of my rest? ²For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things haue bene, sayth the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him, that is poore, and of a contrite spirite and trembleth at my wordes. ³He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he slewe a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule deliteth in their abominations. ⁴Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none woulde answere: I spake and they woulde not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not. ⁵Heare the worde of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his worde, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed. ⁶A voyce soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully. ⁷Before she trauailed, she brought forth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe. ⁸Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall ye earth be brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children. ⁹Shall I cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be baren, saith thy God? ¹⁰Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, and be gladde with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her, ¹¹That ye may sucke and be satisfied with the brestes of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delited with ye brightnes of her glorie. ¹²For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glorie of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees. ¹³As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem. ¹⁴And when ye see this, your hearts shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies. ¹⁵For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlwinde, that he may recompence his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire. ¹⁶For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sworde all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many. ¹⁷They that sanctifie themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shall be consumed together, sayeth the Lord. ¹⁸For I will visite their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glorie. ¹⁹And I will set a signe among them, and will send those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Tarshish, Pul, and Lud, and to them that drawe the bowe, to Tubal and Tauan, yles afarre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glorie, and they shall declare my glorie among the Gentiles. ²⁰And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon horses, and in charets, and in horse litters, and vpon mules, and swift beastes, to Ierusalem mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel, offer in a cleane vessell in the House of the Lord. ²¹And I will take of them for Priestes, and for Levites, saith the Lord. ²²For as the newe heauens, and the newe earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seede and your name continue. ²³And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord. ²⁴And they shall goe forth, and looke vpon the carkases of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their worme shall not dye, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring vnto all flesh.

¹The wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at Anathoth in the lande of Beniamin. ²To whom the worde of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne: ³And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah

King of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift moneth. ⁴Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁵Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations. ⁶Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe. ⁷But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speake. ⁸Be not afraide of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord. ⁹Then the Lord stretched out his hand and touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth. ¹⁰Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroye and throwe downe, to builde, and to plant. ¹¹After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a rod of an almonde tree. ¹²Then saide the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my worde to performe it. ¹³Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I saide, I see a seething pot looking out of the North. ¹⁴Then saide the Lord vnto me, Out of the North shall a plague be spred vpon all the inhabitants of the land. ¹⁵For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all the cities of Iudah. ¹⁶And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne handes. ¹⁷Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commaund thee: be not afraide of their faces, lest I destroy thee before them. ¹⁸For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole lande, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof and against the people of the lande. ¹⁹For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayth the Lord.

¹Moreover, the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, I remember thee, with the kindenes of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes in a lande that was not sownen. ³Israel was as a thing halowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they that eat it, shall offend: euil shall come vpon them, saith the Lord. ⁴Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel. ⁵Thus sayeth the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in mee, that they are gone farre from mee, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become vaine? ⁶For they saide not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the lande of Egypt? that led vs through the wilderness, through a desert, and waste land, through a drie land, and by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt? ⁷And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eat the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when yee entred, yee defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination. ⁸The priests said not, Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the Lawe, knewe me not: the pastours also offended against me, and the Prophets prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profite. ⁹Wherefore I wil yet plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will pleade with your childrens children. ¹⁰For goe ye to the yles of Chittim, and beholde, and sende vnto Kedar. and take diligent heede, and see whether there be such things. ¹¹Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue chaged their glorie, for that which doeth not profite. ¹²O yee heauens, be astonied at this: bee afraid and vtterly confounded, sayeth the Lord. ¹³For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken mee the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pittes, euen broken pittes, that can holde no water. ¹⁴Is Israel a seruaunt, or is hee borne in the house? why then is he spoiled? ¹⁵The lions roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without an inhabitant. ¹⁶Also the children of Noph and Tahapanes haue broken thine head. ¹⁷Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way? ¹⁸And what hast thou now to do in the way of Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of the Riuer? ¹⁹Thine owne wickednes shall correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprocue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, sayeth the Lord God of hostes. ²⁰For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bondes, and thou saidest, I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon al hie hilles, and vnder all greene trees. ²¹Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whose plants were all natural: howe then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine? ²²Though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, sayeth the Lord God. ²³Howe canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim?

 beholde thy waies in the valley, and know, what thou hast done:
 thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his waies. ²⁴And as a wilde asse, vsed to the wilderness, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but wil finde her in her moneth. ²⁵Keepe thou thy feete from barenes, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saidest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

²⁶As the theefe is ashamed, when he is foud, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes and their Priests, and their Prophets, ²⁷Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their back vnto me, and not their face: but in ye time of their trouble they wil say, Arise, and help vs. ²⁸But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the nomber of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah. ²⁹Wherefore wil ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled against me, sayeth the Lord. ³⁰I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne sworde hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon. ³¹O generation, take heede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israel? or a lande of darkenesse? Wherefore sayeth my people then, We are lordes, we will come no more vnto thee?

³²Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, daies without number. ³³Why doest thou prepare thy way, to seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy waies are wickednesse. ³⁴Also in thy wings is founde the bloud of the soules of ye poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places. ³⁵Yet thou saiest, Because I am giltles, surely his wrath shall turne from mee: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned. ³⁶Why runnest thou about so much to change thy waies? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Asshur. ³⁷For thou shalt goe foorth from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

¹They say, If a man put away his wife, and she goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee

returne againe vnto her? shall not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many louers: yet turne againe to mee, sayeth the Lord. ²Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and beholde, where thou hast not plaid the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waies, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the lande with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice. ³Therefore the showres haue beene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou haddest a whores forehead: thou wouldest not bee ashamed. ⁴Diddest thou not stil crie vnto me, 'Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?' ⁵Wil he keepe his anger for euer? will he reserue it to the ende? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more. ⁶The Lord saide also vnto me, in the daies of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there plaid the harlot. ⁷And I sayde, when shee had done all this, 'Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah sawe. ⁸When I sawe, howe that by all occasions rebellious Israel had plaied the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraied, but shee went also, and plaied the harlot. ⁹So that for the lightnesse of her whoredome shee hath euen defiled the lande: for shee hath committed fornication with stones and stockes. ¹⁰Neuerthelesse for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with her whole heart, but fainedly, sayth the Lord. ¹¹And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah. ¹²Goe and crie these woordes toward the North and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayeth the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayeth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger. ¹³But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy waies to the straunge gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee woulde not obey my voyce, sayeth the Lord. ¹⁴O yee disobedient children, turne againe, sayeth the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and wil bring you to Zion, ¹⁵And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding. ¹⁶Moreouer, when yee be increased and multiplied in the land, in those daies, saieth the Lord, they shall say no more, The Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, for that shalbe no more done. ¹⁷At that time they shall cal Ierusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thence foorth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart. ¹⁸In those daies ye house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the North, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an

¹⁹But I sayde, Howe did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and saide, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me? ²⁰But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue yee rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord. ²¹A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God. ²²O yee disobedient children, returne and I wil heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God. ²³Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel. ²⁴For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth their sheepe and their bullocks, their sonnes and their daughters. ²⁵Wee lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

¹O Israel, if thou returne, returne vnto me, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue. ²And thou shalt sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him. ³For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem, ⁴Breake vp your fallowe ground, and sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come foorth like fire, and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions. ⁵Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the lande: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs

goe into strong cities. ⁶Set vp the standart in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction. ⁷The lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant. ⁸Wherefore girde you with sackcloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs. ⁹And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priestes shall be astonished, and the Prophets shall wonder. ¹⁰Then saide I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sworde perceth vnto the heart. ¹¹At that time shall it bee saide to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry winde in the hie places of the wildernes commeth towarde ye daughter of my people, but neither to fanne nor to clense. ¹²A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those places, and nowe will I also giue sentence vpon them. ¹³Beholde, he shall come vp as the cloudes, and his charets shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Woe vnto vs, for wee are destroyed. ¹⁴O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou maiest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughtes remaine within thee? ¹⁵For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim. ¹⁶Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and crie out against the cities of Iudah. ¹⁷They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the fiede, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord. ¹⁸Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall perce vnto thine heart. ¹⁹My bely, my bely, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sounde of the trumpet,

²⁰Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole lande is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment. ²¹Howe long shall I see the standert, and heare the sounde of the trumpet? ²²For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge. ²³I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and voide: and to the heauens, and they had no light. ²⁴I behelde the mountaines: and loe, they trembled and all the hilles shooke. ²⁵I behelde, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed. ²⁶I behelde, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath. ²⁷For thus hath the Lord saide, The whole lande shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full ende. ²⁸Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it. ²⁹The whole citie shall flee, for the noyse of the horsemen and bowemen: they shall goe into thicketts, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein. ³⁰And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clothest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life. ³¹For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her handes: woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

¹Run to and from by the streetes of Ierusalem, and beholde now, and knowe, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I will spare it. ²For though they say, The Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsely. ³O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the trueth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne. ⁴Therefore I saide, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God. ⁵I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes. ⁶Wherefore a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased. ⁷Howe should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled them selues by companies in the harlots houses. ⁸They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man neyed after his neighbours wife. ⁹Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? ¹⁰Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full ende: take away their batilments, for they are not the Lords. ¹¹For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against me, saith the Lord. ¹²They haue denied the Lord, and saide, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sworde nor famine. ¹³And the Prophetes shall be as winde, and the worde is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them. ¹⁴Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, beholde, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

¹⁵Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

¹⁶Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

¹⁷And they shall eat thine haruest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eat vp thy sheepe and thy bullocks: they shall eat thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sworde thy fenced cities, wherein thou didest trust. ¹⁸Neuerthelesse at those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will not make a full ende of you. ¹⁹And when ye shall say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours. ²⁰Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, ²¹Heare nowe this, O foolish people, and without

vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not. ²²Feare ye not me, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afraide at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it? ²³But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone. ²⁴For they say not in their heart, Let vs nowe feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the haruest. ²⁵Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you. ²⁶For among my people are founde wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit, to catch men. ²⁷As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceite: thereby they are become great and waxen riche. ²⁸They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore. ²⁹Shall I not visite for these things, sayth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? ³⁰An horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land. ³¹The Prophets prophesie lies, and ye Priests receiue giftes in their handes, and my people delite therein. What will ye then doe in the ende thereof?

¹O ye children of Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blowe the trumpet in Tekoa: set vp a standart vpon Beth-haccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction. ²I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautifull and daintie woman. ³The pastors with their flockes shall come vnto her: they shall pitche their tentes rounde about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place. ⁴Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out. ⁵Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces. ⁶For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mounte against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the middes of it. ⁷As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me with sorowe and strokes. ⁸Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth. ⁹Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hande as the grape gatherer into the baskets. ¹⁰Vnto whome shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? beholde, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: beholde, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no delite in it. ¹¹Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of daies. ¹²And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hande vpon the inhabitants of the land, sayeth the Lord. ¹³For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely. ¹⁴They haue healed also ye hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete woordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. ¹⁵Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither coulde they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, sayth the Lord. ¹⁶Thus sayeth the Lord, Stande in the waies and beholde, and aske for the olde way, which is the good way and walke therein, and yee shall finde rest for your soules: but they saide, We will not walke therein. ¹⁷Also I set watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heede. ¹⁸Heare therefore, yee Gentiles, and thou Congregation knowe, what is among them. ¹⁹Heare, O earth, beholde, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my woordes, nor to my Lawe, but cast it off. ²⁰To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me. ²¹Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I will laie stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friende shall perish. ²²Thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, a people commeth from the North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth. ²³With bowe and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion. ²⁴We haue heard their fame, and our handes waxe feeble sorrowe is come vpon vs, as the sorrowe of a woman in trauaile. ²⁵Goe not foorth into the fielde, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemye and feare is on euery side. ²⁶O daughter of my people, girde thee with sackcloth, and wallowe thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs. ²⁷I haue set thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou maiest knowe and trie their waies. ²⁸They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are brasse, and yron, they all are destroyers. ²⁹The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away. ³⁰They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

¹The woordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, ²Stand in the gate of the Lordes house and crie this worde there, and say, Heare the worde of the Lord, all yee of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord. ³Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Amend your waies and your woorkes, and I will let you dwell in this place. ⁴Trust not in lying woordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord. ⁵For if you amende and redresse your waies and your woorkes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour, ⁶And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction, ⁷Then will I let you dwell in this place in the lande that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer. ⁸Beholde, you trust in lying woordes, that can not profite. ⁹Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsely and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whome yee knowe not? ¹⁰And come and stande before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and saye, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations? ¹¹Is this House become a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Beholde, euen I see it, sayeth the Lord. ¹²But go ye nowe vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel. ¹³Therefore nowe because yee haue done all these woorkes, sayeth the Lord, (and I rose vp earely and spake vnto you: but when I spake, yee would not heare me, neither when I called, would yee answeare). ¹⁴Therefore will I do vnto this House, wherupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo. ¹⁵And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim. ¹⁶Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or praier for them neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee. ¹⁷Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem? ¹⁸The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knede the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger. ¹⁹Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayeth the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces? ²⁰Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the fielde, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not bee quenched. ²¹Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh. ²²For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and sacrifices. ²³But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shalbe my people: and walke yee in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you. ²⁴But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbernesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward. ²⁵Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the lande of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you al my seruants the Prophets, rising vp earely every day, and sending them. ²⁶Yet would they not heare me nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worse then their fathers. ²⁷Therefore shalt thou speake al these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answere thee. ²⁸But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth. ²⁹Cut off thine heare, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath. ³⁰For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it. ³¹And they haue built the hie place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart. ³²Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth til there be no place. ³³And ye carkeises of this people shalbe meat for the foules of the heauen and for the beastes of the earth, and none shall fraie them away. ³⁴Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrom and the voice of the bride: for the lande shalbe desolate.

¹At that time, sayeth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priests and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues. ²And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the host of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, and whome they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as dounge vpon the earth. ³And death shall bee desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ⁴Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayeth the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

⁵Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to deceit, and would not returne. ⁶I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell. ⁷Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord. ⁸Howe doe yee say, Wee are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainly in vaine made hee it, the penne of the scribes is in vaine. ⁹The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken. loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them? ¹⁰Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fieldes to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely. ¹¹For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete woordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. ¹²Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither coude they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, sayeth the Lord. ¹³I wil surely consume them, sayth the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them. ¹⁴Why doe we stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord. ¹⁵We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles. ¹⁶The neying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole lande trembled at the noyse of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and those that dwell therein. ¹⁷For beholde, I will sende serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, sayth the Lord. ¹⁸I would haue comforted my selfe against sorowe, but mine heart is heauie in me. ¹⁹Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? Why haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god? ²⁰The haruest is past, the sommer is ended, and we are not holpen. ²¹I am sore vexed for the hurt of ye daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me. ²²Is there no balme at Gilead? is there no Physition there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered.

¹Oh, that mine head were full of water and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slayne of the daughter of my people. ²Oh, that I had in the wildernes a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels, ³And they bende their tongues like their bowes for lyes: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen mee, sayth the Lord. ⁴Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceite, and euery friend will deale deceitfully, ⁵And euery one wil deceiue his friende, and wil not speake the trueth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paynes to do wickedly. ⁶Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, sayth the Lord. ⁷Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I wil melt them, and trie them: for what should I els do for the daughter of my people? ⁸Their tongue is as an arow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart hee layeth waite for him. ⁹Shal I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? ¹⁰Vpon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the fayre places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe through them, neyther can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone. ¹¹And I wil make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant. ¹²Who is wise, to vnderstande this? and to whome the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passeth through? ¹³And the Lord sayeth, Because they haue forsaken my Lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voice, neither walked thereafter, ¹⁴But haue walked after the stubbernesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them, ¹⁵Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

¹⁶I wil scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I will send a sworde after them, til I haue consumed them.

¹⁷Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women that they may come, ¹⁸And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares and our eye liddes gush out of water. ¹⁹For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, Howe are we destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

²⁰Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament. ²¹For death is come vp into our windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streetes.

²²Speake, thus sayth the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lye, euen as the dounge vpon the fiede, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them. ²³Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neyther the riche man glorie in his riches.

²⁴But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which shewe mercie, iudgement, and righteousnes in the earth: for in these things I delite, sayth the Lord. ²⁵Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil visite all them, which are circumcised with the vncircumcised: ²⁶Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and al the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

¹Heare ye the worde of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel. ²Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such. ³For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the handes of the carpenter) with the axe, ⁴And another decketh it with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not. ⁵The idoles stande vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go feare them not, for they cannot do euill, neither can they do good. ⁶There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy name is great in power. ⁷Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in al their kingdomes there is none like thee. ⁸But, altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie. ⁹Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and golde from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the handes of the founder: the blewe silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men. ¹⁰But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath. ¹¹(Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens) ¹²He hath made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion. ¹³Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to rayne, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures. ¹⁴Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein. ¹⁵They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. ¹⁶The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name. ¹⁷Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place. ¹⁸For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, at this time I will throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so. ¹⁹Wo is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorow, and I will beare it. ²⁰My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coardes are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines. ²¹For the Pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered. ²²Beholde, the noyse of the brute is come, and a great commotion out of the North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons. ²³O Lord, I knowe, that the way of man is not in himselfe, neyther is it in man to walke and to direct his steps. ²⁴O Lord, correct mee, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring mee to nothing. ²⁵Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob and deuoured him and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

¹The worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, ²Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, ³And say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant, ⁴Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from the yron fornace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commande you:

so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God, ⁵That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a lande, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I and sayde, So be it, O Lord. ⁶Then the Lord saide vnto me, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare yee the words of this couenant, and doe them. ⁷For I haue protested vnto your fathers, whe I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce. ⁸Neuerthesse they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbrenesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did it not. ⁹And the Lord sayd vnto me, A conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem. ¹⁰They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers. ¹¹Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they cry vnto me, I will not heare them. ¹²Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto whome they offer incense, but they shall not bee able to helpe them in time of their trouble. ¹³For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue yee set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal. ¹⁴Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto mee in their trouble, I will not heare them. ¹⁵What shoulde my beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with manie? and the holy flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest. ¹⁶The Lord called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with noyse and great tumult he hath set fyre vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

¹⁷For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal. ¹⁸And the Lord hath taught me, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst mee their practises. ¹⁹But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the lande of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memory. ²⁰But O Lord of hostes, that iudget righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause. ²¹The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth,

(that seeke thy life, and say, Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands) ²²Thus therefore sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine, ²³And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

¹O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let mee talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse? ²Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruite: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their reines. ³But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter. ⁴Howe long shall the lande mourne, and the herbes of euery field wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beastes are consumed and the birdes, because they sayd, He wil not see our last ende. ⁵If thou hast runne with the footemen and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable lande, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iorden? ⁶For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, though they speake faire to thee. ⁷I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies. ⁸Mine heritage is vnto mee, as a lion in the forest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it. ⁹Shall mine heritage bee vnto mee, as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all ye beastes of the field, come to eate her? ¹⁰Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyarde, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness. ¹¹They haue layde it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole lande lyeth waste, because no man setteth his minde on it. ¹²The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for the sworde of the Lord shall deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shall haue peace. ¹³They haue sown wheate, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of your fruites, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord. ¹⁴Thus sayeth the Lord against all mine euill neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their lande, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them. ¹⁵And after that I haue plucked them out, I will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land. ¹⁶And if they will learne the wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the middes of my people. ¹⁷But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, sayeth the Lord.

¹Thus sayth the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water. ²So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes. ³And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, ⁴Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe towarde Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke. ⁵So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me. ⁶And after many dayes, the Lord sayde vnto mee, Arise, goe towarde Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there. ⁷Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing. ⁸Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁹Thus sayth the Lord, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem. ¹⁰This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walke after ye stubbernesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing. ¹¹For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and prayse, and glory, but they would not heare. ¹²Therefore thou shalt saye vnto them this word, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottell shalbe filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that euery bottell shalbe filled with wine? ¹³Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priestes and the Prophets and all the inhabitantes of Ierusalem with drunkennesse. ¹⁴And I wil dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, sayeth the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them. ¹⁵Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it. ¹⁶Giue glory to the Lord your God before he bring darknes, and or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you look for light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darknesse. ¹⁷But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secrete for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue. ¹⁸Say vnto the King and to the Queene, Humble yourselues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads. ¹⁹The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue. ²⁰Lift vp your eyes and beholde them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull flocke? ²¹What wilt thou saye, when hee shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaile? ²²And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discouered and thy heeles made bare. ²³Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euill. ²⁴Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde. ²⁵This is thy portion, and ye part of thy measures from me, sayth the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lyes. ²⁶Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare. ²⁷I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neiings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hils in the fieldes, and thine abominations.

Wo vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not bee made cleane? when shall it once be?

¹The worde of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the dearth. ²Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the cry of Ierusalem goeth vp. ³And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and couered their heads. ⁴For the ground was destroyed, because there was no rayne in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads. ⁵Yea, the hinde also calued in the felde, and forsooke it, because there was no grasse. ⁶And the wilde asses did stande in the hygh places, and drew in their winde like dragons their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse. ⁷O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee. ⁸O the hope of Israel, the sauour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in ye land, as one that passeth by to tary for a night? ⁹Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not. ¹⁰Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes. ¹¹Then sayd the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to do this people good. ¹²When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by the pestilence. ¹³Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sworde, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place. ¹⁴Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophecie lyes in my Name: I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart. ¹⁵Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed. ¹⁶And the people to whome these prophets doe prophecie, shalbe cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to bury them, both they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them. ¹⁷Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague. ¹⁸For if I go into the field, behold the slaine with the sworde: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring into a land that they know not. ¹⁹Hast thou vtterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble. ²⁰We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee. ²¹Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs. ²²Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

¹Then sayde the Lord vnto me, Though Moses and Samuel stode before mee, yet mine affection coulde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart. ²And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sworde, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie. ³And I wil appoint ouer them foure kindes, sayth the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the soules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy. ⁴I will scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem. ⁵Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shall go to pray for thy peace? ⁶Thou hast forsaken me, sayth the Lord, and gone backward: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting. ⁷And I wil scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes. ⁸Their widdowes are increased by mee aboue the sande of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fal vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily. ⁹Shee that hath borne seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, sayth the Lord. ¹⁰Wo is mee, my mother, that thou hast borne mee, a contentious man, and a man that striueth with the whole earth I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euery one doeth curse me. ¹¹The Lord sayd, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction. ¹²Shall the yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North? ¹³Thy substance and thy treasures wil I giue to be spoyled without gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders. ¹⁴And I wil make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you. ¹⁵O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke. ¹⁶Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did eate them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hostes. ¹⁷I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation. ¹⁸Why is mine heauines continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me as a lyar, and as waters that faile? ¹⁹Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then wil I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my worde: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them. ²⁰And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee and to deliuer thee, saith ye Lord. ²¹And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

¹The worde of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying, ²Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place. ³For thus sayeth the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land, ⁴They shall die of deathes and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shalbe as dung vpon the earth, and they shalbe consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall be meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth. ⁵For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for the: for I haue taken my peace, from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion. ⁶Both the great, and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them nor cut themselues, nor make themselues balde for them. ⁷They shall not stretch out the hands for the in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother. ⁸Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke. ⁹For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of myrth, and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride. ¹⁰And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, and they shall say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God? ¹¹Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, sayth the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law, ¹²(And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euery one after the stubbernesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me) ¹³Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace. ¹⁴Behold therfore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, ¹⁵But the Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the lande of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I wil bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers. ¹⁶Behold, sayth the Lord, I wil send out many fishers, and they shall fish them, and after, will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes. ¹⁷For mine eyes are vpon al their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes. ¹⁸And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my lande, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie carions and their abominations. ¹⁹O Lord, thou art my force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited lies, and vanitie, wherein was no profite. ²⁰Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods? ²¹Beholde, therefore I will this once teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

and not inhabited. ⁷Blessed be the man, that trusteth in ye Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. ⁸For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and shall not feele when the heate commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neyther shall cease from yeelding fruit. ⁹The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboute all things, who can knowe it? ¹⁰I the Lord search the heart, and try ye reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes. ¹¹As the partryche gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his ende shall bee a foole. ¹²As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuarie. ¹³O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shalbe written in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters. ¹⁴Heale me, O Lord, and I shall bee whole: saue me, and I shall bee saued: for thou art my prayse. ¹⁵Behold, they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come nowe. ¹⁶But I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee. ¹⁷Be not terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie. ¹⁸Let them bee confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraide, but let not me be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction. ¹⁹Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe and stande in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all ye gates of Ierusalem, ²⁰And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and al Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates. ²¹Thus sayth the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem. ²²Neither cary foorth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers. ²³But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction. ²⁴Neuerthelesse if ye will heare me, sayth the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie ye Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein, ²⁵Then shall the Kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer. ²⁶And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offrings, and sacrifices, and meate offrings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of prayse into the house of the Lord. ²⁷But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

¹The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, ²Arise, and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shewe thee my words. ³Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheelles. ⁴And the vessell that he made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potter. so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it. ⁵Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁶O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, sayth the Lord? beholde, as the clay is in the potters hande, so are you in mine hande, O house of Israel. ⁷I will speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to destroy it. ⁸But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them. ⁹And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to builde it and to plant it. ¹⁰But if it do euill in my sight and heare not my voyce, I will repent of ye good that I thought to do for them. ¹¹Speake thou nowe therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith ye Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good. ¹²But they sayde desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnnesse of his wicked heart. ¹³Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such thinges? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily. ¹⁴Will a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the fielde? or shall the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken? ¹⁵Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the auncient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden, ¹⁶To make their land desolate and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head, ¹⁷I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemy: I will shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction. ¹⁸Then sayde they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuice against Ieremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his words. ¹⁹Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me. ²⁰Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for the, and to turne away thy wrath from them. ²¹Therefore, deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sword in the battell. ²²Let the crye bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete. ²³Yet Lord thou knowest al their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

¹Thus sayth the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests, ²And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shall tell thee, ³And shalt say, Heare yee the worde of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitantes of Ierusalem, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shall tingle. ⁴Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neyther they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents, ⁵And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde) ⁶Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Topheth, nor ye valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter. ⁷And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem

to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meate for ye foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the fiede. ⁸And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and hisse because of all ye plagues thereof. ⁹And I will feede the with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friende in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait. ¹⁰Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that go with thee, ¹¹And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith ye Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth till there be no place to bury. ¹²Thus will I doe vnto this place, sayth the Lord, and to the inhabitantes thereof, and I will make this citie like

Topheth. ¹³For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, because of al the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods. ¹⁴Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophecie, and he stood in the court of the Lordes house, and sayde to all the people, ¹⁵Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

¹When Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things, ²Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stockes that were in the hie gate of Benjamin which was by the House of the Lord. ³And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-missabib. ⁴For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy self, and to al thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sworde. ⁵Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and al the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hande of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel. ⁶And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friendes, to whome thou hast prophecied lyes. ⁷O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me. ⁸For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derision daily. ⁹Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his worde was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay. ¹⁰For I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery side. Declare, said they, and wee wil declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him. ¹¹But the Lord is with me like a mightie gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten. ¹²But, O Lord of hostes, that tryest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause. ¹³Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hande of the wicked. ¹⁴Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed. ¹⁵Cursed be the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him. ¹⁶And let that man be as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the showing at noone tide, ¹⁷Because he hath not slaine me, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wobe a perpetual conception. ¹⁸How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorowe, that my dayes shoulde be consumed with shame?

¹The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of

Maaseiah the Priest, saying, ²Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs. ³Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah, ⁴Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the middes of this citie. ⁵And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mighty arme, eue in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation. ⁶And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man, and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence. ⁷And after this, sayeth the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the hande of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, and into the hande of their enemies, and into the hande of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion. ⁸And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death. ⁹He that abideth in this citie, shall dye by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a pray. ¹⁰For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill and not for good, saith the Lord: it shalbe giuen into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire. ¹¹And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the worde of the Lord. ¹²O house of Daud, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hande of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of your workes.

¹³Beholde, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations? ¹⁴But I will visite you according to the fruite of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure rounde about it.

¹Thus said the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing, ²And say, Heare the worde of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Daud, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates. ³Thus saith the Lord, Execute ye iudgement and righteousnes, and deliuer the oppressed from the hande of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widowe: doe no violence, nor sheade innocent blood in this place. ⁴For if ye do this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Daud enter in by the gates of this House, and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people. ⁵But if ye will not heare these wordes, I sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this House shalbe waste. ⁶For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I wil make thee a wildernes and as cities not inhabited, ⁷And I will prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire. ⁸And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie? ⁹Then shall they answeere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them. ¹⁰Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his natie countrey. ¹¹For thus saith ye Lord, As touching Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, ¹²But he shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this lande no more. ¹³Wo vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke. ¹⁴He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make him selfe large windowes, and feeling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion. ¹⁵Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice? ¹⁶When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knewe me, saith the Lord? ¹⁷But thine eyes and thine heart are but only for thy couetousnesse, and for to sheade innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this. ¹⁸Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying,

Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

¹⁹He shalbe buried, as an asse is buried, euen drawen and cast foorth without the gates of Ierusalem.

²⁰Goe vp to Lebanon, and cry: showte in Bashan and crye by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

²¹I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidest, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

²²The wind shall feede all thy pastors, and thy louers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of al thy wickednesse.

²³Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, howe beautiful shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorowe of a woman in trauaile?

²⁴As I liue, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

²⁵And I will giue thee into the hande of them that seeke thy life, and into the hande of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, and into the hande of the Caldeans.

²⁶And I will cause them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

²⁷But to the lande, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

²⁸Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caryed away, hee and his seede, and cast out into a lande that they knowe not?

²⁹O earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord.

³⁰Thus saith the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

CHAPTER 23

¹Woe be vnto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

²Therefore thus saith the Lord

God of Israel vnto the pastors that feede my people, Yee haue scattered my flock and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your works, saith the Lord. ³And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreyes, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall growe and encrease. ⁴And I will set vp shepherdes ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraide, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord. ⁵Behold, The dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branche, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth. ⁶In his dayes Iudah shalbe saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name wherby they shall call him, The Lord our righteousness. ⁷Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypt, ⁸But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey and from all countreyes where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne lande. ⁹Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whome wine hath ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holie wordes. ¹⁰For the lande is full of adulterers, and because of othes the lande mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right. ¹¹For both the prophet and the Priest doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine House, saith the Lord. ¹²Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darknesse: they shalbe driuen foorth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord. ¹³And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre. ¹⁴I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

¹⁵Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophets, Beholde, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the lande. ¹⁶Thus sayth ye Lord of hosts, Heare not the wordes of the prophets that prophecie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. ¹⁷They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath sayde, Ye shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbernesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you. ¹⁸For who hath stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his worde and heard it? ¹⁹Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlwinde shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked. ²⁰The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue perfourmed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstande it plainely. ²¹I haue not sent these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne; I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied. ²²But if they had stande in my counsell, and had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions. ²³Am I a God at hande, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off? ²⁴Can any hide him selfe in secrete places, that I shall not see him, sayth the Lord? Do not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord? ²⁵I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed. ²⁶Howe long? Doe the prophets delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their

owne heart? ²⁷Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euerie man to his neyghbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal? ²⁸The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and hee that hath my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, sayth the Lord? ²⁹Is not my word euen like a fire, sayeth the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone? ³⁰Therefore beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steale my word euerie one from his neighbour. ³¹Beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweete tongues, and say, He saith. ³²Beholde, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord. ³³And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, saith the Lord. ³⁴And the prophet, or the Priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euerie such one, and his house. ³⁵Thus shall yee say euerie one to his neighbour, and euerie one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken? ³⁶And the burden of the Lord shall yee mention no more: for euerie mans worde shall bee his burden: for ye haue peruerted the words of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God. ³⁷Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken? ³⁸And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because yee say this word, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord, ³⁹Therefore beholde, I, euen I will vtterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, ⁴⁰And will bring an euerlasting reproche vpon you, and a perpetual shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

¹The Lord shewed me, and beholde, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caryed away captiue Ieconiah ye sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel. ²One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had verie naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill. ³Then saide the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: ye good figges verie good, and the naughtie verie naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill. ⁴Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁵Thus sayeth the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I knowe them that are caryed away captiue of Iudah to bee good, whome I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans. ⁶For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this lande, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out, ⁷And I will giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God: for they shall returne vnto mee with their whole heart. ⁸And as the naughtie figges which can not bee eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this lande, and them that dwell in the lande of Egypt: ⁹I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them. ¹⁰And I will sende the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

¹The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel: ²The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, ³From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto mee, and I haue spoken vnto you rising earely and speaking, but ye woulde not heare. ⁴And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruantes the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but yee would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey. ⁵They sayde, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the lande that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for

euere and euere. ⁶And go not after other gods to serue them and to worshippe them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you. ⁷Neuerthelesse ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked mee to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt. ⁸Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes, ⁹Beholde, I will send and take to mee all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this lande, and against the inhabitantes thereof, and against all these nations rounde about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation. ¹⁰Moreouer I will take from them the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride, the noise of the milstones, and the light of the candle. ¹¹And this whole land shalbe desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the King of Babel seuentie yeeres. ¹²And when the seuentie yeres are accomplished, I will visite the King of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation, ¹³And I will bring vpon that lande all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophesied against all nations. ¹⁴For many nations, and great Kings shall euen serue themselues of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne handes. ¹⁵For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me, Take the cuppe of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whome I sende thee, to drinke it. ¹⁶And they shall drinke, and be moued and be mad, because of the sworde that I will sende among them. ¹⁷Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me: ¹⁸Euen

Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day: ¹⁹Pharaoh also, King of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people: ²⁰And all sortes of people, and all the Kings of the lande of Vz: and all the Kings of the lande of the Philistims, and Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod: ²¹Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites, ²²And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the Kings of the Yles, that are beyonde the Sea, ²³And Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners, ²⁴And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the desert, ²⁵And all the Kings of Zimri, and all the Kings of Elam, and all the Kings of the Medes, ²⁶And all the Kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the worlde, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Sheshach shall drinke after them. ²⁷Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and bee drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I will sende among you. ²⁸But if they refuse to take the cuppe at thine hande to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Ye shall certainly drinke. ²⁹For loe, I beginne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and shoulde you goe free? Ye shall not goe quite: for I will call for a sword vpon al the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes. ³⁰Therefore prophecie thou against them al these words, and say vnto them, The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and crie aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth. ³¹The sounde shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked, to the sworde, saith the Lord. ³²Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe foorth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewinde shalbe raised vp from the coastes of the earth, ³³And the slaine of the Lord shall be at that day, from one ende of the earth, euen vnto the other ende of the earth: they shall not bee mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shalbe as the dongue vpon the ground. ³⁴Howle, ye shepherdes, and crie, and wallowe your selues in the ashes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and ye shall fall like precious vessels. ³⁵And the flight shall faile from the shepherdes, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke. ³⁶A voyce of the crye of the shepherdes, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shalbe heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture. ³⁷And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord. ³⁸He hath forsaken his couert, as the lyon: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressor, and because of ye wrath of his indignatio.

¹In the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde from the Lord, saying, ²Thus saith the Lord, Sande in the court of the Lordes House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worshippe in the Lords House, all the wordes that I commaund thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a worde backe, ³If so be they will hearken, and turne euery man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes. ⁴And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you, ⁵And to heare ye wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp earely, and sending them, and will not obey them, ⁶Then will I make this House like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth. ⁷So the Priestes, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord.

⁸Nowe when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priestes, and the prophets, and all the people tooke him, and saide, Thou shalt die the death.

⁹Why hast thou prophecied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This House shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord. ¹⁰And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the Kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the new gate of the Lords House. ¹¹Then spake the Priestes, and the prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthie to die: for he hath prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophecie against this house and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard. ¹³Therefore nowe amende your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you. ¹⁴As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right. ¹⁵But knowe ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these words in your eares. ¹⁶Then saide the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes, and to the prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God. ¹⁷Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the lande, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying, ¹⁸Michah the Morashite prophced in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to al the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a fiede, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the House shalbe as the hie places of the forest. ¹⁹Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare ye Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules. ²⁰And there was also a man that prophced in the Name of the Lord, one Vriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophced against this citie, and against this lande, according to all the wordes of Ieremiah. ²¹Nowe when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Vriah heard it, he was afraide and fled, and went into Egypt. ²²Then Iehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt. ²³And they fet Vriah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people. ²⁴But the hande of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they shoulde not giue him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

giuen it vnto whom it pleased me. ⁶But nowe I haue giuen all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beastes of the felde haue I also giuen him to serue him. ⁷And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his lande come also: then many nations and great Kinges shall serue themselues of him. ⁸And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sworde, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands. ⁹Therefore heare not your prophets nor your southsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel. ¹⁰For they prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your lande, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish. ¹¹But

the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those wil I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwel therein. ¹²I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue. ¹³Why will ye dye, thou, and thy people by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel? ¹⁴Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you. ¹⁵For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophecie vnto you. ¹⁶Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your prophets that prophecie vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the house of the Lord shall nowe shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophecie a lie vnto you. ¹⁷Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore shoulde this citie be desolate? ¹⁸But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel. ¹⁹For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie, ²⁰Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when he caryed away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem. ²¹For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, ²²They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntil the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

¹And that same yeere in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to mee in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said, ²Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel. ³Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel. ⁴And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel. ⁵Then the Prophet Ieremiah saide vnto the Prophet Hananiah in the presence of ye Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stooode in the House of the Lord. ⁶Euen the Prophet Ieremiah sayde, So bee it: the Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lordes House, and al that is caried captiue, from Babel, into this place. ⁷But heare thou now this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people. ⁸The Prophets that haue beene before mee and before thee in time past, prophecied against many countreyes, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence. ⁹And the Prophet which prophecietieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowen that the Lord hath truely sent him. ¹⁰Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it. ¹¹And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will

I breake the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, from the necke of al nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

¹²Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, ¹³Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron. ¹⁴For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the field also. ¹⁵Then sayd the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare nowe Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye. ¹⁶Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will cast thee from of the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord. ¹⁷So Hananiah the Prophet died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

¹Now these are the wordes of the booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priestes, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whome Nebuchadnezzar had caryed away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel: ²(After that Ieconiah the King, and the Queene, and the eunuches, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem) ³By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel) saying, ⁴Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue caused to be caryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel: ⁵Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate

the fruites of them. ⁶Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may bee increased there, and not diminished. ⁷And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caried away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace. ⁸For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, and your southsayers that bee among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame. ⁹For they prophecie you a lie in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord. ¹⁰But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place. ¹¹For I knowe the thoughtes, that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughtes of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope.

¹²Then shall you crie vnto mee, and ye shall go and pray vnto me, and I will heare you, ¹³And ye shall seeke mee and finde mee, because ye shall seeke mee with all your heart. ¹⁴And I wil be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue. ¹⁵Because ye haue sayd, 'The Lord hath raised vs vp Prophets in Babel, ¹⁶Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Daud, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie: ¹⁷Euen thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will sende vpon them the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that cannot bee eaten, they are so naughtie. ¹⁸n/a ¹⁹Because they haue not hearde my words, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruantes the Prophetes, rising vp earely, and sending them, but yee woulde not heare, saith the Lord. ²⁰Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

²¹Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophecie lyes vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes. ²²And al they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt in the fire, ²³Because they haue committed vilenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying words in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.
²⁴Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying, ²⁵Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying,

Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying, ²⁶The Lord hath made thee Priest for Iehoiada the Priest, that yee should bee officers in the House of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stocks. ²⁷Nowe therefore why hast not thou reprobued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecietieth vnto you? ²⁸For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: buyld houses to dwell in,
 and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them. ²⁹And Zephaniah the Priest red this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.
³⁰Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, ³¹Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lye, ³²Therefore thus saith the Lord,

Behold, I wil visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: hee shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, sayth the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAPTER 30

¹The worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, ²Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke. ³For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the lande, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it. ⁴Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah. ⁵For thus saith the Lord, wee haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace. ⁶Demand now and beholde, if man trauayle with childe? wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenesse? ⁷Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it. ⁸For in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues of him. ⁹But they shall serue the Lord their God, and Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them. ¹⁰Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iakob, saith the Lord, neither be afayde, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the lande of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie and none shall make him afraide. ¹¹For I am with thee, sayth the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off. ¹²For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous. ¹³There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor help for thee. ¹⁴All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for ye multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased. ¹⁵Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee. ¹⁶Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shalbe spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed. ¹⁷For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after. ¹⁸Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iakobs tentes, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof. ¹⁹And out of them shall proceede thankesgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they shall not bee fewe: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished. ²⁰Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shall be established before me: and I will visite all that vexe them. ²¹And their noble ruler shall be of themselues, and their gouernour shall proceede from the middes of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto mee, saith the Lord? ²²And ye shall be my people, and I will bee your God. ²³Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlewinde that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked. ²⁴The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

¹At the same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people. ²Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sworde, founde grace in the wildernes: he walked before Israel to cause him to rest. ³The Lord hath appeared vnto me of old, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee. ⁴Againe I will builde thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt stil be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe foorth in the dance of them that be ioyfull. ⁵Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shall make them common. ⁶For the dayes shall come that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zion to the Lord our God. ⁷For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, and shoute for ioye among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel. ⁸Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered also: a great companie shall returne hither. ⁹They shall come weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will lead them by the riuers of water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne. ¹⁰Heare the worde of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, Hee that scattered Israel, wil gather him and wil keepe him, as a shepheard doeth his flocke. ¹¹For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hande of him, that was stronger then he. ¹²Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euen for the wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullocks: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow. ¹³Then shall ye virgine reioyce in the dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioy, and wil comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes. ¹⁴And I wil replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnesse, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord. ¹⁵Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weeping. Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not. ¹⁶Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy: ¹⁷And there is hope in thine ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders. ¹⁸I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God. ¹⁹Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth. ²⁰Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I still remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord. ²¹Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities. ²²How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man. ²³Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine. ²⁴And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke. ²⁵For I haue saciate the wearie soule, and I haue replenished euery sorrowfull soule. ²⁶Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my sleepe was sweete vnto me. ²⁷Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the seede of man and with the seede of beast. ²⁸And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so wil I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith ye Lord. ²⁹In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge. ³⁰But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge. ³¹Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, ³²Not according to ye couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord. ³³But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawe in their inward partes, and write it in their hearts, and wil be their God, and they shalbe my people. ³⁴And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more. ³⁵Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes. ³⁶If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer. ³⁷Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then wil I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

³⁸Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner. ³⁹And the line of the measure shall go foorth in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath. ⁴⁰And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shalbe holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

¹The worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar. ²For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: And Ieremiah the Prophet was shutte vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house. ³For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, 'Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the handes of the King of Babel, and he shall take it? ⁴And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shall not escape out of the hande of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the handes of the King of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beholde his face, ⁵And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntil I visit him, saith ye Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper. ⁶And Ieremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁷Beholde, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, Bye vnto thee my felde, that is in Anathoth: for the title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee to bye it. ⁸So Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, came to mee in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord. ⁹And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen shekels, and tenne pieces of siluer. ¹⁰And I writ it in the booke and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances. ¹¹So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open, ¹²And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before al the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison. ¹³And I charged Baruch before them, saying, ¹⁴Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessell, that they may continue a long time. ¹⁵For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fieldes, and vineyardes shall be possessed againe in this land. ¹⁶Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, ¹⁷Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee. ¹⁸Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great and mightie, whose Name is ye Lord of hostes, ¹⁹Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of ye sonnes of men, to giue to euerie one according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes) ²⁰Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day, ²¹And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour, ²²And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and hony, ²³And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commaundedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them. ²⁴Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it. ²⁵And thou hast sayd vnto me, O Lord God, Bye vnto thee the fiede for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans. ²⁶Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, ²⁷Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me? ²⁸Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the

Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, and he shall take it. ²⁹And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rouses they haue offred incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger. ³⁰For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord. ³¹Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight, ³²Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem. ³³And they haue turned vnto me the backe and not the face: though I taught them rising vp earely, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine, ³⁴But they set their abominations in ye house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it, ³⁵And they built the hie places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne. ³⁶And now therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, ³⁷Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely. ³⁸And they shall be my people, and I will be their God. ³⁹And I wil giue them one heart and one way that they may feare me for euer for ye wealth of them, and of their children after them. ⁴⁰And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me. ⁴¹Yea, I wil delite in them to do them good, and I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule. ⁴²For thus sayth the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them. ⁴³And the fields shalbe possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans. ⁴⁴Men shall buy fields for siluer, and make writings and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

¹Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of prison) saying, ²Thus sayth the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name. ³Call vnto me, and I will answere thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not. ⁴For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mounts, and by the sword, ⁵They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednes. ⁶Behold, I will giue it health and amendment: for I wil cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth. ⁷And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first. ⁸And I wil clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me. ⁹And it shalbe to me a name, a ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all ye good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare and tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie. ¹⁰Thus sayth the Lord, Againe there shalbe heard in this place (which ye say shalbe desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast) ¹¹The voyce of ioy and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercy endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of prayse in the House of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, sayth the Lord. ¹²Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flockes. ¹³In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, sayth the Lord. ¹⁴Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah. ¹⁵In those dayes and at that time, wil I cause the branch of righteousnesse to growe vp vnto Dauid, and he shall execute iudgement, and righteousnes in the land. ¹⁶In those dayes shall Iudah be sau'd, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousnesse. ¹⁷For thus sayth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel. ¹⁸Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meat offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually. ¹⁹And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying, ²⁰Thus sayth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season, ²¹Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers. ²²As the army of heauen can not be nombred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so wil I multiplie the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me. ²³Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying, ²⁴Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no

²⁵Thus sayth the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, ²⁶Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Daud my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

¹The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cites thereof) saying, ²Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, and tell him, Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire, ³And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde

the face of the King of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babel. ⁴Yet heare the worde of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus sayth the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not dye by the sword, ⁵But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh lorde: for I haue pronounced the worde, sayth the Lord. ⁶Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem, ⁷(When the King of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah) ⁸This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, to proclaime libertie vnto them, ⁹That euery man should let his seruant go free, and euery man his handmayde, which was an Ebrue or an Ebruesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iewe his brother. ¹⁰Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant go free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue them selues of them any more, they obeyed and let them go. ¹¹But afterwarde they repented and caused the seruants and the handmayds, whom they had let go free, to returne, and helde them in subiection as seruants and handmayds. ¹²Therefore the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, ¹³Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of seruants, saying, ¹⁴At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Ebrewe which hath bene solde vnto thee: and when he hath serued the sixe yeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares. ¹⁵And ye were nowe turned, and had done right in my sight in proclayming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before mee in the house, whereupon my Name is called. ¹⁶But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmayde, whom ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to bee vnto you as seruantes and as handmaydes. ¹⁷Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed mee, in proclayming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sworde, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth. ¹⁸And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof: ¹⁹The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the lande, which passed betweene the partes of the calfe, ²⁰I wil euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth. ²¹And Zedekiah King of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke their life, and into the hande of the King of Babels hoste, which are gone vp from you. ²²Beholde, I will commande, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

¹The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, ²Go vnto the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and

giue them wine to drinke. ³Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites, ⁴And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure. ⁵And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, and cuppes, and said vnto them, Drinke wine. ⁶But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer. ⁷Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers. ⁸Thus haue wee obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and wee drinke no wine all our dayes, neither wee, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

⁹Neither builde wee houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor fiede, nor seede, ¹⁰But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs. ¹¹But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we dwel at Ierusalem.

¹²Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

¹³Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord? ¹⁴The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising earely, and speaking, but ye would not obey me. ¹⁵I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes, rising vp earely, and sending, them, saying, Returne nowe euery man from his euill way, and amende your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwel in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey mee. ¹⁶Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me. ¹⁷Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoke vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answeare. ¹⁸And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that hee hath commanded you, ¹⁹Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

¹And in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, ²Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day. ³It may bee that the House of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euil way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes. ⁴Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke. ⁵And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and can not go into the House of the Lord. ⁶Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lordes House vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities. ⁷It may be that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people. ⁸So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House. ⁹And in the fift yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem. ¹⁰Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the new gate of the Lordes house, in the hearing of all the people. ¹¹When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, ¹²Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes. ¹³Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people. ¹⁴Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them. ¹⁵And they saide vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience. ¹⁶Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraid both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes. ¹⁷And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth? ¹⁸Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke. ¹⁹Then saide the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be. ²⁰And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour and tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare. ²¹So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stode beside the King. ²²Nowe the King sate in the winter House, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him. ²³And when Iehudi had read three, or foure sides, hee cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntil all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth. ²⁴Yet they were not afraide, nor rent their garmets, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

²⁵Neuerthelesse, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, that he would not burne ye roule: but he would not heare them.

²⁶But the King commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord hid them. ²⁷Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

²⁸Take thee againe another roule and write in it all ye former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt, ²⁹And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, 'Thus saith the Lord, 'Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the King of Babel shall certainly come and destroye this land, and shall take thence both man and beast? ³⁰Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Hee shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost. ³¹And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare. ³²Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

¹And King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah. ²But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah. ³And Zedekiah the King sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs. ⁴(Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison. ⁵Then Pharaohs hoste was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem) ⁶Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, ⁷Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land. ⁸And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire. ⁹Thus sayth the Lord, Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart. ¹⁰For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire. ¹¹When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, ¹²Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the land of Benjamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people. ¹³And when hee was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fleest to the Caldeans. ¹⁴Then sayde Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

¹⁵Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and layde him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the prison. ¹⁶When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, ¹⁷Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiah sayd, Yea: for, sayd he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel. ¹⁸Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison? ¹⁹Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land? ²⁰Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lorde the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there. ²¹Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill all the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

¹Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, ²Thus sayth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a praye, and shall liue. ³Thus sayth the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it. ⁴Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt. ⁵Then Zedekiah the King sayd, Behold, he is in your hands, for ye King can denie you nothing. ⁶Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the myre. ⁷Now when Ebed-melech ye blacke More one of ye Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the King sate in the gate of Benjamin) ⁸And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying, ⁹My lorde the King, these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie. ¹⁰Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye. ¹¹So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah. ¹²And Ebed-melech the blacke More sayde vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coards. And Ieremiah did so. ¹³So they drewe vp Ieremiah with coards and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison. ¹⁴Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entrie that is in the House of the Lord, and the King sayd vnto Ieremiah, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me. ¹⁵Then Ieremiah sayd to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me. ¹⁶So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life. ¹⁷Then sayd Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayth the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house. ¹⁸But if thou wilt not go forth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of ye Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands. ¹⁹And Zedekiah the King sayde vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer mee into their hands, and they mocke me. ²⁰But Ieremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue. ²¹But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the worde that the Lord hath shewed me. ²²And beholde, all the women that are left in the King of Iudahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe. ²³So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire. ²⁴Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die. ²⁵But if ye princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast sayde vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the King sayd vnto thee, ²⁶Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there. ²⁷Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

²⁸So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

¹In the ninth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and they besieged it. ²And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken vp. ³And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel. ⁴And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes. ⁵But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. ⁶Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudah. ⁷Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel. ⁸And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem. ⁹Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained. ¹⁰But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing in the land of

Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fieldes at the same time.

¹¹Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde, saying, ¹²Take him, and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as he shall say vnto thee.

¹³So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes: ¹⁴Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people. ¹⁵Now the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, ¹⁶Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring my wordes vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee. ¹⁷But I wil deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest. ¹⁸For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shall be for a praye vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, sayth the Lord.

¹The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde had let him goe from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel. ²And the chiefe stewarde tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place. ³Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you. ⁴And nowe beholde, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, tarie still: beholde, all the lande is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe. ⁵For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe stewarde gaue him vitales and a rewarde, and let him goe. ⁶Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the lande. ⁷Nowe when all the captaines of the hoste, which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel, ⁸Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Jonathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men. ⁹And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the lande, and serue the King of Babel, and it shall be well with you. ¹⁰As for me, Beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken. ¹¹Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, ¹²Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and sommer frutes, very much.

¹³Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, ¹⁴And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleueed them not.

¹⁵Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shoulde be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish? ¹⁶But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

¹But in the seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royall, and the princes of the King, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eate bread together in Mizpah.

²Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slewe him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the lande.

³Ishmael also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

⁴Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

⁷And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slewe them, and cast them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him. ⁸But tenne men were founde among them, that saide vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the fielde, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren. ⁹Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slayne because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had made because of Basha King of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine. ¹⁰Then Ishmael caryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites. ¹¹But when

Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, ¹²Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by ye great waters that are in Gibeon. ¹³Nowe when all the people whom Ishmael caryed away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad. ¹⁴So all the people, that Ishmael had caryed away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah. ¹⁵But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites. ¹⁶Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon: ¹⁷And they departed and dwelt in Geruth Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, ¹⁸Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael ye sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

¹Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanen the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came, ²And saide vnto Ieremiah the Prophete, Heare our prayer, we beseeche thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes doe beholde) ³That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may doe. ⁴Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto ye Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you. ⁵Then they said to Ieremiah, The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things for ye which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs. ⁶Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom we sende thee that it may be well with vs, when wee obey the voyce of the Lord our God. ⁷And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah. ⁸Then called he Iohanen the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all ye people from ye least to the most, ⁹And saide vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him, ¹⁰If ye will dwell in this land, then I wil build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you. ¹¹Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraide: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, ¹²And I will graunt you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to dwell in your owne land. ¹³But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God, ¹⁴Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell, ¹⁵(And nowe therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there) ¹⁶Then the sworde that ye feared, shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die. ¹⁷And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by ye sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them. ¹⁸For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse and a reproche, and ye shall see this place no more. ¹⁹O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day. ²⁰Surely ye dissembled in your hearts When ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto al that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it. ²¹Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you. ²²Nowe therefore, knowe certainly that ye shall die by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

¹Nowe when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto ye whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes, ²Then spake Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the proude men, saying vnto Ieremiah, 'Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, ³But Baruch ye sonne of Neriah prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and cary vs away captiues into Babel. ⁴So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the lande of Iudah. ⁵But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from al nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwel in ye land of Iudah: ⁶Euen men and women, and children, and the Kinges daughters, and euery person, that

Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, ye sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah. ⁷So they came into the lande of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes. ⁸Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, ⁹Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the claie in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tanpanhes in ye sight of the men of Iudah, ¹⁰And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his paulion ouer them. ¹¹And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appoynted for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword to the sword. ¹²And I wil kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and carie them away captiues, and he shall aray himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace. ¹³He shall breake also ye images of Bethshemesh, that is in the lande of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

¹The worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the coutry of Pathros, saying, ²Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, ³Because of their wickednes which they haue comitted, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, who they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers. ⁴Howbeit I sent vnto you all my

seruats the Prophets rising earely, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate. ⁵But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods. ⁶Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powred foorth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day. ⁷Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, childe and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine? ⁸In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the woorkes of your hands, burning incense vnto other Gods in the lande of Egypt whither yee be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth. ⁹Haue yee forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the Kings of Iudah and the wickednesse of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem? ¹⁰They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers. ¹¹Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you to euill and to destroy all Iudah, ¹²And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sworde and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sworde, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche. ¹³For I will visite them that dwel in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by ye sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, ¹⁴So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they shoulde returne into the land of Iudah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape. ¹⁵Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods and all the women that stoode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the lande of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying, ¹⁶The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, wee will not heare it of thee, ¹⁷But wee will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then had wee plentie of vitales and were well and felt none euill. ¹⁸But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sworde and by the famine. ¹⁹And when we burnt incense to ye Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands? ²⁰Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying, ²¹Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kinges, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it? ²²So that the Lord could no longer forbear, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day. ²³Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Lawe, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day. ²⁴Moreouer Ieremiah saide vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt. ²⁵Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hande, saying, We will performe our vowe that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will perfourme your vowe and doe the things that yee haue vowed. ²⁶Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwel in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, sayeth the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the lande of Egypt, saying, 'The Lord God liueth. ²⁷Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shalbe consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be vtterly destroyed. ²⁸Yet a small number that escape the sworde, shall returne out of the lande of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs. ²⁹And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, whe I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill. ³⁰Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

¹The worde that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these wordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, ²Thus sayeth the Lord

God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch, ³Thou diddest say, Wo is me now: for the Lord hath laied sorrow vnto my sorrowe: I fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest. ⁴Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord sayeth thus, Behold, that which I haue built, will I destroy, and that which I haue planted, will I plucke vp, euen this whole lande. ⁵And seekest thou great things for thy self? seeke them not: for beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon al flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life wil I giue thee for a pray in all places, whither thou goest.

¹The wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Gentiles, ²As against Egypt, against ye armie of Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah. ³Make readie buckler and shielde, and goe forth to battell. ⁴Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stande vp with your sallets, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines. ⁵Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was rounde about, sayeth the Lord. ⁶The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the North by the riuer Perath. ⁷Who is this, that commeth vp, as a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers? ⁸Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the riuers, and he sayth, I wil goe vp, and will couer the earth: I wil destroy the cite with them that dwell therein. ⁹Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come foorth, the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe. ¹⁰For this is the day of ye Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shall be saciate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the North countrey by the Riuer Perath. ¹¹Goe vp vnto Gilead, and take balme, O virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health. ¹²The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crie hath filled the lande: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together. ¹³The woorde that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, howe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shoulde come and smite the lande of Egypt. ¹⁴Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sworde shall deuoure rounde about thee. ¹⁵Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them. ¹⁶Hee made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they saide, Arise, let vs goe againe to our owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the sworde of the violent. ¹⁷They did cry there, Pharaoh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath passed the time appointed. ¹⁸As I liue, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, surely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the sea: so shall it come. ¹⁹O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant. ²⁰Egypt is like a faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth. ²¹Also her hired men are in the middes of her like fat calues: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation. ²²The voyce thereof shall goe foorth like a serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood. ²³They shall cut downe her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are moe then ye grasshoppers, and are innumerable. ²⁴The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shall be deliuered into the handes of the people of the North.

²⁵Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the common people of No and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their Kings, euen Pharaoh, and al them that trust in him, ²⁶And I will deliuer them into the handes of those, that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the handes of his seruants, and afterwarde she shall dwell as in the olde time, saith the Lord. ²⁷But feare not thou, O my seruant Iaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid. ²⁸Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

¹The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote Azzah. ²Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, waters rise vp out of the North, and shalbe as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflowe the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle, ³At the noise and stamping of ye hoofes of his strong horses, at the noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: ye fathers shall not looke backe to their children, for feeblenes of handes, ⁴Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of Caphtor. ⁵Baldenes is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. Howe long wilt thou thy selfe? ⁶O thou sword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still. ⁷Howe can it cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

¹Concerning Moab, thus saith ye Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraide. ²Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, O Madmen, and the sworde shall pursue thee. ³A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction. ⁴Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their crie to be heard. ⁵For at the going vp of Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction, ⁶Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wilderness. ⁷For because thou hast trusted in thy workes and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priestes and his princes together. ⁸And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shalbe destroyed as the Lord hath spoken. ⁹Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwell therein. ¹⁰Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood. ¹¹Moab hath bene at rest from his youth, and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him and his sent is not changed. ¹²Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carie him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels. ¹³And Moab shalbe ashamed of Chemosh as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.

¹⁴Howe thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre?

¹⁵Moab is destroyed, and his cities burnt vp, and his chose yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith ye King, whose name is ye Lord of hostes. ¹⁶The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

¹⁷All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, Howe is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

¹⁸Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holdes. ¹⁹Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

²⁰Moab is cofouded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste, ²¹And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, ²²And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, ²³And vpon

Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, ²⁴And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of ye land of Moab farre or neere.
²⁵The horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.
²⁶Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall wallowe in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision.
²⁷For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued.
²⁸O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.
²⁹We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proude) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.
³⁰I know his wrath, saith ye Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulatio, for they do not right.
³¹Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.
³²O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: ye destroyer is fallen vpon thy somer fruites, and vpon thy vintage, ³³And ioye, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull felde, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse: none shall treade with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

³⁴From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse from Zoar vnto Horonaim, ye heiffer of three yere old shall go lowing: for ye waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.
³⁵Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offered in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.
³⁶Therefore mine heart shall sounde for Moab like a shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Ker-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.
³⁷For euery head shalbe balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

mourning shall be vpon all the house toppes of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, sayeth the Lord. ³⁹They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed? howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him. ⁴⁰For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, he shall flee as an eagle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab. ⁴¹The cities are taken, and the strong holdes are wonne, and ye mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shalbe as ye heart of a woman in trauaile. ⁴²And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord. ⁴³Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord. ⁴⁴He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, sayeth the Lord. ⁴⁵They that fled, stooode vnder the shadowe of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children. ⁴⁶Wo be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie. ⁴⁷Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, sayeth the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

¹Unto the children of Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their king possessed God? and his people dwelt in his cities? ²Therefore beholde the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, sayeth the Lord. ³Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: girde you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and from by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie; and his Priestes, and his princes likewise. ⁴Wherefore gloriest thou in the valles? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me? ⁵Beholde, I will bring a feare vpon thee, sayth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scattered euery man right foorth, and none shall gather him that fleeth. ⁶And afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon. ⁷To Edom thus sayeth the Lord of hostes: Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsel perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished? ⁸Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation. ⁹If the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue ynough. ¹⁰For I haue discovered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, ¹¹Leaue thy fathers children, and I will preserue them alieue, and let thy widowes trust in me. ¹²For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it. ¹³For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayeth the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations. ¹⁴I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battell. ¹⁵For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men. ¹⁶Thy feare, and ye pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and keepest the height of ye hil: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hie as the eagle, I wil bring thee downe from thece, sayth the Lord. ¹⁷Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, ¹⁸As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saieth the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it. ¹⁹Beholde, hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stande before me? ²⁰Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them. ²¹The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red Sea. ²²Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the Egle, and spreade his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edome be as the heart of a woman in trauaile. ²³Vnto Damascus he sayeth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearefull sea that can not rest. ²⁴Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile. ²⁵How is the glorious citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy? ²⁶Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ²⁷And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall cosume the palaces of Benhadad. ²⁸Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel shall smite, thus sayeth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East. ²⁹Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselves their curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side. ³⁰Flee, get you farre off (they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you. ³¹Arise, and get you vp vnto the welthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwel alone. ³²And their camels shall be a bootie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I will scatter them into all windes, and to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from al the sides thereof, sayeth the Lord. ³³And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it. ³⁴The woordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying, ³⁵Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will breake the bowe of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength. ³⁶And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these windes, and there shall bee no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come. ³⁷For I will cause Elam to be afraied before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I wil sende the sworde after them till I haue consumed them. ³⁸And I wil set my throne in Elam, and I wil destroy both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter daies I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, sayeth the Lord.

¹The word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and cocerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet. ²Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idols are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces. ³For out of the North there commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her lande waste, and none shall dwel therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast. ⁴In those daies, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God. ⁵They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten. ⁶My people hath beene as lost sheepe: their shepherds haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from mountaine to hil, and forgotten their resting place. ⁷Al that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies saide, We offende not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers. ⁸Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the lande of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates before the flocke. ⁹For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie natioes from the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby shee shall be taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine. ¹⁰And Caldea shalbe a spoyle: all that spoyle her, shalbe satisfied, sayth the Lord. ¹¹Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fatte, as the calues in the grasse, and neied like strong horses, ¹²Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall be ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shalbe a desert, a drie land, and a wildernes. ¹³Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and hisse at all her plagues. ¹⁴Put your selues in aray against Babel rounde about: all ye that bende the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for shee hath sinned against the Lord. ¹⁵Crie against her round about: she hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her. ¹⁶Destroy the sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sieth in the time of haruest: because of the sworde of the oppressor they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land. ¹⁷Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lions haue dispersed them: first the King of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King, of Babel hath broken his bones. ¹⁸Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visit ye King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur. ¹⁹And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead. ²⁰In those daies, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be founde: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whome I reserue. ²¹Goe vp against the lande of the rebelles, euen against it, and against the inhabitantes of Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee. ²²A crie of battell is in the land, and of great destruction. ²³Howe is the hammer of the whole world destroyed, and broken! howe is Babel become desolate among the nations! ²⁴I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord. ²⁵The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in the lande of the Caldeans. ²⁶Come against her from the vtmost border: open her store houses: treade on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

²⁷Destroy all her bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation. ²⁸The voyce of them that flee, and escape out of the lande of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple. ²⁹Call vp the archers against Babel: al ye that bend the bow, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel. ³⁰Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and al her men of warre shalbe destroied in that day, sayeth the Lord. ³¹Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee. ³²And the proude shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him. ³³Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe. ³⁴But their strong redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the lande, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel. ³⁵A sworde is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men. ³⁶A sworde is vpon the soothsaiers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shalbe afraide. ³⁷A sworde is vpon their horses and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall be like women: a sworde is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoyled. ³⁸A drought is vpon her waters, and they shall be dried vp: for it is the lande of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles. ³⁹Therefore the Ziims with the Iims shall dwel there, and the ostriches shall dwel therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation. ⁴⁰As God destroyed Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein. ⁴¹Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many Kings shall be raised vp from the coastes of the earth. ⁴²They shall holde the bowe and the buckeler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel. ⁴³The King of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorowe as of a woman in trauaile. ⁴⁴Beholde, hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like me, and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the shepherd that will stande before me? ⁴⁵Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the lande of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them. ⁴⁶At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the crye is heard among the nations.

¹Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I wil raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying wind, ²And wil send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shalbe against her on euery side. ³Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste. ⁴Thus the slaine shall fall in the lande of the

Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes. ⁵For Israel hath bene no widowe, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their lande was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel. ⁶Flee out of the middes of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lordes vengeance he will render vnto her a recompence. ⁷Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the Lordes hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage. ⁸Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed. ⁹We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to ye cloudes. ¹⁰The Lord hath brought forth our righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God. ¹¹Make bright the arrowes: gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple. ¹²Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitantes of Babel. ¹³O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, euen the ende of thy couetousnes. ¹⁴The Lord of hostes hath sworne by him selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shoute against thee. ¹⁵He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion. ¹⁶Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

¹⁷Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein. ¹⁸They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. ¹⁹The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name. ²⁰Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee wil I destroy kingdomes, ²¹And by thee wil I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein. ²²By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee wil I breake olde and yong, and by thee wil I breake the yong man and the mayde. ²³I wil also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husband man and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes. ²⁴And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euil, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, sayth the Lord. ²⁵Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, sayth the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the rockes, and wil make thee a burnt mountaine. ²⁶They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, sayth the Lord. ²⁷Set vp a standard in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoynt the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers. ²⁸Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion. ²⁹And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuise of the Lord shalbe performed against Babel, to make the lande of Babel waste without an inhabitant. ³⁰The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they

haue remayned in their holdes: their strength hath fayled, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken. ³¹A post shall runne to meete the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a side thereof, ³²And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the me of war troubled. ³³For thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, the daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest shall come. ³⁴Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an emptie vessel: he swallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out. ³⁵The spoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitantes of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say. ³⁶Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will maintayne thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springes. ³⁷And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant. ³⁸They shall rore together like lions, and yell as the Lyons whelpes. ³⁹In their heate I will make them feastes, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetual sleepe, and not wake, sayth the Lord. ⁴⁰I wil bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rams and goates. ⁴¹How is Sheshach taken! and howe is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations! ⁴²The sea is come vp vpon Babel: he is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof. ⁴³Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernes, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth the sonne of man passe thereby. ⁴⁴I wil also visite Bel in Babel, and I wil bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall. ⁴⁵My people, go out of the middes of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, ⁴⁶Least your heart euen faynt, and ye feare the rumour, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other yeere shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler. ⁴⁷Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shalbe confounded, and all her slayne shall fall in the middes of her. ⁴⁸Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord. ⁴⁹As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fal, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall. ⁵⁰Ye that haue escaped the sworde, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord a farre of, and let Ierusalem come into your minde. ⁵¹Wee are confounded because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for straungers are come into the

Sanctuaries of the Lordes House. ⁵²Wherefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone. ⁵³Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on hye, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, sayth the Lord. ⁵⁴A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, ⁵⁵Because the Lord hath layde Babel waste and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sounde was made by their noyse: ⁵⁶Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence. ⁵⁷And I will make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes. ⁵⁸Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her hie gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in ye fire, for they shalbe weary. ⁵⁹The worde which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of Neriiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince. ⁶⁰So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen al these things, that are written against Babel. ⁶¹And Ieremiah sayd to Sheraiah, Whe thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes, ⁶²Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer. ⁶³And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates, ⁶⁴And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euil, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be weary. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

¹Zedekiah was one and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah. ²And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done. ³Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel. ⁴But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and buylt fortes against it round about. ⁵So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah. ⁶Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in ye citie, so that there was no more bread for ye people of the land. ⁷Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes. ⁸But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him. ⁹Then they tooke the king and caryed him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. ¹⁰And the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes he slew also al ye princes of Iudah in Riblah. ¹¹Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in pryson till the day of his death. ¹²Now in the fift moneth in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of ye King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which stode before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, ¹³And burnt the House of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire. ¹⁴And al the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all ye walles of Ierusalem round about. ¹⁵Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remayned in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude. ¹⁶But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to dresse the vines, and to till the land. ¹⁷Also the pillars of brasse that were in the House of the Lord, and the bases, and the brassen Sea, that was in the house of ye Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel. ¹⁸The pots also and the besomes, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away. ¹⁹And the bowles, and the ashpannes, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlestickes, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, and all that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away, ²⁰With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in ye house of ye Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without weight. ²¹And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eightene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was holowe. ²²And a chapter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapters round about, all of brasse: the seconde pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these. ²³And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an hundreth round about. ²⁴And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the seconde Priest, and the three keepers of the doore. ²⁵Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and seuen men that were in the Kings presence, which were founde in the citie, and Sopher captayne of the hoste who mustered the people of the lande, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the citie. ²⁶Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah. ²⁷And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the lande of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land. ²⁸This is the people, whome Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the seuenth yeere, euen three thousande Iewes, and three and twentie. ²⁹In the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two persons. ³⁰In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and five persons: all the persons were foure thousand and sixe hundreth. ³¹And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the five and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach King of Babel, in the first yeere of his reigne, lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, and brought him out of pryson, ³²And spake kindly vnto him, and set his throne about the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, ³³And changed his pryson garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life. ³⁴His porcion was a continuall portion giuen him of ye king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

LAMENTATIONS

¹Howe doeth the citie remaine solitarie that was full of people? she is as a widowe: she that was great among the nations, and princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie. ²She weepeth continually in the night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friendes haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies. ³Iudah is caried away captiue because of affliction, and because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites. ⁴The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in heauinesse. ⁵Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemy. ⁶And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer. ⁷Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people fell into the hande of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mocke at her Sabbaths. ⁸Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore shee is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward. ⁹Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemie is proud. ¹⁰The enemie hath stretched out his hande vpon al her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom thou diddest commande, that they shoulde not enter into thy Church. ¹¹All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant thinges for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile. ¹²Haue ye no regarde, all yee that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto mee, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath. ¹³From aboue hath hee sent fire into my bones, which preuaile against them: he hath spred a net for my feete, and turned me backe: hee hath made me desolate, and daily in heauinesse. ¹⁴The yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp. ¹⁵The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah. ¹⁶For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed. ¹⁷Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appoynted the enemies of Iacob rounde about him: Ierusalem is as a menstruous woman in the middes of them. ¹⁸The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorowe: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie. ¹⁹I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the citie while they sought their meate to refresh their soules. ²⁰Behold, O Lord, howe I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am ful of heauinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home. ²¹They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me. ²²Let all their wickednes come before thee: do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heavy.

and hath cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his footestoole in the day of his wrath! ²The Lord hath destroyed al the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: he hath thrown downe in his wrath ye strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast the downe to ye ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof. ³Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the horne of Israel: he hath drawen backe his right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured rounde about. ⁴He hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe al that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire. ⁵The Lord was as an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: hee hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning. ⁶For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbathes to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest. ⁷The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giue into the hand of the enemy the walles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie. ⁸The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a lyne: hee hath not withdrawen his hande from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together. ⁹Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord. ¹⁰The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue girded them selues with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground. ¹¹Mine eyes doe saile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings swoone in the streetes of the cite. ¹²They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the cite, and whe they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome. ¹³What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like ye sea: who can heale thee? ¹⁴Thy Prophets haue looked out vayne, and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophesies, and causes of banishment. ¹⁵All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioye of the whole earth?

¹⁶All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnashe the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue founde and seene it. ¹⁷The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemy to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries. ¹⁸Their heart cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease. ¹⁹Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine handes toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes. ²⁰Beholde, O Lord, and consider to whome thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruite, and children of a spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord? ²¹The yong and the olde lie on the ground in the streetes: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sworde: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared. ²²Thou hast called as in a solemne daye my terrours rounde about, so that in the day of the Lordes wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

¹I am the man, that hath seene affliction in the rod of his indignation. ²He hath ledde mee, and brought me into darkenes, but not to light. ³Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day. ⁴My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe olde, and he hath broken my bones. ⁵He hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour. ⁶He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for

eu. ⁷He hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauy. ⁸Also when I cry and showte, hee shutteth out my prayer. ⁹He hath stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths. ¹⁰He was vnto me as a beare lying in waite, and as a Lion in secret places. ¹¹He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate. ¹²He hath bent his bow and made me a marke for the arrow. ¹³Hee caused the arrowes of his quier to enter into my reines. ¹⁴I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day. ¹⁵He hath filled me with bitternes, and made me drunken with wormewood. ¹⁶He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes. ¹⁷Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, ¹⁸And I saide, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord, ¹⁹Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall. ²⁰My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me. ²¹I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope. ²²It is the Lordes mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not. ²³They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness. ²⁴The Lord is my portion, sayth my soule: therefore wil I hope in him. ²⁵The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him. ²⁶It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord. ²⁷It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his youth. ²⁸He sitteth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him. ²⁹He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope. ³⁰Hee giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches. ³¹For the Lord will not forsake for eu. ³²But though he sende affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies. ³³For he doeth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men, ³⁴In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth, ³⁵In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most high,

³⁶In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not. ³⁷Who is he then that sayth, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not? ³⁸Out of the mouth of the most high proceedeth not euill and good? ³⁹Wherefore then is the liuing man sorowfull? man suffreth for his sinne. ⁴⁰Let vs search and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord. ⁴¹Let vs lift vp our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens. ⁴²We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared. ⁴³Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared. ⁴⁴Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through. ⁴⁵Thou hast made vs as the ofscouring and refuse in the middes of the people. ⁴⁶All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs. ⁴⁷Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with desolation and destruction. ⁴⁸Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people. ⁴⁹Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not,

⁵⁰Till the Lord looke downe, and beholde from heauen. ⁵¹Mine eye breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie. ⁵²Mine enemies chased me sore like a birde, without cause. ⁵³They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me. ⁵⁴Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed. ⁵⁵I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon. ⁵⁶Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh and from my cry. ⁵⁷Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, Feare not. ⁵⁸O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, and hast redeemed my life. ⁵⁹O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause. ⁶⁰Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me. ⁶¹Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me: ⁶²The lippes also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually. ⁶³Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their song. ⁶⁴Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their handes. ⁶⁵Giue them sorow of heart, euen thy curse to them. ⁶⁶Persecute with wrath and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

¹How is the golde become so dimme? the most fine golde is changed, and the stones of the Sanctuarie are scattered in the corner of euery streete. ²The noble men of Zion coparable to fine golde, howe are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, euen the worke of the handes of the potter! ³Euen the dragons draw out the breastes, and giue sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the ostriches in the wilderness. ⁴The tongue of the sucking childe cleaueth to the roofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them. ⁵They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they that were brought vp in skarlet, embrace the dongue. ⁶For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodom, that was destroyed as in a moment, and none pitched camps against her. ⁷Her Nazarites were purer then the snowe, and whiter then ye milke: they were more ruddie in bodie, then the redde precious stones; they were like polished saphir. ⁸Nowe their visage is blacker then a cole: they can not knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke. ⁹They that be slaine with the sword are better, then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken through for the fruites of the field. ¹⁰The hands of the pitifull women haue sodden their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people. ¹¹The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof. ¹²The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleued that the aduersarie and the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem: ¹³For the sinnes of her Prophets, and the iniquities of her Priests, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of her.

¹⁴They haue wandred as blinde men in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments.

¹⁵But they cried vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue sayd among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

¹⁶The anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priestes, nor had compassion of the Elders.

¹⁷Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that could not saue vs. ¹⁸They hunt our steppes that we cannot goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come. ¹⁹Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and layed waite for vs in the wildernes. ²⁰The breath of our nostrils, the Anoynted of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whome we sayde, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued alieue among the heathen.

²¹Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the lande of Vz, the cuppe also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken and vomit. ²²Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he will no more carie thee away into captiuitie, but he will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he wil discover thy sinnes.

¹Remember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider, and behold our reproche. ²Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants. ³We are fatherles, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes. ⁴Wee haue drunke our water for money, and our wood is solde vnto vs. ⁵Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are wearie, and haue no rest. ⁶We

haue giuen our handes to the Egyptians, and to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread. ⁷Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities. ⁸Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands. ⁹Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wilderness. ¹⁰Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine. ¹¹They defiled the women in Zion, and the maydes in the cities of Iudah. ¹²The princes are hanged vp by their hande: the faces of the elders were not had in honour. ¹³They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder the wood. ¹⁴The Elders haue ceased from the gate and the yong men from their songs. ¹⁵The ioy of our heart is gone, our daunce is turned into mourning. ¹⁶The crowne of our head is fallen: wo nowe vnto vs, that we haue sinned. ¹⁷Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, our eyes are dimme, ¹⁸Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it. ¹⁹But thou, O Lord, remainest for euer: thy throne is from generation to generation. ²⁰Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time? ²¹Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde. ²²But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

EZEKIEL

¹It came to passe in the thirtieth yere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuier Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I sawe visions of GOD. ²In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Ioiachins captiuitie) ³The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Caldeans, by the riuier Chebar, where the hande of the Lord was vpon him. ⁴And I looked, and beholde, a whirlwinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likenesse of amber. ⁵Also out of the middes therof came the likenesse of foure beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man. ⁶And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings. ⁷And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse. ⁸And the handes of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings. ⁹They were ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward. ¹⁰And the similitude of their faces was as the face of a man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle. ¹¹Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioined one to another, and two couered their bodies. ¹²And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth. ¹³The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning. ¹⁴And the beastes ranne, and returned like vnto lightning. ¹⁵Nowe as I behelde the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces. ¹⁶The facion of the wheelles and their worke was like vnto a chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele. ¹⁷Whe they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went. ¹⁸They had also rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure. ¹⁹And when the beastes went, the wheelles went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheelles were lift vp.

²⁰Whither the spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheelles leade them, and the wheelles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheelles. ²¹When the beastes went, they went, and when they stode, they stode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheelles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheelles. ²²And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderfull, like vnto chrysell, spread ouer their heads aboue. ²³And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which couered the, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies. ²⁴And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speach, as the noyse of an host: and when they stood, they let downe their wings. ²⁵And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stode, and had let downe their wings. ²⁶And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it. ²⁷And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vwarde: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downwarde, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it. ²⁸As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about. (Ezekiel :) This was the appearance of the similitude of the glorie of the Lord: and when I sawe it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

¹And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feete, and I wil speake vnto thee. ²And the Spirite entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me. ³And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day. ⁴For they are impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God. ⁵But surely they will not heare, neither in deede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they knowe that there hath bene a Prophet among them. ⁶And thou sonne of man, feare them not, neither be afraide of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be a frayde at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house. ⁷Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious. ⁸But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eate that I giue thee. ⁹And when I looked vp, beholde, an hande was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein. ¹⁰And he spred it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

¹Moreover he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel. ²So I opened my mouth, and he gaue mee this roule to eate. ³And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie. ⁴And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes. ⁵For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknownen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel, ⁶Not to many people of an vnknownen tongue, or of an harde language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should sende thee to them, they would obey thee. ⁷But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted. ⁸Beholde, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead harde against their foreheads. ⁹I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house. ¹⁰He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart al my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, ¹¹And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease. ¹²Then the spirite tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noise of a great russhing, saying, Blessed be ye glorie of the Lord out of his place. ¹³I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheelles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great russhing. ¹⁴So the spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirite, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me. ¹⁵Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes. ¹⁶And at the ende of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ¹⁷Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me. ¹⁸When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hande. ¹⁹Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule. ²⁰Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling block before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

²¹Neuerthelesse, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

²²And the hande of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and goe into the fielde, and I will there talke with thee.

²³So when I had risen vp, and gone foorth into the fielde, beholde, the glorie of the Lord stode there, as the glorie which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face. ²⁴Then the Spirit entred into me, which set me vp vpon my feete, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, and shut thy selfe within thine house. ²⁵But thou, O sonne of man, beholde, they shall put bandes vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them. ²⁶And I will make thy tongue cleaue to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dume, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house. ²⁷But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth off, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

¹Thou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem, ²And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it rounde about. ³Moreouer, take an yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face towarde it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel. ⁴Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel

vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquity. ⁵For I haue layed vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel. ⁶And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere. ⁷Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it. ⁸And beholde, I will lay bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege. ⁹Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof. ¹⁰And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof. ¹¹Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt part of an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke. ¹²And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dongue that commeth out of man, in their sight. ¹³And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them. ¹⁴Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any vncleane flesh in my mouth. ¹⁵Then he said vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes dongue for mans dongue, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith. ¹⁶Moreouer, he said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment. ¹⁷Because that bread and water shall faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

¹And thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor and cause it to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and deuide the heare. ²Thou shalt burne with fire the thirde part in the middes of the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other thirde part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last thirde part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will drawe out a sworde after them. ³Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in nomber, and binde them in thy lappe. ⁴Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: for thereof shall a fire come foorth into all the house of Israel. ⁵Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the

middes of the nations and countreyes, that are rounde about her. ⁶And she hath changed my iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreis, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgemets and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them. ⁷Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations that are rounde about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are rounde about you, ⁸Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the middes of thee, euen in the sight of the nations. ⁹And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will do any more the like, because of all thine abominations. ¹⁰For in the middes of thee, the fathers shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes. ¹¹Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie. ¹²The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they bee consumed in the middes of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will drawe out a sword after them. ¹³Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted: and they shall knowe, that I the Lord haue spoke it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them. ¹⁴Moreouer, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by. ¹⁵So thou shalt bee a reproche and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are rounde about thee, when

I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it. ¹⁶When I shall sende vpon them the euill arrowes of famine, which shalbe for their destruction, and which I will sende to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and wil breake your staffe of bread. ¹⁷So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beastes, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe through thee, and I will bring the sworde vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

¹Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, Set thy face towardes the mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them, ³And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus sayth the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valleis, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a sworde vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places: ⁴And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles. ⁵And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars. ⁶In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shalbe laide waste, so that your altars shalbe made waste and desolate, and your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished. ⁷And the slaine shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. ⁸Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shalbe scattred through the countreyes. ⁹And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shalbe displeased in them

selues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations. ¹⁰And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not saide in vaine, that I woulde doe this euill vnto them. ¹¹Thus saith the Lord God, Smite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence. ¹²He that is farre off, shall dye of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall dye by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them. ¹³Then ye shall knowe, that I am ye Lord, when their slaine men shalbe among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euerie hie hill in al the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euerie greene tree, and vnder euerie thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweete sauour to all their idoles. ¹⁴So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the lande waste, and desolate from the wildernes vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

¹Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An ende is come vnto the lande of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the lande. ³Nowe is the ende come vpon thee, and I wil sende my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will laye vpon thee all thine abominations. ⁴Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will laye thy waies vpon thee: and thine abomination shall bee in the middes of thee, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord. ⁵Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, one euil, euen one euill is come. ⁶An ende is come, the end is come, it watched for thee: beholde, it is come. ⁷The morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the lande: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the sounding againe of the mountaines. ⁸Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfil mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations. ⁹Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will laye vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shalbe in the middes of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord that smiteth. ¹⁰Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod florisheth: pride hath budded. ¹¹Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there bee lamentation for them. ¹²The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the byer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, mourne: for the wrath is vpon al the multitude thereof. ¹³For hee that selleth, shall not returne to that which is solde, although they were yet alieue: for the vision was vnto al the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life. ¹⁴They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof. ¹⁵The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall dye with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him. ¹⁶But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shalbe in the mountaines, like the doues of the valles: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie. ¹⁷All handes shalbe weake, and all knees shall fall away as water. ¹⁸They shall also girde them selues with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shalbe vpon all faces, and baldnes vpon their heads. ¹⁹They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their golde shalbe cast farre off: their siluer and their gold can not deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie. ²⁰He had also set the beautie of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them. ²¹And I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it. ²²My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it. ²³Make a chaine: for the lande is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie. ²⁴Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holie places shalbe defiled. ²⁵When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it. ²⁶Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Lawe shall perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient. ²⁷The King shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the handes of the people in the land shall be troubled: I wil doe vnto them according to their waies, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

¹And in the sixt yere, in the sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me. ²Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnes, and like vnto amber. ³And he stretched out the likenes of an had, and tooke me by an hearie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee by a Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entry of ye inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation. ⁴And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the fiede. ⁵Then saide he vnto mee, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes nowe toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and beholde, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie. ⁶He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations. ⁷And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall. ⁸Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge nowe in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore. ⁹And he said vnto mee, Go in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here. ¹⁰So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping thinges and abominable beasts and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about. ¹¹And there stode before them seuentie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stode Iaazaniah, ye sonne of Shaphan, with euerie man his censour in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloude.

¹²Then saide hee vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, 'The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

¹³Againe he saide also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe. ¹⁴And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde there sate women mourning for Tammuz.

¹⁵Then saide hee vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these. ¹⁶And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porche and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, towarde the East. ¹⁷The he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out stinke before their noses. ¹⁸Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and though they crie in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

¹He cryed also with a loude voyce in mine eares, saying, 'The visitations of the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hande to destroy it. ²And beholde, sixe men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth towarde the North, and euery man a weapon in his hande to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers ynkhorne by his side, and they went in and stode beside the brasen altar. ³And the glorie of the God of Israel was gone vp from ye Cherub, whereupon he was and stode on the doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side. ⁴And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the middes of the citie, euen through the middes of Ierusalem and set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof. ⁵And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie. ⁶Destroy vtterly the old, and the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whome is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the Ancient men, which were before the house. ⁷And he sayde vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courtes with the slaine, then goe foorth: and they went out, and slewe them in the citie. ⁸Nowe when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem? ⁹Then saide he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the lande is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not. ¹⁰As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heades. ¹¹And beholde, the man clothed with linen which had the ynkhorne by his side, made report, and saide, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

¹And as I looked, beholde, in the firmament that was aboue the head of the Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone. ²And he spake vnto the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in betweene the wheelles, euen vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter the ouer the citie. And he went in in my sight. ³Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court. ⁴Then the glorie of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stode ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightness of the Lordes glorie. ⁵And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh. ⁶And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheelles, and from betweene ye Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside ye wheele. ⁷And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out. ⁸And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hande vnder their wings. ⁹And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheelles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheelles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone. ¹⁰And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele. ¹¹When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went. ¹²And their whole bodie, and their rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheelles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheelles. ¹³And the Cherub cryed to these wheelles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele. ¹⁴And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the thirde the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Egle. ¹⁵And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar. ¹⁶And when ye

Cherubims went, the wheelles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheelles also turned not from beside them. ¹⁷When the Cherubims stooode, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted the selues vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them. ¹⁸Then the glorie of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stooode vpon the Cherubims. ¹⁹And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheelles also were besides them: and euery one stooode at the entrie of the gate of the Lordes House at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie. ²⁰This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuier Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims. ²¹Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings. ²²And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuier Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was ye selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

¹Moreover, the Spirite lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lordes house, which lyeth Eastwarde, and beholde, at the entrie of the gate were fiue and twentie men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people. ²Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie. ³For they say, It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the caldron, and wee be the flesh. ⁴Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie. ⁵And the Spirite of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes. ⁶Many haue ye murthered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine. ⁷Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layed in the middes of it, they are the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I wil bring you foorth of the mids of it. ⁸Ye haue feared the sworde, and I wil bring a sworde vpon you, saith the Lord God. ⁹And I will bring you out of the middes thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you. ¹⁰Ye shall fall by the sworde, and I wil iudge you in the border of Israel, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. ¹¹This citie shall not be your caldron, neyther shall ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel. ¹²And ye shall knowe that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are round about you. ¹³And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah dyed: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and saide, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel? ¹⁴Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹⁵Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the lande is giuen vs in possession. ¹⁶Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreis, yet wil I be to them as a litle Sanctuarie in ye countreis where they shall come. ¹⁷Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreis where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you ye land of Israel. ¹⁸And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence. ¹⁹And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a newe spirit within their bowels: and I will take the stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, ²⁰That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

²¹But vpon them, whose heart is towarde their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heades, saith the Lord God. ²²Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheelles besides them, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie. ²³And the glorie of the Lord went vp from the middes of the citie, and stode vpon the moutaine which is towarde the East side of the citie. ²⁴Afterwarde the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me. ²⁵Then I declared vnto them that were led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

¹The worde of the Lord also came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house. ³Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe foorth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house. ⁴Then shalt thou bring foorth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that go foorth into captiuitie. ⁵Dig thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby. ⁶In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it foorth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a signe vnto the house of Israel. ⁷And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as ye stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in ye darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight. ⁸And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, ⁹Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayde vnto thee, What doest thou? ¹⁰But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them. ¹¹Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie. ¹²And the chieftest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge through the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eies. ¹³My net also will I spread vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall dye there. ¹⁴And I will scatter toward euerie winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will drawe out the sworde after them. ¹⁵And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys. ¹⁶But I will leaue a litle number of them from the sworde, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord. ¹⁷Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹⁸Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, ¹⁹And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnes, and drinke their water with desolation: for the lande shall bee desolate from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein. ²⁰And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the land shall be desolate, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord. ²¹And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²²Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged and all visions faile? ²³Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I wil make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The daies are at hand and the effect of euery vision. ²⁴For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there bee any flattering diuination within the house of Israel. ²⁵For I am the Lord: I wil speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I saye the thing, and will performe it, sayeth the Lord God. ²⁶Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²⁷Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophecieth of the times that are farre off. ²⁸Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

¹And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto them, that prophecie out of their owne hearts, Heare the worde of the Lord. ³Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish Prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing. ⁴O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes in the waste places. ⁵Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for ye house of Israel, to stand in the battel in the daye of the Lord. ⁶They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord sayth it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would cofirme the word of their prophecie. ⁷Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? ye say, The Lord sayth it, albeit I haue not spoken. ⁸Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanytie and haue seene lyes, therefore beholde, I am agaynst you, sayth the Lord God, ⁹And mine hande shalbe

vpon the Prophets that see vanity, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assemblie of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and yee shall know that I am the Lord God. ¹⁰And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one buylt vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered mortar, ¹¹Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I wil sende haylestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it. ¹²Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it? ¹³Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake foorth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it. ¹⁴So I wil destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the fundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fal, and ye shalbe consumed in the middes thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord. ¹⁵Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, ¹⁶To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁷Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say, ¹⁸Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe pillowes vnder al arme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will yee hunt ye soules of my people, and will yee giue life to the soules that come vnto you? ¹⁹And will ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that shoulde not dye, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies? ²⁰Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to do with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie. ²¹Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hande, and they shalbe no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. ²²Because with your lyes yee haue made the heart of the righteous sadde, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, ²³Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinatios: for I wil deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am ye Lord.

and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him for my selfe, ⁸And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. ⁹And if the Prophet be deceiued, when hee hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hande vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel. ¹⁰And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, ¹¹That the house of Israel may go no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, sayth the Lord God. ¹²The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ¹³Sonne of man, when ye land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it. ¹⁴Though these three men Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they shoulde deliuer but their owne soules by their righteousnes, saith the Lord God. ¹⁵If I bring noysome beastes into the lande and they spoyle it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beastes, ¹⁶Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shall be waste. ¹⁷Or if I bring a sworde vpon this land, and say, Sword, go through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, ¹⁸Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselues. ¹⁹Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, ²⁰And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middles of it, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnes. ²¹For thus saith the Lord God, Howe much more when I sende my foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sworde, and famine, and the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it? ²²Yet beholde, therein shalbe left a remnant of them that shalbe caryed away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning al that I haue brought vpon it. ²³And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

¹And thee word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine braunch, which is among the trees of ye forest? ³Shall wood bee taken thereof to doe any worke? or wil men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon? ⁴Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke? ⁵Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it bee meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt? ⁶Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem. ⁷And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them, ⁸And when I make the lande waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

¹Again, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to knowe her abominations, ³And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation and thy kindred is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite. ⁴And in thy natiuitie whe thou wast borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in cloutes. ⁵None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in ye day that thou wast borne. ⁶And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, whe thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I saide vnto thee, Thou shalt liue. ⁷I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breastes are facioned, thine heare is

growen, where as thou wast naked and bare. ⁸Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spred my skirtes ouer thee, and couered thy filthines: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine. ⁹Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle. ¹⁰I clothed thee also with broyded worke, and shod thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I couered thee with silke. ¹¹I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke. ¹²And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earrings in thine eares, and a beautifull crowne vpon thine head. ¹³Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy rayment was of fine linen, and silke, and broyded worke: thou didest eate fine floure, and honie and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou didest grow vp into a kingdome. ¹⁴And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God. ¹⁵Nowe thou didest trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

¹⁶And thou didest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like thinges shall not come, neither hath any done so. ¹⁷Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and didest commit whoredome with them, ¹⁸And tookest thy broidred garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them. ¹⁹My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, and honie, wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

²¹That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them? ²²And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood. ²³And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

²⁴Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete.

²⁵Thou hast built thine hie place at euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

²⁶Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

²⁷Beholde, therefore I did stretche out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

²⁸Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insaciable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

²⁹Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

³⁰Howe weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman? ³¹In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot that despiseth a reward, ³²But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband: ³³They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest giftes vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

³⁴And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou giuest a rewarde, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary. ³⁵Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord. ³⁶Thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thy shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didest offer vnto them, ³⁷Beholde, therefore I wil gather all thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with al them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthines vnto them, that they may see all thy filthines. ³⁸And I wil iudge thee after ye maner of them that are harlots, and of them that shead blood, and I wil giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie. ³⁹I will also giue thee into their handes, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places. they shall strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare. ⁴⁰They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes. ⁴¹And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more. ⁴²So will I make my wrath towarde thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angrie. ⁴³Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, sayeth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations. ⁴⁴Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter. ⁴⁵Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite. ⁴⁶And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters. ⁴⁷Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes. ⁴⁸As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters. ⁴⁹Beholde, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hande of the poore and needie. ⁵⁰But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me. ⁵¹Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded

them in thine abominations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done. ⁵²Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters. ⁵³Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, ⁵⁴That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them. ⁵⁵And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state. ⁵⁶For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, ⁵⁷Before thy wickednes was discovered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about her which despise thee on all sides. ⁵⁸Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, saith the Lord. ⁵⁹For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou didest despise the othe, in breaking the couenant. ⁶⁰Neuerthelesse, I wil remember my couenant made with thee in ye dayes of thy youth, and I wil confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant. ⁶¹Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, both thy elder and thy yonger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenat. ⁶²And I wil establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord, ⁶³That thou mayest remember, and be ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

¹And the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, ²Sonne of man, put foorth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel, ³And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, and long wings, and ful of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar, ⁴And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caried it into the land of marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants. ⁵Hee tooke also of the seede of the lande, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willowe tree. ⁶And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought foorth branches, and shot foorth buds. ⁷There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and beholde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spred foorth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation. ⁸It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine. ⁹Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof. ¹⁰Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grewe. ¹¹Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹²Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, ¹³And hath taken one of the Kings seede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, ¹⁴That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it. ¹⁵But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered? ¹⁶As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake. ¹⁷Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, mainteine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons. ¹⁸For he hath despised the othe, and broken ye couenant (yet lo, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape. ¹⁹Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken vpon his owne head. ²⁰And I wil spread my net vpon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespas that he hath committed against me. ²¹And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shalbe scattered towarde all the windes: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it. ²²Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also take off the top of this hie cedar, and wil set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I wil plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great. ²³Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes and beare fruite, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof. ²⁴And all the trees of the field shall knowe that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree, that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to florish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

¹The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying, ²What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge? ³As I liue, sayth the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel. ⁴Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die. ⁵But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right, ⁶And hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath lyen with a menstruous woman, ⁷Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his dettour: he that hath spoyled none by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, ⁸And hath not giuen foorth vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawn his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man, ⁹And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁰If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a sheader of blood, if he do any one of these things, ¹¹Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife, ¹²Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination, ¹³Or hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him. ¹⁴But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like, ¹⁵That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of ye house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife, ¹⁶Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, ¹⁷Neither hath withdrawen his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue. ¹⁸His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dyeth in his iniquitie. ¹⁹Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because ye sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue, ²⁰The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnes of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon him selfe. ²¹But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die. ²²All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue. ²³Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God? or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes? ²⁴But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his righteousnes that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die. ²⁵Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall? ²⁶For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

²⁷Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule aliue. ²⁸Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die. ²⁹Yet saith ye house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

³⁰Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction. ³¹Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make you a newe heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? ³²For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, sayth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

¹Thou also, take vp a lamentation for the princes of Israel, ²And say, Wherefore lay thy mother as a lyonesse among the lyons? she nourished her yong ones among the lyons whelps, ³And she brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the praye, and it deuoured men. ⁴The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt. ⁵Nowe when she sawe, that she had waited and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her whelps, and made him a lyon. ⁶Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon, and learned to catch the praye, and he deuoured men. ⁷And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring. ⁸Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and laide their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit. ⁹And they put him in prison and in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel. ¹⁰Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought forth fruite and branches by the abundant waters, ¹¹And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches. ¹²But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it. ¹³And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirstie ground. ¹⁴And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation and shalbe for a lamentation.

¹And in the seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me. ²Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, ³Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, sayth the Lord God, when I am asked, I wil not answer you. ⁴Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers, ⁵And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God, ⁶In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had provided for them, flowing with milke and hony which is pleasant among all lands, ⁷Then sayd I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selues with the idols of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God. ⁸But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the mids of the land of Egypt. ⁹But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whome they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowne vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt. ¹⁰Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernes. ¹¹And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them. ¹²Moreouer I gaue them also my Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them. ¹³But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernes: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wildernes to consume them, ¹⁴But I had respect to my Name, that it shoulde not bee polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out. ¹⁵Yet neuerthesse, I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wildernes that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all landes, ¹⁶Because they cast away my iudgments, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles. ¹⁷Neuerthesse, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroye them, neither would I consume them in the wildernes. ¹⁸But I said vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles. ¹⁹I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, ²⁰And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall bee a signe betweene mee and you, that ye may knowe that I am the Lord your God.

²¹Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe, hee shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths:
then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernes.

²²Neuerthelesse I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them foorth. ²³Yet I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wildernes, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, ²⁴Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

²⁵Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue. ²⁶And I polluted them in their owne giftes in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth ye wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende, that they might know that I am ye Lord. ²⁷Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me. ²⁸For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offred there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

²⁹Then I saide vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe?
And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day.
³⁰Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations? ³¹For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I wil not answere you when I am asked. ³²Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We wil be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood, and stone. ³³As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, ³⁴And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, ³⁵And I will bring you into the wildernes of the people, and there wil I pleade with you face to face. ³⁶Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernes of the lande of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God. ³⁷And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bond of the couenant. ³⁸And I wil chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against mee: I will bring them out of the land where they dwel, and they shall not enter into the lande of Israel, and you shall knowe that I am the Lord. ³⁹As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes and with your idoles. ⁴⁰For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the lande, serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things. ⁴¹I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before ye heathen. ⁴²And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to your fathers. ⁴³And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed. ⁴⁴And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God. ⁴⁵Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁴⁶Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward the South, and prophecie toward the forest of the fiede of the South, ⁴⁷And say to the forest of the South, Heare the worde of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not bee quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein. ⁴⁸And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not bee quenched. Then saide I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Doeth not he speake parables?

¹The word of ye Lord came to me againe, saying, ²Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie against the land of Israel. ³And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I come against thee, and will drawe my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked. ⁴Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sworde goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North, ⁵That all flesh may knowe that I the Lord haue drawn my sworde out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more. ⁶Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reines, and mourne bitterly before them. ⁷And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because of the bruite: for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all handes shall be weake, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: beholde, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God. ⁸Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁹Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde both sharpe, and fourbished. ¹⁰It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it contemneth the rod of my sonne, as all other trees. ¹¹And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into ye hand of the slayer. ¹²Cry, and houle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sword shall be vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh. ¹³For it is a triall, and what shall this be, if the sworde contemne euen the rodde? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God.

¹⁴Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sworde be doubled: let the sworde that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

¹⁵I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter. ¹⁶Get thee alone: goe to the right hande, or get thy selfe to the left hande, whithersoever thy face turneth.

¹⁷I wil also smite mine hands together, and wil cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

¹⁸The worde of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying, ¹⁹Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sworde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one lande, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie. ²⁰Appoint a way, that the sworde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie. ²¹And the King of Babel stode at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idoles, and looked in the liuer. ²²At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to laye engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to builde a fortresse. ²³And it shalbe vnto them as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: but hee will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken. ²⁴Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to bee remembred, in discovering your rebellion, that in al your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand. ²⁵And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende, ²⁶Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I wil exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie. ²⁷I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntill he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him. ²⁸And thou, sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn foorth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering: ²⁹Whiles they see vanitie vnto thee, and prophecied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an ende. ³⁰Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation. ³¹And I wil powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy. ³²Thou shalt bee in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the middes of the lande, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

¹Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations? ³Then say, Thus sayth the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols against her selfe to pollute her selfe. ⁴Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys. ⁵Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name and sore in affliction. ⁶Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood. ⁷In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widowe. ⁸Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths. ⁹In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in ye mids of thee they comit abomination. ¹⁰In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures. ¹¹And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter. ¹²In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the encrease, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God. ¹³Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee. ¹⁴Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it. ¹⁵And I wil scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy filthines to cease from thee. ¹⁶And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord. ¹⁷And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹⁸Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and leade in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer. ¹⁹Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem. ²⁰As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and wil put you there and melt you. ²¹I wil gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the mids thereof. ²²As siluer is melted in the mids of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you. ²³And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²⁴Sonne of man, say vnto her; Thou art the land, that is vncleane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath. ²⁵There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof. ²⁶Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them. ²⁷Her princes in the mids thereof are like wolues, rauening the praye to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre. ²⁸And her prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken. ²⁹The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right. ³⁰And I sought for a man among them, that should make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none. ³¹Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, sayth the Lord God.

¹The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother. ³And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginities. ⁴And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah. ⁵And Aholah played the harlot when she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours, ⁶Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses. ⁷Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whome she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles. ⁸Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginities, and powred their whoredome vpon her. ⁹Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whome she doted. ¹⁰These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slewe her with the sworde, and she had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her. ¹¹And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications. ¹²She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers sutes, horsemen ryding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men. ¹³Then I sawe that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort, ¹⁴And that she encreased her fornications: for when she sawe men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermelon, ¹⁵And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie) ¹⁶Assoone, I say, as she sawe them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea. ¹⁷Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them. ¹⁸So she discouered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister. ¹⁹Yet she encreased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance ye dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt. ²⁰For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose yssue is like the yssue of horses. ²¹Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by ye Egyptians: therefore ye paps of thy youth are thus. ²²Therefore, O Aholibah, thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, ²³To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, Poked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renoumed, riding vpon horses.

²⁴Euen these shall come against thee with charets, waggons, and wheelles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

²⁵And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

²⁶They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fayre iewels. ²⁷Thus wil I make thy wickednes to cease from thee and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more. ²⁸For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil deliuer thee into the hand of them, whome thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whome thine heart is departed.

²⁹And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shalbe discouered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome. ³⁰I wil doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles. ³¹Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore wil I giue her cup into thine hand. ³²Thus saith ye

Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much. ³³Thou shalt be filled with drunkennes and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria. ³⁴Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God.

³⁵Therefore thus saith the Lord

God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome. ³⁶The Lord sayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations? ³⁷For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meate. ³⁸Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths. ³⁹For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house. ⁴⁰And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, ⁴¹And satest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle. ⁴²And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads. ⁴³Then I sayd vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end. ⁴⁴And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women. ⁴⁵And ye righteous men they shall iudge them, after the maner of harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands. ⁴⁶Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle, ⁴⁷And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire. ⁴⁸Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse. ⁴⁹And they shall laye your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

euen to the pot, whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it. ⁷For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon on the ground to couer it with dust, ⁸That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered. ⁹Therefore thus saith ye Lord God, Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ye burning great. ¹⁰Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt. ¹¹Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skomme of it may be consumed. ¹²She hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shall be consumed with fire. ¹³Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednes: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee. ¹⁴I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, sayeth the Lord God. ¹⁵Also the worde of ye Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹⁶Sonne of man beholde, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe. ¹⁷Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate not the bread of men. ¹⁸So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded. ¹⁹And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest so? ²⁰Then I answered them, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²¹Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sworde. ²²And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men. ²³And your tyre shalbe vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another. ²⁴Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall do: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God. ²⁵Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, ye ioy of their honor, ye pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters? ²⁶That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares? ²⁷In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

¹The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them, ³And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, ⁴Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke. ⁵And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. ⁶For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel, ⁷Beholde, therefore I will stretche out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord. ⁸Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, ⁹Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Karia-thaim. ¹⁰I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, ¹¹And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. ¹²Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, ¹³Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sworde. ¹⁴And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁵Thus sayth the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred, ¹⁶Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will stretche out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast. ¹⁷And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

¹And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished, ³Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues. ⁴And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke. ⁵Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoile to ye nations. ⁶And her daughters which are in the fielde, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall know that I am the Lord. ⁷For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus

Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people. ⁸He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee. ⁹He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres. ¹⁰The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe. ¹¹With the hooues of his horses shall he treade downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sworde, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground. ¹²And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water. ¹³Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard. ¹⁴I wil lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁵Thus sayth the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sounde of thy fall? and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the middes of thee? ¹⁶Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sitte vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee. ¹⁷And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renoumed citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein! ¹⁸Nowe shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

¹⁹For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like ye cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee, ²⁰When I shall cast thee downe with them that descende into the pitte, with the people of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe partes of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pitte, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the land of the liuing, ²¹I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, sayth the Lord God.

¹The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, take vp a lametation for Tyrus, ³And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the marte of the people for many yles, Thus sayeth the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie. ⁴Thy borders are in the middes of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfit beauty. ⁵They haue made all thy shippe boardes of firre trees of Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee. ⁶Of ye okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy banks of yuorie, brought out of ye yles of Chittim. ⁷Fine linen with broydered woorke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy sayle, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering. ⁸The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots. ⁹The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy marchandise. ¹⁰They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shielde and helmet in thee: they set foorth thy beautie. ¹¹The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite. ¹²They of Tarshish were thy marchantes for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tynne, and leade, which they brought to thy faires. ¹³They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchandise. ¹⁴They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules. ¹⁵The men of Dedan were thy marchantes: and the marchandise of many yles were in thine handes: they brought thee for a present hornes, teeth, and peacockes. ¹⁶They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with emerauds, purple, and broidred worke, and fine linen, and corall, and pearle. ¹⁷They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and balme. ¹⁸They of Damascus were thy marchants in ye multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll. ¹⁹They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and from, occupied in thy faires: yron woorke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise. ²⁰They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious clothes for the charets. ²¹They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy marchants. ²²The marchats of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchantes: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with al precious stones and golde. ²³They of Haram and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy marchants. ²⁴These were thy marchants in all sortes of things, in raiment of blewe silke, and of broidred woorke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy marchandise. ²⁵The shippes of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea.

²⁶Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the middes of the sea. ²⁷Thy riches and thy faires, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise and al thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine.

²⁹And all that handle the ore, the mariners and al the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their shippes, and shall stand vpon the land, ³⁰And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow theselues in the ashes. ³¹They shall plucke off their heare for thee and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart and bitter mourning. ³²And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea! ³³When thy wares went foorth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise. ³⁴When thou shalt be broken by ye seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fal. ³⁵All the inhabitantes of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraide and troubled in their countenance. ³⁶The marchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be any more.

¹The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, I am a God, I sit in the seat of God in ye mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and though thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, ³Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee. ⁴With thy wisdom and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures. ⁵By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches. ⁶Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, ⁷Behold, therefore I wil bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swordes against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnes. ⁸They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea. ⁹Wilt thou say then before him, that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the hands of him that slayeth thee. ¹⁰Thou shalt die the death of the vncircumcised by the hands of stragers: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. ¹¹Moreouer

the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹²Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom and perfite in beautie. ¹³Thou hast ben in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the diamonde, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, emeraude, and the carbuncle and golde: the woorkemanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created. ¹⁴Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the stones of fire. ¹⁵Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee. ¹⁶By the multitude of thy marchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the mids of the stones of fire. ¹⁷Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I wil cast thee to ye ground: I will lay thee before Kinges that they may beholde thee. ¹⁸Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore wil I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that beholde thee. ¹⁹All they that knowe thee among the people, shalbe astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt thou be any more. ²⁰Againe, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²¹Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it, ²²And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her. ²³For I wil send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the middes of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord. ²⁴And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord God. ²⁵Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shalbe sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwel in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iakob. ²⁶And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall builde houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon al round about them that despise them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God.

¹In the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophecie against him, and against all Egypt. ³Speake, and say, 'Thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath saide, The riuers is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe. ⁴But I will put hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fishe of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales. ⁵And I will leaue thee in the wildernes, both thee and al the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon ye open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giue thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of heauen. ⁶And al the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue ben a staffe of reede to the house of Israel. ⁷When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to stand vpright. ⁸Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring a sworde vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee, ⁹And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am ye Lord: because he hath said, The riuers is mine, and I haue made it, ¹⁰Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Mores. ¹¹No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres. ¹²And I wil make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countries, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and wil disperse them through the countreis. ¹³Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the end of fourtie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered, ¹⁴And I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the lande of their habitation, and they shalbe there a small kingdome. ¹⁵It shall be the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboute the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations. ¹⁶And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they knowe, that I am the Lord God.

¹⁷In the seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, ¹⁸Sonne of man, Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel caused his armie to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it. ¹⁹Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will giue

the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his armie. ²⁰I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued against it, because they wrought for me, sayth the Lord God. ²¹In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

¹The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Wo be vnto this day. ³For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen. ⁴And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe. ⁵Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword. ⁶Thus sayth the Lord, They also that mainteine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, sayth the Lord God. ⁷And they shall be desolate in the middes of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the middes of the cities that are wasted. ⁸And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed. ⁹In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in shippes, to make the carelesse Mores aftaide, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth. ¹⁰Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel. ¹¹For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine. ¹²And I will make the riuers drye, and fell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it. ¹³Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt. ¹⁴And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No. ¹⁵And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of No. ¹⁶And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorowe and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes dayly. ¹⁷The yong men of Auen, and of Phibeseth shall fall by the sworde: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie. ¹⁸At Tehaphnehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

¹⁹Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. ²⁰And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²¹Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be boud vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and so make it strong, to hold the sworde.
²²Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sworde to fall out of his hande.
²³And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys. ²⁴And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, and put my sworde in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him. ²⁵But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sworde into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt. ²⁶And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among ye countreys, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 31

¹And in the eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
²Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse? ³Beholde, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very hye, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes. ⁴The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her litle riuers vnto all the trees of the field. ⁵Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out. ⁶All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring foorth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations. ⁷Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters. ⁸The cedars in the garden of God coulede not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chessenut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie. ⁹I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him. ¹⁰Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, ¹¹I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse. ¹²And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valles his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him. ¹³Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shall be vpon his branches, ¹⁴So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their toppe among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit. ¹⁵Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I couered the deepe for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field faded. ¹⁶I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth. ¹⁷They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sworde, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadowe in the middes of the heathen. ¹⁸To whom art thou thus like in glorie and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the middes of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sworde: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

¹And in the twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of

Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a lyon of the nations and art as a dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers and troubledst the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers. ³Thus sayth the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net. ⁴Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I wil cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beastes of the field with thee. ⁵And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys with thine height. ⁶I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimdest, euen to ye mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee. ⁷And when I shall put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light. ⁸All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkenesse vpon thy lande, sayeth

the Lord God. ⁹I will also trouble the heartes of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations and vpon the countries which thou hast not knowen. ¹⁰Yea, I will make many people amased at thee, and their Kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sworde to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraide at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall. ¹¹For thus sayth the Lord God, The sworde of the King of Babel shall come vpon thee. ¹²By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed. ¹³I will destroy also all the beastes thereof from the great watersides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them. ¹⁴Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, sayeth the Lord God. ¹⁵When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am ye Lord. ¹⁶This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, sayeth the Lord God. ¹⁷In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, ¹⁸Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit. ¹⁹Whome doest thou passe in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised. ²⁰They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the sword: shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude. ²¹The most mighty and strong shall speake to him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the sworde.

²²Asshur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde. ²³Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are rounde about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing. ²⁴There is Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: al they are slaine and fallen by the sword which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit. ²⁵They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with al his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircucised are slaine by the sworde: though they haue caused their feare in the land of ye liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pitte: they are laide in the middes of them, that be slaine. ²⁶There is Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude, their graues are round about them: al these vncircumcised were slaine by the sworde, though they caused their feare to be in ye land of the liuing. ²⁷And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone down to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laied their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shalbe vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the lande of the liuing. ²⁸Yea, thou shalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sworde. ²⁹There is Edom, his Kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laied by them that were slaine by the sworde: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit. ³⁰There be al the princes of the North, with al the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit. ³¹Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God. ³²For I haue caused my feare to be in the lande of the liuing: and he shall be laid in the mids of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayeth the Lord God.

¹Again, the woorde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sworde vpon a lande, if the people of the lande take a man from among them, and make him their watchman, ³If when hee seeth the sworde come vpon ye land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people, ⁴Then hee that heareth the sounde of the trumpet, and will not bee warned, if the sworde come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head. ⁵For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not bee admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life. ⁶But if the watchman

see the sworde come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sworde come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hande. ⁷So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the woorde at my mouth, and admonish them from me. ⁸When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand. ⁹Neuerthesse, If thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule. ¹⁰Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, howe should we then liue? ¹¹Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lord

God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill waies, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel? ¹²Therefore thou sonne of man, saye vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth. ¹³When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnes, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnes shall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same. ¹⁴Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and right, ¹⁵To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die. ¹⁶None of his sinnes that he hath comitted, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawful, and right, he shall surely liue. ¹⁷Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall. ¹⁸When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby. ¹⁹But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby. ²⁰Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his waies. ²¹Also in the twelfth yere of our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten. ²²Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in ye euening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumme. ²³Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, and saide, ²⁴Sonne of man, these that dwel in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the lande: but we are many, therefore the lande shall be giuen vs in possession. ²⁵Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes towarde your idoles, and sheade blood: should ye then possesse the land? ²⁶Ye leane vpon your swordes: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land? ²⁷Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence. ²⁸For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the moutaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through. ²⁹Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue laid ye land desolate and wast, because of al their abominations, that they haue committed. ³⁰Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wals and in the dores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord. ³¹For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse. ³²And loe, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy woordes, but they doe them not. ³³And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

¹And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepherdes of Israel, prophetie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepherds, Wo be vnto the shepherds of Israel, that feede them selues: should not the shepherds feede the flockes? ³Yee eate the fat, and yee clothe you with the wooll: yee kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe. ⁴The weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bounde vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue yee ruled them. ⁵And they were scattered without a shepherde: and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of all the beastes of the fielde. ⁶My sheepe wandred through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through al the earth, and none did seeke or search after them. ⁷Therefore ye shepherds, heare the woorde of the Lord. ⁸As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the fielde, hauing no shepherde, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fedde them selues, and fedde not my sheepe, ⁹Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherds. ¹⁰Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feede them selues any more: for I wil deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them. ¹¹For thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out. ¹²As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so wil I seeke out my sheepe and wil deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day, ¹³And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreis, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the cuntry.

¹⁴I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel. ¹⁵I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁶I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driue away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake but I wil destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement. ¹⁷Also you my sheepe, Thus saieth the Lord God, behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates. ¹⁸Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete? ¹⁹And my sheepe eate that which yee haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete. ²⁰Therefore thus sayth the Lord

God vnto them, behold, I, euen I wil iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe. ²¹Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht al the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, ²²Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, and I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe. ²³And I wil set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shall feede them, euen my seruant Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shalbe their shepherd. ²⁴And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shalbe the prince amog them. I the Lord haue spoken it. ²⁵And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euil beastes to cease out of the land: and they shall dwel safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods. ²⁶And I wil set them, as a blessing, euen roud about my mountaine: and I will cause rayne to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing. ²⁷And the tree of the fildes shall yeeld her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shalbe safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them. ²⁸And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afayd. ²⁹And I will rayse vp for them a plant of renoume, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more. ³⁰Thus shall they vnderstande, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, sayth the Lord God. ³¹And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

¹Moreover the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ²Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it, ³And say vnto it, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I wil stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste. ⁴I wil lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord. ⁵Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an ende, ⁶Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I wil prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee. ⁷Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth. ⁸And I will fill his mountaines with his slayne men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slayne with the sworde. ⁹I wil make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. ¹⁰Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countreys shalbe mine, and we wil possesse them (seeing the Lord was there) ¹¹Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I wil euen do according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I wil make my selfe knowen among them whe I haue iudged thee. ¹²And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lye waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured. ¹³Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them. ¹⁴Thus sayth the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate. ¹⁵As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

¹Also thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of

Israel, heare the word of the Lord. ²Thus saith the Lord God, because the enimie hath sayde against you, Aha, euen the hye places of the world are ours in possession, ³Therefore prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lippes and tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people, ⁴Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about. ⁵Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my lande for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despitefull mindes to cast it out for a pray. ⁶Prophesie therfore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the shame of the heathen, ⁷Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame. ⁸But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come. ⁹For behold, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowed. ¹⁰And I wil multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shalbe inhabited, and the desolate places shalbe builded. ¹¹And I wil multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall encrease, and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestowe benefites vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. ¹²Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth depriue them of men. ¹³Thus sayth the Lord God, because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, ¹⁴Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, sayth the Lord God, ¹⁵Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fal any more, saith the Lord God. ¹⁶Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹⁷Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous. ¹⁸Wherfore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

¹⁹And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them. ²⁰And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they sayd of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land. ²¹But I fauoured mine holy Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went. ²²Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith ye Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen whither ye went. ²³And I wil sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, sayth the Lord God, when I shalbe sanctified in you before their eyes. ²⁴For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your owne land. ²⁵Then wil I powre cleane water vpon you, and ye shalbe cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles wil I clense you. ²⁶A newe heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit wil I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh. ²⁷And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and do them. ²⁸And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shalbe my people, and I will be your God. ²⁹I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you. ³⁰For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fielde, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen. ³¹Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthie to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations. ³²Be it knownen vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, sayth the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

³³Thus sayth the Lord God, What time as I shall haue censed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwel in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe builded. ³⁴And the desolate land shalbe tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

³⁵For they sayd, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited. ³⁶Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord builde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and wil do it. ³⁷Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of ye house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke.

³⁸As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

¹The hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caryed me out in ye spirit of ye Lord, and set me downe in ye mids of the field, which was full of bones. ²And he led me round about by them, and beholde, they were very many in the open field, and lo, they were very drie. ³And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest. ⁴Againe he sayde vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye dry bones, heare the word of the Lord. ⁵Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I wil cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue. ⁶And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord. ⁷So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone. ⁸And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them. ⁹Then sayd he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus sayth the Lord God, Come from the foure windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these slayne, that they may liue. ¹⁰So I prophecied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie. ¹¹Then he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off. ¹²Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the lande of Israel, ¹³And yee shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres, ¹⁴And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, sayth the Lord. ¹⁵The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, ¹⁶Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions the take another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to al the house of Israel his companions. ¹⁷And thou shalt ioyne the one to another into one tree, and they shalbe as one in thine hand. ¹⁸And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these? ¹⁹Thou shalt answer them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hande of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shalbe one in mine hand. ²⁰And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight. ²¹And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and wil gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land. ²²And I will make them one people in the lande, vpon the mountaines of Israel, and one king shalbe king to them all: and they shalbe no more two peoples, neither bee deuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes. ²³Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will clense them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God. ²⁴And Dauid my seruant shalbe king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them. ²⁵And they shall dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwel therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall bee their prince for euer. ²⁶Moreouer, I will make a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I wil place them, and multiply them, and wil set my Sanctuarie among them for euermore. ²⁷My tabernacle also shalbe with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shalbe my people. ²⁸Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lord do sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

¹And the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, ²Sonne of man, set thy face against Gog, and against the lande of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecie against him, ³And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal. ⁴And I wil destroy thee, and put hookes in thy chawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine host both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with al sorts of armour, eue a great multitude with bucklers, and shieldes, all handling swords. ⁵They of Paras, of Cush, and Phut with the, euen all they that beare shielde and helmet. ⁶Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and al his bands, and much people with thee. ⁷Prepare thy selfe, and make thee ready, both thou, and al thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their sauegard. ⁸After many dayes thou shalt bee visited: for in the latter yeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe. ⁹Thou shalt ascende and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bandes, and many people with thee. ¹⁰Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at ye same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke euil thoughts. ¹¹And thou shalt say, I wil go vp to the land that hath no walled towres: I will goe to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, ¹²Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hande vpon the desolate places that are nowe inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the middes of the land. ¹³Sheba and Dedan, and the marchantes of Tarshish with all the lions thereof shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to cary away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray? ¹⁴Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and saye vnto Gog, Thus sayeth the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not knowe it? ¹⁵And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie. ¹⁶And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my lande, that the heathen may knowe mee, when I shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes. ¹⁷Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, by ye hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeeres, that I woulde bring thee vpon them? ¹⁸At the same time also whe Gog shall come against the land of Israel, sayth the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger. ¹⁹For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel, ²⁰So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the field and al that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and al ye men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground. ²¹For I will call for a sworde against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother. ²²And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and hailestones, fire, and brimstone. ²³Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

¹Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, ye chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal. ²And I will destroy thee and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel: ³And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand. ⁴Thou shalt fal

vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered foule and beast of the felde to be deuoured. ⁵Thou shalt fall vpon the open felde: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. ⁶And I will sende a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the yles, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. ⁷So will I make mine holy Name knownen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel. ⁸Beholde, it is come, and it is done, sayeth the Lord God: and this is the day whereof I haue spoken. ⁹And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the stauies in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres. ¹⁰So that they shall bring no wood out of the felde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, sayeth the Lord God. ¹¹And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for burial in Israel, euen the valley whereby men go towarde the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog. ¹²And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of the, that they may cense the land. ¹³Yea, all the people of the lande shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God. ¹⁴And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the lande with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon ye ground, and cense it: they shall search to the ende of seuen moneths. ¹⁵And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog. ¹⁶And also the name of the citie shalbe Hamonah: thus shall they clense the land. ¹⁷And thou sonne of man, thus sayeth the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the field, Assemble your selues, and come gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood. ¹⁸Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beastes of Bashan. ¹⁹And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you. ²⁰Thus you shalbe filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with al men of warre, sayth the Lord God. ²¹And I wil set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layed vpon them. ²²So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth. ²³And the heathen shall knowe, that ye house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into ye hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword. ²⁴According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto the, and hid my face from them. ²⁵Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and wil be ielous for mine holy Name, ²⁶After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, whe they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any. ²⁷When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations, ²⁸Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, ²⁹Neither wil I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

¹In the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hande of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither. ²Into the lande of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South. ³And he brought me thither, and beholde, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stode at the gate. ⁴And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eaues, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel. ⁵And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the buylding with one reede, and the height with one reede. ⁶Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the stayres thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad. ⁷And euery chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede. ⁸He measured also the porche of the gate within with one reede. ⁹Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

¹⁰And the chambers of the gate Eastwarde, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.
¹¹And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites. ¹²The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side and sixe cubites on that side. ¹³He measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore. ¹⁴He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about. ¹⁵And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.
¹⁶And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches:

and the windowes went rounde about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees. ¹⁷Then brought he me into the outwarde court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement. ¹⁸And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath. ¹⁹Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubits Eastward and Northward. ²⁰And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof. ²¹And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites. ²²And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches therof were before them. ²³And the gate of the inner court stoode ouer against the gate towarde the North, and towarde the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites. ²⁴After that, he brought mee towarde the South, and loe, there was a gate towarde the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures. ²⁵And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites. ²⁶And there were seuen steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof. ²⁷And there was a gate in the inner court towarde the South, and he measured from gate to gate towarde the South an hundreth cubites. ²⁸And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures,

²⁹And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it was fiftie cubites long and fiue and twentie cubites broad. ³⁰And the arches round about were fiue and twenty cubites long, and fiue cubites broad. ³¹And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes. ³²Againe he brought me into ye inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures. ³³And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad. ³⁴And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes. ³⁵After he brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, ³⁶The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubits, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites. ³⁷And the postes thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps. ³⁸And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering. ³⁹And in the porch of the gate stode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespas offering. ⁴⁰And at the side beyond the steppes, at the entry of the North gate stode two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables. ⁴¹Four tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice. ⁴²And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layde the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice. ⁴³And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering. ⁴⁴And without the inner gate were ye chambers of the singers in the inner Court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was towarde the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect towarde the North. ⁴⁵And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is towarde the South, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the house. ⁴⁶And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among ye sonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him. ⁴⁷So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubits broad, eue foure square: likewise the altar that was before ye house. ⁴⁸And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side. ⁴⁹The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and ye breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

¹Afterward, hee brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, sixe cubites broade on the one side, and sixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle. ²And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites. ³Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites. ⁴So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he sayde vnto mee, This is the most holy place. ⁵After, he measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites rounde about the house, on euery side. ⁶And the chambers were chamber vpon chaber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house. ⁷And it was large and went rounde mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpwarde, rounde about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes. ⁸I sawe also the house hie rounde about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of fixe great cubites. ⁹The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within. ¹⁰And betweene the chambers was the widenes of twentie cubites round about the House on euery side. ¹¹And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubites round about. ¹²Nowe the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was five cubites thick, round about, and ye length ninetie cubites. ¹³So he measured the house an hundreth cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long. ¹⁴Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundreth cubites. ¹⁵And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court. ¹⁶The postes and the narowe windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled. ¹⁷And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure. ¹⁸And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces. ¹⁹So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about. ²⁰From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple. ²¹The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie. ²²The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he sayd vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lord. ²³And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores. ²⁴And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore. ²⁵And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palmetrees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without. ²⁶And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon ye sides of the house, and thicke planks.

¹Then brought hee me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North. ²Before ye length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad. ³Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes. ⁴And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North. ⁵Nowe the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the middes of the building. ⁶For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground. ⁷And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long. ⁸For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

¹¹And the way before them was after ye maner of the chambers, which were toward ye North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their facions, and according to their doores. ¹²And according to ye doores of ye chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth. ¹³The said he vnto me, The North chambers and ye South chambers which are before ye separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priestes that approach vnto ye Lord, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offring: for the place is holy.

¹⁴When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garmentes wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garmentes, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people. ¹⁵Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about. ¹⁶He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fife hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about. ¹⁷He measured also the Northside, fife hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede rounde about. ¹⁸And he measured the South side fife hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. ¹⁹He turned about also to the West side, and measured fife hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. ²⁰He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fife hundreth reedes long, and fife hundreth broade to make a separation betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

¹Afterward he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth towarde the East. ²And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie. ³And the vision which I saw was like the vision, euen as the vision that I sawe when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I sawe by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face. ⁴And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is towarde the East. ⁵So the Spirite tooke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house. ⁶And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stode a man by me, ⁷Which saide vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of their Kings in their high places. ⁸Albeit they set their thresholdes by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherfore I haue consumed them in my wrath. ⁹Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer. ¹⁰Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure ye paterne. ¹¹And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the House, and ye paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them. ¹²This is the description of the house, It shalbe vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limites thereof round about shalbe most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house. ¹³And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an had breadth, euen the bottome shalbe a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof rounde about shalbe a spanne: and this shalbe the height of the altar. ¹⁴And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shalbe two cubites: and the breadth one cubite, and from the litle piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite. ¹⁵So the altar shalbe foure cubites, and from the altar vpward shalbe foure hornes. ¹⁶And the altar shalbe twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and fouresquare in the foure corners thereof. ¹⁷And ye frame shalbe foureteene cubites log, and foureteene broad in the fouresquare corners thereof, and the border about it shalbe halfe a cubite, and the bottome therof shalbe a cubite about, and the steps thereof shalbe turned toward ye East. ¹⁸And he said vnto me, Sone of man, thus saith ye Lord God, These are ye ordinances of ye altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon. ¹⁹And thou shalt giue to the Priestess, and to the Leuites, that be of the seede of Zadok, which approach vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering. ²⁰And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou clense it, and reconcile it. ²¹Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie. ²²But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall clense ye altar, as they did clense it with the bullocke. ²³When thou hast made an ende of clensing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish. ²⁴And thou shalt offer them before ye Lord, and the Priestes shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto ye Lord. ²⁵Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goate for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish. ²⁶Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and clense it, and consecrate it. ²⁷And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

¹Then he brought me toward the gate of the outwarde Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut. ²Then saide the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe shut, and shall not bee opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shalbe shut. ³It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porche of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same. ⁴Then brought he mee toward the North gate before the House: and when I looked, beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face. ⁵And the Lord sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning al the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and al the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie, ⁶And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to ye house of Israel, Thus saith ye Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of al your abominations, ⁷Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuarie strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to bee in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine house, when yee offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations. ⁸For yee haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie. ⁹Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel, ¹⁰Neither yet ye Levites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from thee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie. ¹¹And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them. ¹²Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against the, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity, ¹³And they shall not come neere vnto me to do ye office of ye Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue comitted. ¹⁴And I will make them keepers of ye watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein. ¹⁵But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stande before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God. ¹⁶They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge. ¹⁷And whe they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come vpon the while they serue in ye gates of the inner court, and within. ¹⁸They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heades, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not girde them selues in the sweating places. ¹⁹But when they

goe foorth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments. ²⁰They shall not also shaue their heades, nor suffer their lockes to growe long, but rounde their heades. ²¹Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court. ²²Neither shall they take for their wiues a widowe, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest. ²³And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane. ²⁴And in controuersie they shall stande to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths. ²⁵And they shall come at no dead person to defile theselues, except at their father, or mother, or sone, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they be defiled. ²⁶And when he is clenched, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes. ²⁷And when he goeth into ye Sanctuarie vnto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuarie, he shall offer his sinne offering, saith ye Lord God. ²⁸And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye giue them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession. ²⁹They shall eate the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespas offering, and euery dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs. ³⁰And all the first of all the first borne, and euery oblation, euen all of euery sort of your oblations shall be the Priestes. Ye shall also giue vnto the Priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house. ³¹The Priests shall not eate of any thing, that is dead, or torne, whether it be foule or beast.

¹Moreover when yee shall deuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an holy portion of the land, fiue and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about. ²Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth in length with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites rounde about for the suburbes thereof. ³And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousande, and the breadth of tenne thousande: and in it shalbe the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place. ⁴The holy portion of the lande shalbe the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shalbe a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie. ⁵And in the fiue and twentie thousande of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers. ⁶Also ye shall appoynt the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broad, and fiue and

twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of ye holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel. ⁷And a portion shalbe for the prince on ye one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border. ⁸In this lande shalbe his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to ye house of Israel, according to their tribes. ⁹Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgment and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁰Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath. ¹¹The Ephah and the Bath shalbe equall: a Bath shall conteyne the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer. ¹²And the shekel shalbe twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and fiue and twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shalbe your Maneh. ¹³This is the oblation that ye shall offer, ye sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley. ¹⁴Concerning ye ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of ye Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer) ¹⁵And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of ye fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayth the Lord God. ¹⁶All the people of the lande shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel. ¹⁷And it shalbe ye princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the newe moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feasts of the house of

Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel. ¹⁸Thus sayth the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense the Sanctuarie. ¹⁹And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court. ²⁰And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house. ²¹In the first moneth in the foureteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and ye shall eate vnleauened bread. ²²And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for him selfe, and for all the people of the lande, a bullocke for a sinne offering. ²³And in the seuen dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offering. ²⁴And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an Hin of oyle for an Ephah. ²⁵In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he do the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

¹Thus sayth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shalbe opened. ²And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stande by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offrings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall go foorth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening. ³Likewise the people of the lande shall worshippe at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones. ⁴And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shalbe sixe lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish. ⁵And the meat offering shalbe an Ephah for a ram: and the meate offering for the lambs a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. ⁶And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ram: they shalbe without blemish. ⁷And he shall prepare a meat offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambes according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. ⁸And when the prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porche of that gate, and hee shall go foorth by the way thereof. ⁹But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feastes, hee that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe foorth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it. ¹⁰And the prince shall be in the middes of them: hee shall go in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together. ¹¹And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meat offering shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. ¹²Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth towarde the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, hee shall goe foorth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate. ¹³Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning. ¹⁴And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the thirde part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meate offering shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord. ¹⁵Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euery morning, for a continual burnt offering. ¹⁶Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, and it shall bee their possession by inheritance. ¹⁷But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall bee his to the yere of libertie: after, it shall returne to ye prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them. ¹⁸Moreouer the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession. ¹⁹After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stode towarde the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them. ²⁰Then saide he vnto me, This is the place where the Priestes shall see the the trespasse offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meat offring, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, to sanctifie ye people. ²¹Then he brought me foorth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court. ²²In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourty cubits long, and thirty broad: these foure corners were of one measure. ²³And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles rounde about. ²⁴Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall see the sacrifice of the people.

¹Afterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and behold, waters yssued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stooode toward the East, and the waters ran downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the southside of ye altar. ²Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on ye right side ³And when the man that had the line in his hand, went foorth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles. ⁴Againe he measured a thousande, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: ye waters were to ye loynes. ⁵Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a riuier, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuier that could not be passed ouer. ⁶And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuier. ⁷Nowe when I returned, beholde, at the brinke of the riuier were very many trees on the one side, and on the other. ⁸Then saide he vnto me, 'These waters issue out towarde the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shalbe wholesome. ⁹And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wheresoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shalbe a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuier commeth. ¹⁰And then the fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nettes: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fishe of the maine sea, exceeding many. ¹¹But the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pittes. ¹²And by this riuier vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all fruitful trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall ye fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of ye Sanctuarie: and the fruite thereof shalbe meat, and the leafe thereof shalbe for medicine. ¹³Thus saith the Lord God, 'This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherite the lande according to the twelue tribes of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions. ¹⁴And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this lande shall fall vnto you for inheritance. ¹⁵And this shall be the border of the lande towarde the North side, from the maine sea toworde Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah: ¹⁶Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran. ¹⁷And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northwarde, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part. ¹⁸But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the lande of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shalbe the East part. ¹⁹And the Southside shalbe towarde Teman from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part towarde Teman. ²⁰The West parte also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part. ²¹So shall ye deuide this lande vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel. ²²And you shall deuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel. ²³And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

¹Now these are the names of the tribes. From the North side, to the coast towarde Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northwarde the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan. ²And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher. ³And by the border of Asher from the East parte euen vnto the West parte a portion for Naphtali. ⁴And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh. ⁵And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Ephraim. ⁶And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben. ⁷And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah. ⁸And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part shall be the offering which they shall offer of fīue and twentie thousande reedes broade, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the Westside, and the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes of it. ⁹The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fīue and twentie thousande long, and of ten thousand the breadth. ¹⁰And for them, euen for the Priestes shalbe this holy oblation, towarde the North fīue and twentie thousande long, and towarde the West, ten thousande broade, and towarde the East ten thousand broad, and towarde the South fīue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shalbe in the middes thereof. ¹¹It shalbe for the Priestes that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray. ¹²Therefore this oblation of the land that is offred, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites. ¹³And ouer against the border of the Priests the Leuites shall haue fīue and twentie thousande long, and ten thousande broade: all the length shalbe fīue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousande. ¹⁴And they shall not sel of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first frutes of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord. ¹⁵And the

fīue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fīue and twentie thousande, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shalbe in the middes thereof. ¹⁶And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fīue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South parte fīue hundreth and foure thousande, and the East parte fīue hundreth and foure thousande, and the West parte fīue hundreth and foure thousande. ¹⁷And the suburbes of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the South two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the East two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the West two hundreth and fiftie. ¹⁸And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastwarde, and ten thousand Westwarde: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease thereof shall be for foode vnto them that serue in the citie. ¹⁹And they that serue in the citie, shalbe of all the tribes of

Israel that shall serue therein. ²⁰All the oblation shalbe fīue and twentie thousand with fīue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie. ²¹And the residue shalbe for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fīue and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fīue and twentie thousande toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof. ²²Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shall be the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes. ²³And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East parte vnto the West parte Benjamin shalbe a portion. ²⁴And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion. ²⁵And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Isshachar a portion. ²⁶And by the border of Isshachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion. ²⁷And by the border of Zebulun from the East parte vnto the West part, Gad a portion. ²⁸And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Temath, the border shall be euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the riuier, that runneth into the maine sea. ²⁹This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God. ³⁰And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fīue hundreth, and foure thousande measures. ³¹And the gates of the citie shalbe after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northwarde, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui. ³²And at the East side fīue hundreth and foure thousande, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beiamin, and one gate of Dan.

³³And at the South side, five hundreth and foure thousande measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, and one gate of Zebulun. ³⁴At the West side, five hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali. ³⁵It was rounde about eightene thousande measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, The Lord is there

¹In the thirde yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it. ²And ye Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand; with parte of the vessels of the house of God, which he caryed into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie. ³And the King spake vnto Ashpenaz the master of his Eunuches, that he shoulde bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the Kings seede, and of the princes: ⁴Children in whome was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instruct in all wisdom, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stande in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans. ⁵And the King appointed them prouision euery day of a portion of the Kings meate, and and of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing them three yeere, that at the ende thereof, they might stande before the King. ⁶Nowe among these were certeine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. ⁷Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego. ⁸But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee woulde not defile him selfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe. ⁹(Nowe God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches) ¹⁰And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King. ¹¹Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, ¹²Proue thy seruants, I beseeche thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eate, and water to drinke. ¹³Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruantes. ¹⁴So hee consented to them in this matter, an proued them ten dayes. ¹⁵And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fayrer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate. ¹⁶Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse. ¹⁷As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in al learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames. ¹⁸Nowe when the time was expired, that the King had appoynted to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar. ¹⁹And the King communed with them: and among them al was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stode they before the king. ²⁰And in all matters of wisdom, and vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, hee founde them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his realme. ²¹And Daniel was vnto the first yeere of king Cyrus.

¹And in the seconde yeere of the raygne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirite was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him. ²Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stode before the King. ³And the King sayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirite was troubled to knowe the dreame. ⁴Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shewe the interpretation. ⁵And the King answered and sayd to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes. ⁶But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receyue of me gifts and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it. ⁷They answered againe, and sayde, Let the King shewe his seruantes the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof. ⁸Then the King answered, and sayd, I knowe certainly that ye would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me. ⁹But if ye will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time bee changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if yee can declare me the interpretation thereof. ¹⁰Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lorde that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean. ¹¹For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh. ¹²For this cause the king was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel. ¹³And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slayne: and they sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death. ¹⁴Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chiefe stewarde, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel. ¹⁵Yea, he answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel. ¹⁶So Daniel went and desired the king that he woulde giue him leasure and that he woulde shewe the king the interpretation thereof. ¹⁷The Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, ¹⁸That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of ye wise men of Babel. ¹⁹Then was the secret reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel prayed the God of heauen. ²⁰And Daniel answered and sayde, The Name of God be prayed for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his, ²¹And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand. ²²Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in darkenes, and the light dwelleth with him. ²³I thanke thee and prayse thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen mee wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter. ²⁴Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeyned to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and sayde thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation. ²⁵Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and sayd thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation. ²⁶Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof? ²⁷Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayd, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southsayers declare vnto the King. ²⁸But there is a God in heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine heade vpon thy bed, is this. ²⁹O King, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughts came into thy mind, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reueyleth secretes, telleth thee, what shall come. ³⁰As for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart. ³¹O King, thou sawest, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible. ³²This images head was of fine golde, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, ³³His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay. ³⁴Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces. ³⁵Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sommer floures, and the winde caryed them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth. ³⁶This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof. ³⁷O King, thou art a king of Kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glorie.

³⁸And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the fiede, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them al: thou art this heade of golde. ³⁹And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth. ⁴⁰And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruisse all. ⁴¹Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, parte of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe deuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth. ⁴²And as the toes of the feete were parte of yron, and parte of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken. ⁴³And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with the seede of men: but they shall not ioine one with another, as yron can not bee mixed with clay. ⁴⁴And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy al these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer. ⁴⁵Where as thou sawest, that the stone was cut of the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure. ⁴⁶Then the King Nebuchadnezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meate offrings, and sweete odours vnto him. ⁴⁷Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and said, I know of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret. ⁴⁸So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great giftes. Hee made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel. ⁴⁹Then Daniel made request to the King, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the gate of the King.

¹Nebuchad-nezzar the King made an image of gold, whose height was three score cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel. ²Then Nebuchad-nezzar ye King sent foorth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp. ³So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that

Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp. ⁴Then an herald cried aloude, Be it knowen to you, O people, nations, and languages, ⁵That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp, ⁶And whosoever falleth not downe and worshipping, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornace. ⁷Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp. ⁸By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes. ⁹For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer. ¹⁰Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, ¹¹And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippingeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fierie fornace. ¹²There are certeine Iewes whome thou hast set ouer the charge of ye prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither wil they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp. ¹³Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King. ¹⁴And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp? ¹⁵Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine handes? ¹⁶Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not carefull to answeere thee in this matter. ¹⁷Beholde, our God whom we serue, is able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King. ¹⁸But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp. ¹⁹Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat. ²⁰And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace. ²¹So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

²²Therefore, because the Kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. ²³And these three men Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace. ²⁴Then Nebuchadnezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and saide vnto his counsellors, Did not wee cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, O King. ²⁵And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God.

²⁶Then the King Nebuchadnezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the seruants of the hie God goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire. ²⁷Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heare of their head was burnt, neither was their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

²⁸Wherefore Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God. ²⁹Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shalbe drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort. ³⁰Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel. (Daniel) Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you: : (Daniel) I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me. : (Daniel) How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

¹I Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace, ²Saw a dreame, which made me afraide, and the thoughtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me. ³Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame. ⁴So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the sothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof, ⁵Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirite of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying, ⁶O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the enchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene and the interpretation thereof. ⁷Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I sawe a tree in the middes of the earth and the height thereof was great: ⁸A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth. ⁹The boughes thereof were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beastes of the fiede, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fedde of it. ¹⁰I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, ¹¹And cried aloude, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches. ¹²Neuerthelesse leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the felde. ¹³Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him. ¹⁴The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaunde was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men. ¹⁵This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O

Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee. ¹⁶Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and saide, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies. ¹⁷The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world, ¹⁸Whose leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the felde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit, ¹⁹It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth. ²⁰Where as the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fiede, and let it be wette with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the fiede, till seuen times passe ouer him, ²¹This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King, ²²That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fiede: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom so euer he will. ²³Where as they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule. ²⁴Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy sinnes by righteousnes, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: lo, let there be an healing of thine error. ²⁵All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchadnezzar. ²⁶At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel. ²⁷And the King spake and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie? ²⁸While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchadnezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, ²⁹And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fiede: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever he will. ³⁰The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchadnezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growen as eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes.

³¹And at the ende of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I prayed and honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation. ³²And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou? ³³At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me. ³⁴Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar prayse and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

CHAPTER 5

¹King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand. ²And Belshazzar whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein. ³Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them. ⁴They drunke wine and prayed the gods of golde, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone. ⁵At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of ye Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote. ⁶Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughtes troubled him, so that the ioyns of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other. ⁷Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome. ⁸Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation. ⁹Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied. ¹⁰Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed. ¹¹There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers, ¹²Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolved doubtess) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whome the King named Belteshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation. ¹³Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie? ¹⁴Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee. ¹⁵Now therefore, wisemen and astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing. ¹⁶Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doutes: nowe if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome. ¹⁷Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation. ¹⁸O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour and glory. ¹⁹And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whome he would: whome he would he set vp, and whome he would he put downe. ²⁰But when his heart was pufft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him. ²¹And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer he pleaseth. ²²And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, ²³But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praysed the gods of siluer and golde, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified. ²⁴Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing. ²⁵And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL UPHARSIN. ²⁶This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finished it. ²⁷TEKEL, thou art wayed in the balance, and art found too light. ²⁸PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians. ²⁹Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome. ³⁰The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine. ³¹And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

¹It pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundreth and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome, ²And ouer these, three rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage. ³Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme. ⁴Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him. ⁵Then sayd these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God. ⁶Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer. ⁷All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons. ⁸Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. ⁹Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree. ¹⁰Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and prayesd his God, as he did aforetime. ¹¹Then these men assembled, and founde Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God. ¹²So they came and, spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make a request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. ¹³Then answered they, and sayd vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day. ¹⁴When the King heard these wordes, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him. ¹⁵Then these men assembled vnto the King, and sayde vnto ye King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, may be altered. ¹⁶Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee. ¹⁷And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel. ¹⁸Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him. ¹⁹Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons.

²⁰And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and saide to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of ye liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lyons? ²¹Then saide Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer. ²²My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for my iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt. ²³Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleueed in his God.

²⁴And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lyons had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the groud of the denne.

²⁵Afterwarde King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwel in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you. ²⁶I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remayneth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

²⁷Hee rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth, who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons. ²⁸So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

¹In the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter. ²Daniel spake and saide, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea: ³And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another. ⁴The first was as a lyon, and had eagles wings: I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt of, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him. ⁵And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a beare and stood vpon the one side: and hee had three ribbes in his mouth betweene his teeth, and they saide thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh. ⁶After this I behelde, and loe, there was an other like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was giuen him. ⁷After this I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces and stamped the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had ten hornes. ⁸As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle horne, before whome there were three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things. ⁹I behelde, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the heare of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheelles as burning fire. ¹⁰A fierie streame yssued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousandes ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand thousands stode before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened. ¹¹Then I behelde, because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire. ¹²As concerning the other beastes, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season. ¹³As I behelde in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him. ¹⁴And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed. ¹⁵I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraide. ¹⁶Therefore I came vnto one of them that stode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things. ¹⁷These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, ¹⁸And they shall take the kingdome of the Saintes of the most High, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer. ¹⁹After this, I woulde knowe the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feete. ²⁰Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous thinges, whose looke was more stoute then his fellowes. ²¹I beheld, and the same horne made battel against the Saintes, yea, and preuailed against them, ²²Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome. ²³Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces. ²⁴And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are tenne Kings that shall rise: and an other shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue three Kings, ²⁵And shall speake wordes against the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shalbe giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times and the deuiding of time. ²⁶But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende. ²⁷And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shalbe giue to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all powers shall serue and obey him. ²⁸Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

¹In the thirde yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto mee at the first. ²And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuier of Vlai. ³Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stode before the riuier a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie:

but one was hier then another, and the hiest came vp last. ⁴I sawe the ramme pusshing against ye West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beastes might stande before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great. ⁵And as I considered, beholde, a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an horne that appeared betweene his eyes. ⁶And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage. ⁷And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that coulde deliuer the ramme out of his power. ⁸Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure windes of ye heauen. ⁹And out of one of them came foorth a litle horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and towarde the pleasant land. ¹⁰Yea, it grewe vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them, ¹¹And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste from whome the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe. ¹²And a time shall be giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper. ¹³Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the armie vnder foote? ¹⁴And he answered me, Vnto the euening and the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shall the

Sanctuarie be clesed. ¹⁵Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stode before me like the similitude of a man. ¹⁶And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called, and sayde, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision. ¹⁷So he came where I stood: and when hee came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shalbe the vision. ¹⁸Nowe as he was speaking vnto me, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place. ¹⁹And he sayde, Beholde, I will shewe thee what shalbe in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come. ²⁰The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians. ²¹And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King. ²²And that that is broken, and foure stode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength. ²³And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp. ²⁴And his power shalbe mightie, but not in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mightie, and the holy people. ²⁵And through his policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stande vp against the prince of princes, but he shalbe broken downe without hand. ²⁶And the vision of the euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes. ²⁷And I Daniel was stricken and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings busines, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

¹In the first yeere of Darius the sonne of Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the realme of the Caldeans, ²Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem. ³And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes. ⁴And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest couenant and mercy toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements, ⁵We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements. ⁶For we would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land. ⁷O Lord, righteousness belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee. ⁸O Lord, vnto vs apperteineth open shame, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee. ⁹Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him. ¹⁰For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had laide before vs by the ministerie of his seruants the Prophets. ¹¹Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him. ¹²And he hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem. ¹³All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth. ¹⁴Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce. ¹⁵And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly. ¹⁶O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproche to all that are about vs.

¹⁷Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy serunant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for the Lords sake. ¹⁸O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousnes, but for thy great tender mercies. ¹⁹O Lord, heare, O Lord forgieue, O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people. ²⁰And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, ²¹Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation. ²²And he informed me, and talked with me, and sayd, O

Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding. ²³At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came foorth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision. ²⁴Seuentie weekes are determined vpon thy people and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoynt the most Holy. ²⁵Knowe therefore and vnderstande, that from the going foorth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall be seuen weekes and threescore and two weekes, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a troublous time. ²⁶And after threescore and two weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall haue nothing,, and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the end thereof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shalbe destroyed by desolations. ²⁷And he shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

¹In the third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the worde was true, but the time appointed was long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision. ²At the same time I Daniel was in heauines for three weekes of dayes. ³I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled. ⁴And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

⁵And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of Vphaz. ⁶His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude. ⁷And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues. ⁸Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I reteined no power. ⁹Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground. ¹⁰And behold, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands. ¹¹And he sayde vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe sent. And when hee had sayde this worde vnto me, I stood trembling. ¹²Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes. ¹³But the prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia. ¹⁴Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision is for many dayes. ¹⁵And when he spake these wordes vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and helde my tongue. ¹⁶And beholde, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stoode before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reteined no strength. ¹⁷For howe can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straight way there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me. ¹⁸Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, ¹⁹And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me. ²⁰Then saide he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but nowe will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come. ²¹But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

¹Also I, in ye first yere of Darius of ye Medes, euen I stood to incourage and to strengthen him.

²And now wil I shew thee ye trueth, Behold, there shall stand vp yet three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia. ³But a mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure. ⁴And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, and shall be deuided towarde the foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides those. ⁵And ye King of ye South shalbe mightie, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominio shalbe a great dominion. ⁶And in the ende of yeeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings daughter of ye South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not reteine the power of the arme, neither shall he continue, nor his arme: but she shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times. ⁷But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile, ⁸And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue more yeeres then the King of the North. ⁹So the King of ye South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land. ¹⁰Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one shall come, and ouerflowe, and passe through: then shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse. ¹¹And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come foorth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for he shall set foorth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand. ¹²Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile. ¹³For the King of the North shall returne, and shall set foorth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come foorth (after certeine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches. ¹⁴And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt them selues to establish the vision, but they shall fall. ¹⁵So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand. ¹⁶But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed. ¹⁷Againe he shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and he shall giue him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but she shall not stande on his side, neither bee for him. ¹⁸After this shall he turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe. ¹⁹For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more founde. ²⁰Then shall stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell. ²¹And in his place shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obteine the kingdome by flatteries. ²²And the armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the couenant. ²³And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and overcome with a small people. ²⁴He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall deuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a time. ²⁵Also he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him. ²⁶Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be slaine. ²⁷And both these Kings hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaille: for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed. ²⁸Then shall he returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land. ²⁹At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first. ³⁰For the shippes of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sorie and returne, and freat against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant. ³¹And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation. ³²And such as wickedly breake ye couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile and prosper. ³³And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile many dayes. ³⁴Nowe when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a litle helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them fainedly. ³⁵And some of the of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed. ³⁶And the King shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against ye God of gods, and shall prosper, till ye wrath be accomplished: for ye determination is made. ³⁷Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all. ³⁸But in his place shall he honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall he honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things. ³⁹Thus shall he do in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many and shall deuide ye land for gaine. ⁴⁰And at ye end of time shall the King of the South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shall enter into ye countreis, and shall ouerflow and passe through. ⁴¹He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countreis shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon. ⁴²He shall stretch foorth his hands also vpon the countreis, and ye land of Egypt shall not escape. ⁴³But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe. ⁴⁴But the tidings out of the East and the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall goe foorth with great wrath to destroy and roote out many. ⁴⁵And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

¹And at that time shall Michael stand vp, ye great prince, which standeth for ye children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall be foud written in ye boke. ²And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt. ³And they that be wise, shall shine, as ye brightnes of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousnes, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer. ⁴But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the boke til the end of the time: many shall run to and from, and knowledge shall be increased. ⁵Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, ye one on this side of ye brinke of ye riuier, and the other on that side of ye brinke of the riuier. ⁶And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon ye waters of the riuier, When shalbe the ende of these wonders? ⁷And I heard ye man clothed in line which was vpon the waters of the riuier, when he helde vp his right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tarie for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished. ⁸The I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: the said I, O my Lord, what shalbe ye end of these things? ⁹And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for ye words are closed vp, and sealed, till the ende of the time. ¹⁰Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand. ¹¹And from the time that the daily sacrifice shalbe take away and the abominable desolatio set vp, there shalbe a thousand, two hundreth and ninetie daies. ¹²Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand, three hundreth and fiue and thirtie daies. ¹³But go thou thy way til the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of ye daies.

HOSEA

¹The worde of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beerī, in the daies of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of

Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel. ²At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord. ³So he went, and tooke Gomer, ye daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne. ⁴And the Lord said vnto him, Cal his name Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel. ⁵And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel. ⁶She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God saide vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I wil vtterly take them away. ⁷Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and wil saue them by the Lord their God, and wil not saue them by bow, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen. ⁸Nowe when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, shee conceiued, and bare a sonne. ⁹Then saide God, Call his name Lo-ammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours. ¹⁰Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sande of the sea, which can not be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was saide vnto them, Yee are not my people, it shall be saide vnto them, Yee are the sonnes of the liuing God. ¹¹Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint them selues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izreel.

¹Say vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah, ²Plead with your mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betweene her breasts. ³Lest I strippe her naked, and set her as in the day that shee was borne, and make her as a wildernes, and leaue her like a drie land, and slaie her for thirst. ⁴And I wil haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications. ⁵For their mother hath plaid the harlot: she that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for shee said, I will goe after my louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke. ⁶Therefore beholde, I will stoope thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her pathes. ⁷Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall shee not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then nowe. ⁸Nowe she did not knowe that I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal. ⁹Therefore wil I returne, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wool and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame. ¹⁰And now will I discouer her lewdnes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand. ¹¹I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast daies, her newe moones, and her Sabbathes, and all her solemne feasts. ¹²And I wil destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them. ¹³And I wil visit vpon her the daies of Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her earings and her iewels, and shee folowed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord. ¹⁴Therefore beholde, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her. ¹⁵And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the daies of her youth, and as in the daies when shee came vp out of the land of Egypt. ¹⁶And at that day, sayeth the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call me no more Baali. ¹⁷For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembred by their names. ¹⁸And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely. ¹⁹And I wil marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion. ²⁰I will euen marry thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt knowe the Lord. ²¹And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, ²²And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel. ²³And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, 'Thou art my people. And they shall say, 'Thou art my God.

¹Then said the Lord to me, Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottels. ²So I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie. ³And I said vnto her, 'Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee. ⁴For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a King and without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod and without Teraphim. ⁵Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and Dauid their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

¹Heare the worde of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the lande, because there is no trueth nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the lande.

²By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring they breake out, and blood toucheth blood. ³Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the fiede, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away. ⁴Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest. ⁵Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother. ⁶My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Lawe of thy God, I will also forget thy children. ⁷As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I chaunge their glorie into shame. ⁸They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie. ⁹And there shalbe like people, like Priest: for I wil visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes. ¹⁰For they shall eate, and not haue ynough: they shall commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to ye Lord. ¹¹Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart. ¹²My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirite of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God. ¹³They sacrifice vpon the toppes of ye mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores. ¹⁴I will not visite your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall. ¹⁵Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth. ¹⁶For Israel is rebellious as an vnruely heyfer. Nowe the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place. ¹⁷Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone. ¹⁸Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye. ¹⁹The winde hath bounde them vp in her wings, and they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

¹O ye Priestes, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is towarde you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor. ²Yet they were profounde, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all. ³I knowe Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for nowe, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled. ⁴They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knownen the Lord. ⁵And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them. ⁶They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawne himselfe from them. ⁷They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotte strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions. ⁸Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Ramah: crie out at Beth-auen, after thee, O Benjamin. ⁹Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to knowe the trueth. ¹⁰The princes of Iudah were like them that remoue the bounde: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water. ¹¹Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandement. ¹²Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse. ¹³When Ephraim sawe his sickenes, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Asshur, and sent vnto King Iareb: yet coulde hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound. ¹⁴For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it. ¹⁵I will go, and returne to my place, til they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

¹Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp. ²After two dayes will he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight. ³Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth. ⁴O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away. ⁵Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth. ⁶For I desired mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings. ⁷But they like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me. ⁸Gilead is a cite of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood. ⁹And as the eues waite for a man, so the companie of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief. ¹⁰I haue seene vileny in the house of Israel: there is ye whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled. ¹¹Yea, Iudah hath set a plant for thee, whiles I woulde returne ye captiuitie of my people.

¹When I woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without. ²And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednes:

now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight. ³They make the King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies. ⁴They are all adulterers, and as a very ouen heated by ye baker, which ceaseth from raying vp, and from kneading ye dough vntill it be leauened. ⁵This is the day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scornors. ⁶For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire. ⁷They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me. ⁸Ephraim hath mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned. ⁹Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray heares are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not. ¹⁰And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this. ¹¹Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur. ¹²But when they shall go, I will spread my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastice them as their congregation hath heard. ¹³Wo vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lyes against me. ¹⁴And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they houled vpon their beds: they assembled themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me. ¹⁵Though I haue boud and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me. ¹⁶They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

¹Set the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe. ²Israel shall crie vnto me, My God, we know thee. ³Israel hath cast off ye thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him. ⁴They haue set vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed. ⁵Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: howe long will they be without innocencie! ⁶For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces. ⁷For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no stalke: the budde shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it. ⁸Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure. ⁹For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers. ¹⁰Yet though they

haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they shall sorowe a litle, for the burden of the King and the princes. ¹¹Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne. ¹²I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a strange thing. ¹³They sacrifice flesh for ye sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt. ¹⁴For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will sende a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

¹Reioice not, O Israel for ioy as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued a rewarde vpon euery corne floore. ²The floore, and the wine presse shall not feede them, and the newe wine shall faile in her. ³They wil not dwel in the Lordes lande, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur. ⁴They shall not offer wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: al that eate thereof, shalbe polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord. ⁵What wil ye do then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord? ⁶For loe, they are gone from destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles. ⁷The daies of visitation are come: the daies of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: the Prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great. ⁸The watchman of Ephraim shoulde bee with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his waies, and hatred in the House of his God. ⁹They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the daies of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes. ¹⁰I found Israel like grapes in the wildernes: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers. ¹¹Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a birde: from the birth and from the wombe, and from the conception. ¹²Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them. ¹³Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer. ¹⁴O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a baren wombe and drie breasts. ¹⁵All their wickednesse is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels. ¹⁶Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring foorth, yet will I slaie euen the dearest of their bodie. ¹⁷My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

¹Israel is a emptie vine, yet hath it brought foorth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images. ²Their heart is deuided: nowe shall they be founde faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images. ³For now they shall say, We haue no King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs? ⁴They haue spoken woordes, swearing falsly in making a couenant: thus iudgement groweth as wormewoode in the furrowes of the felde. ⁵The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it. ⁶It shall bee also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell. ⁷Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed as the some vpon the water. ⁸The hie places also of Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs. ⁹O Israel, thou hast sinned from the daies of Gibeah: there they stode: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them. ¹⁰It is my desire that I should chastice them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two furrowes. ¹¹And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delite in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his cloddes. ¹²Sowe to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercy: breake vp your fallowe groundes: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousness vpon you.

¹³But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruite of lies: because thou didest trust in thine owne waies, and in the multitude of thy strong men, ¹⁴Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Beth-arbell in the daie of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces. ¹⁵So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

¹When Israel was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt. ²They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images. ³I ledde Ephraim also, as one shoulde beare them in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them. ⁴I led them with cordes of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laide the meat vnto them. ⁵He shall no more returne into the lande of Egypt: but Asshur shalbe his King, because they refused to conuert. ⁶And the sworde shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels. ⁷And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most hie, yet none at all would exalt him. ⁸Howe shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? howe shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? howe shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: my repentings are rouled together. ⁹I wil not execute ye fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the citie. ¹⁰They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare. ¹¹They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue of the lande of Asshur, and

I will place them in their houses, sayth the Lord. ¹²Ephraim copasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

¹Ephraim is fed with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they do make a couenant with Asshur, and oyle is caried into Egypt. ²The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his waies: according to his workes, wil he recompence him. ³Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had power with God, ⁴And had power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and praied vnto him: he founde him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs. ⁵Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall. ⁶Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God. ⁷He is Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse. ⁸And Ephraim saide, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, that were wickednesse. ⁹Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwel in the tabernacles, as in the daies of the solemne feast. ¹⁰I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets. ¹¹Is there iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field. ¹²And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe. ¹³And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued. ¹⁴But Ephraim prouoked him with hie places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproche shall his Lord reward him.

¹When Ephraim spake, there was trembling: hee exalted him selfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead. ²And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the woorke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calues. ³Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlwind out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney. ⁴Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt knowe no God but me: for there is no Sauour beside me. ⁵I did knowe thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought. ⁶As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me. ⁷And I wil be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur. ⁸I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beast shall teare them. ⁹O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe. ¹⁰I am: where is thy King, that shoulde help thee in al thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saidest, Giue me a King, and princes? ¹¹I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath. ¹²The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid. ¹³The sorowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stande still at the time, euen at the breaking forth of the children. ¹⁴I wil redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death, I wil be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes. ¹⁵Though he grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dried vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

¹Samaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shalbe dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript. ²O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie. ³Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our lippes. ⁴Asshur shall not saue vs, neither wil we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie. ⁵I wil heale their rebellion: I wil loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him. ⁶I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall grow as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon. ⁷His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon. ⁸They that dwel vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and florish as the vine: the sent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon. ⁹Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruite founde. (Hosea) Who is wise, and he shall vnderstande these things? and prudent, and he shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

JOEL

¹The worde of the Lord that came to Joel the sonne of Pethuel. ²Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitantes of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers. ³Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation. ⁴That which is left of ye palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of ye grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten. ⁵Awake ye drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shalbe pulled from your mouth. ⁶Yea, a nation commeth vpon my lande, mightie, and without nomber, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon. ⁷He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: ye branches therof are made white. ⁸Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth. ⁹The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne. ¹⁰The field is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed. ¹¹Be ye ashamed, O husband men: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate, and for the barly, because the haruest of the field is perished. ¹²The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men. ¹³Gerde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God. ¹⁴Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, ¹⁵Alas: for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty. ¹⁶Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God? ¹⁷The seede is rotten vnder their cloddes: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered. ¹⁸How did the beasts mourne! the herdes of cattel pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed. ¹⁹O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the fiede. ²⁰The beasts of the fiede cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

¹Blowe the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the lande tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand. ²A day of darknesse, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spred vpon the mountaines, so is there a great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shalbe any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations. ³A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him. ⁴The beholding of

him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne. ⁵Like the noyse of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battel. ⁶Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse. ⁷They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths. ⁸Neither shall one thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded. ⁹They shall runne to and from in the citie: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at ye windowes like ye thiefe. ¹⁰The earth shall tremble before him, ye heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining, ¹¹And the Lord shall vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strog that doeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it? ¹²Therefore also now the Lord sayth, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, ¹³And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill. ¹⁴Who knoweth, is he wil returne and repent and leaue a blessing behinde him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto ye Lord your God? ¹⁵Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly. ¹⁶Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber. ¹⁷Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen should rule ouer them. Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God? ¹⁸Then will the Lord be ielous ouer his land, and spare his people. ¹⁹Yea, the Lord wil answere and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shalbe satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproche among the heathen, ²⁰But I will remooue farre off from you the Northren armie, and I will driue him into a land, barren and desolate with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to do this. ²¹Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord wil do great things. ²²Be not afrayde, ye beastes of the fielde: for the pastures of the wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree and the vine do giue their force. ²³Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath giuen you the rayne of righteousness, he wil cause to come downe for you the rayne, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

²⁴And the barnes shalbe full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle. ²⁵And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpillar and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

²⁶So you shall eate and be satisfied and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

²⁷Ye shall also know, that I am in the middes of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed. ²⁸And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophecie: your olde men shall dreame dreames, and your yong men shall see visions, ²⁹And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes wil I powre my Spirit.

³⁰And I will shewe wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

³¹The sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

³²But whosoeuer shall call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

¹For beholde, in those dayes and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem, ²I will also gather all nations, and wil bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land. ³And they haue cast lottes for my people, and haue giuen the childe for the harlot, and sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke. ⁴Yea, and what haue you to do with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the costes of Palestina? will ye render me a recompence? and if ye recompence mee, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head: ⁵For ye haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things. ⁶The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border. ⁷Beholde, I will rayse them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head, ⁸And I will send your sonnes and your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it. ⁹Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere and come vp. ¹⁰Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong. ¹¹Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe the mightie men. ¹²Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about. ¹³Put in your sithes, for the haruest is ripe:

come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great. ¹⁴O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing. ¹⁵The sunne and moone shalbe darkened, and the starres shall withdrawe their light. ¹⁶The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord wil be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel. ¹⁷So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem bee holy, and there shall no strangers go thorowe her any more. ¹⁸And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe newe wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and al the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim. ¹⁹Egypt shalbe waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the childe of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land. ²⁰But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation. ²¹For I will cense their blood, that I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

AMOS

¹The wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen at Tecoa, which he sawe vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel, two yeere before the earthquake. ²And he saide, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the top of Carmel shall wither, ³Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron. ⁴Therefore will I sende a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben-hadad. ⁵I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, sayth the Lord. ⁶Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom. ⁷Therefore will I sende a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof. ⁸And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, sayth the Lord God. ⁹Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the brotherly couenant. ¹⁰Therefore wil I send a fire vpon ye walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof. ¹¹Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sworde, and did cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

¹²Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah. ¹³Thus sayth ye Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

¹⁴Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwinde. ¹⁵And their King shall go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

¹Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime. ²Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet. ³And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, sayth the Lord. ⁴Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandementes, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked. ⁵Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem. ⁶Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer and the poore for shooes. ⁷They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour mine holy Name. ⁸And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God. ⁹Yet destroyed I the Amorite before the, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath. ¹⁰Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeres thorowe the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite. ¹¹And I raysed vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, sayth the Lord? ¹²But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophetes, saying, Prophecie not. ¹³Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues. ¹⁴Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life. ¹⁵Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neyther shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life. ¹⁶And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, sayth the Lord.

¹Heare this worde that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying, ²You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities. ³Can two walke together except they bee agreed? ⁴Will a lion roare in ye forest, when he hath no pray? or wil a lions whelp cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing? ⁵Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all? ⁶Or shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shall there be euil in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it? ⁷Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he reueileth his secrete vnto his seruantes the Prophets. ⁸The lyon hath roared: who will not bee afraide? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophecie? ⁹Proclayme in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and saye, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

¹⁰For they knowe not to doe right, sayth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbery in their palaces. ¹¹Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen rounde about the cuntry, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled. ¹²Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherde taketh out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus, as in a couche. ¹³Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes. ¹⁴Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I wil also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground. ¹⁵And I wil smite the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, sayth the Lord.

¹Heare this worde, ye kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke. ²The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee wil take you away with thornes, and your posteritie with fish hookes. ³And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kow forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord. ⁴Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeres. ⁵And offer a thankesgiuing of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offrings: for this liketh you,

O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God. ⁶And therefore haue I giuen you cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. ⁷And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered. ⁸So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. ⁹I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. ¹⁰Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sworde, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. ¹¹I haue ouerthrowe you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. ¹²Therefore, thus wil I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I wil doe this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel. ¹³For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

¹Heare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel. ²The virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raise her vp. ³For thus saith ye Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel. ⁴For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue. ⁵But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought. ⁶Seeke the Lord, and yee shall liue, least he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el. ⁷They turne iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousnes in the earth. ⁸He maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. ⁹He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse. ¹⁰They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly. ¹¹Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and yee take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue plated pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them. ¹²For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in ye gate. ¹³Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time. ¹⁴Seeke good and not euil, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shalbe with you, as you haue spoken. ¹⁵Hate the euil, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph. ¹⁶Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shalbe in all streetes: and they shall say in al the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning. ¹⁷And in al the vines shalbe lamentation: for I wil passe through thee, saith the Lord. ¹⁸Woe vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkenes and not light.

¹⁹As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him. ²⁰Shal not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it? ²¹I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I wil not smell in your solemne assemblies. ²²Though ye offer me burnt offrings and meat offrings, I wil not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offrings of your fat beasts. ²³Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I wil not heare the melodie of thy violes) ²⁴And let iudgement runne downe as waters, and righteousnesse as a mightie riuer. ²⁵Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offrings in the wilderness fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel? ²⁶But you haue borne Siccuth your King, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues. ²⁷Therefore wil I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

¹Woe to them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the moutaine of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them. ²Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border, ³Ye that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquitie? ⁴They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beddes, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall. ⁵They sing to the sounde of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musike like Dauid. ⁶They drinke wine in bowles, and anoynt themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is sory for the affliction of Ioseph. ⁷Therefore nowe shall they go captiue with the first that go captiue, and the sorow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand. ⁸The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore wil I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein. ⁹And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die. ¹⁰And his vnkle shall take him vp and burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by ye sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord. ¹¹For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts. ¹²Shal horses runne vpon the rocke? or wil one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousnes into wormewood. ¹³Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs hornes by our owne strength? ¹⁴But behold, I wil raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of Hamath vnto the riuier of the wildernes.

¹Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, he formed grasshoppers in the beginning of ye shooting vp of the latter grouth: and loe, it was in the latter grouth after the Kings mowing. ²And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I saide, O Lord God, spare, I beseeche thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small. ³So the Lord repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord. ⁴Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part. ⁵Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseeche thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small. ⁶So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God. ⁷Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stooode vpon a wall made by line with a line in his hand. ⁸And the Lord saide vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Beholde, I wil set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and wil passe by them no more. ⁹And the hye places of Izhak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and I wil rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sworde. ¹⁰Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the lande is not able to beare all his wordes. ¹¹For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sworde, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land. ¹²Also Amaziah sayde vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there. ¹³But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappel, and it is the Kings court. ¹⁴Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of wilde figs. ¹⁵And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Go, prophecie vnto my people Israel. ¹⁶Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Izhak. ¹⁷Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be deuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

¹Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruite. ²And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of sommer fruite. Then sayd the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I wil passe by them no more. ³And the songs of the Temple shalbe howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with silence. ⁴Heare this, O yee that swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the lande to fayle, ⁵Saying, When will the newe moneth bee gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit? ⁶That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate. ⁷The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes. ⁸Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall bee cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt. ⁹And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day. ¹⁰And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnes vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day. ¹¹Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord. ¹²And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and from to seeke the worde of the Lord, and shall not finde it. ¹³In that day shall the faire virgines and the yong men perish for thirst. ¹⁴They that sweare by the sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

¹I sawe the Lord standing vpon the altar, and he sayde, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered. ²Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe. ³And though they hide them selues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, thence will I commande the serpent, and he shall bite them. ⁴And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence wil I commande the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good. ⁵And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and al that dwel therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall bee drowned as by the flood of Egypt. ⁶He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. ⁷Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto mee, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir? ⁸Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuerthelesse I will not vtterly destroy the house of

Iaakob, saith the Lord. ⁹For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth. ¹⁰But all the sinners of my people shall dye by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs. ¹¹In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of Daud, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches therof, and I will rayse vp his ruines, and I will builde it, as in the dayes of olde, ¹²That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayeth the Lord, that doeth this. ¹³Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall touche the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt. ¹⁴And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabite the, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them. ¹⁵And I wil plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their lande, which I haue giuen them, sayeth the Lord thy God.

OBADIAH

¹The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, We haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battel. ²Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised. ³The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground? ⁴Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, sayth the

Lord. ⁵Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? howe wast thou brought to silence? woulde they not haue stolen, til they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, woulde they not leaue some grapes? ⁶Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched? ⁷All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to ye borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him. ⁸Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau? ⁹And thy strong men, O Teman, shall bee afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter. ¹⁰For thy crueltie against thy brother Iakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer. ¹¹When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and straungers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon

Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them. ¹²But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction. ¹³Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction. ¹⁴Neyther shouldest thou haue stande in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that shoulde escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction. ¹⁵For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head. ¹⁶For as yee haue drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shalbe as though they had not bene. ¹⁷But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, ¹⁸And the house of Iaakob shalbe a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall bee no remnant of the house of Esau for the Lord hath spoken it. ¹⁹And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilead. ²⁰And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South. ²¹And they that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

JONAH

¹The worde of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying, ²Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that great citie, and crye against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before mee. ³But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Iapho: and he founde a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord. ⁴But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken. ⁵Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of the: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast a sleepe. ⁶So the shipmaster came to him, and saide vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish

not. ⁷And they saide euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lottes, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Ionah. ⁸Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou? ⁹And he answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry lande. ¹⁰Then were the men exceedingly afrayde, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had tolde them) ¹¹Then saide they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous) ¹²And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you. ¹³Neuerthesse, the men rowed to bring it to the lande, but they coulde not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them. ¹⁴Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee. ¹⁵So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging. ¹⁶Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vows. ¹⁷Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallowe vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nightes.

¹Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly, ²And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the bellie of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce. ³For thou haddest cast me into the bottome in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me. ⁴Then I saide, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe towarde thine holy Temple. ⁵The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me rounde about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head. ⁶I went downe to the bottome of the moutaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God. ⁷When my soule fainted within me, I remembred the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple. ⁸They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie. ⁹But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord. ¹⁰And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry lande.

¹And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ionah the seconde time, saying, ²Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee. ³So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to

ye word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney. ⁴And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen. ⁵So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from ye greatest of the euen to the least of them. ⁶For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he rose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes. ⁷And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsell of ye king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor beast, bullock nor sheep taste any thing, neither feed nor drinke water. ⁸But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their handes. ⁹Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not? ¹⁰And God sawe their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he woulde doe vnto them, and he did it not.

¹Therefore it displeased Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry. ²And he prayed vnto the Lord, and saide, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill. ³Therefore nowe O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue. ⁴Then saide the Lord, Doest thou well to be angry? ⁵So Ionah went out of the citie and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe till he might see what should be done in the citie. ⁶And the Lord God prepared a gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourde. ⁷But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered. ⁸And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to dye, then to liue. ⁹And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angrie for the gourde? And he said, I doe well to be angrie vnto the death. ¹⁰Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, ¹¹And shoulde not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are sixe score thousande persons, that cannot discerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

MICAH

¹The word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he sawe concerning Samaria, and Ierusalem. ²Heare, al ye people: hearke thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnes against you, euen ye Lord from his holy Teple. ³For beholde, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come downe, and tread vpon the hie places of the earth. ⁴And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downewarde. ⁵For the wickednes of Iaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iaakob? Is not Samaria? and which are the hie places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem? ⁶Therefore I wil make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof. ⁷And all the grauen images thereof shalbe broken, and all the giftes thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot. ⁸Therefore I will mourne and howle: I wil goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches. ⁹For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem. ¹⁰Declare ye it not at Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust. ¹¹Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, go together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in ye mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemy shall receiue of you for his standing. ¹²For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem. ¹³O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beastes of price: she is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee. ¹⁴Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lye to the Kings of Israel. ¹⁵Yet will I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, the glorie of Israel. ¹⁶Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

¹Woe vnto them, that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: when the morning is light they practise it because their hande hath power. ²And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage. ³Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euill. ⁴In that daye shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, We be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto mee? he hath deuided our fieldes. ⁵Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a corde by lot in the Congregation of the Lord. ⁶They that prophecied, Prophecie ye not. They shall not prophecie to them, neither shall they take shame. ⁷O thou that art named of the house of Iaakob, is the Spirite of the Lord shortened? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh vprightly? ⁸But hee that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against anemie: they spoyle the beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre. ⁹The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their childre haue ye taken away my glorie continually. ¹⁰Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction. ¹¹If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, I wil prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the prophet of this people. ¹²I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cities shall be full of brute of the men. ¹³The breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their King shall goe before them, and the Lord shalbe vpon their heades.

¹And I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should not ye knowe iudgement? ²But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinnnes from them, and their flesh from their bones. ³And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron. ⁴Then shall they crye vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he wil euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes. ⁵Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and cry peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him, ⁶Therefore night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darknesse shalbe vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them. ⁷Then shall the Seers bee ashamed, and the southsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lippes, for they haue none answere of God. ⁸Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the Spirite of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne. ⁹Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie. ¹⁰They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie. ¹¹The heads thereof iudge for rewardes, and the Priestes thereof teache for hyre, and the prophets thereof prophecie for money: yet wil they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs. ¹²Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hye places of the forest.

¹But in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shall bee exalted aboue the hilles, and people shall flowe vnto it. ²Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teache vs his wayes, and we wil walke in his pathes: for the Lawe shall goe forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem. ³And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their

swordes into mattockes, and their speares into sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more. ⁴But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it. ⁵For all people will walke euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer. ⁶At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted. ⁷And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in Mount Zion, from hence forth euen for euer. ⁸And thou, O towre of the flock, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem. ⁹Nowe why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is there no King in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for sorowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile. ¹⁰Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for nowe shalt thou goe foorth of the citie, and dwel in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies. ¹¹Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned and our eye shall looke vpon Zion. ¹²But they knowe not the thoughtes of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne. ¹³Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

¹Nowe assemble thy garisons, O daughter of garisons: he hath layed siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke. ²And thou

Beth-leem Ephrathah art litle to bee among the thousandes of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting. ³Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that shee which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel. ⁴And he shall stand, and feed in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwel still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world. ⁵And hee shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our lande: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepherdes, and eight principall men. ⁶And they shall destroy Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swordes: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our lande, and when he shall tread within our borders. ⁷And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam. ⁸And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beastes of the forest, and as the lyons whelp among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer. ⁹Thine hand shall bee lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off. ¹⁰And it shall come to passe in that day, sayth the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets. ¹¹And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes. ¹²And I will cut off thine enchanter out of thine hande: and thou shalt haue no more southsayers. ¹³Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worcke of thine hands. ¹⁴And I wil plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies. ¹⁵And I will execute a vegeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

¹Hearken ye nowe what the Lord sayth, Arise thou, and contende before the mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce. ²Heare ye, O mountaynes, the Lordes quarel, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel. ³O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherin haue I grieved thee? testifie against me. ⁴Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam. ⁵O my people, remember nowe what Balak King of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may knowe the righteousnes of the Lord. ⁶Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offrings, and with calues of a yeere olde? ⁷Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my bodie, for the sinne of my soule? ⁸He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God. ⁹The Lordes voyce cryeth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: Heare the rodde, and who hath appoynted it. ¹⁰Are yet the treasures of wickednes in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable? ¹¹Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weightes? ¹²For the rich men thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth. ¹³Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes. ¹⁴Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sworde. ¹⁵Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine. ¹⁶For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproche of my people.

¹Woe is me, for I am as the sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites. ²The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net. ³To make good for the euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrapt it vp. ⁴The best of them is as a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shalbe their confusion. ⁵Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome. ⁶For the sonne reuileth the father: ye daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house. ⁷Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauour: my God will heare me. ⁸Reioyce not against me, O mineemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me. ⁹I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me foorth to the light, and I

¹⁰Then she that is mineemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes. ¹¹This is ye day, that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away the decree. ¹²In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuier, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine. ¹³Notwithstanding, the lande shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of their inuentions. ¹⁴Feed thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time. ¹⁵According to the dayes of thy comming out of the lande of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things. ¹⁶The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hande vpon their mouth: their eaes shall be deafe. ¹⁷They shall licke the dust like a serpent: they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee. ¹⁸Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him. ¹⁹He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottome of the sea. ²⁰Thou wilt perfourme thy trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

NAHUM

¹The burden of Nineueh. The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite. ²God is ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies. ³The Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in ye whirlwind, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete. ⁴He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted. ⁵The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the worlde, and all that dwell therein. ⁶Who can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him. ⁷The Lord is good and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him. ⁸But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the place thereof, and darknesse shall pursue his enemies. ⁹What doe ye imagine against the Lord? he wil make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the seconde time. ¹⁰For he shall come as vnto thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried. ¹¹There commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour. ¹²Thus saith the Lord, Though they be quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more. ¹³For nowe I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder. ¹⁴And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile. ¹⁵Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, perfourme thy vows: for the wicked shall no more passe thorowe thee: he is vtterly cut off.

¹The destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily. ²For the Lord hath turned away the glorie of Iaakob, as the glorie of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches. ³The shield of his mightie men is made red: the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shalbe as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and the firre trees shall tremble. ⁴The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and from in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning. ⁵He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall bee prepared. ⁶The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shall melt. ⁷And Huzzab the Queene shalbe led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breastes. ⁸But Nineueh is of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stande, stande, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe. ⁹Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glorie of all the pleasant vessels. ¹⁰She is emptie and voyde and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorowe is in all loynes, and the faces of the all gather blackenesse. ¹¹Where is the dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lyon, and the lionesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, and none made them afraide. ¹²The lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and woryed for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with, spoyle. ¹³Beholde, I come vnto thee, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the smoke, and the sworde shall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

¹O bloody citie, it is all full of lyes, and robberie: the pray departeth not: ²The noyse of a

whippe, and the noyse of the mouing of the wheelles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets. ³The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodyes are many: there is none ende of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses, ⁴Because of the multitude of the fornications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth the people thorow her whoredome, and the nations thorowe her witchcrafts. ⁵Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discouer thy skirtes vpon thy face, and will shewe the nations thy filthines, and the kingdomes thy shame. ⁶And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gasing stocke. ⁷And it shall come to passe, that al they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee? ⁸Art thou better then No, which was ful of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditche was the sea, and her wall was from the sea? ⁹Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were her helpers. ¹⁰Yet was she caried away, and went into captiuitie: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lottes for her noble men, and al her myghtie men were bound in chaines. ¹¹Also thou shalt bee drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe because of the enemye. ¹²All thy strong cities shall be like figtrees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater. ¹³Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and ye fire shall deuoure thy barres. ¹⁴Drawe thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: go into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong bricke. ¹⁵There shall ye fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the locustes, though thou bee multiplied like the locustes, and multiplied like the grasshopper. ¹⁶Thou hast multiplied thy marchantes about the starres of heauen: the locust spoileth and flyeth away. ¹⁷Thy princes are as the grasshoppers, and thy captaines as the great grasshoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away and their place is not knowen where they are. ¹⁸Thy shepheardes doe sleepe, O King of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them. ¹⁹There is no healing of thy wounde: thy plague is grievous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

HABAKKUK

¹The burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see. ²O Lord, howe long shall I crye, and thou wilt not heare! euen crye out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe! ³Why doest thou shewe mee iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that rayse vp strife and contention. ⁴Therefore the Lawe is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth compasse about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth. ⁵Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: yee will not beleue it, though it be tolde you. ⁶For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the lande to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs. ⁷They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of theselues. ⁸Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate. ⁹They come all to spoyle: before their faces shalbe an Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, as the sand. ¹⁰And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a skorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

¹¹Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god. ¹²Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

¹³Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he? ¹⁴And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them. ¹⁵They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad. ¹⁶Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat and their meat plenteous. ¹⁷Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay the nations?

¹I will stand vpon my watch, and set me vpon the towre, and wil looke and see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

²And the Lord answered me, and sayde, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne that readeth it. ³For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay. ⁴Beholde, he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his fayth, ⁵Yea, in deede the proude man is as hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people. ⁶Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? howe long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay? ⁷Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their praye? ⁸Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein. ⁹Ho, he that coueteth an euil couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euil. ¹⁰Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule. ¹¹For the stone shall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it. ¹²Wo vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie. ¹³Beholde, is it not of the Lord of hostes that the people shall labour in ye very fire? the people shall euen weary themselues for very vanitie. ¹⁴For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea. ¹⁵Wo vnto him that giueth his neighbour drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities. ¹⁶Thou art filled with shame for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glory. ¹⁷For the crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein. ¹⁸What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles. ¹⁹Wo vnto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: beholde, it is layde ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it. ²⁰But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

¹A prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorances. ²O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lord, reuiue thy worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeres make it known: in wrath remember mercy. ³God commeth from Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his prayse, ⁴And his brightnes was as the light: he had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power. ⁵Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete. ⁶He stode and measured the earth: he behelde and dissolued the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bowe: his wayes are euerlasting. ⁷For his iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble. ⁸Was the Lord angry against the riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation. ⁹Thy bowe was manifestly reueiled, and the othes of the tribes were a sure worde, Selah. thou diddest cleaue the earth with riuers. ¹⁰The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie. ¹¹The sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares. ¹²Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and didest thresh the heathen in displeasure. ¹³Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the necke, Selah. ¹⁴Thou didest strike thorowe with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirle winde to scatter me: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

¹⁵Thou didest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters. ¹⁶When I heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble: for whe he commeth vp vnto the people, he shall destroy them. ¹⁷For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the folde, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles. ¹⁸But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation. ¹⁹The Lord God is my strength: hee will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

ZEPHANIAH

¹The word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah ye sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the

sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon King of Iudah. ²I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord. ³I will destroy man and beast: I wil destroy the foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord. ⁴I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I wil cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with ye Priestes, ⁵And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham, ⁶And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him. ⁷Be stil at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests. ⁸And it shalbe in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the Kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell. ⁹In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite. ¹⁰And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles. ¹¹Howle ye inhabitants of the lowe place: for the companie of the marchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off. ¹²And at that time will I searche Ierusalem with lightes, and visite the men that are frozen in their dregges, and say in their heartes, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

¹³Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof. ¹⁴The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

¹⁵That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blackenesse, ¹⁶A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the hie towres. ¹⁷And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dongue. ¹⁸Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in ye day of the Lords wrath, but the whole lande shalbe deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

¹Gather your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthie to be loued, ²Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you. ³Seeke yee the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so bee that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath. ⁴For Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shalbe rooted vp. ⁵Wo vnto the inhabitants of the sea coast. the nation of the Cherethims, the worde of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the lande of the Philistims, I will euen destroye thee without an inhabitant. ⁶And the sea coast shall be dwellings and cotages for shepherdes and sheepefoldes. ⁷And that coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie. ⁸I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their borders. ⁹Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettels and salt pittes, and a perpetuall desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoyle them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them. ¹⁰This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched and magnified themselves against the Lord of hostes people. ¹¹The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for he wil consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen. ¹²Ye Morians also shalbe slaine by my sword with them. ¹³And he wil stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderness. ¹⁴And flockes shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the pelicane, and the owle shall abide in the vpper postes of it: the voyce of birdes shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shalbe vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncovered. ¹⁵This is the reioycing citie that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beastes! euery one that passeth by her, shall hisse and wagge his hand.

¹Woe to her that is filthie and polluted, to the robbing citie. ²She heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God. ³Her princes within her are as roaring lyons: her iudges are as wolues in the euening, which leaue not the bones till the morow. ⁴Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wrested the Lawe. ⁵The iust Lord is in the middes thereof: he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth hee bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed. ⁶I haue cut off the nations: their towres are desolate: I haue made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant. ⁷I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling shoulde not be destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but they rose earely and corrupted all their workes. ⁸Therefore wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie. ⁹Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one cosent. ¹⁰From beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shall bring me an offering. ¹¹In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy workes, wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then I will take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proude of mine holy Mountaine. ¹²Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord. ¹³The remnant of Israel shall do none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraide. ¹⁴Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

¹⁵The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: hee hath cast out thine enemye: the King of Israel, euen the Lord is in the middes of thee: thou shalt see no more euill.

¹⁶In that day it shalbe said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine handes be faint. ¹⁷The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mightie: hee will saue, hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioye: he will quiet himselfe in his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy. ¹⁸After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it. ¹⁹Beholde, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the landes of their shame. ²⁰At that time wil I bring you againe, and then wil I gather you: for I wil giue you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

HAGGAI

¹In the second yeere of King Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came ye worde of the Lord (by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying, ²Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords House should be builded. ³Then came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, ⁴Is it time for your selues to dwell in your sieled houses, and this House lie waste? ⁵Now therefore thus saith ye Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts. ⁶Ye haue sowed much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge. ⁷Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts. ⁸Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and I wil be fauourable in it, and I will be glorified, sayth the Lord. ⁹Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe vpon it. And why, sayth the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house. ¹⁰Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite. ¹¹And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth foorth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands. ¹²When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their

God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord. ¹³Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, sayth the Lord. ¹⁴And the Lord stirred vp the spirite of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hostes their God.

¹In the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of King Darius, ²In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, ³Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying, ⁴Who is left among you, that sawe this House in her first glory, and howe doe you see it now? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing? ⁵Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, sayth the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, sayth the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, sayth the Lord of hostes, ⁶According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirite shall remaine among you, feare ye not. ⁷For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land: ⁸And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, sayth the Lord of hostes. ⁹The siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, sayth the Lord of hostes. ¹⁰The glory of this last House shall be greater then the first, sayth the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, sayth the Lord of hostes. ¹¹In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying, ¹²Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say, ¹³If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the potage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No. ¹⁴Then sayde Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and sayd, It shalbe vncleane. ¹⁵Then answered Haggai, and sayd, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane. ¹⁶And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layde vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord: ¹⁷Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie. ¹⁸I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

¹⁹Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laide: consider it in your mindes. ²⁰Is the seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you. ²¹And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying, ²²Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I wil shake the heauens and the earth, ²³And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I wil destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I wil ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother. (Haggai :) In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lord, and wil make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hoste

ZECHARIAH

¹In the eight moneth of the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying, ²The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers. ³Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes. ⁴Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whome the former prophets haue cried, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord. ⁵your fathers, where are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer? ⁶But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants ye Prophets, take holde of your fathers? and they returned, and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs. ⁷Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, ⁸I saw by night, and behold a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there red horses speckled and white. ⁹Then sayd I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, sayde vnto me, I wil shew thee what these be. ¹⁰And the man that stood among the mirre trees, answered, and sayd, These are they whome the Lord hath sent to go through the world. ¹¹And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the mirre trees, and sayd,

We haue gone thorowe the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest. ¹²Then the Angel of the Lord answered and sayd, O Lord of hostes, howe long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres? ¹³And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes. ¹⁴So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto me, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, ¹⁵And am greatly angrie against the carelesse heathen: for I was angrie but a litle, and they helped forward the affliction. ¹⁶Therefore thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem. ¹⁷Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem. ¹⁸Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, foure hornes. ¹⁹And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem. ²⁰And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters. ²¹Then said I, What come these to doe? And he answered, and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to scatter it.

¹I lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand. ²Then saide I, Whither goest thou? And he saide vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof. ³And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went foorth: and another Angel went out to meete him, ⁴And saide vnto him, Runne, speake to this yong man, and say, Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein. ⁵For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and wil be the glory in the middes of her. ⁶Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the heauen, saith ye Lord. ⁷Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel. ⁸For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath hee sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye. ⁹For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand vpon them: and they shalbe a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me. ¹⁰Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, saith the Lord. ¹¹And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee. ¹²And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy lande, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe. ¹³Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

¹And he shewed mee Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stode at his right hand to resist him. ²And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprocue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprocue thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire? ³Nowe Iehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stode before the Angel. ⁴And he answered and spake vnto those that stode before him, saying, Take away the filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee saide, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I wil clothe thee with change of raiment. ⁵And I saide, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stode by. ⁶And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying, ⁷Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my courtes, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by. ⁸Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but behold, I wil bring forth the Branche my seruant. ⁹For loe, the stone that I haue layd before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: beholde, I will cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day. ¹⁰In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figge tree.

¹And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is rayised out of his sleepe, ²And saide vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a candlesticke all of gold with a bowle vpon the toppe of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the toppe thereof. ³And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof. ⁴So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord? ⁵Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord. ⁶Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes. ⁷Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring foorth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it. ⁸Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ⁹The handes of Zerubbabel haue layde the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

¹⁰For who hath despised the day of the small thinges? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which go thorow the whole world. ¹¹Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof? ¹²And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two oliue branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde? ¹³And hee answered me, and saide, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayde, No, my Lord. ¹⁴Then said he, These are the two oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

¹Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke. ²And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof tenne cubites. ³Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that stealeth, shalbe cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that. ⁴I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof. ⁵Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth foorth. ⁶And I saide, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee saide moreouer, This is the sight of them through all the earth. ⁷And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah. ⁸And he said, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof. ⁹Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen. ¹⁰Then saide I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah? ¹¹And hee saide vnto mee, To builde it an house in the lande of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

¹Againe, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure charets out from betweene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse. ²In the first charet were red horses, and in the second charet blacke horses, ³And in the thirde charet white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of diuers colours, and reddish. ⁴Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angell that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord? ⁵And the Angell answered, and sayde vnto mee, These are the foure spirites of the heauen, which goe foorth from standing with the Lord of all the earth. ⁶That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South countrey. ⁷And the reddish went out, and required to go, and passe through the world, and he sayde, Goe passe through the worlde. So they went thorowout the world. ⁸ Then cryed hee vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe towarde the North countrey, haue pacified my spirit in the North countrey. ⁹And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, ¹⁰Take of them of ye captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah. ¹¹Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, ¹²And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and sayth, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe vp out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord. ¹³Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shalbe a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene them both. ¹⁴And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Iedaiah, and to Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord. ¹⁵And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

¹And in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in Chisleu, ²For they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord, ³And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fift moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres? ⁴Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying, ⁵Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen the seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? doe I approoue it? ⁶And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

⁷Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited? ⁸And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying, ⁹Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother, ¹⁰And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fatherles, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart. ¹¹But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare. ¹²Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministerie of ye former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

¹³Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes. ¹⁴But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they layd the pleasant land waste.

CHAPTER 8

¹Againe the worde of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying, ²Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath. ³Thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zion, and wil dwel in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shalbe called a citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine. ⁴Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet olde men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age. ⁵And the streetes of the citie shalbe full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof. ⁶Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, sayth the Lord of hostes? ⁷Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey. ⁸And I wil bring them, and they shall dwel in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God in trueth, and in righteousnes. ⁹Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded. ¹⁰For before these dayes there was no hire for man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour. ¹¹But now, I wil not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes. ¹²For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things. ¹³And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong. ¹⁴For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, sayth the Lord of hostes, and repented not, ¹⁵So againe haue I determined in these daies to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not. ¹⁶These are ye things that ye shall doe. Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates, ¹⁷And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord. ¹⁸And the worde of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying, ¹⁹Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous hie feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace. ²⁰Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities. ²¹And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I wil go also. ²²Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord. ²³Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will go with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

¹The burden of the worde of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shalbe his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord. ²And Hamath also shall border thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise. ³For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes. ⁴Beholde, the Lord wil spoyle her, and he wil smite her power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire. ⁵Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shalbe very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited. ⁶And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I wil cut off the pride of the Philistims. ⁷And I wil take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shalbe for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite. ⁸And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I seene with mine eyes. ⁹Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy King commeth vnto thee: he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse. ¹⁰And I wil cut off the charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shalbe broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shalbe from sea vnto sea, and from the Riuer to the end of the land. ¹¹Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water. ¹²Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee. ¹³For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword. ¹⁴And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrowe shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewindes of the South. ¹⁵The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorowe wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar. ¹⁶And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be as the stones of the crowne lifted up upon his land. ¹⁷For howe great is his goodnesse! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cherefull, and newe wine the maides.

¹Aske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showers of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

²Surely the idols haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

³My wrath was kindled against the shepherdes, and I did visite the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull horse in the battell.

⁴Out of him shall the corner come foorth: out of him the nayle, out of him ye bowe of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also. ⁵And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded. ⁶And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

⁷And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as thorowe wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord. ⁸I will hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

⁹And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreys: and they shall liue with their children and turne againe. ¹⁰I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

¹¹And he shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall drye vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away. ¹²And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, sayth the Lord.

¹Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars. ²Houle, firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashan, for ye defesed forest is cut downe. ³There is the voyce of the houlung of the shepherdes: for their glorie is destroyed: the voyce of ye roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed. ⁴Thus sayeth the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter. ⁵They that possesse them, slay them and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed be the Lord: for I am riche, and their owne shepherds spare them not. ⁶Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his King: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I wil not deliuer them. ⁷For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me two stauers: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bander, and I fed the sheepe. ⁸Three shepherdes also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed them, and their soule abhorred me. ⁹Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dyeth, let it dye: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour. ¹⁰And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people. ¹¹And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the worde of the Lord. ¹²And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pecies of siluer. ¹³And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pecies of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord. ¹⁴Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bander, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel. ¹⁵And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard. ¹⁶For loe, I will rayse vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces. ¹⁷O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shalbe vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

¹The burden of the worde of the Lord vpon Israel, sayth the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layed the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him. ²Beholde, I will make Ierusalem a cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be, in ye siege against Ierusalem. ³And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it. ⁴In that day, sayeth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindness. ⁵And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God. ⁶In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem. ⁷The Lord also shall preserue the tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah. ⁸In that day shall the Lord defende the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them. ⁹And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem. ¹⁰And I will powre vpon the house of Daud, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirite of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pearced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne. ¹¹In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon. ¹²And the land shall bewayle euery familie apart, the familie of the house of Daud apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart: ¹³The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of Shemei apart, and their wiues apart: ¹⁴All the families that remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

¹In that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of

Daud, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse. ²And in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I will cause the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land. ³And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begat him, shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth. ⁴And in that day shall the prophetes be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue. ⁵But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp. ⁶And one shall say vnto him, What are these woundes in thine hands? Then he shall answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friendes. ⁷Arise, O sword, vpon my shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, sayth the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the litle ones. ⁸And in all the land, sayeth the Lord, two partes therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein. ⁹And I will bring that third part thorowe the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trye them as golde is tryed: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

¹Beholde, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall be deuided in the middes of thee. ²For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from ye citie. ³Then shall the Lord goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell. ⁴And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the Eastside, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great valley, and halfe of ye mountaine shall remooue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine towarde the South. ⁵And yee shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reache vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the daies of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee. ⁶And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke. ⁷And there shall bee a day (it is knowen to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light. ⁸And in that day shall there waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them towarde the East sea, and halfe of them towarde the vttermost sea, and shall be, both in sommer and winter. ⁹And the Lord shall bee King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there bee one Lord, and his Name shalbe

one. ¹⁰All the lande shall bee turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, towarde the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the Kings wine presses. ¹¹And men shall dwell in it, and there shall bee no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall bee safely inhabited. ¹²And this shall bee the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth. ¹³But in that day a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take the hande of his neighbour, and his hande shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour. ¹⁴And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered rounde about, with golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell. ¹⁵Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this plague. ¹⁶But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. ¹⁷And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine. ¹⁸And if the familie of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. ¹⁹This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. ²⁰In that day shall there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the pottes in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar. ²¹Yea, euery potte in Ierusalem and

Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and see the therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

MALACHI

¹The burden of the woordes of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi. ²I haue loued you, sayth the Lord: yet yee say, Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iakob, ³And I hated Esau, and made his mountaines wast, and his heritage a wildernes for dragons. ⁴Though Edom say, wee are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet sayeth the Lord of hostes, they shall builde, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whome the Lord is angrie for euer. ⁵And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel. ⁶A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, sayth the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priestes, that despise my Name? and yee say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name? ⁷Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not to be regarded. ⁸And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes? ⁹And now, I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will hee regard your persons, sayth the Lord of hostes? ¹⁰Who is there euen among you, that would shut the doores? and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine, I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hande. ¹¹For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offred vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ¹²But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted and the fruit thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded. ¹³Ye said also, Beholde, it is a wearines, and ye haue snuffed at it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offred an offring: shoulde I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lord? ¹⁴But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto ye Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

¹And now, O ye Priests, this commandement is for you. ²If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will euen sende a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea,

I haue cursed them alreadie, because yee doe not consider it in your heart. ³Behold, I wil corrupt your seede, and cast dongue vpon your faces, euen the dongue of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it. ⁴And yee shall know, that I haue sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ⁵My couenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared mee, and was afraid before my Name. ⁶The lawe of trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lippes: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie. ⁷For the Priestes lippes shoulde preserue knowledge, and they shoulde seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes. ⁸But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ⁹Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue beene partiall in the Lawe. ¹⁰Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of our fathers? ¹¹Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange God. ¹²The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruauent out of the Tabernacle of Iaacob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes. ¹³And this haue ye done againe, and couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your handes. ¹⁴Yet yee say, Wherein? Because the Lord hath beene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy companion, and the wife of thy couenant. ¹⁵And did not hee make one? yet had hee abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly seede: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth. ¹⁶If thou hatest her, put her away, sayeth the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hosts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not. ¹⁷Yee haue wearied the Lord with your woordes: yet yee say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he deliteth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

¹Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedely come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, he shall come, sayth the Lord of hostes. ²But who may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope. ³And he shall sit downe to trye and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse. ⁴Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeeres afore. ⁵And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the southsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vex the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, sayth the Lord of hostes. ⁶For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob are not consumed. ⁷From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye saide, Wherein shall we returne? ⁸Will a man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In tithes, and offerings. ⁹Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation. ¹⁰Bring ye all the tythes into the storehouse that there may be meate in mine House, and proue me nowe herewith, sayeth the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing without measure. ¹¹And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine be baren in the fildes, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ¹²And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant lande, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ¹³Your wordes haue bene stout against me, sayeth the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee? ¹⁴Ye haue saide, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes? ¹⁵Therefore wee count the proude blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are deliuered. ¹⁶Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name. ¹⁷And they shall be to me, sayeth the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall do this, for a flocke, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him. ¹⁸Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

¹For behold, the day commeth that shall burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branche. ²But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the sunne of righteousness arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall goe forth, and growe vp as fat calues. ³And ye shall treade downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, sayeth the Lord of hostes. ⁴Remember the lawe of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements. ⁵Beholde, I will sende you Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and fearefull day of the Lord. ⁶And he shall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with cursing.

¹ And Josias held the passover in Jerusalem unto his Lord, and offered the passover the fourteenth day of the first month; ²Having set the priests according to their daily courses, being arrayed in their vestments, in the temple of the Lord. ³And he spake unto the Levites, the temple-servants of Israel, that they should hallow themselves unto the Lord, to set the holy ark of the Lord in the house that king Solomon the son of David had built: ⁴And said, Ye shall no more have need to bear it upon your shoulders: now therefore serve the Lord your God, and minister unto his people Israel, and prepare you after your fathers' houses and kindreds, ⁵According to the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the magnificence of Solomon his son: and standing in the holy place according to the several divisions of the families of you the Levites, who minister in the presence of your brethren the children of Israel, ⁶Offer the passover in order, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keep the passover according to the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto Moses. ⁷And unto the people which were present Josias gave thirty thousand lambs and kids, and three thousand calves: these things were given of the king's substance, according as he promised, to the people, and to the priests and Levites. ⁸And Helkias, and Zacharias, and Eshelus, the rulers of the temple, gave to the priests for the passover two thousand and six hundred sheep, and three hundred calves. ⁹And Jeconias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Sabias, and Ochielus, and Joram, captains over thousands, gave to the Levites for the passover five thousand sheep, and seven hundred calves. ¹⁰And when these things were done, the priests and Levites, having the unleavened bread, stood in comely order according to the kindreds, ¹¹And according to the several divisions by fathers' houses, before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moses: and thus did they in the morning. ¹²And they roasted the passover with fire, as appertaineth: and the sacrifices they sod in the brassen vessels and caldrons with a good savour, ¹³And set them before all the people: and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the priests their brethren, the sons of Aaron. ¹⁴For the priests offered the fat until night: and the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests their brethren, the sons of Aaron. ¹⁵The holy singers also, the sons of Asaph, were in their order, according to the appointment of David, to wit, Asaph, Zacharias, and Eddinus, who was of the king's retinue. ¹⁶Moreover the porters were at every gate; none had need to depart from his daily course: for their brethren the Levites prepared for them. ¹⁷Thus were the things that belonged to the sacrifices of the Lord accomplished in that day, in holding the passover, ¹⁸And offering sacrifices upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josias. ¹⁹So the children of Israel which were present at that time held the passover, and the feast of unleavened bread seven days. ²⁰And such a passover was not held in Israel since the time of the prophet Samuel. ²¹Yea, all the kings of Israel held not such a passover as Josias, and the priests, and the Levites, and the Jews, held with all Israel that were present in their dwelling place at Jerusalem. ²²In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josias was this passover held. ²³And the works of Josias were upright before his Lord with a heart full of godliness. ²⁴Moreover the things that came to pass in his days have been written in times past, concerning those that sinned, and did wickedly against the Lord above every people and kingdom, and how they grieved him exceedingly, so that the words of the Lord were confirmed against Israel. ²⁵ Now after all these acts of Josias it came to pass, that Pharaoh the king of Egypt came to raise war at Carchemish upon Euphrates: and Josias went out against him. ²⁶But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, O king of Judæa? ²⁷I am not sent out from the Lord God against thee; for my war is upon Euphrates: and now the Lord is with me, yea, the Lord is with me hasting me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord. ²⁸Howbeit Josias did not turn back unto his chariot, but undertook to fight with him, not regarding the words of the prophet Jeremy spoken by the mouth of the Lord: ²⁹But joined battle with him in the plain of Megiddo, and the princes came down against king Josias. ³⁰Then said the king unto his servants, Carry me away out of the battle; for I am very weak. And immediately his servants carried him away out of the host. ³¹Then gat he up upon his second chariot; and being brought back to Jerusalem he died, and was buried in the sepulchre of his fathers. ³²And in all Jewry they mourned for Josias; and Jeremy the prophet lamented for Josias, and the chief men with the women made lamentation for him, unto this day: and this was given out for an ordinance to be done continually in all the nation of Israel. ³³These things are written in the book of the histories of the kings of Judæa, and every one of the acts that Josias did, and his glory, and his understanding in the law of the Lord, and the things that he had done before, and the things now recited, are reported in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. ³⁴ And the people took Joachaz the son of Josias, and made him king instead of Josias his father, when he was twenty and three years old. ³⁵And he reigned in Judah and in Jerusalem three months: and then the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem. ³⁶And he set a tax upon the people of a hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold. ³⁷The king of Egypt also made king Joakim his brother king of Judæa and Jerusalem. ³⁸And Joakim bound the nobles: but Zarakes his brother he apprehended, and brought him up out of Egypt. ³⁹ FIVE and twenty years old was Joakim when he began to reign in Judæa and Jerusalem; and he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord.

⁴⁰And against him Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon came up, and bound him with a chain of brass, and carried him unto Babylon.

⁴²But those things that are reported of him, and of his uncleanness and impiety, are written in the chronicles of the kings. ⁴³And Joakim his son reigned in his stead: for when he was made king he was eighteen years old; ⁴⁴And he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem; and did that which was evil before the Lord. ⁴⁵So after a year Nabuchodonosor sent and caused him to be brought unto Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord; ⁴⁶And made Sedekias king of Judæa and Jerusalem, when he was one and twenty years old; and he reigned eleven years: ⁴⁷And he also did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, and cared not for the words that were spoken by Jeremy the prophet from the mouth of the Lord. ⁴⁸And after that king Nabuchodonosor had made him to swear by the name of the Lord, he forswore himself, and rebelled; and hardening his neck, and his heart, he transgressed the laws of the Lord, the God of Israel. ⁴⁹Moreover the governors of the people and of the priests did many things wickedly, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and defiled the temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Jerusalem. ⁵⁰And the God of their fathers sent by his messenger to call them back, because he had compassion on them and on his dwelling place. ⁵¹But they mocked his messengers; and in the day when the Lord spake unto them, they scoffed at his prophets: ⁵²So far forth, that he, being wroth with his people for their great ungodliness, commanded to bring up the kings of the Chaldeans against them; ⁵³Who slew their young men with the sword, round about their holy temple, and spared neither young man nor maid, old man nor child; but he delivered all into their hands. ⁵⁴And they took all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the ark of the Lord, and the king's treasures, and carried them away unto Babylon. ⁵⁵And they burnt the house of the Lord, and brake down the walls of Jerusalem, and burnt the towers thereof with fire: ⁵⁶And as for her glorious things, they never ceased till they had brought them all to nought: and the people that were not slain with the sword he carried unto Babylon: ⁵⁷And they were servants unto him and to his children, till the Persians reigned, to fulfil the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremy: ⁵⁸Until the land hath enjoyed her sabbaths, the whole time of her desolation shall she keep sabbath, to fulfil threescore and ten years.

¹ In the first year of Cyrus king of the Persians, that the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremy might be accomplished, ²The Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamation through all his kingdom, and also by writing, ³Saying, 'Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians; The Lord of Israel, the Most High Lord, hath made me king of the whole world, ⁴And commanded me to build him a house at Jerusalem that is in Judæa. ⁵If therefore there be any of you that are of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord, be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem that is in Judæa, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord that dwelleth in Jerusalem. ⁶Of such therefore as dwell in divers places, let them that are in his own place help each one with gold, and with silver, ⁷With gifts, with horses also and cattle, beside the other things which have been added by vow for the temple of the Lord which is in Jerusalem. ⁸Then the chief of the families of Judah and of the tribe of Benjamin stood up; the priests also, and the Levites, and all they whose spirit the Lord had stirred to go up, to build the house for the Lord which is in Jerusalem. ⁹And they that dwelt round about them helped them in all things with silver and gold, with horses and cattle, and with very many gifts that were vowed of a great number whose minds were stirred up thereto. ¹⁰King Cyrus also brought forth the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried away from Jerusalem, and had set up in his temple of idols. ¹¹Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them forth, he delivered them to Mithradates his treasurer, ¹²And by him they were delivered to Sanabassar the governor of Judæa. ¹³And this was the number of them: A thousand golden cups, a thousand cups of silver, censers of silver twenty nine, vials of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand four hundred and ten, and other vessels a thousand. ¹⁴So all the vessels of gold and of silver were brought up, even five thousand four hundred threescore and nine, ¹⁵And were carried back by Sanabassar, together with them of the captivity, from Babylon to Jerusalem. ¹⁶ But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians Belemus, and Mithradates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and Samellius the scribe, with the others that were in commission with them, dwelling in Samaria and other places, wrote unto him against them that dwelt in Judæa and Jerusalem the letter following: ¹⁷To king Artaxerxes our lord, Thy servants, Rathumus the storywriter, and Samellius the scribe, and the rest of their council, and the judges that are in Cœlesyria and Phœnicia. ¹⁸Be it now known to our lord the king, that the Jews that are come up from you to us, being come unto Jerusalem, do build that rebellious and wicked city, and do repair the market-places and the walls of it, and do lay the foundation of a temple. ¹⁹Now if this city be builded and the walls thereof be finished, they will not only refuse to give tribute, but will even stand up against kings. ²⁰And forasmuch as the things pertaining to the temple are now in hand, we think it meet not to neglect such a matter, ²¹But to speak unto our lord the king, to the intent that, if it be thy pleasure, search may be made in the books of thy fathers: ²²And thou shalt find in the chronicles what is written concerning these things, and shalt understand that that city was rebellious, troubling both kings and cities: ²³And that the Jews were rebellious, and raised always wars therein of old time; for the which cause even this city was laid waste. ²⁴Wherefore now we do declare unto thee, O lord the king, that if this city be builded again, and the walls thereof set up anew, thou shalt from henceforth have no passage into Cœlesyria and Phœnicia. ²⁵Then the king wrote back again to Rathumus the storywriter, and Beeltethmus, and Samellius the scribe, and to the rest that were in commission, and dwelt in Samaria and Syria and Phœnicia, after this manner: ²⁶I have read the epistle which ye have sent unto me: therefore I commanded to make search, and it hath been found that that city of old time hath made insurrection against kings; ²⁷And the men were given to rebellion and war therein: and that mighty kings and fierce were in Jerusalem, who reigned and exacted tribute in Cœlesyria and Phœnicia. ²⁸Now therefore I have commanded to hinder those men from building the city, and heed to be taken that there be nothing done contrary to this order; ²⁹And that those wicked doings proceed no further to the annoyance of kings. ³⁰Then king Artaxerxes his letters being read, Rathumus, and Samellius the scribe, and the rest that were in commission with them, removing in haste unto Jerusalem with horsemen and a multitude of people in battle array, began to hinder the builders; and the building of the temple in Jerusalem ceased until the second year of the reign of Darius king of the Persians.

¹Now king Darius made a great feast unto all his subjects, and unto all that were born in his house, and unto all the princes of Media and of Persia, ²And to all the satraps and captains and governors that were under him, from India unto Ethiopia, in the hundred twenty and seven provinces. ³And when they had eaten and drunken, and being satisfied were gone home, then Darius the king went into his bedchamber, and slept, and awaked out of his sleep. ⁴Then the three young men of the body-guard, that kept the king's person, spake one to another: ⁵Let every one of us say one thing which shall be strongest: and he whose sentence shall seem wiser than the others, unto him shall Darius the king give great gifts, and great honours in token of victory: ⁶As, to be clothed in purple, to drink in gold, and to sleep upon gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, and a head-tire of fine linen, and a chain about his neck: ⁷And he shall sit next to Darius because of his wisdom, and shall be called Darius his cousin. ⁸And then they wrote every one his sentence, and set to their seals, and laid the writing under king Darius his pillow, ⁹And said, When the king is risen, some shall give him the writing; and of whose side the king and the three princes of Persia shall judge that his sentence is the wisest, to him shall the victory be given, as it is written. ¹⁰The first wrote, Wine is the strongest. ¹¹The second wrote, The king is strongest. ¹²The third wrote, Women are strongest: but above all things Truth beareth away the victory. ¹³Now when the king was risen up, they took the writing, and gave it unto him, and so he read it: ¹⁴And sending forth he called all the princes of Persia and of Media, and the satraps, and the captains, and the governors, and the chief officers; ¹⁵And sat him down in the royal seat of judgement; and the writing was read before them. ¹⁶And he said, Call the young men, and they shall explain their own sentences. So they were called, and came in. ¹⁷And they said unto them, Declare unto us your mind concerning the things ye have written. Then began the first, who had spoken of the strength of wine, ¹⁸And said thus, O sirs, how exceeding strong is wine! it causeth all men to err that drink it: ¹⁹It maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherless child to be all one; of the bondman and of the freeman, of the poor man and of the rich: ²⁰It turneth also every thought into jollity and mirth, so that a man remembereth neither sorrow nor debt: ²¹And it maketh every heart rich, so that a man remembereth neither king nor satrap; and it maketh to speak all things by talents: ²²And when they are in their cups, they forget their love both to friends and brethren, and a little after draw their swords: ²³But when they awake from their wine, they remember not what they have done. ²⁴O sirs, is not wine the strongest, seeing that it enforceth to do thus? And when he had so spoken, he held his peace.

¹Then the second, that had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say, ²O sirs, do not men excel in strength, that bear

rule over the sea and land, and all things in them? ³But yet is the king stronger: and he is their lord, and hath dominion over them; and in whatsoever he commandeth them they obey him. ⁴If he bid them make war the one against the other, they do it: and if he send them out against the enemies, they go, and overcome mountains, walls, and towers. ⁵They slay and are slain, and transgress not the king's commandment: if they get the victory, they bring all to the king, as well the spoil, as all things else. ⁶Likewise for those that are no soldiers, and have not to do with wars, but use husbandry, when they have reaped again that which they had sown, they bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute unto the king. ⁷And he is but one man: if he command to kill, they kill; if he command to spare, they spare; ⁸If he command to smite, they smite; if he command to make desolate, they make desolate; if he command to build, they build; ⁹If he command to cut down, they cut down; if he command to plant, they plant.

¹⁰So all his people and his armies obey him: furthermore he lieth down, he eateth and drinketh, and taketh his rest: ¹¹And these keep watch round about him, neither may any one depart, and do his own business, neither disobey they him in anything. ¹²O sirs, how should not the king be strongest, seeing that in such sort he is obeyed? And he held his peace. ¹³Then the third, who had spoken of women, and of truth, (this was Zorobabel) began to speak. ¹⁴O sirs, is not the king great, and men are many, and wine is strong? who is it then that ruleth them, or hath the lordship over them? are they not women? ¹⁵Women have borne the king and all the people that bear rule by sea and land. ¹⁶Even of them came they: and they nourished them up that planted the vineyards, from whence the wine cometh. ¹⁷These also make garments for men; these bring glory unto men; and without women cannot men be. ¹⁸Yea, and if men have gathered together gold and silver and every other goodly thing, and see a woman which is comely in favour and beauty, ¹⁹They let all those things go, and gape after her, and even with open mouth fix their eyes fast on her; and have all more desire unto her than unto gold or silver, or any goodly thing whatsoever. ²⁰A man leaveth his own father that brought him up, and his own country, and cleaveth unto his wife. ²¹And with his wife he endeth his days, and remembereth neither father, nor mother, nor country. ²²By this also ye must know that women have dominion over you: do ye not labour and toil, and give and bring all to women? ²³Yea, a man taketh his sword, and goeth forth to make outroads, and to rob and to steal, and to sail upon the sea and upon rivers; ²⁴And looketh upon a lion, and walketh in the darkness; and when he hath stolen, spoiled, and robbed, he bringeth it to his love. ²⁵Wherefore a man loveth his wife better than father or mother. ²⁶Yea, many there be that have run out of their wits for women, and become bondmen for their sakes. ²⁷Many also have perished, have stumbled, and sinned, for women. ²⁸And now do ye not believe me? is not the king great in his power? do not all regions fear to touch him? ²⁹Yet did I see him and Apame the king's concubine, the daughter of the illustrious Bartacus, sitting at the right hand of the king, ³⁰And taking the crown from the king's head, and setting it upon her own head; yea, she struck the king with her left hand: ³¹And therewithal the king gaped and gazed upon her with open mouth: if she laughed upon him, he laughed also: but if she took any displeasure at him, he was fain to flatter, that she might be reconciled to him again. ³²O sirs, how can it be but women should be strong, seeing they do thus? ³³Then the king and the nobles looked one upon another: so he began to speak concerning truth. ³⁴O sirs, are not women strong? great is the earth, high is the heaven, swift is the sun in his course, for he compasseth the heavens round about, and fetcheth his course again to his own place in one day. ³⁵Is he not great that maketh these things? therefore great is truth, and stronger than all things. ³⁶All the earth calleth upon truth, and the heaven blesseth her: all works shake and tremble, but with her is no unrighteous thing. ³⁷Wine is unrighteous, the king is unrighteous, women are unrighteous, all the children of men are unrighteous, and unrighteous are all such their works; and there is no truth in them; in their unrighteousness also they shall perish. ³⁸But truth abideth, and is strong for ever; she liveth and conquereth for evermore. ³⁹With her there is no accepting of persons or rewards; but she doeth the things that are just, and refraineth from all unrighteous and wicked things; and all men do well like of her works. ⁴⁰Neither in her judgement is any unrighteousness; and she is the strength, and the kingdom, and the power, and the majesty, of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth. ⁴¹And with that he held his tongue. And all the people then shouted, and said, Great is truth, and strong above all things.

⁴²Then said the king unto him, Ask what thou wilt more than is appointed in writing, and we will give it thee, inasmuch as thou art found wisest; and thou shalt sit next me, and shalt be called my cousin. ⁴³Then said he unto the king, Remember thy vow, which thou didst vow to build Jerusalem, in the day when thou camest to thy kingdom, ⁴⁴And to send away all the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart, when he vowed to destroy Babylon, and vowed to send them again thither. ⁴⁵Thou didst also vow to build up the temple, which the Edomites burned when Judæa was made desolate by the Chaldeans. ⁴⁶And now, O lord the king, this is that which I require, and which I desire of thee, and this is the princely liberality that shall proceed from thee: I pray therefore that thou make good the vow, the performance whereof thou hast vowed to the King of heaven with thine own mouth. ⁴⁷Then Darius the king stood up, and kissed him, and wrote letters for him unto all the treasurers and governors and captains and satraps, that they should safely bring on their way both him, and all those that should go up with him to build Jerusalem. ⁴⁸He wrote letters also unto all the governors that were in Cœlesyria and Phœnicia, and unto them in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus unto Jerusalem, and that they should build the city with him. ⁴⁹Moreover he wrote for all the Jews that should go out of his realm up into Jewry, concerning their freedom, that no officer, no governor, no satrap, nor treasurer, should forcibly enter into their doors; ⁵⁰And that all the country which they occupied should be free to them without tribute; and that the Edomites should give over the villages of the Jews which then they held: ⁵¹And that there should be yearly given twenty talents to the building of the temple, until the time that it were built; ⁵²And other ten talents yearly, for burnt offerings to be presented upon the altar every day, as they had a commandment to offer seventeen: ⁵³And that all they that should come from Babylonia to build the city should have their freedom, as well they as their posterity, and all the priests that came. ⁵⁴He wrote also to give them their charges, and the priests' vestments wherein they minister; ⁵⁵And for the Levites he wrote that their charges should be given them until the day that the house were finished, and Jerusalem builded up. ⁵⁶And he commanded to give to all that kept the city lands and wages. ⁵⁷He sent away also all the vessels from Babylon, that Cyrus had set apart; and all that Cyrus had given in commandment, the same charged he also to be done, and sent unto Jerusalem. ⁵⁸Now when this young man was gone forth, he lifted up his face to heaven toward Jerusalem, and praised the King of heaven, ⁵⁹And said, From thee cometh victory, from thee cometh wisdom, and thine is the glory, and I am thy servant. ⁶⁰Blessed art thou, who hast given me wisdom: and to thee I give thanks, O Lord of our fathers. ⁶¹And so he took the letters, and went out, and came unto Babylon, and told it all his brethren. ⁶²And they praised the God of their fathers, because he had given them freedom and liberty ⁶³To go up, and to build Jerusalem, and the temple which is called by his name: and they feasted with instruments of music and gladness seven days.

¹After this were the chiefs of fathers' houses chosen to go up according to their tribes, with their wives and sons and daughters, with their menservants and maidservants, and their cattle. ²And Darius sent with them a thousand horsemen, till they had brought them back to Jerusalem safely, and with musical instruments, tabrets and flutes. ³And all their brethren played, and he made them go up together with them. ⁴And these are the names of the men which went up, according to their families amongst their tribes, after their several divisions. ⁵The priests, the sons of Phinees, the sons of Aaron: Jesus the son of Josedek, the son of Saraïas, and Joakim the son of Zorobabel, the son of Salathiel, of the house of David, of the lineage of Phares, of the tribe of Judah; ⁶Who spake wise sentences before Darius the king of Persia in the second year of his reign, in the month Nisan, which is the first month. ⁷And these are they of Jewry that came up from the captivity, where they dwelt as strangers, whom Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon. ⁸And they returned unto Jerusalem, and to the other parts of Jewry, every man to his own city, who came with Zorobabel, with Jesus, Nehemias, and Zaraïas, Resaias, Eneneus, Mardocheus, Beelsarus, Aspharasus, Reelias, Roimus, and Baana, their leaders. ⁹The number of them of the nation, and their leaders: the sons of Phoros, two thousand a hundred seventy and two: the sons of Saphat, four hundred seventy and two: ¹⁰The sons of Ares, seven hundred fifty and six: ¹¹The sons of Phaath Moab, of the sons of Jesus and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve: ¹²The sons of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four: the sons of Zathui, nine hundred forty and five: the sons of Chorbe, seven hundred and five: the sons of Bani, six hundred forty and eight: ¹³The sons of Bebai, six hundred twenty and three: the sons of Astad, a thousand three hundred twenty and two: ¹⁴The sons of Adonikam, six hundred sixty and seven: the sons of Bagoi, two thousand sixty and six: the sons of Adinu, four hundred fifty and four: ¹⁵The sons of Ater, of Ezekias, ninety and two: the sons of Kilan and Azetas, threescore and seven: the sons of Azaru, four hundred thirty and two: ¹⁶The sons of Annis, a hundred and one: the sons of Arom: the sons of Bassai, three hundred twenty and three: the sons of Arsiphurith, a hundred and twelve: ¹⁷The sons of Baiterus, three thousand and five: the sons of Bethlomon, a hundred twenty and three: ¹⁸They of Netophas, fifty and five: they of Anathoth, a hundred fifty and eight: they of Bethasmoth, forty and two: ¹⁹They of Kariathiarus, twenty and five: they of Caphira and Beroth, seven hundred forty and three: ²⁰The Chadiasai and Ammidioi, four hundred twenty and two: they of Kirama and Gabbe, six hundred twenty and one: ²¹They of Macalon, a hundred twenty and two: they of Betolion, fifty and two: the sons of Niphis, a hundred fifty and six: ²²The sons of Calamolalus and Onus, seven hundred twenty and five: the sons of Jerechu, three hundred forty and five: ²³The sons of Sanaas, three thousand three hundred and thirty. ²⁴The priests: the sons of Jeddu, the son of Jesus, among the sons of Sanasib, nine hundred seventy and two: the sons of Emmeruth, a thousand fifty and two: ²⁵The sons of Phassurus, a thousand two hundred forty and seven: the sons of Charme, a thousand and seventeen. ²⁶The Levites: the sons of Jesus, and Kadmiel, and Bannas, and Sudias, seventy and four. ²⁷The holy singers: the sons of Asaph, a hundred twenty and eight. ²⁸The porters: the sons of Salum, the sons of Atar, the sons of Tolman, the sons of Dacubi, the sons of Ateta, the sons of Sabi, in all a hundred thirty and nine. ²⁹The temple-servants: the sons of Esau, the sons of Asipha, the sons of Tabaoth, the sons of Keras, the sons of Sua, the sons of Phaleas, the sons of Labana, the sons of Aggaba, ³⁰The sons of Acud, the sons of Uta, the sons of Ketab, the sons of Accaba, the sons of Subai, the sons of Anan, the sons of Cathua, the sons of Geddur, ³¹The sons of Jairus, the sons of Daisan, the sons of Noeba, the sons of Chaseba, the sons of Gazera, the sons of Ozias, the sons of Phinoe, the sons of Asara, the sons of Basthai, the sons of Asana, the sons of Maani, the sons of Naphisi, the sons of Acub, the sons of Achipha, the sons of Asur, the sons of Pharakim, the sons of Basaloth, ³²The sons of Meedda, the sons of Cutha, the sons of Charea, the sons of Barchus, the sons of Serar, the sons of Thomei, the sons of Nasi, the sons of Atipha. ³³The sons of the servants of Solomon: the sons of Assaphioth, the sons of Pharida, the sons of Jeeli, the sons of Lozon, the sons of Isdael, the sons of Saphuthi, ³⁴The sons of Agia, the sons of Phacareth, the sons of Sabie, the sons of Sarothie, the sons of Masias, the sons of Gas, the sons of Addus, the sons of Subas, the sons of Apherra, the sons of Barodis, the sons of Saphat, the sons of Allon. ³⁵All the temple-servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon, were three hundred seventy and two. ³⁶These came up from Thermeleth, and Thelersas, Charaathalan leading them, and Allar; ³⁷And they could not shew their families, nor their stock, how they were of Israel: the sons of Dalan the son of Ban, the sons of Nekodan, six hundred fifty and two. ³⁸And of the priests, they that usurped the office of the priesthood and were not found: the sons of Obdia, the sons of Akkos, the sons of Jaddus, who married Augia one of the daughters of Zorzelleus, and was called after his name. ³⁹And when the description of the kindred of these men was sought in the register, and was not found, they were removed from executing the office of the priesthood: ⁴⁰For unto them said Nehemias and Attharias, that they should not be partakers of the holy things, till there arose up a high priest wearing Urim and Thummim.

⁴¹So all they of Israel, from twelve years old and upward, beside menservants and womenservants, were in number forty and two thousand three hundred and sixty.

⁴²Their menservants and handmaids were seven thousand three hundred thirty and seven: the minstrels and singers, two hundred forty and five: ⁴³Four hundred thirty and five camels, seven thousand thirty and six horses, two hundred forty and five mules, five thousand five hundred twenty and five beasts of burden. ⁴⁴And certain of the chief men of their families, when they came to the temple of God that is in Jerusalem, vowed to set up the house again in its own place according to their ability, ⁴⁵And to give into the holy treasury of the works a thousand pounds of gold, five thousand of silver, and a hundred priestly vestments.

⁴⁶And the priests and the Levites and they that were of the people dwelt in Jerusalem and the country; the holy singers also and the porters and all Israel in their villages. ⁴⁷ But when the seventh month was at hand, and when the children of Israel were every man in his own place, they came all together with one consent into the broad place before the first porch which is toward the east. ⁴⁸ Then stood up Jesus the son of Josedek, and his brethren the priests, and Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and his brethren, and made ready the altar of the God of Israel, ⁴⁹ To offer burnt sacrifices upon it, according as it is expressly commanded in the book of Moses the man of God. ⁵⁰ And certain were gathered unto them out of the other nations of the land, and they erected the altar upon its own place, because all the nations of the land were at enmity with them, and oppressed them; and they offered sacrifices according to the time, and burnt offerings to the Lord both morning and evening. ⁵¹ Also they held the feast of tabernacles, as it is commanded in the law, and offered sacrifices daily, as was meet: ⁵² And after that, the continual oblations, and the sacrifices of the sabbaths, and of the new moons, and of all the consecrated feasts. ⁵³ And all they that had made any vow to God began to offer sacrifices to God from the new moon of the seventh month, although the temple of God was not yet built. ⁵⁴ And they gave money unto the masons and carpenters; and meat and drink, ⁵⁵ And cars unto them of Sidon and Tyre, that they should bring cedar trees from Libanus, and convey them in floats to the haven of Joppa, according to the commandment which was written for them by Cyrus king of the Persians. ⁵⁶ And in the second year after his coming to the temple of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Jesus the son of Josedek, and their brethren, and the priests the Levites, and all they that were come unto Jerusalem out of the captivity: ⁵⁷ And they laid the foundation of the temple of God on the new moon of the second month, in the second year after they were come to Jewry and

Jerusalem. ⁵⁸And they appointed the Levites from twenty years old over the works of the Lord. Then stood up Jesus, and his sons and brethren, and Kadmiel his brother, and the sons of Jesus, Emadabun, and the sons of Joda the son of Iliadun, and their sons and brethren, all the Levites, with one accord setters forward of the business, labouring to advance the works in the house of God. So the builders builded the temple of the Lord. ⁵⁹And the priests stood arrayed in their vestments with musical instruments and trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with their cymbals, ⁶⁰Singing songs of thanksgiving, and praising the Lord, after the order of David king of Israel. ⁶¹And they sang aloud, praising the Lord in songs of thanksgiving, because his goodness and his glory are for ever in all Israel. ⁶²And all the people sounded trumpets, and shouted with a loud voice, singing songs of thanksgiving unto the Lord for the rearing up of the house of the Lord. ⁶³Also of the priests the Levites, and of the heads of their families, the ancients who had seen the former house came to the building of this with lamentation and great weeping. ⁶⁴But many with trumpets and joy shouted with loud voice, ⁶⁵Insomuch that the people heard not the trumpets for the weeping of the people: for the multitude sounded marvellously, so that it was heard afar off. ⁶⁶Wherefore when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what that noise of trumpets should mean. ⁶⁷And they perceived that they that were of the captivity did build the temple unto the Lord, the God of Israel. ⁶⁸So they went to Zorobabel and Jesus, and to the chief men of the families, and said unto them, We will build together with you. ⁶⁹For we likewise, as ye, do obey your Lord, and do sacrifice unto him from the days of Asbasareth the king of the Assyrians, who brought us hither. ⁷⁰Then Zorobabel and Jesus and the chief men of the families of Israel said unto them, It is not for you to build the house unto the Lord our God. ⁷¹We ourselves alone will build unto the Lord of Israel, according as Cyrus the king of the Persians hath commanded us. ⁷²But the heathen of the land lying heavy upon the inhabitants of Judæa, and holding them strait, hindered their building; ⁷³And by their secret plots, and popular persuasions and commotions, they hindered the finishing of the building all the time that king Cyrus lived: so they were hindered from building for the space of two years, until the reign of Darius.

¹Now in the second year of the reign of Darius, Aggæus and Zacharias the son of Addo, the prophets, prophesied unto the Jews in Jewry and Jerusalem; in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, prophesied they unto them. ²Then stood up Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Jesus the son of Josedek, and began to build the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, the prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them. ³At the same time came unto them Sisinnus the governor of Syria and Phœnicia, with Sathrabuzanes and his companions, and said unto them, ⁴By whose appointment do ye build this house and this roof, and perform all the other things? and who are the builders that perform these things? ⁵Nevertheless the elders of the Jews obtained favour, because the Lord had visited the captivity; ⁶And they were not hindered from building, until such time as communication was made unto Darius concerning them, and his answer signified. ⁷The copy of the letter which Sisinnus, governor of Syria and Phœnicia, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, the rulers in Syria and Phœnicia, wrote and sent unto Darius; ⁸To king Darius, greeting: Let all things be known unto our lord the king, that being come into the country of Judæa, and entered into the city of Jerusalem, we found in the city of Jerusalem the elders of the Jews that were of the captivity ⁹Building a house unto the Lord, great and new, of hewn and costly stones, with timber laid in the walls. ¹⁰And those works are done with great speed, and the work goeth on prosperously in their hands, and with all glory and diligence is it accomplished.

¹¹Then asked we these elders, saying, By whose commandment build ye this house, and lay the foundations of these works?

¹²Therefore, to the intent that we might give knowledge unto thee by writing who were the chief doers, we questioned them, and we required of them the names in writing of their principal men.

¹³So they gave us this answer, We are the servants of the Lord which made heaven and earth. ¹⁴And as for this house, it was builded many years ago by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

¹⁵But when our fathers sinned against the Lord of Israel which is in heaven, and provoked him unto wrath, he gave them over into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, king of the Chaldeans;

¹⁶And they pulled down the house, and burned it, and carried away the people captives unto Babylon. ¹⁷But in the first year that Cyrus reigned over the country of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote to build up this house.

¹⁸And the holy vessels of gold and of silver, that Nabuchodonosor had carried away out of the house at Jerusalem, and had set up in his own temple, those Cyrus the king brought forth again out of the temple in Babylonia, and they were delivered to Zorobabel and to Sanabassarus the governor,

¹⁹With commandment that he should carry away all these vessels, and put them in the temple at Jerusalem; and that the temple of the Lord should be built in its place. ²⁰Then

Sanabassarus, being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem; and from that time to this being still a building, it is not yet fully ended.

²¹Now therefore, if it seem good, O king, let search be made among the royal archives of our lord the king that are in Babylon:

²²And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem hath been done with the consent of king Cyrus, and it seem good unto our lord the king, let him signify unto us thereof. ²³ Then commanded king Darius to seek among the archives that were laid up at Babylon: and so at Ecbatana the palace, which is in the country of Media, there was found a roll wherein these things were recorded. ²⁴In the first year of the reign of Cyrus king Cyrus commanded to build up the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem, where they do sacrifice with continual fire: ²⁵Whose height shall be sixty cubits, and the breadth sixty cubits, with three rows of hewn stones, and one row of new wood of that country; and the expenses thereof to be given out of the house of king Cyrus: ²⁶And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, both of gold and silver, that Nabuchodonosor took out of the house at Jerusalem, and carried away to Babylon, should be restored to the house at Jerusalem, and be set in the place where they were before. ²⁷And also he commanded that Sisinnus the governor of Syria and Phœnicia, and Sathrabuzanes, and their companions, and those which were appointed rulers in Syria and Phœnicia, should be careful not to meddle with the place, but suffer Zorobabel, the servant of the Lord, and governor of Judæa, and the elders of the Jews, to build that house of the Lord in its place. ²⁸And I also do command to have it built up whole again; and that they look diligently to help those that be of the captivity of Judæa, till the house of the Lord be finished: ²⁹And that out of the tribute of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia a portion be carefully given these men for the sacrifices of the Lord, that is, to Zorobabel the governor, for bullocks, and rams, and lambs; ³⁰And also corn, salt, wine, and oil, and that continually every year without further question, according as the priests that be in Jerusalem shall signify to be daily spent: ³¹That drink offerings may be made to the Most High God for the king and for his children, and that they may pray for their lives. ³²And that commandment be given that whosoever shall transgress, yea, or neglect anything herein written, out of his own house shall a tree be taken, and he thereon be hanged, and all his goods seized for the king.

³³The Lord therefore, whose name is there called upon, utterly destroy every king and nation, that shall stretch out his hand to hinder or endamage that house of the Lord in Jerusalem. ³⁴I Darius the king have ordained that according unto these things it be done with diligence.

¹ Then Sisinnus the governor of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, following the commandments of king Darius, ²Did very carefully oversee the holy works, assisting the elders of the Jews and rulers of the temple. ³And so the holy works prospered, while Aggæus and Zacharias the prophets prophesied. ⁴And they finished these things by the commandment of the Lord, the God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, kings of the Persians. ⁵And thus was the house finished by the three and twentieth day of the month Adar, in the sixth year of king Darius. ⁶And the children of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the other that were of the captivity, that were added unto them, did according to the things written in the book of Moses. ⁷And to the dedication of the temple of the Lord they offered a hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs; ⁸And twelve he-goats for the sin of all Israel, according to the number of the twelve princes of the tribes of Israel. ⁹The priests also and the Levites stood arrayed in their vestments, according to their kindreds, for the services of the Lord, the God of Israel, according to the book of Moses: and the porters at every gate. ¹⁰And the children of Israel that came out of the captivity held the passover the fourteenth day of the first month, when the priests and the Levites were sanctified together, ¹¹And all they that were of the captivity; for they were sanctified. For the Levites were all sanctified together, ¹²And they offered the passover for all them of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. ¹³And the children of Israel that came out of the captivity did eat, even all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the heathen of the land, and sought the Lord. ¹⁴And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days, making merry before the Lord, ¹⁵For that he had turned the counsel of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord, the God of Israel.

¹ And after these things, when Artaxerxes the king of the Persians reigned, came Esdras the son of Azarias, the son of Zechrias, the son of Helkias, the son of Salem, ²The son of Sadduk, the son of Ahitob, the son of Amarias, the son of Ozias, the son of Memeroth, the son of Zariaas, the son of Savias, the son of Boccas, the son of Abisue, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest. ³This Esdras went up from Babylon, as being a ready scribe in the law of Moses, that was given by the God of Israel. ⁴And the king did him honour: for he found grace in his sight in all his requests. ⁵There went up with him also certain of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and Levites, and holy singers, and porters, and temple-servants, unto Jerusalem, ⁶In the seventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes, in the fifth month, this was the king's seventh year; for they went from Babylon on the new moon of the first month, and came to Jerusalem, according to the prosperous journey which the Lord gave them for his sake.

⁷For Esdras had very great skill, so that he omitted nothing of the law and commandments of the Lord, but taught all Israel the ordinances and judgements.

⁸Now the commission, which was written from Artaxerxes the king, came to Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Lord, whereof this that followeth is a copy;

⁹King Artaxerxes unto Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Lord, greeting:

¹⁰Having determined to deal graciously, I have given order, that such of the nation of the Jews, and of the priests and Levites, and of those within our realm, as are willing and desirous, should go with thee unto Jerusalem. ¹¹As many therefore as have a mind thereunto, let them depart with thee, as it hath seemed good both to me and my seven friends the counsellors; ¹²That they may look unto the affairs of Judæa and Jerusalem, agreeably to that which is in the law of the Lord, ¹³And carry the gifts unto the Lord of Israel to Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed; and that all the gold and silver that can be found in the country of Babylonia for the Lord in Jerusalem, ¹⁴With that also which is given of the people for the temple of the Lord their God that is at Jerusalem, be collected: even the gold and silver for bullocks, rams, and lambs, and things thereunto appertaining; ¹⁵To the end that they may offer sacrifices unto the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem. ¹⁶And whatsoever thou and thy brethren are minded to do with gold and silver, that perform, according to the will of thy God. ¹⁷And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are given thee for the use of the temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem: ¹⁸And whatsoever thing else thou shalt remember for the use of the temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the king's treasury. ¹⁹And I king Artaxerxes have also commanded the keepers of the treasures in Syria and Phœnicia, that whatsoever Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Most High God shall send for, they should give it him with all diligence, ²⁰To the sum of a hundred talents of silver, likewise also of wheat even to a hundred measures, and a hundred firkins of wine, and salt in abundance. ²¹Let all things be performed after the law of God diligently unto the Most High God, that wrath come not upon the kingdom of the king and his sons. ²²I command you also, that no tax, nor any other imposition, be laid on any of the priests, or Levites, or holy singers, or porters, or temple-servants, or any that have employment in this temple, and that no man have authority to impose anything upon them. ²³And thou, Esdras, according to the wisdom of God ordain judges and justices, that they may judge in all Syria and Phœnicia all those that know the law of thy God; and those that know it not thou shalt teach.

²⁴And whosoever shall transgress the law of thy God, and of the king, shall be punished diligently, whether it be by death, or other punishment, by penalty of money, or by imprisonment. ²⁵Then said Esdras the scribe, Blessed be the only Lord, the God of my fathers, who hath put these things into the heart of the king, to glorify his house that is in Jerusalem: ²⁶And hath honoured me in the sight of the king, and his counsellors, and all his friends and nobles.

²⁷Therefore was I encouraged by the help of the Lord my God, and gathered together out of Israel men to go up with me. ²⁸And these are the chief according to their families and the several divisions thereof, that went up with me from Babylon in the reign of king Artaxerxes: ²⁹Of the sons of Phinees, Gerson: of the sons of Ithamar, Gamael: of the sons of David, Attus the son of Sechenias: ³⁰Of the sons of Phoros, Zacharias; and with him were counted a hundred and fifty men: ³¹Of the sons of Phaath Moab, Eliaonias the son of Zaraias, and with him two hundred men: ³²Of the sons of Zathoes, Sechenias the son of Jezelus, and with him three hundred men: of the sons of Adin, Obeth the son of Jonathan, and with him two hundred and fifty men: ³³Of the sons of Elam, Jesias son of Gotholias, and with him seventy men: ³⁴Of the sons of Saphatias, Zaraias son of Michael, and with him threescore and ten men: ³⁵Of the sons of Joab, Abadiah son of Jezelus, and with him two hundred and twelve men: ³⁶Of the sons of Banias, Salimoth son of Josaphias, and with him a hundred and threescore men: ³⁷Of the sons of Babi, Zacharias son of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight men: ³⁸Of the sons of Astath, Joannes son of Akatan, and with him a hundred and ten men: ³⁹Of the sons of Adonikam, the last, and these are the names of them, Eliphalat, Jeuel, and Samaiah, and with them seventy men: ⁴⁰Of the sons of Bago, Uthi the son of

Istalcurus, and with him seventy men. ⁴¹And I gathered them together to the river called Theras; and there we pitched our tents three days, and I surveyed them. ⁴²But when I had found there none of the priests and Levites, ⁴³Then sent I unto Eleazar, and Iduel, and Maasmas, ⁴⁴And Elnathan, and Samaias, and Joribus, Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharias, and Mosollamus, principal men and men of understanding. ⁴⁵And I bade them that they should go unto Loddeus the captain, who was in the place of the treasury: ⁴⁶And commanded them that they should speak unto Loddeus, and to his brethren, and to the treasurers in that place, to send us such men as might execute the priests' office in the house of our Lord. ⁴⁷And by the mighty hand of our Lord they brought unto us men of understanding of the sons of Mooli the son of Levi, the son of Israel, Asebebias, and his sons, and his brethren, who were eighteen, ⁴⁸And Asebias, and Annuus, and Osaías his brother, of the sons of Chanuneus, and their sons were twenty men; ⁴⁹And of the temple-servants whom David and the principal men had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty temple-servants, the catalogue of all their names was shewed. ⁵⁰And there I vowed a fast for the young men before our Lord, to desire of him a prosperous journey both for us and for our children and cattle that were with us: ⁵¹For I was ashamed to ask of the king footmen, and horsemen, and conduct for safeguard against our adversaries. ⁵²For we had said unto the king, that the power of our Lord would be with them that seek him, to support them in all ways. ⁵³And again we besought our Lord as touching these things, and found him favourable unto us. ⁵⁴Then I separated twelve men of the chiefs of the priests, Eserebias, and Assamias, and ten men of their brethren with them: ⁵⁵And I weighed them the silver, and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king, and his counsellors, and the nobles, and all Israel, had given. ⁵⁶And when I had weighed it, I delivered unto them six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels of a hundred talents, and a hundred talents of gold, ⁵⁷And twenty golden vessels, and twelve vessels of brass, even of fine brass, glittering like gold. ⁵⁸And I said unto them, Both ye are holy unto the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold and the silver are a vow unto the Lord, the Lord of our fathers. ⁵⁹Watch ye, and keep them till ye deliver them to the chiefs of the priests and Levites, and to the principal men of the families of Israel, in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of our Lord. ⁶⁰So the priests and the Levites, who received the silver and the gold and the vessels which were in Jerusalem, brought them into the temple of the Lord. ⁶¹And from the river Theras we departed the twelfth day of the first month, until we came to Jerusalem, by the mighty hand of our Lord which was upon us: and the Lord delivered us from assault by the way, from every enemy, and so we came to Jerusalem.

⁶²And when we had been there three days, the silver and gold was weighed and delivered in the house of our Lord on the fourth day unto Marmoth the priest the son of Urias. ⁶³And with him was Eleazar the son of Phinees, and with them were Josabds the son of Jesus and Moeth the son of Sabannus, the Levites: all was delivered them by number and weight. ⁶⁴And all the weight of them was written up the same hour. ⁶⁵Moreover they that were come out of the captivity offered sacrifices unto the Lord, the God of Israel, even twelve bullocks for all Israel, fourscore and sixteen rams, ⁶⁶Threescore and twelve lambs, goats for a peace offering, twelve; all of them a sacrifice to the Lord. ⁶⁷And they delivered the king's commandments unto the king's stewards, and to the governors of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia; and they honoured the people and the temple of the Lord. ⁶⁸ Now when these things were done, the principal men came unto me, and said, ⁶⁹The nation of Israel, and the princes, and the priests and the Levites, have not put away from them the strange people of the land, nor the uncleannesses of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, Hittites, Pherezites, Jebusites, and the Moabites, Egyptians, and Edomites. ⁷⁰For both they and their sons have married with their daughters, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land; and from the beginning of this matter the rulers and the nobles have been partakers of this iniquity. ⁷¹And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and my holy garment, and plucked the hair from off my head and beard, and sat me down sad and full of heaviness. ⁷²So all they that were moved at the word of the Lord, the God of Israel, assembled unto me, whilst I mourned for the iniquity: but I sat still full of heaviness until the evening sacrifice. ⁷³Then rising up from the fast with my clothes and my holy garment rent, and bowing my knees, and stretching forth my hands unto the Lord, ⁷⁴I said, O Lord, I am ashamed and confounded before thy face; ⁷⁵For our sins are multiplied above our heads, and our errors have reached up unto heaven, ⁷⁶Ever since the time of our fathers; and we are in great sin, even unto this day. ⁷⁷And for our sins and our fathers' we with our brethren and our kings and our priests were given up unto the kings of the earth, to the sword, and to captivity, and for a prey with shame, unto this day. ⁷⁸And now in some measure hath mercy been shewed unto us from thee, O Lord, that there should be left us a root and a name in the place of thy sanctuary; ⁷⁹And to discover unto us a light in the house of the Lord our God, and to give us food in the time of our servitude. ⁸⁰Yea, when we were in bondage, we were not forsaken of our Lord; but he made us gracious before the kings of Persia, so that they gave us food, ⁸¹And glorified the temple of our Lord, and raised up the desolate Sion, to give us a sure abiding in Jewry and Jerusalem. ⁸²And now, O Lord, what shall we say, having these things? for we have transgressed thy commandments, which thou gavest by the hand of thy servants

the prophets, saying, ⁸³That the land, which ye enter into to possess as a heritage, is a land polluted with the pollutions of the strangers of the land, and they have filled it with their uncleanness. ⁸⁴Therefore now shall ye not join your daughters unto their sons, neither shall ye take their daughters unto your sons. ⁸⁵Neither shall ye seek to have peace with them for ever, that ye may be strong, and eat the good things of the land, and that ye may leave it for an inheritance unto your children for evermore. ⁸⁶And all that is befallen is done unto us for our wicked works and great sins: for thou, O Lord, didst make our sins light, ⁸⁷And didst give unto us such a root: but we have turned back again to transgress thy law, in mingling ourselves with the uncleanness of the heathen of the land. ⁸⁸Thou wast not angry with us to destroy us, till thou hadst left us neither root, seed, nor name. ⁸⁹O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for we are left a root this day. ⁹⁰Behold, now are we before thee in our iniquities, for we cannot stand any longer before thee by reason of these things. ⁹¹And as Esdras in his prayer made his confession, weeping, and lying flat upon the ground before the temple, there gathered unto him from Jerusalem a very great throng of men and women and children: for there was great weeping among the multitude. ⁹²Then Jechonias the son of Jeelus, one of the sons of Israel, called out, and said, O Esdras, we have sinned against the Lord God, we have married strange women of the heathen of the land, and now is all Israel aloft. ⁹³Let us make an oath unto the Lord herein, that we will put away all our wives, which we have taken of the strangers, with their children, ⁹⁴Like as seemeth good unto thee, and to as many as do obey the law of the Lord. ⁹⁵Arise, and put in execution: for to thee doth this matter appertain, and we will be with thee to do valiantly. ⁹⁶So Esdras arose, and took an oath of the chief of the priests and Levites of all Israel to do after these things; and so they sware.

¹ Then Esdras rising from the court of the temple went to the chamber of Jonas the son of Eliasib, ²And lodged there, and did eat no bread nor drink water, mourning for the great iniquities of the multitude. ³And there was made proclamation in all Jewry and Jerusalem to all them that were of the captivity, that they should be gathered together at Jerusalem: ⁴And that whosoever met not there within two or three days, according as the elders that bare rule appointed, their cattle should be seized to the use of the temple, and himself cast out from the multitude of them that were of the captivity. ⁵ And in three days were all they of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin gathered together at Jerusalem: this was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month. ⁶And all the multitude sat together trembling in the broad place before the temple because of the present foul weather. ⁷So Esdras arose up, and said unto them, Ye have transgressed the law and married strange wives, thereby to increase the sins of Israel. ⁸And now make confession and give glory unto the Lord, the God of our fathers, ⁹And do his will, and separate yourselves from the heathen of the land, and from the strange women. ¹⁰Then cried the whole multitude, and said with a loud voice, Like as thou hast spoken, so will we do. ¹¹But forasmuch as the multitude is great, and it is foul weather, so that we cannot stand without, and this is not a work of one day or two, seeing our sin in these things is spread far: ¹²Therefore let the rulers of the multitude stay, and let all them of our habitations that have strange wives come at the time appointed, ¹³And with them the rulers and judges of every place, till we turn away the wrath of the Lord from us for this matter. ¹⁴Then Jonathan the son of Azazel and Ezekias the son of Thocanus accordingly took the matter upon them: and Mosollamus and Levis and Sabbateus were assessors to them. ¹⁵And they that were of the captivity did according to all these things. ¹⁶And Esdras the priest chose unto him principal men of their families, all by name: and on the new moon of the tenth month they were shut in together to examine the matter. ¹⁷So their cause that held strange wives was brought to an end by the new moon of the first month. ¹⁸And of the priests that were come together, and had strange wives, there were found; ¹⁹Of the sons of Jesus the son of Josedek, and his brethren; Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Joribus, and Joadanus. ²⁰And they gave their hands to put away their wives, and to offer rams to make reconcilement for their error. ²¹And of the sons of Emmer; Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Manes, and Sameus, and Hiereel, and Azarias. ²²And of the sons of Phaisur; Elionas, Massias, Ismael, and Nathanael, and Ocidelus, and Saloas. ²³And of the Levites; Jozabdus, and Semeis, and Colius, who was called Calitas, and Patheus, and Judas, and Jonas. ²⁴Of the holy singers; Eliasibus, Bacchurus. ²⁵Of the porters; Sallumus, and Tolbanes. ²⁶Of Israel, of the sons of Phoros; Hiermas, and Ieddias, and

Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazar, and Asibias, and Banneas. ²⁷Of the sons of Ela; Matthanias, Zacharias, and Jezrielus, and Oabdius, and Hieremoth, and Aedias. ²⁸And of the sons of Zamoth; Eliadas, Eliasimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and Sabathus, and Zardeus. ²⁹Of the sons of Bebai; Joannes, and Ananias, and Jozabdus, and Ematheis. ³⁰Of the sons of Mani; Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedeus, Jasubus, and Jasaelus, and Hieremoth. ³¹And of the sons of Addi; Naathus, and Moossias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Matthanias, and Sesthel, Balnuus, and Manasseas. ³²And of the sons of Annas; Elionas, and Aseas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon Chosameus. ³³And of the sons of Asom; Maltanneus, and Mattathias, and Sabanneus, Eliphalat, and Manasses, and Semei. ³⁴And of the sons of Baani; Jeremias, Momdis, Ismaerus, Juel, Mamdai, and Pedias, and Anos, Carabasion, and Enasibus, and Mamnitanemus, Eliasis, Bannus, Eliali, Someis, Selemias, Nathanias: and of the sons of Ezora; Sesis, Ezril, Azaelus, Samatus, Zambri, Josephus.³⁵ And of the sons of Nooma; Mazitias, Zabadeas, Edos, Juel, Banaias.³⁶ All these had taken strange wives, and they put them away with their children.³⁷ And the priests and Levites, and they that were of Israel, dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, on the new moon of the seventh month, and the children of Israel in their habitations.³⁸ And the whole multitude were gathered together with one accord into the broad place before the porch of the temple toward the east:³⁹ And they said unto Esdras the priest and reader, Bring the law of Moses, that was given of the Lord, the God of Israel.⁴⁰ So Esdras the chief priest brought the law unto the whole multitude both of men and women, and to all the priests, to hear the law on the new moon of the seventh month.⁴¹ And he read in the broad place before the porch of the temple from morning until midday, before both men and women; and all the multitude gave heed unto the law.⁴² And Esdras the priest and reader of the law stood up upon the pulpit of wood, which was made for that purpose.⁴³ And there stood up by him Mattathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezekias, Baalsamus, upon the right hand:⁴⁴ And upon his left hand, Phaldeus, Misael, Melchias, Lothasubus, Nabarias, Zacharias.⁴⁵ Then took Esdras the book of the law before the multitude, and sat honourably in the first place before all.⁴⁶ And when he opened the law, they stood all straight up. So Esdras blessed the Lord God Most High, the God of hosts, Almighty.⁴⁷ And all the people answered, Amen; and lifting up their hands they fell to the ground, and worshipped the Lord.⁴⁸ Also Jesus, Annus, Sarabias, Iadinus, Jacobus, Sabateus, Auteas, Maiannas, and Calitas, Azarias, and Jozabdus, and Ananias, Phalias, the Levites, taught the law of the Lord, and read to the multitude the law of the Lord, making them withal to understand it.⁴⁹ Then said Attharates unto Esdras the chief priest and reader, and to the Levites that taught the multitude, even to all, ⁵⁰This day is holy unto the Lord; (now they all wept when they heard the law:) ⁵¹Go then, and eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions to them that have nothing; ⁵²For the day is holy unto the Lord: and be not sorrowful; for the Lord will bring you to honour. ⁵³So the Levites published all things to the people, saying, This day is holy; be not sorrowful. ⁵⁴Then went they their way, every one to eat and drink, and make merry, and to give portions to them that had nothing, and to make great cheer; ⁵⁵Because they understood the words wherein they were instructed, and for the which they had been assembled.

2 ESDRAS

¹The second book of the prophet Esdras, the son of Saraias, the son of Azaraias, the son of Helkias, the son of Salemas, the son of Sadoc, the son of Ahitob, ²The son of Achias, the son of Phinees, the son of Heli, the son of Amarias, the son of Aziei, the son of Marimoth, the son of Arna, the son of Ozias, the son of Borith, the son of Abissei, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar, ³The son of Aaron, of the tribe of Levi; which was captive in the land of the Medes, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of the Persians. ⁴And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, ⁵Go thy way, and shew my people their sinful deeds, and their children their wickedness which they have done against me; that they may tell their children's children: ⁶Because the sins of their fathers are increased in them: for they have forgotten me, and have done sacrifice unto strange gods. ⁷Did not I bring them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage? but they have provoked me unto wrath, and despised my counsels. ⁸Shake thou then the hair of thy head, and cast all evils upon them, for they have not been obedient unto my law, but it is a rebellious people. ⁹How long shall I forbear them, unto whom I have done so much good? ¹⁰Many kings have I overthrown for their sakes; Pharaoh with his servants and all his host have I smitten down. ¹¹All the nations have I destroyed before them, and in the east I have scattered the people of two provinces, even of Tyre and Sidon, and have slain all their adversaries. ¹²Speak thou therefore unto them, saying, 'Thus saith the Lord, ¹³Of a truth I brought you through the sea, and where there was no path I made for you highways; I gave you Moses for a leader, and Aaron for a priest. ¹⁴I gave you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders have I done among you; yet have ye forgotten me, saith the Lord. ¹⁵Thus saith the Lord Almighty, The quails were for a token to you; I gave you a camp for your safeguard, nevertheless ye murmured there: ¹⁶And ye triumphed not in my name for the destruction of your enemies, but ever to this day do ye yet murmur. ¹⁷Where are the benefits that I have done for you? when ye were hungry and thirsty in the wilderness, did ye not cry unto me, ¹⁸Saying, Why hast thou brought us into this wilderness to kill us? it had been better for us to have served the Egyptians, than to die in this wilderness. ¹⁹I had pity upon your mournings, and gave you manna for food; ye did eat angels' bread. ²⁰When ye were thirsty, did I not cleave the rock, and waters flowed out to your fill? for the heat I covered you with the leaves of the trees. ²¹I divided among you fruitful lands; I cast out the Canaanites, the Pherezites, and the Philistines, before you: what shall I yet do more for you? saith the Lord. ²²Thus saith the Lord Almighty, When ye were in the wilderness, at the bitter river, being athirst, and blaspheming my name, ²³I gave you not fire for your blasphemies, but cast a tree in the water, and made the river sweet. ²⁴What shall I do unto thee, O Jacob? thou, Judah, wouldest not obey me: I will turn me to other nations, and unto them will I give my name, that they may keep my statutes. ²⁵Seeing ye have forsaken me, I also will forsake you; when ye ask me to be merciful unto you, I will have no mercy upon you. ²⁶Whensoever ye shall call upon me, I will not hear you: for ye have defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit manslaughter. ²⁷Ye have not as it were forsaken me, but your own selves, saith the Lord. ²⁸Thus saith the Lord Almighty, Have I not prayed you as a father his sons, as a mother her daughters, and a nurse her young babes, ²⁹That ye would be my people, and I should be your God; that ye would be my children, and I should be your father? ³⁰I gathered you together, as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings: but now, what shall I do unto you? I will cast you out from my presence. ³¹When ye offer oblations unto me, I will turn my face from you: for your solemn feast days, your new moons, and your circumcisions of the flesh have I rejected. ³²I sent unto you my servants the prophets, whom ye have taken and slain, and torn their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will require of your hands, saith the Lord. ³³Thus saith the Lord Almighty, Your house is desolate, I will cast you out as the wind doth stubble. ³⁴And your children shall not be fruitful; for they have neglected my commandment unto you, and done that which is evil before me. ³⁵Your houses will I give to a people that shall come; which not having heard of me yet believe me; they to whom I have shewed no signs shall do that which I have commanded. ³⁶They have seen no prophets, yet they shall call their former estate to remembrance. ³⁷I take to witness the grace of the people that shall come, whose little ones rejoice with gladness: and though they see me not with bodily eyes, yet in spirit they shall believe the thing that I say. ³⁸And now, O father, behold with glory; and see the people that come from the east: ³⁹Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, Oseas, Amos, and

Micheas, Joel, Abdias, and Jonas, ⁴⁰Nahum, and Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggæus, Zachary, and Malachy, which is called also the angel of the Lord.

CHAPTER 2

¹Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, and I gave them my commandments by my servants the prophets; whom they would not hear, but set my counsels at nought. ²The mother that bare them saith unto them, Go your way, O my children; for I am a widow and forsaken. ³I brought you up with gladness, and with sorrow and heaviness have I lost you: for ye have sinned before the Lord God, and done that which is evil before me. ⁴But what shall I now do unto you? for I am a widow and forsaken: go your way, O my children, and ask mercy of the Lord. ⁵As for me, O father, I call upon thee for a witness over the mother of these children, because they would not keep my covenant, ⁶That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoil, that there may be no offspring of them. ⁷Let them be scattered abroad among the heathen, let their names be blotted out of the earth: for they have despised my covenant. ⁸Woe unto thee, Assur, thou that hidest the unrighteous with thee! O thou wicked nation, remember what I did unto Sodom and Gomorrah; ⁹Whose land lieth in clods of pitch and heaps of ashes: even so also will I do unto them that have not hearkened unto me, saith the Lord Almighty. ¹⁰Thus saith the Lord unto Esdras, Tell my people that I will give them the kingdom of Jerusalem, which I would have given unto Israel. ¹¹Their glory also will I take unto me, and give these the everlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for them.

¹²They shall have the tree of life for an ointment of sweet savour; they shall neither labour, nor be weary. ¹³Ask, and ye shall receive: pray for few days unto you, that they may be shortened: the kingdom is already prepared for you: watch. ¹⁴Take heaven and earth to witness, take them to witness; for I have given up the evil, and created the good: for I live, saith the Lord. ¹⁵ Mother, embrace thy children; I will bring them out with gladness like a dove; stablish their feet; for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord. ¹⁶And those that be dead will I raise up again from their places, and bring them out of the tombs: for I have known my name in them. ¹⁷Fear not, thou mother of the children: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord. ¹⁸For thy help will I send my servants Esaias and Jeremy, after whose counsel I have sanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with divers fruits, ¹⁹And as many fountains flowing with milk and honey, and seven mighty mountains, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with joy. ²⁰Do right to the widow, judge the fatherless, give to the poor, defend the orphan, clothe the naked, ²¹Heal the broken and the weak, laugh not a lame man to scorn, defend the maimed, and let the blind man come unto the sight of my glory. ²²Keep the old and young within thy walls. ²³Wheresoever thou findest the dead, set a sign upon them and commit them to the grave, and I will give thee the first place in my resurrection. ²⁴Abide still, O my people, and take thy rest, for thy quietness shall come. ²⁵Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse, and stablish their feet. ²⁶As for the servants whom I have given thee, there shall not one of them perish; for I will require them from among thy number. ²⁷Be not careful overmuch: for when the day of tribulation and anguish cometh, others shall weep and be sorrowful, but thou shalt be merry and have abundance. ²⁸The nations shall envy thee, but they shall be able to do nothing against thee, saith the Lord. ²⁹My hands shall cover thee, so that thy children see not hell. ³⁰Be joyful, O thou mother, with thy children; for I will deliver thee, saith the Lord. ³¹Remember thy children that sleep, for I shall bring them out of the secret places of the earth, and shew mercy unto them: for I am merciful, saith the Lord Almighty. ³²Embrace thy children until I come, and proclaim mercy unto them: for my wells run over, and my grace shall not fail. ³³I

ESDRAS received a charge from the Lord upon the mount Horeb, that I should go unto Israel; but when I came unto them, they would none of me, and rejected the commandment of the Lord.

³⁴And therefore I say unto you, O ye nations, that hear and understand, look for your shepherd, he shall give you everlasting rest; for he is nigh at hand, that shall come in the end of the world. ³⁵Be ready to the rewards of the kingdom, for the everlasting light shall shine upon you for evermore. ³⁶Flee the shadow of this world, receive the joyfulness of your glory: I call to witness my saviour openly. ³⁷O receive that which is given you of the Lord, and be joyful, giving thanks unto him that hath called you to heavenly kingdoms.

³⁸Arise up and stand, and behold the number of those that be sealed in the feast of the Lord;

³⁹They that withdrew them from the shadow of the world have received glorious garments of the Lord. ⁴⁰Look upon thy number, O Sion, and make up the reckoning of those of thine that are clothed in white, which have fulfilled the law of the Lord. ⁴¹The number of thy children, whom thou longedst for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people, which have been called from the beginning, may be hallowed. ⁴²I Esdras saw upon the mount Sion a great multitude, whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs. ⁴³And in the midst of them there was a young man of a high stature, taller than all the rest, and upon every one of their heads he set crowns, and was more exalted; whereat I marvelled greatly. ⁴⁴So I asked the angel, and said, What are these, my Lord? ⁴⁵He answered and said unto me, These be they that have put off the mortal clothing, and put on the immortal, and have confessed the name of God: now are they crowned, and receive palms. ⁴⁶Then said I unto the angel, What young man is he that setteth crowns upon them, and giveth them palms in their hands? ⁴⁷So he answered and said unto me, It is the Son of God, whom they have confessed in the world.

Then began I greatly to commend them that stood so stiffly for the name of the Lord. ⁴⁸Then the angel said unto me, Go thy way, and tell my people what manner of things, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seen.

¹ In the thirtieth year after the ruin of the city, I Salathiel (the same is Esdras) was in Babylon, and lay troubled upon my bed, and my thoughts came up over my heart: ²For I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon. ³And my spirit was sore moved, so that I began to speak words full of fear to the Most High, and said, ⁴O Lord that bearest rule, didst thou not speak at the beginning, when thou didst fashion the earth, and that thyself alone, and commandedst the dust, ⁵And it gave thee Adam, a body without a soul? yet it was the workmanship of thine hands, and thou didst breathe into him the breath of life, and he was made living before thee. ⁶And thou leddest him into paradise, which thy right hand did plant, before ever the earth came forward. ⁷And unto him thou gavest thy one commandment: which he transgressed, and immediately thou appointedst death for him and in his generations; and there were born of him nations and tribes, peoples and kindreds, out of number. ⁸And every nation walked after their own will, and did ungodly things before thee, and despised thy commandments, and thou didst not forbid them. ⁹Nevertheless again in process of time thou broughtest the flood upon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them. ¹⁰And it came to pass that the same hap befell them; like as death was to Adam, so was the flood to these. ¹¹Nevertheless one of them thou leftest, Noah with his household, even all the righteous men that came of him. ¹²And it came to pass, that when they that dwelt upon the earth began to multiply, they multiplied also children, and peoples, and many nations, and began again to be more ungodly than the first. ¹³And it came to pass, when they did wickedly before thee, thou didst choose thee one from among them, whose name was Abraham; ¹⁴And him thou lovedst, and unto him only thou shewedst the end of the times secretly by night: ¹⁵And madest an everlasting covenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest never forsake his seed. ¹⁶And unto him thou gavest Isaac, and unto Isaac thou gavest Jacob and Esau. And thou didst set apart Jacob for thyself, but didst put by Esau: and Jacob became a great multitude. ¹⁷And it came to pass, that when thou leddest his seed out of Egypt, thou broughtest them up to the mount Sinai. ¹⁸Thou bowedst the heavens also, and didst shake the earth, and movedst the whole world, and madest the depths to tremble, and troubledst the course of that age. ¹⁹And thy glory went through four gates, of fire, and of earthquake, and of wind, and of cold; that thou mightest give the law unto the seed of Jacob, and the commandment unto the generation of Israel. ²⁰And yet tookest thou not away from them their wicked heart, that thy law might bring forth fruit in them. ²¹For the first Adam bearing a wicked heart transgressed, and was overcome; and not he only, but all they also that are born of him. ²²Thus disease was made permanent; and the law was in the heart of the people along with the wickedness of the root; so the good departed away, and that which was wicked abode still. ²³So the times passed away, and the years were brought to an end: then didst thou raise thee up a servant, called David, ²⁴Whom thou commandedst to build a city unto thy name, and to offer oblations unto thee therein of thine own. ²⁵When this was done many years, then they that inhabited the city did evil, ²⁶In all things doing even as Adam and all his generations had done: for they also bare a wicked heart; ²⁷And so thou gavest thy city over into the hands of thine enemies. ²⁸And I said then in mine heart, Are their deeds any better that inhabit Babylon? and hath she therefore dominion over Sion? ²⁹For it came to pass when I came hither, that I saw also impieties without number, and my soul saw many evil-doers in this thirtieth year, so that my heart failed me. ³⁰For I have seen how thou sufferest them sinning, and hast spared the ungodly doers, and hast destroyed thy people, and hast preserved thine enemies; and thou hast not signified ³¹Unto any how thy way may be comprehended. Are the deeds of Babylon better than those of Sion? ³²Or is there any other nation that knoweth thee beside Israel? or what tribes have so believed thy covenants as these tribes of Jacob? ³³And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I have gone hither and thither through the nations, and I see that they abound in wealth, and think not upon thy commandments. ³⁴Weigh thou therefore our iniquities now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world; and so shall it be found which way the scale inclineth. ³⁵Or when was it that they which dwell upon the earth have not sinned in thy sight? or what nation hath so kept thy commandments? ³⁶Thou shalt find that men who may be reckoned by name have kept thy precepts; but nations thou shalt not find.

¹And the angel that was sent unto me, whose name was Uriel, gave me an answer, ²And said to me, Thy heart hath utterly failed thee in regarding this world, and thinkest thou to comprehend the way of the Most High? ³Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee three ways, and to set forth three similitudes before thee: ⁴Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I also will shew thee the way that thou desirest to see, and I will teach thee wherefore the heart is wicked. ⁵And I said, Say on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, Go to, weigh me a weight of fire, or measure me a measure of wind, or call me again the day that is past. ⁶Then answered I and said, Who of the sons of men is able to do this, that thou shouldest ask me of such things? ⁷And he said unto me, If I had asked thee, saying, How many dwellings are there in the heart of the sea? or how many springs are there at the fountain head of the deep? or how many ways are above the firmament? or which are the outgoings of hell? or which are the paths of paradise? ⁸Peradventure thou wouldest say unto me, I never went down into the deep, nor as yet into hell, neither did I ever climb up into heaven. ⁹Nevertheless now have I asked thee but only of the fire and wind, and of the day, things wherethrough thou hast passed, and without which thou canst not be, and yet hast thou given me no answer of them. ¹⁰He said moreover unto me, Thine own things, that are grown up with thee, canst thou not know; ¹¹How then can thy vessel comprehend the way of the Most High? and how can he that is already worn out with the corrupted world understand incorruption? ¹² And when I heard these things I fell upon my face, and said unto him, It were better that we were not here at all, than that we should come hither and live in the midst of ungodliness, and suffer, and not know wherefore. ¹³He answered me, and said, The woods of the trees of the field went forth, and took counsel together, ¹⁴And said, Come, let us go and make war against the sea, that it may depart away before us, and that we may make us more woods. ¹⁵The waves of the sea also in like manner took counsel together, and said, Come, let us go up and subdue the wood of the plain, that there also we may make us another country. ¹⁶The counsel of the wood was in vain, for the fire came and consumed it: ¹⁷Likewise also the counsel of the waves of the sea, for the sand stood up and stopped them. ¹⁸If thou wert judge now betwixt these two, whom wouldest thou justify, or whom condemn? ¹⁹I answered and said, It is a foolish counsel that they both have taken, for the ground is given unto the wood, and the place of the sea is given to bear his waves. ²⁰Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast given a right judgement, and why judgest thou not in thine own case? ²¹For like as the ground is given unto the wood, and the sea to his waves, even so they that dwell upon the earth may understand nothing but that which is upon the earth: and he only that dwelleth above the heavens may understand the things that are above the height of the heavens. ²²Then answered I and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, wherefore is the power of understanding given unto me? ²³For it was not my mind to be curious of the ways above, but of such things as pass by us daily; because Israel is given up as a reproach to the heathen, and the people whom thou hast loved is given over unto ungodly nations, and the law of our forefathers is made of none effect, and the written covenants are nowhere regarded, ²⁴And we pass away out of the world as grasshoppers, and our life is as a vapour, neither are we worthy to obtain mercy. ²⁵What will he then do for his name whereby we are called? Of these things have I asked. ²⁶Then answered he me, and said, If thou be alive, thou shalt see, and if thou livest long, thou shalt marvel; for the world hasteth fast to pass away. ²⁷For it is not able to bear the things that are promised to the righteous in the times to come: for this world is full of sadness and infirmities. ²⁸For the evil whereof thou askest me is sown, but the gathering thereof is not yet come. ²⁹If therefore that which is sown be not reaped, and if the place where the evil is sown pass not away, there cannot come the field where the good is sown. ³⁰For a grain of evil seed was sown in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much wickedness hath it brought forth unto this time! and how much shall it yet bring forth until the time of threshing come! ³¹Ponder now by thyself, how great fruit of wickedness a grain of evil seed hath brought forth. ³²When the ears which are without number shall be sown, how great a floor shall they fill! ³³Then I answered and said, How long? and when shall these things come to pass? wherefore are our years few and evil? ³⁴And he answered me, and said, Thou dost not hasten more than the Most High: for thy haste is for thine own self, but he that is above hasteneth on behalf of many.

³⁵Did not the souls of the righteous ask question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long are we here? when cometh the fruit of the threshing time of our reward? ³⁶And unto them Jeremiel the archangel gave answer, and said, Even when the number is fulfilled of them that are like unto you. For he hath weighed the world in the balance; ³⁷And by measure hath he measured the times, and by number hath he numbered the seasons; and he shall not move nor stir them, until the said measure be fulfilled. ³⁸Then answered I and said, O Lord that bearest rule, yet even we all are full of impiety: ³⁹And for our sakes peradventure it is that the threshing time of the righteous is kept back, because of the sins of them that dwell upon the earth. ⁴⁰So he answered me, and said, Go thy way to a woman with child, and ask of her when she hath fulfilled her nine months, if her womb may keep the birth any longer within her. ⁴¹Then said I, No, Lord, that can it not. And he said unto me, In the grave the chambers of souls are like the womb: ⁴²For like as a woman that travaileth maketh haste to escape the anguish of the travail: even so do these places haste to deliver those things that are committed unto them from the beginning. ⁴³Then shall it be shewed thee concerning those things which thou desirest to see. ⁴⁴Then answered I and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore, ⁴⁵Shew me this also, whether there be more to come than is past, or whether the more part is gone over us. ⁴⁶For what is gone I know, but what is for to come I know not. ⁴⁷And he said unto me, Stand up upon the right side, and I shall expound the similitude unto thee. ⁴⁸So I stood, and saw, and, behold, a hot burning oven passed by before me: and it happened, that when the flame was gone by I looked, and, behold, the smoke remained still. ⁴⁹After this there passed by before me a watery cloud, and sent down much rain with a storm; and when the stormy rain was past, the drops remained therein still. ⁵⁰Then said he unto me, Consider with thyself; as the rain is more than the drops, and as the fire is greater than the smoke, so the quantity which is past did more exceed; but the drops and the smoke remained still. ⁵¹Then I prayed, and said, May I live, thinkest thou, until that time? or who shall be in those days? ⁵²He answered me, and said, As for the tokens whereof thou askest me, I may tell thee of them in part: but as touching thy life, I am not sent to shew thee; for I do not know it.

¹Nevertheless as concerning the tokens, behold, the days shall come, that they which dwell upon earth shall be taken with great amazement, and the way of truth shall be hidden, and the land shall be barren of faith. ²But iniquity shall be increased above that which now thou seest, or that thou hast heard long ago. ³And the land, that thou seest now to have rule, shall be waste and untrodden, and men shall see it

desolate. ⁴But if the Most High grant thee to live, thou shalt see that which is after the third kingdom to be troubled; and the sun shall suddenly shine forth in the night, and the moon in the day: ⁵And blood shall drop out of wood, and the stone shall give his voice, and the peoples shall be troubled; and their goings shall be changed: ⁶And he shall rule, whom they that dwell upon the earth look not for, and the fowls shall take their flight away together: ⁷And the Sodomitish sea shall cast out fish, and make a noise in the night, which many have not known: but all shall hear the voice thereof. ⁸There shall be chaos also in many places, and the fire shall be oft sent out, and the wild beasts shall change their places, and women shall bring forth monsters: ⁹And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall destroy one another; then shall wit hide itself, and understanding withdraw itself into its chamber; ¹⁰And it shall be sought of many, and shall not be found: and unrighteousness and incontinency shall be multiplied upon earth. ¹¹One land also shall ask another, and say, Is righteousness, is a man that doeth righteousness, gone through thee? And it shall say, No. ¹²And it shall come to pass at that time that men shall hope, but shall not obtain: they shall labour, but their ways shall not prosper. ¹³To shew thee such tokens I have leave; and if thou wilt pray again, and weep as now, and fast seven days, thou shalt hear yet greater things than these. ¹⁴Then I awaked, and an extreme trembling went through my body, and my mind was troubled, so that it fainted. ¹⁵So the angel that was come to talk with me held me, comforted me, and set me up upon my feet. ¹⁶And in the second night it came to pass, that Phaltiel the captain of the people came unto me, saying, Where hast thou been? and why is thy countenance sad? ¹⁷Or knowest thou not that Israel is committed unto thee in the land of their captivity? ¹⁸Up then, and eat some bread, and forsake us not, as the shepherd that leaveth his flock in the hands of cruel wolves. ¹⁹Then said I unto him, Go thy ways from me, and come not nigh me for seven days, and then shalt thou come unto me. And he heard what I said, and went from me. ²⁰And so I fasted seven days, mourning and weeping, like as Uriel the angel commanded me. ²¹And after seven days so it was, that the thoughts of my heart were very grievous unto me again, ²²And my soul recovered the spirit of understanding, and I began to speak words before the Most High again, ²³And said, O Lord that bearest rule, of all the woods of the earth, and of all the trees thereof, thou hast chosen thee one vine: ²⁴And of all the lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one country: and of all the flowers of the world thou hast chosen thee one lily: ²⁵And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one river: and of all builded cities thou hast hallowed Sion unto thyself: ²⁶And of all the fowls that are created thou hast named thee one dove: and of all the cattle that are made thou hast provided thee one sheep: ²⁷And among all the multitudes of peoples thou hast gotten thee one people: and unto this people, whom thou lovedst, thou gavest a law that is approved of all. ²⁸And now, O Lord, why hast thou given this one people over unto many, and hast dishonoured the one root above others, and hast scattered thine only one among many? ²⁹And they which did gainsay thy promises have trodden them down that believed thy covenants. ³⁰If thou dost so much hate thy people, they should be punished with thine own hands. ³¹Now when I had spoken these words, the angel that came to me the night afore was sent unto me, ³²And said unto me, Hear me, and I will instruct thee; hearken unto me, and I shall tell thee more. ³³And I said, Speak on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, Thou art sore troubled in mind for Israel's sake: lovest thou that people better than he that made them? ³⁴And I said, No, Lord: but of very grief have I spoken: for my reins torment me every hour, while I labour to comprehend the way of the Most High, and to seek out part of his judgement. ³⁵And he said unto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, or whereunto was I born? or why was not my mother's womb then my grave, that I might not have seen the travail of Jacob, and the wearisome toil of the stock of Israel? ³⁶And he said unto me, Number me them that are not yet come, gather me together the drops that are scattered abroad, make me the flowers green again that are withered, ³⁷Open me the chambers that are closed, and bring me forth the winds that in them are shut up, or shew me the image of a voice: and then I will declare to thee the travail that thou askest to see. ³⁸And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, who may know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men? ³⁹As for me, I am unwise: how may I then speak of these things whereof thou askest me? ⁴⁰Then said he unto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I have spoken of, even so canst thou not find out my judgement, or the end of the love that I have promised unto my people. ⁴¹And

I said, But, lo, O Lord, thou hast made the promise unto them that be in the end: and what shall they do that have been before us, or we that be now, or they that shall come after us? ⁴²And he said unto me, I will liken my judgement unto a ring: like as there is no slackness of them that be last, even so there is no swiftness of them that be first. ⁴³So I answered and said, Coudest thou not make them to be at once that have been made, and that be now, and that are for to come; that thou mightest shew thy judgement the sooner? ⁴⁴Then answered he me, and said, The creature may not haste above the creator; neither may the world hold them at once that shall be created therein. ⁴⁵And I said, How hast thou said unto thy servant, that thou wilt surely make alive at once the creature that thou hast created? If therefore they shall be alive at once, and the creature shall sustain them: even so it might now also support them to be present at once. ⁴⁶And he said unto me, Ask the womb of a woman, and say unto her, If thou bringest forth ten children, why doest thou it at several times? pray her therefore to bring forth ten children at once. ⁴⁷And I said, She cannot: but must do it by distance of time. ⁴⁸Then said he unto me, Even so have I given the womb of the earth to those that be sown therein in their several times. ⁴⁹For like as a young child may not bring forth, neither she that is grown old bring forth any more, even so have I disposed the world which I created. ⁵⁰And I asked, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will speak before thee: Is our mother, of whom thou hast told me, still young? or doth she now draw nigh unto age? ⁵¹He answered me, and said, Ask a woman that beareth children, and she shall tell thee. ⁵²Say unto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth like those that were before, but less of stature? ⁵³And she also shall answer thee, They that be born in the strength of youth are of one fashion, and they that are born in the time of age, when the womb faileth, are otherwise. ⁵⁴Consider therefore thou also, how that ye are less of stature than those that were before you. ⁵⁵And so are they that come after you less than ye, as born of the creature which now beginneth to be old, and is past the strength of youth. ⁵⁶Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I have found favour in thy sight, shew thy servant by whom thou visitest thy creature.

¹And he said unto me, In the beginning, when the earth was made, before the outgoings of the world were fixed, or ever the gatherings of the winds blew, ²Before the voices of the thunder sounded and before the flashes of the lightning shone, or ever the foundations of paradise were laid, ³Before the fair flowers were seen, or ever the powers of the earthquake were established, before the innumerable hosts of angels were gathered together, ⁴Or ever the heights of the air were lifted up, before the measures of the firmament were named, or ever the footstool of Sion was established, ⁵And ere the present years were sought out, and or ever the imaginations of them that now sin were estranged, before they were sealed that have gathered faith for a treasure: ⁶Then did I consider these things, and they all were made through me alone, and through none other: as by me also they shall be ended, and by none other. ⁷Then answered I and said, What shall be the parting asunder of the times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth? ⁸And he said unto me, From Abraham unto Abraham, inasmuch as Jacob and Esau were born of him, for Jacob's hand held the heel of Esau from the beginning. ⁹For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth. ¹⁰The beginning of a man is his hand, and the end of a man is his heel; between the heel and the hand seek thou nought else, Esdras. ¹¹I answered then and said, O Lord that bearest rule, if I have found favour in thy sight, ¹²I beseech thee, shew thy servant the end of thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night. ¹³So he answered and said unto me, Stand up upon thy feet, and thou shalt hear a mighty sounding voice; ¹⁴And if the place whereon thou standest be greatly moved, ¹⁵When it speaketh be not thou afraid: for the word is of the end, and the foundations of the earth shall understand, ¹⁶That the speech is of them: they shall tremble and be moved: for they know that their end must be changed. ¹⁷And it happened, that when I had heard it I stood up upon my feet, and hearkened, and, behold, there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters. ¹⁸And it said, Behold, the days come, and it shall be that when I draw nigh to visit them that dwell upon the earth, ¹⁹And when I shall make inquisition of them that have done hurt unjustly with their unrighteousness, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled, ²⁰And when the seal shall be set upon the world that is to pass away, then will I shew these tokens: the books shall be opened before the firmament, and all shall see together: ²¹And the children of a year old shall speak with their voices, the women with child shall bring forth untimely children at three or four months, and they shall live, and dance. ²²And suddenly shall the sown places appear unsown, the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty: ²³And the trumpet shall give a sound, which when every man heareth, they shall be suddenly afraid. ²⁴At that time shall friends make war one against another like enemies, and the earth shall stand in fear with those that dwell therein, the springs of the fountains shall stand still, so that for three hours they shall not run. ²⁵And it shall be that whosoever remaineth after all these things that I have told thee of, he shall be saved, and shall see my salvation, and the end of my world. ²⁶And they shall see the men that have been taken up, who have not tasted death from their birth: and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned into another meaning. ²⁷For evil shall be blotted out, and deceit shall be quenched; ²⁸And faith shall flourish, and corruption shall be overcome, and the truth, which hath been so long without fruit, shall be declared. ²⁹And when he talked with me, behold, by little and little the place whereon I stood rocked to and fro. ³⁰And he said unto me, These things came I to shew thee this night. ³¹If therefore thou wilt pray yet again, and fast seven days more, I shall yet tell thee greater things than these. ³²For thy voice hath surely been heard before the Most High: for the Mighty hath seen thy righteous dealing, he hath seen aforetime also thy chastity, which thou hast had ever since thy youth. ³³And therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say unto thee, Be of good comfort, and fear not. ³⁴And be not hasty in regard of the former times, to think vain things, that thou mayest not hasten in the latter times. ³⁵And it came to pass after this, that I wept again, and fasted seven days in like manner, that I might fulfil the three weeks which he told me. ³⁶And in the eighth night was my heart vexed within me again, and I began to speak before the Most High. ³⁷For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soul was in distress. ³⁸And I said, O Lord, of a truth thou spakest at the beginning of the creation, upon the first day, and saidst thus; Let heaven and earth be made; and thy word perfected the work. ³⁹And then was the spirit hovering, and darkness and silence were on every side; the sound of man's voice was not yet. ⁴⁰Then commandedst thou a ray of light to be brought forth of thy treasures, that then thy works might appear. ⁴¹Upon the second day again thou madest the spirit of the firmament and commandedst it to part asunder, and to make a division betwixt the waters, that the one part might go up, and the other remain beneath. ⁴²Upon the third day thou didst command that the waters should be gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: six parts didst thou dry up, and keep them, to the intent that of these some being both planted and tilled might serve before thee. ⁴³For as soon as thy word went forth the work was done. ⁴⁴For immediately there came forth great and innumerable fruit, and manifold pleasures for the taste, and flowers of inimitable colour, and odours of most exquisite smell: and this was done the third day. ⁴⁵Upon the fourth day thou commandedst that the sun should shine, and the moon give her light, and the stars should be in their order: ⁴⁶And gavest them a charge to do service unto man, that was to be made. ⁴⁷Upon the fifth day thou saidst unto the seventh part, where the water was gathered together, that it should bring forth living creatures, fowls and fishes: and so it came to pass, ⁴⁸That the dumb water and without life brought forth living things as it was bidden, that the peoples might therefore praise thy wondrous works. ⁴⁹Then didst thou preserve two living creatures, the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan: ⁵⁰And thou didst separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, namely, where the water was gathered together, might not hold them both. ⁵¹Unto Behemoth thou gavest one part, which was dried up on the third day, that he should dwell in the same, wherein are a thousand hills: ⁵²But unto Leviathan thou gavest the seventh part, namely, the moist; and thou hast kept them to be devoured of whom thou wilt, and when. ⁵³But upon the sixth day thou gavest commandment unto the earth, that it should bring forth before thee cattle, beasts, and creeping things: ⁵⁴And over these Adam, whom thou ordainedst lord over all the works that thou hast made: of him come we all, the people whom thou hast chosen. ⁵⁵All this have I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast said that for our sakes thou madest this world. ⁵⁶As for the other nations, which also come of Adam, thou hast said that they are nothing, and are like unto spittle: and thou hast likened the abundance of them unto a drop that falleth from a vessel. ⁵⁷And now, O Lord, behold, these nations, which are reputed as nothing, be lords over us, and devour us. ⁵⁸But we thy people, whom thou hast called thy firstborn, thy only begotten, and thy fervent lover, are given into their hands. ⁵⁹If the world now be made for our sakes, why do we not possess for an inheritance our world? how long shall this endure?

¹And when I had made an end of speaking these words, there was sent unto me the angel which had been sent unto me the nights afore: ²And he said unto me, Up, Esdras, and hear the words that I am come to tell thee. ³And I said, Speak on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, There is a sea set in a wide place, that it might be broad and vast. ⁴But the entrance thereof shall be set in a narrow place so as to be like a river; ⁵Whoso then should desire to go into the sea to look upon it, or to rule it, if he went not through the narrow, how could he come into the broad? ⁶Another thing also: There is a city builded and set in a plain country, and full of all good things; ⁷But the entrance thereof is narrow, and is set in a dangerous place to fall, having a fire on the right hand, and on the left a deep water: ⁸And there is one only path between them both, even between the fire and the water, so small that there could but one man go there at once. ⁹If this city now be given unto a man for an inheritance, if the heir pass not the danger set before him, how shall he receive his inheritance? ¹⁰And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he unto me, Even so also is Israel's portion. ¹¹Because for their sakes I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then was decreed that now is done. ¹²Then were the entrances of this world made narrow, and sorrowful and toilsome: they are but few and evil, full of perils, and charged with great toils. ¹³For the entrances of the greater world are wide and sure, and bring forth fruit of immortality. ¹⁴If then they that live enter not these strait and vain things, they can never receive those that are laid up for them. ¹⁵Now therefore why disquietest thou thyself, seeing thou art but a corruptible man? and why art thou moved, whereas thou art but mortal? ¹⁶And why hast thou not considered in thy mind that which is to come, rather than that which is present? ¹⁷Then answered I and said, O Lord that bearest rule, lo, thou hast ordained in thy law, that the righteous should inherit these things, but that the ungodly should perish. ¹⁸The righteous therefore shall suffer strait things, and hope for wide: but they that have done wickedly have suffered the strait things, and yet shall not see the wide. ¹⁹And he said unto me, Thou art not a judge above God, neither hast thou understanding above the Most High. ²⁰Yea, rather let many that now be perish, than that the law of God which is set before them be despised. ²¹For God straitly commanded such as came, even as they came, what they should do to live, and what they should observe to avoid punishment. ²²Nevertheless they were not obedient unto him; but spake against him, and imagined for themselves vain things; ²³And framed cunning devices of wickedness; and said moreover of the Most High, that he is not; and knew not his ways: ²⁴But they despised his law, and denied his covenants; they have not been faithful to his statutes, and have not performed his works. ²⁵Therefore, Esdras, for the empty are empty things, and for the full are the full things. ²⁶For behold, the time shall come, and it shall be, when these tokens, of which I told thee before, shall come to pass, that the bride shall appear, even the city coming forth, and she shall be seen, that now is withdrawn from the earth. ²⁷And whosoever is delivered from the foresaid evils, the same shall see my wonders. ²⁸For my son Jesus shall be revealed with those that be with him, and shall rejoice them that remain four hundred years. ²⁹After these years shall my son Christ die, and all that have the breath of life. ³⁰And the world shall be turned into the old silence seven days, like as in the first beginning: so that no man shall remain. ³¹And after seven days the world, that yet awaketh not, shall be raised up, and that shall die that is corruptible. ³²And the earth shall restore those that are asleep in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliver those souls that were committed unto them. ³³And the Most High shall be revealed upon the seat of judgement, and compassion shall pass away, and longsuffering shall be withdrawn: ³⁴But judgement only shall remain, truth shall stand, and faith shall wax strong: ³⁵And the work shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed, and good deeds shall awake, and wicked deeds shall not sleep. ³⁶And the pit of torment shall appear, and over against it shall be the place of rest: and the furnace of hell shall be shewed, and over against it the paradise of delight. ³⁷And then shall the Most High say to the nations that are raised from the dead, See ye and understand whom ye have denied, or whom ye have not served, or whose commandments ye have despised. ³⁸Look on this side and on that: here is delight and rest, and there fire and torments. Thus shall he speak unto them in the day of judgement: ³⁹This is a day that hath neither sun, nor moon, nor stars, ⁴⁰Neither cloud, nor thunder, nor lightning, neither wind, nor water, nor air, neither darkness, nor evening, nor morning, ⁴¹Neither summer, nor spring, nor heat, nor winter, neither frost, nor cold, nor hail, nor rain, nor dew, ⁴²Neither noon, nor night, nor dawn, neither shining, nor brightness, nor light, save only the splendour of the glory of the Most High, whereby all shall see the things that are set before them: ⁴³For it shall endure as it were a week of years. ⁴⁴This is my judgement and the ordinance thereof; but to thee only have I shewed these things. ⁴⁵And I answered, I said even then, O Lord, and I say now: Blessed are they that be now alive and keep the statutes ordained of thee. ⁴⁶But as touching them for whom my prayer was made, what shall I say? for who is there of them that be alive that hath not sinned, and who of the sons of men that hath not transgressed thy covenant? ⁴⁷And now I see, that the world to come shall bring delight to few, but torments unto many. ⁴⁸For an evil heart hath grown up in us, which hath led us astray from these statutes, and hath brought us into corruption and into the ways of death, hath shewed us the paths of perdition and removed us far from life; and that, not a few only, but well nigh all that have been created. ⁴⁹ And he answered me, and said, Hearken unto me, and I will instruct thee; and I will admonish thee yet again: ⁵⁰ For this cause the Most High hath not made one world, but two. ⁵¹ For whereas thou hast said that the just are not many, but few, and the ungodly abound, hear the answer thereunto. ⁵² If thou have choice stones exceeding few, wilt thou set for thee over against them according to their number things of lead and clay? ⁵³ And I said, Lord, how shall this be? ⁵⁴ And he said unto me, Not only this, but ask the earth, and she shall tell thee; intreat her, and she shall declare unto thee. ⁵⁵ For thou shalt say unto her, 'Thou bringest forth gold and silver and brass, and iron also and lead and clay: ⁵⁶ But silver is more abundant than gold, and brass than silver, and iron than brass, lead than iron, and clay than lead. ⁵⁷ Judge thou therefore which things are precious and to be desired, whatso is abundant or what is rare. ⁵⁸ And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, that which is plentiful is of less worth, for that which is more rare is more precious. ⁵⁹ And he answered me, and said, Weigh within thyself the things that thou hast thought, for he that hath what is hard to get rejoiceth over him that hath what is plentiful. ⁶⁰ So also is the judgement which I have promised: for I will rejoice over the few that shall be saved, inasmuch as these are they that have made my glory now to prevail, and of whom my name is now named. ⁶¹ And I will not grieve over the multitude of them that perish; for these are they that are now like unto vapour, and are become as flame and smoke; they are set on fire and burn hotly, and are quenched. ⁶² And I answered and said, O thou earth, wherefore hast thou brought forth, if the mind is made out of dust, like as all other created things? ⁶³ For it were better that the dust itself had been unborn, so that the mind might not have been made therefrom. ⁶⁴ But now the mind groweth with us, and by reason of this we are tormented, because we perish and know it. ⁶⁵ Let the race of men lament and the beasts of the field be glad; let all that are born lament, but let the fourfooted beasts and the cattle rejoice. ⁶⁶ For it is far better with them than with us; for they look not for judgement, neither do they know of torments or of salvation promised unto them after death. ⁶⁷ For what doth it profit us, that we shall be preserved alive, but yet be afflicted with torment? ⁶⁸ For all that are born are defiled with iniquities, and are full of sins and laden with offences: ⁶⁹ And if after death we were not to come into judgement, peradventure it had been better for us. ⁷⁰ And he answered me, and said, When the Most High made the world, and Adam and all them that came of him, he first prepared the judgement and the things that pertain unto the judgement. ⁷¹

And now understand from thine own words, for thou hast said that the mind groweth with us. ⁷² They therefore that dwell upon the earth shall be tormented for this reason, that having understanding they have wrought iniquity, and receiving commandments have not kept them, and having obtained a law they dealt unfaithfully with that which they received. ⁷³ What then will they have to say in the judgement, or how will they answer in the last times? ⁷⁴ For how great a time hath the Most High been longsuffering with them that inhabit the world, and not for their sakes, but because of the times which he hath foreordained! ⁷⁵ And I answered and said, If I have found grace in thy sight, O Lord, shew this also unto thy servant, whether after death, even now when every one of us giveth up his soul, we shall be kept in rest until those times come, in which thou shalt renew the creation, or whether we shall be tormented forthwith. ⁷⁶ And he answered me, and said, I will shew thee this also; but join not thyslf with them that are scorners, nor number thyslf with them that are tormented. ⁷⁷ For thou hast a treasure of good works laid up with the Most High, but it shall not be shewed thee until the last times. ⁷⁸ For concerning death the teaching is: When the determinate sentence hath gone forth from the Most High that a man should die, as the spirit leaveth the body to return again to him who gave it, it adareth the glory of the Most High first of all. ⁷⁹ And if it be one of those that have been scorners and have not kept the way of the Most High, and that have despised his law, and that hate them that fear God, ⁸⁰ These spirits shall not enter into habitations, but shall wander and be in torments forthwith, ever grieving and sad, in seven ways. ⁸¹ The first way, because they have despised the law of the Most High. ⁸² The second way, because they cannot now make a good returning that they may live. ⁸³ The third way, they shall see the reward laid up for them that have believed the covenants of the Most High. ⁸⁴ The fourth way, they shall consider the torment laid up for themselves in the last days. ⁸⁵ The fifth way, they shall see the dwelling places of the others guarded by angels, with great quietness. ⁸⁶ The sixth way, they shall see how forthwith some of them shall pass into torment. ⁸⁷ The seventh way, which is more grievous than all the aforesaid ways, because they shall pine away in confusion and be consumed with shame, and shall be withered up by fears, seeing the glory of the Most High before whom they have sinned whilst living, and before whom they shall be judged in the last times. ⁸⁸ Now this is the order of those who have kept the ways of the Most High, when they shall be separated from the corruptible vessel. ⁸⁹ In the time that they dwelt therein they painfully served the Most High, and were in jeopardy every hour, that they might keep the law of the lawgiver perfectly. ⁹⁰ Wherefore this is the teaching concerning them: ⁹¹ First of all they shall see with great joy the glory of him who taketh them up, for they shall have rest in seven orders. ⁹² The first order, because they have striven with great labour to overcome the evil thought which was fashioned together with them, that it might not lead them astray from life into death. ⁹³ The second order, because they see the perplexity in which the souls of the ungodly wander, and the punishment that awaiteth them. ⁹⁴ The third order, they see the witness which he that fashioned them beareth concerning them, that while they lived they kept the law which was given them in trust. ⁹⁵ The fourth order, they understand the rest which, being gathered in their chambers, they now enjoy with great quietness, guarded by angels, and the glory that awaiteth them in the last days. ⁹⁶ The fifth order, they rejoice, seeing how they have now escaped from that which is corruptible, and how they shall inherit that which is to come, while they see moreover the straitness and the painfulness from which they have been delivered, and the large room which they shall receive with joy and immortality. ⁹⁷ The sixth order, when it is shewed unto them how their face shall shine as the sun, and how they shall be made like unto the light of the stars, being henceforth incorruptible. ⁹⁸ The seventh order, which is greater than all the aforesaid orders, because they shall rejoice with confidence, and because they shall be bold without confusion, and shall be glad without fear, for they hasten to behold the face of him whom in their lifetime they served, and from whom they shall receive their reward in glory. ⁹⁹ This is the order of the souls of the just, as from henceforth is announced unto them, and aforesaid are the ways of torture which they that would not give heed shall suffer from henceforth. ¹⁰⁰ And I answered and said, Shall time therefore be given unto the souls after they are separated from the bodies, that they may see that whereof thou hast spoken unto me? ¹⁰¹ And he said, Their freedom shall be for seven days, that for seven days they may see the things whereof thou hast been told, and afterwards they shall be gathered together in their habitations. ¹⁰² And I answered and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, shew further unto me thy servant whether in the day of judgement the just will be able to intercede for the ungodly or to intreat the Most High for them, ¹⁰³ Whether fathers for children, or children for parents, or brethren for brethren, or kinsfolk for their next of kin, or friends for them that are most dear. ¹⁰⁴ And he answered me, and said, Since thou hast found favour in my sight, I will shew thee this also: The day of judgement is a day of decision, and displayeth unto all the seal of truth; even as now a father sendeth not his son, or a son his father, or a master his slave, or a friend him that is most dear, that in his stead he may be sick, or sleep, or eat, or be healed: ¹⁰⁵ So never shall any one pray for another in that day, neither shall one lay a burden on another, for then shall all bear every one his own righteousness or unrighteousness. ³⁶ And I answered and said, How do we now find that first Abraham prayed for the people of Sodom, and Moses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness: ³⁷ And Joshua after him for Israel in the days of Achar: ³⁸ And Samuel in the days of Saul; and David for the plague: and Solomon for them that should worship in the sanctuary: ³⁹ And Elijah for those that received rain; and for the dead, that he might live: ⁴⁰ And Hezekiah for the people in the days of Sennacherib: and many for many? ⁴¹ If therefore now, when corruption is grown up, and unrighteousness increased, the righteous have prayed for the ungodly, wherefore shall it not be so then also? ⁴² He answered me, and said, This present world is not the end; the full glory abideth not therein: therefore have they who were able prayed for the weak. ⁴³ But the day of judgement shall be the end of this time, and the beginning of the immortality for to come, wherein corruption is passed away, ⁴⁴ Intemperance is at an end, infidelity is cut off, but righteousness is grown, and truth is sprung up. ⁴⁵ Then shall no man be able to have mercy on him that is cast in judgement, nor to thrust down him that hath gotten the victory. ⁴⁶ I answered then and said, 'This is my first and last saying, that it had been better that the earth had not given thee Adam: or else, when it had given him, to have restrained him from sinning. ⁴⁷ For what profit is it for all that are in this present time to live in heaviness, and after death to look for punishment? ⁴⁸ O thou Adam, what hast thou done? for though it was thou that sinned, the evil is not fallen on thee alone, but upon all of us that come of thee. ⁴⁹ For what profit is it unto us, if there be promised us an immortal time, whereas we have done the works that bring death? ⁵⁰ And that there is promised us an everlasting hope, whereas ourselves most miserably are become vain? ⁵¹ And that there are reserved habitations of health and safety, whereas we have lived wickedly? ⁵² And that the glory of the Most High shall defend them which have led a pure life, whereas we have walked in the most wicked ways of all? ⁵³ And that there shall be shewed a paradise, whose fruit endureth without decay, wherein is abundance and healing, but we shall not enter into it, ⁵⁴ For we have walked in unpleasant places? ⁵⁵ And that the faces of them which have used abstinence shall shine above the stars, whereas our faces shall be blacker than darkness? ⁵⁶ For while we lived and committed iniquity, we considered not what we should have to suffer after death. ⁵⁷ Then he answered and said, 'This is the condition of the battle, which man that is born upon the earth shall fight; ⁵⁸ That, if he be overcome, he shall suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victory, he shall receive the thing that I say. ⁵⁹ For this is the way whereof Moses spake unto the people while he lived, saying, Choose thee life, that thou mayest live. ⁶⁰ Nevertheless they believed not him, nor yet the prophets after him, no, nor me which have spoken unto them; ⁶¹ So that there shall not be such heaviness in their destruction, as there shall be joy over them that are persuaded to salvation. ⁶² I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the Most High is now called merciful, in that he hath mercy upon them which are not yet come into the world; ⁶³ And compassionate, in that he hath compassion upon those that turn to his law; ⁶⁴ And longsuffering, for that he long suffereth those that have sinned, as his creatures; ⁶⁵ And bountiful, for that he is ready to give rather than to exact; ⁶⁶ And of great mercy, for that he multiplieth more and more mercies to them that are present, and that are past, and also to them which are to come; ⁶⁷ (For if he multiplied not his mercies, the world would not continue with them that dwell therein;) ⁶⁸ And one that forgiveth, for if he did not forgive of his goodness, that they which have committed iniquities might be eased of them, the ten thousandth part of men would not remain living; ⁶⁹ And a judge, for if he did not pardon them that were created by his word, and blot out the multitude of offences, ⁷⁰ There would peradventure be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

¹And he answered me, and said, The Most High hath made this world for many, but the world to come for few. ²I will tell thee now a similitude, Esdras; As when thou askest the earth, it shall say unto thee, that it giveth very much mould whereof earthen vessels are made, and little dust that gold cometh of: even so is the course of the present world. ³There be many created, but few shall be saved. ⁴And I answered and said, Swallow down understanding then, O my soul, and let my heart devour wisdom. ⁵For thou art come hither without thy will, and departest when thou wouldest not: for there is given thee no longer space than only to live a short time. ⁶O Lord, that art over us, suffer thy servant, that we may pray before thee, and give us seed unto our heart, and culture to our understanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby every one shall live that is corrupt, who beareth the likeness of a man. ⁷For thou art alone, and we all one workmanship of thine hands, like as thou hast said. ⁸Forasmuch as thou quickenest the body that is fashioned now in the womb, and givest it members, thy creature is preserved in fire and water, and nine months doth thy workmanship endure thy creature which is created in her. ⁹But that which keepeth and that which is kept shall both be kept by thy keeping: and when the womb giveth up again that which hath grown in it, ¹⁰Thou hast commanded that out of the parts of the body, that is to say, out of the breasts, be given milk, which is the fruit of the breasts, ¹¹That the thing which is fashioned may be nourished for a time, and afterwards thou shalt order it in thy mercy. ¹²Yea, thou hast brought it up in thy righteousness, and nurtured it in thy law, and corrected it with thy judgement. ¹³And thou shalt mortify it as thy creature, and quicken it as thy work. ¹⁴If therefore thou shalt lightly and suddenly destroy him which with so great labour was fashioned by thy commandment, to what purpose was he made? ¹⁵Now therefore I will speak; touching man in general, thou knowest best; but touching thy people will I speak, for whose sake I am sorry; ¹⁶And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourn; and for Israel, for whom I am heavy; and for the seed of Jacob, for whose sake I am troubled; ¹⁷Therefore will I begin to pray before thee for myself and for them: for I see the falls of us that dwell in the land; ¹⁸But I have heard the swiftness of the judgement which is to come. ¹⁹Therefore hear my voice, and understand my saying, and I will speak before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken up. And he said, ²⁰O Lord, thou that abidest for ever, whose eyes are exalted, and whose chambers are in the air; ²¹Whose throne is inestimable; whose glory may not be comprehended; before whom the hosts of angels stand with trembling, ²²At whose bidding they are changed to wind and fire; whose word is sure, and sayings constant; whose ordinance is strong, and commandment fearful; ²³Whose look drieth up the depths, and whose indignation maketh the mountains to melt away, and whose truth beareth witness: ²⁴Hear, O Lord, the prayer of thy servant, and give ear to the petition of thy handywork; ²⁵Attend unto my words, for so long as I live I will speak, and so long as I have understanding I will answer. ²⁶O look not upon the sins of thy people; but on them that have served thee in truth. ²⁷Regard not the doings of them that deal wickedly, but of them that have kept thy covenants in affliction. ²⁸Think not upon those that have walked feignedly before thee; but remember them which have willingly known thy fear. ²⁹Let it not be thy will to destroy them which have lived like cattle; but look upon them that have clearly taught thy law. ³⁰Take thou no indignation at them which are deemed worse than beasts; but love them that have alway put their trust in thy glory. ³¹For we and our fathers have passed our lives in ways that bring death: but thou because of us sinners art called merciful. ³²For if thou hast a desire to have mercy upon us, then shalt thou be called merciful, to us, namely, that have no works of righteousness. ³³For the just, which have many good works laid up with thee, shall for their own deeds receive reward. ³⁴For what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is a corruptible race, that thou shouldest be so bitter toward it? ³⁵For in truth there is no man among them that be born, but he hath dealt wickedly; and among them that have lived there is none which hath not done amiss. ³⁶For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodness shall be declared, if thou be merciful unto them which have no store of good works. ³⁷Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according unto thy words so shall it come to pass. ³⁸For indeed I will not think on the fashioning of them which have sinned, or their death, their judgement, or their destruction: ³⁹But I will rejoice over the framing of the righteous, their pilgrimage also, and the salvation, and the reward, that they shall have. ⁴⁰Like therefore as I have spoken, so shall it be. ⁴¹For as the husbandman soweth much seed upon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet not all that is sown shall come up in due season, neither shall all that is planted take root: even so they that are sown in the world shall not all be saved. ⁴²I answered then and said, If I have found favour, let me speak before thee. ⁴³Forasmuch as the husbandman's seed, if it come not up, seeing that it hath not received thy rain in due season, or if it be corrupted through too much rain, so perisheth; ⁴⁴Likewise man, which is formed with thy hands, and is called thine own image, because he is made like unto thee, for whose sake thou hast formed all things, even him hast thou made like unto the husbandman's seed. ⁴⁵Be not wroth with us, but spare thy people, and have mercy upon thine inheritance; for thou hast mercy upon thine own creation. ⁴⁶Then answered he me, and said,

Things present are for them that now be, and things to come for such as shall be hereafter. ⁴⁷For thou comest far short that thou shouldest be able to love my creature more than I. But thou hast brought thyself full nigh unto the unrighteous. Let this never be. ⁴⁸Yet in this shalt thou be admirable before the Most High; ⁴⁹In that thou hast humbled thyself, as it becometh thee, and hast not judged thyself worthy to be among the righteous, so as to be much glorified. ⁵⁰For many grievous miseries shall befall them that in the last times dwell in the world, because they have walked in great pride. ⁵¹But understand thou for thyself, and of such as be like thee seek out the glory. ⁵²For unto you is paradise opened, the tree of life is planted, the time to come is prepared, plenteousness is made ready, a city is builded, and rest is allowed, goodness is perfected, wisdom being perfect aforehand. ⁵³The root of evil is sealed up from you, weakness is done away from you, and [death] is hidden; hell and corruption are fled into forgetfulness: ⁵⁴Sorrows are passed away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortality. ⁵⁵Therefore ask thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish. ⁵⁶For when they had received liberty, they despised the Most High, thought scorn of his law, and forsook his ways. ⁵⁷Moreover they have trodden down his righteous, ⁵⁸And said in their heart, that there is no God; yea, and that knowing they must die. ⁵⁹For as the things aforesaid shall receive you, so thirst and pain which are prepared shall receive them: for the Most High willed not that men should come to nought: ⁶⁰But they which be created have themselves defiled the name of him that made them, and were unthankful unto him which prepared life for them. ⁶¹And therefore is my judgement now at hand, ⁶²Which I have not shewed unto all men, but unto thee, and a few like thee. Then answered I and said, ⁶³Behold, O Lord, now hast thou shewed me the multitude of the wonders, which thou wilt do in the last times: but at what time, thou hast not shewed me.

¹And he answered me, and said, Measure thou diligently within thyself: and when thou seest that a certain part of the signs are past, which have been told thee beforehand, ²Then shalt thou understand, that it is the very time, wherein the Most High will visit the world which was made by him. ³And when there shall be seen in the world earthquakes, disquietude of peoples, devices of nations, wavering of leaders, disquietude of princes, ⁴Then shalt thou understand, that the Most High spake of these things from the days that were aforetime from the beginning. ⁵For like as of all that is made in the world, the beginning is evident, and the end manifest; ⁶So also are the times of the Most High: the beginnings are manifest in wonders and mighty works, and the end in effects and signs. ⁷And every one that shall be saved, and shall be able to escape by his works, or by faith, whereby he hath believed, ⁸Shall be preserved from the said perils, and shall see my salvation in my land, and within my borders, which I have sanctified for me from the beginning. ⁹Then shall they be amazed, which now have abused my ways: and they that have cast them away despitefully shall dwell in torments. ¹⁰For as many as in their life have received benefits, and yet have not known me; ¹¹And as many as have scorned my law, while they had yet liberty, and, when as yet place of repentance was open unto them, understood not, but despised it; ¹²The same must know it after death by torment. ¹³And therefore be thou no longer curious how the ungodly shall be punished; but inquire how the righteous shall be saved, they whose the world is, and for whom the world was created. ¹⁴And I answered and said, ¹⁵I have said before, and now do speak, and will speak it also hereafter, that there be more of them which perish, than of them which shall be saved: ¹⁶Like as a wave is greater than a drop. ¹⁷And he answered me, saying, Like as the field is, so is also the seed; and as the flowers be, such are the colours also; and such as the work is, such also is the judgement thereon; and as is the husbandman, so is his threshing-floor also. For there was a time in the world, ¹⁸Even then when I was preparing for them that now live, before the world was made for them to dwell in; and then no man spake against me, ¹⁹For there was not any: but now they which are created in this world that is prepared, both with a table that faileth not, and a law which is unsearchable, are corrupted in their manners. ²⁰So I considered my world, and, lo, it was destroyed, and my earth, and, lo, it was in peril, because of the devices that were come into it. ²¹And I saw, and spared them, but not greatly, and saved me a grape out of a cluster, and a plant out of a great forest. ²²Let the multitude perish then, which was born in vain; and let my grape be saved, and my plant; for with great labour have I made them perfect. ²³Nevertheless if thou wilt cease yet seven days more, (howbeit thou shalt not fast in them, ²⁴But shalt go into a field of flowers, where no house is builded, and eat only of the flowers of the field; and thou shalt taste no flesh, and shalt drink no wine, but shalt eat flowers only;) ²⁵And pray unto the Most High continually, then will I come and talk with thee. ²⁶So I went my way, like as he commanded me, into the field which is called Ardat; and there I sat among the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me. ²⁷And it came to pass after seven days that I lay upon the grass, and my heart was vexed again, like as before: ²⁸And my mouth was opened, and I began to speak before the Most High, and said, ²⁹O Lord, thou didst shew thyself among us, unto our fathers in the wilderness, when they went forth out of Egypt, and when they came into the wilderness, where no man treadeth and that beareth no fruit; ³⁰And thou didst say, Hear me, thou Israel; and mark my words, O seed of Jacob. ³¹For, behold, I sow my law in you, and it shall bring forth fruit in you, and ye shall be glorified in it for ever. ³²But our fathers, which received the law, kept it not, and observed not the statutes: and the fruit of the law did not perish, neither could it, for it was thine; ³³Yet they that received it perished, because they kept not the thing that was sown in them. ³⁴And, lo, it is a custom, that when the ground hath received seed, or the sea a ship, or any vessel meat or drink, and when it cometh to pass that that which is sown, or that which is launched, ³⁵Or the things which have been received, should come to an end, these come to an end, but the receptacles remain: yet with us it hath not happened so. ³⁶For we that have received the law shall perish by sin, and our heart also which received it. ³⁷Notwithstanding the law perisheth not, but remaineth in its honour. ³⁸And when I spake these things in my heart, I looked about me with mine eyes, and upon the right side I saw a woman, and, behold, she mourned and wept with a loud voice, and was much grieved in mind, and her clothes were rent, and she had ashes upon her head. ³⁹Then let I my thoughts go wherein I was occupied, and turned me unto her, ⁴⁰And said unto her, Wherefore weepest thou? and why art thou grieved in thy mind? ⁴¹And she said unto me, Let me alone, my lord, that I may bewail myself, and add unto my sorrow, for I am sore vexed in my mind, and brought very low. ⁴²And I said unto her, What aileth thee? tell me. ⁴³She said unto me, I thy servant was barren, and had no child, though I had a husband thirty years. ⁴⁴And every hour and every day these thirty years did I make my prayer to the Most High day and night. ⁴⁵And it came to pass after thirty years that God heard me thine handmaid, and looked upon my low estate, and considered my trouble, and gave me a son: and I rejoiced in him greatly, I and my husband, and all my neighbours: and we gave great honour unto the Mighty. ⁴⁶And I nourished him with great travail. ⁴⁷So when he grew up, and I came to take him a wife, I made a feast day.

¹And it so came to pass, that when my son was entered into his wedding chamber, he fell down, and died. ²Then we all overthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose up to comfort me: and I remained quiet unto the second day at night. ³And it came to pass, when they had all left off to comfort me, to the end I might be quiet, then rose I up by night, and fled, and came hither into this field, as thou seest. ⁴And I do now purpose not to return into the city, but here to stay, and neither to eat nor drink, but continually to mourn and to fast until I die. ⁵Then left I the meditations wherein I was, and answered her in anger, and said, ⁶Thou foolish woman above all other, seest thou not our mourning, and what hath happened unto us? ⁷How that Sion the mother of us all is full of sorrow, and much humbled. ⁸It is right now to mourn very sore, seeing we all mourn, and to be sorrowful, seeing we are all in sorrow, but thou sorrowest for one son. ⁹For ask the earth, and she shall tell thee, that it is she which ought to mourn for so many that grow upon her. ¹⁰For out of her all had their beginnings, and others shall come; and, behold, they walk almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them is utterly rooted out. ¹¹Who then should make more mourning, she, that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou, which art grieved but for one? ¹²But if thou sayest unto me, My lamentation is not like the earth's, for I have lost the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with pains, and bare with sorrows: ¹³But it is with the earth after the manner of the earth; the multitude present in it is gone, as it came: ¹⁴Then say I unto thee, Like as thou hast brought forth with sorrow; even so the earth also hath given her fruit, namely, man, ever since the beginning unto him that made her. ¹⁵Now therefore keep thy sorrow to thyself, and bear with a good courage the adversities which have befallen thee. ¹⁶For if thou shalt acknowledge the decree of God to be just, thou shalt both receive thy son in time, and shalt be praised among women. ¹⁷Go thy way then into the city to thine husband. ¹⁸And she said unto me, That will I not do: I will not go into the city, but here will I die. ¹⁹So I proceeded to speak further unto her, and said, ²⁰Do not so, but suffer thyself to be prevailed on by reason of the adversities of Sion; and be comforted by reason of the sorrow of Jerusalem. ²¹For thou seest that our sanctuary is laid waste, our altar broken down, our temple destroyed; ²²Our psaltery is brought low, our song is put to silence, our rejoicing is at an end; the light of our candlestick is put out, the ark of our covenant is spoiled, our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called upon us is profaned; our freemen are despitefully treated, our priests are burnt, our Levites are gone into captivity, our virgins are defiled, and our wives ravished; our righteous men carried away, our little ones betrayed, our young men are brought into bondage, and our strong men are become weak; ²³And, what is more than all, the seal of Sion—for she hath now lost the seal of her honour, and is delivered into the hands of them that hate us. ²⁴Thou therefore shake off thy great heaviness, and put away from thee the multitude of sorrows, that the Mighty may be merciful unto thee again, and the Most High may give thee rest, even ease from thy travails. ²⁵And it came to pass, while I was talking with her, behold, her face upon a sudden shined exceedingly, and her countenance glistened like lightning, so that I was sore afraid of her, and mused what this might be; ²⁶And, behold, suddenly she made a great cry very fearful; so that the earth shook at the noise. ²⁷And I looked, and, behold, the woman appeared unto me no more, but there was a city builded, and a place shewed itself from large foundations: then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voice, and said, ²⁸Where is Uriel the angel, who came unto me at the first? for he hath caused me to fall into this great trance, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. ²⁹And as I was speaking these words, behold, the angel who had come unto me at the first came unto me, and he looked upon me: ³⁰And, lo, I lay as one that had been dead, and mine understanding was taken from me; and he took me by the right hand, and comforted me, and set me upon my feet, and said unto me, ³¹What aileth thee? and why art thou so disquieted? and why is thine understanding troubled, and the thoughts of thine heart? ³²And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me: yet I did according to thy words, and went into the field, and, lo, I have seen, and yet see, that which I am not able to express. ³³And he said unto me, Stand up like a man, and I will advise thee. ³⁴Then said I, Speak on, my Lord; only forsake me not, lest I die frustrate of my hope. ³⁵For I have seen that I knew not, and hear that I do not know. ³⁶Or is my sense deceived, or my soul in a dream? ³⁷Now therefore I beseech thee to shew thy servant concerning this trance. ³⁸And he answered me, and said, Hear me, and I shall inform thee, and tell thee concerning the things whereof thou art afraid: for the Most High hath revealed many secret things unto thee. ³⁹He hath seen that thy way is right: for that thou sorrowest continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion. ⁴⁰This therefore is the meaning of the vision. ⁴¹The woman which appeared unto thee a little while ago, whom thou sawest mourning, and beganest to comfort her: ⁴²But now seest thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city in building: ⁴³And whereas she told thee of the death of her son, this is the solution: ⁴⁴This woman, whom thou sawest, is Sion, whom thou now seest as a city builded; ⁴⁵And whereas she said unto thee, that she hath been thirty years barren, it is, because there were three thousand years in the world wherein there was no offering as yet offered in her. ⁴⁶And it came to pass after three thousand years that Solomon builded the city, and offered offerings: then it was that the barren bare a son. ⁴⁷And whereas she told thee that she nourished him with travail: that was the dwelling in Jerusalem. ⁴⁸And whereas she said unto thee, My son coming into his marriage chamber died, and that misfortune befell her: this was the destruction that came to Jerusalem. ⁴⁹And, behold, thou sawest her likeness, how she mourned for her son, and thou beganest to comfort her for what hath befallen her; these were the things to be opened unto thee. ⁵⁰For now the Most High, seeing that thou art grieved unfeignedly, and sufferest from thy whole heart for her, hath shewed thee the brightness of her glory, and the comeliness of her beauty: ⁵¹And therefore I bade thee remain in the field where no house was builded: ⁵²For I knew that the Most High would shew this unto thee. ⁵³Therefore I commanded thee to come into the field, where no foundation of any building was. ⁵⁴For in the place wherein the city of the Most High was to be shewed, the work of no man's building could stand. ⁵⁵Therefore fear thou not, nor let thine heart be affrighted, but go thy way in, and see the beauty and greatness of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to see: ⁵⁶And then shalt thou hear as much as thine ears may comprehend. ⁵⁷For thou art blessed above many, and with the Most High art called by name, like as but few. ⁵⁸But tomorrow at night thou shalt remain here; ⁵⁹And so shall the Most High shew thee those visions in dreams, of what the Most High will do unto them that dwell upon earth in the last days. So I slept that night and another, like as he commanded me.

¹And it came to pass the second night that I saw a dream, and, behold, there came up from the sea an eagle, which had twelve feathered wings, and three heads. ²And I saw, and, behold, she spread her wings over all the earth, and all the winds of heaven blew on her, and the clouds were gathered together against her. ³And I beheld, and out of her wings there grew other wings over against them; and they became little wings and small.

⁴But her heads were at rest: the head in the midst was greater than the other heads, yet rested it with them. ⁵Moreover I beheld, and, lo, the eagle flew with her wings, to reign over the earth, and over them that dwell therein. ⁶And I beheld how that all things under heaven were subject unto her, and no man spake against her, no, not one creature upon earth. ⁷And I beheld, and, lo, the eagle rose upon her talons, and uttered her voice to her wings, saying, ⁸Watch not all at once: sleep every one in his own place, and watch by course: ⁹But let the heads be preserved for the last. ¹⁰And I beheld, and, lo, the voice went not out of her heads, but from the midst of her body. ¹¹And I numbered her wings that were over against the other, and, behold, there were eight of them. ¹²And I beheld, and, lo, on the right side there arose one wing, and reigned over all the earth; ¹³And so it was, that when it reigned, the end of it came, and it appeared not, so that the place thereof appeared no more: and the next following rose up, and reigned, and it bare rule a great time; ¹⁴And it happened, that when it reigned, the end of it came also, so that it appeared no more, like as the first. ¹⁵And, lo, there came a voice unto it, and said, ¹⁶Hear thou that hast borne rule over the earth all this time: this I proclaim unto thee, before thou shalt appear no more, ¹⁷There shall none after thee attain unto thy time, neither unto the half thereof. ¹⁸Then arose the third, and had the rule as the others before, and it also appeared no more. ¹⁹So went it with all the wings one after another, as that every one bare rule, and then appeared no more. ²⁰And I beheld, and, lo, in process of time the wings that followed were set up upon the right side, that they might rule also; and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more: ²¹Some also of them were set up, but ruled not. ²²After this I beheld, and, lo, the twelve wings appeared no more, nor two of the little wings: ²³And there was no more left upon the eagle's body, but the three heads that rested, and six little wings. ²⁴And I beheld, and, lo, two little wings divided themselves from the six, and remained under the head that was upon the right side: but four remained in their place. ²⁵And I beheld, and, lo, these under wings thought to set up themselves, and to have the rule. ²⁶And I beheld, and, lo, there was one set up, but within a while it appeared no more. ²⁷A second also, and it was sooner away than the first. ²⁸And I beheld, and, lo, the two that remained thought also in themselves to reign: ²⁹And while they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, namely, it that was in the midst; for that was greater than the two other heads. ³⁰And I beheld how that it joined the two other heads with it. ³¹And, behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eat up the two under wings that thought to have reigned. ³²But this head held the whole earth in possession, and bare rule over those that dwell therein with much oppression; and it had the governance of the world more than all the wings that had been.

³³And after this I beheld, and, lo, the head also that was in the midst suddenly appeared no more, like as the wings. ³⁴But there remained the two heads, which also in like sort reigned over the earth, and over those that dwell therein. ³⁵And I beheld, and, lo, the head upon the right side devoured it that was upon the left side. ³⁶Then I heard a voice, which said unto me, Look before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest. ³⁷And I beheld, and, lo, as it were a lion roused out of the wood roaring: and I heard how that he sent out a man's voice unto the eagle, and spake, saying, ³⁸Hear thou, I will talk with thee, and the Most High shall say unto thee, ³⁹Art not thou it that remainest of the four beasts, whom I made to reign in my world, that the end of my times might come through them? ⁴⁰And the fourth came, and overcame all the beasts that were past, and held the world in governance with great trembling, and the whole compass of the earth with grievous oppression; and so long time dwelt he upon the earth with deceit. ⁴¹And thou hast judged the earth, but not with truth. ⁴²For thou hast afflicted the meek, thou hast hurt the peaceable, thou hast hated them that speak truth, thou hast loved liars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast down the walls of such as did thee no harm. ⁴³Therefore is thy insolent dealing come up unto the Most High, and thy pride unto the Mighty. ⁴⁴The Most High also hath looked upon his times, and, behold, they are ended, and his ages are fulfilled. ⁴⁵And therefore appear no more, thou eagle, nor thy horrible wings, nor thy evil little wings, nor thy cruel heads, nor thy hurtful talons, nor all thy vain body: ⁴⁶That all the earth may be refreshed, and be eased, being delivered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the judgement and mercy of him that made her.

that remained appeared no more, and the two wings which went over unto it arose and set themselves up to reign, and their kingdom was small, and full of uproar. ³And I beheld, and, lo, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great fear: then awaked I by reason of great ecstasy of mind, and from great fear, and said unto my spirit, ⁴Lo, this hast thou done unto me, in that thou searchest out the ways of the Most High. ⁵Lo, I am yet weary in my mind, and very weak in my spirit; nor is there the least strength in me, for the great fear wherewith I was affrighted this night. ⁶Therefore will I now beseech the Most High, that he will strengthen me unto the end. ⁷And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, if I have found favour in thy sight, and if I am justified with thee above many others, and if my prayer indeed be come up before thy face; ⁸Strengthen me then, and shew me thy servant the interpretation and plain meaning of this fearful vision, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soul. ⁹For thou hast judged me worthy to shew me the end of time and the last times. ¹⁰And he said unto me, This is the interpretation of this vision which thou sawest: ¹¹The eagle, whom thou sawest come up from the sea, is the fourth kingdom which appeared in vision to thy brother Daniel. ¹²But it was not expounded unto him, as I now expound it unto thee or have expounded it. ¹³Behold, the days come, that there shall rise up a kingdom upon earth, and it shall be feared above all the kingdoms that were before it. ¹⁴In the same shall twelve kings reign, one after another: ¹⁵Whereof the second shall begin to reign, and shall have a longer time than any of the twelve. ¹⁶This is the interpretation of the twelve wings, which thou sawest. ¹⁷And whereas thou heardest a voice which spake, not going out from the heads, but from the midst of the body thereof, this is the interpretation: ¹⁸That after the time of that kingdom there shall arise no small contentions, and it shall stand in peril of falling: nevertheless it shall not then fall, but shall be restored again to its first estate.

¹⁹And whereas thou sawest the eight under wings sticking to her wings, this is the interpretation:

²⁰That in it there shall arise eight kings, whose times shall be but small, and their years swift. ²¹And two of them shall perish, when the middle time approacheth: four shall be kept for a while until the time of the ending thereof shall approach: but two shall be kept unto the end. ²²And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation: ²³In the last days thereof shall the Most High raise up three kingdoms, and renew many things therein, and they shall bear rule over the earth, ²⁴And over those that dwell therein, with much oppression, above all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the eagle. ²⁵For these are they that shall accomplish her wickedness, and that shall finish her last end. ²⁶And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die upon his bed, and yet with pain. ²⁷But for the two that remained, the sword shall devour them. ²⁸For the sword of the one shall devour him that was with him: but he also shall fall by the sword in the last days. ²⁹And whereas thou sawest two under wings passing over unto the head that is on the right side, ³⁰This is the interpretation: These are they, whom the Most High hath kept unto his end: this is the small kingdom and full of trouble, as thou sawest. ³¹And the lion, whom thou sawest rising up out of the wood, and roaring, and speaking to the eagle, and rebuking her for her unrighteousness, and all her words which thou hast heard; ³²This is the anointed one, whom the Most High hath kept unto the end [of days, who shall spring up out of the seed of David, and he shall come and speak] unto them and reprove them for their wickedness and their unrighteousness, and shall heap up before them their contemptuous dealings. ³³For at the first he shall set them alive in his judgement, and when he hath reproved them, he shall destroy them. ³⁴For the rest of my people shall he deliver with mercy, those that have been preserved throughout my borders, and he shall make them joyful until the coming of the end, even the day of judgement, whereof I have spoken unto thee from the beginning. ³⁵This is the dream that thou sawest, and this is the interpretation thereof: ³⁶And thou only hast been meet to know this secret of the Most High. ³⁷Therefore write all these things that thou hast seen in a book, and put them in a secret place: ³⁸And thou shalt teach them to the wise of thy people, whose hearts thou knowest are able to comprehend and keep these secrets. ³⁹But wait thou here thyself yet seven days more, that there may be shewed unto thee whatsoever it pleaseth the Most High to shew thee. And he departed from me. ⁴⁰ And it came to pass, when all the people saw that the seven days were past, and I not come again into the city, they gathered them all together, from the least unto the greatest, and came unto me, and spake to me, saying, ⁴¹What have we offended thee? and what evil have we done against thee, that thou hast utterly forsaken us, and sittest in this place? ⁴²For of all the prophets thou only art left us, as a cluster of the vintage, and as a lamp in a dark place, and as a haven for a ship saved from the tempest. ⁴³Are not the evils which are come to us sufficient? ⁴⁴If thou shalt forsake us, how much better had it been for us, if we also had been consumed in the burning of Sion! ⁴⁵For we are not better than they that died there. And they wept with a loud voice. And I answered them, and said, ⁴⁶Be of good comfort, O Israel; and be not sorrowful, thou house of Jacob: ⁴⁷For the Most High hath you in remembrance, and the Mighty hath not forgotten you for ever. ⁴⁸As for me, I have not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you: but am come into this place, to pray for the desolation of Sion, and that I might seek mercy for the low estate of your sanctuary. ⁴⁹And now go your way every man to his own house, and after these days will I come unto you. ⁵⁰So the people went their way into the city, like as I said unto them: ⁵¹But I sat in the field seven days, as the angel commanded me; and in those days I did eat only of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbs.

¹And it came to pass after seven days, I dreamed a dream by night: ²And, lo, there arose a wind from the sea, that it moved all the waves thereof. ³And I beheld, and, lo, [this wind caused to come up from the midst of the sea as it were the likeness of a man, and I beheld, and, lo,] that man flew with the clouds of heaven: and when he turned his countenance to look, all things trembled that were seen under him. ⁴And whensoever the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, like as the wax melteth when it feeleth the fire. ⁵And after this I beheld, and, lo, there was gathered together a multitude of men, out of number, from the four winds of heaven, to make war against the man that came out of the sea. ⁶And I beheld, and, lo, he graved himself a great mountain, and flew up upon it. ⁷But I sought to see the region or place whereout the mountain was graven, and I could not. ⁸And after this I beheld, and, lo, all they which were gathered together to fight against him were sore afraid, and yet durst fight. ⁹And, lo, as he saw the assault of the multitude that came, he neither lifted up his hand, nor held spear, nor any instrument of war: ¹⁰But only I saw how that he sent out of his mouth as it had been a flood of fire, and out of his lips a flaming breath, and out of his tongue he cast forth sparks of the storm. ¹¹And these were all mingled together; the flood of fire, the flaming breath, and the great storm; and fell upon the assault of the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burned them up every one, so that upon a sudden of an innumerable multitude nothing was to be perceived, but only dust of ashes and smell of smoke: when I saw this I was amazed. ¹²Afterward I beheld the same man come down from the mountain, and call unto him another multitude which was peaceable. ¹³And there came much people unto him, whereof some were glad, some were sorry, some of them were bound, and other some brought of them that were offered: then through great fear I awaked, and prayed unto the Most High, and said, ¹⁴Thou hast shewed thy servant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy that thou shouldest receive my prayer: ¹⁵And now shew me moreover the interpretation of this dream. ¹⁶For as I conceive in mine understanding, woe unto them that shall be left in those days! and much more woe unto them that are not left! ¹⁷For they that were not left shall be in heaviness, ¹⁸Understanding the things that are laid up in the latter days, but not attaining unto them. ¹⁹But woe unto them also that are left, for this cause; for they shall see great perils and many necessities, like as these dreams declare. ²⁰Yet is it better for one to be in peril and to come into these things, than to pass away as a cloud out of the world, and not to see the things that shall happen in the last days. And he answered unto me, and said, ²¹The interpretation of the vision shall I tell thee, and I will also open unto thee the things whereof thou hast made mention. ²²Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation: ²³He that shall endure the peril in that time shall keep them that be fallen into danger, even such as have works, and faith toward the Almighty. ²⁴Know therefore, that they which be left behind are more blessed than they that be dead. ²⁵These are the interpretations of the vision: Whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the midst of the sea, ²⁶The same is he whom the Most High hath kept a great season, which by his own self shall deliver his creature: and he shall order them that are left behind. ²⁷And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came wind, and fire, and storm; ²⁸And whereas he held neither spear, nor any instrument of war, but destroyed the assault of that multitude which came to fight against him; this is the interpretation: ²⁹Behold, the days come, when the Most High will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth. ³⁰And there shall come astonishment of mind upon them that dwell on the earth. ³¹And one shall think to war against another, city against city, place against place, people against people, and kingdom against kingdom. ³²And it shall be, when these things shall come to pass, and the signs shall happen which I shewed thee before, then shall my Son be revealed, whom thou sawest as a man ascending. ³³And it shall be, when all the nations hear his voice, every man shall leave his own land and the battle they have one against another. ³⁴And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered together, as thou sawest, desiring to come, and to fight against him. ³⁵But he shall stand upon the top of the mount Sion. ³⁶And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all men, being prepared and builded, like as thou sawest the mountain graven without hands. ³⁷And this my Son shall rebuke the nations which are come for their wickedness, with plagues that are like unto a tempest; ³⁸And shall taunt them to their face with their evil thoughts, and the torments wherewith they shall be tormented, which are likened unto a flame: and he shall destroy them without labour by the law, which is likened unto fire. ³⁹And whereas thou sawest that he gathered unto him another multitude that was peaceable; ⁴⁰These are the ten tribes, which were led away out of their own land in the time of Osea the king, whom Salmanasar the king of the Assyrians led away captive, and he carried them beyond the River, and they were carried into another land. ⁴¹But they took this counsel among themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankind dwelt, ⁴²That they might there keep their statutes, which they had not kept in their own land. ⁴³And they entered by the narrow passages of the river Euphrates. ⁴⁴For the Most High then wrought signs for them, and stayed the springs of the River, till they were passed over. ⁴⁵For through that country there was a great way to go, namely, of a year and a half: and the same region is called Arzareth. ⁴⁶Then dwelt they there until the latter time; and now when they begin to come again, ⁴⁷The Most High stayeth the springs of the River again, that they may go through: therefore sawest thou the multitude gathered together with peace. ⁴⁸But those that be left behind of thy people are they that are found within my holy border. ⁴⁹It shall be therefore when he shall destroy the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remain. ⁵⁰And then shall he shew them very many wonders. ⁵¹Then said I, O Lord that bearest rule, shew me this: wherefore I have seen the man coming up from the midst of the sea. ⁵²And he said unto me, Like as one can neither seek out nor know what is in the deep of the sea, even so can no man upon earth see my Son, or those that be with him, but in the time of his day. ⁵³This is the interpretation of the dream which thou sawest, and for this thou only art enlightened herein. ⁵⁴For thou hast forsaken thine own ways, and applied thy diligence unto mine, and hast sought out my law. ⁵⁵Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called understanding thy mother. ⁵⁶And therefore have I shewed thee this; for there is a reward laid up with the Most High: and it shall be, after other three days I will speak other things unto thee, and declare unto thee mighty and wondrous things. ⁵⁷Then went I forth and passed into the field, giving praise and thanks greatly unto the Most High because of his wonders, which he did from time to time; ⁵⁸And because he governeth the time, and such things as fall in their seasons. And there I sat three days.

¹And it came to pass upon the third day, I sat under an oak, and, behold, there came a voice out of a bush over against me, and said, Esdras, Esdras. ²And I said, Here am I, Lord. And I stood up upon my feet. ³Then said he unto me,

In the bush I did manifestly reveal myself, and talked with Moses, when my people were in bondage in Egypt: ⁴And I sent him, and he led my people out of Egypt; and I brought him up to the mount of Sinai, where I held him by me for many days; ⁵And told him many wondrous things, and shewed him the secrets of the times, and the end of the seasons; and commanded him, saying, ⁶These words shalt thou publish openly, and these shalt thou hide. ⁷And now I say unto thee, ⁸Lay up in thy heart the signs that I have shewed, and the dreams that thou hast seen, and the interpretations which thou hast heard: ⁹For thou shalt be taken away from men, and from henceforth thou shalt remain with my Son, and with such as be like thee, until the times be ended. ¹⁰For the world hath lost its youth, and the times begin to wax old. ¹¹For the world is divided into twelve parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, even the half of the tenth part: ¹²And there remain of it two parts after the middle of the tenth part. ¹³Now therefore set thine house in order, and reprove thy people, comfort the lowly among them, and instruct such of them as be wise, and now renounce the life that is corruptible, ¹⁴And let go from thee mortal thoughts, cast away from thee the burdens of man, put off now thy weak nature, ¹⁵And lay aside the thoughts that are most grievous unto thee, and haste thee to remove from these times. ¹⁶For yet worse evils than those which thou hast seen happen shall be done hereafter. ¹⁷For look, how much the world shall be weaker through age, so much the more shall evils increase upon them that dwell therein. ¹⁸For the truth shall withdraw itself further off, and leasing be hard at hand: for now hasteth the eagle to come, which thou sawest in vision. ¹⁹Then answered I and said, I will speak before thee, O Lord. ²⁰Behold, I will go, as thou hast commanded me, and reprove the people that now be: but they that shall be born afterward, who shall admonish them? for the world is set in darkness, and they that dwell therein are without light.

²¹For thy law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shall be done. ²²But if I have found favour before thee, send the Holy Spirit into me, and I shall write all that hath been done in the world since the beginning, even the things that were written in thy law, that men may be able to find the path, and that they which would live in the latter days may live. ²³And he answered me and said, Go thy way, gather the people together, and say unto them, that they seek thee not for forty days. ²⁴But look thou prepare thee many tablets, and take with thee Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ethanus, and Asiel, these five, which are ready to write swiftly; ²⁵And come hither, and I shall light a lamp of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be ended which thou shalt write. ²⁶And when thou hast done, some things shalt thou publish openly, and some things shalt thou deliver in secret to the wise: to-morrow this hour shalt thou begin to write. ²⁷Then went

I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said, ²⁸Hear these words, O Israel. ²⁹Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, and they were delivered from thence, ³⁰And received the law of life, which they kept not, which ye also have transgressed after them. ³¹Then was the land, even the land of Sion, given you for a possession: but ye yourselves, and your fathers, have done unrighteousness, and have not kept the ways which the Most High commanded you. ³²And forasmuch as he is a righteous judge, he took from you for a while the thing that he had given you. ³³And now ye are here, and your brethren are among you. ³⁴Therefore if so be that ye will rule over your own understanding, and instruct your hearts, ye shall be kept alive, and after death ye shall obtain mercy. ³⁵For after death shall the judgement come, when we shall live again: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the ungodly shall be declared. ³⁶Let no man therefore come unto me now, nor seek after me these forty days. ³⁷So I took the five men, as he commanded me, and we went forth into the field, and remained there. ³⁸And it came to pass on the morrow that, lo, a voice called me, saying, Esdras, open thy mouth, and drink that I give thee to drink. ³⁹Then opened I my mouth, and, behold, there was reached unto me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire. ⁴⁰And I took it, and drank: and when I had drunk of it, my heart uttered understanding, and wisdom grew in my breast, for my spirit retained its memory: ⁴¹And my mouth was opened, and shut no more. ⁴²The Most High gave understanding unto the five men, and they wrote by course the things that were told them, in characters which they knew not, and they sat forty days: now they wrote in the daytime, and at night they ate bread. ⁴³As for me, I spake in the day, and by night I held not my tongue. ⁴⁴So in forty days were written fourscore and fourteen books. ⁴⁵And it came to pass, when the forty days were fulfilled, that the Most High spake unto me, saying, The first that thou hast written publish openly, and let the worthy and unworthy read it: ⁴⁶But keep the seventy last, that thou mayest deliver them to such as be wise among thy people: ⁴⁷For in them is the spring of understanding, the fountain of wisdom, and the stream of knowledge. ⁴⁸And I did so.

¹Behold, speak thou in the ears of my people the words of prophecy, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord: ²And cause thou them to be written in paper: for they are faithful and true. ³Fear not their imaginations against thee, let not the unbelief of them that speak against thee trouble thee. ⁴For all the unbelievers shall die in their unbelief. ⁵Behold, saith the Lord, I bring evils upon the whole earth; sword and famine, and death and destruction. ⁶For wickedness hath prevailed over every land, and their hurtful works are come to the full. ⁷Therefore saith the Lord,

⁸I will hold my peace no more as touching their wickedness, which they profanely commit, neither will I suffer them in these things, which they wickedly practise: behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth unto me, and the souls of the righteous cry out continually. ⁹I will surely avenge them, saith the Lord, and will receive unto me all the innocent blood from among them. ¹⁰Behold, my people is led as a flock to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt: ¹¹But I will bring them out with a mighty hand and with a high arm, and will smite Egypt with plagues, as aforetime, and will destroy all the land thereof. ¹²Let Egypt mourn, and the foundations thereof, for the plague of the chastisement and the punishment that God shall bring upon it. ¹³Let the husbandmen that till the ground mourn: for their seeds shall fail and their trees shall be laid waste through the blasting and hail, and a terrible star. ¹⁴Woe to the world and them that dwell therein! ¹⁵For the sword and their destruction draweth nigh, and nation shall rise up against nation to battle with weapons in their hands. ¹⁶For there shall be sedition among men; and waxing strong one against another, they shall not regard their king nor the chief of their great ones, in their might. ¹⁷For a man shall desire to go into a city, and shall not be able. ¹⁸For because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be destroyed, and men shall be afraid. ¹⁹A man shall have no pity upon his neighbour, but shall make an assault on their houses with the sword, and spoil their goods, because of the lack of bread, and for great tribulation. ²⁰Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth, to stir up them that are from the rising of the sun, from the south, from the east, and Libanus; to turn themselves one against another, and repay the things that they have done to them. ²¹Like as they do yet this day unto my chosen, so will I do also, and recompense in their bosom. Thus saith the Lord God: ²²My right hand shall not spare the sinners, and my sword shall not cease over them that shed innocent blood upon the earth. ²³And a fire is gone forth from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners, like the straw that is kindled. ²⁴Woe to them that sin, and keep not my commandments! saith the Lord. ²⁵I will not spare them: go your way, ye rebellious children, defile not my sanctuary. ²⁶For the Lord knoweth all them that trespass against him, therefore hath he delivered them unto death and destruction. ²⁷For now are the evils come upon the whole earth, and ye shall remain in them: for God shall not deliver you, because ye have sinned against him. ²⁸Behold, a vision horrible, and the appearance thereof from the east! ²⁹And the nations of the dragons of Arabia shall come out with many chariots, and from the day that they set forth the hissing of them is carried over the earth, so that all they which shall hear them may fear also and tremble. ³⁰Also the Carmonians raging in wrath shall go forth as the wild boars of the wood, and with great power shall they come, and join battle with them, and shall waste a portion of the land of the Assyrians with their teeth. ³¹And then shall the dragons have the upper hand, remembering their nature; and if they shall turn themselves, conspiring together in great power to persecute them, ³²Then these shall be troubled, and keep silence through their power, and shall turn and flee. ³³And from the land of the Assyrians shall the lier in wait besiege them, and consume one of them, and upon their host shall be fear and trembling, and sedition against their kings. ³⁴Behold, clouds from the east and from the north unto the south, and they are very horrible to look upon, full of wrath and storm. ³⁵They shall dash one against another, and they shall pour out a plentiful storm upon the earth, even their own star; and there shall be blood from the sword unto the horse's belly, ³⁶And to the thigh of man, and to the camel's hough. ³⁷And there shall be fearfulness and great trembling upon earth: and they

that see that wrath shall be afraid, and trembling shall take hold upon them. ³⁸And after this shall there be stirred up great storms from the south, and from the north, and another part from the west. ³⁹And strong winds shall arise from the east, and shall shut it up, even the cloud which he raised in wrath; and the star that was to cause destruction by the east wind shall be violently driven toward the south and west. ⁴⁰And great clouds and mighty and full of wrath shall be lifted up, and the star, that they may destroy all the earth, and them that dwell therein; and they shall pour out over every high and eminent one a terrible star, ⁴¹Fire, and hail, and flying swords, and many waters, that all plains may be full, and all rivers, with the abundance of those waters. ⁴²And they shall break down the cities and walls, mountains and hills, trees of the wood, and grass of the meadows, and their corn. ⁴³And they shall go on stedfastly unto Babylon, and destroy her. ⁴⁴They shall come unto her, and compass her about; the star and all wrath shall they pour out upon her: then shall the dust and smoke go up unto the heaven, and all they that be about her shall bewail her. ⁴⁵And they that remain shall do service unto them that have put her in fear. ⁴⁶And thou, Asia, that art partaker in the beauty of Babylon, and in the glory of her person: ⁴⁷Woe unto thee, thou wretch, because thou hast made thyself like unto her; thou hast decked thy daughters in whoredom, that they might please and glory in thy lovers, which have alway desired thee to commit whoredom withal! ⁴⁸Thou hast followed her that is hateful in all her works and inventions: therefore saith God, ⁴⁹I will send evils upon thee; widowhood, poverty, famine, sword, and pestilence, to waste thy houses unto destruction and death. ⁵⁰And the glory of thy power shall be dried up as a flower, when the heat shall arise that is sent over thee. ⁵¹Thou shalt be weakened as a poor woman with stripes, and as one chastised with wounds, so that thy mighty ones and thy lovers thou shalt not be able to receive. ⁵²Would I with jealousy have so proceeded against thee, saith the Lord, ⁵³If thou hadst not always slain my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and saying over their dead, when thou wast drunken, ⁵⁴Set forth the beauty of thy countenance? ⁵⁵The reward of a harlot shall be in thy bosom, therefore shalt thou receive recompense. ⁵⁶Like as thou shalt do unto my chosen, saith the Lord, even so shall God do unto thee, and shall deliver thee into mischief. ⁵⁷And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword: and thy cities shall be broken down, and all thine shall perish by the sword in the field. ⁵⁸And they that be in the mountains shall die of hunger, and eat their own flesh, and drink their own blood, for very hunger of bread, and thirst of water. ⁵⁹Thou unhappy above all shalt come and shalt again receive evils. ⁶⁰And in the passage they shall rush on the idle city, and shall destroy some portion of thy land, and mar part of thy glory, and shall return again to Babylon that was destroyed. ⁶¹And thou shalt be cast down by them as stubble, and they shall be unto thee as fire; ⁶²And shall devour thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountains; all thy woods and thy fruitful trees shall they burn up with fire. ⁶³They shall carry thy children away captive, and shall spoil thy wealth, and mar the glory of thy face.

CHAPTER 16

¹Woe unto thee, Babylon, and Asia! woe unto thee, Egypt, and Syria! ²Gird up yourselves with sackcloth and garments of hair, and bewail your children, and lament; for your destruction is at hand. ³A sword is sent upon you, and who is he that may turn it back? ⁴A fire is sent upon you, and who is he that may quench it? ⁵Evils are sent upon you, and who is he that may drive them away? ⁶May one drive away a hungry lion in the wood? or may one quench the fire in stubble, when it hath once begun to burn? ⁷May one turn again the arrow that is shot of a strong archer? ⁸The Lord God sendeth the evils, and who shall drive them away? ⁹A fire shall go forth from his wrath, and who is he that may quench it?

¹⁰He shall cast lightning, and who shall not fear? he shall thunder, and who shall not tremble? ¹¹The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not be utterly broken in pieces at his presence? ¹²The earth quaketh, and the foundations thereof; the sea ariseth up with waves from the deep, and the waves of it shall be troubled, and the fishes thereof also, at the presence of the Lord, and before the glory of his power: ¹³For strong is his right hand that bendeth the bow, his arrows that he shooteth are sharp, and shall not miss, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

¹⁴Behold, the evils are sent forth, and shall not return again, until they come upon the earth. ¹⁵The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth. ¹⁶Like as an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer returneth not backward, even so the evils that are sent forth upon earth shall not return again. ¹⁷Woe is me! woe is me! who will deliver me in those days? ¹⁸ The beginning of sorrows, and there shall be great mournings; the beginning of famine, and many shall perish; the beginning of wars, and the powers shall stand in fear; the beginning of evils, and all shall tremble! what shall they do in all this when the evils shall come?

¹⁹Behold, famine and plague, tribulation and anguish! they are sent as scourges for amendment.

²⁰But for all these things they shall not turn them from their wickedness, nor be alway mindful of the scourges. ²¹Behold, victuals shall be so good cheap upon earth, that they shall think themselves to be in good case, and even then shall evils grow upon earth, sword, famine, and great confusion. ²²For many of them that dwell upon earth shall perish of famine; and the other, that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy. ²³And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be left desolate, and the cities thereof shall be cast down. ²⁴There shall be no husbandman left to till the earth, and to sow it. ²⁵The trees shall give fruit, and who shall gather them? ²⁶The grapes shall ripen, and who shall tread them? for in all places there shall be a great forsaking: ²⁷For one man shall desire to see another, or to hear his voice. ²⁸For of a city there shall be ten left, and two of the field, which have hidden themselves in the thick groves, and in the clefts of the rocks. ²⁹As in an orchard of olives upon every tree there be left three or four olives, ³⁰Or as when a vineyard is gathered there be some clusters left by them that diligently seek through the vineyard; ³¹Even so in those days there shall be three or four left by them that search their houses with the sword. ³²And the earth shall be left desolate, and the fields thereof shall be for briers, and her ways and all her paths shall bring forth thorns, because no sheep shall pass therethrough. ³³The virgins shall mourn, having no bridegrooms; the women shall mourn, having no husbands; their daughters shall mourn, having no helpers. ³⁴In the wars shall their bridegrooms be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish of famine. ³⁵Hear now these things, and understand them, ye servants of the Lord. ³⁶Behold, the word of the Lord, receive it: disbelieve not the things whereof the Lord speaketh. ³⁷Behold, the evils draw nigh, and are not slack. ³⁸Like as a woman with child in the ninth month, when the hour of her delivery draweth near, within two or three hours doleful pains compass her womb, and when the child cometh forth from the womb, there shall be no tarrying for a moment: ³⁹Even so shall not the evils be slack to come upon the earth, and the world shall groan, and sorrows shall take hold of it on every side. ⁴⁰O my people, hear my word: make you ready to the battle, and in those evils be even as pilgrims upon the earth. ⁴¹He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth away: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose: ⁴²He that occupieth merchandise, as he that hath no profit by it: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein: ⁴³He that soweth, as if he should not reap: so also he that pruneth the vines, as he that shall not gather the grapes: ⁴⁴They that marry, as they that shall get no children; and they that marry not, as the widowed. ⁴⁵Inasmuch as they that labour labour in vain; ⁴⁶For strangers shall reap their fruits, and spoil their goods, overthrow their houses, and take their children captive, for in captivity and famine shall they beget their children: ⁴⁷And they that traffick traffick to become a spoil: the more they deck their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their own persons, ⁴⁸The more will I hate them for their sins, saith the Lord. ⁴⁹Like as a right honest and virtuous woman hateth a harlot, ⁵⁰So shall righteousness hate iniquity, when she decketh herself, and shall accuse her to her face, when he cometh that shall defend him that diligently searcheth out every sin upon earth. ⁵¹Therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the works thereof. ⁵²For yet a little while, and iniquity shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reign over us.

⁵³Let not the sinner say that he hath not sinned: for he shall burn coals of fire upon his head, which saith, I have not sinned before God and his glory. ⁵⁴Behold, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts. ⁵⁵Who said, Let the earth be made; and it was made: Let the heaven be made; and it was made. ⁵⁶And at his word were the stars established, and he knoweth the number of the stars. ⁵⁷Who searcheth the deep, and the treasures thereof; he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth. ⁵⁸Who hath shut the sea in the midst of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth upon the waters. ⁵⁹Who spreadeth out the heaven like a vault; upon the waters hath he founded it. ⁶⁰Who hath made in the desert springs of water, and pools upon the tops of the mountains, to send forth rivers from the height to water the earth. ⁶¹Who framed man, and put a heart in the midst of the body, and gave him breath, life, and understanding, ⁶²Yea, the spirit of God Almighty. He who made all things, and searcheth out hidden things in hidden places, ⁶³Surely he knoweth your imagination, and what ye think in your hearts. Woe to them that sin, and would fain hide their sin! ⁶⁴Forasmuch as the Lord will exactly search out all your works, and he will put you all to shame. ⁶⁵And when your sins are brought forth before men, ye shall be ashamed, and your own iniquities shall stand as your accusers in that day. ⁶⁶What will ye do? or how will ye hide your sins before God and his angels? ⁶⁷Behold, God is the judge, fear him: leave off from your sins, and forget your iniquities, to meddle no more with them for ever: so shall God lead you forth, and deliver you from all tribulation. ⁶⁸FOR, behold, the burning wrath of a great multitude is kindled over you, and they shall take away certain of you, and feed you with that which is slain unto idols. ⁶⁹And they that consent unto them shall be had in derision and in reproach, and be trodden under foot of them. ⁷⁰For there shall be in divers places, and in the next cities, a great insurrection upon those that fear the Lord. ⁷¹They shall be like mad men, sparing none, but spoiling and destroying them that still fear the Lord. ⁷²For they shall waste and take away their goods, and cast them out of their houses. ⁷³Then shall be manifest the trial of mine elect; even as the gold that is tried in the fire. ⁷⁴Hear, O ye mine elect, saith the Lord: behold, the days of tribulation are at hand, and I will deliver you from them. ⁷⁵Be ye not afraid, neither doubt; for God is your guide: ⁷⁶And ye who keep my commandments and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sins weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift up themselves. ⁷⁷Woe unto them that are fast bound with their sins, and covered with their iniquities. like as a field is fast bound with bushes, and the path thereof covered with thorns, that no man may travel through! ⁷⁸It is even shut off, and given up to be consumed of fire.

TOBIT

¹The book of the words of Tobit, the son of Tobiel, the son of Ananiel, the son of Aduel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asiel, of the tribe of Naphtali; ²Who in the days of Enemessar king of the Assyrians was carried away captive out of Thisbe, which is on the right hand of Kedesh Naphtali in Galilee above Asher. ³I Tobit walked in the ways of truth and righteousness all the days of my life, and I did many almsdeeds to my brethren and my nation, who went with me into the land of the Assyrians, to Nineveh. ⁴And when I was in mine own country, in the land of Israel, while I was yet young, all the tribe of Naphtali my father fell away from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, and the temple of the habitation of the Most High was hallowed and built therein for all ages. ⁵And all the tribes which fell away together sacrificed to the heifer Baal, and so did the house of

Naphtali my father. ⁶And I alone went often to Jerusalem at the feasts, as it hath been ordained unto all Israel by an everlasting decree, having the firstfruits and the tenths of mine increase, and that which was first shorn; and I gave them at the altar to the priests the sons of Aaron. ⁷The tenth part of all mine increase I gave to the sons of Levi, who ministered at Jerusalem: and the second tenth part I sold away, and went, and spent it each year at Jerusalem: ⁸And the third I gave unto them to whom it was meet, as Deborah my father's mother had commanded me, because I was left an orphan by my father. ⁹And when I became a man, I took to wife Anna of the seed of our own family, and of her I begat Tobias. ¹⁰And when I was carried away captive to Nineveh, all my brethren and those that were of my kindred did eat of the bread of the Gentiles: ¹¹But I kept myself from eating, ¹²Because I remembered God with all my soul. ¹³And the Most High gave me grace and favour in the sight of Enemessar, and I was his purveyor. ¹⁴And I went into Media, and left in trust with Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, at Rages of Media, ten talents of silver. ¹⁵And when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his son reigned in his stead; and in his time the highways were troubled, and I could no more go into Media. ¹⁶And in the days of Enemessar I did many almsdeeds to my brethren: I gave my bread to the hungry, ¹⁷And my garments to the naked: and if I saw any of my race dead, and cast forth on the wall of Nineveh, I buried him. ¹⁸And if Sennacherib the king slew any, when he came fleeing from Judæa, I buried them privily; for in his wrath he slew many; and the bodies were sought for by the king, and were not found. ¹⁹But one of the Ninevites went and shewed to the king concerning me, how that I buried them, and hid myself; and when I knew that I was sought for to be put to death, I withdrew myself for fear. ²⁰And all my goods were forcibly taken away, and there was nothing left unto me, save my wife Anna and my son Tobias.

²¹And there passed not five and fifty days, before two of his sons slew him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararat. And Sarchedonus his son reigned in his stead; and he appointed over all the accounts of his kingdom, and over all his affairs, Achiacharus my brother Anael's son. ²²And Achiacharus made request for me, and I came to Nineveh. Now Achiacharus was cupbearer, and keeper of the signet, and steward, and overseer of the accounts: and Sarchedonus appointed him next unto himself: but he was my brother's son.

¹Now when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was restored unto me, and my son Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seven weeks, there was a good dinner prepared me, and I sat down to eat. ²And I saw abundance of meat, and I said to my son, Go and bring what poor man soever thou shalt find of our brethren, who is mindful of the Lord; and, lo, I tarry for thee. ³And he came, and said, Father, one of our race is strangled, and is cast out in the marketplace. ⁴And before I had tasted aught, I sprang up, and took him up into a chamber until the sun was set. ⁵And I returned, and washed myself, and ate my bread in heaviness, ⁶And remembered the prophecy of Amos, as he said, Your feasts shall be turned into mourning, And all your mirth into lamentation. ⁷And I wept: and when the sun was set, I went and made a grave, and buried him. ⁸And my neighbours mocked me, and said, He is no longer afraid to be put to death for this matter: and yet he fled away: and, lo, he burieth the dead again. ⁹And the same night I returned from burying him, and slept by the wall of my courtyard, being polluted; and my face was uncovered: ¹⁰And I knew not that there were sparrows in the wall; and, mine eyes being open, the sparrows muted warm dung into mine eyes, and white films came in mine eyes; and I went to the physicians, and they helped me not: but Achiacharus did nourish me, until I went into Elymais. ¹¹And my wife Anna did spin in the women's chambers, ¹²And did send the work back to the owners. And they on their part paid her wages, and gave her also besides a kid. ¹³But when it came to my house, it began to cry, and I said unto her, From whence is this kid? is it stolen? render it to the owners; for it is not lawful to eat anything that is stolen. ¹⁴But she said, It hath been given me for a gift more than the wages. And I did not believe her, and I bade her render it to the owners; and I was abashed at her. But she answered and said unto me, Where are thine alms and thy righteous deeds? behold, thou and all thy works are known.

¹And I was grieved and wept, and prayed in sorrow, saying, ²O Lord, thou art righteous, and all thy works and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou judgest true and righteous judgement for ever. ³Remember me, and look on me; take not vengeance on me for my sins and mine ignorances, and the sins of my fathers, which sinned before thee: ⁴For they disobeyed thy commandments; and thou gavest us for a spoil, and for captivity, and for death, and for a proverb of reproach to all the nations among whom we are dispersed. ⁵And now many are thy judgements, true are they; that thou shouldest deal with me according to my sins and the sins of my fathers: because we did not keep thy commandments, for we walked not in truth before thee. ⁶And now deal with me according to that which is pleasing in thy sight, command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be released, and become earth: for it is profitable for me to die rather than to live, because I have heard false reproaches, and there is much sorrow in me: command that I be now released from my distress, and go to the everlasting place: turn not thy face away from me. ⁷The same day it happened unto Sarah the daughter of Raguel in Ecbatana of Media, that she also was reproached by her father's maidservants; ⁸Because that she had been given to seven husbands, and Asmodæus the evil spirit slew them, before they had lain with her. And they said unto her, Dost thou not know that thou stranglest thy husbands? thou hast had already seven husbands, and thou hast had no profit of any one of them. ⁹Wherefore dost thou scourge us? if they be dead, go thy ways with them; let us never see of thee either son or daughter. ¹⁰When she heard these things, she was grieved exceedingly, so that she thought to have hanged herself: and she said, I am the only daughter of my father; if I do this, it shall be a reproach unto him, and I shall bring down his old age with sorrow to the grave. ¹¹And she prayed by the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and blessed is thy holy and honourable name for ever: let all thy works praise thee for ever. ¹²And now, Lord, I have set mine eyes and my face toward thee: ¹³Command that I be released from the earth, and that I no more hear reproach. ¹⁴Thou knowest, Lord, that I am pure from all sin with man, ¹⁵And that I never polluted my name, nor the name of my father, in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my father, and he hath no child that shall be his heir, nor brother near him, nor son belonging to him, that I should keep myself for a wife unto him: seven husbands of mine are dead already; why should I live? And if it pleaseth thee not to slay me, command some regard to be had of me, and pity taken of me, and that I hear no more reproach. ¹⁶And the prayer of both was heard before the glory of the great God. ¹⁷Raphael also was sent to heal them both, to scale away the white films from Tobit's eyes, and to give Sarah the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the son of Tobit; and to bind Asmodæus the evil spirit; because it belonged to Tobias that he should inherit her. The selfsame time did Tobit return and enter into his house, and Sarah the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper chamber.

¹In that day Tobit remembered concerning the money which he had left in trust with Gabael in Rages of Media, ²And he said in himself, I have asked for death; why do I not call my son Tobias, that I may shew to him of the money before I die? ³And he called him, and said, My child, when I die, bury me: and despise not thy mother; honour her all the days of thy life, and do that which is pleasing unto her, and grieve her not. ⁴Remember, my child, that she hath seen many dangers for thee, when thou wast in her womb. When she is dead, bury her by me in one grave. ⁵My child, be mindful of the Lord our God all thy days, and let not thy will be set to sin and to transgress his commandments: do righteousness all the days of thy life, and follow not the ways of unrighteousness. ⁶For if thou doest the truth, thy doings shall prosperously succeed to thee, and to all them that do righteousness. ⁷Give alms of thy substance; and when thou givest alms, let not thine eye be envious: turn not away thy face from any poor man, and the face of God shall not be turned away from thee. ⁸As thy substance is, give alms of it according to thine abundance: if thou have little, be not afraid to give alms according to that little: ⁹For thou layest up a good treasure for thyself against the day of necessity: ¹⁰Because alms delivereth from death, and suffereth not to come into darkness. ¹¹Alms is a good gift in the sight of the Most High for all that give it. ¹²Beware, my child, of all whoredom, and take first a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange wife, which is not of thy father's tribe: for we are the sons of the prophets. Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, our fathers of old time, remember, my child, that they all took wives of their brethren, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land. ¹³And now, my child, love thy brethren, and scorn not in thy heart thy brethren, and the sons and the daughters of thy people, to take a wife of them: for in scornfulness is destruction and much trouble, and in naughtiness is decay and great want: for naughtiness is the mother of famine. ¹⁴Let not the wages of any man, which shall work for thee, tarry with thee, but render it unto him out of hand:

and if thou serve God, recompense shall be made unto thee. Take heed to thyself, my child, in all thy works, and be discreet in all thy behaviour. ¹⁵And what thou thyself hatest, do to no man. Drink not wine unto drunkenness, and let not drunkenness go with thee on thy way. ¹⁶Give of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked: of all thine abundance give alms; and let not thine eye be envious when thou givest alms. ¹⁷Pour out thy bread on the burial of the just, and give nothing to sinners. ¹⁸Ask counsel of every man that is wise, and despise not any counsel that is profitable. ¹⁹And bless the Lord thy God at all times, and ask of him that thy ways may be made straight, and that all thy paths and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsel; but the Lord himself giveth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will. And now, my child, remember my commandments, and let them not be blotted out of thy mind. ²⁰And now I shew thee of the ten talents of silver, which I left in trust with Gabael the son of Gabrias at Rages of Media. ²¹And fear not, my child, because we are made poor: thou hast much wealth, if thou fear God, and depart from all sin, and do that which is pleasing in his sight.

¹And Tobias answered and said unto him, Father, I will do all things, whatsoever thou hast commanded me: ²But how shall I be able to receive the money, seeing I know him not? ³And he gave him the handwriting, and said unto him, Seek thee a man which shall go with thee, and I will give him wages, whiles I yet live: and go and receive the money. ⁴And he went to seek a man, and found Raphael which was an angel; ⁵And he knew it not; and he said unto him, Can I go with thee to Rages of Media? and knowest thou the places well? ⁶And the angel said unto him, I will go with thee, and I know the way well: and I have lodged with our brother Gabael. ⁷And Tobias said unto him, Wait for me, and I will tell my father. ⁸And he said unto him, Go, and tarry not. And he went in and said to his father, Behold, I have found one which will go with me. But he said, Call him unto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be a trusty man to go with thee. ⁹And he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another. ¹⁰And Tobit said unto him, Brother, of what tribe and of what family art thou? Shew me. ¹¹And he said unto him, Seekest thou a tribe and a family, or a hired man which shall go with thy son? And Tobit said unto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name. ¹²And he said, I am Azarias, the son of Ananias the great, of thy brethren. ¹³And he said unto him, Welcome, brother; and be not angry with me, because I sought to know thy tribe and family: and thou art my brother, of an honest and good lineage: for I knew Ananias and Jathan, the sons of Shemaiah the great, when we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the firstborn, and the tenths of our increase; and they went not astray in the error of our brethren:

my brother, thou art of a great stock. ¹⁴But tell me, what wages shall I give thee? a drachma a day, and those things that be necessary for thee, as unto my son? ¹⁵And moreover, if ye return safe and sound, I will add something to thy wages. ¹⁶And so they consented. And he said to Tobias, Prepare thyself for the journey, and God prosper you. And his son prepared what was needful for the journey, and his father said unto him, Go thou with this man; but God, which dwelleth in heaven, shall prosper your journey; and may his angel go with you. And they both went forth to depart, and the young man's dog with them. ¹⁷But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our child? is he not the staff of our hand, in going in and out before us? ¹⁸Be not greedy to add money to money: but let it be as refuse in respect of our child. ¹⁹For as the Lord hath given us to live, so doth it suffice us. ²⁰And Tobit said to her, Take no care, my sister; he shall return safe and sound, and thine eyes shall see him. ²¹For a good angel shall go with him, and his journey shall be prospered, and he shall return safe and sound. ²²And she made an end of weeping.

¹Now as they went on their journey, they came at eventide to the river Tigris, and they lodged there. ²But the young man went down to wash himself, and a fish leaped out of the river, and would have swallowed up the young man. ³But the angel said unto him, Take hold on the fish. And the young man caught hold of the fish, and cast it up on the land. ⁴And the angel said unto him, Cut the fish open, and take the heart and the liver and the gall, and put them up safely. ⁵And the young man did as the angel commanded him; but they roasted the fish, and ate it. And they both went on their way, till they drew near to Ecbatana. ⁶And the young man said to the angel, Brother Azarias, to what use is the heart and the liver and the gall of the fish? ⁷And he said unto him, Touching the heart and the liver, if a devil or an evil spirit trouble any, we must make a smoke thereof before the man or the woman, and the party shall be no more vexed. ⁸But as for the gall, it is good to anoint a man that hath white films in his eyes, and he shall be healed. ⁹But when they drew nigh unto Rages, ¹⁰The angel said to the young man, Brother, to-day we shall lodge with Raguel, and he is thy kinsman; and he hath an only daughter, named Sarah. I will speak for her, that she should be given thee for a wife. ¹¹For to thee doth the inheritance of her appertain, and thou only art of her kindred: ¹²And the maid is fair and wise. And now hear me, and I will speak to her father; and when we return from Rages we will celebrate the marriage: for I know that Raguel may in no wise marry her to another according to the law of Moses, or else he shall be liable to death, because it appertaineth unto thee to take the inheritance, rather than any other. ¹³Then the young man said unto the angel, Brother Azarias, I have heard that this maid hath been given to seven men, and that they all perished in the bride-chamber.

¹⁴And now I am the only son of my father, and I am afraid, lest I go in and die, even as those before me: for a devil loveth her, which hurteth no man, but those which come unto her: and now I fear lest I die, and bring my father's and my mother's life to the grave with sorrow because of me: and they have no other son to bury them. ¹⁵But the angel said unto him, Dost thou not remember the words which thy father commanded thee, that thou shouldest take a wife of thine own kindred? and now hear me, brother; for she shall be thy wife; and make thou no reckoning of the devil; for this night shall she be given thee to wife. ¹⁶And when thou shalt come into the bride-chamber, thou shalt take the ashes of incense, and shalt lay upon them some of the heart and liver of the fish, and shalt make a smoke therewith: ¹⁷And the devil shall smell it, and flee away, and never come again any more. But when thou goest nigh unto her, rise up both of you, and cry to God which is merciful, and he shall save you, and have mercy on

you. Fear not, for she was prepared for thee from the beginning; and thou shalt save her, and she shall go with thee. And I suppose that thou shalt have children of her. And when Tobias heard these things, he loved her, and his soul clave to her exceedingly.

¹And they came to Ecbatana, and arrived at the house of Raguel. But Sarah met them; and she saluted them, and they her; and she brought them into the house. ²And he said to Edna his wife, How like is the young man to Tobit my cousin. ³And Raguel asked them, From whence are ye, brethren? And they said unto him, We are of the sons of Naphtali, which are captives in Nineveh. ⁴And he said unto them, Know ye Tobit our brother? But they said, We know him. And he said unto them, Is he in good health? ⁵But they said, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father. ⁶And Raguel sprang up, and kissed him, and wept, ⁷And blessed him, and said unto him, Thou art the son of an honest and good man. And when he had heard that Tobit had lost his sight, he was grieved, and wept; ⁸And Edna his wife and Sarah his daughter wept. And they received them gladly; and they killed a ram of the flock, and set store of meat before them. But Tobias said to Raphael, Brother Azarias, speak of those things of which thou didst talk in the way, and let the matter be finished. ⁹And he communicated the thing to Raguel: and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat and drink, and make merry: ¹⁰For it appertaineth unto thee to take my child. Howbeit I will shew thee the truth. ¹¹I have given my child to seven men, and whensoever they came in unto her, they died in the night. But for the present be merry. And Tobias said, I will taste nothing here, until ye make covenant and enter into covenant with me. ¹²And Raguel said, Take her to thyself from henceforth according to the manner: thou art her brother, and she is thine: but the merciful God shall give all good success to you. ¹³And he called his daughter Sarah, and took her by the hand, and gave her to be wife to Tobias, and said, Behold, take her to thyself after the law of Moses, and lead her away to thy father. And he blessed them; ¹⁴And he called Edna his wife, and took a book, and wrote an instrument, and sealed it. ¹⁵And they began to eat. ¹⁶And Raguel called his wife Edna, and said unto her, Sister, prepare the other chamber, and bring her in thither. ¹⁷And she did as he bade her, and brought her in thither: and she wept, and she received the tears of her daughter, and said unto her, ¹⁸Be of good comfort, my child; the Lord of heaven and earth give thee favour for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

¹And when they had finished their supper, they brought Tobias in unto her. ²But as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and took the ashes of the incense, and put the heart and the liver of the fish thereupon, and made a smoke therewith. ³But when the devil smelled the smell, he fled into the uppermost parts of Egypt, and the angel bound him. ⁴But after they were both shut in together, Tobias rose up from the bed, and said, Sister, arise, and let us pray that the Lord may have mercy on us. ⁵And Tobias began to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious name for ever; let the heavens bless thee, and all thy creatures. ⁶Thou madest Adam, and gavest him Eve his wife for a helper and a stay: of them came the seed of men: thou didst say, It is not good that the man should be alone; let us make him a helper like unto him. ⁷And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for lust, but in truth: command that I may find mercy and grow old with her. ⁸And she said with him, Amen. ⁹And they slept both that night. And Raguel arose, and went and digged a grave, ¹⁰Saying, Lest he also should die. ¹¹And Raguel came into his house, ¹²And said to Edna his wife, Send one of the maidservants, and let them see whether he be alive: but if not, that we may bury him, and no man know it. ¹³So the maidservant opened the door, and went in, and found them both sleeping, ¹⁴And came forth, and told them that he was alive. ¹⁵And Raguel blessed God, saying, Blessed art thou, O God, with all pure and holy blessing; and let thy saints bless thee, and all thy creatures; and let all thine angels and thine elect bless thee for ever. ¹⁶Blessed art thou, because thou hast made me glad; and it hath not befallen me as I suspected; but thou hast dealt with us according to thy great mercy. ¹⁷Blessed art thou, because thou hast had mercy on two that were the only begotten children of their parents: shew them mercy, O Lord; accomplish their life in health with gladness and mercy. ¹⁸But he commanded his servants to fill the grave. ¹⁹And he kept the wedding feast for them fourteen days. ²⁰And before the days of the wedding feast were finished, Raguel sware unto him, that he should not depart till the fourteen days of the wedding feast were fulfilled; ²¹And that then he should take the half of his goods, and go in safety to his father; and the rest, said he, when I and my wife shall die.

CHAPTER 9

¹And Tobias called Raphael, and said unto him, ²Brother Azarias, take with thee a servant, and two camels, and go to Rages of Media to Gabael, and receive the money for me, and bring him to the wedding feast: ³Because Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart; ⁴And my father counteth the days; and if I tarry long, he will be sorely grieved. ⁵And Raphael went on his way, and lodged with Gabael, and gave him the handwriting: but he brought forth the bags with their seals, and gave them to him. ⁶And they rose up early in the morning together, and came to the wedding feast: and Tobias blessed his wife.

CHAPTER 10

¹And Tobit his father made his count every day: and when the days of the journey were expired, and they came not, ²He said, Is he perchance detained? or is Gabael perchance dead, and there is no man to give him the money? ³And he was sorely grieved. ⁴But his wife said unto him, 'The child hath perished, seeing he tarrieth long; and she began to bewail him, and said, ⁵I care for nothing, my child, since I have let thee go, the light of mine eyes. ⁶And Tobit saith unto her, Hold thy peace, take no care; he is in good health. ⁷And she said unto him, Hold thy peace, deceive me not; my child hath perished. And she went out every day into the way by which they went, and did eat no bread in the daytime, and ceased not whole nights to bewail her son Tobias, until the fourteen days of the wedding feast were expired, which Raguel had sworn that he should spend there. But Tobias said unto Raguel, Send me away, for my father and my mother look no more to see me. ⁸But his father in law said unto him, Abide with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare unto him how things go with thee. ⁹And Tobias saith, No; but send me away to my father. ¹⁰But Raguel arose, and gave him Sarah his wife, and half his goods, servants and cattle and money; ¹¹And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heaven shall prosper you, my children, before I die. ¹²And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law; they are now thy parents; let me hear a good report of thee. And he kissed her. And Edna said to Tobias, The Lord of heaven restore thee, dear brother, and grant to me that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarah, that I may rejoice before the Lord: and, behold, I commit my daughter unto thee in special trust: vex her not.

¹After these things Tobias also went his way, blessing God because he had prospered his journey; and he blessed Raguel and Edna his wife. And he went on his way till they drew near unto Nineveh. ²And Raphael said to Tobias, Knowest thou not, brother, how thou didst leave thy father? ³Let us run forward before thy wife, and prepare the house. ⁴But take in thy hand the gall of the fish. And they went their way, and the dog went after them. ⁵And Anna sat looking about toward the way for her son. ⁶And she espied him coming, and said to his father, Behold, thy son cometh, and the man that went with him. ⁷And Raphael said, I know, Tobias, that thy father will open his eyes. ⁸Do thou therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub, and shall make the white films to fall away, and he shall see thee. ⁹And Anna ran unto him, and fell upon the neck of her son, and said unto him, I have seen thee, my child; from henceforth I will die. And they wept both. ¹⁰And Tobit went forth toward the door, and stumbled: but his son ran unto him, ¹¹And took hold of his father: and he strake the gall on his father's eyes, saying, Be of good cheer, my father. ¹²But when his eyes began to smart, he rubbed them; ¹³And the white films scaled away from the corners of his eyes; and he saw his son, and fell upon his neck. ¹⁴And he wept, and said, Blessed art thou, O God, and blessed is thy name for ever, and blessed are all thy holy angels; ¹⁵For thou didst scourge, and didst have mercy on me: behold, I see my son Tobias. And his son went in rejoicing, and told his father the great things that had happened to him in Media. ¹⁶And Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law at the gate of Nineveh, rejoicing, and blessing God: and they which saw him go marvelled, because he had received his sight. ¹⁷And Tobit gave thanks before them, because God had shewed mercy on him. And when Tobit came near to Sarah his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Welcome, daughter: blessed is God which hath brought thee unto us, and blessed are thy father and thy mother. And there was joy to all his brethren which were at Nineveh. ¹⁸And Achiacharus, and Nasbas his brother's son, came: ¹⁹And Tobias' wedding feast was kept seven days with great gladness.

¹And Tobit called his son Tobias, and said unto him, See, my child, that the man which went with thee have his wages, and thou must give him more. ²And he said unto him, Father, it is no harm to me to give him the half of those things which I have brought: ³For he hath led me for thee in safety, and he cured my wife, and brought my money, and likewise cured thee. ⁴And the old man said, It is due unto him. ⁵And he called the angel, and said unto him, Take the half of all that ye have brought. ⁶Then he called them both privily, and said unto them, Bless God, and give him thanks, and magnify him, and give him thanks in the sight of all that live, for the things which he hath done with you. It is good to bless God and exalt his name, shewing forth with honour the works of God; and be not slack to give him thanks. ⁷It is good to keep close the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. Do good, and evil shall not find you. ⁸Good is prayer with fasting and alms and righteousness. A little with righteousness is better than much with unrighteousness. It is better to give alms than to lay up gold: ⁹Alms doth deliver from death, and it shall purge away all sin. They that do alms and righteousness shall be filled with life; ¹⁰But they that sin are enemies to their own life. ¹¹Surely I will keep close nothing from you. I have said, It is good to keep close the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. ¹²And now, when thou didst pray, and Sarah thy daughter in law, I did bring the memorial of your prayer before the Holy One: and when thou didst bury the dead, I was with thee likewise. ¹³And when thou didst not delay to rise up, and leave thy dinner, that thou mightest go and cover the dead, thy good deed was not hid from me: but I was with thee. ¹⁴And now God did send me to heal thee and Sarah thy daughter in law. ¹⁵I am Raphael, one of the seven holy angels, which present the prayers of the saints, and go in before the glory of the Holy One. ¹⁶And they were both troubled, and fell upon their faces; for they were afraid. ¹⁷And he said unto them, Be not afraid, ye shall have peace; but bless God for ever. ¹⁸For not of any favour of mine, but by the will of your God I came; wherefore bless him for ever. ¹⁹All these days did I appear unto you; and I did neither eat nor drink, but ye saw a vision. ²⁰And now give God thanks: because I ascend to him that sent me: and write in a book all the things which have been done. ²¹And they rose up, and saw him no more. ²²And they confessed the great and wonderful works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared unto them.

¹And Tobit wrote a prayer for rejoicing, and said, Blessed is God that liveth for ever, And blessed is his kingdom. ² For he scourgeth, and sheweth mercy: He leadeth down to the grave, and bringeth up again: And there is none that shall escape his hand. ³Give thanks unto him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: For he hath scattered us among them. ⁴There declare his greatness, And extol him before all the living: Because he is our Lord, And God is our Father for ever. ⁵ And he will scourge us for our iniquities, and will again shew mercy, And will gather us out of all the nations among whom ye are scattered. ⁶If ye turn to him with your whole heart and with your whole soul, To do truth before him, Then will he turn unto you, And will not hide his face from you. And see what he will do with you, And give him thanks with your whole mouth, And bless the Lord of righteousness, And exalt the everlasting King. I in the land of my captivity give him thanks, And shew his strength and majesty to a nation of sinners. Turn, ye sinners, and do righteousness before him: Who can tell if he will accept you and have mercy on you? ⁷I exalt my God, And my soul doth exalt the King of heaven, And it shall rejoice in his greatness. ⁸Let all men speak, and let them give him thanks in Jerusalem. ⁹O Jerusalem, the holy city, He will scourge thee for the works of thy sons, And will again have mercy on the sons of the righteous. ¹⁰Give thanks to the Lord with goodness, And bless the everlasting King, That his tabernacle may be builded in thee again with joy, And that he may make glad in thee those that are captives, And love in thee for ever those that are miserable. ¹¹ Many nations shall come from far to the name of the Lord God With gifts in their hands, even gifts to the King of heaven; Generations of generations shall praise thee, And sing songs of rejoicing. ¹² Cursed are all they that hate thee; Blessed shall be all they that love thee for ever. ¹³ Rejoice and be exceeding glad for the sons of the righteous: For they shall be gathered together and shall bless the Lord of the righteous. ¹⁴ O blessed are they that love thee; They shall rejoice for thy peace: Blessed are all they that sorrowed for all thy scourges: Because they shall rejoice for thee, When they have seen all thy glory; And they shall be made glad for ever. ¹⁵ Let my soul bless God the great King. ¹⁶ For Jerusalem shall be builded with sapphires and emeralds and precious stones; Thy walls and towers and battlements with pure gold. ¹⁷ And the streets of Jerusalem shall be paved with beryl and carbuncle and stones of Ophir. ¹⁸ And all her streets shall say, Hallelujah, and give praise, Saying, Blessed is God, which hath exalted thee for ever.

¹And Tobit made an end of giving thanks. ²And he was eight and fifty years old when he lost his sight; and after eight years he received it again: and he gave alms, and he feared the Lord God more and more, and gave thanks unto him. ³Now he grew very old; and he called his son, and the six sons of his son, and said unto him, My child, take thy sons: behold, I am grown old, and am ready to depart out of this life. ⁴Go into Media, my child, for I surely believe all the things which Jonah the prophet spake of Nineveh, that it shall be overthrown, but in Media there shall rather be peace for a season; and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from the good land; and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned up, and shall be desolate for a time; ⁵And God shall again have mercy on them, and bring them back into the land, and they shall build the house, but not like to the former house, until the times of that age be fulfilled; and afterward they shall return from the places of their captivity, and build up Jerusalem with honour, and the house of God shall be built in it for ever with a glorious building, even as the prophets spake concerning it. ⁶And all the nations shall turn to fear the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idols. ⁷And all the nations shall bless the Lord, and his people shall give thanks unto God, and the Lord shall exalt his people; and all they that love the Lord God in truth and righteousness shall rejoice, shewing mercy to our brethren. ⁸And now, my child, depart from Nineveh, because those things which the prophet Jonah spake shall surely come to pass. ⁹But keep thou the law and the ordinances, and shew thyself merciful and righteous, that it may be well with thee. ¹⁰And bury me decently, and thy mother with me; and dwell ye no longer at Nineveh. See, my child, what Aman did to Achiacharus that nourished him, how out of light he brought him into darkness, and all the recompense that he made him: and Achiacharus was saved, but the other had his recompense, and he went down into darkness. Manasses gave alms, and escaped the snare of death which he set for him: but Aman fell into the snare, and perished. ¹¹And now, my children, consider what alms doeth, and how righteousness doth deliver. And while he was saying these things, he gave up the ghost in the bed; but he was a hundred and eight and fifty years old; and he buried him magnificently. ¹²And when Anna died, he buried her with his father. But Tobias departed with his wife and his sons to Ecbatana unto Raguel his father in law, ¹³And he grew old in honour, and he buried his father and mother in law magnificently, and he inherited their substance, and his father Tobit's. ¹⁴And he died at Ecbatana of Media, being a hundred and seven and twenty years old. ¹⁵And before he died he heard of the destruction of Nineveh, which Nebuchadnezzar and Ahasuerus took captive; and before his death he rejoiced over Nineveh.

JUDITH

¹In the twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, who reigned over the Assyrians in Nineveh, the great city; in the days of Arphaxad, who reigned over the Medes in Ecbatana, ²And built at Ecbatana and round about it walls of hewn stones three cubits broad and six cubits long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits; ³And set the towers thereof at the gates thereof, a hundred cubits high, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits; ⁴And made the gates thereof, even gates that were raised to the height of seventy cubits, and the breadth of them

forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty hosts, and the setting in array of his footmen: ⁵Even in those days king Nebuchadnezzar made war with king Arphaxad in the great plain: this plain is in the borders of Ragau. ⁶And there came to meet him all that dwelt in the hill country, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tigris, and Hydaspes, and in the plain of Arioch the king of the Elymæans; and many nations of the sons of Chelod assembled themselves to the battle. ⁷And Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians sent unto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt westward, to those that dwelt in Cilicia and Damascus and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt over against the sea coast, ⁸And to those among the nations that were of Carmel and Gilead, and to the higher Galilee and the great plain of Esdraelon, ⁹And to all that were in Samaria and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan unto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Kadesh, and the river of Egypt, and Tahpanhes, and Rameses, and all the land of

Goshen, ¹⁰Until thou comest above Tanis and Memphis, and to all that dwelt in Egypt, until thou comest to the borders of Ethiopia. ¹¹And all they that dwelt in all the land made light of the commandment of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, and went not with him to the war; for they were not afraid of him, but he was before them as one man; and they turned away his messengers from their presence without effect, and with disgrace. ¹²And Nebuchadnezzar was exceeding wroth with all this land, and he swore by his throne and kingdom, that he would surely be avenged upon all the coasts of Cilicia and Damascus and Syria, that he would slay with his sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judæa, and all that were in Egypt, until thou comest to the borders of the two seas. ¹³And he set the battle in array with his host against king Arphaxad in the seventeenth year; and he prevailed in his battle, and turned to flight all the host of Arphaxad, and all his horse, and all his chariots; ¹⁴And he became master of his cities, and he came even unto Ecbatana, and took the towers, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame. ¹⁵And he took Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him utterly, unto this day. ¹⁶And he returned with them to Nineveh, he and all his company of sundry nations, an exceeding great multitude of men of war, and there he took his ease and banqueted, he and his host, a hundred and twenty days.

¹And in the eighteenth year, the two and twentieth day of the first month, there was talk in the house of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, that he should be avenged on all the land, even as he spake. ²And he called together all his servants, and all his great men, and communicated with them his secret counsel, and concluded the afflicting of all the land out of his own mouth. ³And they decreed to destroy all flesh which followed not the word of his mouth. ⁴And it came to pass, when he had ended his counsel, Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians called Holofernes the chief captain of his host, which was next after himself, and said unto him, ⁵Thus saith the great king, the lord of all the earth, Behold, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their strength, unto a hundred and twenty thousand footmen; and the number of horses with their riders twelve thousand: ⁶And thou shalt go forth against all the west country, because they disobeyed the commandment of my mouth. ⁷And thou shalt declare unto them, that they prepare earth and water; because I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of my host, and I will give them for a spoil unto them: ⁸And their slain shall fill their valleys and brooks, and the river shall be filled with their dead, till it overflow: ⁹And I will lead them captives to the utmost parts of all the earth. ¹⁰But thou shalt go forth, and take beforehand for me all their coasts; and if they shall yield themselves unto thee, then shalt thou reserve them for me till the day of their reproof. ¹¹But as for them that are disobedient, thine eye shall not spare; but thou shalt give them up to be slain and to be spoiled in all thy land. ¹²For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, I have spoken, and I will do this with my hand. ¹³And thou, moreover, shalt not transgress aught of the commandments of thy lord, but thou shalt surely accomplish them, as I have commanded thee, and thou shalt not defer to do them. ¹⁴And Holofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors and the captains and officers of the host of Asshur; ¹⁵And he numbered chosen men for the battle, as his lord had commanded him, unto a hundred and twenty thousand, and twelve thousand archers on horseback; ¹⁶And he ranged them, as a great multitude is ordered for the war. ¹⁷And he took camels and asses and mules for their baggage, an exceeding great multitude; and sheep and oxen and goats without number for their provision; ¹⁸And great store of victual for every man, and exceeding much gold and silver out of the king's house. ¹⁹And he went forth, he and all his host, on their journey, to go before king Nebuchadnezzar, and to cover all the face of the earth westward with their chariots and horsemen and chosen footmen. ²⁰And a great company of sundry nations went forth with them like locusts, and like the sand of the earth: for they could not be numbered by reason of their multitude. ²¹And they departed out of Nineveh three days' journey toward the plain of Bectileth, and encamped from Bectileth near the mountain which is at the left hand of the upper Cilicia. ²²And he took all his host, his footmen and horsemen and chariots, and went away from thence into the hill country, ²³And destroyed Put and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rassas, and the children of Ishmael, which were over against the wilderness to the south of the land of the Chellians. ²⁴And he went over Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and brake down all the high cities that were upon the river Arbonai, until thou comest to the sea. ²⁵And he took possession of the borders of Cilicia, and slew all that resisted him, and came unto the borders of Japheth, which were toward the south, over against Arabia. ²⁶And he compassed about all the children of Midian, and set on fire their tents, and spoiled their sheepcotes. ²⁷And he went down into the plain of Damascus in the days of wheat harvest, and set on fire all their fields, and utterly destroyed their flocks and herds, and spoiled their cities, and laid their plains waste, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword. ²⁸And the fear and the dread of him fell upon them that dwelt on the sea coast, upon them that were in Sidon and Tyre, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jemnaan; and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him exceedingly.

¹And they sent unto him messengers with words of peace, saying, ²Behold, we the servants of Nebuchadnezzar the great king lie before thee: use us as it is pleasing in thy sight. ³Behold, our dwellings, and all our country, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks and herds, and all the sheepcotes of our tents, lie before thy face: use them as it may please thee. ⁴Behold, even our cities and they that dwell in them are thy servants: come and deal with them as it is good in thine eyes. ⁵And the men came to Holofernes, and declared unto him according to these words. ⁶And he came down toward the sea coast, he and his host, and set garrisons in the high cities, and took out of them chosen men for allies. ⁷And they received him, they and all the country round about them, with garlands and dances and timbrels. ⁸And he cast down all their borders, and cut down their groves: and it had been given unto him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all the nations should worship Nebuchadnezzar only, and that all their tongues and their tribes should call upon him as god. ⁹And he came towards Esdraelon nigh unto Dotæa, which is over against the great ridge of Judæa. ¹⁰And he encamped between Geba and Scythopolis, and he was there a whole month, that he might gather together all the baggage of his host.

¹And the children of Israel that dwelt in Judæa heard all that Holofernes the chief captain of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and after what manner he had spoiled all their temples, and destroyed them utterly. ²And they were exceedingly afraid before him, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God: ³Because they were newly come up from the captivity, and all the people of Judæa were lately gathered together; and the vessels, and the altar, and the house, were sanctified after the profanation. ⁴And they sent into every coast of Samaria, and to Konæ, and to

Bethhoron, and Belmaim, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Æsora, and to the valley of Salem; ⁵And they possessed themselves beforehand of all the tops of the high mountains, and fortified the villages that were in them, and laid up victual for the provision of war: for their fields were newly reaped. ⁶And Joakim the high priest, which was in those days at Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia, and Betomesthaim, which is over against Esdraelon toward the plain that is nigh unto Dothaim, ⁷Charging them to seize upon the ascents of the hill country; because by them was the entrance into Judæa, and it was easy to stop them from approaching, inasmuch as the approach was narrow, with space for two men at the most. ⁸And the children of Israel did as Joakim the high priest had commanded them, and the senate of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem. ⁹And every man of Israel cried to God with great earnestness, and with great earnestness did they humble their souls. ¹⁰They, and their wives, and their babes, and their cattle, and every sojourner and hireling and servant bought with their money, put sackcloth upon their loins. ¹¹And every man and woman of Israel, and the little children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, fell before the temple, and cast ashes upon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the Lord; and they put sackcloth about the altar: ¹²And they cried to the God of Israel earnestly with one consent, that he would not give their babes for a prey, and their wives for a spoil, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the sanctuary to profanation and reproach, for the nations to rejoice at. ¹³And the Lord heard their voice, and looked upon their affliction: and the people continued fasting many days in all Judæa and Jerusalem before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty. ¹⁴And Joakim the high priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and they that ministered unto the Lord, had their loins girt about with sackcloth, and offered the continual burnt offering, and the vows and the free gifts of the people; ¹⁵And they had ashes on their mitres: and they cried unto the Lord with all their power, that he would look upon all the house of Israel for good.

¹And it was told Holofernes, the chief captain of the host of Asshur, that the children of Israel had prepared for war, and had shut up the passages of the hill country, and had fortified all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the plains: ²And he was exceeding wroth, and he called all the princes of Moab, and the captains of Ammon, and all the governors of the sea coast, ³And he said unto them, 'Tell me now, ye sons of Canaan, who is this people, that dwelleth in the hill country, and what are the cities that they inhabit, and what is the multitude of their host, and wherein is their power and their strength, and what king is set over them, to be the leader of their army; ⁴And why have they turned their backs, that they should not come and meet me, more than all that dwell in the west. ⁵And Achior, the leader of all the children of Ammon, said unto him, Let my lord now hear a word from the mouth of thy servant, and I will tell thee the truth concerning this people, which dwelleth in this hill country, nigh unto the place where thou dwellest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy servant. ⁶This people are descended of the Chaldeans: ⁷And they sojourned heretofore in Mesopotamia, because they were not minded to follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of the Chaldeans. ⁸And they departed from the way of their parents, and worshipped the God of heaven, the God whom they knew: and they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many days. ⁹And their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Canaan: and they dwelt there, and were increased with gold and silver, and with exceeding much cattle. ¹⁰And they went down into Egypt, for a famine covered all the land of Canaan; and there they sojourned, until they were grown up; and they became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their nation. ¹¹And the king of Egypt rose up against them, and dealt subtilly with them, and brought them low, making them to labour in brick, and made them slaves. ¹²And they cried unto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: and the Egyptians cast them out of their sight. ¹³And God dried up the Red sea before them, ¹⁴And brought them into the way of Sinai, and Kadesh-Barnea, and they cast out all that dwelt in the wilderness. ¹⁵And they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Heshbon, and passing over Jordan they possessed all the hill country. ¹⁶And they cast out before them the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite, and the Shechemite, and all the Girgashites, and they dwelt in that country many days. ¹⁷And whilst they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because God that hateth iniquity was with them.

¹⁸But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battles very sore, and were led captives into a land that was not theirs, and the temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by their adversaries. ¹⁹And now they are returned to their God, and are come up from the dispersion where they were dispersed, and have possessed Jerusalem, where their sanctuary is, and are seated in the hill country: for it was desolate. ²⁰And now, my lord and master, if there is any error in this people, and they sin against their God, we will consider what this thing is wherein they stumble, and we will go up and overcome them. ²¹But if there is no lawlessness in their nation, let my lord now pass by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we shall be a reproach before all the earth. ²²And it came to pass, when Achior had finished speaking these words, all the people that compassed the tent and stood round about it murmured; and the great men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him. ²³For, said they, we will not be afraid of the children of Israel: for, lo, it is a people that hath no power nor might to make the battle strong. ²⁴Wherefore now we will go up, and they shall be a prey to be devoured of all thine army, lord Holofernes.

¹And when the tumult of the men that were about the council was ceased, Holofernes the chief captain of the host of Asshur said unto Achior and to all the children of Moab before all the people of the aliens, ²And who art thou, Achior, and the hirelings of Ephraim, that thou hast prophesied among us as to-day, and hast said, that we should not make war with the race of Israel, because their God will defend them? And who is God but Nebuchadnezzar? ³He shall send forth his might, and shall destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliver them: but we his servants shall smite them as one man; and they shall not sustain the might of our horses. ⁴For with them we shall burn them up, and their mountains shall be drunken with their blood, and their plains shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not stand before us, but they shall surely perish, saith king Nebuchadnezzar, lord of all the earth: for he said, The words that I have spoken shall not be in vain.

⁵But thou, Achior, hireling of Ammon, which hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquity, shalt see my face no more from this day, until I shall be avenged of the race of those that came out of Egypt. ⁶And then shall the sword of mine army, and the multitude of them that serve me, pass through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slain, when I shall return. ⁷And my servants shall bring thee back into the hill country, and shall set thee in one of the cities of the ascents: ⁸And thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them. ⁹And if thou hopest in thy heart that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall. I have spoken it, and none of my words shall fall to the ground. ¹⁰And Holofernes commanded his servants, that waited in his tent, to take Achior, and bring him back to Bethulia, and deliver him into the hands of the children of Israel. ¹¹And his servants took him, and brought him out of the camp into the plain, and they removed from the midst of the plain country into the hill country, and came unto the fountains that were under Bethulia. ¹²And when the men of the city saw them on the top of the hill, they took up their weapons, and went out of the city against them to the top of the hill: and every man that used a sling kept them from coming up, and cast stones against them. ¹³And they gat them privily under the hill, and bound Achior, and cast him down, and left him at the foot of the hill, and went away unto their lord. ¹⁴But the children of Israel descended from their city, and came upon him, and loosed him, and led him away into Bethulia, and presented him to the rulers of their city; ¹⁵Which were in those days Ozias the son of Micah, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the son of Gothoniel, and Charmis the son of Melchiel. ¹⁶And they called together all the elders of the city; and all their young men ran together, and their women, to the assembly; and they set Achior in the midst of all their people. And Ozias asked him of that which had happened: ¹⁷And he answered and declared unto them the words of the council of Holofernes, and all the words that he had spoken in the midst of the princes of the children of Asshur, and all the great words that Holofernes had spoken against the house of Israel. ¹⁸And the people fell down and worshipped God, and cried, saying, ¹⁹O Lord God of heaven, behold their arrogance, and pity the low estate of our race, and look upon the face of those that are sanctified unto thee this day. ²⁰And they comforted Achior, and praised him exceedingly. ²¹And Ozias took him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the elders; and they called on the God of Israel for help all that night.

¹But the next day Holofernes gave command to all his army, and to all his people which were come to be his allies, that they should remove their camp toward Bethulia, and take aforehand the ascents of the hill country, and make war against the children of Israel. ²And every mighty man of them removed that day, and the host of their men of war was a hundred and seventy thousand footmen, and twelve thousand horsemen, beside the baggage, and the men that were afoot among them, an exceeding great multitude. ³And they encamped in the valley near unto Bethulia, by the fountain, and they spread themselves in breadth over Dothaim even to Belmaim, and in length from Bethulia unto Cyamon, which is over against Esdraelon. ⁴But the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude of them, were troubled exceedingly, and said every one to his neighbour, Now shall these men lick up the face of all the earth; and neither the high mountains, nor the valleys, nor the hills, shall be able to bear their weight. ⁵And every man took up his weapons of war, and when they had kindled fires upon their towers, they remained and watched all that night. ⁶But on the second day Holofernes led out all his horse in the sight of the children of Israel which were in Bethulia, ⁷And viewed the ascents to their city, and searched out the fountains of the waters, and seized upon them, and set garrisons of men of war over them, and himself departed to his people. ⁸And there came unto him all the rulers of the children of Esau, and all the leaders of the people of Moab, and the captains of the sea coast, and said, ⁹Let our lord now hear a word, that there be not an overthrow in thy host. ¹⁰For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their spears, but in the height of the mountains wherein they dwell, for it is not easy to come up to the tops of their mountains. ¹¹And now, my lord, fight not against them as men fight who join battle, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish. ¹²Remain in thy camp, and keep safe every man of thy host, and let thy servants get possession of the fountain of water, which issueth forth of the foot of the mountain: ¹³Because all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water thence; and thirst shall kill them, and they shall give up their city: and we and our people will go up to the tops of the mountains that are near, and will encamp upon them, to watch that not one man go out of the city. ¹⁴And they shall be consumed with famine, they and their wives and their children, and before the sword come against them they shall be laid low in the streets where they dwell. ¹⁵And thou shalt render them an evil reward; because they rebelled, and met not thy face in peace. ¹⁶And their words were pleasing in the sight of Holofernes and in the sight of all his servants; and he appointed to do as they had spoken. ¹⁷And the army of the children of Ammon removed, and with them five thousand of the children of Asshur, and they encamped in the valley, and seized upon the waters and the fountains of the waters of the children of Israel. ¹⁸And the children of Esau went up with the children of Ammon, and encamped in the hill country over against Dothaim: and they sent some of them toward the south, and toward the east, over against Ekrebel, which is near unto Chusi, that is upon the brook Mochmur; and the rest of the army of the Assyrians encamped in the plain, and covered all the face of the land; and their tents and baggage were pitched upon it in a great crowd, and they were an exceeding great multitude. ¹⁹And the children of Israel cried unto the Lord their God, for their spirit fainted; for all their enemies had compassed them round about, and there was no way to escape out from among them. ²⁰And all the army of Asshur remained about them, their footmen and their chariots and their horsemen, four and thirty days; and all their vessels of water failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia. ²¹And the cisterns were emptied, and they had not water to drink their fill for one day: for they gave them drink by measure. ²²And their young children were out of heart, and the women and the young men fainted for thirst, and they fell down in the streets of the city, and in the passages of the gates, and there was no longer any strength in them. ²³And all the people were gathered together against Ozias, and against the rulers of the city, the young men and the women and the children, and they cried with a loud voice, and said before all the elders, ²⁴God be judge between you and us: because ye have done us great wrong, in that ye have not spoken words of peace with the children of Asshur. ²⁵And now we have no helper: but God hath sold us into their hands, that we should be laid low before them with thirst and great destruction. ²⁶And now call them unto you, and deliver up the whole city for a prey to the people of Holofernes, and to all his host. ²⁷For it is better for us to be made a spoil unto them: for we shall be servants, and our souls shall live, and we shall not see the death of our babes before our eyes, and our wives and our children fainting in death. ²⁸We take to witness against you the heaven and the earth, and our God and the Lord of our fathers, which punisheth us according to our sins and the sins of our fathers, that he do not according as we have said this day. ²⁹And there was great weeping of all with one consent in the midst of the assembly; and they cried unto the Lord God with a loud voice. ³⁰And Ozias said to them, Brethren, be of good courage, let us yet endure five days, in the which space the Lord our God shall turn his mercy toward us; for he will not forsake us utterly. ³¹But if these days pass, and there come no help unto us, I will do according to your words. ³²And he dispersed the people, every man to his own camp; and they went away unto the walls and towers of their city; and he sent the women and children into their houses: and they were brought very low in the city.

¹And in those days Judith heard thereof, the daughter of Merari, the son of Ox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Elkiah, the son of Ananias, the son of Gideon, the son of

Raphaim, the son of Ahitub, the son of Elihu, the son of Eliab, the son of Nathanael, the son of Salamiel, the son of Salasadaï, the son of Israel. ²And her husband was Manasses, of her tribe and of her family, and he died in the days of barley harvest. ³For he stood over them that bound sheaves in the field, and the heat came upon his head, and he fell on his bed, and died in his city Bethulia: and they buried him with his fathers in the field which is between Dothaim and Balamon. ⁴And Judith was a widow in her house three years and four months. ⁵And she made her a tent upon the roof of her house, and put on sackcloth upon her loins; and the garments of her widowhood were upon her. ⁶And she fasted all the days of her widowhood, save the eves of the sabbaths, and the sabbaths, and the eves of the new moons, and the new moons, and the feasts and joyful days of the house of Israel. ⁷And she was of a goodly countenance, and exceeding beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold, and silver, and menservants, and maidservants, and cattle, and lands; and she remained upon them. ⁸And there was none that gave her an evil word; for she feared God exceedingly. ⁹And she heard the evil words of the people against the governor, because they fainted for lack of water; and Judith heard all the words that Ozias spake unto them, how he sware to them that he would deliver the city unto the Assyrians after five days. ¹⁰And she sent her maid, that was over all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis, the elders of her city. ¹¹And they came unto her, and she said unto them, Hear me now, O ye rulers of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your word that ye have spoken before the people this day is not right, and ye have set the oath which ye have pronounced between God and you, and have promised to deliver the city to our enemies, unless within these days the Lord turn to help you. ¹²And now who are ye that have tempted God this day, and stand instead of God among the children of men? ¹³And now try the Lord Almighty, and ye shall never know anything. ¹⁴For ye shall not find the depth of the heart of man, and ye shall not perceive the things that he thinketh: and how shall ye search out God, which hath made all these things, and know his mind, and comprehend his purpose? Nay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger. ¹⁵For if he be not minded to help us within these five days, he hath power to defend us in such time as he will, or to destroy us before the face of our enemies. ¹⁶But do not ye pledge the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that he should be threatened; neither as the son of man, that he should be turned by intreaty. ¹⁷Wherefore let us wait for the salvation that cometh from him, and call upon him to help us, and he will hear our voice, if it please him. ¹⁸For there arose none in our age, neither is there any of us to-day, tribe, or kindred, or family, or city, which worship gods made with hands, as it was in the former days; ¹⁹For the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a spoil, and fell with a great fall before our enemies. ²⁰But we know none other god beside him, wherefore we hope that he will not despise us, nor any of our race. ²¹For if we be taken so, all Judæa shall sit upon the ground, and our sanctuary shall be spoiled; and of our blood shall he require the profanation thereof. ²²And the slaughter of our brethren, and the captivity of the land, and the desolation of our inheritance, shall he turn upon our heads among the Gentiles, wheresoever we shall be in bondage; and we shall be an offence and a reproach before them that take us for a possession. ²³For our bondage shall not be ordered to favour: but the Lord our God shall turn it to dishonour. ²⁴And now, brethren, let us shew an example to our brethren, because their soul hangeth upon us, and the sanctuary and the house and the altar rest upon us. ²⁵Besides all this let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth us, even as he did our fathers also. ²⁶Remember all the things which he did to Abraham, and all the things in which he tried Isaac, and all the things which happened to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheep of Laban his mother's brother. ²⁷For he hath not tried us in the fire, as he did them, to search out their hearts, neither hath he taken vengeance on us; but the Lord doth scourge them that come near unto him, to admonish them. ²⁸And Ozias said to her, All that thou hast spoken hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that shall gainsay thy words. ²⁹For this is not the first day wherein thy wisdom is manifested; but from the beginning of thy days all the people have known thine understanding, because the disposition of thy heart is good. ³⁰But the people were exceeding thirsty, and compelled us to do as we spake to them, and to bring an oath upon ourselves, which we will not break. ³¹And now pray thou for us, because thou art a godly woman, and the Lord shall send us rain to fill our cisterns, and we shall faint no more. ³²And Judith said unto them, Hear me, and I will do a thing, which shall go down to all generations among the children of our race. ³³Ye shall stand at the gate this night, and I will go forth with my maid: and, within the days after which ye said that ye would deliver the city to our enemies, the Lord shall visit Israel by my hand. ³⁴But ye shall not inquire of mine act: for I will not declare it unto you, till the things be finished that I do. ³⁵And Ozias and the rulers said unto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies. ³⁶And they returned from the tent, and went to their stations.

¹But Judith fell upon her face, and put ashes upon her head, and uncovered the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed; and the incense of that evening was now being offered at Jerusalem in the house of God, and Judith cried unto the Lord with a loud voice, and said, ²O Lord God of my father Simeon, into whose hand thou gavest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers, who loosened the girdle of a virgin to

defile her, and uncovered the thigh to her shame, and profaned the womb to her reproach; for thou saidst, It shall not be so; and they did so: ³Wherefore thou gavest their rulers to be slain, and their bed, which was ashamed for her that was deceived, to be dyed in blood, and smotest the servants with their lords, and the lords upon their thrones; ⁴And gavest their wives for a prey, and their daughters to be captives, and all their spoils to be divided among thy dear children; which were moved with zeal for thee, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for aid: O God, O my God, hear me also that am a widow. ⁵For thou wroughtest the things that were before those things, and those things, and such as ensued after; and thou didst devise the things which are now, and the things which are to come: and the things which thou didst devise came to pass; ⁶Yea, the things which thou didst determine stood before thee, and said, Lo, we are here: for all thy ways are prepared, and thy judgement is with foreknowledge.

⁷For, behold, the Assyrians are multiplied in their power; they are exalted with horse and rider; they have gloried in the strength of their footmen; they have trusted in shield and spear and bow and sling; and they know not that thou art the Lord that breaketh the battles: the Lord is thy name. ⁸Dash thou down their strength in thy power, and bring down their force in thy wrath: for they have purposed to profane thy sanctuary, and to defile the tabernacle where thy glorious name resteth, and to cast down with the sword the horn of thine altar. ⁹Look upon their pride, and send thy wrath upon their heads: give into my hand, which am a widow, the might that I have conceived. ¹⁰Smite by the deceit of my lips the servant with the prince, and the prince with his servant: break down their stateliness by the hand of a woman. ¹¹For thy power standeth not in multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou art a God of the afflicted, thou art a helper of the oppressed, an upholder of the weak, a protector of the forlorn, a saviour of them that are without hope. ¹²Yea, yea, God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Israel, Lord of the heavens and of the earth, Creator of the waters, King of every creature, hear thou my prayer: ¹³And make my speech and deceit to be their wound and stripe, who have purposed hard things against thy covenant, and thy hallowed house, and the top of Sion, and the house of the possession of thy children. ¹⁴And make every nation and tribe of thine to know that thou art God, the God of all power and might, and that there is none other that protecteth the race of Israel but thou.

¹And it came to pass, when she had ceased to cry unto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words, ²That she rose up where she had fallen down, and called her maid, and went down into the house, in the which she was wont to abide on the sabbath days and on her feast days, ³And pulled off the sackcloth which she had put on, and put off the garments of her widowhood, and

washed her body all over with water, and anointed herself with rich ointment, and braided the hair of her head, and put a tire upon it, and put on her garments of gladness, wherewith she was wont to be clad in the days of the life of Manasses her husband. ⁴And she took sandals for her feet, and put her chains about her, and her bracelets, and her rings, and her earrings, and all her ornaments, and decked herself bravely, to beguile the eyes of all men that should see her. ⁵And she gave her maid a leathern bottle of wine, and a cruse of oil, and filled a bag with parched corn and lumps of figs and fine bread; and she packed all her vessels together, and laid them upon her. ⁶And they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing thereby Ozias, and the elders of the city, Chabris and Charmis. ⁷But when they saw her, that her countenance was altered, and her apparel was changed, they wondered at her beauty very exceedingly, and said unto her, ⁸The God of our fathers give thee favour, and accomplish thy purposes to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. And she worshipped God, ⁹And said unto them, Command that they open unto me the gate of the city, and I will go forth to accomplish the things whereof ye spake with me. And they commanded the young men to open unto her, as she had spoken: ¹⁰And they did so. And Judith went out, she, and her handmaid with her; and the men of the city looked after her, until she was gone down the mountain, until she had passed the valley, and they could see her no more. ¹¹And they went straight onward in the valley: and the watch of the Assyrians met her; ¹²And they took her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I flee away from their presence; because they are about to be given you to be consumed: ¹³And I am coming into the presence of Holofernes the chief captain of your host, to declare words of truth; and I will shew before him a way, whereby he shall go, and win all the hill country, and there shall not be lacking of his men one person, nor one life. ¹⁴Now when the men heard her words, and considered her countenance, the beauty thereof was exceeding marvellous in their eyes, and they said unto her, ¹⁵Thou hast saved thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come down to the presence of our lord: and now come to his tent, and some of us shall conduct thee, until they shall deliver thee into his hands. ¹⁶But when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but declare unto him according to thy words; and he shall entreat thee well. ¹⁷And they chose out of them a hundred men, and appointed them to accompany her and her maid; and they brought them to the tent of Holofernes. ¹⁸And there was a concourse throughout all the camp, for her coming was noised among the tents; and they came and compassed her about, as she stood without the tent of Holofernes, until they told him of her. ¹⁹And they marvelled at her beauty, and marvelled at the children of Israel because of her, and each one said to his neighbour, Who shall despise this people, that have among them such women? for it is not good that one man of them be left, seeing that, if they are let go, they shall be able to deceive the whole earth. ²⁰And they that lay near Holofernes, and all his servants, went forth and brought her into the tent. ²¹And Holofernes was resting upon his bed under the canopy, which was woven with purple and gold and emeralds and precious stones. ²²And they told him of her; and he came forth into the space before his tent, with silver lamps going before him. ²³But when Judith was come before him and his servants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance; and she fell down upon her face, and did reverence unto him: and his servants raised her up.

¹And Holofernes said unto her, Woman, be of good comfort, fear not in thy heart: for I never hurt any that hath chosen to serve

Nebuchadnezzar, the king of all the earth. ²And now, if thy people that dwelleth in the hill country had not set light by me, I would not have lifted up my spear against them: but they have done these things to themselves. ³And now tell me wherefore thou didst flee from them, and camest unto us: for thou art come to save thyself; be of good comfort, thou shalt live this night, and hereafter: ⁴For there is none that shall wrong thee, but all shall entreat thee well, as is done unto the servants of king Nebuchadnezzar my lord. ⁵And Judith said unto him, Receive the words of thy servant, and let thy handmaid speak in thy presence, and I will declare no lie unto my lord this night. ⁶And if thou shalt follow the words of thy handmaid, God shall bring the thing to pass perfectly with thee; and my lord shall not fail of his purposes. ⁷As Nebuchadnezzar king of all the earth liveth, and as his power liveth, who hath sent thee for the preservation of every living thing, not only do men serve him by thee, but also the beasts of the field and the cattle and the birds of the heaven shall live through thy strength, in the time of Nebuchadnezzar and of all his house. ⁸For we have heard of thy wisdom and the subtil devices of thy soul, and it hath been reported in all the earth, that thou only art brave in all the kingdom, and mighty in knowledge, and wonderful in feats of war. ⁹And now as concerning the matter, which Achior did speak in thy council, we have heard his words: for the men of Bethulia saved him, and he declared unto them all that he had spoken before thee. ¹⁰Wherefore, O lord and master, neglect not his word; but lay it up in thy heart, for it is true: for our race shall not be punished, neither shall the sword prevail against them, except they sin against their God. ¹¹And now, that my lord be not defeated and frustrate of his purpose, and that death may fall upon them, their sin hath overtaken them, wherewith they shall provoke their God to anger, whensoever they shall do wickedness. ¹²Since their victuals failed them, and all their water was scant, they took counsel to lay hands upon their cattle, and determined to consume all those things, which God charged them by his laws that they should not eat: ¹³And they are resolved to spend the firstfruits of the corn, and the tenths of the wine and the oil, which they had sanctified, and reserved for the priests that stand before the face of our God in Jerusalem; the which things it is not fitting for any of the people so much as to touch with their hands. ¹⁴And they have sent some to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there have done this thing, to bring them a licence from the senate. ¹⁵And it shall be, when one shall bring them word, and they shall do it, they shall be given thee to be destroyed the same day. ¹⁶Wherefore I thy servant, knowing all this, fled away from their presence; and God sent me to work things with thee, whereat all the earth shall be astonished, even as many as shall hear it. ¹⁷For thy servant is religious, and serveth the God of heaven day and night: and now, my lord, I will abide with thee, and thy servant will go forth by night into the valley, and I will pray unto God, and he shall tell me when they have committed their sins: ¹⁸And I will come and shew it also unto thee; and thou shalt go forth with all thy host, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee. ¹⁹And I will lead thee through the midst of Judæa, until thou comest over against Jerusalem; and I will set thy seat in the midst thereof; and thou shalt drive them as sheep that have no shepherd, and a dog shall not so much as open his mouth before thee: for these things were told me according to my foreknowledge, and were declared unto me, and I was sent to tell thee. ²⁰And her words were pleasing in the sight of Holofernes and of all his servants; and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said, ²¹There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, for beauty of face, and wisdom of words. ²²And Holofernes said unto her, God did well to send thee before the people, that might should be in our hands, and destruction among them that lightly regarded my lord. ²³And now thou art beautiful in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: for if thou shalt do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of king Nebuchadnezzar, and shalt be renowned through the whole earth.

¹And he commanded to bring her in where his silver vessels were set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine. ²And Judith said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an occasion of stumbling: but provision shall be made for me of the things that are come with me. ³And Holofernes said unto her, But if the things that be with thee should fail, whence shall we be able to give thee the like? for there is none of thy race with us. ⁴And Judith said unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thy servant shall not spend those things that be with me, until the Lord work by my hand the things that he hath determined. ⁵And the servants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she rose up toward the morning watch, ⁶And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord now command that they suffer thy servant to go forth unto prayer. ⁷And Holofernes commanded his guards that they should not stay her: and she abode in the camp three days, and went out every night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself at the fountain of water in the camp. ⁸And when she came up, she besought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way to the raising up of the children of his people. ⁹And she came in clean, and remained in the tent, until she took her meat toward evening. ¹⁰And it came to pass on the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the officers to the banquet. ¹¹And he said to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now, and persuade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us. ¹²For, lo, it is a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company; for if we draw her not unto us, she shall laugh us to scorn. ¹³And Bagoas went from the presence of Holofernes, and came in to her, and said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drink wine and be merry with us, and to be made this day as one of the daughters of the children of Asshur, which wait in the house of Nebuchadnezzar. ¹⁴And Judith said unto him, And who am I, that I should gainsay my lord? for whatsoever shall be pleasing in his eyes I will do speedily, and this shall be my joy unto the day of my death. ¹⁵And she arose, and decked herself with her apparel and all her woman's attire; and her servant went and laid fleeces on the ground for her over against Holofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them. ¹⁶And Judith came in and sat down, and Holofernes' heart was ravished with her, and his soul was moved, and he desired exceedingly her company: and he was watching for a time to deceive her, from the day that he had seen her. ¹⁷And Holofernes said unto her, Drink now, and be merry with us. ¹⁸And Judith said, I will drink now, my lord, because my life is magnified in me this day more than all the days since I was born. ¹⁹And she took and ate and drank before him what her servant had prepared. ²⁰And Holofernes took great delight in her, and drank exceeding much wine, more than he had drunk at any time in one day since he was born.

¹But when the evening was come, his servants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut the tent without, and dismissed them that waited from the presence of his lord; and they went away to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long. ²But Judith was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was overflown with wine. ³And Judith had said to her servant that she should stand without her bedchamber, and wait for her coming forth, as she did daily: for she said she would go forth to her prayer; and she spake to Bagoas according to the same words. ⁴And all went away from her presence, and none was left in the bedchamber, neither small nor great. And Judith, standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look in this hour upon the works of my hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem. ⁵For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to do the thing that I have purposed to the destruction of the enemies which are risen up against us. ⁶And she came to the rail of the bed, which was at Holofernes' head, and took down his scimitar from thence; ⁷And she drew near unto the bed, and took hold of the hair of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day. ⁸And she smote twice upon his neck with all her might, and took away his head from him, ⁹And tumbled his body down from the bed, and took down the canopy from the pillars; and after a little while she went forth, and gave Holofernes' head to her maid; ¹⁰And she put it in her bag of victuals: and they twain went forth together unto prayer, according to their custom: and they passed through the camp, and compassed that valley, and went up to the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof. ¹¹And Judith said afar off to the watchmen at the gates, Open, open now the gate: God is with us, even our God, to shew his power yet in Israel, and his might against the enemy, as he hath done even this day. ¹²And it came to pass, when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haste to go down to the gate of their city, and they called together the elders of the city. ¹³And they ran all together, both small and great, for it was strange unto them that she was come: and they opened the gate, and received them, making a fire to give light, and compassed them round about. ¹⁴And she said to them with a loud voice, Praise God, praise him: praise God, who hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by my hand this night. ¹⁵And she took forth the head out of the bag, and shewed it, and said unto them, Behold, the head of Holofernes, the chief captain of the host of Asshur, and behold, the canopy, wherein he did lie in his drunkenness; and the Lord smote him by the hand of a woman. ¹⁶And as the Lord liveth, who preserved me in my way that I went, my countenance deceived him to his destruction, and he did not commit sin with me, to defile and shame me. ¹⁷And all the people were exceedingly amazed, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed art thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people. ¹⁸And Ozias said unto her, Blessed art thou, daughter, in the sight of the Most High God, above all the women upon the earth; and blessed is the Lord God, who created the heavens and the earth, who directed thee to the smiting of the head of the prince of our enemies. ¹⁹For thy hope shall not depart from the heart of men that remember the strength of God for ever. ²⁰And God turn these things to thee for a perpetual praise, to visit thee with good things, because thou didst not spare thy life by reason of the affliction of our race, but didst avenge our fall, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

¹And Judith said unto them, Hear me now, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it upon the battlement of your wall. ²And it shall be, so soon as the morning shall appear, and the sun shall come forth upon the earth, ye shall take up every one his weapons of war, and go forth every valiant man of you out of the city, and ye shall set a captain over them, as though ye would go down to the plain toward the watch of the children of Asshur; and ye shall not go down. ³And these shall take up their panoplies, and shall go into their camp, and rouse up the captains of the host of Asshur, and they shall run together to the tent of Holofernes, and they shall not find him: and fear shall fall upon them, and they shall flee before your face. ⁴And ye, and all that inhabit every coast of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they go. ⁵But before ye do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to us, as it were to death. ⁶And they called Achior out of the house of Ozias; but when he came, and saw the head of Holofernes in a man's hand in the assembly of the people, he fell upon his face, and his spirit failed. ⁷But when they had recovered him, he fell at Judith's feet, and did reverence unto her, and said, Blessed art thou in every tent of Judah, and in every nation, which hearing thy name shall be troubled. ⁸And now tell me all the things that thou hast done in these days. And Judith declared unto him in the midst of the people all the things that she had done, from the day that she went forth until the time that she spake unto them. ⁹But when she left off speaking, the people shouted with a loud voice, and made a joyful noise in their city. ¹⁰But when Achior saw all the things that the God of Israel had done, he believed in God exceedingly, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and was joined unto the house of Israel, unto this day. ¹¹But as soon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes upon the wall, and every man took up his weapons, and they went forth by bands unto the ascents of the mountain. ¹²But when the children of Asshur saw them, they sent hither and thither to their leaders; but they went to their captains and tribunes, and to every one of their rulers. ¹³And they came to Holofernes' tent, and said to him that was over all that he had, Waken now our lord: for the slaves have been bold to come down against us to battle, that they may be utterly destroyed. ¹⁴And Bagoas went in, and knocked at the outer door of the tent; for he supposed that he was sleeping with Judith. ¹⁵But when none hearkened to him, he opened it, and went into the bedchamber, and found him cast upon the threshold dead, and his head had been taken from him. ¹⁶And he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and groaning and a mighty cry, and rent his garments. ¹⁷And he entered into the tent where Judith lodged: and he found her not, and he leaped out to the people, and cried aloud, ¹⁸The slaves have dealt treacherously: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame upon the house of king Nebuchadnezzar; for, behold, Holofernes lieth upon the ground, and his head is not on him. ¹⁹But when the rulers of the host of Asshur heard the words, they rent their coats, and their soul was troubled exceedingly, and there was a cry and an exceeding great noise in the midst of the camp.

¹And when they that were in the tents heard, they were amazed at the thing that was come to pass. ²And trembling and fear fell upon them, and no man durst abide any more in the sight of his neighbour, but rushing out with one accord, they fled into every way of the plain and of the hill country. ³And they that had encamped in the hill country round about Bethulia fled away. And then the children of Israel, every one that was a warrior among them, rushed out upon them. ⁴And Ozias sent to Betomasthaim, and Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to every coast of Israel, such as should tell concerning the things that had been accomplished, and that all should rush forth upon their enemies to destroy them. ⁵But when the children of Israel heard, they all fell upon them with one accord, and smote them unto Chobai: yea, and in like manner also they of Jerusalem and of all the hill country came (for men had told them what things were come to pass in the camp of their enemies), and they that were in Gilead and in Galilee fell upon their flank with a great slaughter, until they were past Damascus and the borders thereof. ⁶But the residue, that dwelt at Bethulia, fell upon the camp of Asshur, and spoiled them, and were enriched exceedingly. ⁷But the children of Israel returned from the slaughter, and gat possession of that which remained; and the villages and the cities, that were in the hill country and in the plain country, took many spoils: for there was an exceeding great store. ⁸And Joakim the high priest, and the senate of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to behold the good things which the Lord had shewed to Israel, and to see Judith, and to salute her. ⁹But when they came unto her, they all blessed her with one accord, and said unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem, thou art the great glory of Israel, thou art the great rejoicing of our race: ¹⁰Thou hast done all these things by thy hand: thou hast done with Israel the things that are good, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou with the Almighty Lord for evermore. And all the people said, So be it. ¹¹And the people spoiled the camp for the space of thirty days: and they gave unto Judith Holofernes' tent, and all his silver cups, and his beds, and his vessels, and all his furniture: and she took them, and placed them on her mule, and made ready her wagons, and heaped them thereon. ¹²And all the women of Israel ran together to see her; and they blessed her, and made a dance among them for her; and she took branches in her hand, and gave to the women that were with her. ¹³And they made themselves garlands of olive, she and they that were with her, and she went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour with garlands, and with songs in their mouths.

¹And Judith began to sing this thanksgiving in all Israel, and all the people sang with loud voices this song of praise. ²And Judith said, Begin unto my God with timbrels, Sing unto my Lord with cymbals: Tune unto him psalm and praise: Exalt him, and call upon his name. ³ For the Lord is the God that breaketh the battles: For in his armies in the midst of the people He delivered me out of the hand of them that persecuted me. ⁴ Asshur came out of the mountains from the north, He came with ten thousands of his host, The multitude whereof stopped the torrents, And their horsemen covered the hills. ⁵ He said that he would burn up my borders, And kill my young men with the sword, And throw my sucking children to the ground, And give mine infants for a prey, And make my virgins a spoil. ⁶The Almighty Lord brought them to nought by the hand of a woman. ⁷For their mighty one did not fall by young men, Neither did sons of the Titans smite him, Nor did high giants set upon him: But Judith the daughter of Merari made him weak with the beauty of her countenance. ⁸ For she put off the apparel of her widowhood For the exaltation of those that were distressed in Israel, She anointed her face with ointment, And bound her hair in a tire, And took a linen garment to deceive him. ⁹ Her sandal ravished his eye, And her beauty took his soul prisoner: The scimitar passed through his neck. ¹⁰ The Persians quaked at her daring, And the Medes were daunted at her boldness. ¹¹Then my lowly ones shouted aloud, And my weak ones were terrified and crouched for fear: They lifted up their voice, and they were turned to flight. ¹²The sons of damsels pierced them through, And wounded them as runagates' children; They perished by the battle of my Lord. ¹³ I will sing unto my God a new song: O Lord, thou art great and glorious, Marvellous in strength, invincible.

¹⁴Let all thy creation serve thee: For thou spakest, and they were made, Thou didst send forth thy spirit, and it builded them, And there is none that shall resist thy voice. ¹⁵ For the mountains shall be moved from their foundations with the waters, And the rocks shall melt as wax at thy presence: But thou art yet merciful to them that fear thee. ¹⁶ For all sacrifice is little for a sweet savour, And all the fat is very little for a whole burnt offering to thee: But he that feareth the Lord is great continually. ¹⁷Woe to the nations that rise up against my race: The Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgement, To put fire and worms in their flesh; And they shall weep and feel their pain for ever. ¹⁸Now when they came to Jerusalem, they worshipped God; and when the people were purified, they offered their whole burnt offerings, and their freewill offerings, and their gifts. ¹⁹And Judith dedicated all the stuff of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopy, which she had taken for herself out of his bedchamber, for a gift unto the Lord. ²⁰And the people continued feasting in Jerusalem before the sanctuary for the space of three months, and Judith remained with them. ²¹But after these days every one departed to his own inheritance, and Judith went away to Bethulia, and remained in her own possession, and was honourable in her time in all the land. ²²And many desired her, and no man knew her all the days of her life, from the day that Manasses her husband died and was gathered to his people. ²³And she increased in greatness exceedingly; and she waxed old in her husband's house, unto a hundred and five years, and let her maid go free: and she died in Bethulia; and they buried her in the cave of her husband

Manasses. ²⁴And the house of Israel mourned for her seven days: and she distributed her goods before she died to all them that were nearest of kin to Manasses her husband, and to them that were nearest of her own kindred. ²⁵And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the days of Judith, nor a long time after her death.

THE REST OF ESTHER (PART OF THE TENTH CHAPTER AFTER THE GREEK.)

CHAPTER 10

⁴Then Mardocheus said, These things are of God. ⁵For I remember the dream which I saw concerning these matters, and nothing thereof hath failed. ⁶As for the little fountain that became a river, and there was light, and the sun, and much water, the river is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen: ⁷And the two dragons are I and Aman: ⁸And the nations are those that were assembled to destroy the name of the Jews: ⁹And my nation, this is Israel, which cried to God, and were saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all these evils, and God hath wrought signs and great wonders, which have not been done among the nations.

¹⁰Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the nations.

¹¹And these two lots came at the hour, and time, and day of judgement, before God among all the nations. ¹²So God remembered his people, and justified his inheritance.

¹³Therefore these days shall be unto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month, with an assembly, and joy, and with gladness before God, throughout the generations for ever among his people Israel.

CHAPTER 11

¹In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest and Levite, and Ptolemy his son, brought the epistle of Phrurai here set forth, which they said was the same, and that Lysimachus the son of Ptolemy, that was in Jerusalem, had interpreted it. ² In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, in the first day of the month Nisan, Mardocheus the son of Jairus, the son of Semeias, the son of Kiseus, of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dream; ³ Who was a Jew, and dwelt in the city of Susa, a great man, being a servitor in the king's court; ⁴ And he was of the captivity, which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon carried from Jerusalem with Jechonias king of Judæa; and this was his dream: ⁵ Behold, noise and tumult, thunderings and earthquake, and uproar upon the earth: ⁶ And, behold, two great dragons came forth, both of them ready to fight, and their cry was great. ⁷ And at their cry all nations were ready to battle, that they might fight against the righteous nation. ⁸ And, lo, a day of darkness and gloominess, tribulation and anguish, affliction and great uproar upon the earth. ⁹ And the whole righteous nation was troubled, fearing the evils that should befall them, and were ready to perish. ¹⁰ Then they cried unto God, and upon their cry, as it were from a little fountain, there came a great river, even much water. ¹¹ The light and the sun rose up, and the lowly were exalted, and devoured the glorious. ¹² Now when Mardocheus, who had seen this dream, and what God had determined to do, was awake, he bare it in mind, and until night by all means was desirous to know it.

¹ And Mardocheus took his rest in the court with Gabatha and Tharra, the two eunuchs of the king, that were keepers of the court. ² And he heard their communings, and searched out their purposes, and learned that they were about to lay hands upon Artaxerxes the king; and he certified the king of them. ³ Then the king examined the two eunuchs, and after that they had confessed it, they were led to execution. ⁴ And the king wrote these things for a memorial; Mardocheus also wrote concerning these things. ⁵ So the king commanded Mardocheus to serve in the court, and for this he gave him gifts. ⁶Howbeit Aman the son of Amadathus, a Bugean, who was in great honour with the king, sought to molest Mardocheus and his people because of the two eunuchs of the king.

¹ Now this is the copy of the letter: The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes of a hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and to the governors that are set under them. ²After that I became lord over many nations, and had dominion over the whole world, not lifted up with presumption of my authority, but carrying myself alway with equity and mildness, I purposed to settle my subjects continually in a quiet life, and making my kingdom peaceable, and open for passage to the utmost coasts, to renew peace, which is desired of all men. ³Now when I asked my counsellors how this might be brought to pass, Aman, that excelled in wisdom among us, and was approved for his constant good will and stedfast fidelity, and had the honour of the second place in the kingdom, ⁴Declared unto us, that in all nations throughout the world there was scattered a certain malignant people, that had laws contrary to all nations, and continually set aside the commandments of kings, so as the uniting of our kingdoms, honourably intended by us, cannot go forward. ⁵Seeing then we understand that this nation is alone continually in opposition unto all men, following perversely a life which is strange to our laws, and evil affected to our state, working all the mischief they can, that our kingdom may not be firmly stablished: ⁶Therefore have we commanded, that they that are signified in writing unto you by Aman, who is ordained over the affairs, and is a second father unto us, shall all, with their wives and children, be utterly destroyed by the sword of their enemies, without all mercy and pity, the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year: ⁷That they, who of old and now also are malicious, may in one day with violence go down to the grave, and so ever hereafter cause our affairs to be well settled, and without trouble. ⁸ Then Mardocheus made his prayer unto the Lord, calling to remembrance all the works of the Lord, ⁹And said, O Lord, Lord, thou King Almighty: for the whole world is in thy power, and if it be thy will to save Israel, there is no man that can gainsay thee: ¹⁰For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things that are beneath the heaven; ¹¹And thou art Lord of all, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord. ¹²Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither in contempt nor pride, nor for any desire of glory, that I did not bow down to proud Aman. ¹³For I could have been content with good will for the salvation of Israel to kiss the soles of his feet. ¹⁴But I did this, that I might not prefer the glory of man above the glory of God: neither will I bow down unto any but to thee, which art my Lord, neither will I do it in pride. ¹⁵And now, O Lord, thou God and King, the God of Abraham, spare thy people: for their eyes are upon us to bring us to nought, and they desire to destroy the heritage, that hath been thine from the beginning. ¹⁶Despise not thy portion, which thou didst redeem out of the land of Egypt for thine own self. ¹⁷Hear my prayer, and be merciful unto thine inheritance: and turn our mourning into feasting, that we may live, O Lord, and sing praises to thy name: and destroy not the mouth of them that praise thee, O Lord. ¹⁸And all Israel cried out mightily, because their death was before their eyes.

¹Queen Esther also, being seized as it were with the agony of death, resorted unto the Lord: ²And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of anguish and mourning: and instead of the most excellent ointments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her body greatly, and all the places of the ornaments of her joy she covered with her tangled hair. ³And she prayed unto the Lord, the God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me that am desolate and have no other helper but thee: ⁴For my danger is in mine hand. ⁵From my youth up I have heard in the tribe of my family, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all the nations, and our fathers from all their progenitors, for a perpetual inheritance, and didst perform for them whatsoever thou didst promise. ⁶And now we have sinned before thee, and thou hast given us into the hands of our enemies, ⁷Because we glorified their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous. ⁸Nevertheless it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captivity: but they have stricken hands with their idols, ⁹That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordained, and destroy thine inheritance, and stop the mouth of them that praise thee, and quench the glory of thy house, and thine altar, ¹⁰And open the mouths of the heathen to set forth the virtues of idols, and that a fleshly king shall be magnified for ever. ¹¹O Lord, give not thy sceptre unto them that be nothing, and let them not laugh at our fall; but turn their device upon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun this against us. ¹²Remember, O Lord, make thyself known in the time of our affliction, and give me boldness, O King of the gods, and holder of all dominion. ¹³Give me eloquent speech in my mouth before the lion: and turn his heart to hate him that fighteth against us, that there may be an end of him, and of them that are likeminded with him: ¹⁴But deliver us with thine hand, and help me that am desolate and have no other helper but thee, O Lord. ¹⁵Thou hast knowledge of all things; and thou knowest that I hate the glory of the wicked, and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised, and of every alien. ¹⁶Thou knowest my necessity: that I abhor the sign of my high estate, which is upon mine head in the days wherein I shew myself. I abhor it as a menstruous rag, and I wear it not when I am private by myself. ¹⁷And thine handmaid hath not eaten at Aman's table, neither have I honoured the king's feast, nor drunk the wine of the drink offerings. ¹⁸Neither had thine handmaid any joy since the day that I was brought hither to this present, but in thee, O Lord, thou God of Abraham. ¹⁹O God, that art mighty above all, hear the voice of the forlorn, and deliver us out of the hands of the mischievous, and deliver me out of my fear.

¹And upon the third day, when she had ended her prayer, she laid away her garments of service, and put on her glorious apparel. ²And being majestically adorned, after she had called upon the all-seeing God and saviour, she took her two maids with her: ³And upon the one she leaned, as carrying herself delicately; ⁴And the other followed, bearing up her train. ⁵And she was ruddy through the perfection of her beauty, and her countenance was cheerful and right amiable: but her heart was in anguish for fear. ⁶Then having passed through all the doors, she stood before the king, who sat upon his royal throne, and was clothed with all his robes of majesty, all glittering with gold and precious stones; and he was very dreadful. ⁷Then lifting up his countenance that was flushed with glory, he looked upon her in fierce anger: and the queen fell down, and turned pale, and fainted, and she bowed herself upon the head of the maid that went before. ⁸Then God changed the spirit of the king into mildness, who in an agony leaped from his throne, and took her in his arms, till she came to herself again, and comforted her with soothing words, and said unto her, ⁹Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheer: ¹⁰Thou shalt not die, for our commandment is for our subjects: come near. ¹¹So he held up his golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, ¹²And embraced her, and said, Speak unto me. ¹³Then said she unto him, I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy glory. ¹⁴For wonderful art thou, my lord, and thy countenance is full of grace. ¹⁵And as she was speaking, she fell down for faintness. ¹⁶Then the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

¹The great king Artaxerxes unto the governors of countries in a hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and unto them that are well affected to our state, greeting. ²Many, the more often they are honoured with the great bounty of their benefactors, the more proud they are waxen, ³And endeavour to hurt not our subjects only, but not being able to bear abundance, do take in hand to practise also against those that do them good: ⁴And take not only thankfulness away from among men, but also lifted up with the boastful words of them that were never good, they think to escape the evil-hating justice of God, who alway seeth all things. ⁵Oftentimes also fair speech of those that are put in trust to manage their friends' affairs, hath caused many that are in authority to be partakers of innocent blood, and hath enwrapped them in remediless calamities: ⁶Beguiling with the false deceit of their lewd disposition the innocent good will of princes. ⁷Now ye may see this, as we have declared, not so much by more ancient histories, as ye may, if ye search what hath been wickedly done of late through the pestilent behaviour of them that are unworthily placed in authority. ⁸And we must take care for the time to come, to render our kingdom quiet and peaceable for all men, ⁹Both by changing our purposes, and always judging things that come before our eyes with more equal proceeding. ¹⁰For Aman, a Macedonian, the son of Amadathus, an alien in truth from the Persian blood, and far distant from our goodness, being as a guest received of us, ¹¹Had so far forth obtained the favour that we shew toward every nation, as that he was called our father, and was continually honoured of all men, as the next person unto the royal throne. ¹²But he, not bearing his high estate, went about to deprive us of our kingdom and our life; ¹³Having by manifold and cunning deceits sought of us the destruction, as well of Mardocheus, who saved our life, and continually procured our good, as also of Esther the blameless partaker of our kingdom, together with their whole nation. ¹⁴For by these means he thought, finding us destitute of friends, to have translated the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians. ¹⁵But we find that the Jews, whom this most ungracious wretch hath delivered to utter destruction, are no evil-doers, but live by most just laws: ¹⁶And that they be children of the most high and most mighty living God, who hath ordered the kingdom both unto us and to our progenitors in the most excellent manner. ¹⁷Wherefore ye shall do well not to put in execution the letters sent unto you by Aman the son of Amadathus. ¹⁸For he, that was the worker of these things, is hanged at the gates of Susa with all his family: God, who ruleth all things, speedily rendering vengeance to him according to his deserts. ¹⁹Therefore ye shall publish openly the copy of this letter in all places, and let the Jews live after their own laws, ²⁰And ye shall aid them, that even the same day, being the thirteenth day of the twelfth month Adar, they may defend themselves against those who set upon them in the time of their affliction. ²¹For Almighty God hath made this day to be a joy unto them, instead of the destruction of the chosen people. ²²And ye shall therefore among your commemorative feasts keep it a high day with all feasting: ²³That both now and hereafter there may be safety to us, and the well affected Persians; but to those which do conspire against us a memorial of destruction. ²⁴Therefore every city or country whatsoever, which shall not do according to these things, shall be utterly destroyed without mercy with fire and sword; it shall be made not only unpassable for men, but also most hateful to wild beasts and fowls for ever.

WISDOM OF SOLOMON

¹ Love righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth, Think ye of the Lord with a good mind, And in singleness of heart seek ye him; ²Because he is found of them that tempt him not, And is manifested to them that do not distrust him. ³ For crooked thoughts separate from God; And the supreme Power, when it is brought to the proof, putteth to confusion the foolish: ⁴ Because wisdom will not enter into a soul that deviseth evil, Nor dwell in a body that is held in pledge by sin. ⁵For a holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit, And will start away from thoughts that are without understanding, And will be put to confusion when unrighteousness hath come in. ⁶For wisdom is a spirit that loveth man, And she will not hold a blasphemer guiltless for his lips; Because God beareth witness of his reins, And is a true overseer of his heart, And a hearer of his tongue: ⁷Because the spirit of the Lord hath filled the world, And that which holdeth all things together hath knowledge of every voice. ⁸Therefore no man that uttereth unrighteous things shall be unseen; Neither shall Justice, when it convicteth, pass him by. ⁹For in the midst of his counsels the ungodly shall be searched out; And the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord To bring to conviction his lawless deeds: ¹⁰Because there is an ear of jealousy that listeneth to all things, And the noise of murmurings is not hid. ¹¹ Beware then of unprofitable murmuring, And refrain your tongue from backbiting; Because no secret utterance shall go on its way void, And a mouth that beliieth destroyeth a soul. ¹²Court not death in the error of your life; Neither draw upon yourselves destruction by the works of your hands: ¹³ Because God made not death; Neither delighteth he when the living perish: ¹⁴For he created all things that they might have being: And the generative powers of the world are healthsome, And there is no poison of destruction in them: Nor hath Hades royal dominion upon earth, ¹⁵ For righteousness is immortal: ¹⁶But ungodly men by their hands and their words called death unto them: Deeming him a friend they consumed away, And they made a covenant with him, Because they are worthy to be of his portion.

¹For they said within themselves, reasoning not aright, Short and sorrowful is our life; And there is no healing when a man cometh to his end, And none was ever known that gave release from Hades. ²Because by mere chance were we born, And hereafter we shall be as though we had never been: Because the breath in our nostrils is smoke, And while our heart beateth reason is a spark, ³Which being extinguished, the body shall be turned into ashes, And the spirit shall be dispersed as thin air; ⁴ And our name shall be forgotten in time, And no man shall remember our works; And our life shall pass away as the traces of a cloud, And shall be scattered as is a mist, When it is chased by the beams of the sun, And overcome by the heat thereof. ⁵For our allotted time is the passing of a shadow, And our end retreateth not; Because it is fast sealed, and none turneth it back. ⁶ Come therefore and let us enjoy the good things that now are; And let us use the creation with all our soul as youth's possession. ⁷ Let us fill ourselves with costly wine and perfumes; And let no flower of spring pass us by: ⁸ Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds, before they be withered: ⁹Let none of us go without his share in our proud revelry: Everywhere let us leave tokens of our mirth: Because this is our portion, and our lot is this. ¹⁰ Let us oppress the righteous poor; Let us not spare the widow, Nor reverence the hairs of the old man gray for length of years. ¹¹But let our strength be to us a law of righteousness; For that which is weak is found to be of no service. ¹²But let us lie in wait for the righteous man, Because he is of disservice to us, And is contrary to our works, And upbraideth us with sins against the law, And layeth to our charge sins against our discipline. ¹³ He professeth to have knowledge of God, And nameth himself servant of the Lord. ¹⁴ He became to us a reproof of our thoughts. ¹⁵ He is grievous unto us even to behold, Because his life is unlike other men's, And his paths are of strange fashion. ¹⁶ We were accounted of him as base metal, And he abstaineth from our ways as from uncleannesses. The latter end of the righteous he calleth happy; And he vaunteth that God is his father. ¹⁷ Let us see if his words be true, And let us try what shall befall in the ending of his life. ¹⁸ For if the righteous man is God's son, he will uphold him, And he will deliver him out of the hand of his adversaries. ¹⁹ With outrage and torture let us put him to the test, That we may learn his gentleness, And may prove his patience under wrong. ²⁰ Let us condemn him to a shameful death; For he shall be visited according to his words. ²¹ Thus reasoned they, and they were led astray; For their wickedness blinded them, ²² And they knew not the mysteries of God, Neither hoped they for wages of holiness, Nor did they judge that there is a prize for blameless souls. ²³ Because God created man for incorruption, And made him an image of his own proper being; ²⁴

But by the envy of the devil death entered into the world, And they that are of his portion make trial thereof.

¹ But the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, And no torment shall touch them. ² In the eyes of the foolish they seemed to have died; And their departure was accounted to be their hurt, ³ And their journeying away from us to be their ruin: But they are in peace. ⁴ For even if in the sight of men they be punished, Their hope is full of immortality; ⁵ And having borne a little chastening, they shall receive great good; Because God made trial of them, and found them worthy of himself. ⁶ As gold in the furnace he proved them, And as a whole burnt offering he accepted them.
⁷ And in the time of their visitation they shall shine forth, And as sparks among stubble they shall run to and fro. ⁸ They shall judge nations, and have dominion over peoples; And the Lord shall reign over them for evermore. ⁹ They that trust on him shall understand truth, And the faithful shall abide with him in love; Because grace and mercy are to his chosen. ¹⁰ But the ungodly shall be requited even as they reasoned, They which lightly regarded the righteous man, and revolted from the Lord; ¹¹(For he that setteth at nought wisdom and discipline is miserable;) And void is their hope and their toils unprofitable, And useless are their works: ¹²Their wives are foolish, and wicked are their children; ¹³ Accursed is their begetting. Because happy is the barren that is undefiled, She who hath not conceived in transgression; She shall have fruit when God visiteth souls. ¹⁴And happy is the eunuch which hath wrought no lawless deed with his hands, Nor imagined wicked things against the Lord; For there shall be given him for his faithfulness a peculiar favour, And a lot in the sanctuary of the Lord more delightsome than wife or children. ¹⁵For good labours have fruit of great renown; And the root of understanding cannot fail. ¹⁶But children of adulterers shall not come to maturity, And the seed of an unlawful bed shall vanish away. ¹⁷For if they live long, they shall be held in no account, And at the last their old age shall be without honour. ¹⁸And if they die quickly, they shall have no hope, Nor in the day of decision shall they have consolation. ¹⁹For the end of an unrighteous generation is always grievous.

¹ Better than this is childlessness with virtue; For in the memory of virtue is immortality: Because it is recognised both before God and before men. ²When it is present, men imitate it; And they long after it when it is departed: And throughout all time it marcheth crowned in triumph, Victorious in the strife for the prizes that are undefiled. ³But the multiplying brood of the ungodly shall be of no profit, And with bastard slips they shall not strike deep root, Nor shall they establish a sure hold. ⁴For even if these put forth boughs and flourish for a season, Yet, standing unsure, they shall be shaken by the wind, And by the violence of winds they shall be rooted out. ⁵ Their branches shall be broken off before they come to maturity, And their fruit shall be useless, Never ripe to eat, and fit for nothing. ⁶For children unlawfully begotten are witnesses of wickedness Against parents when God searcheth them out. ⁷But a righteous man, though he die before his time, shall be at rest. ⁸(For honourable old age is not that which standeth in length of time, Nor is its measure given by number of years: ⁹But understanding is gray hairs unto men, And an unspotted life is ripe old age.) ¹⁰ Being found well-pleasing unto God he was beloved of him, And while living among sinners he was translated: ¹¹ He was caught away, lest wickedness should change his understanding, Or guile deceive his soul. ¹²(For the bewitching of naughtiness bedimmeth the things which are good, And the giddy whirl of desire perverteth an innocent mind.) ¹³Being made perfect in a little while, he fulfilled long years; ¹⁴For his soul was pleasing unto the Lord: Therefore hastened he out of the midst of wickedness. ¹⁵But as for the peoples, seeing and understanding not, Neither laying this to heart, That grace and mercy are with his chosen, And that he visiteth his holy ones:— ¹⁶But a righteous man that is dead shall condemn the ungodly that are living, And youth that is quickly perfected the many years of an unrighteous man's old age; ¹⁷For the ungodly shall see a wise man's end, And shall not understand what the Lord purposed concerning him, And for what he safely kept him:— ¹⁸They shall see, and they shall despise; But them the Lord shall laugh to scorn. And after this they shall become a dishonoured carcase, And a reproach among the dead for ever: ¹⁹Because he shall dash them speechless to the ground, And shall shake them from the foundations, And they shall lie utterly waste, and they shall be in anguish, And their memory shall perish. ²⁰They shall come, when their sins are reckoned up, with coward fear; And their lawless deeds shall convict them to their face.

¹Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness Before the face of them that afflicted him, And them that make his labours of no account. ²When they see it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear, And shall be amazed at the marvel of God's salvation. ³They shall say within themselves repenting, And for distress of spirit shall they groan, This was he whom aforetime we had in derision, And made a parable of reproach: ⁴We fools accounted his life madness, And his end without honour: ⁵ How was he numbered among sons of God? And how is his lot among saints? ⁶Verily we went astray from the way of truth, And the light of righteousness shined not for us, And the sun rose not for us. ⁷We took our fill of the paths of lawlessness and destruction, And we journeyed through trackless deserts, But the way of the Lord we knew not. ⁸What did our arrogancy profit us? And what good have riches and vaunting brought us? ⁹Those things all passed away as a shadow, And as a message that runneth by: ¹⁰ As a ship passing through the billowy water, Whereof, when it is gone by, there is no trace to be found, Neither pathway of its keel in the billows: ¹¹ Or as when a bird flieth through the air, No token of her passage is found, But the light wind, lashed with the stroke of her pinions, And rent asunder with the violent rush of the moving wings, is passed through, And afterwards no sign of her coming is found therein: ¹²Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark, The air disparted closeth up again immediately, So that men know not where it passed through: ¹³So we also, as soon as we were born, ceased to be; And of virtue we had no sign to shew, But in our wickedness we were utterly consumed. ¹⁴Because the hope of the ungodly man is as chaff carried by the wind, And as foam vanishing before a tempest; And is scattered as smoke is scattered by the wind, And passeth by as the remembrance of a guest that tarrieth but a day. ¹⁵But the righteous live for ever, And in the Lord is their reward, And the care for them with the Most High. ¹⁶Therefore shall they receive the crown of royal dignity And the diadem of beauty from the Lord's hand; Because with his right hand shall he cover them, And with his arm shall he shield them. ¹⁷He shall take his jealousy as complete armour, And shall make the whole creation his weapons for vengeance on his enemies: ¹⁸ He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate, And shall array himself with judgement unfeigned as with a helmet; ¹⁹ He shall take holiness as an invincible shield, ²⁰ And he shall sharpen stern wrath for a sword: And the world shall go forth with him to fight against his insensate foes. ²¹ Shafts of lightning shall fly with true aim, And from the clouds, as from a well drawn bow, shall they leap to the mark. ²² And as from an engine of war shall be hurled hailstones full of wrath; The water of the sea shall be angered against them, And rivers shall sternly overwhelm them; ²³ A mighty blast shall encounter them, And as a tempest shall it winnow them away: And so shall lawlessness make all the land desolate, And their evil-doing shall overturn the thrones of princes.

sought out mightily. ⁷For the Sovereign Lord of all will not refrain himself for any man's person, Neither will he reverence greatness; Because it is he that made both small and great, And alike he taketh thought for all; ⁸But strict is the scrutiny that cometh upon the powerful. ⁹Unto you therefore, O princes, are my words, That ye may learn wisdom and fall not from the right way. ¹⁰ For they that have kept holily the things that are holy shall themselves be hallowed; And they that have been taught them shall find what to answer; ¹¹Set your desire therefore on my words; Long for them, and ye shall be trained by their discipline. ¹²Wisdom is radiant and fadeth not away; And easily is she beheld of them that love her, And found of them that seek her. ¹³ She forestalleth them that desire to know her, making herself first known. ¹⁴ He that riseth up early to seek her shall have no toil, For he shall find her sitting at his gates. ¹⁵For to think upon her is perfectness of understanding, And he that watcheth for her sake shall quickly be free from care. ¹⁶Because she goeth about, herself seeking them that are worthy of her, And in their paths she appeareth unto them graciously, And in every purpose she meeteth them. ¹⁷For her true beginning is desire of discipline; And the care for discipline is love of her; ¹⁸And love of her is observance of her laws; And to give heed to her laws confirmeth incorruption; ¹⁹And incorruption bringeth near unto God; ²⁰So then desire of wisdom promoteth to a kingdom. ²¹If therefore ye delight in thrones and sceptres, ye princes of peoples, Honour wisdom, that ye may reign for ever. ²²But what wisdom is, and how she came into being, I will declare, And I will not hide mysteries from you; But I will trace her out from the beginning of creation, And bring the knowledge of her into clear light, And I will not pass by the truth; ²³Neither indeed will I take pining envy for my companion in the way, Because envy shall have no fellowship with wisdom. ²⁴But a multitude of wise men is salvation to the world, And an understanding king is tranquillity to his people. ²⁵Wherefore be disciplined by my words, and thereby shall ye profit.

¹I myself also am mortal, like to all, And am sprung from one born of the earth, the man first formed, ²And in the womb of a mother was I moulded into flesh in the time of ten months, Being compacted in blood of the seed of man and pleasure that came with sleep. ³And I also, when I was born, drew in the common air, And fell upon the kindred earth, Uttering, like all, for my first voice, the selfsame wail: ⁴In swaddling clothes was I nursed, and with watchful cares. ⁵For no king had any other first beginning; ⁶But all men have one entrance into life, and a like departure. ⁷ For this cause I prayed, and understanding was given me: I called upon God, and there came to me a spirit of wisdom. ⁸I preferred her before sceptres and thrones, And riches I esteemed nothing in comparison of her. ⁹Neither did I liken to her any priceless gem, Because all the gold of the earth in her presence is a little sand, And silver shall be accounted as clay before her. ¹⁰ Above health and comeliness I loved her, And I chose to have her rather than light, Because her bright shining is never laid to sleep. ¹¹But with her there came to me all good things together, And in her hands innumerable riches: ¹²And I rejoiced over them all because wisdom leadeth them; Though I knew not that she was the mother of them. ¹³As I learned without guile, I impart without grudging; I do not hide her riches. ¹⁴For she is unto men a treasure that faileth not, And they that use it obtain friendship with God, Commended to him by the gifts which they through discipline present to him. ¹⁵ But to me may God give to speak with judgement, And to conceive thoughts worthy of what hath been given me; Because himself is one that guideth even wisdom and that correcteth the wise. ¹⁶For in his hand are both we and our words; All understanding, and all acquaintance with divers crafts. ¹⁷ For himself gave me an unerring knowledge of the things that are, To know the constitution of the world, and the operation of the elements; ¹⁸The beginning and end and middle of times, The alternations of the solstices and the changes of seasons, ¹⁹The circuits of years and the positions of stars; ²⁰ The natures of living creatures and the ragings of wild beasts, The violences of winds and the thoughts of men, The diversities of plants and the virtues of roots: ²¹All things that are either secret or manifest I learned, ²²For she that is the artificer of all things taught me, even wisdom. For there is in her a spirit quick of understanding, holy, Alone in kind, manifold, Subtil, freely moving, Clear in utterance, unpolluted, Distinct, unharmed, Loving what is good, keen, unhindered, Beneficent, ²³loving toward man, Stedfast, sure, free from care, All-powerful, all-surveying, And penetrating through all spirits That are quick of understanding, pure, most subtil: ²⁴ For wisdom is more mobile than any motion; Yea, she pervadeth and penetrateth all things by reason of her pureness. ²⁵For she is a breath of the power of God, And a clear effluence of the glory of the Almighty; Therefore can nothing defiled find entrance into her. ²⁶For she is an effulgence from everlasting light, And an unspotted mirror of the working of God, And an image of his goodness. ²⁷And she, being one, hath power to do all things; And remaining in herself, reneweth all things: And from generation to generation passing into holy souls She maketh men friends of God and prophets. ²⁸For nothing doth God love save him that dwelleth with wisdom. ²⁹For she is fairer than the sun, And above all the constellations of the stars: Being compared with light, she is found to be before it; ³⁰For to the light of day succeedeth night, But against wisdom evil doth not prevail;

¹But she reacheth from one end of the world to the other with full strength, And ordereth all things graciously. ² Her I loved and sought out from my youth, And I sought to take her for my bride, And I became enamoured of her beauty. ³She glorifieth her noble birth in that it is given her to live with God, And the Sovereign Lord of all loved her. ⁴For she is initiated into the knowledge of God, And she chooseth out for him his works. ⁵But if riches are a desired possession in life, What is richer than wisdom, which worketh all things? ⁶ And if understanding worketh, Who more than wisdom is an artificer of the things that are? ⁷And if a man loveth righteousness, The fruits of wisdom's labour are virtues, For she teacheth soberness and understanding, righteousness and courage; And there is nothing in life for men more profitable than these. ⁸And if a man longeth even for much experience, She knoweth the things of old, and divineth the things to come: She understandeth subtilties of speeches and interpretations of dark sayings: She foreseeth signs and wonders, and the issues of seasons and times. ⁹ I determined therefore to take her unto me to live with me, Knowing that she is one who would give me good thoughts for counsel, And encourage me in cares and grief. ¹⁰Because of her I shall have glory among multitudes, And honour in the sight of elders, though I be young. ¹¹I shall be found of a quick conceit when I give judgement, And in the presence of princes I shall be admired. ¹² When I am silent, they shall wait for me; And when I open my lips, they shall give heed unto me; And if I continue speaking, they shall lay their hand upon their mouth. ¹³Because of her I shall have immortality, And leave behind an eternal memory to them that come after me. ¹⁴ I shall govern peoples, And nations shall be subjected to me. ¹⁵Dread princes shall fear me when they hear of me: Among my people I shall shew myself a good ruler, and in war courageous. ¹⁶When I am come into my house, I shall find rest with her; For converse with her hath no bitterness, And to live with her hath no pain, but gladness and joy. ¹⁷When I considered these things in myself, And took thought in my heart how that in kinship unto wisdom is immortality, ¹⁸ And in her friendship is good delight, And in the labours of her hands is wealth that faileth not, And in assiduous communing with her is understanding, And great renown in having fellowship with her words, I went about seeking how to take her unto myself. ¹⁹Now I was a child of parts, and a good soul fell to my lot; ²⁰Nay rather, being good, I came into a body undefiled. ²¹But perceiving that I could not otherwise possess wisdom except God gave her me (Yea and to know by whom the grace is given, this too came of understanding), I pleaded with the Lord and besought him, And with my whole heart I said,

¹O God of the fathers, and Lord who keepest thy mercy, Who madest all things by thy word;

²And by thy wisdom thou formedst man, That he should have dominion over the creatures that were made by thee, ³And rule the world in holiness and righteousness, And execute judgement in uprightness of soul; ⁴Give me wisdom, her that sitteth by thee on thy throne; And reject me not from among thy servants: ⁵Because I am thy bondman and the son of thy handmaid, A man weak and short-lived, And of small power to understand judgement and laws. ⁶For even if a man be perfect among the sons of men, Yet if the wisdom that cometh from thee be not with him, he shall be held in no account. ⁷Thou didst choose me before my brethren to be king of thy people, And to do judgement for thy sons and daughters. ⁸Thou gavest command to build a sanctuary in thy holy mountain, And an altar in the city of thy habitation, A copy of the holy tabernacle which thou preparedst aforehand from the beginning. ⁹And with thee is wisdom, which knoweth thy works, And was present when thou wast making the world, And which understandeth what is pleasing in thine eyes, And what is right according to thy commandments.

¹⁰Send her forth out of the holy heavens, And from the throne of thy glory bid her come, That being present with me she may toil with me, And that I may learn what is well-pleasing before thee.

¹¹For she knoweth all things and hath understanding thereof, And in my doings she shall guide me in ways of soberness, And she shall guard me in her glory. ¹²And so shall my works be acceptable, And I shall judge thy people righteously, And I shall be worthy of my father's throne. ¹³For what man shall know the counsel of God? Or who shall conceive what the Lord willeth? ¹⁴For the thoughts of mortals are timorous, And our devices are prone to fail.

¹⁵For a corruptible body weigheth down the soul, And the earthy frame lieth heavy on a mind that is full of cares. ¹⁶And hardly do we divine the things that are on earth, And the things that are close at hand we find with labour; But the things that are in the heavens who ever yet traced out? ¹⁷And who ever gained knowledge of thy counsel, except thou gavest wisdom, And sentest thy holy spirit from on high?

¹⁸And it was thus that the ways of them which are on earth were corrected, And men were taught the things that are pleasing unto thee; And through wisdom were they saved.

¹Wisdom guarded to the end the first formed father of the world, that was created alone, And delivered him out of his own transgression, ²And gave him strength to get dominion over all things. ³But when an unrighteous man fell away from her in his anger, He perished himself in the rage wherewith he slew his brother. ⁴And when for his cause the earth was drowning with a flood, Wisdom again saved it, Guiding the righteous man's course by a poor piece of wood. ⁵Moreover, when nations consenting together in wickedness had been confounded, Wisdom knew the righteous man, and preserved him blameless unto God, And kept him strong when his heart yearned toward his child. ⁶While the ungodly were perishing, wisdom delivered a righteous man, When he fled from the fire that descended out of heaven on Pentapolis. ⁷To whose wickedness a smoking waste still witnesseth, And plants bearing fair fruit that cometh not to ripeness; Yea and a disbelieving soul hath a memorial there, a pillar of salt still standing. ⁸For having passed wisdom by, Not only were they disabled from recognising the things which are good, But they also left behind them for human life a monument of their folly; To the end that where they went astray they might fail even to be unseen: ⁹But wisdom delivered out of troubles those that waited on her. ¹⁰When a righteous man was a fugitive from a brother's wrath, wisdom guided him in straight paths; She shewed him God's kingdom, and gave him knowledge of holy things; She prospered him in his toils, and multiplied the fruits of his labour; ¹¹ When in their covetousness men dealt hardly with him, She stood by him and made him rich; ¹² She guarded him from enemies, And from those that lay in wait she kept him safe, And over his sore conflict she watched as judge, That he might know that godliness is more powerful than all. ¹³ When a righteous man was sold, wisdom forsook him not, But from sin she delivered him; She went down with him into a dungeon, ¹⁴ And in bonds she left him not, Till she brought him the sceptre of a kingdom, And authority over those that dealt tyrannously with him; She shewed them also to be false that had mockingly accused him, And gave him eternal glory. ¹⁵ Wisdom delivered a holy people and a blameless seed from a nation of oppressors. ¹⁶ She entered into the soul of a servant of the Lord, And withstood terrible kings in wonders and signs. ¹⁷ She rendered unto holy men a reward of their toils; She guided them along a marvellous way, And became unto them a covering in the day-time, And a flame of stars through the night.

¹⁸ She brought them over the Red sea, And led them through much water; ¹⁹ But their enemies she drowned, And out of the bottom of the deep she cast them up. ²⁰ Therefore the righteous spoiled the ungodly; And they sang praise to thy holy name, O Lord, And extolled with one accord thy hand that fought for them: ²¹ Because wisdom opened the mouth of the dumb, And made the tongues of babes to speak clearly.

¹She prospered their works in the hand of a holy prophet. ² They journeyed through a desert without inhabitant, And in trackless regions they pitched their tents. ³ They withstood enemies, and repelled foes. ⁴They thirsted, and they called upon thee, And there was given them water out of the flinty rock, And healing of their thirst out of the hard stone. ⁵For by what things their foes were punished, By these they in their need were benefited. ⁶ When the enemy were troubled with clotted blood instead of a river's ever-flowing fountain, ⁷To rebuke the decree for the slaying of babes, Thou gavest them abundant water beyond all hope, ⁸Having shewn them by the thirst which they had suffered how thou didst punish the adversaries. ⁹ For when they were tried, albeit but in mercy chastened, They learned how the ungodly were tormented, being judged with wrath: ¹⁰For these, as a father, admonishing them, thou didst prove; But those, as a stern king, condemning them, thou didst search out. ¹¹Yea and whether they were far off from the righteous or near them, they were alike distressed; ¹²For a double grief took hold on them, And a groaning at the remembrance of things past. ¹³For when they heard that through their own punishments the others had been benefited, They felt the presence of the Lord; ¹⁴For him who long before was cast forth and exposed they left off mocking: In the last issue of what came to pass they marvelled, Having thirsted in another manner than the righteous. ¹⁵But in requital of the senseless imaginings of their unrighteousness, Wherein they were led astray to worship irrational reptiles and wretched vermin, Thou didst send upon them a multitude of irrational creatures for vengeance; ¹⁶ That they might learn, that by what things a man sinneth, by these he is punished. ¹⁷For thine all-powerful hand, That created the world out of formless matter, Lacked not means to send upon them a multitude of bears, or fierce lions, ¹⁸Or new-created wild beasts, full of rage, of unknown kind, Either breathing out a blast of fiery breath, Or blowing forth from their nostrils noisome smoke, Or flashing dreadful sparkles from their eyes; ¹⁹Which had power not only to consume them by their violence, But to destroy them even by the terror of their sight. ²⁰Yea and without these might they have fallen by a single breath, Being pursued by Justice, and scattered abroad by the breath of thy power. But by measure and number and weight thou didst order all things. ²¹For to be greatly strong is thine at all times; And the might of thine arm who shall withstand? ²²Because the whole world before thee is as a grain in a balance, And as a drop of dew that at morning cometh down upon the earth. ²³But thou hast mercy on all men, because thou hast power to do all things, And thou overlookest the sins of men to the end they may repent. ²⁴For thou lovest all things that are, And abhorrest none of the things which thou didst make; For never wouldest thou have formed anything if thou didst hate it. ²⁵And how would anything have endured, except thou hadst willed it? Or that which was not called by thee, how would it have been preserved? ²⁶But thou sparest all things, because they are thine, O Sovereign Lord, thou lover of men's lives;

CHAPTER 12

¹For thine incorruptible spirit is in all things. ²Wherefore thou convictest by little and little them that fall from the right way, And, putting them in remembrance by the very things wherein they sin, dost thou admonish them, That escaping from their wickedness they may believe on thee, O Lord.

³For verily the old inhabitants of thy holy land, ⁴ Hating them because they practised detestable works of enchantments and unholy rites ⁵(Merciless slaughters of children, And sacrificial banquets of men's flesh and of blood), ⁶Confederates in an impious fellowship, And murderers of their own helpless babes, It was thy counsel to destroy by the hands of our fathers; ⁷That the land which in thy sight is most precious of all lands Might receive a worthy colony of God's servants.

⁸Nevertheless even these thou didst spare as being men, And thou sentest hornets as forerunners of thy host, To cause them to perish by little and little;

⁹Not that thou wast unable to subdue the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle, Or by terrible beasts or by one stern word to make away with them at once; ¹⁰But judging them by little and little thou gavest them a place of repentance, Not being ignorant that their nature by birth was evil, and their wickedness inborn, And that their manner of thought would in no wise ever be changed,

¹¹For they were a seed accursed from the beginning: Neither was it through fear of any that thou didst leave them then unpunished for their sins. ¹² For who shall say, What hast thou done? Or who shall withstand thy judgement?
And who shall accuse thee for the perishing of nations which thou didst make? Or who shall come and stand before thee as an avenger for unrighteous men?

¹³For neither is there any God beside thee that careth for all, That thou mightest shew unto him that thou didst not judge unrighteously: ¹⁴Neither shall king or prince be able to look thee in the face to plead for those whom thou hast punished. ¹⁵But being righteous thou rulest all things righteously, Deeming it a thing alien from thy power To condemn one that doth not himself deserve to be punished.

¹⁶For thy strength is the beginning of righteousness, And thy sovereignty over all maketh thee to forbear all. ¹⁷For when men believe not that thou art perfect in power, thou shewest thy strength, And in dealing with them that know it thou puttest their boldness to confusion. ¹⁸ But thou, being sovereign over thy strength, judgest in gentleness, And with great forbearance dost thou govern us; For the power is thine whensoever thou hast the will. ¹⁹ But thou didst teach thy people by such works as these, How that the righteous must be a lover of men; And thou didst make thy sons to be of good hope, Because thou givest repentance when men have sinned. ²⁰ For if on them that were enemies of thy servants and due to death Thou didst take vengeance with so great heedfulness and indulgence, Giving them times and place whereby they might escape from their wickedness; ²¹ With how great carefulness didst thou judge thy sons, To whose fathers thou gavest oaths and covenants of good promises! ²² While therefore thou dost chasten us, thou scourgest our enemies ten thousand times more, To the intent that we may ponder thy goodness when we judge, And when we are judged may look for mercy. ²³ Wherefore also the unrighteous that lived in folly of life Thou didst torment through their own abominations. ²⁴ For verily they went astray very far in the ways of error, Taking as gods those animals which even among their enemies were held in dishonour, Deceived like foolish babes. ²⁵ Therefore, as unto unreasoning children, thou didst send thy judgement to mock them. ²⁶ But they that would not be admonished by a mocking correction as of children Shall have experience of a judgement worthy of God. ²⁷ For through the sufferings whereat they were indignant, Being punished in these creatures which they supposed to be gods, They saw, and recognised as the true God him whom before they refused to know: Wherefore also the last end of condemnation came upon them.

of God, And from the good things that are seen they gained not power to know him that is, Neither by giving heed to the works did they recognise the artificer; ²But either fire, or wind, or swift air, Or circling stars, or raging water, or luminaries of heaven, They thought to be gods that rule the world. ³And if it was through delight in their beauty that they took them to be gods, Let them know how much better than these is their Sovereign Lord; For the first author of beauty created them: ⁴But if it was through astonishment at their power and influence, Let them understand from them how much more powerful is he that formed them; ⁵For from the greatness of the beauty even of created things In like proportion does man form the image of their first maker. ⁶But yet for these men there is but small blame, For they too peradventure do but go astray While they are seeking God and desiring to find him. ⁷For living among his works they make diligent search, And they yield themselves up to sight, because the things that they look upon are beautiful. ⁸But again even they are not to be excused. ⁹For if they had power to know so much, That they should be able to explore the course of things, How is it that they did not sooner find the Sovereign Lord of these his works? ¹⁰But miserable were they, and in dead things were their hopes, Who called them gods which are works of men's hands, Gold and silver, wrought with careful art, and likenesses of animals, Or a useless stone, the work of an ancient hand. ¹¹Yea and if some woodcutter, having sawn down a tree that is easily moved, Skilfully strippeth away all its bark, And fashioning it in comely form maketh a vessel useful for the service of life; ¹²And burning the refuse of his handywork to dress his food, eateth his fill; ¹³And taking the very refuse thereof which served to no use, A crooked piece of wood and full of knots, Carveth it with the diligence of his idleness, And shapeth it by the skill of his indolence; Then he giveth it the semblance of the image of a man, ¹⁴Or maketh it like some paltry animal, Smearing it with vermilion, and with paint colouring it red, And smearing over every stain that is therein; ¹⁵And having made for it a chamber worthy of it, He setteth it in a wall, making it fast with iron. ¹⁶While then he taketh thought for it that it may not fall down, Knowing that it is unable to help itself; (For verily it is an image, and hath need of help;) ¹⁷When he maketh his prayer concerning goods and his marriage and children, He is not ashamed to speak to that which hath no life; ¹⁸Yea for health he calleth upon that which is weak, And for life he beseecheth that which is dead, And for aid he supplicateth that which hath least experience, And for a good journey that which cannot so much as move a step, ¹⁹And for gaining and getting and good success of his hands He asketh ability of that which with its hands is most unable.

¹Again, one preparing to sail, and about to journey over raging waves, Calleth upon a piece of wood more rotten than the vessel that carrieth him; ²For that vessel the hunger for gains devised, And an artificer, even wisdom, built it; ³And thy providence, O Father, guideth it along, Because even in the sea thou gavest a way, And in the waves a sure path, ⁴Shewing that thou canst save out of every danger, That so even without art a man may put to sea; ⁵And it is thy will that the works of thy wisdom should not be idle; Therefore also do men intrust their lives to a little piece of wood, And passing through the surge on a raft are brought safe to land. ⁶For in the old time also, when proud giants were perishing, The hope of the world, taking refuge on a raft, Left to the race of men a seed of generations to come, Thy hand guiding the helm. ⁷For blessed hath been wood through which cometh righteousness: ⁸But the idol made with hands is accursed, itself and he that made it; Because his was the working, and the corruptible thing was named a god: ⁹ For both the ungodly doer and his ungodliness are alike hateful to God; ¹⁰For verily the deed shall be punished together with him that committed it. ¹¹ Therefore also among the idols of the nations shall there be a visitation, Because, though formed of things which God created, they were made an abomination, And stumbling blocks to the souls of men, And a snare to the feet of the foolish. ¹²For the devising of idols was the beginning of fornication, And the invention of them the corruption of life: ¹³For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever; ¹⁴For by the vaingloriousness of men they entered into the world, And therefore was a speedy end devised for them. ¹⁵For a father worn with untimely grief, Making an image of the child quickly taken away, Now honoured him as a god which was then a dead man, And delivered to those that were under him mysteries and solemn rites. ¹⁶Afterward the ungodly custom, in process of time grown strong, was kept as a law, And by the commandments of princes the graven images received worship. ¹⁷And when men could not honour them in presence because they dwelt far off, Imagining the likeness from afar, They made a visible image of the king whom they honoured, That by their zeal they might flatter the absent as if present. ¹⁸But unto a yet higher pitch was worship raised even by them that knew him not, Urged forward by the ambition of the artificer: ¹⁹For he, wishing peradventure to please one in authority, Used his art to force the likeness toward a greater beauty; ²⁰ And the multitude, allured by reason of the grace of his handywork, Now accounted as an object of devotion him that a little before was honoured as a man. ²¹And this became a hidden danger unto life, Because men, in bondage either to calamity or to tyranny, Invested stones and stocks with the incommunicable Name. ²²Afterward it was not enough for them to go astray as touching the knowledge of God; But also, while they live in sore conflict through ignorance of him, That multitude of evils they call peace. ²³For either slaughtering children in solemn rites, or celebrating secret mysteries, Or holding frantic revels of strange ordinances, ²⁴No longer do they guard either life or purity of marriage, But one brings upon another either death by treachery, or anguish by adulterate offspring. ²⁵ And all things confusedly are filled with blood and murder, theft and deceit, Corruption, faithlessness, tumult, perjury, ²⁶turmoil, Ingratitude for benefits received, Defiling of souls, confusion of sex, Disorder in marriage, adultery and wantonness. ²⁷For the worship of those nameless idols Is a beginning and cause and end of every evil. ²⁸For their worshippers either make merry unto madness, or prophesy lies, Or live unrighteously, or lightly forswear themselves. ²⁹For putting their trust in lifeless idols, When they have sworn a wicked oath, they expect not to suffer harm. ³⁰But for both sins shall the just doom pursue them, Because they had evil thoughts of God by giving heed to idols, And swore unrighteously in deceit through contempt for holiness. ³¹For it is not the power of them by whom men swear, But it is that Justice which hath regard to them that sin, That visiteth always the transgression of the unrighteous.

¹ But thou, our God, art gracious and true, Longsuffering, and in mercy ordering all things. ²For even if we sin, we are thine, knowing thy dominion; But we shall not sin, knowing that we have been accounted thine: ³For to be acquainted with thee is perfect righteousness, And to know thy dominion is the root of immortality. ⁴ For neither were we led astray by any evil device of men's art, Nor yet by painters' fruitless labour, A form stained with varied colours; ⁵ The sight whereof leadeth fools into lust: Their desire is for the breathless form of a dead image. ⁶Lovers of evil things, and worthy of such hopes as these, Are both they that do, and they that desire, and they

that worship. ⁷ For a potter, kneading soft earth, Laboriously mouldeth each several vessel for our service: Nay, out of the same clay doth he fashion Both the vessels that minister to clean uses, and those of a contrary sort, All in like manner; But what shall be the use of each vessel of either sort, The craftsman himself is the judge. ⁸ And also, labouring to an evil end, he mouldeth a vain god out of the same clay, He who, having but a little before been made of earth, After a short space goeth his way to the earth out of which he was taken, When he is required to render back the soul which was lent him. ⁹ Howbeit he hath anxious care, Not because his powers must fail, Nor because his span of life is short; But he matcheth himself against goldsmiths and silversmiths, And he imitateth moulders in brass, And esteemeth it glory that he mouldeth counterfeits. ¹⁰ His heart is ashes, And his hope of less value than earth, And his life of less honour than clay: ¹¹ Because he was ignorant of him that moulded him, And of him that inspired into him an active soul, And breathed into him a vital spirit. ¹² But he accounted our very life to be a plaything, And our lifetime a gainful fair; For, saith he, one must get gain whence one can, though it be by evil. ¹³ For this man beyond all others knoweth that he sinneth, Out of earthy matter making brittle vessels and graven images. ¹⁴ But most foolish were they all, and of feebleness of soul than a babe, The enemies of thy people, who oppressed them; ¹⁵ Because they even accounted all the idols of the nations to be gods; Which have neither the use of eyes for seeing, Nor nostrils for drawing breath, Nor ears to hear, Nor fingers for handling, And their feet are helpless for walking. ¹⁶ For a man made them, And one whose own spirit is borrowed moulded them; For no one hath power, being a man, to mould a god like unto himself, ¹⁷ But, being mortal, he maketh a dead thing by the work of lawless hands; For he is better than the objects of his worship, Forasmuch as he indeed had life, but they never. ¹⁸ YEA, and the creatures that are most hateful do they worship, For, being compared as to want of sense, these are worse than all others; ¹⁹Neither, as seen beside other creatures, are they beautiful, so that one should desire them, But they have escaped both the praise of God and his blessing.

¹For this cause were these men worthily punished through creatures like those which they worship, And tormented through a multitude of vermin. ²Instead of which punishment, thou, bestowing benefits on thy people, Preparedst quails for food, Food of rare taste, to satisfy the desire of their appetite; ³To the end that thine enemies, desiring food, Might for the hideousness of the creatures sent among them Loathe even the necessary appetite; But these, thy people, having for a short space suffered want, Might even partake of food of rare taste. ⁴For it was needful that upon those should come inexorable want in their tyrannous dealing, But that to these it should only be shewed

how their enemies were tormented. ⁵For even when terrible raging of wild beasts came upon thy people, And they were perishing by the bites of crooked serpents, Thy wrath continued not to the uttermost; ⁶But for admonition were they troubled for a short space, Having a token of salvation, To put them in remembrance of the commandment of thy law: ⁷For he that turned toward it was not saved because of that which was beheld, But because of thee, the Saviour of all. ⁸Yea, and in this didst thou persuade our enemies, That thou art he that delivereth out of every evil. ⁹For them verily the bites of locusts and flies did slay, And there was not found a healing for their life, Because they were worthy to be punished by such as these; ¹⁰But thy sons not the very teeth of venomous dragons overcame, For thy mercy passed by where they were, and healed them. ¹¹For they were bitten, to put them in remembrance of thine oracles; And were quickly saved, lest, falling into deep forgetfulness,

They should become unable to be roused by thy beneficence: ¹²For of a truth it was neither herb nor mollifying plaister that cured them, But thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things; ¹³ For thou hast authority over life and death, And thou leadest down to the gates of Hades, and leadest up again. ¹⁴But though a man may slay by his wickedness, Yet the spirit that is gone forth he turneth not again, Neither giveth release to the soul that Hades hath received. ¹⁵But thy hand it is not possible to escape; ¹⁶For ungodly men, refusing to know thee, were scourged in the strength of thine arm, Pursued with strange rains and hails and showers inexorable, And utterly consumed with fire; ¹⁷For, what was most marvellous of all, In the water which quencheth all things the fire wrought yet more mightily; For the world fighteth for the righteous. ¹⁸For at one time the flame lost its fierceness, That it might not burn up the creatures sent against the ungodly, But that these themselves as they looked might see that they were chased through the judgement of God: ¹⁹ And at another time even in the midst of water it burneth above the power of fire, That it may destroy the fruits of an unrighteous land. ²⁰Instead whereof thou gavest thy people angels' food to eat, And bread ready for their use didst thou provide for them from heaven without their toil, Bread having the virtue of every pleasant savour, And agreeing to every taste; ²¹For thy nature manifested thy sweetness toward thy children; While that bread, ministering to the desire of the eater, Tempered itself according to every man's choice. ²² But snow and ice endured fire, and melted not, That men might know that fire was destroying the fruits of the enemies, Burning in the hail and flashing in the rains; ²³And that this element again, in order that righteous men may be nourished, Hath even forgotten its own power. ²⁴ For the creation, ministering to thee its maker, Straineth its force against the unrighteous, for punishment, And slackeneth it in behalf of them that trust in thee, for beneficence. ²⁵Therefore at that time also, converting itself into all forms, It ministered to thine all-nourishing bounty, According to the desire of them that made supplication; ²⁶That thy sons, whom thou lovedst, O Lord, might learn 'That it is not the growth of the earth's fruits that nourisheth a man, But that thy word preserveth them that trust thee. ²⁷For that which was not marred by fire, When it was simply warmed by a faint sunbeam melted away; ²⁸That it might be known that we must rise before the sun to give thee thanks, And must plead with thee at the dawning of the light: ²⁹For the hope of the unthankful shall melt as the winter's hoar frost, And shall flow away as water that hath no use.

¹For great are thy judgements, and hard to interpret; 'Therefore souls undisciplined went astray. ²For when lawless men had supposed that they held a holy nation in their power, 'They themselves, prisoners of darkness, and bound in the fetters of a long night, Close kept beneath their roofs, Lay exiled from the eternal providence. ³For while they thought that they were unseen in their secret sins, 'They were sundered one from another by a dark curtain of forgetfulness, Stricken with terrible awe, and sore troubled by spectral forms. ⁴For neither did the dark recesses that held them guard them from fears, But sounds rushing down rang around them, And phantoms appeared, cheerless with unsmiling faces. ⁵And no force of fire prevailed to give them light, Neither were the brightest flames of the stars strong enough to illumine that gloomy night: ⁶ But only there appeared to them the glimmering of a fire self-kindled, full of fear; And in terror they deemed the things which they saw To be worse than that sight, on which they could not gaze. ⁷ And they lay helpless, made the sport of magic art, And a shameful rebuke of their vaunts of understanding: ⁸For they that promised to drive away terrors and troublings from a sick soul,

These were themselves sick with a ludicrous fearfulness: ⁹For even if no troublous thing affrighted them, Yet, scared with the creepings of vermin and hissings of serpents, ¹⁰they perished for very trembling, Refusing even to look on the air, which could on no side be escaped. ¹¹ For wickedness, condemned by a witness within, is a coward thing, And, being pressed hard by conscience, always forecasteth the worst lot: ¹²For fear is nothing else but a surrender of the succours which reason offereth; ¹³And from within the heart the expectation of them being less Maketh of greater account the ignorance of the cause that bringeth the torment. ¹⁴But they, all through the night which was powerless indeed, And which came upon them out of the recesses of powerless Hades, All sleeping the same sleep, ¹⁵Now were haunted by monstrous apparitions, And now were paralysed by their soul's surrendering; For fear sudden and unlooked for came upon them. ¹⁶So then every man, whosoever it might be, sinking down in his place, Was kept in ward shut up in that prison which was barred not with iron: ¹⁷For whether he were a husbandman, or a shepherd, Or a labourer whose toils were in the wilderness, He was overtaken, and endured that inevitable necessity, For with one chain of darkness were they all bound. ¹⁸ Whether there were a whistling wind, Or a melodious noise of birds among the spreading branches, Or a measured fall of water running violently, ¹⁹Or a harsh crashing of rocks hurled down, Or the swift course of animals bounding along unseen, Or the voice of wild beasts harshly roaring, Or an echo rebounding from the hollows of the mountains, All these things paralysed them with terror. ²⁰ For the whole world beside was enlightened with clear light, And was occupied with unhindered works; ²¹ While over them alone was spread a heavy night, An image of the darkness that should afterward receive them; But yet heavier than darkness were they unto themselves.

¹But for thy holy ones there was great light; And the Egyptians, hearing their voice but seeing not their form, Counted it a happy thing that they too had suffered, ² Yet for that they do not hurt them now, though wronged by them before, they are thankful; And because they had been at variance with them, they made supplication to them. ³Whereas thou didst provide for thy people a burning pillar of fire, To be a guide for their unknown journey, And withal a kindly sun for their proud exile. ⁴For well did the Egyptians deserve to be deprived of light and imprisoned by darkness, They who had kept in close ward thy sons, Through whom the incorruptible light of the law was to be given to the race of men. ⁵After they had taken counsel to slay the babes of the holy ones, And when a single child had been cast forth and saved to convict them of their sin, Thou tookest away from them their multitude of children, And destroyedst all their host together in a mighty flood. ⁶ Of that night

were our fathers made aware beforehand, That, having sure knowledge, they might be cheered by the oaths which they had trusted: ⁷ So by thy people was expected salvation of the righteous and destruction of the enemies; ⁸For as thou didst take vengeance on the adversaries, By the same means, calling us unto thyself, thou didst glorify us. ⁹ For holy children of good men offered sacrifice in secret, And with one consent they took upon themselves the covenant of the divine law, That they would partake alike in the same good things and the same perils; The fathers already leading the sacred songs of praise. ¹⁰But there sounded back in discord the cry of the enemies, And a piteous voice of lamentation for children was borne abroad. ¹¹ And servant along with master punished with a like just doom, And commoner suffering the same as king, ¹²Yea, all the people together, under one form of death, Had with them corpses without number; For the living were not sufficient even to bury them, Since at a single stroke their nobler offspring was consumed. ¹³For while they were disbelieving all things by reason of the enchantments, Upon the destruction of the firstborn they confessed the people to be God's son. ¹⁴For while peaceful silence enwrapped all things, And night in her own swiftness was in mid course, ¹⁵ Thine all-powerful word leaped from heaven out of the royal throne, A stern warrior, into the midst of the doomed land, ¹⁶Bearing as a sharp sword thine unfeigned commandment; And standing it filled all things with death; And while it touched the heaven it trode upon the earth. ¹⁷Then forthwith apparitions in dreams terribly troubled them, And fears came upon them unlooked for: ¹⁸And each, one thrown here half dead, another there, Made manifest wherefore he was dying: ¹⁹For the dreams, perturbing them, did foreshew this, That they might not perish without knowing why they were afflicted. ²⁰But it befell the righteous also to make trial of death, And a multitude were stricken in the wilderness:

Howbeit the wrath endured not for long. ²¹ For a blameless man hasted to be their champion: Bringing the weapon of his own ministry, Even prayer and the propitiation of incense, He withstood the indignation, and set an end to the calamity, Shewing that he was thy servant. ²²And he overcame the anger, Not by strength of body, not by efficacy of weapons; But by word did he subdue the minister of punishment, By bringing to remembrance oaths and covenants made with the fathers. ²³For when the dead were already fallen in heaps one upon another, Standing between he stopped the advancing wrath, And cut off the way to the living. ²⁴For upon his long highpriestly robe was the whole world, And the glories of the fathers were upon the graving of the four rows of precious stones, And thy majesty was upon the diadem of his head. ²⁵To these the destroyer gave place, and these the people feared; For it was enough only to make trial of the wrath.

¹But upon the ungodly there came unto the end indignation without mercy; For their future also God foreknew, ²How that, having changed their minds to let thy people go, And having speeded them eagerly on their way, They would repent themselves and pursue them. ³For while they were yet in the midst of their mourning, And making lamentation at the graves of the dead, They drew upon themselves another counsel of folly, And pursued as fugitives those whom with intreaties they had cast out. ⁴For the doom which they deserved was drawing them unto this end, And it made them forget the things that had befallen them, That they might fill up the punishment which was yet wanting to their torments, ⁵And that thy people might journey on by a marvellous road, But they themselves might find a strange death. ⁶ For the whole creation, each part in its several kind, was fashioned again anew, Ministering to thy several commandments, That thy servants might be guarded free from hurt. ⁷ Then was beheld the cloud that shadowed the camp, And dry land rising up out of what before was water, Out of the Red sea an unhindered highway, And a grassy plain out of the violent surge; ⁸ By which they passed over with all their hosts, These that were covered with thy hand, Having beheld strange marvels. ⁹For like horses they roamed at large, And they skipped about like lambs, Praising thee, O Lord, who wast their deliverer. ¹⁰For they still remembered the things that came to pass in the time of their sojourning, How that instead of bearing cattle the land brought forth lice, And instead of fish the river cast up a multitude of frogs. ¹¹ But afterwards they saw also a new race of birds, When, led on by desire, they asked for luxurious dainties; ¹²For, to solace them, there came up for them quails from the sea. ¹³And upon the sinners came the punishments Not without the tokens that were given beforehand by the force of the thunders; For justly did they suffer through their own wickednesses, For grievous indeed was the hatred which they practised toward guests. ¹⁴ For whereas the men of Sodom received not the strangers when they came among them; The Egyptians made slaves of guests who were their benefactors. ¹⁵ And not only so, but God shall visit the men of Sodom after another sort, Since they received as enemies them that were aliens; ¹⁶ Whereas these first welcomed with feastings, And then afflicted with dreadful toils, Them that had already shared with them in the same rights. ¹⁷ And moreover they were stricken with loss of sight (Even as were those others at the righteous man's doors), When, being compassed about with yawning darkness, They sought every one the passage through his own door. ¹⁸ For as the notes of a psaltery vary the character of the rhythm, Even so did the elements, changing their order one with another, Continuing always the same, each in its several sound; As may clearly be divined from the sight of the things that are come to pass. ¹⁹ For creatures of the dry land were turned into creatures of the waters, And creatures that swim trode now upon the earth: ²⁰ Fire kept the mastery of its own power in the midst of water, And water forgot its quenching nature: ²¹ Contrariwise, flames wasted not the flesh of perishable creatures that walked among them; Neither melted they the ice-like grains of ambrosial food, that were of nature apt to melt. ²² For in all things, O Lord, thou didst magnify thy people, And thou didst glorify them and not lightly regard them; Standing by their side in every time and place.

ECCLESIASTICUS

¹ All wisdom cometh from the Lord, And is with him for ever. ² The sand of the seas, and the drops of rain, And the days of eternity, who shall number? ³ The height of the heaven, and the breadth of the earth, And the deep, and wisdom, who shall search them out? ⁴ Wisdom hath been created before all things, And the understanding of prudence from everlasting. ⁶ To whom hath the root of wisdom been revealed? And who hath known her shrewd counsels? ⁸ There is one wise, greatly to be feared, The Lord sitting upon his throne: ⁹ He created her, And saw, and numbered her, And poured her out upon all his works. ¹⁰ She is with all flesh according to his gift; And he gave her freely to them that love him. ¹¹ The fear of the Lord is glory, and exultation, And gladness, and a crown of rejoicing. ¹² The fear of the Lord shall delight the heart, And shall give gladness, and joy, and length of days. ¹³ Whoso feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, And in the day of his death he shall be blessed. ¹⁴ To fear the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; And it was created together with the faithful in the womb. ¹⁵ With men she laid an eternal foundation; And with their seed shall she be had in trust.

¹⁶ To fear the Lord is the fulness of wisdom; And she satiateth men with her fruits. ¹⁷ She shall fill all her house with desirable things, And her garners with her produce. ¹⁸ The fear of the Lord is the crown of wisdom, Making peace and perfect health to flourish. ¹⁹ He both saw and numbered her; He rained down skill and knowledge of understanding, And exalted the honour of them that hold her fast. ²⁰ To fear the Lord is the root of wisdom; And her branches are length of days. ²² Unjust wrath can never be justified; For the sway of his wrath is his downfall. ²³ A man that is longsuffering will bear for a season, And afterward gladness shall spring up unto him; ²⁴ He will hide his words for a season, And the lips of many shall tell forth his understanding. ²⁵ A parable of knowledge is in the treasures of wisdom; But godliness is an abomination to a sinner. ²⁶ If thou desire wisdom, keep the commandments, And the Lord shall give her unto thee freely: ²⁷ For the fear of the Lord is wisdom and instruction; And in faith and meekness is his good pleasure. ²⁸Disobey not the fear of the Lord; And come not unto him with a double heart. ²⁹Be not a hypocrite in the mouths of men; And take good heed to thy lips. ³⁰Exalt not thyself, lest thou fall, And bring dishonour upon thy soul; And so the Lord shall reveal thy secrets, And shall cast thee down in the midst of the congregation; Because thou camest not unto the fear of the Lord, And thy heart was full of deceit.

¹My son, if thou comest to serve the Lord, Prepare thy soul for temptation. ²Set thy heart aright, and constantly endure, And make not haste in time of calamity. ³Cleave unto him, and depart not, That thou mayest be increased at thy latter end. ⁴Accept whatsoever is brought upon thee, And be longsuffering when thou passest into humiliation. ⁵For gold is tried in the fire, And acceptable men in the furnace of humiliation. ⁶Put thy trust in him, and he will help thee: Order thy ways aright, and set thy hope on him. ⁷YE that fear the Lord, wait for his mercy; And turn not aside, lest ye fall. ⁸Ye that fear the Lord, put your trust in him; And your reward shall not fail. ⁹Ye that fear the Lord, hope for good things, And for eternal gladness and mercy. ¹⁰Look at the generations of old, and see: Who did ever put his trust in the Lord, and was ashamed? Or who did abide in his fear, and was forsaken? Or who did call upon him, and he despised him? ¹¹For the Lord is full of compassion and mercy; And he forgiveth sins, and saveth in time of affliction. ¹²Woe unto fearful hearts, and to faint hands, And to the sinner that goeth two ways! ¹³Woe unto the faint heart! for it believeth not; Therefore shall it not be defended. ¹⁴Woe unto you that have lost your patience! And what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you? ¹⁵They that fear the Lord will not disobey his words; And they that love him will keep his ways. ¹⁶They that fear the Lord will seek his good pleasure; And they that love him shall be filled with the law. ¹⁷They that fear the Lord will prepare their hearts, And will humble their souls in his sight, ¹⁸ saying, We will fall into the hands of the Lord, And not into the hands of men: For as his majesty is, So also is his mercy.

¹Hear me your father, O my children, And do thereafter, that ye may be saved. ²For the Lord hath given the father glory as touching the children, And hath confirmed the judgement of the mother as touching the sons. ³He that honoureth his father shall make atonement for sins: ⁴And he that giveth glory to his mother is as one that layeth up treasure. ⁵Whoso honoureth his father shall have joy of his children; And in the day of his prayer he shall be heard. ⁶He that giveth glory to his father shall have length of days; And he that hearkeneth unto the Lord shall bring rest unto his mother, ⁷ And will do service under his parents, as unto masters. ⁸ In deed and word honour thy father, That a blessing may come upon thee from him. ⁹

For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of children; But the curse of the mother rooteth out the foundations. ¹⁰GLORIFY not thyself in the dishonour of thy father; For thy father's dishonour is no glory unto thee. ¹¹ For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father; And a mother in dishonour is a reproach to her children. ¹²My son, help thy father in his old age; And grieve him not as long as he liveth. ¹³And if he fail in understanding, have patience with him; And dishonour him not while thou art in thy full strength. ¹⁴For the relieving of thy father shall not be forgotten: And instead of sins it shall be added to build thee up. ¹⁵In the day of thine affliction it shall remember thee; As fair weather upon ice, So shall thy sins also melt away. ¹⁶He that forsaketh his father is as a blasphemer; And he that provoketh his mother is cursed of the Lord. ¹⁷My son, go on with thy business in meekness; So shalt thou be beloved of an acceptable man. ¹⁸ The greater thou art, humble thyself the more, And thou shalt find favour before the Lord. ²⁰For great is the potency of the Lord, And he is glorified of them that are lowly. ²¹ Seek not things that are too hard for thee, And search not out things that are above thy strength. ²² The things that have been commanded thee, think thereupon; For thou hast no need of the things that are secret. ²³Be not over busy in thy superfluous works: For more things are shewed unto thee than men can understand. ²⁴ For the conceit of many hath led them astray; And evil surmising hath caused their judgement to slip. ²⁶ A stubborn heart shall fare ill at the last; And he that loveth danger shall perish therein. ²⁷ A stubborn heart shall be laden with troubles; And the sinner shall heap sin upon sin. ²⁸ The calamity of the proud is no healing; For a plant of wickedness hath taken root in him. ²⁹ The heart of the prudent will understand a parable; And the ear of a listener is the desire of a wise man. ³⁰Water will quench a flaming fire; And almsgiving will make atonement for sins. ³¹He that requiteth good turns is mindful of that which cometh afterward; And in the time of his falling he shall find a support.

¹My son, deprive not the poor of his living, And make not the needy eyes to wait long. ²Make not a hungry soul sorrowful; Neither provoke a man in his distress. ³To a heart that is provoked add not more trouble; And defer not to give to him that is in need. ⁴Reject not a suppliant in his affliction; And turn not away thy face from a poor man. ⁵Turn not away thine eye from one that asketh of thee, And give none occasion to a man to curse thee: ⁶For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soul, He that made him will hear his supplication. ⁷GET thyself the love of the congregation; And to a great man bow thy head. ⁸Incline thine ear to a poor man, And answer him with peaceable words in meekness. ⁹ Deliver him that is wronged from the hand of him that wrongeth him; And be not fainthearted in giving judgement. ¹⁰ Be as a father unto the fatherless, And instead of a husband unto their mother: So shalt thou be as a son of the Most High, And he shall love thee more than thy mother doth. ¹¹ Wisdom exalteth her sons, And taketh hold of them that seek her. ¹² He that loveth her loveth life; And they that seek to her early shall be filled with gladness. ¹³ He that holdeth her fast shall inherit glory; And where he entereth, the Lord will bless. ¹⁴ They that do her service shall minister to the Holy One; And them that love her the Lord doth love. ¹⁵ He that giveth ear unto her shall judge the nations; And he that giveth heed unto her shall dwell securely. ¹⁶ If he trust her, he shall inherit her; And his generations shall have her in possession. ¹⁷ For at the first she will walk with him in crooked ways, And will bring fear and dread upon him, And torment him with her discipline, Until she may trust his soul, and try him by her judgements: ¹⁸ Then will she return again the straight way unto him, And will gladden him, and reveal to him her secrets. ¹⁹ If he go astray, she will forsake him, And give him over to his fall. ²⁰ OBSERVE the opportunity, and beware of evil; And be not ashamed concerning thy soul. ²¹ For there is a shame that bringeth sin; And there is a shame that is glory and grace. ²² Accept not the person of any against thy soul; And reverence no man unto thy falling. ²³ Refrain not speech, when it tendeth to safety; And hide not thy wisdom for the sake of fair-seeming. ²⁴ For by speech wisdom shall be known; And instruction by the word of the tongue. ²⁵ Speak not against the truth; And be abashed for thine ignorance. ²⁶ Be not ashamed to make confession of thy sins; And force not the current of the river. ²⁷ Lay not thyself down for a fool to tread upon; And accept not the person of one that is mighty. ²⁸ Strive for the truth unto death, and the Lord God shall fight for thee. ²⁹ Be not hasty in thy tongue, And in thy deeds slack and remiss. ³⁰ Be not as a lion in thy house, Nor fanciful among thy servants. ³¹ Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and closed when thou shouldest repay.

¹ Set not thy heart upon thy goods; And say not, They are sufficient for me. ² Follow not thine own mind and thy strength, To walk in the desires of thy heart; ³And say not, Who shall have dominion over me? For the Lord will surely take vengeance on thee. ⁴ Say not, I sinned, and what happened unto me? For the Lord is longsuffering. ⁵Concerning atonement, be not without fear, To add sin upon sins: ⁶And say not, His compassion is great; He will be pacified for the multitude of my sins: For mercy and wrath are with him, And his indignation will rest upon sinners. ⁷ Make no tarrying to turn to the Lord; And put not off from day to day: For suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord come forth; And thou shalt perish in the time of vengeance. ⁸ SET not thine heart upon unrighteous gains: For thou shalt profit nothing in the day of calamity. ⁹Winnow not with every wind, And walk not in every path: Thus doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue. ¹⁰Be stedfast in thy understanding; And let thy word be one. ¹¹ Be swift to hear; And with patience make thine answer. ¹² If thou hast understanding, answer thy neighbour; And if not, let thy hand be upon thy mouth. ¹³ Glory and dishonour is in talk: And the tongue of a man is his fall. ¹⁴Be not called a whisperer; And lie not in wait with thy tongue: For upon the thief there is shame, And an evil condemnation upon him that hath a double tongue. ¹⁵In a great matter and in a small, be not ignorant;

¹And instead of a friend become not an enemy; For an evil name shall inherit shame and reproach: Even so shall the sinner that hath a double tongue. ² Exalt not thyself in the counsel of thy soul; That thy soul be not torn in pieces as a bull: ³Thou shalt eat up thy leaves, and destroy thy fruits, And leave thyself as a dry tree. ⁴A wicked soul shall destroy him that hath gotten it, And shall make him a laughingstock to his enemies. ⁵ Sweet words will multiply a man's friends; And a fair-speaking tongue will multiply courtesies. ⁶Let those that are at peace with thee be many; But thy counsellors one of a thousand. ⁷ If thou wouldest get thee a friend, get him by proving, And be not in haste to trust him. ⁸For there is a friend that is so for his own occasion; And he will not continue in the day of thy affliction. ⁹And there is a friend that turneth to enmity; And he will discover strife to thy reproach. ¹⁰And there is a friend that is a companion at the table; And he will not continue in the day of thy affliction. ¹¹And in thy prosperity he will be as thyself, And will be bold over thy servants: ¹²If thou shalt be brought low, he will be against thee, And will hide himself from thy face. ¹³Separate thyself from thine enemies; And beware of thy friends. ¹⁴ A FAITHFUL friend is a strong defence; And he that hath found him hath found a treasure. ¹⁵There is nothing that can be taken in exchange for a faithful friend; And his excellency is beyond price. ¹⁶A faithful friend is a medicine of life; And they that fear the Lord shall find him. ¹⁷He that feareth the Lord directeth his friendship aright; For as he is, so is his neighbour also. ¹⁸My son, gather instruction from thy youth up: And even unto hoar hairs thou shalt find wisdom. ¹⁹Come unto her as one that ploweth and soweth, And wait for her good fruits; For thy toil shall be little in the tillage of her, And thou shalt eat of her fruits right soon. ²⁰ How exceeding harsh is she to the unlearned! And he that is without understanding will not abide in her. ²¹As a mighty stone of trial shall she rest upon him; And he will not delay to cast her from him. ²²For wisdom is according to her name; and she is not manifest unto many. ²³ GIVE ear, my son, and accept my judgement, And refuse not my counsel, ²⁴And bring thy feet into her fetters, And thy neck into her chain. ²⁵ Put thy shoulder under her, and bear her, And be not grieved with her bonds. ²⁶Come unto her with all thy soul, And keep her ways with thy whole power. ²⁷ Search, and seek, and she shall be made known unto thee; And when thou hast got hold of her, let her not go. ²⁸ For at the last thou shalt find her rest; And she shall be turned for thee into gladness. ²⁹ And her fetters shall be to thee for a covering of strength, And her chains for a robe of glory. ³⁰ For there is a golden ornament upon her, And her bands are a riband of blue. ³¹ Thou shalt put her on as a robe of glory, And shalt array thee with her as a crown of rejoicing. ³² My son, if thou wilt, thou shalt be instructed; And if thou wilt yield thy soul, thou shalt be prudent. ³³ If thou love to hear, thou shalt receive; And if thou incline thine ear, thou shalt be wise. ³⁴ Stand thou in the multitude of the elders; And whoso is wise, cleave thou unto him. ³⁵ Be willing to listen to every godly discourse; And let not the proverbs of understanding escape thee. ³⁶ If thou seest a man of understanding, get thee betimes unto him, And let thy foot wear out the steps of his doors. ³⁷ Let thy mind dwell upon the ordinances of the Lord, And meditate continually in his commandments: He shall establish thine heart, And thy desire of wisdom shall be given unto thee.

¹ Do no evil, so shall no evil overtake thee. ² Depart from wrong, and it shall turn aside from thee. ³ My son, sow not upon the furrows of unrighteousness, And thou shalt not reap them sevenfold. ⁴ Seek not of the Lord preeminence, Neither of the king the seat of honour. ⁵ Justify not thyself in the presence of the Lord; And display not thy wisdom before the king. ⁶ Seek not to be a judge, Lest thou be not able to take away iniquities; Lest haply thou fear the person of a mighty man, And lay a stumblingblock in the way of thy uprightness. ⁷ Sin not against the multitude of the city, And cast not thyself down in the crowd. ⁸ Bind not up sin twice; For in one sin thou shalt not be unpunished. ⁹ Say not, He will look upon the multitude of my gifts, And when I offer to the Most High God, he will accept it. ¹⁰ Be not fainthearted in thy prayer; And neglect not to give alms. ¹¹ LAUGH not a man to scorn when he is in the bitterness of his soul; For there is one who humbleth and exalteth. ¹² Devise not a lie against thy brother;

 Neither do the like to a friend.
¹³ Love not to make any manner of lie; For the custom thereof is not for good. ¹⁴ Prate not in the multitude of elders; And repeat not thy words in thy prayer.
¹⁵ HATE not laborious work; Neither husbandry, which the Most High hath ordained.
¹⁶ Number not thyself among the multitude of sinners: Remember that wrath will not tarry. ¹⁷ Humble thy soul greatly; For the punishment of the ungodly man is fire and the worm. ¹⁸ CHANGE not a friend for a thing indifferent; Neither a true brother for the gold of Ophir. ¹⁹ Forgo not a wise and good wife; For her grace is above gold. ²⁰ Entreat not evil a servant that worketh truly, Nor a hireling that giveth thee his life. ²¹ Let thy soul love a wise servant; Defraud him not of liberty. ²² HAST thou cattle? have an eye to them; And if they are profitable to thee, let them stay by thee. ²³ Hast thou children? correct them, And bow down their neck from their youth. ²⁴ Hast thou daughters? give heed to their body, And make not thy face cheerful toward them. ²⁵ Give thy daughter in marriage, and thou shalt have accomplished a great matter: And give her to a man of understanding. ²⁶ HAST thou a wife after thy mind? cast her not out: But trust not thyself to one that is hateful. ²⁷ Give glory to thy father with thy whole heart; And forget not the pangs of thy mother. ²⁸ Remember that of them thou wast born: And what wilt thou recompense them for the things that they have done for thee? ²⁹ FEAR the Lord with all thy soul; And reverence his priests. ³⁰ With all thy strength love him that made thee; And forsake not his ministers. ³¹ Fear the Lord, and glorify the priest; And give him his portion, even as it is commanded thee; The firstfruits, and the trespass offering, and the gift of the shoulders, And the sacrifice of sanctification, and the firstfruits of holy things. ³² Also to the poor man stretch out thy hand, That thy blessing may be perfected. ³³ A gift hath grace in the sight of every man living; And for a dead man keep not back grace. ³⁴ Be not wanting to them that weep; And mourn with them that mourn. ³⁵ Be not slow to visit a sick man; For by such things thou shalt gain love. ³⁶ In all thy matters remember thy last end, And thou shalt never do amiss.

¹ Contend not with a mighty man, Lest haply thou fall into his hands. ² Strive not with a rich man, lest haply he overweigh thee: For gold hath destroyed many, And turned aside the hearts of kings. ³ Contend not with a man that is full of tongue, And heap not wood upon his fire. ⁴ Jest not with a rude man, Lest thine ancestors be dishonoured. ⁵ Reproach not a man when he turneth from sin: Remember that we are all worthy of punishment. ⁶ Dishonour not a man in his old age; For some of us also are waxing old. ⁷ Rejoice not over one that is dead: Remember that we die all. ⁸ Neglect not the discourse of the wise, And be conversant with their proverbs; For of them thou shalt learn instruction, And how to minister to great men. ⁹ Miss not the discourse of the aged; For they also learned of their fathers: Because from them thou shalt learn understanding, And to give answer in time of need. ¹⁰ Kindle not the coals of a sinner, Lest thou be burned with the flame of his fire. ¹¹ Rise not up from the presence of an insolent man, Lest he lie in wait as an ambush for thy mouth. ¹² Lend not to a man that is mightier than thyself; And if thou lend, be as one that hath lost. ¹³ Be not surety above thy power: And if thou be surety, take thought as one that will have to pay. ¹⁴ GO not to law with a judge; For according to his honour will they give judgement for him. ¹⁵ Go not in the way with a rash man, Lest he be aggrieved with thee; For he will do

according to his own will, And thou shalt perish with his folly. ¹⁶ Fight not with a wrathful man, And travel not with him through the desert: For blood is as nothing in his sight; And where there is no help, he will overthrow thee. ¹⁷ Take not counsel with a fool; For he will not be able to conceal the matter. ¹⁸ Do no secret thing before a stranger; For thou knowest not what he will bring forth. ¹⁹ Open not thine heart to every man; And let him not return thee a favour.

¹ Be not jealous over the wife of thy bosom, And teach her not an evil lesson against thyself. ² Give not thy soul unto a woman, That she should set her foot upon thy strength. ³ Go not to meet a woman that playeth the harlot, Lest haply thou fall into her snares. ⁴ Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, Lest haply thou be caught by her attempts. ⁵ Gaze not on a maid, lest haply thou be trapped in her penalties. ⁶ Give not thy soul unto harlots, That thou lose not thine inheritance. ⁷ Look not round about thee in the streets of the city, Neither wander thou in the solitary places thereof. ⁸ Turn away thine eye from a comely woman, And gaze not on another's beauty: By the beauty of a woman many have been led astray; And herewith love is kindled as a fire. ⁹ Sit not at all with a woman that hath a husband; And revel not with her at the wine; Lest haply thy soul turn aside unto her, And with thy spirit thou slide into destruction.

¹⁰ Forsake not an old friend; For the new is not comparable to him: As new wine, so is a new friend; If it became old, thou shalt drink it with gladness. ¹¹ ENVY not the glory of a sinner; For thou knowest not what shall be his overthrow. ¹² Delight not in the delights of the ungodly: Remember they shall not go unpunished unto the grave. ¹³ KEEP thee far from the man that hath power to kill, And thou shalt have no suspicion of the fear of death: And if thou come unto him, commit no fault, Lest he take away thy life: Know surely that thou goest about in the midst of snares, And walkest upon the battlements of a city. ¹⁴As well as thou canst, guess at thy neighbours; And take counsel with the wise. ¹⁵Let thy converse be with men of understanding; And let all thy discourse be in the law of the Most High. ¹⁶Let just men be the companions of thy board; And let thy glorying be in the fear of the Lord. ¹⁷For the hand of the artificers a work shall be commended: And he that ruleth the people shall be counted wise for his speech. ¹⁸A man full of tongue is dangerous in his city; And he that is headlong in his speech shall be hated.

¹A wise judge will instruct his people; And the government of a man of understanding shall be well ordered. ²As is the judge of his people, so are his ministers; And as is the ruler of the city, such are all they that dwell therein. ³An uninstructed king will destroy his people; And a city will be established through the understanding of the powerful. ⁴

In the hand of the Lord is the authority of the earth; And in due time he will raise up over it one that is profitable. ⁵In the hand of the Lord is the prosperity of a man; And upon the person of the scribe shall he lay his honour. ⁶Be not wroth with thy neighbour for every wrong; And do nothing by works of violence. ⁷Pride is hateful before the Lord and before men; And in the judgement of both will unrighteousness err. ⁸Sovereignty is transferred from nation to nation, Because of iniquities, and deeds of violence, and greed of money. ⁹Why is earth and ashes proud? Because in his life he hath cast away his bowels. ¹⁰It is a long disease; the physician mocketh: And he is a king to-day, and to-morrow he shall die. ¹¹For when a man is dead, He shall inherit creeping things, and beasts, and worms. ¹²It is the beginning of pride when a man departeth from the Lord; And his heart is departed from him that made him. ¹³For the beginning of pride is sin; And he that keepeth it will pour forth abomination. For this cause the Lord brought upon them strange calamities, And overthrew them utterly. ¹⁴ The Lord cast down the thrones of rulers, And set the meek in their stead. ¹⁵ The Lord plucked up the roots of nations, And planted the lowly in their stead. ¹⁶ The Lord overthrew the lands of nations, And destroyed them unto the foundations of the earth. ¹⁷ He took some of them away, and destroyed them, And made their memorial to cease from the earth. ¹⁸ Pride hath not been created for men, Nor wrathful anger for the offspring of women. ¹⁹ WHAT manner of seed hath honour? the seed of man. What manner of seed hath honour? they that fear the Lord. What manner of seed hath no honour? the seed of man. What manner of seed hath no honour? they that transgress the commandments. ²⁰ In the midst of brethren he that ruleth them hath honour; And in the eyes of the Lord they that fear him. ²² The rich man, and the honourable, and the poor, Their glorying is the fear of the Lord. ²³ It is not right to dishonour a poor man that hath understanding; And it is not fitting to glorify a man that is a sinner. ²⁴ The great man, and the judge, and the mighty man, shall be glorified; And there is not one of them greater than he that feareth the Lord. ²⁵ Free men shall minister unto a wise servant; And a man that hath knowledge will not murmur thereat. ²⁶ Be not over wise in doing thy work; And glorify not thyself in the time of thy distress. ²⁷ Better is he that laboureth, and aboundeth in all things, Than he that glorifieth himself, and lacketh bread. ²⁸ My son, glorify thy soul in meekness, And give it honour according to the worthiness thereof. ²⁹ Who will justify him that sinneth against his own soul? And who will glorify him that dishonoureth his own life? ³⁰ A POOR man is glorified for his knowledge; And a rich man is glorified for his riches. ³¹ But he that is glorified in poverty, how much more in riches? And he that is inglorious in riches, how much more in poverty?

¹The wisdom of the lowly shall lift up his head, And make him to sit in the midst of great men. ² Commend not a man for his beauty; And abhor not a man for his outward appearance. ³The bee is little among such as fly; And her fruit is the chief of sweetmeats. ⁴Glory not in the putting on of raiment, And exalt not thyself in the day of honour; For the works of the Lord are wonderful, And his works are hidden among men. ⁵Many kings have sat down upon the ground; And one that was never thought of hath worn a diadem. ⁶ Many mighty men have been greatly disgraced; And men of renown have been delivered into other men's hands. ⁷ Blame not before thou hast examined: Understand first, and then rebuke. ⁸ Answer not before thou hast heard; And interrupt not in the midst of speech. ⁹Strive not in a matter that concerneth thee not; And where sinners judge, sit not thou with them. ¹⁰My son, be not busy about many matters: For if thou meddle much, thou shalt not be unpunished; And if thou pursue, thou shalt not overtake;

And thou shalt not escape by fleeing. ¹¹ There is one that toileth, and laboureth, and maketh haste, And is so much the more behind. ¹²There is one that is sluggish, and hath need of help, Lacking in strength, and that aboundeth in poverty; And the eyes of the Lord looked upon him for good, And he set him up from his low estate, ¹³And lifted up his head; And many marvelled at him. ¹⁴ Good things and evil, life and death, Poverty and riches, are from the Lord. ¹⁷The gift of the Lord remaineth with the godly, And his good pleasure shall prosper for ever. ¹⁸ There is that waxeth rich by his wariness and pinching, And this is the portion of his reward: ¹⁹When he saith, I have found rest, And now will I eat of my goods; Yet he knoweth not what time shall pass, And he shall leave them to others, and die. ²⁰Be stedfast in thy covenant, and be conversant therein, And wax old in thy work. ²¹ MARVEL not at the works of a sinner; But trust the Lord, and abide in thy labour: For it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord swiftly on the sudden to make a poor man rich. ²²The blessing of the Lord is in the reward of the godly; And in an hour that cometh swiftly he maketh his blessing to flourish. ²³ Say not, What use is there of me? And what from henceforth shall my good things be? ²⁴ Say not, I have sufficient, And from henceforth what harm shall happen unto me? ²⁵ In the day of good things there is a forgetfulness of evil things; And in the day of evil things a man will not remember things that are good. ²⁶For it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord To reward a man in the day of death according to his ways. ²⁷The affliction of an hour causeth forgetfulness of delight; And in the last end of a man is the revelation of his deeds. ²⁸Call no man blessed before his death; And a man shall be known in his children. ²⁹BRING not every man into thine house; For many are the plots of the deceitful man. ³⁰ As a decoy partridge in a cage, so is the heart of a proud man; And as one that is a spy, he looketh upon thy falling. ³¹For he lieth in wait to turn things that are good into evil; And in things that are praiseworthy he will lay blame. ³² From a spark of fire a heap of many coals is kindled; And a sinful man lieth in wait for blood. ³³ Take heed of an evil-doer, for he contriveth wicked things; Lest haply he bring upon thee blame for ever. ³⁴Receive a stranger into thine house, and he will distract thee with brawls, And estrange thee from thine own.

¹If thou do good, know to whom thou doest it; And thy good deeds shall have thanks. ² Do good to a godly man, and thou shalt find a recompense; And if not from him, yet from the Most High. ³There shall no good come to him that continueth to do evil, Nor to him that giveth no alms. ⁴Give to the godly man, And help not the sinner. ⁵Do good to one that is lowly, And give not to an ungodly man: Keep back his bread, and give it not to him, Lest he overmaster thee thereby: For thou shalt receive twice as much evil For all the good thou shalt have done unto him. ⁶ For the Most High also hateth sinners, And will repay vengeance unto the ungodly. ⁷ Give to the good man, And help not the sinner. ⁸ A man's friend will not be fully tried in prosperity; And his enemy will not be hidden in adversity. ⁹ In a man's prosperity his enemies are grieved; And in his adversity even his friend will be separated from him. ¹⁰ Never trust thine enemy: For like as the brass rusteth, so is his wickedness. ¹¹ Though he humble himself, and go crouching, Yet take good heed, and beware of him, And thou shalt be unto him as one that hath wiped a mirror, And thou shalt know that he hath not utterly rusted it. ¹² Set him not by thee, Lest he overthrow thee and stand in thy place; Let him not sit on thy right hand, Lest he seek to take thy seat, And at the last thou acknowledge my words, And be pricked with my sayings. ¹³ Who will pity a charmer that is bitten with a serpent, Or any that come nigh wild beasts? ¹⁴ Even so who will pity him that goeth to a sinner, And is mingled with him in his sins? ¹⁵ For a while he will abide with thee, And if thou give way, he will not hold out. ¹⁶ And the enemy will speak sweetly with his lips, And in his heart take counsel how to overthrow thee into a pit: The enemy will weep with his eyes, And if he find opportunity, he will not be satiated with blood. ¹⁷ If adversity meet thee, thou shalt find him there before thee; And as though he would help thee, he will trip up thy heel. ¹⁸ He will shake his head, and clap his hands, And whisper much, and change his countenance.

¹ He that toucheth pitch shall be defiled; And he that hath fellowship with a proud man shall become like unto him. ² Take not up a burden above thy strength; And have no fellowship with one that is mightier and richer than thyself. What fellowship shall the earthen pot have with the kettle? This shall smite, and that shall be dashed in pieces. ³ The rich man doeth a wrong, and he

threateneth withal: The poor is wronged, and he shall intreat withal. ⁴If thou be profitable, he will make merchandise of thee; And if thou be in want, he will forsake thee. ⁵If thou have substance, he will live with thee; And he will make thee bare, and will not be sorry. ⁶Hath he had need of thee? then he will deceive thee, And smile upon thee, and give thee hope: He will speak thee fair, and say, What needest thou? ⁷And he will shame thee by his meats, Until he have made thee bare twice or thrice, And at the last he will laugh thee to scorn: Afterward will he see thee, and will forsake thee, And shake his head at thee. ⁸Beware that thou be not deceived, and brought low in thy mirth. ⁹If a mighty man invite thee, be retiring, And so much the more will he invite thee. ¹⁰Press not upon him, lest thou be thrust back; And stand not far off, lest thou be forgotten. ¹¹Affect not to speak with him as an equal, And believe not his many words: For with much talk will he try thee, And in a smiling manner will search thee out. ¹²He that keepeth not to himself words spoken is unmerciful; And he will not spare to hurt and to bind. ¹³Keep them to thyself, and take earnest heed, For thou walkest in peril of thy falling. ¹⁵Every living creature loveth his like, And every man loveth his neighbour. ¹⁶All flesh consorteth according to kind, And a man will cleave to his like. ¹⁷What fellowship shall the wolf have with the lamb? So is the sinner unto the godly. ¹⁸What peace is there between the hyena and the dog? And what peace between the rich man and the poor? ¹⁹Wild asses are the prey of lions in the wilderness; So poor men are pasture for the rich. ²⁰Lowliness is an abomination to a proud man; So a poor man is an abomination to the rich. ²¹A RICH man when he is shaken is held up of his friends; But one of low degree being down is thrust away also by his friends. ²²When a rich man is fallen, there are many helpers; He speaketh things not to be spoken, and men justify him: A man of low degree falleth, and men rebuke him withal; He uttereth wisdom, and no place is allowed him. ²³ A rich man speaketh, and all keep silence; And what he saith they extol to the clouds: A poor man speaketh, and they say, Who is this? And if he stumble, they will help to overthrow him. ²⁴ Riches are good that have no sin; And poverty is evil in the mouth of the ungodly. ²⁵ The heart of a man changeth his countenance, Whether it be for good or for evil. ²⁶ A cheerful countenance is a token of a heart that is in prosperity; And the finding out of parables is a weariness of thinking.

¹ Blessed is the man that hath not slipped with his mouth, And is not pricked with sorrow for sins. ² Blessed is he whose soul doth not condemn him, And who is not fallen from his hope. ³ Riches are not comely for a niggard; And what should an envious man do with money? ⁴ He that gathereth by taking from his own soul gathereth for others; And others shall revel in his goods. ⁵ He that is evil to himself, to whom will he

be good? And he shall not rejoice in his possessions. ⁶ There is none more evil than he that envieth himself; And this is a recompense of his wickedness. ⁷ Even if he doeth good, he doeth it in forgetfulness; And at the last he sheweth forth his wickedness. ⁸ Evil is he that envieth with his eye, Turning away the face, and despising the souls of men. ⁹ A covetous man's eye is not satisfied with his portion; And wicked injustice drieth up his soul. ¹⁰ An evil eye is grudging of bread, And he is miserly at his table. ¹¹ My son, according as thou hast, do well unto thyself, And bring offerings unto the Lord worthily. ¹² Remember that death will not tarry, And that the covenant of the grave is not shewed unto thee. ¹³ Do well unto thy friend before thou die; And according to thy ability stretch out thy hand and give to him. ¹⁴ Defraud not thyself of a good day; And let not the portion of a good desire pass thee by. ¹⁵ Shalt thou not leave thy labours unto another? And thy toils to be divided by lot? ¹⁶ Give, and take, and beguile thy soul; For there is no seeking of luxury in the grave. ¹⁷ All flesh waxeth old as a garment; For the covenant from the beginning is, Thou shalt die the death. ¹⁸As of the leaves flourishing on a thick tree, Some it sheddeth, and some it maketh to grow; So also of the generations of flesh and blood, One cometh to an end, and another is born. ¹⁹Every work rotteth and falleth away, And the worker thereof shall depart with it. ²⁰ Blessed is the man that shall meditate in wisdom, And that shall discourse by his understanding. ²¹He that considereth her ways in his heart Shall also have knowledge in her secrets. ²²Go forth after her as one that tracketh, And lie in wait in her ways. ²³He that prieth in at her windows Shall also hearken at her doors. ²⁴He that lodgeth close to her house Shall also fasten a nail in her walls. ²⁵He shall pitch his tent nigh at hand to her, And shall lodge in a lodging where good things are. ²⁶He shall set his children under her shelter, And shall rest under her branches. ²⁷By her he shall be covered from heat, And shall lodge in her glory.

¹He that feareth the Lord will do this; And he that hath possession of the law shall obtain her. ²And as a mother shall she meet him, And receive him as a wife married in her virginity. ³With bread of understanding shall she feed him, And give him water of wisdom to drink. ⁴He shall be stayed upon her, and shall not be moved; And shall rely upon her, and shall not be confounded. ⁵ And she shall exalt him above his neighbours; And in the midst of the congregation shall she open his mouth. ⁶He shall inherit joy, and a crown of gladness, And an everlasting name. ⁷ Foolish men shall not obtain her; And sinners shall not see her. ⁸She is far from pride; And liars shall not remember her. ⁹ Praise is not comely in the mouth of a sinner; For it was not sent him from the Lord. ¹⁰For praise shall be spoken in wisdom; And the Lord will prosper it. ¹¹ Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I fell away;

For thou shalt not do the things that he hateth. ¹²Say not thou, It is he that caused me to err; For he hath no need of a sinful man. ¹³The Lord hateth every abomination; And they that fear him love it not. ¹⁴He himself made man from the beginning, And left him in the hand of his own counsel. ¹⁵If thou wilt, thou shalt keep the commandments; And to perform faithfulness is of thine own good pleasure. ¹⁶He hath set fire and water before thee: Thou shalt stretch forth thy hand unto whichsoever thou wilt. ¹⁷Before man is life and death; And whichsoever he liketh, it shall be given him. ¹⁸For great is the wisdom of the Lord: He is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things; ¹⁹And his eyes are upon them that fear him; And he will take knowledge of every work of man. ²⁰He hath not commanded any man to be ungodly; And he hath not given any man licence to sin.

¹Desire not a multitude of unprofitable children, Neither delight in ungodly sons. ²If they multiply, delight not in them, Except the fear of the Lord be with them. ³Trust not thou in their life, Neither rely on their condition: For one is better than a thousand; And to die childless than to have ungodly children. ⁴For from one that hath understanding shall a city be peopled; But a race of wicked men shall be made desolate. ⁵Many such things have I seen with mine eyes; And mine ear hath heard mightier things than these. ⁶In the congregation of sinners shall a fire be kindled; And in a disobedient nation wrath is kindled. ⁷He was not pacified toward the giants of old time, Who revolted in their strength. ⁸He spared not those with whom Lot sojourned, Whom he abhorred for their pride. ⁹He pitied not the people of perdition, Who were taken away in their sins. ¹⁰And in like manner the six hundred thousand footmen, Who were gathered together in the hardness of their hearts. ¹¹Even if there be one stiffnecked person, It is marvel if he shall be unpunished: For mercy and wrath are with him; He is mighty to forgive, and he poureth out wrath. ¹²As his mercy is great, so is his correction also: He judgeth a man according to his works. ¹³The sinner shall not escape with his plunder; And the patience of the godly shall not be frustrate. ¹⁴He will make room for every work of mercy; Each man shall find according to his works. ¹⁵Say not thou, I shall be hidden from the Lord; And who shall remember me from on high? I shall not be known among so many people; For what is my soul in a boundless creation? ¹⁶Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, The deep, and the earth, shall be moved when he shall visit. ¹⁷The mountains and the foundations of the earth together Are shaken with trembling, when he looketh upon them. ¹⁸And no heart shall think upon these things: And who shall conceive his ways? ¹⁹And there is a tempest which no man shall see; Yea, the more part of his works are hid. ²⁰Who shall declare the works of his righteousness? Or who shall endure them? For his covenant is afar off. ²¹He that is wanting in understanding thinketh upon these things; And an unwise and erring man thinketh follies. ²²My son, hearken unto me, and learn knowledge, And give heed to my words with thy heart. ²³I will shew forth instruction by weight, And declare knowledge exactly. ²⁴In the judgement of the Lord are his works from the beginning; And from the making of them he disposed the parts thereof. ²⁵He garnished his works for ever, And the beginnings of them unto their generations: They neither hunger, nor are weary, And they cease not from their works. ²⁶No one thrusteth aside his neighbour; And they shall never disobey his word. ²⁷After this also the Lord looked upon the earth, And filled it with his blessings. ²⁸All manner of living things covered the face thereof; And into it is their return.

¹ The Lord created man of the earth, And turned him back unto it again. ² He gave them days by number, and a set time, And gave them authority over the things that are thereon. ³He endued them with strength proper to them; And made them according to his own image. ⁴ He put the fear of man upon all flesh, And gave him to have dominion over beasts and fowls. ⁶Counsel, and tongue, and eyes, Ears, and heart, gave he them to understand withal. ⁷ He filled them with the knowledge of wisdom, And shewed them good and evil. ⁸He set his eye upon their hearts, To shew them the majesty of his works. ¹⁰And they shall praise the name of his holiness, That they may declare the majesty of his works. ¹¹He added unto them knowledge, And gave them a law of life for a heritage. ¹² He made an everlasting covenant with them, And shewed them his judgements. ¹³Their eyes saw the majesty of his glory; And their ear heard the glory of his voice. ¹⁴And he said unto them, Beware of all unrighteousness; And he gave them commandment, each man concerning his neighbour. ¹⁵ Their ways are ever before him;

They shall not be hid from his eyes. ¹⁷ For every nation he appointed a ruler; And Israel is the Lord's portion. ¹⁹All their works are as the sun before him; And his eyes are continually upon their ways. ²⁰Their iniquities are not hid from him; And all their sins are before the Lord. ²² With him the alms of a man is as a signet; And he will keep the bounty of a man as the apple of the eye. ²³ Afterwards he will rise up and recompense them, And render their recompense upon their head. ²⁴ Howbeit unto them that repent he granteth a return; And he comforteth them that are losing patience. ²⁵ RETURN unto the Lord, and forsake sins: Make thy prayer before his face, and lessen the offence. ²⁶Turn again to the Most High, and turn away from iniquity; And greatly hate the abominable thing. ²⁷ Who shall give praise to the Most High in the grave, Instead of them which live and return thanks? ²⁸Thanksgiving perisheth from the dead, as from one that is not: He that is in life and health shall praise the Lord. ²⁹ How great is the mercy of the Lord, And his forgiveness unto them that turn unto him! ³⁰For all things cannot be in men, Because the son of man is not immortal. ³¹ What is brighter than the sun? yet this faileth: And an evil man will think on flesh and blood. ³²He looketh upon the power of the height of heaven: And all men are earth and ashes.

¹He that liveth for ever created all things in common. ² The Lord alone shall be justified. ⁴ To none hath he given power to declare his works: And who shall trace out his mighty deeds? ⁵ Who shall number the strength of his majesty? And who shall also tell out his mercies? ⁶ As for the wondrous works of the Lord, it is not possible to take from them nor add to them, Neither is it possible to track them out. ⁷When a man hath finished, then he is but at the beginning; And when he ceaseth, then shall he be in perplexity. ⁸ What is man, and whereto serveth he? What is his good, and what is his evil? ⁹ The number of man's days at the most are a hundred years. ¹⁰ As a drop of water from the sea, and a pebble from the sand; So are a few years in the day of eternity. ¹¹For this cause the Lord was longsuffering over them, And poured out his mercy upon them. ¹² He saw and perceived their end, that it is evil; Therefore he multiplied his forgiveness. ¹³ The mercy of a man is upon his neighbour; But the mercy of the Lord is upon all flesh; Reproving, and chastening, and teaching, And bringing again, as a shepherd doth his flock. ¹⁴He hath mercy on them that accept chastening, And that diligently seek after his judgements. ¹⁵My son, to thy good deeds add no blemish; And no grief of words in any of thy giving. ¹⁶ Shall not the dew assuage the scorching heat? So is a word better than a gift. ¹⁷Lo, is not a word better than a gift? And both are with a gracious man. ¹⁸ A fool will upbraid ungraciously; And the gift of an envious man consumeth the eyes. ¹⁹ LEARN before thou speak; And have a care of thy health or ever thou be sick. ²⁰ Before judgement examine thyself; And in the hour of visitation thou shalt find forgiveness. ²¹ Humble thyself before thou be sick; And in the time of sins shew repentance. ²² Let nothing hinder thee to pay thy vow in due time; And wait not until death to be justified. ²³ Before thou makest a vow, prepare thyself; And be not as a man that tempteth the Lord. ²⁴ Think upon the wrath that shall be in the days of the end, And the time of vengeance, when he turneth away his face. ²⁵ In the days of fulness remember the time of hunger, And poverty and want in the days of wealth. ²⁶ From morning until evening the time changeth; And all things are speedy before the Lord. ²⁷ A wise man will fear in everything; And in days of sinning he will beware of offence. ²⁸ Every man of understanding knoweth wisdom; And he will give thanks unto him that found her. ²⁹ They that were of understanding in sayings became also wise themselves, And poured forth apt proverbs. ³⁰ GO not after thy lusts; And refrain thyself from thine appetites. ³¹ If thou give fully to thy soul the delight of her desire, She will make thee the laughingstock of thine enemies. ³² Make not merry in much luxury; Neither be tied to the expense thereof. ³³ Be not made a beggar by banqueting upon borrowing, When thou hast nothing in thy purse.

¹ A workman that is a drunkard shall not become rich: He that despiseth small things shall fall by little and little. ² Wine and women will make men of understanding to fall away: And he that cleaveth to harlots will be the more reckless. ³ Moths and worms shall have him to heritage; And a reckless soul shall be taken away. ⁴ He that is hasty to trust is lightminded; And he that sinneth shall offend against his own soul. ⁵ He that maketh merry in his heart shall be condemned: ⁶ And he that hateth talk hath the less wickedness. ⁷ Never repeat what is told thee, And thou shalt fare never the worse. ⁸ Whether it be of

friend or foe, tell it not; And unless it is a sin to thee, reveal it not. ⁹For he hath heard thee, and observed thee, And when the time cometh he will hate thee. ¹⁰Hast thou heard a word? let it die with thee: Be of good courage, it will not burst thee. ¹¹ A fool will travail in pain with a word, As a woman in labour with a child. ¹²As an arrow that sticketh in the flesh of the thigh, So is a word in a fool's belly. ¹³ REPROVE a friend; it may be he did it not: And if he did something, that he may do it no more. ¹⁴ Reprove thy neighbour; it may be he said it not: And if he hath said it, that he may not say it again. ¹⁵ Reprove a friend; for many times there is slander: And trust not every word. ¹⁶ There is one that slippeth, and not from the heart: And who is he that hath not sinned with his tongue? ¹⁷ Reprove thy neighbour before thou threaten him; And give place to the law of the Most High. ²⁰ All wisdom is the fear of the Lord; And in all wisdom is the doing of the law. ²² And the knowledge of wickedness is not wisdom; And the prudence of sinners is not counsel. ²³ There is a wickedness, and the same is abomination; And there is a fool wanting in wisdom. ²⁴ Better is one that hath small understanding, and feareth, Than one that hath much prudence, and transgresseth the law. ²⁵ There is an exquisite subtilty, and the same is unjust; And there is one that perverteth favour to gain a judgement. ²⁶ There is one that doeth wickedly, that hangeth down his head with mourning; But inwardly he is full of deceit, ²⁷ Bowing down his face, and making as if he were deaf of one ear: Where he is not known, he will be beforehand with thee. ²⁸ And if for want of power he be hindered from sinning, If he find opportunity, he will do mischief. ²⁹ A man shall be known by his look, And one that hath understanding shall be known by his face, when thou meetest him. ³⁰ A man's attire, and grinning laughter, And gait, shew what he is.

¹ There is a reproof that is not comely; And there is a man that keepeth silence, and he is wise. ²How good is it to reprove, rather than to be wroth; And he that maketh confession shall be kept back from hurt. ⁴As is the lust of an eunuch to deflower a virgin; So is he that executeth judgements with violence. ⁵ There is one that keepeth silence and is found wise; And there is one that is hated for his much talk. ⁶There is one that keepeth silence, for he hath no answer to make; And there is that keepeth silence, as knowing his time. ⁷ A wise man will be silent till his time come; But the braggart and fool will overpass his time. ⁸ He that useth many words shall be abhorred; And he that taketh to himself authority therein shall be hated. ⁹There is a prosperity that a man findeth in misfortunes; And there is a gain that turneth to loss. ¹⁰There is a gift that shall not profit thee; And there is a gift whose recompense is double. ¹¹ There is an abasement because of glory; And there is that hath lifted up his head from a low estate. ¹²There is that buyeth much for a little, And payeth for it again sevenfold. ¹³ He that is wise in words shall make himself beloved; But the pleasantries of fools shall be wasted. ¹⁴ The gift of a fool shall not profit thee; For his eyes are many instead of one. ¹⁵He will give little, and upbraid much; And he will open his mouth like a crier: To-day he will lend, and tomorrow he will ask it again: Such an one is a hateful man. ¹⁶The fool will say, I have no friend, And I have no thanks for my good deeds; They that eat my bread are of evil tongue. ¹⁷How oft, and of how many, shall he be laughed to scorn! ¹⁸A SLIP on a pavement is better than a slip with the tongue; So the fall of the wicked shall come speedily. ¹⁹A man without grace is as a tale out of season: It will be continually in the mouth of the ignorant. ²⁰ A wise sentence from a fool's mouth will be rejected; For he will not speak it in its season. ²¹ There is that is hindered from sinning through want; And when he taketh rest, he shall not be troubled. ²² There is that destroyeth his soul through bashfulness; And by a foolish countenance he will destroy it. ²³There is that for bashfulness promiseth to his friend; And he maketh him his enemy for nothing. ²⁴A LIE is a foul blot in a man: It will be continually in the mouth of the ignorant. ²⁵A thief is better than a man that is continually lying: But they both shall inherit destruction. ²⁶The disposition of a liar is dishonour; And his shame is with him continually. ²⁷He that is wise in words shall advance himself; And one that is prudent will please great men. ²⁸He that tilleth his land shall raise his heap high; And he that pleaseth great men shall get pardon for iniquity. ²⁹Presents and gifts blind the eyes of the wise, And as a muzzle on the mouth, turn away reproofs. ³⁰Wisdom that is hid, and treasure that is out of sight, What profit is in them both? ³¹Better is a man that hideth his folly Than a man that hideth his wisdom.

¹My son, hast thou sinned? add no more thereto; And make supplication for thy former sins. ²Flee from sin as from the face of a serpent; For if thou draw nigh it will bite thee: The teeth thereof are the teeth of a lion, Slaying the souls of men. ³All iniquity is as a twoedged sword; Its stroke hath no healing. ⁴TERROR and violence will lay waste riches; So the house of a haughty man shall be laid waste. ⁵Supplication from a poor man's mouth reacheth to the ears of God, And his judgement cometh speedily. ⁶One that hateth reproof is in the path of the sinner; And he that feareth the Lord will turn again in his heart. ⁷He that is mighty in tongue is known afar off: But the man of understanding knoweth when he slippeth. ⁸He that buildeth his house with other men's money Is like one that gathereth himself stones against winter. ⁹The congregation of wicked men is as tow wrapped together; And the end of them is a flame of fire. ¹⁰The way of sinners is made smooth with stones; And at the last end thereof is the pit of Hades. ¹¹He that keepeth the law becometh master of the intent thereof; And the end of the fear of the Lord is wisdom.

¹² He that is not clever will not be instructed; And there is a cleverness which maketh bitterness to abound. ¹³ The knowledge of a wise man shall be made to abound as a flood; And his counsel as a fountain of life. ¹⁴

The inward parts of a fool are like a broken vessel; And he will hold no knowledge. ¹⁵ If a man of knowledge hear a wise word, He will commend it, and add unto it: The dissolute man heareth it, and it displeaseth him, And he putteth it away behind his back. ¹⁶ The discourse of a fool is like a burden in the way; But grace shall be found on the lips of the wise.

¹⁷ The mouth of the prudent man shall be sought for in the congregation; And they will ponder his words in their heart.

¹⁸ AS a house that is destroyed, so is wisdom to a fool; And the knowledge of an unwise man is as talk without sense. ¹⁹ Instruction is as fetters on the feet of an unwise man, And as manacles on the right hand. ²⁰ A fool lifteth up his voice with laughter; But a clever man will scarce smile quietly.

²¹ Instruction is to a prudent man as an ornament of gold, And as a bracelet upon his right arm. ²²

The foot of a fool is soon in another man's house; But a man of experience will be ashamed of entering. ²³ A foolish man peepeth in from the door of another man's house; But a man that is instructed will stand without. ²⁴ It is a want of instruction in a man to listen at the door; But the prudent man will be grieved with the disgrace. ²⁵ The lips of strangers will be grieved at these things; But the words of prudent men will be weighed in the balance. ²⁶ The heart of fools is in their mouth; But the mouth of wise men is their heart. ²⁷ When the ungodly curseth Satan, He curseth his own soul. ²⁸ A whisperer defileth his own soul, And shall be hated wheresoever he sojourneth.

¹ A slothful man is compared to a stone that is defiled; And every one will hiss him out in his disgrace. ² A slothful man is compared to the filth of a dunghill: Every man that taketh it up will shake out his hand. ³ A father hath shame in having begotten an uninstructed son; And a foolish daughter is born to his loss. ⁴ A prudent daughter shall inherit a husband of her own; And she that bringeth shame is the grief of him that begat her. ⁵ She that is bold bringeth shame upon father and husband; And she shall be despised of them both. ⁶ Unseasonable discourse is as music in mourning; But stripes and correction are wisdom at every season. ⁷ He that teacheth a fool is as one that glueth a potsherd together; Even as one that waketh a sleeper out of a deep sleep. ⁸ He that discourseth to a fool is as one discoursing to a man that slumbereth; And at the end he will say, What is it? ¹¹ Weep for the dead, for light hath failed him; And weep for a fool, for understanding hath failed him: Weep more sweetly for the dead, because he hath found rest; But the life of the fool is worse than death. ¹² Seven days are the days of mourning for the dead;

But for a fool and an ungodly man, all the days of his life. ¹³ TALK not much with a foolish man, And go not to one that hath no understanding: Beware of him, lest thou have trouble; And so thou shalt not be defiled in his onslaught: Turn aside from him, and thou shalt find rest; And so thou shalt not be wearied in his madness. ¹⁴ What shall be heavier than lead? And what is the name thereof, but a fool? ¹⁵ Sand, and salt, and a mass of iron, is easier to bear, Than a man without understanding. ¹⁶ TIMBER girt and bound into a building shall not be loosed with shaking: So a heart established in due season on well advised counsel shall not be afraid. ¹⁷ A heart settled upon a thoughtful understanding Is as an ornament of plaister on a polished wall. ¹⁸ Pales set on a high place will not stand against the wind: So a fearful heart in the imagination of a fool will not stand against any fear. ¹⁹ He that pricketh the eye will make tears to fall; And he that pricketh the heart maketh it to shew feeling. ²⁰ Whoso casteth a stone at birds frayeth them away; And he that upbraideth a friend will dissolve friendship. ²¹If thou hast drawn a sword against a friend, despair not; For there may be a returning. ²² If thou hast opened thy mouth against a friend, fear not; For there may be a reconciling; Except it be for upbraiding, and arrogance, and disclosing of a secret, and a treacherous blow: For these things every friend will flee. ²³GAIN trust with thy neighbour in his poverty, That in his prosperity thou mayest have gladness: Abide stedfast unto him in the time of his affliction, That thou mayest be heir with him in his inheritance. ²⁴ Before fire is the vapour and smoke of a furnace; So revilings before bloodshed. ²⁵I will not be ashamed to shelter a friend; And I will not hide myself from his face: ²⁶And if any evil happen unto me because of him, Every one that heareth it will beware of him. ²⁷ WHO shall set a watch over my mouth, And a seal of shrewdness upon my lips, That I fall not from it, and that my tongue destroy me not?

¹ O Lord, Father and Master of my life, Abandon me not to their counsel: Suffer me not to fall by them. ²Who will set scourges over my thought, And a discipline of wisdom over mine heart? That they spare me not for mine ignorances, And my heart pass not by their sins: ³That mine ignorances be not multiplied, And my sins abound not; And I shall fall before mine adversaries, And mine enemy rejoice over me. ⁴ O Lord, Father and God of my life, Give me not a proud look, ⁵And turn away concupiscence from me. ⁶ Let not greediness and chambering overtake me; And give me not over to a shameless mind. ⁷Hear ye, my children, the discipline of the mouth; And he that keepeth it shall not be taken. ⁸ The sinner shall be overtaken in his lips; And the reviler and the proud man shall stumble therein. ⁹ Accustom not thy mouth to an oath; And be not accustomed to the naming of the Holy One. ¹⁰For as a servant that is continually scourged shall not lack a bruise, So he also that sweareth and nameth God continually shall not be cleansed from sin. ¹¹A man of many oaths shall be filled with iniquity; And the scourge shall not depart from his house: If he shall offend, his sin shall be upon him; And if he disregard it, he hath sinned doubly; And if he hath sworn in vain, he shall not be justified; For his house shall be filled with calamities. ¹²There is a manner of speech that is clothed about with death: Let it not be found in the heritage of Jacob; For all these things shall be far from the godly, And they shall not wallow in sins. ¹³Accustom not thy mouth to gross rudeness, For therein is the word of sin. ¹⁴Remember thy father and thy mother, For thou sittest in the midst of great men; That thou be not forgetful before them, And become a fool by thy custom; So shalt thou wish that thou hadst not been born, And curse the day of thy nativity. ¹⁵A man that is accustomed to words of reproach Will not be corrected all the days of his life. ¹⁶TWO sorts of men multiply sins, And the third will bring wrath: A hot mind, as a burning fire, will not be quenched till it be consumed: A fornicator in the body of his flesh will never cease till he hath burned out the fire. ¹⁷All bread is sweet to a fornicator: He will not leave off till he die. ¹⁸A man that goeth astray from his own bed, Saying in his heart, Who seeth me? Darkness is round about me, and the walls hide me, And no man seeth me; of whom am I afraid? The Most High will not remember my sins; ¹⁹—And the eyes of men are his terror, And he knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter than the sun, Beholding all the ways of men, And looking into secret places. ²⁰All things were known unto him or ever they were created; And in like manner also after they were perfected. ²¹This man shall be punished in the streets of the city; And where he suspected not he shall be taken. ²²So also a wife that leaveth her husband, And bringeth in an heir by a stranger. ²³For first, she was disobedient in the law of the Most High; And secondly, she trespassed against her own husband; And thirdly, she played the adulteress in whoredom, And brought in children by a stranger. ²⁴ She shall be brought out into the congregation; And upon her children shall there be visitation. ²⁵ Her children shall not spread into roots, And her branches shall bear no fruit. ²⁶ She shall leave her memory for a curse; And her reproach shall not be blotted out. ²⁷ And they that are left behind shall know that there is nothing better than the fear of the Lord, And nothing sweeter than to take heed unto the commandments of the Lord.

¹ Wisdom shall praise herself, And shall glory in the midst of her people. ² In the congregation of the Most High shall she open her mouth, And glory in the presence of his power. ³ I came forth from the mouth of the Most High, And covered the earth as a mist. ⁴ I dwelt in high places, And my throne is in the pillar of the cloud. ⁵ Alone I compassed the circuit of heaven, And walked in the depth of the abyss. ⁶ In the waves of the sea, and in all the earth, And in every people and nation, I got a possession. ⁷ With all these I sought rest; And in whose inheritance shall I lodge? ⁸ Then the Creator of all things gave me a commandment; And he that created me made my tabernacle to rest, And said, Let thy tabernacle be in Jacob, And thine inheritance in Israel. ⁹ He created me from the beginning before the world; And to the end I shall not fail. ¹⁰ In the holy tabernacle I ministered before him; And so was I established in Sion. ¹¹ In the beloved city likewise he gave me rest; And in Jerusalem was my authority. ¹² And I took root in a people that was glorified, Even in the portion of the Lord's own inheritance. ¹³ I was exalted like a cedar in Libanus, And as a cypress tree on the mountains of Hermon. ¹⁴ I was exalted like a palm tree on the sea shore, And as rose plants in Jericho, And as a fair olive tree in the plain; And I was exalted as a plane tree. ¹⁵ As cinnamon and aspalathus, I have given a scent of perfumes; And as choice myrrh, I spread abroad a pleasant odour; As galbanum, and onyx, and stacte, And as the fume of frankincense in the tabernacle.

¹⁶As the terebinth I stretched out my branches; And my branches are branches of glory and grace.

¹⁷As the vine I put forth grace; And my flowers are the fruit of glory and riches. ¹⁹ Come unto me, ye that are desirous of me, And be ye filled with my produce.

²⁰For my memorial is sweeter than honey, And mine inheritance than the honeycomb. ²¹They that eat me shall yet be hungry; And they that drink me shall yet be thirsty. ²²He that obeyeth me shall not be ashamed; And they that work in me shall not do amiss.

²³All these things are the book of the covenant of the Most High God, Even the law which Moses commanded us for a heritage unto the assemblies of Jacob. ²⁵It is he that maketh wisdom abundant, as Pishon, And as Tigris in the days of new fruits;

²⁶That maketh understanding full as Euphrates, And as Jordan in the days of harvest; ²⁷That maketh instruction to shine forth as the light, As Gihon in the days of vintage. ²⁸The first man knew her not perfectly; And in like manner the last hath not traced her out. ²⁹For her thoughts are filled from the sea, And her counsels from the great deep. ³⁰And I came out as a stream from a river, And as a conduit into a garden. ³¹I said, I will water my garden, And will water abundantly my garden bed; And, lo, my stream became a river, And my river became a sea. ³²I will yet bring instruction to light as the morning, And will make these things to shine forth afar off. ³³ I will yet pour out doctrine as prophecy, And leave it unto generations of ages. ³⁴Behold that I have not laboured for myself only, But for all them that diligently seek her.

¹ In three things I was beautified, And stood up beautiful before the Lord and men: The concord of brethren, and friendship of neighbours, And a woman and her husband that walk together in agreement. ² But three sorts of men my soul hateth, And I am greatly offended at their life: A poor man that is haughty, and a rich man that is a liar, And an old man that is an adulterer lacking understanding. ³ In thy youth thou hast not gathered, And how shouldest thou find in thine old age? ⁴ How beautiful a thing is judgement for gray hairs, And for elders to know counsell! ⁵How beautiful is the wisdom of old men, And thought and counsel to men that are in honour! ⁶ Much experience is the crown of old men; And their glorying is the fear of the Lord. ⁷There be nine things that I have thought of, and in mine heart counted happy; And the tenth I will utter with my tongue: A man that hath joy of his children; A man that liveth and looketh upon the fall of his enemies: ⁸Happy is he that dwelleth with a wife of understanding; And he that hath not slipped with his tongue; And he that hath not served a man that is unworthy of him: ⁹ Happy is he that hath found prudence; And he that discourseth in the ears of them that listen. ¹⁰ How great is he that hath found wisdom! Yet is there none above him that feareth the Lord. ¹¹ The fear of the Lord passeth all things: He that holdeth it, to whom shall he be likened? ¹³ GIVE me any plague but the plague of the heart; And any wickedness but the wickedness of a woman; ¹⁴Any calamity, but a calamity from them that hate me; And any vengeance, but the vengeance of enemies. ¹⁵There is no head above the head of a serpent; And there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy. ¹⁶ I will rather dwell with a lion and a dragon, Than keep house with a wicked woman. ¹⁷ The wickedness of a woman changeth her look, And darkeneth her countenance as a bear doth. ¹⁸Her husband shall sit at meat among his neighbours, And when he heareth it he sigheth bitterly. ¹⁹ All malice is but little to the malice of a woman: Let the portion of a sinner fall on her. ²⁰ As the going up a sandy way is to the feet of the aged, So is a wife full of words to a quiet man. ²¹ Throw not thyself upon the beauty of a woman; And desire not a woman for her beauty. ²²There is anger, and impudence, and great reproach, If a woman maintain her husband. ²³A wicked woman is abasement of heart, And sadness of countenance, and a wounded heart: A woman that will not make her husband happy Is as hands that hang down, and palsied knees. ²⁴ From a woman was the beginning of sin; And because of her we all die. ²⁵ Give not water an outlet; Neither to a wicked woman freedom of speech. ²⁶ If she go not as thou wouldest have her, Cut her off from thy flesh.

¹ Happy is the husband of a good wife; And the number of his days shall be twofold. ² A brave woman rejoiceth her husband; And he shall fulfil his years in peace. ³ A good wife is a good portion: She shall be given in the portion of such as fear the Lord. ⁴Whether a man be rich or poor, A good heart maketh at all times a cheerful countenance. ⁵ Of three things my heart was afraid; And concerning the fourth kind I made supplication: The slander of a city, and the assembly of a multitude, and a false accusation: All these are more grievous than death. ⁶A grief of heart and sorrow is a woman that is jealous of another woman, And the scourge of a tongue communicating to all. ⁷A wicked woman is as a yoke of oxen shaken to and fro: He that taketh hold of her is as one that graspeth a scorpion. ⁸A drunken woman causeth great wrath; And she will not cover her own shame. ⁹The whoredom of a woman is in the lifting up of her eyes; And it shall be known by her eyelids. ¹⁰ Keep strict watch on a headstrong daughter, Lest she find liberty for herself, and use it. ¹¹Look well after an impudent eye; And marvel not if it trespass against thee. ¹²She will open her mouth, as a thirsty traveller, And drink of every water that is near: At every post will she sit down, And open her quiver against any arrow. ¹³ The grace of a wife will delight her husband; And her knowledge will fatten his bones. ¹⁴A silent woman is a gift of the Lord; And there is nothing so much worth as a well-instructed soul. ¹⁵A shamefast woman is grace upon grace; And there is no price worthy of a continent soul. ¹⁶As the sun when it ariseth in the highest places of the Lord, So is the beauty of a good wife in the ordering of a man's house. ¹⁷As the lamp that shineth upon the holy candlestick, So is the beauty of the face in ripe age. ¹⁸As the golden pillars are upon a base of silver, So are beautiful feet with the breasts of one that is stedfast. ²⁸ For two things my heart is grieved; And for the third anger cometh upon me: A man of war that suffereth for poverty; And men of understanding that are counted as refuse: One that turneth back from righteousness to sin; The Lord shall prepare him for the sword. ²⁹ A MERCHANT shall hardly keep himself from wrong doing; And a huckster shall not be acquitted of sin.

¹Many have sinned for a thing indifferent; And he that seeketh to multiply gain will turn his eye away. ²A nail will stick fast between the joinings of stones; And sin will thrust itself in between buying and selling. ³ Unless a man hold on diligently in the fear of the Lord, His house shall soon be overthrown. ⁴In the shaking of a sieve, the refuse remaineth; So the filth of man in his reasoning. ⁵ The furnace will prove the potter's vessels; And the trial of a man is in his reasoning. ⁶ The fruit of a tree declareth the husbandry thereof; So is the utterance of the thought of the heart of a man. ⁷Praise no man before thou hearest him reason; For this is the trial of men. ⁸If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt obtain her, And put her on, as a long robe of glory. ⁹ Birds will resort unto their like; And truth will return unto them that practise her. ¹⁰ The lion lieth in wait for prey; So doth sin for them that work iniquity. ¹¹The discourse of a godly man is always wisdom: But the foolish man changeth as the moon. ¹²Among men void of understanding observe the opportunity; But stay continually among the thoughtful. ¹³The discourse of fools is an offence; And their laughter is in the wantonness of sin. ¹⁴ The talk of a man of many oaths will make the hair stand upright; And their strife maketh one stop his ears. ¹⁵The strife of the proud is a shedding of blood; And their reviling of each other is a grievous thing to hear. ¹⁶ He that revealeth secrets destroyeth credit, And shall not find a friend to his mind. ¹⁷Love a friend, and keep faith with him: But if thou reveal his secrets, Thou shalt not pursue after him; ¹⁸For as a man hath destroyed his enemy, So hast thou destroyed the friendship of thy neighbour. ¹⁹ And as a bird which thou hast loosed out of thy hand, So hast thou let thy neighbour go, and thou wilt not catch him again: ²⁰Pursue him not, for he is gone far away, And hath escaped as a gazelle out of the snare. ²¹For a wound may be bound up, and after reviling there may be a reconcilment; But he that revealeth secrets hath lost hope. ²² ONE that winketh with the eye contriveth evil things; And no man will remove him from it. ²³When thou art present, he will speak sweetly, And will admire thy words; But afterward he will writhe his mouth, And set a trap for thee in thy words. ²⁴I have hated many things, but nothing like him; And the Lord will hate him. ²⁵ONE that casteth a stone on high casteth it on his own head; And a deceitful stroke will open wounds. ²⁶ He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it; And he that setteth a snare shall be taken therein. ²⁷He that doeth evil things, they shall roll upon him, And he shall not know whence they have come to him. ²⁸Mockery and reproach are from the haughty; And vengeance, as a lion, shall lie in wait for him. ²⁹They that rejoice at the fall of the godly shall be taken in a snare; And anguish shall consume them before they die. ³⁰WRATH and anger, these also are abominations; And a sinful man shall possess them.

¹ He that taketh vengeance shall find vengeance from the Lord; And he will surely make firm his sins. ² Forgive thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done thee; And then thy sins shall be pardoned when thou prayest. ³ Man cherisheth anger against man; And doth he seek healing from the Lord? ⁴ Upon a man like himself he hath no mercy; And doth he make supplication for his own sins? ⁵ He being himself flesh nourisheth wrath: Who shall make atonement for his sins? ⁶ Remember thy last end, and cease from enmity: Remember corruption and death, and abide in the commandments. ⁷ Remember the commandments, and be not wroth with thy neighbour; And remember the covenant of the Highest, and wink at ignorance. ⁸ Abstain from strife, and thou shalt diminish thy sins: For a passionate man will kindle strife; ⁹ And a man that is a sinner will trouble friends, And will make debate among them that be at peace. ¹⁰ As is the fuel of the fire, so will it burn; And as the stoutness of the strife is, so will it burn: As is the strength of the man, so will be his wrath; And as is his wealth, so will he exalt his anger. ¹¹ A contention begun in haste kindleth a fire; And a hasty fighting sheddeth blood. ¹² If thou blow a spark, it shall burn; And if thou spit upon it, it shall be quenched: And both these shall come out of thy mouth. ¹³ CURSE the whisperer and doubletongued: For he hath destroyed many that were at peace. ¹⁴ A third person's tongue hath shaken many, And dispersed them from nation to nation; And it hath pulled down strong cities, And overthrown the houses of great men. ¹⁵ A third person's tongue hath cast out brave women, And deprived them of their labours. ¹⁶ He that hearkeneth unto it shall not find rest, Nor shall he dwell quietly. ¹⁷ The stroke of a whip maketh a mark in the flesh; But the stroke of a tongue will break bones. ¹⁸ Many have fallen by the edge of the sword: Yet not so many as they that have fallen because of the tongue. ¹⁹ Happy is he that is sheltered from it, That hath not passed through the wrath thereof; That hath not drawn its yoke, And hath not been bound with its bands. ²⁰ For the yoke thereof is a yoke of iron, And the bands thereof are bands of brass. ²¹ The death thereof is an evil death; And Hades were better than it. ²² It shall not have rule over godly men; And they shall not be burned in its flame. ²³ They that forsake the Lord shall fall into it; And it shall burn among them, and shall not be quenched: It shall be sent forth upon them as a lion; And as a leopard it shall destroy them. ²⁴ Look that thou hedge thy possession about with thorns; Bind up thy silver and thy gold; ²⁵ And make a balance and a weight for thy words; And make a door and a bar for thy mouth. ²⁶ Take heed lest thou slip therein; Lest thou fall before one that lieth in wait.

¹ He that sheweth mercy will lend unto his neighbour; And he that strengtheneth him with his hand keepeth the commandments. ² Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need; And pay thou thy neighbour again in due season. ³ Confirm thy word, and keep faith with him; And at all seasons thou shalt find what thou needest. ⁴ Many have reckoned a loan as a windfall, And have given trouble to those that helped them. ⁵ Till he hath received, he will kiss a man's hands; And for his neighbour's money he will speak submissly: And when payment is due, he will prolong the time, And return words of heaviness, and complain of the times. ⁶ If he prevail, he shall hardly receive the half; And he will count it as a windfall: If not, he hath deprived him of his money, And he hath gotten him for an enemy without cause: He will pay him with cursings and railings; And for honour he will pay him disgrace. ⁷ Many on account of men's ill-dealing have turned away; They have feared to be defrauded for nought. ⁸ Howbeit with a man in poor estate be longsuffering; And let him not wait for thine alms. ⁹ Help a poor man for the commandment's sake; And according to his need send him not empty away. ¹⁰Lose thy money for a brother and a friend; And let it not rust under the stone to be lost. ¹¹ Bestow thy treasure according to the commandments of the Most High; And it shall profit thee more than gold. ¹²Shut up alms in thy storechambers; And it shall deliver thee out of all affliction: ¹³It shall fight for thee against thine enemy Better than a mighty shield and a ponderous spear. ¹⁴A Good man will be surety for his neighbour; And he that hath lost shame will fail him. ¹⁵Forget not the good offices of thy surety; For he hath given his life for thee. ¹⁶A sinner will overthrow the good estate of his surety; ¹⁷And he that is of an unthankful mind will fail him that delivered him. ¹⁸ Suretiship hath undone many that were prospering, And shaken them as a wave of the sea: Mighty men hath it driven from their homes; And they wandered among strange nations. ¹⁹A sinner that falleth into suretiship, And undertaketh contracts for work, shall fall into lawsuits. ²⁰Help thy neighbour according to thy power, And take heed to thyself that thou fall not to the same. ²¹ The chief thing for life is water, and bread, And a garment, and a house to cover shame. ²²Better is the life of a poor man under a shelter of logs, Than sumptuous fare in another man's house. ²³ With little or with much, be well satisfied. ²⁴ It is a miserable life to go from house to house: And where thou art a sojourner, thou shalt not dare to open thy mouth. ²⁵Thou shalt entertain, and give to drink, and have no thanks: And besides this thou shalt hear bitter words. ²⁶Come hither, thou sojourner, furnish a table, And if thou hast aught in thy hand, feed me with it. ²⁷ Go forth, thou sojourner, from the face of honour; My brother is come to be my guest; I have need of my house. ²⁸These things are grievous to a man of understanding; The upbraiding of houseroom, and the reproaching of the money-lender.

¹ He that loveth his son will continue to lay stripes upon him, That he may have joy of him in the end. ²He that chastiseth his son shall have profit of him, And shall glory of him among his acquaintance. ³ He that teacheth his son shall provoke his enemy to jealousy; And before friends he shall rejoice of him. ⁴His father dieth, and is as though he had not died; For he hath left one behind him like himself. ⁵In his life, he saw and rejoiced in him; And when he died, he sorrowed not: ⁶ He left behind him an avenger against his enemies, And one to requite kindness to his friends. ⁷He that maketh too much of his son shall bind up his wounds; And his heart will be troubled at every cry. ⁸An unbroken horse becometh stubborn; And a son left at large becometh headstrong. ⁹Cocker thy child, and he shall make thee afraid: Play with him, and he will grieve thee. ¹⁰Laugh not with him, lest thou have sorrow with him; And thou shalt gnash thy teeth in the end. ¹¹Give him no liberty in his youth, And wink not at his follies. ¹² Bow down his neck in his youth, And beat him on the sides while he is a child, Lest he wax stubborn, and be disobedient unto thee; And there shall be sorrow to thy soul. ¹³Chastise thy son, and take pains with him, Lest his shameless behaviour be an offence unto thee. ¹⁴ BETTER is a poor man, being sound and strong of constitution, Than a rich man that is plagued in his body. ¹⁵Health and a good constitution are better than all gold; And a strong body than wealth without measure. ¹⁶There is no riches better than health of body; And there is no gladness above the joy of the heart. ¹⁷ Death is better than a bitter life, And eternal rest than a continual sickness. ¹⁸Good things poured out upon a mouth that is closed Are as messes of meat laid upon a grave. ¹⁹What doth an offering profit an idol? For neither shall it eat nor smell: So is he that is afflicted of the Lord, ²⁰Seeing with his eyes and groaning, As an eunuch embracing a virgin and groaning. ²¹ GIVE not over thy soul to sorrow; And afflict not thyself in thine own counsel. ²² Gladness of heart is the life of a man; And the joyfulness of a man is length of days. ²³Love thine own soul, and comfort thy heart: And remove sorrow far from thee; For sorrow hath destroyed many, And there is no profit therein. ²⁴ Envy and wrath shorten a man's days; And care bringeth old age before the time. ²⁵ A cheerful and good heart Will have a care of his meat and diet.

And every fool shall be taken therewith. ⁸Blessed is the rich that is found without blemish, And that goeth not after gold. ⁹Who is he? and we will call him blessed: For wonderful things hath he done among his people. ¹⁰Who hath been tried thereby, and found perfect? Then let him glory. Who hath had the power to transgress, and hath not transgressed? And to do evil, and hath not done it? ¹¹His goods shall be made sure, And the congregation shall declare his alms. ¹²Sittest thou at a great table? be not greedy upon it, And say not, Many are the things upon it. ¹³Remember that an evil eye is a wicked thing: What hath been created more evil than an eye? Therefore it sheddeth tears from every face. ¹⁴ Stretch not thine hand whithersoever it looketh, And thrust not thyself with it into the dish. ¹⁵ Consider thy neighbour's liking by thine own; And be discreet in every point. ¹⁶ Eat, as becometh a man, those things which are set before thee; And eat not greedily, lest thou be hated. ¹⁷Be first to leave off for manners' sake; And be not insatiable, lest thou offend. ¹⁸And if thou sittest among many, Reach not out thy hand before them. ¹⁹HOW sufficient to a well-mannered man is a very little, And he doth not breathe hard upon his bed. ²⁰ Healthy sleep cometh of moderate eating; He riseth early, and his wits are with him: The pain of wakefulness, and colic, And griping, are with an insatiable man. ²¹And if thou hast been forced to eat, Rise up in the midst thereof, and thou shalt have rest. ²²Hear me, my son, and despise me not, And at the last thou shalt find my words true: In all thy works be quick, And no disease shall come unto thee. ²³ HIM that is liberal of his meat the lips shall bless; And the testimony of his excellence shall be believed. ²⁴Him that is a niggard of his meat the city shall murmur at; And the testimony of his niggardness shall be sure. ²⁵ Shew not thyself valiant in wine; For wine hath destroyed many. ²⁶The furnace proveth the temper of steel by dipping; So doth wine prove hearts in the quarrelling of the proud. ²⁷ Wine is as good as life to men, If thou drink it in its measure: What life is there to a man that is without wine? And it hath been created to make men glad. ²⁸Wine drunk in season and to satisfy Is joy of heart, and gladness of soul: ²⁹ Wine drunk largely is bitterness of soul, With provocation and conflict. ³⁰ Drunkenness increaseth the rage of a fool unto his hurt; It diminisheth strength, and addeth wounds. ³¹REBUKE not thy neighbour at a banquet of wine, Neither set him at nought in his mirth: Speak not unto him a word of reproach, And press not upon him by asking back a debt.

¹Have they made thee ruler of a feast? Be not lifted up, Be thou among them as one of them; Take thought for them, and so sit down. ²And when thou hast done all thy office, take thy place, That thou mayest be gladdened on their account, And receive a crown for thy well ordering. ³ Speak, thou that art the elder, for it becometh thee, but with sound knowledge; And hinder not music. ⁴Pour not out talk where there is a performance of music, And display not thy wisdom out of season. ⁵ As a signet of carbuncle in a setting of gold, So is a concert of music in a banquet of wine. ⁶ As a signet of emerald in a work of gold, So is a strain of music with pleasant wine. ⁷ Speak, young man, if there be need of thee; Yet scarcely if thou be twice asked. ⁸ Sum up thy speech, many things in few words; Be as one that knoweth and yet holdeth his tongue. ⁹ If thou be among great men, behave not as their equal; And when another is speaking, make not much babbling. ¹⁰Before thunder speedeth lightning; And before a shamefast man favour shall go forth. ¹¹Rise up betimes, and be not the last; Get thee home quickly and loiter not: ¹²There take thy pastime, and do what is in thy heart; And sin not by proud speech: ¹³And for these things bless him that made thee, And giveth thee to drink freely of his good things. ¹⁴He that feareth the Lord will receive his discipline; And they that seek him early shall find favour. ¹⁵He that seeketh the law shall be filled therewith: But the hypocrite shall stumble thereat. ¹⁶They that fear the Lord shall find judgement, And shall kindle righteous acts as a light. ¹⁷A sinful man shunneth reproof, And will find a judgement according to his will. ¹⁸A MAN of counsel will not neglect a thought; A strange and proud man will not crouch in fear, Even after he hath done a thing by himself without counsel. ¹⁹Do nothing without counsel; And when thou hast once done, repent not. ²⁰Go not in a way of conflict; And stumble not in stony places. ²¹Be not confident in a smooth way. ²²And beware of thine own children. ²³In every work trust thine own soul; For this is the keeping of the commandments. ²⁴He that believeth the law giveth heed to the commandment; And he that trusteth in the Lord shall suffer no loss.

¹There shall no evil happen unto him that feareth the Lord; But in temptation once and again will he deliver him. ²A wise man will not hate the law; But he that is a hypocrite therein is as a ship in a storm. ³A man of understanding will put his trust in the law; And the law is faithful unto him, as when one asketh at the oracle. ⁴Prepare thy speech, and so shalt thou be heard; Bind up instruction, and make thine answer. ⁵The heart of a fool is as a cartwheel; And his thoughts like a rolling axle-tree. ⁶A stallion horse is as a mocking friend; He neigheth under every one that sitteth upon him. ⁷Why doth one day excel another, When all the light of every day in the year is of the sun? ⁸By the knowledge of the Lord they were distinguished; And he varied seasons and feasts: ⁹Some of them he exalted and hallowed, And some of them hath he made ordinary days. ¹⁰And all men are from the ground, And Adam was created of earth. ¹¹In the abundance of his knowledge the Lord distinguished them, And made their ways various: ¹²Some of them he blessed and exalted, And some of them he hallowed and brought nigh to himself: Some of them he cursed and brought low, And overthrew them from their place. ¹³As the clay of the potter in his hand, All his ways are according to his good pleasure; So men are in the hand of him that made them, To render unto them according to his judgement. ¹⁴Good is set over against evil, And life over against death: So is the sinner over against the godly. ¹⁵And thus look upon all the works of the Most High; Two and two, one against another. ¹⁶And I awaked up last, As one that gleaneth after the grapegatherers: By the blessing of the Lord I got before them, And filled my winepress as one that gathereth grapes. ¹⁷Consider that I laboured not for myself alone, But for all them that seek instruction. ¹⁸Hear me, ye great men of the people, And hearken with your ears, ye rulers of the congregation. ¹⁹To son and wife, to brother and friend, Give not power over thee while thou livest; And give not thy goods to another, Lest thou repent and make supplication for them again. ²⁰Whilst thou yet livest, and breath is in thee, Give not thyself over to anybody. ²¹For better it is that thy children should supplicate thee, Than that thou shouldest look to the hand of thy sons. ²²In all thy works keep the upper hand; Bring not a stain on thine honour. ²³ In the day that thou endest the days of thy life, And in the time of death, distribute thine inheritance. ²⁴ FODDER, a stick, and burdens, for an ass; Bread, and discipline, and work, for a servant. ²⁵Set thy servant to work, and thou shalt find rest: Leave his hands idle, and he will seek liberty. ²⁶Yoke and thong will bow the neck: And for an evil servant there are racks and tortures. ²⁷Send him to labour, that he be not idle; For idleness teacheth much mischief. ²⁸Set him to work, as is fit for him; And if he obey not, make his fetters heavy. ²⁹And be not excessive toward any; And without judgement do nothing. ³⁰ If thou hast a servant, let him be as thyself, Because thou hast bought him with blood. ³¹ If thou hast a servant, treat him as thyself; For as thine own soul wilt thou have need of him: If thou treat him ill, and he depart and run away, Which way wilt thou go to seek him?

¹Vain and false hopes are for a man void of understanding; And dreams give wings to fools. ² As one that catcheth at a shadow, and followeth after the wind, So is he that setteth his mind on dreams. ³The vision of dreams is as this thing against that, The likeness of a face over against a face. ⁴ Of an unclean thing what shall be cleansed? And of that which is false what shall be true? ⁵ Divinations, and soothsayings, and dreams, are vain: And the heart fancieth, as a woman's in travail. ⁶ If they be not sent from the Most High in thy visitation, Give not thy heart unto them. ⁷For dreams have led many astray: And they have failed by putting their hope in them. ⁸Without lying shall the law be accomplished; And wisdom is perfection to a faithful mouth. ⁹A well-instructed man knoweth many things; And he that hath much experience will declare understanding. ¹⁰He that hath no experience knoweth few things: But he that hath wandered shall increase his skill. ¹¹ In my wandering I have seen many things; And more than my words is my understanding. ¹² Ofttimes was I in danger even unto death; And I was preserved because of these things. ¹³ The spirit of those that fear the Lord shall live; For their hope is upon him that saveth them. ¹⁴ Whoso feareth the Lord shall not be afraid, and shall not play the coward; For he is his hope. ¹⁵ Blessed is the soul of him that feareth the Lord: To whom doth he give heed? and who is his stay? ¹⁶ The eyes of the Lord are upon them that love him, A mighty protection and strong stay, A cover from the hot blast, and a cover from the noonday, A guard from stumbling, and a succour from falling. ¹⁷ He raiseth up the soul, and enlighteneth the eyes: He giveth healing, life, and blessing. ¹⁸ He that sacrificeth of a thing wrongfully gotten, his offering is made in mockery; And the mockeries of wicked men are not well-pleasing. ¹⁹ The Most High hath no pleasure in the offerings of the ungodly; Neither is he pacified for sins by the multitude of sacrifices. ²⁰ As one that killeth the son before his father's eyes Is he that bringeth a sacrifice from the goods of the poor. ²¹ The bread of the needy is the life of the poor: He that depriveth him thereof is a man of blood. ²² As one that slayeth his neighbour is he that taketh away his living; And as a shedder of blood is he that depriveth a hireling of his hire. ²³ One building, and another pulling down, What profit have they had but toil? ²⁴ One praying, and another cursing, Whose voice will the Lord listen to? ²⁵ He that washeth himself after touching a dead body, and toucheth it again, What profit hath he in his washing? ²⁶ Even so a man fasting for his sins, And going again, and doing the same; Who will listen to his prayer? And what profit hath he in his humiliation?

¹ He that keepeth the law multiplieth offerings; He that taketh heed to the commandments sacrificeth a peace offering. ²He that requiteth a good turn offereth fine flour; And he that giveth alms sacrificeth a thank offering. ³To depart from wickedness is a thing pleasing to the Lord; And to depart from unrighteousness is a propitiation. ⁴See that thou appear not in the presence of the Lord empty. ⁵For all these things are to be done because of the commandment. ⁶The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat; And the sweet savour thereof is before the Most High. ⁷The sacrifice of a righteous man is acceptable; And the memorial thereof shall not be forgotten. ⁸Glorify the Lord with a good eye, And stint not the firstfruits of thine hands. ⁹In every gift shew a cheerful countenance, And dedicate thy tithe with gladness. ¹⁰Give unto the Most High according as he hath given; And as thy hand hath found, give with a good eye. ¹¹For the Lord recompenseth, And he will recompense thee sevenfold. ¹²THINK not to corrupt with gifts; for he will not receive them:

And set not thy mind on an unrighteous sacrifice; For the Lord is judge, And with him is no respect of persons. ¹³He will not accept any person against a poor man; And he will listen to the prayer of him that is wronged. ¹⁴He will in no wise despise the supplication of the fatherless; Nor the widow, when she poureth out her tale. ¹⁵Do not the tears of the widow run down her cheek? And is not her cry against him that hath caused them to fall? ¹⁶He that serveth God according to his good pleasure shall be accepted, And his supplication shall reach unto the clouds. ¹⁷The prayer of the humble pierceth the clouds; And till it come nigh, he will not be comforted; And he will not depart, till the Most High shall visit; And he shall judge righteously, and execute judgement. ¹⁸And the Lord will not be slack, neither will he be longsuffering toward them, Till he have crushed the loins of the unmerciful; And he shall repay vengeance to the heathen; Till he have taken away the multitude of the haughty, And broken in pieces the sceptres of the unrighteous; ¹⁹ Till he have rendered to every man according to his doings, And to the works of men according to their devices; Till he have judged the cause of his people; And he shall make them to rejoice in his mercy. ²⁰ Mercy is seasonable in the time of his afflicting them, As clouds of rain in the time of drought.

¹Have mercy upon us, O Lord the God of all, and behold; ²And send thy fear upon all the nations: ³ Lift up thy hand against the strange nations; And let them see thy mighty power. ⁴As thou wast sanctified in us before them, So be thou magnified in them before us. ⁵And let them know thee, as we also have known thee, That there is no God but only thou, O God. ⁶Shew new signs, and work divers wonders; Glorify thy hand and thy right arm. ⁷ Raise up indignation, and pour out wrath; Take away the adversary, and destroy the enemy. ⁸ Hasten the time, and remember the oath; And let them declare thy mighty works. ⁹Let him that escapeth be devoured by the rage of fire; And may they that harm thy people find destruction. ¹⁰ Crush the heads of the rulers of the enemies, That say, There is none but we. ¹¹ Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, And take them for thine inheritance, as from the beginning. ¹² O Lord, have mercy upon the people that is called by thy name, And upon Israel, whom thou didst liken unto a firstborn. ¹³Have compassion upon the city of thy sanctuary, Jerusalem, the place of thy rest. ¹⁴Fill Sion; exalt thine oracles, And fill thy people with thy glory. ¹⁵Give testimony unto those that were thy creatures in the beginning, And raise up the prophecies that have been in thy name. ¹⁶Give reward unto them that wait for thee: And men shall put their trust in thy prophets. ¹⁷Hearken, O Lord, to the prayer of thy suppliants, According to the blessing of Aaron concerning thy people; And all they that are on the earth shall know That thou art the Lord, the eternal God. ¹⁸The belly will eat any meat; Yet is one meat better than another. ¹⁹

The mouth tasteth meats taken in hunting: So doth an understanding heart false speeches. ²⁰A froward heart will cause heaviness: And a man of experience will recompense him. ²¹A woman will receive any man; But one daughter is better than another. ²²The beauty of a woman cheereth the countenance; And a man desireth nothing so much. ²³If there is on her tongue mercy and meekness, Her husband is not like the sons of men. ²⁴He that getteth a wife entereth upon a possession; A help meet for him, and a pillar of rest. ²⁵Where no hedge is, the possession will be laid waste: And he that hath no wife will mourn as he wandereth up and down. ²⁶For who will trust a nimble robber, that skippeth from city to city? Even so who shall trust a man that hath no nest, and lodgeth wheresoever he findeth himself at nightfall?

¹ Every friend will say, I also am his friend: But there is a friend, which is only a friend in name. ² Is there not a grief in it even unto death, When a companion and friend is turned to enmity? ³O wicked imagination, whence camest thou rolling in To cover the dry land with deceitfulness? ⁴There is a companion, which rejoiceth in the gladness of a friend, But in time of affliction will be against him. ⁵ There is a companion, which for the belly's sake laboureth with his friend, In the face of battle will take up the buckler. ⁶ Forget not a friend in thy soul; And be not unmindful of him in thy riches. ⁷Every counsellor extolleth counsel; But there is that counselleth for himself. ⁸ Let thy soul beware of a counsellor, And know thou before what is his interest (For he will take counsel for himself); Lest he cast the lot upon thee, ⁹And say unto thee, Thy way is good: And he will stand over against thee, to see what shall befall thee. ¹⁰Take not counsel with one that looketh askance at thee; And hide thy counsel from such as are jealous of thee. ¹¹ Take not counsel with a woman about her rival; Neither with a coward about war; Nor with a merchant about exchange; Nor with a buyer about selling; Nor with an envious man about thankfulness; Nor with an unmerciful man about kindness; Nor with a sluggard about any kind of work; Nor with a hireling in thy house about finishing his work; Nor with an idle servant about much business: Give not heed to these in any matter of counsel. ¹²But rather be continually with a godly man, Whom thou shalt have known to be a keeper of the commandments, Who in his soul is as thine own soul, And who will grieve with thee, if thou shalt miscarry. ¹³And make the counsel of thy heart to stand; For there is none more faithful unto thee than it. ¹⁴For a man's soul is sometime wont to bring him tidings, More than seven watchmen that sit on high on a watch-tower. ¹⁵And above all this intreat the Most High, That he may direct thy way in truth. ¹⁶Let reason be the beginning of every work, And let counsel go before every action. ¹⁷As a token of the changing of the heart, ¹⁸four manner of things do rise up, Good and evil, life and death; And that which ruleth over them continually is the tongue. ¹⁹There is one that is shrewd and the instructor of many, And yet is unprofitable to his own soul. ²⁰There is one that is subtil in words, and is hated; He shall be destitute of all food: ²¹For grace was not given him from the Lord; Because he is deprived of all wisdom. ²²There is one that is wise to his own soul; And the fruits of his understanding are trustworthy in the mouth. ²³A wise man will instruct his own people; And the fruits of his understanding are trustworthy. ²⁴A wise man shall be filled with blessing; And all they that see him shall call him happy. ²⁵The life of man is numbered by days; And the days of Israel are innumerable. ²⁶The wise man shall inherit confidence among his people, And his name shall live for ever. ²⁷My son, prove thy soul in thy life, And see what is evil for it, and give not that unto it. ²⁸For all things are not profitable for all men, Neither hath every soul pleasure in every thing. ²⁹Be not insatiable in any luxury, And be not greedy on the things that thou eatest. ³⁰ For in multitude of meats there shall be disease, And surfeiting shall come nigh unto colic. ³¹ Because of surfeiting have many perished; But he that taketh heed shall prolong his life.

¹ Honour a physician according to thy need of him with the honours due unto him: For verily the Lord hath created him. ² For from the Most High cometh healing; And from the king he shall receive a gift. ³ The skill of the physician shall lift up his head; And in the sight of great men he shall be admired. ⁴ The Lord created medicines out of the earth; And a prudent man will have no disgust at them. ⁵ Was not water made sweet with wood, That the virtue thereof might be known? ⁶ And he gave men skill, That they might be glorified in his marvellous works. ⁷ With them doth he heal a man, And taketh away his pain. ⁸ With these will the apothecary make a confection; And his works shall not be brought to an end; And from him is peace upon the face of the earth. ⁹ My son, in thy sickness be not negligent; But pray unto the Lord, and he shall heal thee. ¹⁰ Put away wrong doing, and order thine hands aright, And cleanse thy heart from all manner of sin. ¹¹ Give a sweet savour, and a memorial of fine flour; And make fat thine offering, as one that is not. ¹² Then give place to the physician, for verily the Lord hath created him; And let him not go from thee, for thou hast need of him. ¹³ There is a time when in their very hands is the issue for good. ¹⁴ For they also shall beseech the Lord, That he may prosper them in giving relief and in healing for the maintenance of life. ¹⁵ He that sinneth before his Maker, Let him fall into the hands of the physician. ¹⁶ My son, let thy tears fall over the dead, And as one that suffereth grievously begin lamentation; And wind up his body according to his due, And neglect not his burial. ¹⁷ Make bitter weeping, and make passionate wailing, And let thy mourning be according to his desert, For one day or two, lest thou be evil spoken of: And so be comforted for thy sorrow. ¹⁸ For of sorrow cometh death, And sorrow of heart will bow down the strength. ¹⁹ In calamity sorrow also remaineth: And the poor man's life is grievous to the heart. ²⁰ Give not thy heart unto sorrow: Put it away, remembering the last end: ²¹ Forget it not, for there is no returning again: Him thou shalt not profit, and thou wilt hurt thyself. ²² Remember the sentence upon him; for so also shall thine be; Yesterday for me, and today for thee. ²³ When the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest; And be comforted for him, when his spirit departeth from him. ²⁴ The wisdom of the scribe cometh by opportunity of leisure; And he that hath little business shall become wise. ²⁵ How shall he become wise that holdeth the plough, That glorieth in the shaft of the goad, That driveth oxen, and is occupied in their labours, And whose discourse is of the stock of bulls? ²⁶ He will set his heart upon turning his furrows; And his wakefulness is to give his heifers their fodder. ²⁷ So is every artificer and workmaster, That passeth his time by night as by day; They that cut gravings of signets, And his diligence is to make great variety; He will set his heart to preserve likeness in his portraiture, And will be wakeful to finish his work. ²⁸ So is the smith sitting by the anvil, And considering the unwrought iron: The vapour of the fire will waste his flesh; And in the heat of the furnace will he wrestle with his work: The noise of the hammer will be ever in his ear, And his eyes are upon the pattern of the vessel; He will set his heart upon perfecting his works, And he will be wakeful to adorn them perfectly. ²⁹ So is the potter sitting at his work, And turning the wheel about with his feet, Who is alway anxiously set at his work, And all his handywork is by number; ³⁰ He will fashion the clay with his arm, And will bend its strength in front of his feet; He will apply his heart to finish the glazing; And he will be wakeful to make clean the furnace. ³¹ All these put their trust in their hands; And each becometh wise in his own work. ³²Without these shall not a city be inhabited, And men shall not sojourn nor walk up and down therein. ³³ They shall not be sought for in the council of the people, And in the assembly they shall not mount on high; They shall not sit on the seat of the judge, And they shall not understand the covenant of judgement: Neither shall they declare instruction and judgement; And where parables are they shall not be found. ³⁴But they will maintain the fabric of the world; And in the handywork of their craft is their prayer.

¹ Not so he that hath applied his soul, And meditateth in the law of the Most High; He will seek out the wisdom of all the ancients, And will be occupied in prophecies. ²He will keep the discourse of the men of renown, And will enter in amidst the subtilties of parables. ³ He will seek out the hidden meaning of proverbs, And be conversant in the dark sayings of parables. ⁴ He will serve among great men, And appear before him that ruleth: He will travel through the land of strange nations; For he hath tried good things and evil among men. ⁵ He will apply his heart to resort early to the Lord that made him, And will make supplication before the Most High, And will open his mouth in prayer, And will make supplication for his sins. ⁶ If the great Lord will, He shall be filled with the spirit of understanding: He shall pour forth the words of his wisdom, And in prayer give thanks unto the Lord. ⁷He shall direct his counsel and knowledge, And in his secrets shall he meditate. ⁸He shall shew forth the instruction which he hath been taught, And shall glory in the law of the covenant of the Lord. ⁹ Many shall commend his understanding; And so long as the world endureth, it shall not be blotted out: His memorial shall not depart, And his name shall live from generation to generation. ¹⁰ Nations shall declare his wisdom, And the congregation shall tell out his praise. ¹¹If he continue, he shall leave a greater name than a thousand: And if he die, he addeth thereto. ¹²YET more will I utter, which I have thought upon; And I am filled as the moon at the full. ¹³Hearken unto me, ye holy children, And bud forth as a rose growing by a brook of water: ¹⁴And give ye a sweet savour as frankincense, And put forth flowers as a lily, Spread abroad a sweet smell, and sing a song of praise; Bless ye the Lord for all his works. ¹⁵Magnify his name, And give utterance to his praise With the songs of your lips, and with harps; And thus shall ye say when ye utter his praise: ¹⁶All the works of the Lord are exceeding good, And every command shall be accomplished in his season. ¹⁷None can say, What is this? wherefore is that? For in his season they shall all be sought out. At his word the waters stood as a heap, And the receptacles of waters at the word of his mouth. ¹⁸At his command is all his good pleasure done; And there is none that shall hinder his salvation. ¹⁹The works of all flesh are before him; And it is not possible to be hid from his eyes. ²⁰He beholdeth from everlasting to everlasting; And there is nothing wonderful before him. ²¹None can say, What is this? wherefore is that? For all things are created for their uses. ²²HIS blessing covered the dry land as a river, And saturated it as a flood. ²³As he hath turned the waters into saltness; So shall the heathen inherit his wrath. ²⁴His ways are plain unto the holy; So are they stumblingblocks unto the wicked. ²⁵Good things are created from the beginning for the good; So are evil things for sinners. ²⁶The chief of all things necessary for the life of man Are water, and fire, and iron, and salt, And flour of wheat, and honey, and milk, The blood of the grape, and oil, and clothing. ²⁷All these things are for good to the godly; So to the sinners they shall be turned into evil. ²⁸There be winds that are created for vengeance, And in their fury lay on their scourges heavily; In the time of consummation they pour out their strength, And shall appease the wrath of him that made them. ²⁹Fire, and hail, and famine, and death, All these are created for vengeance; ³⁰ Teeth of wild beasts, and scorpions and adders, And a sword punishing the ungodly unto destruction. ³¹ They shall rejoice in his commandment, And shall be made ready upon earth, when need is; And in their seasons they shall not transgress his word. ³² Therefore from the beginning I was resolved, And I thought this, and left it in writing; ³³ All the works of the Lord are good: And he will supply every need in its season. ³⁴ And none can say, This is worse than that: For they shall all be well approved in their season. ³⁵ And now with all your heart and mouth sing ye praises, And bless the name of the Lord.

¹ Great travail is created for every man, And a heavy yoke is upon the sons of Adam, From the day of their coming forth from their mother's womb, Until the day for their burial in the mother of all things. ² The expectation of things to come, and the day of death, Trouble their thoughts, and cause fear of heart; ³ From him that sitteth on a throne of glory, Even unto him that is humbled in earth and ashes; ⁴ From him that weareth purple and a crown, Even unto him that is clothed with a hempen frock. ⁵ There is wrath, and jealousy, and trouble, and disquiet, And fear of death, and anger, and strife; And in the time of rest upon his bed His night sleep doth change his knowledge. ⁶ A little or nothing is his resting, And afterward in his sleep, as in a day of keeping watch, He is troubled in the vision of his heart, As one that hath escaped from the front of battle. ⁷ In the very time of his deliverance he awaketh, And marvelleth that the fear is nought. ⁸ It is thus with all flesh, from man to beast, And upon sinners sevenfold more. ⁹ Death, and bloodshed, and strife, and sword, Calamities, famine, tribulation, and the scourge; ¹⁰ All these things were created for the wicked, And because of them came the flood. ¹¹ All things that are of the earth turn to the earth again: And all things that are of the waters return into the sea.

¹²All bribery and injustice shall be blotted out; And good faith shall stand for ever. ¹³The goods of the unjust shall be dried up like a river, And like a great thunder in rain shall go off in noise. ¹⁴In opening his hands a man shall be made glad: So shall transgressors utterly fail. ¹⁵The children of the ungodly shall not put forth many branches; And are as unclean roots upon a sheer rock. ¹⁶The sedge that groweth upon every water and bank of a river Shall be plucked up before all grass. ¹⁷Bounty is as a garden of blessings, And almsgiving endureth for ever. ¹⁸The life of one that laboureth, and is contented, shall be made sweet; And he that findeth a treasure is above both. ¹⁹Children and the building of a city establish a man's name; And a blameless wife is counted above both. ²⁰Wine and music rejoice the heart; And the love of wisdom is above both. ²¹The pipe and the psaltery make pleasant melody; And a pleasant tongue is above both. ²²Thine eye shall desire grace and beauty; And above both the green blade of corn. ²³A friend and a companion never meet amiss; And a wife with her husband is above both. ²⁴Brethren and succour are for a time of affliction; And almsgiving is a deliverer above both. ²⁵Gold and silver will make the foot stand sure; And counsel is esteemed above them both. ²⁶Riches and strength will lift up the heart; And the fear of the Lord is above both: There is nothing wanting in the fear of the Lord, And there is no need to seek help therein. ²⁷The fear of the Lord is as a garden of blessing, And covereth a man above all glory. ²⁸My son, lead not a beggar's life; Better it is to die than to beg. ²⁹A man that looketh unto the table of another, His life is not to be counted for a life; He will pollute his soul with another man's meats: But a man wise and well-instructed will beware thereof. ³⁰In the mouth of the shameless begging will be sweet; And in his belly a fire shall be kindled.

¹O death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that is at peace in his possessions, Unto the man that hath nothing to distract him, and hath prosperity in all things, And that still hath strength to receive meat!

²O death, acceptable is thy sentence unto a man that is needy, and that faileth in strength, That is in extreme old age, and is distracted about all things, And is perverse, and hath lost patience!
³Fear not the sentence of death; Remember them that have been before thee, and that come after:
This is the sentence from the Lord over all flesh. ⁴And why dost thou refuse, when it is the good pleasure of the Most High?
Whether it be ten, or a hundred, or a thousand years, There is no inquisition of life in the grave.
⁵The children of sinners are abominable children, And they frequent the dwellings of the ungodly. ⁶ The inheritance of sinners' children shall perish, And with their posterity shall be a perpetual reproach. ⁷Children will complain of an ungodly father, Because they shall be reproached for his sake. ⁸Woe unto you, ungodly men, Which have forsaken the law of the Most High God! ⁹ If ye be born, ye shall be born to a curse; If ye die, a curse shall be your portion. ¹⁰ All things that are of the earth shall go back to the earth: So the ungodly shall go from a curse unto perdition. ¹¹The mourning of men is about their bodies: But the name of sinners being evil shall be blotted out. ¹² Have regard to thy name; For it continueth with thee longer than a thousand great treasures of gold. ¹³A good life hath its number of days; And a good name continueth for ever. ¹⁴My children, keep instruction in peace: But wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seen, What profit is in them both? ¹⁵ Better is a man that hideth his foolishness Than a man that hideth his wisdom. ¹⁶Wherefore shew reverence to my word: For it is not good to retain every kind of shame; And not all things are approved by all in good faith. ¹⁷Be ashamed of whoredom before father and mother: And of a lie before a prince and a mighty man; ¹⁸Of an offence before a judge and ruler; Of iniquity before the congregation and the people; Of unjust dealing before a partner and friend; ¹⁹And of theft in regard of the place where thou sojournest, And in regard of the truth of God and his covenant; And of leaning with thine elbow at meat; And of scurrility in the matter of giving and taking; ²⁰And of silence before them that salute thee; And of looking upon a woman that is a harlot; ²¹And of turning away thy face from a kinsman; Of taking away a portion or a gift; And of gazing upon a woman that hath a husband; ²²Of being over busy with his maid; and come not near her bed; Of upbraiding speeches before friends; And after thou hast given, upbraid not; ²³ Of repeating and speaking what thou hast heard; And of revealing of secrets. ²⁴So shalt thou be truly shamefast, And find favour in the sight of every man.

¹ Of these things be not ashamed, And accept no man's person to sin thereby: ²Of the law of the Most High, and his covenant; And of judgement to do justice to the ungodly; ³Of reckoning with a partner and with travellers; And of a gift from the heritage of friends; ⁴ Of exactness of balance and weights; And of getting much or little; ⁵Of indifferent selling of merchants; And of much correction of children; And of making the side of an evil servant to bleed. ⁶ Sure keeping is good, where an evil wife is; And where many hands are, shut thou close. ⁷Whatsoever thou handest over, let it be by number and weight; And in giving and receiving let all be in writing. ⁸ Be not ashamed to instruct the unwise and foolish, And one of extreme old age that contendeth with those that are young; And so shalt thou be well instructed indeed, And approved in the sight of every man living. ⁹ A DAUGHTER is a secret cause of wakefulness to a father; And the care for her putteth away sleep; In her youth, lest she pass the flower of her age; And when she is married, lest she should be hated: ¹⁰ In her virginity, lest she should be defiled And be with child in her father's house; And when she hath a husband, lest she should transgress; And when she is married, lest she should be barren. ¹¹ Keep a strict watch over a headstrong daughter, Lest she make thee a laughingstock to thine enemies, A byword in the city and notorious among the people, And shame thee before the multitude. ¹² LOOK not upon every body in regard of beauty, And sit not in the midst of women; ¹³For from garments cometh a moth, And from a woman a woman's wickedness. ¹⁴Better is the wickedness of a man than a pleasant-dealing woman, And a woman which putteth thee to shameful reproach. ¹⁵I will make mention now of the works of the Lord, And will declare the things that I have seen: In the words of the Lord are his works. ¹⁶The sun that giveth light looketh upon all things; And the work of the Lord is full of his glory. ¹⁷ The Lord hath not given power to the saints to declare all his marvellous works; Which the Almighty Lord firmly settled, That whatsoever is might be established in his glory. ¹⁸ He searcheth out the deep, and the heart, And he hath understanding of their cunning devices: For the Most High knoweth all knowledge, And he looketh into the signs of the world, ¹⁹ Declaring the things that are past, and the things that shall be, And revealing the traces of hidden things. ²⁰ No thought escapeth him; There is not a word hid from him. ²¹ The mighty works of his wisdom he hath ordered, Who is from everlasting to everlasting: Nothing hath been added unto them, nor diminished from them; And he had no need of any counsellor. ²² How desirable are all his works! One may behold this even unto a spark. ²³ All these things live and remain for ever in all manner of uses, And they are all obedient. ²⁴ All things are double one against another: And he hath made nothing imperfect. ²⁵ One thing establisheth the good things of another: And who shall be filled with beholding his glory?

¹The pride of the height is the firmament in its clearness, The appearance of heaven, in the spectacle of its glory. ²The sun when he appeareth, bringing tidings as he goeth forth, Is a marvellous instrument, the work of the Most High: ³At his noon he drieth up the country, And who shall stand against his burning heat? ⁴A man blowing a furnace is in works of heat, But the sun three times more, burning up the mountains: Breathing out fiery vapours, And sending forth bright beams, he dimmeth the eyes. ⁵Great is the Lord that made him; And at his word he hasteneth his course. ⁶The moon also is in all things for her season, For a declaration of times, and a sign of the world. ⁷From the moon is the sign of the feast day; A light that waneth when she is come to the full. ⁸The month is called after her name, Increasing wonderfully in her changing; An instrument of the hosts on high, Shining forth in the firmament of heaven; ⁹The beauty of heaven, the glory of the stars, An ornament giving light in the highest places of the Lord. ¹⁰At the word of the Holy One they will stand in due order, And they will not faint in their watches. ¹¹Look upon the rainbow, and praise him that made it; Exceeding beautiful in the brightness thereof. ¹²It compasseth the heaven round about with a circle of glory; The hands of the Most High have stretched it. ¹³BY his commandment he maketh the snow to fall apace, And sendeth swiftly the lightnings of his judgement. ¹⁴By reason thereof the treasure-houses are opened; And clouds fly forth as fowls. ¹⁵By his mighty power he maketh strong the clouds, And the hailstones are broken small: ¹⁶And at his appearing the mountains will be shaken, And at his will the south wind will blow. ¹⁷The voice of his thunder maketh the earth to travail; So doth the northern storm and the whirlwind: As birds flying down he sprinkleth the snow; And as the lighting of the locust is the falling down thereof: ¹⁸The eye will marvel at the beauty of its whiteness, And the heart will be astonished at the raining of it.

¹⁹ The hoar frost also he poureth on the earth as salt; And when it is congealed, it is as points of thorns. ²⁰ The cold north wind shall blow, And the ice shall be congealed on the water: It shall lodge upon every gathering together of water, And the water shall put on as it were a breastplate. ²¹ It shall devour the mountains, and burn up the wilderness, And consume the green herb as fire. ²² A mist coming speedily is the healing of all things; A dew coming after heat shall bring cheerfulness. ²³ By his counsel he hath stilled the deep, And planted islands therein.

²⁴ They that sail on the sea tell of the danger thereof; And when we hear it with our ears, we marvel. ²⁵ Therein be also those strange and wondrous works, Variety of all that hath life, the race of sea-monsters. ²⁶ By reason of him his end hath success, And by his word all things consist. ²⁷ WE may say many things, yet shall we not attain; And the sum of our words is, He is all. ²⁸ How shall we have strength to glorify him? For he is himself the great one above all his works. ²⁹ The Lord is terrible and exceeding great; And marvellous is his power. ³⁰ When ye glorify the Lord, exalt him as much as ye can; For even yet will he exceed: And when ye exalt him, put forth your full strength: Be not weary; for ye will never attain. ³¹ Who hath seen him, that he may declare him? And who shall magnify him as he is?

³² Many things are hidden greater than these; For we have seen but a few of his works. ³³ For the Lord made all things; And to the godly gave he wisdom.

CHAPTER 44

¹ Let us now praise famous men, And our fathers that begat us.

² The Lord manifested in them great glory, Even his mighty power from the beginning. ³ Such as did bear rule in their kingdoms, And were men renowned for their power, Giving counsel by their understanding, Such as have brought tidings in prophecies:

⁴ Leaders of the people by their counsels, And by their understanding men of learning for the people; Wise were their words in their instruction: ⁵ Such as sought out musical tunes, And set forth verses in writing: ⁶ Rich men furnished with ability, Living peaceably in their habitations: ⁷ All these were honoured in their generations, And were a glory in their days. ⁸ There be of them, that have left a name behind them, To declare their praises. ⁹ And some there be, which have no memorial; Who are perished as though they had not been, And are become as though they had not been born; And their children after them. ¹⁰ But these were men of mercy, Whose righteous deeds have not been forgotten. ¹¹ With their seed shall remain continually a good inheritance; Their children are within the covenants. ¹² Their seed standeth fast, And their children for their sakes. ¹³ Their seed shall remain for ever, And their glory shall not be blotted out. ¹⁴ Their bodies were buried in peace, And their name liveth to all generations. ¹⁵ Peoples will declare their wisdom, And the congregation telleth out their praise. ¹⁶ ENOCH pleased the Lord, and was translated, Being an example of repentance to all generations. ¹⁷ Noah was found perfect and righteous; In the season of wrath he was taken in exchange for the world; Therefore was there left a remnant unto the earth, When the flood came. ¹⁸ Everlasting covenants were made with him, That all flesh should no more be blotted out by a flood. ¹⁹ ABRAHAM was a great father of a multitude of nations; And there was none found like him in glory; ²⁰ Who kept the law of the Most High, And was taken into covenant with him: In his flesh he established the covenant; And when he was proved, he was found faithful. ²¹ Therefore he assured him by an oath, That the nations should be blessed in his seed; That he would multiply him as the dust of the earth, And exalt his seed as the stars, And cause them to inherit from sea to sea, And from the River unto the utmost part of the earth. ²² In Isaac also did he establish likewise, for Abraham his father's sake, The blessing of all men, and the covenant: ²³And he made it rest upon the head of Jacob; He acknowledged him in his blessings, And gave to him by inheritance, And divided his portions; Among twelve tribes did he part them.

¹And he brought out of him a man of mercy, Which found favour in the sight of all flesh; A man beloved of God and men, even Moses, Whose memorial is blessed. ²He made him like to the glory of the saints, And magnified him in the fears of his enemies. ³ By his words he caused the wonders to cease; He glorified him in the sight of kings; He gave him commandment for his people, And shewed him part of his glory. ⁴He sanctified him in his faithfulness and meekness; He chose him out of all flesh. ⁵He made him to hear his voice, And led him into the thick darkness, And gave him commandments face to face, Even the law of life and knowledge, That he might teach Jacob the covenant, And Israel his judgements. ⁶ He exalted Aaron, a holy man like unto him, Even his brother, of the tribe of Levi. ⁷He established for him an everlasting covenant, And gave him the priesthood of the people; He beautified him with comely ornaments, And girded him about with a robe of glory. ⁸He clothed him with the perfection of exultation; And strengthened him with apparel of honour, The linen breeches, the long robe, and the ephod. ⁹And he compassed him with pomegranates of gold, And with many bells round about, To send forth a sound as he went, To make a sound that might be heard in the temple, For a memorial to the children of his people; ¹⁰With a holy garment, with gold and blue and purple, the work of the embroiderer, With an oracle of judgement, even with the Urim and Thummim; ¹¹With twisted scarlet, the work of the craftsman; With precious stones graven like a signet, in a setting of gold, the work of the jeweller, For a memorial engraved in writing, after the number of the tribes of Israel; ¹² With a crown of gold upon the mitre, having graven on it, as on a signet, HOLINESS, An ornament of honour, a work of might, The desires of the eyes, goodly and beautiful. ¹³Before him there never have been any such; No stranger put them on, but his sons only, and his offspring perpetually. ¹⁴His sacrifices shall be wholly consumed Every day twice continually. ¹⁵Moses consecrated him, And anointed him with holy oil: It was unto him for an everlasting covenant, And to his seed, all the days of heaven, To minister unto him, and to execute also the priest's office, And bless his people in his name. ¹⁶He chose him out of all living To offer sacrifice to the Lord, Incense, and a sweet savour, for a memorial, To make reconciliation for thy people. ¹⁷He gave unto him in his commandments, Yea, authority in the covenants of judgements, To teach Jacob the testimonies, And to enlighten Israel in his law. ¹⁸Strangers gathered themselves together against him, And envied him in the wilderness, Even Dathan and Abiram with their company, And the congregation of Korah, with wrath and anger. ¹⁹The Lord saw it, and it displeased him; And in the wrath of his anger they were destroyed: He did wonders upon them, To consume them with flaming fire. ²⁰And he added glory to Aaron, And gave him a heritage: He divided unto him the firstfruits of the increase; And first did he prepare bread in abundance: ²¹For they shall eat the sacrifices of the Lord, Which he gave unto him and to his seed. ²²Howbeit in the land of the people he shall have no inheritance, And he hath no portion among the people: For he himself is thy portion and inheritance. ²³And Phinehas the son of Eleazar is the third in glory, In that he was zealous in the fear of the Lord, And stood fast in the good forwardness of his soul when the people turned away, And he made reconciliation for Israel. ²⁴Therefore was there a covenant of peace established for him, That he should be leader of the saints and of his people; That he and his seed Should have the dignity of the priesthood for ever.

²⁵ Also he made a covenant with David the son of Jesse, of the tribe of Judah; The inheritance of the king is his alone from son to son; So the inheritance of Aaron is also unto his seed. ²⁶ God give you wisdom in your heart To judge his people in righteousness, That their good things be not abolished, And that their glory endure for all their generations.

¹ Joshua the son of Nun was valiant in war, And was the successor of Moses in prophecies: Who according to his name was made great For the saving of God's elect, To take vengeance of the enemies that rose up against them, That he might give Israel their inheritance. ² How was he glorified in the lifting up his hands, And in stretching out his sword against the cities! ³ Who before him so stood fast? For the Lord himself brought his enemies unto him. ⁴ Did not the sun go back by his hand? And did not one day become as two? ⁵ He called upon the Most High and Mighty One, When his foes pressed him round about; And the great Lord heard him. ⁶ With hailstones of mighty power He caused war to break violently upon the nation, And in the going down he destroyed them that resisted; That the nations might know his armour, How that he fought in the sight of the Lord; For he followed after the Mighty One. ⁷ Also in the time of Moses he did a work of mercy, He and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, In that they withstood the adversary, Hindered the people from sin, And stilled the murmuring of wickedness. ⁸ And of six hundred thousand people on foot, they two alone were preserved To bring them into the heritage, Even into a land flowing with milk and honey. ⁹ Also the Lord gave strength unto Caleb, And it remained with him unto his old age; So that he entered upon the height of the land, And his seed obtained it for a heritage: ¹⁰ That all the children of Israel might see That it is good to walk after the Lord. ¹¹ Also the judges, every one by his name, All whose hearts went not a whoring, And who turned not away from the Lord,

May their memorial be blessed. ¹²
May their bones flourish again out of their place, And may the name of them that have been honoured be renewed upon their children.

¹³SAMUEL, the prophet of the Lord, beloved of his Lord, Established a kingdom, and anointed princes over his people.

¹⁴By the law of the Lord he judged the congregation, And the Lord visited Jacob. ¹⁵ By his faithfulness he was proved to be a prophet, And by his words he was known to be faithful in vision. ¹⁶ Also when his enemies pressed him round about He called upon the Lord, the Mighty One, With the offering of the sucking lamb.

¹⁷And the Lord thundered from heaven, And with a mighty sound made his voice to be heard. ¹⁸And he utterly destroyed the rulers of the Tyrians, And all the princes of the Philistines. ¹⁹Also before the time of his long sleep He made protestations in the sight of the Lord and his anointed, I have not taken any man's goods, so much as a shoe: And no man did accuse him. ²⁰ And after he fell asleep he prophesied, And shewed the king his end, And lifted up his voice from the earth in prophecy, To blot out the wickedness of the people.

CHAPTER 47

¹And after him rose up Nathan
To prophesy in the days of David.

²As is the fat when it is separated from the peace offering, So was David separated from the children of Israel. ³He played with lions as with kids, And with bears as with lambs of the flock. ⁴ In his youth did he not slay a giant, And take away reproach from the people, When he lifted up his hand with a sling stone, And beat down the boasting of Goliath?

⁵For he called upon the Most High Lord; And he gave him strength in his right hand, To slay a man mighty in war, To exalt the horn of his people. ⁶ So they glorified him for his ten thousands, And praised him for the blessings of the Lord, In that there was given him a diadem of glory. ⁷ For he destroyed the enemies on every side, And brought to nought the Philistines his adversaries, Brake their horn in pieces unto this day. ⁸In every work of his he gave thanks to the Holy One Most High with words of glory; With his whole heart he sang praise, And loved him that made him. ⁹ Also he set singers before the altar, And to make sweet melody by their music. ¹⁰He gave comeliness to the feasts, And set in order the seasons to perfection, While they praised his holy name, And the sanctuary sounded from early morning. ¹¹ The Lord took away his sins, And exalted his horn for ever; And gave him a covenant of kings, And a throne of glory in Israel. ¹²After him rose up a son, a man of understanding; And for his sake he dwelt at large. ¹³ Solomon reigned in days of peace; And to him God gave rest round about, That he might set up a house for his name, And prepare a sanctuary for ever. ¹⁴ How wise wast thou made in thy youth, And filled as a river with understanding! ¹⁵Thy soul covered the earth, And thou filledst it with dark parables. ¹⁶ Thy name reached unto the isles afar off; And for thy peace thou wast beloved. ¹⁷ For thy songs and proverbs and parables, And for thine interpretations, the countries marvelled at thee. ¹⁸By the name of the Lord God, Which is called the God of Israel, Thou didst gather gold as tin, And didst multiply silver as lead. ¹⁹ Thou didst bow thy loins unto women, And in thy body thou wast brought into subjection. ²⁰Thou didst blemish thine honour, And profane thy seed, To bring wrath upon thy children; And I was grieved for thy folly: ²¹ So that the sovereignty was divided, And out of Ephraim ruled a disobedient kingdom. ²² But the Lord will never forsake his mercy; And he will not destroy any of his works, Nor blot out the posterity of his elect; And the seed of him that loved him he will not take away; And he gave a remnant unto Jacob, And unto David a root out of him. ²³And so rested Solomon with his fathers; And of his seed he left behind him Rehoboam, Even the foolishness of the people, and one that lacked understanding, Who made the people to revolt by his counsel. Also Jeroboam the son of Nebat, Who made Israel to sin, And gave unto Ephraim a way of sin. ²⁴And their sins were multiplied exceedingly, To remove them from their land. ²⁵For they sought out all manner of wickedness, Till vengeance should come upon them.

¹Also there arose Elijah the prophet as fire, And his word burned like a torch: ²Who brought a famine upon them, And by his zeal made them few in number. ³ By the word of the Lord he shut up the heaven: Thrice did he thus bring down fire. ⁴How wast thou glorified, O Elijah, in thy wondrous deeds! And who shall glory like unto thee? ⁵ Who did raise up a dead man from death, And from the place of the dead, by the word of the Most High: ⁶ Who brought down kings to destruction, And honourable men from their bed: ⁷ Who heard rebuke in Sinai, And judgements of vengeance in Horeb: ⁸ Who anointed kings for retribution, And prophets to succeed after him: ⁹ Who was taken up in a tempest of fire, In a chariot of fiery horses: ¹⁰Who was recorded for reproofs in their seasons, To pacify anger, before it brake forth into wrath; To turn the heart of the father unto the son, And to restore the tribes of Jacob. ¹¹Blessed are they that saw thee, And they that have been beautified with love; For we also shall surely live. ¹²ELIJAH it was, who was wrapped in a tempest: And Elisha was filled with his spirit; And in all his days he was not moved by the fear of any ruler, And no one brought him into subjection. ¹³ Nothing was too high for him; And when he was laid on sleep his body prophesied. ¹⁴As in his life he did wonders, So in death were his works marvellous. ¹⁵For all this the people repented not, And they departed not from their sins, Till they were carried away as a spoil from their land, And were scattered through all the earth; And the people was left very few in number, And a ruler was left in the house of David. ¹⁶Some of them did that which was pleasing to God, And some multiplied sins. ¹⁷HEZEKIAH fortified his city, And brought in water into the midst of them: He digged the sheer rock with iron, And builded up wells for waters. ¹⁸ In his days Sennacherib came up, And sent Rabshakeh, and departed; And he lifted up his hand against Sion, And boasted great things in his arrogancy. ¹⁹Then were their hearts and their hands shaken, And they were in pain, as women in travail; ²⁰ And they called upon the Lord which is merciful, Spreading forth their hands unto him: And the Holy One heard them speedily out of heaven, And delivered them by the hand of Isaiah. ²¹ He smote the camp of the Assyrians, And his angel utterly destroyed them. ²² For Hezekiah did that which was pleasing to the Lord, And was strong in the ways of David his father, Which Isaiah the prophet commanded, Who was great and faithful in his vision. ²³ In his days the sun went backward; And he added life to the king. ²⁴He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to pass at the last; And he comforted them that mourned in Sion. ²⁵ He shewed the things that should be to the end of time, And the hidden things or ever they came.

CHAPTER 49

¹The memorial of Josiah is like the composition of incense Prepared by the work of the apothecary: It shall be sweet as honey in every mouth, And as music at a banquet of wine. ²He behaved himself uprightly in the conversion of the people, And took away the abominations of iniquity. ³ He set his heart right toward the Lord; In the days of wicked men he made godliness to prevail. ⁴Except David and Hezekiah and Josiah, All committed trespass: For they forsook the law of the Most High; The kings of Judah failed. ⁵For they gave their power unto others, And their glory to a strange nation. ⁶ They set on fire the chosen city of the sanctuary, And made her streets desolate, as it was written by the hand of Jeremiah. ⁷ For they entreated him evil; And yet he was sanctified in the womb to be a prophet, To root out, and to afflict, and to destroy; And in like manner to build and to plant. ⁸ It was Ezekiel who saw the vision of glory, Which God shewed him upon the chariot of the cherubim.

⁹For verily he remembered the enemies in storm, And to do good to them that directed their ways aright. ¹⁰Also of the twelve prophets May the bones flourish again out of their place. And he comforted Jacob, And delivered them by confidence of hope.

¹¹HOW shall we magnify Zerubbabel? And he was as a signet on the right hand: ¹²So was Jesus the son of Josedek: Who in their days builded the house, And exalted a people holy to the Lord, Prepared for everlasting glory.

¹³Also of Nehemiah the memorial is great; Who raised up for us the walls that were fallen, And set up the gates and bars, And raised up our homes again. ¹⁴NO man was created upon the earth such as was Enoch; For he was taken up from the earth. ¹⁵ Neither was there a man born like unto Joseph, A governor of his brethren, a stay of the people: Yea, his bones were visited. ¹⁶ Shem and Seth were glorified among men; And above every living thing in the creation is Adam.

CHAPTER 50

¹ It was Simon, the son of Onias, the great priest, Who in his life repaired the house, And in his days strengthened the temple: ²And by him was built from the foundation the height of the double wall, The lofty underworks of the inclosure of the temple: ³In his days the cistern of waters was diminished, The brasen vessel in compass as the sea. ⁴ It was he that took thought for his people that they should not fall, And fortified the city against besieging: ⁵How glorious was he when the people gathered round him At his coming forth out of the sanctuary! ⁶ As the morning star in the midst of a cloud, As the moon at the full: ⁷ As the sun shining forth upon the temple of the Most High, And as the rainbow giving light in clouds of glory: ⁸As the flower of roses in the days of new fruits, As lilies at the waterspring, As the shoot of the frankincense tree in the time of summer: ⁹ As fire and incense in the censer, As a vessel all of beaten gold Adorned with all manner of precious stones: ¹⁰ As an olive tree budding forth fruits, And as a cypress growing high among the clouds. ¹¹When he took up the robe of glory, And put on the perfection of exultation, In the ascent of the holy altar, He made glorious the precinct of the sanctuary. ¹²And when he received the portions out of the priests' hands, Himself also standing by the hearth of the altar, His brethren as a garland round about him, He was as a young cedar in Libanus; And as stems of palm trees compassed they him round about, ¹³And all the sons of Aaron in their glory, And the Lord's offering in their hands, before all the congregation of Israel. ¹⁴And finishing the service at the altars, That he might adorn the offering of the Most High, the Almighty, ¹⁵He stretched out his hand to the cup, And poured of the blood of the grape; He poured out at the foot of the altar A sweet-smelling savour unto the Most High, the King of all. ¹⁶Then shouted the sons of Aaron, They sounded the trumpets of beaten work, They made a great noise to be heard, For a remembrance before the Most High. ¹⁷Then all the people together hasted, And fell down upon the earth on their faces To worship their Lord, the Almighty, God Most High. ¹⁸ The singers also praised him with their voices; In the whole house was there made sweet melody. ¹⁹And the people besought the Lord Most High, In prayer before him that is merciful, Till the worship of the Lord should be ended; And so they accomplished his service. ²⁰Then he went down, and lifted up his hands Over the whole congregation of the children of Israel, To give blessing unto the Lord with his lips, And to glory in his name. ²¹And he bowed himself down in worship the second time, To declare the blessing from the Most High. ²²And now bless ye the God of all,

Which everywhere doeth great things, Which exalteth our days from the womb, And dealeth with us according to his mercy. ²³May he grant us joyfulness of heart, And that peace may be in our days in Israel for the days of eternity: ²⁴To intrust his mercy with us; And let him deliver us in his time! ²⁵WITH two nations is my soul vexed, And the third is no nation: ²⁶They that sit upon the mountain of Samaria, and the Philistines, And that foolish people that dwelleth in Sichem. ²⁷I Have written in this book the instruction of understanding and knowledge, I Jesus, the son of Sirach Eleazar, of Jerusalem, Who out of his heart poured forth wisdom. ²⁸Blessed is he that shall be exercised in these things; And he that layeth them up in his heart shall become wise. ²⁹For if he do them, he shall be strong to all things: For the light of the Lord is his guide.

A Prayer of Jesus the son of Sirach. ¹ I will give thanks unto thee, O Lord, O King, And will praise thee, God my Saviour: I do give thanks unto thy name: ²For thou wast my protector and helper, And didst deliver my body out of destruction, And out of the snare of a slanderous tongue, From lips that forge lies, And wast my helper before them that stood by; ³And didst deliver me, according to the abundance of thy mercy, and greatness of thy name, From the gnashings of teeth ready to devour, Out of the hand of such as sought my life, Out of the manifold afflictions which I had; ⁴ From the choking of a fire on every side, And out of the midst of fire which I kindled not; ⁵Out of the depth of the belly of the grave, And from an unclean tongue, And from lying words, ⁶The slander of an unrighteous tongue unto the king. My soul drew near even unto death, And my life was near to the grave beneath. ⁷They compassed me on every side, And there was none to help me. I was looking for the succour of men, And it was not. ⁸And I remembered thy mercy, O Lord, And thy working which hath been from everlasting, How thou deliverest them that wait for thee, And savest them out of the hand of the enemies. ⁹And I lifted up my supplication from the earth, And prayed for deliverance from death. ¹⁰I called upon the Lord, the Father of my Lord, That he would not forsake me in the days of affliction, In the time when there was no help against the proud. ¹¹I will praise thy name continually, And will sing praise with thanksgiving; And my supplication was heard: ¹²For thou savedst me from destruction, And deliveredst me from the evil time: Therefore will I give thanks and praise unto thee, And bless the name of the Lord. ¹³When I was yet young, Or ever I went abroad, I sought wisdom openly in my prayer. ¹⁴ Before the temple I asked for her, And I will seek her out even to the end. ¹⁵From her flower as from the ripening grape my heart delighted in her: My foot trod in uprightness, From my youth I tracked her out. ¹⁶I bowed down mine ear a little, and received her, And found for myself much instruction. ¹⁷I profited in her: Unto him that giveth me wisdom I will give glory. ¹⁸For I purposed to practise her, And I was zealous for that which is good; And I shall never be put to shame. ¹⁹My soul hath wrestled in her, And in my doing I was exact: I spread forth my hands to the heaven above, And bewailed my ignorances of her. ²⁰I set my soul aright unto her, And in pureness I found her. I gat me a heart joined with her from the beginning: Therefore shall I not be forsaken. ²¹My inward part also was troubled to seek her: Therefore have I gotten a good possession. ²²The Lord gave me a tongue for my reward; And I will praise him therewith. ²³DRAW near unto me, ye unlearned, And lodge in the house of instruction. ²⁴Say, wherefore are ye lacking in these things, And your souls are very thirsty? ²⁵I opened my mouth and spake, Get her for yourselves without money. ²⁶Put your neck under the yoke, And let your soul receive instruction: She is hard at hand to find. ²⁷Behold with your eyes, How that I laboured but a little, And found for myself much rest. ²⁸Get you instruction with a great sum of silver, And gain much gold by her. ²⁹May your soul rejoice in his mercy, And may ye not be put to shame in praising him. ³⁰Work your work before the time cometh, And in his time he will give you your reward.

BARUCH

¹And these are the words of the book, which Baruch the son of Nerias, the son of Maaseas, the son of Sedekias, the son of Asadias, the son of Helkias, wrote in Babylon, ²In the fifth year, and in the seventh day of the month, what time as the Chaldeans took Jerusalem, and burnt it with fire. ³And Baruch did read the words of this book in the hearing of Jechonias the son of Joakim king of Judah, and in the hearing of all the people that came to hear the book, ⁴And in the hearing of the mighty men, and of the kings' sons, and in the hearing of the elders, and in the hearing of all the people, from the least unto the greatest, even of all them that dwelt at Babylon by the river Sud. ⁵And they wept, and fasted, and prayed before the Lord; ⁶They made also a collection of money according to every man's power: ⁷And they sent it to Jerusalem unto Joakim the high priest, the son of Helkias, the son of Salom, and to the priests, and to all the people which were found with him at Jerusalem, ⁸At the same time when he took the vessels of the house of the Lord, that had been carried out of the temple, to return them into the land of Judah, the tenth day of the month Sivan, namely, silver vessels, which Sedekias the son of Josias king of Judah had made, ⁹After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had carried away Jechonias, and the princes, and the captives, and the mighty men, and the people of the land, from Jerusalem, and brought them unto Babylon. ¹⁰And they said, Behold, we have sent you money; buy you therefore with the money burnt offerings, and sin offerings, and incense, and prepare an oblation, and offer upon the altar of the Lord our God; ¹¹And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his son, that their days may be as the days of heaven above the earth: ¹²And the Lord will give us strength, and lighten our eyes, and we shall live under the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and under the shadow of Baltasar his son, and we shall serve them many days, and find favour in their sight. ¹³Pray for us also unto the Lord our God, for we have sinned against the Lord our God; and unto this day the wrath of the Lord and his indignation is not turned from us. ¹⁴And ye shall read this book which we have sent unto you, to make confession in the house of the Lord, upon the day of the feast and on the days of the solemn assembly. ¹⁵And ye shall say, To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but unto us confusion of face, as at this day, unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. ¹⁶And to our kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers: ¹⁷For that we have sinned before the Lord, ¹⁸And disobeyed him, and have not hearkened unto the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in the commandments of the Lord that he hath set before us: ¹⁹Since the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, unto this present day, we have been disobedient unto the Lord our God, and we have dealt unadvisedly in not hearkening unto his voice.

²⁰Wherefore the plagues clave unto us, and the curse, which the Lord commanded Moses his servant to pronounce in the day that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land that floweth with milk and honey, as at this day. ²¹Nevertheless we hearkened not unto the voice of the Lord our God, according unto all the words of the prophets, whom he sent unto us: ²²But we walked every man in the imagination of his own wicked heart, to serve strange gods, and to do that which is evil in the sight of the Lord our God.

¹ Therefore the Lord hath made good his word, which he pronounced against us, and against our judges that judged Israel, and against our kings, and against our princes, and against the men of Israel and Judah, ²To bring upon us great plagues, such as never happened under the whole heaven, as it came to pass in Jerusalem, according to the things that are written in the law of Moses; ³That we should eat every man the flesh of his own son, and every man the flesh of his own daughter. ⁴Moreover he hath given them to be in subjection to all the kingdoms that are round about us, to be a reproach and a desolation among all the people round about, where the Lord hath scattered them. ⁵Thus were they cast down, and not exalted, because we sinned against the Lord our God, in not hearkening unto his voice. ⁶To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness: but unto us and to our fathers confusion of face, as at this day. ⁷For all these plagues are come upon us, which the Lord hath pronounced against us. ⁸Yet have we not intreated the favour of the Lord, in turning every one from the thoughts of his wicked heart. ⁹Therefore hath the Lord kept watch over the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them upon us; for the Lord is righteous in all his works which he hath commanded us. ¹⁰Yet we have not hearkened unto his voice, to walk in the commandments of the Lord that he hath set before us. ¹¹And now, O Lord, thou God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and with signs, and with wonders, and with great power, and with a high arm, and hast gotten thyself a name, as at this day: ¹²O Lord our God, we have sinned, we have done ungodly, we have dealt unrighteously in all thine ordinances. ¹³Let thy wrath turn from us: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered us. ¹⁴Hear our prayer, O Lord, and our petition, and deliver us for thine own sake, and give us favour in the sight of them which have led us away captive: ¹⁵That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, because Israel and his posterity is called by thy name. ¹⁶O Lord, look down from thine holy house, and consider us: incline thine ear, O Lord, and hear: ¹⁷Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the grave, whose breath is taken from their bodies, will give unto the Lord neither glory nor righteousness: ¹⁸But the soul that is greatly vexed, which goeth stooping and feeble, and the eyes that fail, and the hungry soul, will give thee glory and righteousness, O Lord. ¹⁹For we do not present our supplication before thee, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, and of our kings. ²⁰For thou hast sent thy wrath and thine indignation upon us, as thou hast spoken by thy servants the prophets, saying, ²¹Thus saith the Lord, Bow your shoulders to serve the king of Babylon, and remain in the land that I gave unto your fathers. ²²But if ye will not hear the voice of the Lord, to serve the king of Babylon, ²³I will cause to cease out of the cities of Judah, and from without Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: and the whole land shall be desolate without inhabitant. ²⁴But we would not hearken unto thy voice, to serve the king of Babylon: therefore hast thou made good thy words that thou spakest by thy servants the prophets, namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers, should be taken out of their places. ²⁵And, lo, they are cast out to the heat by day, and to the frost by night, and they died in great miseries by famine, by sword, and by pestilence. ²⁶And the house which is called by thy name hast thou laid waste, as at this day, for the wickedness of the house of Israel and the house of Judah. ²⁷Yet, O Lord our God, thou hast dealt with us after all thy kindness, and according to all that great mercy of thine, ²⁸As thou spakest by thy servant Moses in the day when thou didst command him to write thy law before the children of Israel, saying, ²⁹If ye will not hear my voice, surely this very great multitude shall be turned into a small number among the nations, where I will scatter them. ³⁰For I know that they will not hear me, because it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captivity they shall lay it to heart, ³¹And shall know that I am the Lord their God: and I will give them a heart, and ears to hear: ³²And they shall praise me in the land of their captivity, and think upon my name, ³³And shall return from their stiff neck, and from their wicked deeds: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord. ³⁴And I will bring them again into the land which I swore unto their fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished. ³⁵And I will make an everlasting covenant with them to be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more remove my people of Israel out of the land that I have given them.

¹O Lord Almighty, thou God of Israel, the soul in anguish, the troubled spirit, crieth unto thee. ²Hear, O Lord, and have mercy; for thou art a merciful God: yea, have mercy upon us, because we have sinned before thee. ³For thou sittest as king for ever, and we perish evermore. ⁴O Lord Almighty, thou God of Israel, hear now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of the children of them which were sinners before thee, that hearkened not unto the voice of thee their God: for the

which cause these plagues came unto us. ⁵Remember not the iniquities of our fathers: but remember thy power and thy name now at this time. ⁶For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise. ⁷For for this cause thou hast put thy fear in our hearts, to the intent that we should call upon thy name: and we will praise thee in our captivity, for we have called to mind all the iniquity of our fathers, that sinned before thee. ⁸Behold, we are yet this day in our captivity, where thou hast scattered us, for a reproach and a curse, and to be subject to penalty, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which departed from the Lord our God. ⁹Hear, O Israel, the commandments of life: give ear to understand wisdom. ¹⁰How happeneth it, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies' land, that thou art waxen old in a strange country, that thou art defiled with the dead, ¹¹That thou art counted with them that go down into the grave? ¹²Thou hast forsaken the fountain of wisdom. ¹³For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest have dwelled in peace for ever. ¹⁴Learn where is wisdom, where is strength, where is understanding; that thou mayest know also where is length of days, and life, where is the light of the eyes, and peace. ¹⁵Who hath found out her place? and who hath come into her treasuries? ¹⁶Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts that are upon the earth; ¹⁷They that had their pastime with the fowls of the air, and they that hoarded up silver and gold, wherein men trust; and of whose getting there is no end? ¹⁸For they that wrought in silver, and were so careful, and whose works are past finding out, ¹⁹They are vanished and gone down to the grave, and others are come up in their steads. ²⁰Younger men have seen the light, and dwelt upon the earth: but the way of knowledge have they not known, ²¹Neither understood they the paths thereof: neither have their children laid hold of it: they are far off from their way. ²²It hath not been heard of in Canaan, neither hath it been seen in Teman. ²³The sons also of Agar that seek understanding, which are in the land, the merchants of Merran and Teman, and the authors of fables, and the searchers out of understanding; none of these have known the way of wisdom, or remembered her paths. ²⁴O Israel, how great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession! ²⁵Great, and hath none end; high, and unmeasurable. ²⁶There were the giants born that were famous of old, great of stature, and expert in war. ²⁷These did not God choose, neither gave he the way of knowledge unto them: ²⁸So they perished, because they had no wisdom, they perished through their own foolishness. ²⁹Who hath gone up into heaven, and taken her, and brought her down from the clouds? ³⁰Who hath gone over the sea, and found her, and will bring her for choice gold? ³¹There is none that knoweth her way, nor any that comprehendeth her path. ³²But he that knoweth all things knoweth her, he found her out with his understanding: he that prepared the earth for evermore hath filled it with fourfooted beasts: ³³He that sendeth forth the light, and it goeth; he called it, and it obeyed him with fear: ³⁴And the stars shined in their watches, and were glad: when he called them, they said, Here we be; they shined with gladness unto him that made them. ³⁵This is our God, and there shall none other be accounted of in comparison of him. ³⁶He hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath given it unto Jacob his servant, and to Israel that is beloved of him. ³⁷Afterward did she appear upon earth, and was conversant with men.

¹This is the book of the commandments of God, and the law that endureth for ever: all they that hold it fast are appointed to life; but such as leave it shall die. ²Turn thee, O Jacob, and take hold of it: walk towards her shining in the presence of the light thereof. ³Give not thy glory to another, nor the things that are profitable unto thee to a strange nation. ⁴O Israel, happy are we: for the things that are pleasing to God are made known unto us. ⁵Be of good cheer, my people, the memorial of Israel. ⁶Ye were sold to the nations, but not for destruction: because ye moved God to wrath, ye were delivered unto your adversaries. ⁷For ye provoked him that made you by sacrificing unto demons, and not to God. ⁸Ye forgot the everlasting God, that brought you up; ye grieved also Jerusalem, that nursed you. ⁹For she saw the wrath that is come upon you from God, and said, Hearken, ye women that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought upon me great mourning; ¹⁰For I have seen the captivity of my sons and daughters, which the Everlasting hath brought upon them. ¹¹For with joy did I nourish them; but sent them away with weeping and mourning. ¹²Let no man rejoice over me, a widow, and forsaken of many: for the sins of my children am I left desolate; because they turned aside from the law of God, ¹³And had no regard to his statutes, neither walked they in the ways of God's commandments, nor trod in the paths of discipline in his righteousness. ¹⁴Let them that dwell about Sion come, and remember ye the captivity of my sons and daughters, which the Everlasting hath brought upon them. ¹⁵For he hath brought a nation upon them from far, a shameless nation, and of a strange language, who neither revered old man, nor pitied child. ¹⁶And they have carried away the dear beloved sons of the widow, and left her that was alone desolate of her daughters. ¹⁷But I, what can I help you? ¹⁸For he that brought these plagues upon you will deliver you from the hand of your enemies. ¹⁹Go your way, O my children, go your way: for I am left desolate. ²⁰I have put off the garment of peace, and put upon me the sackcloth of my petition: I will cry unto the Everlasting as long as I live. ²¹Be of good cheer, O my children, cry unto God, and he shall deliver you from the power and hand of the enemies.

²²For I have trusted in the Everlasting, that he will save you; and joy is come unto me from the Holy One, because of the mercy which shall soon come unto you from the Everlasting your Saviour. ²³For I sent you out with mourning and weeping: but God will give you to me again with joy and gladness for ever. ²⁴For like as now they that dwell about Sion have seen your captivity: so shall they see shortly your salvation from our God, which shall come upon you with great glory, and brightness of the Everlasting. ²⁵My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee; but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread upon their necks. ²⁶My delicate ones have gone rough ways; they were taken away as a flock carried off by the enemies. ²⁷Be of good cheer, O my children, and cry unto God: for ye shall be remembered of him that hath brought these things upon you. ²⁸For as it was your mind to go astray from God: so, return and seek him ten times more.

²⁹For he that brought these plagues upon you shall bring you everlasting joy again with your salvation. ³⁰Be of good cheer, O Jerusalem: for he that called thee by name will comfort thee. ³¹Miserable are they that afflicted thee, and rejoiced at thy fall. ³²Miserable are the cities which thy children served: miserable is she that received thy sons. ³³For as she rejoiced at thy fall, and was glad of thy ruin: so shall she be grieved for her own desolation. ³⁴And I will take away her exultation in her great multitude, and her boasting shall be turned into mourning. ³⁵For fire shall come upon her from the Everlasting, long to endure; and she shall be inhabited of devils for a great time. ³⁶O Jerusalem, look about thee toward the east, and behold the joy that cometh unto thee from God. ³⁷Lo, thy sons come, whom thou sentest away, they come gathered together from the east to the west at the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the glory of God.

¹Put off, O Jerusalem, the garment of thy mourning and affliction, and put on the comeliness of the glory that cometh from God for ever. ²Cast about thee the robe of the righteousness which cometh from God; set a diadem on thine head of the glory of the Everlasting. ³For God will shew thy brightness unto every region under heaven. ⁴For thy name shall be called of God for ever 'The peace of righteousness, and 'The glory of godliness. ⁵Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand upon the height, and look about thee toward the east, and behold thy children gathered from the going down of the sun unto the rising thereof at the word of the Holy One, rejoicing that God hath remembered them. ⁶For they went from thee on foot, being led away of their enemies: but God bringeth them in unto thee borne on high with glory, as on a royal throne. ⁷For God hath appointed that every high mountain, and the everlasting hills, should be made low, and the valleys filled up, to make plain the ground, that Israel may go safely in the glory of God.

⁸Moreover the woods and every sweet-smelling tree have overshadowed Israel by the commandment of God. ⁹For God shall lead Israel with joy in the light of his glory with the mercy and righteousness that cometh from him.

PRAYER OF AZARIAH

¹ Azarias his praier and confession in the flame, ²⁴ wherewith the Chaldeans about the ouen were consumed, but the three children within it were not hurt. ²⁸ The Song of the three children in the ouen. ¹[And they walked in the midst of the fire, praising God, and blessing the Lord.] Then Azarias stood vp & prayed on this manner, and opening his mouth in the midst of the fire, said, ²Blessed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised, and glorified for euermore. ³For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast

done to vs: yea, true are all thy workes: thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements trueth. ⁴In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon the holy citie of our fathers, euen Ierusalem, thou hast executed true iudgement: for according to trueth and iudgement, didst thou bring all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes. ⁵For wee haue sinned and committed iniquitie, departing from thee. ⁶In all things haue we trespassed, and not obeyed thy Commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou hast commanded vs, that it might goe well with vs. ⁷Wherefore all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done in true iudgement. ⁸And thou didst deliuer vs into the hands of lawlesse enemies, most hatefull forsakers [of God] and to an vniust King, and the most wicked in all the world. ⁹And now wee can not open our mouthes, we are become a shame, and reproch to thy seruants, and to them that worship thee. ¹⁰Yet deliuer vs not vp wholly for thy Names sake, neither disanull thou thy Couenant: ¹¹And cause not thy mercy to depart from vs: for thy beloued Abrahams sake: for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thy holy Israels sake. ¹²To whom thou hast spoken and promised, That thou wouldest multiply their seed as the starres of heauen, and as the sand that lyeth vpon the sea shore. ¹³For we, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and bee kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes. ¹⁴Neither is there at this time, Prince, or Prophet, or leader, or burnt offering, or sacrifice, or oblation, or incense, or place to sacrifice before thee, and to finde mercie. ¹⁵Neuerthelesse in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be accepted. ¹⁶Like as in the burnt offering of rammes and bullockes, and like as in ten thousands of fat lambes: so let our sacrifice bee in thy sight this day, and [grant] that wee may wholly goe after thee: for they shall not bee confounded that put their trust in thee. ¹⁷And now wee follow thee, with all our heart, wee feare thee, and seeke thy face.

¹⁸Put vs not to shame: but deale with vs after thy louing kindenesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies. ¹⁹Deliuier vs also according to thy marueilous workes, and giue glory to thy Name, O Lord, and let all them that doe thy seruants hurt be ashamed. ²⁰And let them be confounded in all their power and might, and let their strength be broken. ²⁰ ²¹And let them know that thou art Lord, the onely God, and glorious ouer the whole world. ²²And the kings seruants that put them in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with rosin, pitch, towe, and small wood. ²² ²³So that the flame streamed forth aboue the furnace, fourtie and nine cubites: ²⁴And it passed through, and burnt those Caldeans it found about the furnace. ²⁵But the Angel of the Lord came downe into the ouen, together with Azarias and his fellowes, and smote the flame of the fire out of the ouen: ²⁶And made the mids of the furnace, as it had bene a moist whistling wind, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither hurt nor troubled them. ²⁶ ²⁷Then the three,

as out of one mouth, praised, glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying; ²⁸Blessed art thou, O Lord God of our fathers: and to be praised and exalted about all for euer. ²⁹And blessed is thy glorious and holy Name: and to be praised and exalted about all for euer. ³⁰Blessed art thou in the Temple of thine holy glory: and to be praised and glorified about all for euer. ³¹Blessed art thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and to be praised and exalted about all for euer. ³²Blessed art thou on the glorious Throne of thy kingdome: and to bee praised and glorified about all for euer. ³³Blessed art thou in the firmament of heauen: and about all to be praised and glorified for euer. ³⁴O all yee workes of the Lorde, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ³⁵O ye heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ³⁶O yee Angels of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ³⁷O all ye waters that be about the heauen, blesse yee the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ³⁸O all yee powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ³⁹O yee Sunne and Moone, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁰O ye starres of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴¹O euery showre and dew, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴²O all ye windes, blesse yee the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴³O yee fire and heate, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁴O yee Winter and Summer, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁵O ye dewes and stormes of snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁶O ye nights and dayes, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁷O ye light and darkenesse, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁸O yee yce and colde, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer. ⁴⁹O ye frost and snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him about all for euer.

⁵⁰O ye lightnings and clouds, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵¹O let the earth blesse the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵²O ye mountaines and little hils, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵³O all ye things that grow on the earth, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵⁴O yee fountaines, blesse yee the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵⁵O ye seas and riuers, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵⁶O ye whales and all that mooue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵⁷O all ye foules of the aire, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵⁷ ⁵⁸O all ye beasts and cattell, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁵⁹O ye children of men, blesse yee the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁶⁰O Israel blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁶¹O ye priests of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁶²O ye seruants of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁶³O ye spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord, praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁶⁴O ye holy and humble men of heart, blesse ye the Lord: praise and exalt him aboue all for euer. ⁶⁴ ⁶⁵O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, blesse ye the Lord, praise and exalt him aboue all for euer: for hee hath deliuered vs from hell, and saued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the mids of the furnace, [and] burning flame: euen out of the mids of the fire hath he deliuered vs. ⁶⁵ ⁶⁶O giue thanks vnto the Lord, because he is gracious: for his mercie endureth for euer. ⁶⁷O all ye that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods, praise him, and giue him thanks: for his mercie endureth for euer.

BEL AND THE DRAGON

¹And king Astyages was gathered to his fathers, and Cyrus the Persian received his kingdom. ²And Daniel lived with the king, and was honoured above all his friends. ³Now the Babylonians had an idol, called Bel, and there were spent upon him every day twelve great measures of fine flour, and forty sheep, and six firkins of wine. ⁴And the king did honour to it, and went daily to worship it: but Daniel worshipped his own God. And the king said unto him, Why dost thou not worship Bel? ⁵And he said, Because I may not do honour to idols made with hands, but to the living God, who hath created the heaven and the earth, and hath sovereignty over all flesh. ⁶Then said the king unto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a living god? or seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh every day? ⁷Then Daniel laughed, and said, O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and brass without, and did never eat or drink anything. ⁸So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said unto them, If ye tell me not who this is that devoureth these expenses, ye shall die. ⁹But if ye can shew me that Bel devoureth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemy against Bel. And Daniel said unto the king, Let it be according to thy word. ¹⁰Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten, beside their wives and children. And the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel. ¹¹So Bel's priests said, Lo, we will get us out: but thou, O king, set on the meat, and mingle the wine and set it forth, and shut the door fast, and seal it with thine own signet; ¹²And when thou comest in the morning, if thou find not that Bel hath eaten up all, we will suffer death: or else Daniel, that speaketh falsely against us. ¹³And they little regarded it: for under the table they had made a privy entrance, whereby they entered in continually, and consumed those things. ¹⁴And it came to pass, when they were gone forth, the king set the meat before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his servants to bring ashes, and they strewed all the temple with them in the presence of the king alone:

then went they out, and shut the door, and sealed it with the king's signet, and so departed. ¹⁵Now in the night came the priests with their wives and children, as they were wont to do, and did eat and drink up all. ¹⁶In the morning betime the king arose, and Daniel with him. ¹⁷And the king said, Daniel, are the seals whole? And he said, Yea, O king, they be whole. ¹⁸And as soon as he had opened the door, the king looked upon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit at all. ¹⁹Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not go in, and said, Behold now the pavement, and mark well whose footsteps are these. ²⁰And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children. And then the king was angry, ²¹And took the priests with their wives and children, who shewed him the privy doors, where they came in, and consumed such things as were upon the table. ²²Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniel's power, who overthrew him and his temple.

²³And in that same place there was a great dragon, which they of Babylon worshipped. ²⁴And the king said unto Daniel, Wilt thou also say that this is of brass? lo, he liveth, and eateth and drinketh; thou canst not say that he is no living god: therefore worship him. ²⁵Then said Daniel, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is a living God. ²⁶But give me leave, O king, and I shall slay this dragon without sword or staff. The king said, I give thee leave. ²⁷Then Daniel took pitch, and fat, and hair, and did seethe them together, and made lumps thereof: this he put in the dragon's mouth, so the dragon did eat and burst in sunder: and Daniel said, Lo, these are the gods ye worship. ²⁸When they of Babylon heard that, they took great indignation, and conspired against the king, saying, The king is become a Jew, and he hath pulled down Bel, and slain the dragon, and put the priests to the sword. ²⁹So they came to the king, and said, Deliver us Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house. ³⁰Now when the king saw that they pressed him sore, being constrained, the king delivered Daniel unto them: ³¹Who cast him into the lions' den: where he was six days. ³²And in the den there were seven lions, and they had given them every day two carcasses, and two sheep: which then were not given to them, to the intent they might devour Daniel. ³³Now there was in Jewry the prophet Habakkuk, who had made pottage, and had broken bread into a bowl, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers. ³⁴But the angel of the Lord said unto Habakkuk, Go carry the dinner that thou hast into Babylon unto Daniel, in the lions' den. ³⁵And Habakkuk said, Lord, I never saw Babylon; neither do I know where the den is. ³⁶Then the angel of the Lord took him by the crown, and lifted him up by the hair of his head, and with the blast of his breath set him in Babylon over the den. ³⁷And Habakkuk cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner which God hath sent thee. ³⁸And Daniel said, Thou hast remembered me, O God: neither hast thou forsaken them that love thee. ³⁹So Daniel arose, and did eat: and the angel of God set Habakkuk in his own place again immediately. ⁴⁰Upon the seventh day the king came to bewail Daniel: and when he came to the den, he looked in, and, behold, Daniel was sitting. ⁴¹Then cried the king with a loud voice, saying, Great art thou, O Lord, thou God of Daniel, and there is none other beside thee. ⁴²And he drew him out, and cast those that were the cause of his destruction into the den: and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

1 MACCABEES

¹And it came to pass, after that Alexander the Macedonian, the son of Philip, who came out of the land of Chittim, and smote Darius king of the Persians and Medes, it came to pass, after he had smitten him, that he reigned in his stead, in former time, over Greece. ²And he fought many battles, and won many strongholds, and slew the kings of the earth, ³And went through to the ends of the earth, and took spoils of a multitude of nations. And the earth was quiet before him, and he was exalted, and his heart was lifted up, ⁴And he gathered together an exceeding strong host, and ruled over countries and nations and principalities, and they became tributary unto him. ⁵And after these things he fell sick, and perceived that he should die. ⁶And he called his servants, which were honourable, which had been brought up with him from his youth, and he divided unto them his kingdom, while he was yet alive. ⁷And Alexander reigned twelve years, and he died. ⁸And his servants bare rule, each one in his place. ⁹And they did all put diadems upon themselves after that he was dead, and so did their sons after them many years: and they multiplied evils in the earth. ¹⁰And there came forth out of them a sinful root, Antiochus Epiphanes, son of Antiochus the king, who had been a hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundred and thirty and seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks. ¹¹In those days came there forth out of Israel transgressors of the law, and persuaded many, saying, Let us go and make a covenant with the Gentiles that are round about us; for since we were parted from them many evils have befallen us. ¹²And the saying was good in their eyes. ¹³And certain of the people were forward herein and went to the king, and he gave them licence to do after the ordinances of the Gentiles. ¹⁴And they built a place of exercise in Jerusalem according to the laws of the Gentiles; ¹⁵And they made themselves uncircumcised, and forsook the holy covenant, and joined themselves to the Gentiles, and sold themselves to do evil. ¹⁶And the kingdom was well ordered in the sight of Antiochus, and he thought to reign over Egypt, that he might reign over the two kingdoms. ¹⁷And he entered into Egypt with a great multitude, with chariots, and with elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great navy; ¹⁸And he made war against

Ptolemy king of Egypt; and Ptolemy was put to shame before him, and fled; and many fell wounded to death. ¹⁹And they got possession of the strong cities in the land of Egypt; and he took the spoils of Egypt. ²⁰And Antiochus, after that he had smitten Egypt, returned in the hundred and forty and third year, and went up against Israel and Jerusalem with a great multitude, ²¹And entered presumptuously into the sanctuary, and took the golden altar, and the candlestick of the light, and all that pertained thereto, ²²And the table of the shewbread, and the cups to pour withal, and the bowls, and the golden censers, and the veil, and the crowns, and the adorning of gold which was on the face of the temple, and he scaled it all off. ²³And he took the silver and the gold and the precious vessels; and he took the hidden treasures which he found. ²⁴And when he had taken all, he went away into his own land, and he made a great slaughter, and spake very presumptuously. ²⁵And there came great mourning upon Israel, in every place where they were; ²⁶And the rulers and elders groaned, the virgins and young men were made feeble, and the beauty of the women was changed. ²⁷Every bridegroom took up lamentation, she that sat in the marriage chamber was in heaviness. ²⁸And the land was moved for the inhabitants thereof, and all the house of Jacob was clothed with shame. ²⁹And after two full years the king sent a chief collector of tribute unto the cities of Judah, and he came unto Jerusalem with a great multitude. ³⁰And he spake words of peace unto them in subtilty, and they gave him credence: and he fell upon the city suddenly, and smote it very sore, and destroyed much people out of Israel. ³¹And he took the spoils of the city, and set it on fire, and pulled down the houses thereof and the walls thereof on every side. ³²And they led captive the women and the children, and the cattle they took in possession. ³³And they builded the city of David with a great and strong wall, with strong towers, and it became unto them a citadel.

³⁴And they put there a sinful nation, transgressors of the law, and they strengthened themselves therein. ³⁵And they stored up arms and victuals, and gathering together the spoils of Jerusalem, they laid them up there, and they became a sore snare: ³⁶And it became a place to lie in wait in against the sanctuary, and an evil adversary to Israel continually. ³⁷And they shed innocent blood on every side of the sanctuary, and defiled the sanctuary. ³⁸And the inhabitants of Jerusalem fled because of them; and she became a habitation of strangers, and she became strange to them that were born in her, and her children forsook her. ³⁹Her sanctuary was laid waste like a wilderness, her feasts were turned into mourning, her sabbaths into reproach, her honour into contempt. ⁴⁰According to her glory, so was her dishonour multiplied, and her high estate was turned into mourning. ⁴¹And king Antiochus wrote to his whole kingdom, that all should be one people, ⁴²And that each should forsake his own laws. And all the nations agreed according to the word of the king; ⁴³And many of Israel consented to his worship, and sacrificed to the idols, and profaned the sabbath. ⁴⁴And the king sent letters by the hand of messengers unto Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, that they should follow laws strange to the land, ⁴⁵And should forbid whole burnt offerings and sacrifice and drink offerings in the sanctuary; and should profane the sabbaths and feasts, ⁴⁶And pollute the sanctuary and them that were holy; ⁴⁷That they should build altars, and temples, and shrines for idols, and should sacrifice swine's flesh and unclean beasts: ⁴⁸And that they should leave their sons uncircumcised, that they should make their souls abominable with all manner of uncleanness and profanation; ⁴⁹So that they might forget the law, and change all the ordinances. ⁵⁰And whosoever shall not do according to the word of the king, he shall die. ⁵¹According to all these words wrote he to his whole kingdom; and he appointed overseers over all the people, and he commanded the cities of Judah to sacrifice, city by city. ⁵²And from the people were gathered together unto them many, every one that had forsaken the law; and they did evil things in the land; ⁵³And they made Israel to hide themselves in every place of refuge which they had. ⁵⁴And on the fifteenth day of Chislev, in the hundred and forty and fifth year, they builded an abomination of desolation upon the altar, and in the cities of Judah on every side they builded idol altars. ⁵⁵And at the doors of the houses and in the streets they burnt incense. ⁵⁶And they rent in pieces the books of the law which they found, and set them on fire. ⁵⁷And wheresoever was found with any a book of the covenant, and if any consented to the law, the king's sentence delivered him to death. ⁵⁸Thus did they in their might unto Israel, to those that were found month by month in the cities. ⁵⁹And on the five and twentieth day of the month they sacrificed upon the idol altar, which was upon the altar of God. ⁶⁰And the women that had circumcised their children they put to death according to the commandment. ⁶¹And they hanged their babes about their necks, and destroyed their houses, and them that had circumcised them. ⁶²And many in Israel were fully resolved and confirmed in themselves not to eat unclean things. ⁶³And they chose to die, that they might not be defiled with the meats, and that they might not profane the holy covenant: and they died. ⁶⁴And there came exceeding great wrath upon Israel.

¹In those days rose up Mattathias the son of John, the son of Simeon, a priest of the sons of Joarib, from Jerusalem; and he dwelt at Modin. ²And he had five sons, John, who was surnamed Gaddis; ³Simon, who was called Thassi; ⁴Judas, who was called Maccabæus; ⁵Eleazar, who was called Avaran; Jonathan, who was called Apphus. ⁶And he saw the blasphemies that were committed in Judah and in Jerusalem, ⁷And he said, Woe is me! wherefore was I born to see the destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy city, and to dwell there, when it was given into the hand of the enemy, the sanctuary into the hand of aliens? ⁸Her temple is become as a man that was glorious: ⁹Her vessels of glory are carried away into captivity, her infants are slain in her streets, her young men with the sword of the enemy. ¹⁰What nation hath not inherited her palaces, and gotten possession of her spoils? ¹¹Her adorning is all taken away; instead of a free woman she is become a bond woman: ¹²And, behold, our holy things and our beauty and our glory are laid waste, and the Gentiles have profaned them. ¹³Wherefore should we live any longer? ¹⁴And Mattathias and his sons rent their clothes, and put on sackcloth, and mourned exceedingly. ¹⁵And the king's officers, that were enforcing the apostasy, came into the city Modin to sacrifice. ¹⁶And many of Israel came unto them, and Mattathias and his sons were gathered together. ¹⁷And the king's officers answered and spake to Mattathias, saying, Thou art a ruler and an honourable and great man in this city, and strengthened with sons and brethren: ¹⁸Now therefore come thou first and do the commandment of the king, as all the nations have done, and the men of Judah, and they that remain in Jerusalem: and thou and thy house shall be in the number of the king's Friends, and thou and thy sons shall be honoured with silver and gold and many gifts. ¹⁹And Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, If all the nations that are in the house of the king's dominion hearken unto him, to fall away each one from the worship of his fathers, and have made choice to follow his commandments, ²⁰Yet will I and my sons and my brethren walk in the covenant of our fathers. ²¹Heaven forbid that we should forsake the law and the ordinances. ²²We will not hearken to the king's words, to go aside from our worship, on the right hand, or on the left. ²³And when he had left speaking these words, there came a Jew in the sight of all to sacrifice on the altar which was at Modin, according to the king's commandment. ²⁴And Mattathias saw it, and his zeal was kindled, and his reins trembled, and he shewed forth his wrath according to judgement, and ran, and slew him upon the altar. ²⁵And the king's officer, who compelled men to sacrifice, he killed at that time, and pulled down the altar. ²⁶And he was zealous for the law, even as Phinehas did unto Zimri the son of Salu. ²⁷And Mattathias cried out in the city with a loud voice, saying, Whosoever is zealous for the law, and maintaineth the covenant, let him come forth after me. ²⁸And he and his sons fled into the mountains, and forsook all that they had in the city. ²⁹Then many that sought after justice and judgement went down into the wilderness, to dwell there, ³⁰They, and their sons, and their wives, and their cattle; because evils were multiplied upon them. ³¹And it was told the king's officers, and the forces that were in Jerusalem, the city of David, that certain men, who had broken the king's commandment, were gone down into the secret places in the wilderness; ³²And many pursued after them, and having overtaken them, they encamped against them, and set the battle in array against them on the sabbath day. ³³And they said unto them, 'Thus far. Come forth, and do according to the word of the king, and ye shall live. ³⁴And they said, We will not come forth, neither will we do the word of the king, to profane the sabbath day. ³⁵And they hastened to give them battle. ³⁶And they answered them not, neither cast they a stone at them, nor stopped up the secret places, ³⁷Saying, Let us die all in our innocency: heaven and earth witness over us, that ye put us to death without trial. ³⁸And they rose up against them in battle on the sabbath, and they died, they and their wives and their children, and their cattle, to the number of a thousand souls. ³⁹And Mattathias and his friends knew it, and they mourned over them exceedingly. ⁴⁰And one said to another, If we all do as our brethren have done, and fight not against the Gentiles for our lives and our ordinances, they will now quickly destroy us from off the earth. ⁴¹And they took counsel on that day, saying, Whosoever shall come against us to battle on the sabbath day, let us fight against him, and we shall in no wise all die, as our brethren died in the secret places. ⁴²Then were gathered together unto them a company of Hasidæans, mighty men of Israel, every one that offered himself willingly for the law. ⁴³And all they that fled from the evils were added to them, and became a stay unto them. ⁴⁴And they mustered a host, and smote sinners in their anger, and lawless men in their wrath: and the rest fled to the Gentiles for safety. ⁴⁵And Mattathias and his friends went round about, and pulled down the altars; ⁴⁶And they circumcised by force the children that were uncircumcised, as many as they found in the coasts of Israel. ⁴⁷And they pursued after the sons of pride, and the work prospered in their hand. ⁴⁸And they rescued the law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of the kings, neither suffered they the sinner to triumph. ⁴⁹And the days of Mattathias drew near that he should die, and he said unto his sons, Now have pride and rebuke gotten strength, and a season of overthrow, and wrath of indignation. ⁵⁰And now, my children, be ye zealous for the law, and give your lives for the covenant of your fathers. ⁵¹And call to remembrance the deeds of our fathers which they did in their generations; and receive great glory and an everlasting name. ⁵²Was not Abraham found faithful in temptation, and it was reckoned unto him for righteousness? ⁵³Joseph in the time of his distress kept the commandment, and became lord of Egypt. ⁵⁴Phinehas our father, for that he was zealous exceedingly, obtained the covenant of an everlasting priesthood. ⁵⁵Joshua for fulfilling the word became a judge in Israel. ⁵⁶Caleb for bearing witness in the congregation obtained a heritage in the land. ⁵⁷David for being merciful inherited the throne of a kingdom for ever and ever. ⁵⁸Elijah, for that he was exceeding zealous for the law, was taken up into heaven. ⁵⁹Hananiah, Azariah, Mishael, believed, and were saved out of the flame. ⁶⁰Daniel for his innocency was delivered from the mouth of lions. ⁶¹And thus consider ye from generation to generation, that none that put their trust in him shall want for strength. ⁶²And be not afraid of the words of a sinful man; for his glory shall be dung and worms. ⁶³Today he shall be lifted up, and tomorrow he shall in no wise be found, because he is returned unto his dust, and his thought is perished. ⁶⁴And ye, my children, be strong, and shew yourselves men in behalf of the law; for therein shall ye obtain glory. ⁶⁵And, behold, Simon your brother, I know that he is a man of counsel; give ear unto him alway: he shall be a father unto you. ⁶⁶And Judas Maccabæus, he hath been strong and mighty from his youth: he shall be your captain, and shall fight the battle of the people. ⁶⁷And take ye unto you all the doers of the law, and avenge the wrong of your people. ⁶⁸Render a recompense to the Gentiles, and take heed to the commandments of the law. ⁶⁹And he blessed them, and was gathered to his fathers. ⁷⁰And he died in the hundred and forty and sixth year, and his sons buried him in the sepulchres of his fathers at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

¹ And his son Judas, who was called Maccabæus, rose up in his stead. ²And all his brethren helped him, and so did all they that clave unto his father, and they fought with gladness the battle of Israel. ³And he gat his people great glory, and put on a breastplate as a giant, and girt his warlike harness about him, and set battles in array, protecting the army with his sword. ⁴And he was like a lion in his deeds, and as a lion's whelp roaring for prey. ⁵And he pursued the lawless, seeking them out, and he burnt up those that troubled his people. ⁶And the lawless shrunk for fear of him, and all the workers of lawlessness were sore troubled, and salvation prospered in his hand. ⁷And he angered many kings, and made Jacob glad with his acts, and his memorial is blessed for ever. ⁸And he went about among the cities of Judah, and destroyed the ungodly out of the land, and turned away wrath from Israel: ⁹And he was renowned unto the utmost part of the earth, and he gathered together such as were ready to perish. ¹⁰And Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together, and a great host from Samaria, to fight against Israel. ¹¹And Judas perceived it, and he went forth to meet him, and smote him, and slew him: and many fell wounded to death, and the rest fled. ¹²And they took their spoils, and Judas took the sword of Apollonius, and therewith he fought all his days. ¹³And Seron, the commander of the host of Syria, heard say that Judas had gathered a gathering and a congregation of faithful men with him, and of such as went out to war; ¹⁴And he said, I will make myself a name and get me glory in the kingdom; and I will fight against Judas and them that are with him, that set at nought the word of the king. ¹⁵And there went up with him also a mighty army of the ungodly to help him, to take vengeance on the children of Israel. ¹⁶And he came near unto the going up of Bethhoron, and Judas went forth to meet him with a small company. ¹⁷But when they saw the army coming to meet them, they said unto Judas, What? shall we be able, being a small company, to fight against so great and strong a multitude? and we for our part are faint, having tasted no food this day. ¹⁸And Judas said, It is an easy thing for many to be shut up in the hands of a few; and with heaven it is all one, to save by many or by few; ¹⁹For victory in battle standeth not in the multitude of a host; but strength is from heaven. ²⁰They come unto us in fulness of insolence and lawlessness, to destroy us and our wives and our children, for to spoil us: ²¹But we fight for our lives and our laws. ²²And he himself will discomfit them before our face: but as for you, be ye not afraid of them. ²³Now when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly upon them, and Seron and his army were discomfited before him. ²⁴And they pursued them in the going down of Bethhoron unto the plain, and there fell of them about eight hundred men; but the residue fled into the land of the Philistines. ²⁵And the fear of Judas and his brethren, and the dread of them, began to fall upon the nations round about them: ²⁶And his name came near even unto the king, and every nation told of the battles of Judas. ²⁷But when king Antiochus heard these words, he was full of indignation: and he sent and gathered together all the forces of his realm, an exceeding strong army. ²⁸And he opened his treasury, and gave his forces pay for a year, and commanded them to be ready for every need. ²⁹And he saw that the money failed from his treasures, and that the tributes of the country were small, because of the dissension and plague which he had brought upon the land, to the end that he might take away the laws which had been from the first days; ³⁰And he feared that he should not have enough as at other times for the charges and the gifts which he gave aforetime with a liberal hand, and he abounded above the kings that were before him. ³¹And he was exceedingly perplexed in his mind, and he determined to go into Persia, and to take the tributes of the countries, and to gather much money. ³²And he left Lysias, an honourable man, and one of the seed royal, to be over the affairs of the king from the river Euphrates unto the borders of Egypt, ³³And to bring up his son Antiochus, until he came again. ³⁴And he delivered unto him the half of his forces, and the elephants, and gave him charge of all the things that he would have done, and concerning them that dwelt in Judæa and in Jerusalem, ³⁵That he should send a host against them, to root out and destroy the strength of Israel, and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to take away their memorial from the place; ³⁶And that he should make strangers to dwell in all their coasts, and should divide their land to them by lot. ³⁷And the king took the half that remained of the forces, and removed from Antioch, from his royal city, the hundred and forty and seventh year; and he passed over the river Euphrates, and went through the upper countries. ³⁸And Lysias chose Ptolemy the son of Dorymenes, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men of the king's Friends; ³⁹And with them he sent forty thousand footmen, and seven thousand horse, to go into the land of Judah, and to destroy it, according to the word of the king. ⁴⁰And they removed with all their host, and came and pitched near unto Emmaus in the plain country. ⁴¹And the merchants of the country heard the fame of them, and took silver and gold exceeding much, with fetters, and came into the camp to take the children of Israel for servants: and there were added unto them the forces of Syria and of the land of the Philistines. ⁴²And Judas and his brethren saw that evils were multiplied, and that the forces were encamping in their borders; and they took knowledge of the king's words which he had commanded, to destroy the people and make an end of them; ⁴³And they said each man to his neighbour, Let us raise up the ruin of our people, and let us fight for our people and the holy place. ⁴⁴And the congregation was gathered together, that they might be ready for battle, and that they might pray, and ask for mercy and compassion. ⁴⁵And Jerusalem was without inhabitant as a wilderness, there was none of her offspring that went in or went out; and the sanctuary was trodden down, and the sons of strangers were in the citadel, the Gentiles lodged therein; and joy was taken away from Jacob, and the pipe and the harp ceased. ⁴⁶And they gathered themselves together, and came to Mizpeh, over against Jerusalem; for in Mizpeh was there a place of prayer aforetime for Israel. ⁴⁷And they fasted that day, and put on sackcloth, and put ashes upon their heads, and rent their clothes, ⁴⁸And laid open the book of the law, concerning which the Gentiles were wont to inquire, seeking the likenesses of their idols. ⁴⁹And they brought the priests' garments, and the firstfruits, and the tithes: and they stirred up the Nazirites, who had accomplished their days. ⁵⁰And they cried aloud toward heaven, saying, What shall we do with these men, and whither shall we carry them away? ⁵¹And thy holy place is trodden down and profaned, and thy priests are in heaviness and brought low. ⁵²And, behold, the Gentiles are assembled together against us to destroy us: thou knowest what things they imagine against us. ⁵³How shall we be able to stand before them, except thou be our help? ⁵⁴And they sounded with the trumpets, and cried with a loud voice. ⁵⁵And after this Judas appointed leaders of the people, captains of thousands, and captains of hundreds, and captains of fifties, and captains of tens. ⁵⁶And he said to them that were building houses, and were betrothing wives, and were planting vineyards, and were fearful, that they should return, each man to his own house, according to the law. ⁵⁷And the army removed, and encamped upon the south side of Emmaus. ⁵⁸And Judas said, Gird yourselves, and be valiant men, and be in readiness against the morning, that ye may fight with these Gentiles, that are assembled together against us to destroy us, and our holy place: ⁵⁹For it is better for us to die in battle, than to look upon the evils of our nation and the holy place. ⁶⁰Nevertheless, as may be the will in heaven, so shall he do.

¹And Gorgias took five thousand footmen, and a thousand chosen horse, and the army removed by night, ²That it might fall upon the army of the Jews and smite them suddenly: and the men of the citadel were his guides. ³And Judas heard thereof, and removed, he and the valiant men, that he might smite the king's host which was at Emmaus, ⁴While as yet the forces were dispersed from the camp. ⁵And Gorgias came into the camp of Judas by night, and found no man; and he sought them in the mountains; for he said, These men flee from us. ⁶And as soon as it was day, Judas appeared in the plain with three thousand men: howbeit they had not armour nor swords to their minds. ⁷And they saw the camp of the Gentiles strong and fortified, and horsemen compassing it round about; and these were expert in war. ⁸And Judas said to the men that were with him, Fear ye not their multitude, neither be ye afraid of their onset. ⁹Remember how our fathers were saved in the Red sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with a host. ¹⁰And now let us cry unto heaven, if he will have us, and will remember the covenant of our fathers, and destroy this army before our face to-day: ¹¹And all the Gentiles shall know that there is one who redeemeth and saveth Israel. ¹²And the strangers lifted up their eyes, and saw them coming over against them: ¹³And they went out of the camp to battle. And they that were with Judas sounded their trumpets, ¹⁴And joined battle, and the Gentiles were discomfited, and fled into the plain. ¹⁵But all the hindmost fell by the sword: and they pursued them unto Gazara, and unto the plains of Idumæa and Azotus and Jamnia, and there fell of them about three thousand men. ¹⁶And Judas and his host returned from pursuing after them, ¹⁷And he said unto the people, Be not greedy of the spoils, inasmuch as there is a battle before us; ¹⁸And Gorgias and his host are nigh unto us in the mountain. But stand ye now against our enemies, and fight against them, and afterwards take the spoils with boldness. ¹⁹While Judas was yet making an end of these words, there appeared a part of them looking out from the mountain: ²⁰And they saw that their host had been put to flight, and that the Jews were burning the camp; for the smoke that was seen declared what was done. ²¹But when they perceived these things, they were sore afraid; and perceiving also the army of Judas in the plain ready for battle, ²²They fled all of them into the land of the Philistines. ²³And Judas returned to spoil the camp, and they got much gold, and silver, and blue, and sea purple, and great riches. ²⁴And they returned home, and sang a song of thanksgiving, and gave praise unto heaven; because his mercy is good, because his mercy endureth for ever. ²⁵And Israel had a great deliverance that day. ²⁶But the strangers, as many as had escaped, came and told Lysias all the things that had happened: ²⁷But when he heard thereof, he was confounded and discouraged, because neither had such things as he would been done unto Israel, nor had such things as the king commanded him come to pass. ²⁸And in the next year he gathered together threescore thousand chosen footmen, and five thousand horse, that he might subdue them. ²⁹And they came into Idumæa, and encamped at Bethsura; and Judas met them with ten thousand men. ³⁰And he saw that the army was strong, and he prayed and said, Blessed art thou, O Saviour of Israel, who didst quell the onset of the mighty man by the hand of thy servant David, and didst deliver the army of the Philistines into the hands of Jonathan the son of Saul, and of his armourbearer: ³¹Shut up this army in the hand of thy people Israel, and let them be ashamed for their host and their horsemen: ³²Give them faintness of heart, and cause the boldness of their strength to melt away, and let them quake at their destruction: ³³Cast them down with the sword of them that love thee, and let all that know thy name praise thee with thanksgiving. ³⁴And they joined battle; and there fell of the army of Lysias about five thousand men, and they fell down over against them. ³⁵But when Lysias saw that his array was put to flight, and the boldness that had come upon them that were with Judas, and how they were ready either to live or to die nobly, he removed to Antioch, and gathered together hired soldiers, that he might come again into Judæa with even a greater company. ³⁶But Judas and his brethren said, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let us go up to cleanse the holy place, and to dedicate it afresh. ³⁷And all the army was gathered together, and they went up unto mount Sion. ³⁸And they saw the sanctuary laid desolate, and the altar profaned, and the gates burned up, and shrubs growing in the courts as in a forest or as on one of the mountains, and the priests' chambers pulled down; ³⁹And they rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and put ashes upon their heads, ⁴⁰And fell on their faces to the ground, and blew with the solemn trumpets, and cried toward heaven. ⁴¹Then Judas appointed certain men to fight against those that were in the citadel, until he should have cleansed the holy place. ⁴²And he chose blameless priests, such as had pleasure in the law: ⁴³And they cleansed the holy place, and bare out the stones of defilement into an unclean place. ⁴⁴And they took counsel concerning the altar of burnt offerings, which had been profaned, what they should do with it: ⁴⁵And there came into their mind a good counsel, that they should pull it down, lest it should be a reproach to them, because the Gentiles had defiled

it: and they pulled down the altar, ⁴⁶And laid up the stones in the mountain of the house in a convenient place, until there should come a prophet to give an answer concerning them. ⁴⁷And they took whole stones according to the law, and built a new altar after the fashion of the former; ⁴⁸And they built the holy place, and the inner parts of the house; and they hallowed the courts. ⁴⁹And they made the holy vessels new, and they brought the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings and of incense, and the table, into the temple. ⁵⁰And they burned incense upon the altar, and they lighted the lamps that were upon the candlestick, and they gave light in the temple. ⁵¹And they set loaves upon the table, and spread out the veils, and finished all the works which they made. ⁵²And they rose up early in the morning, on the five and twentieth day of the ninth month, which is the month Chislev, in the hundred and forty and eighth year, ⁵³And offered sacrifice according to the law upon the new altar of burnt offerings which they had made. ⁵⁴At what time and on what day the Gentiles had profaned it, even on that day was it dedicated afresh, with songs and harps and lutes, and with cymbals. ⁵⁵And all the people fell upon their faces, and worshipped, and gave praise unto heaven, which had given them good success. ⁵⁶And they kept the dedication of the altar eight days, and offered burnt offerings with gladness, and sacrificed a sacrifice of deliverance and praise. ⁵⁷And they decked the forefront of the temple with crowns of gold and small shields, and dedicated afresh the gates and the priests' chambers, and made doors for them. ⁵⁸And there was exceeding great gladness among the people, and the reproach of the Gentiles was turned away. ⁵⁹And Judas and his brethren and the whole congregation of Israel ordained, that the days of the dedication of the altar should be kept in their seasons from year to year by the space of eight days, from the five and twentieth day of the month Chislew, with gladness and joy.

⁶⁰And at that season they builded up the mount Sion with high walls and strong towers round about, lest haply the Gentiles should come and tread them down, as they had done aforetime. ⁶¹And he set there a force to keep it, and they fortified Bethsura to keep it; that the people might have a stronghold over against Idumæa.

¹And it came to pass, when the Gentiles round about heard that the altar was built, and the sanctuary dedicated as aforetime, they were exceeding wroth. ²And they took counsel to destroy the race of Jacob that was in the midst of them, and they began to slay and destroy among the people. ³And Judas fought against the children of Esau in Idumæa at Akrabattine, because they besieged Israel: and he smote them with a great slaughter, and brought down their pride, and took their spoils. ⁴And he remembered the wickedness of the children of Bæan, who were unto the people a snare and a stumblingblock, lying in wait for them in the ways. ⁵And they were shut up by him in the towers; and he encamped against them, and destroyed them utterly, and burned with fire the towers of the place, with all that were therein. ⁶And he passed over to the children of Ammon, and found a mighty band, and much people, with Timotheus for their leader. ⁷And he fought many battles with them, and they were discomfited before his face; and he smote them, ⁸And gat possession of Jazer, and the villages thereof, and returned again into Judæa. ⁹And the Gentiles that were in Gilead gathered themselves together against the Israelites that were on their borders, to destroy them. And they fled to the stronghold of Dathema. ¹⁰And sent letters unto Judas and his brethren, saying, The Gentiles that are round about us are gathered together against us to destroy us: ¹¹And they are preparing to come and get possession of the stronghold whereunto we are fled for refuge, and Timotheus is the leader of their host. ¹²Now therefore come and deliver us from their hand, for many of us are fallen. ¹³And all our brethren that were in the land of Tubias have been put to death; and they have carried into captivity their wives and their children and their stuff; and they destroyed there about a thousand men. ¹⁴While the letters were yet reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galilee with their clothes rent, bringing a report after this wise, ¹⁵Saying, That there were gathered together against them those of Ptolemais, and of Tyre, and of Sidon, and all Galilee of the Gentiles, to consume them. ¹⁶Now when Judas and the people heard these words, there assembled together a great congregation, to consult what they should do for their brethren, that were in tribulation, and were assaulted of them. ¹⁷And Judas said unto Simon his brother, Choose thee out men, and go and deliver thy brethren that are in Galilee, but I and Jonathan my brother will go into the land of Gilead. ¹⁸And he left Joseph the son of Zacharias, and Azarias, as leaders of the people, with the remnant of the host, in Judæa, for to keep it. ¹⁹And he gave commandment unto them, saying, Take ye the charge of this people, and fight no battle with the Gentiles until that we come again. ²⁰And unto Simon were divided three thousand men to go into Galilee, but unto Judas eight thousand men to go into the land of Gilead. ²¹And Simon went into Galilee, and fought many battles with the Gentiles, and the Gentiles were discomfited before him. ²²And he pursued them unto the gate of Ptolemais; and there fell of the Gentiles about three thousand men, and he took their spoils. ²³And they took to them those that were in Galilee, and in Arbatta, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Judæa with great gladness. ²⁴And Judas Maccabæus and his brother Jonathan passed over Jordan, and went three days' journey in the wilderness; ²⁵And they met with the Nabathæans, and these met them in a peaceable manner, and told them all things that had befallen their brethren in the land of Gilead: ²⁶And how that many of them were shut up in Bosora, and Bosor, and Alema, Casphor, Maked, and Carnaim; all these cities are strong and great: ²⁷And how that they were shut up in the rest of the cities of the land of Gilead, and that to-morrow they have appointed to encamp against the strongholds, and to take them, and to destroy all these men in one day. ²⁸And Judas and his army turned suddenly by the way of the wilderness unto Bosora; and he took the city, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and took all their spoils, and burned the city with fire. ²⁹And he removed from thence by night, and went till he came to the stronghold. ³⁰And the morning came, and they lifted up their eyes, and, behold, much people which could not be numbered, bearing ladders and engines of war, to take the stronghold; and they were fighting against them. ³¹And Judas saw that the battle was begun, and that the cry of the city went up to heaven, with trumpets and a great sound, ³²And he said unto the men of his host, Fight this day for your brethren. ³³And he went forth behind them in three companies, and they sounded with their trumpets, and cried out in prayer. ³⁴And the army of Timotheus perceived that it was Maccabæus, and they fled from before him: and he smote them with a great slaughter; and there fell of them on that day about eight thousand men. ³⁵And he turned aside to Mizpeh and fought against it, and took it, and slew all the males thereof, and took the spoils thereof, and burned it with fire. ³⁶From thence he removed, and took Casphor, Maked, Bosor, and the other cities of the land of Gilead. ³⁷Now after these things Timotheus gathered another army, and encamped over against Raphon beyond the brook. ³⁸And Judas sent men to espy the army; and they brought him word, saying, All the Gentiles that be round about us are gathered together unto them, an exceeding great host. ³⁹And they have hired Arabians to help them, and are encamping beyond the brook, ready to come against thee to battle. And Judas went to meet them. ⁴⁰And Timotheus said unto the captains of his host, when Judas and his army drew nigh unto the brook of water, If he pass over first unto us, we shall not be able to withstand him; for he will mightily prevail against us: ⁴¹But if he be afraid, and encamp beyond the river, we will cross over unto him, and prevail against him. ⁴²Now when Judas came nigh unto the brook of water, he caused the scribes of the people to remain by the brook, and gave commandment unto them, saying, Suffer no man to encamp, but let all come to the battle. ⁴³And he crossed over the first against them, and all the people after him: and all the Gentiles were discomfited before his face, and cast away their arms, and fled unto the temple at Carnaim. ⁴⁴And they took the city, and burned the temple with fire, together with all that were therein. And Carnaim was subdued, neither could they stand any longer before the face of Judas. ⁴⁵And Judas gathered together all Israel, them that were in the land of Gilead, from the least unto the greatest, and their wives, and their children, and their stuff, an exceeding great army, that they might come into the land of Judah. ⁴⁶And they came as far as Ephron, and this same city was great, and it was in the way as they should go, exceeding strong: they could not turn aside from it on the right hand or on the left, but must needs pass through the midst of it. ⁴⁷And they of the city shut them out, and stopped up the gates with stones. ⁴⁸And Judas sent unto them with words of peace, saying, We will pass through thy land to go into our own land, and none shall do you any hurt, we will only pass by on our feet. And they would not open unto him. ⁴⁹And Judas commanded proclamation to be made in the army, that each man should encamp in the place where he was. ⁵⁰And the men of the host encamped, and fought against the city all that day and all that night, and the city was delivered into his hands; ⁵¹And he destroyed all the males with the edge of the sword, and rased the city, and took the spoils thereof, and passed through the city over them that were slain. ⁵²And they went over Jordan into the great plain over against Bethshan. ⁵³And Judas gathered together those that lagged behind, and encouraged the people all the way through, until he came into the land of Judah. ⁵⁴And they went up to mount Sion with gladness and joy, and offered whole burnt offerings, because not so much as one of them was slain until they returned in peace. ⁵⁵And in the days when Judas and Jonathan were in the land of Gilead, and Simon his brother in Galilee before Ptolemais, ⁵⁶Joseph the son of Zacharias, and Azarias, rulers of the host, heard of their exploits and of the war, what things they had done; ⁵⁷And they said, Let us also get us a name, and let us go fight against the Gentiles that are round about us. ⁵⁸And they gave charge unto the men of the host that was with them, and went toward Jamnia. ⁵⁹And Gorgias and his men came out of the city to meet them in battle. ⁶⁰And Joseph and Azarias were put to flight, and were pursued unto the borders of Judæa; and there fell on that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men. ⁶¹And there was a great overthrow among the people, because they hearkened not unto Judas and his brethren, thinking to do some exploit. ⁶²But they were not of the seed of those men, by whose hand deliverance was given unto Israel. ⁶³And the man Judas and his brethren were glorified exceedingly in the sight of all Israel, and of all the Gentiles, wheresoever their name was heard of; ⁶⁴And men gathered together unto them, acclaiming them. ⁶⁵And Judas and his brethren went forth, and fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the south; and he smote Hebron and the villages thereof, and pulled down the strongholds thereof, and burned the towers thereof round about. ⁶⁶And he removed to go into the land of the Philistines, and he went through Samaria. ⁶⁷In that day certain priests, desiring to do exploits there, were slain in battle, when as he went out to battle unadvisedly. ⁶⁸And Judas turned aside to Azotus, to the land of the Philistines, and pulled down their altars, and burned the carved images of their gods with fire, and took the spoil of their cities, and returned into the land of Judah.

¹ And king Antiochus was journeying through the upper countries; and he heard say, that in Elymais in Persia there was a city renowned for riches, for silver and gold; ²And that the temple which was in it was rich exceedingly, and that therein were golden shields, and breastplates, and arms, which Alexander, son of Philip, the Macedonian king, who reigned first among the Greeks, left behind there. ³And he came and sought to take the city, and to pillage it; and he was not able, because the thing was known to them of the city, ⁴And they rose up against him to battle: and he fled, and removed thence with great heaviness, to return unto Babylon. ⁵And there came one bringing him tidings into Persia, that the armies, which went against the land of Judah, had been put to flight; ⁶And that Lysias went first with a strong host, and was put to shame before them; and that they had waxed strong by reason of arms and power, and with store of spoils, which they took from the armies that they had cut off; ⁷And that they had pulled down the abomination which he had built upon the altar that was in Jerusalem; and that they had compassed about the sanctuary with high walls, as before, and Bethsura, his city. ⁸And it came to pass, when the king heard these words, he was astonished and moved exceedingly: and he laid him down upon his bed, and fell sick for grief, because it had not befallen him as he looked for. ⁹And he was there many days, because great grief was renewed upon him, and he made account that he should die. ¹⁰And he called for all his Friends, and said unto them, Sleep departeth from mine eyes, and my heart faileth for care. ¹¹And I said in my heart, Unto what tribulation am I come, and how great a flood is it, wherein I now am! for I was gracious and beloved in my power. ¹²But now I remember the evils which I did at Jerusalem, and that I took all the vessels of silver and gold that were therein, and sent forth to destroy the inhabitants of Judah without a cause. ¹³I perceive that on this account these evils are come upon me, and, behold, I perish through great grief in a strange land. ¹⁴And he called for Philip, one of his Friends, and set him over all his kingdom, ¹⁵And gave him his diadem, and his robe, and his signet-ring, to the end he should bring Antiochus his son, and nourish him up that he might be king. ¹⁶And king Antiochus died there in the hundred and forty and ninth year. ¹⁷And Lysias knew that the king was dead, and he set up Antiochus his son to reign, whom he had nourished up being young, and he called his name Eupator. ¹⁸And they that were in the citadel shut up Israel round about the sanctuary, and sought always their hurt, and the strengthening of the Gentiles. ¹⁹And Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them. ²⁰And they were gathered together, and besieged them in the hundred and fiftieth year, and he made mounds to shoot from, and engines of war. ²¹And there came forth some of them that were shut up, and there were joined unto them certain ungodly men of Israel. ²²And they went unto the king, and said, How long wilt thou not execute judgement, and avenge our brethren? ²³We were willing to serve thy father, and to walk after his words, and to follow his commandments; ²⁴And for this cause the children of our people besieged the citadel, and were alienated from us; but as many of us as they could light on they slew, and spoiled our inheritances. ²⁵And not against us only did they stretch out their hand, but also against all their borders. ²⁶And, behold, they are encamped this day against the citadel at Jerusalem, to take it: and the sanctuary and Bethsura have they fortified. ²⁷And if ye are not beforehand with them quickly, they will do greater things than these, and thou shalt not be able to control them. ²⁸And when the king heard this, he was angry, and gathered together all his Friends, even the rulers of his host, and them that were over the horse. ²⁹And there came unto him from other kingdoms, and from isles of the sea, bands of hired soldiers. ³⁰And the number of his forces was a hundred thousand footmen, and twenty thousand horsemen, and two and thirty elephants trained for war. ³¹And they went through Idumæa, and encamped against Bethsura, and fought against it many days, and made engines of war; and they of Bethsura came out, and burned them with fire, and fought valiantly. ³²And Judas removed from the citadel, and encamped at Bethzacharias, over against the king's camp. ³³And the king rose early in the morning, and removed his army at full speed along the road to Bethzacharias, and his forces made them ready to battle, and sounded with the trumpets. ³⁴And they shewed the elephants the blood of grapes and mulberries, that they might prepare them for the battle. ³⁵And

they divided the beasts among the phalanxes, and they set by each elephant a thousand men armed with coats of mail, and helmets of brass on their heads; and for each beast were appointed five hundred chosen horsemen.

³⁶These were ready beforehand, wheresoever the beast was; and whithersoever the beast went, they went with him; they departed not from him. ³⁷And towers of wood were upon them, strong and covered, one upon each beast, girt fast upon him with cunning contrivances; and upon each beast were two and thirty valiant men that fought upon them, beside his Indian ³⁸(And the residue of the horsemen he set on this side and that side at the two parts of the army), striking terror into the enemy, and protected by the phalanxes. ³⁹Now when the sun shone upon the shields of gold and brass, the mountains shone therewith, and blazed like torches of fire. ⁴⁰And a part of the king's army was spread upon the high mountains, and some on the low ground, and they went on firmly and in order.

⁴¹And all that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the multitude, and the rattling of the arms, did quake: for the army was exceeding great and strong. ⁴²And Judas and his army drew near for battle, and there fell of the king's army six hundred men. ⁴³And Eleazar, who was called Avaran, saw one of the beasts armed with royal breastplates, and he was higher than all the beasts, and the king seemed to be upon him; ⁴⁴And he gave himself to deliver his people, and to get him an everlasting name; ⁴⁵And he ran upon him courageously into the midst of the phalanx, and slew on the right hand and on the left, and they parted asunder from him on this side and on that. ⁴⁶And he crept under the elephant, and thrust him from beneath, and slew him; and the elephant fell to the earth upon him, and he died there. ⁴⁷And they saw the strength of the kingdom, and the fierce onset of the hosts, and turned away from them. ⁴⁸But they of the king's army went up to Jerusalem to meet them, and the king encamped toward Judæa, and toward mount Sion. ⁴⁹And he made peace with them of Bethsura; and he came out of the city, because they had no food there to endure the siege, because it was a sabbath to the land. ⁵⁰And the king took Bethsura, and appointed a garrison there to keep it. ⁵¹And he encamped against the sanctuary many days; and set there mounds to shoot from, and engines of war, and instruments for casting fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts, and slings. ⁵²And they also made engines against their engines, and fought for many days. ⁵³But there were no victuals in the sanctuary, because it was the seventh year, and they that fled for safety into Judæa from among the Gentiles had eaten up the residue of the store; ⁵⁴And there were but a few left in the sanctuary, because the famine prevailed against them, and they were scattered, each man to his own place. ⁵⁵And Lysias heard say, that Philip, whom Antiochus the king, whiles he was yet alive, appointed to nourish up his son Antiochus, that he might be king, ⁵⁶Was returned from Persia and Media, and with him the forces that went with the king, and that he was seeking to take unto him the government. ⁵⁷And he made haste, and gave consent to depart; and he said to the king and the leaders of the host and to the men, We decay daily, and our food is scant, and the place where we encamp is strong, and the affairs of the kingdom lie upon us: ⁵⁸Now therefore let us give the right hand to these men, and make peace with them and with all their nation, ⁵⁹And covenant with them, that they shall walk after their own laws, as aforetime: for because of their laws which we abolished they were angered, and did all these things. ⁶⁰And the saying pleased the king and the princes, and he sent unto them to make peace; and they accepted thereof. ⁶¹And the king and the princes sware unto them: thereupon they came forth from the stronghold. ⁶²And the king entered into mount Sion; and he saw the strength of the place, and set at nought the oath which he had sworn, and gave commandment to pull down the wall round about. ⁶³And he removed in haste, and returned unto Antioch, and found Philip master of the city; and he fought against him, and took the city by force.

¹ In the hundred and one and fiftieth year Demetrius the son of Seleucus came forth from Rome, and went up with a few men unto a city by the sea, and reigned there. ²And it came to pass, when he would go into the house of the kingdom of his fathers, that the army laid hands on Antiochus and Lysias, to bring them unto him. ³And the thing was known to him, and he said, Shew me not their faces. ⁴And the army slew them. And Demetrius sat upon the throne of his kingdom. ⁵And there came unto him all the lawless and ungodly men of Israel; and Alcimus was their leader, desiring to be high priest; ⁶And they accused the people to the king, saying, Judas and his brethren have destroyed all thy friends, and have scattered us from our own land. ⁷Now therefore send a man whom thou trustest, and let him go and see all the havock which he hath made of us, and of the king's country, and how he hath punished them and all that helped them. ⁸And the king chose Bacchides, one of the king's Friends, who was ruler in the country beyond the river, and was a great man in the kingdom, and faithful to the king. ⁹And he sent him, and that ungodly Alcimus, and made sure to him the high priesthood, and he commanded him to take vengeance upon the children of Israel. ¹⁰And they removed, and came with a great host into the land of Judah, and he sent messengers to Judas and his brethren with words of peace deceitfully. ¹¹And they gave no heed to their words; for they saw that they were come with a great host. ¹²And there were gathered together unto Alcimus and Bacchides a company of scribes, to seek for justice. ¹³And the Hasidæans were the first among the children of Israel that sought peace of them; ¹⁴For they said,

One that is a priest of the seed of Aaron is come with the forces, and he will do us no wrong. ¹⁵And he spake with them words of peace, and sware unto them, saying, We will seek the hurt neither of you nor your friends. ¹⁶And they gave him credence: and he laid hands on threescore men of them, and slew them in one day, according to the word which the psalmist wrote, ¹⁷ The flesh of thy saints did they cast out, And their blood did they shed round about Jerusalem; And there was no man to bury them. ¹⁸And the fear and the dread of them fell upon all the people, for they said, There is neither truth nor judgement in them; for they have broken the covenant and the oath which they sware. ¹⁹And Bacchides removed from Jerusalem, and encamped in Bezeth; and he sent and took many of the deserters that were with him, and certain of the people, and he slew them, and cast them into the great pit. ²⁰And he made sure the country to Alcimus, and left with him a force to aid him; and Bacchides went away unto the king. ²¹And Alcimus strove for his high priesthood. ²²And there were gathered unto him all they that troubled their people, and they got the mastery of the land of Judah, and did great hurt in Israel. ²³And Judas saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the children of Israel, even above the Gentiles. ²⁴And he went out into all the coasts of Judæa round about, and took vengeance on the men that had deserted from him, and they were restrained from going forth into the country. ²⁵But when Alcimus saw that Judas and his company waxed strong, and knew that he was not able to withstand them, he returned to the king, and brought evil accusations against them. ²⁶ And the king sent Nicanor, one of his honourable princes, a man that hated Israel and was their enemy, and commanded him to destroy the people. ²⁷And Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a great host; and he sent unto Judas and his brethren deceitfully with words of peace, saying, ²⁸Let there be no battle between me and you; I will come with a few men, that I may see your faces in peace. ²⁹And he came to Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably. And the enemies were ready to take away Judas by violence. ³⁰And the thing was known to Judas, to wit, that he came unto him with deceit, and he was sore afraid of him, and would see his face no more. ³¹And Nicanor knew that his counsel was discovered; and he went out to meet Judas in battle beside Capharsalama; ³²And there fell of Nicanor's side about five hundred men, and they fled into the city of David. ³³And after these things Nicanor went up to mount Sion: and there came some of the priests out of the sanctuary, and some of the elders of the people, to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the whole burnt sacrifice that was being offered for the king. ³⁴And he mocked them, and laughed at them, and entreated them shamefully, and spake haughtily, ³⁵And sware in a rage, saying, Unless Judas and his army be now delivered into my hands, it shall be that, if I come again in peace, I will burn up this house: and he went out in a great rage. ³⁶And the priests entered in, and stood before the altar and the temple; and they wept, and said, ³⁷Thou didst choose this house to be called by thy name, to be a house of prayer and supplication for thy people: ³⁸Take vengeance on this man and his army, and let them fall by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to live any longer. ³⁹And Nicanor went forth from Jerusalem, and encamped in Bethhoron, and there met him the host of Syria. ⁴⁰And Judas encamped in Adasa with three thousand men: and Judas prayed and said, ⁴¹When they that came from the king blasphemed, thine angel went out, and smote among them a hundred and fourscore and five thousand. ⁴²Even so discomfit thou this army before us to-day, and let all the rest know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy sanctuary, and judge thou him according to his wickedness. ⁴³And on the thirteenth day of the month Adar the armies joined battle: and Nicanor's army was discomfited, and he himself was the first to fall in the battle. ⁴⁴Now when his army saw that Nicanor was fallen, they cast away their arms, and fled. ⁴⁵And they pursued after them a day's journey from Adasa until thou comest to Gazara, and they sounded an alarm after them with the solemn trumpets. ⁴⁶And they came forth out of all the villages of Judæa round about, and closed them in; and these turned them back on those, and they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left. ⁴⁷And they took the spoils, and the booty, and they smote off Nicanor's head, and his right hand, which he stretched out so haughtily, and brought them, and hanged them up beside Jerusalem. ⁴⁸And the people was exceeding glad, and they kept that day as a day of great gladness. ⁴⁹And they ordained to keep this day year by year, to wit, the thirteenth day of Adar. ⁵⁰And the land of Judah had rest a little while.

¹And Judas heard of the fame of the Romans, that they are valiant men, and have pleasure in all that join themselves unto them, and make amity with all such as come unto them, ²And that they are valiant men. And they told him of their wars and exploits which they do among the Gauls, and how that they conquered them, and brought them under tribute; ³And what things they did in the land of Spain, that they might become masters of the mines of silver and gold which were there; ⁴And how that by their policy and persistence they conquered all the place (and the place was exceeding far from them), and the kings that came against them from the uttermost part of the earth, until they had discomfited them, and smitten them very sore; and how the rest give them tribute year by year: ⁵And Philip, and Perseus, king of Chittim, and them that lifted up themselves against them, did they discomfit in battle, and conquered them: ⁶Antiochus also, the great king of Asia, who came against them to battle, having a hundred and twenty elephants, with horse, and chariots, and an exceeding great host, and he was discomfited by them, ⁷And they took him alive, and appointed that both he and such as reigned after him should give them a great tribute, and should give hostages, and a parcel of land, to wit, ⁸The country of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of the goodliest of their countries; and they took them from him, and gave them to king Eumenes: ⁹And how they of Greece took counsel to come and destroy them; ¹⁰And the thing was known to them, and they sent against them a captain, and fought against them, and many of them fell down wounded to death, and they made captive their wives and their children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and pulled down their strongholds, and spoiled them, and brought them into bondage unto this day: ¹¹And the residue of the kingdoms and of the isles, as many as rose up against them at any time, they destroyed and made them to be their servants; ¹²But with their friends and such as relied upon them they kept amity; and they conquered the kingdoms that were nigh and those that were far off, and all that heard of their fame were afraid of them: ¹³Moreover, whomsoever they will to succour and to make kings; these do they make kings; and whomsoever they will, do they depose; and they are exalted exceedingly: ¹⁴And for all this none of them did ever put on a diadem, neither did they clothe themselves with purple, to be magnified thereby: ¹⁵And how they had made for themselves a senate house, and day by day three hundred and twenty men sat in council, consulting alway for the people, to the end they might be well ordered: ¹⁶And how they commit their government to one man year by year, that he should rule over them, and be lord over all their country, and all are obedient to that one, and there is neither envy nor emulation among them. ¹⁷And Judas chose Eupolemus the son of John, the son of Accos, and Jason the son of Eleazar, and sent them to Rome, to make a league of amity and confederacy with them,

¹⁸And that they should take the yoke from them; for they saw that the kingdom of the Greeks did keep Israel in bondage. ¹⁹And they went to Rome (and the way was exceeding long), and they entered into the senate house, and answered and said, ²⁰Judas, who is also called Maccabæus, and his brethren, and the people of the Jews, have sent us unto you, to make a confederacy and peace with you, and that we might be registered your confederates and friends. ²¹And the thing was well-pleasing in their sight. ²²And this is the copy of the writing which they wrote back again on tables of brass, and sent to Jerusalem, that it might be with them there for a memorial of peace and confederacy: ²³Good success be to the Romans, and to the nation of the Jews, by sea and by land for ever: the sword also and the enemy be far from them. ²⁴But if war arise for Rome first, or any of their confederates in all their dominion, ²⁵The nation of the Jews shall help them as confederates, as the occasion shall prescribe to them, with all their heart: ²⁶And unto them that make war upon them they shall not give, neither supply, food, arms, money, or ships, as it hath seemed good unto Rome, and they shall keep their ordinances without taking anything therefore. ²⁷In the same manner, moreover, if war come first upon the nation of the Jews, the Romans shall help them as confederates with all their soul, as the occasion shall prescribe to them: ²⁸And to them that are confederates with their foes there shall not be given food, arms, money, or ships, as it hath seemed good unto Rome; and they shall keep these ordinances, and that without deceit. ²⁹According to these words have the Romans made a covenant thus with the people of the Jews. ³⁰But if hereafter the one party and the other shall take counsel to add or diminish anything, they shall do it at their pleasure, and whatsoever they shall add or take away shall be established. ³¹And as touching the evils which king Demetrius doeth unto them, we have written to him, saying, Wherefore hast thou made thy yoke heavy upon our friends and confederates the Jews? ³²If therefore they plead any more against thee, we will do them justice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAPTER 9

¹And Demetrius heard that Nicanor was fallen with his forces in battle, and he sent Bacchides and Alcimus again into the land of Judah a second time, and the right wing of his army with them: ²And they went by the way that leadeth to Gilgal, and encamped against Mesaloth, which is in Arbela, and gat possession of it, and destroyed much people. ³And the first month of the hundred and fifty and second year they encamped against Jerusalem: ⁴And they removed, and went to Berea, with twenty thousand footmen and two thousand horse. ⁵And Judas was encamped at Elasa, and three thousand chosen men with him: ⁶And they saw the multitude of the forces, that they were many, and they feared exceedingly: and many slipped away out of the army; there were not left of them more than eight hundred men.

⁷And Judas saw that his army slipped away, and that the battle pressed upon him, and he was sore troubled in heart, for that he had no time to gather them together, and he waxed faint.

⁸And he said to them that were left, Let us arise and go up against our adversaries, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them. ⁹And they would have dissuaded him, saying, We shall in no wise be able: but let us rather save our lives now: let us return again, we and our brethren, and fight against them: but we are few.

¹⁰And Judas said, Let it not be so that I should do this thing, to flee from them: and if our time is come, let us die manfully for our brethren's sake, and not leave a cause of reproach against our glory. ¹¹And the host removed from the camp, and stood to encounter them, and the horse was parted into two companies, and the slingers and the archers went before the host, and all the mighty men that fought in the front of the battle. ¹²But Bacchides was in the right wing; and the phalanx drew near on the two parts, and they blew with their trumpets. ¹³And the men of Judas' side, even they sounded with their trumpets, and the earth shook with the shout of the armies, and the battle was joined, and continued from morning until evening. ¹⁴And Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his army were on the right side, and there went with him all that were brave in heart, ¹⁵And the right wing was discomfited by them, and he pursued after them unto the mount Azotus. ¹⁶And they that were on the left wing saw that the right wing was discomfited, and they turned and followed upon the footsteps of Judas and of those that were with him: ¹⁷And the battle waxed sore, and many on both parts fell wounded to death. ¹⁸And Judas fell, and the rest fled. ¹⁹And Jonathan and Simon took Judas their brother, and buried him in the sepulchre of his fathers at Modin. ²⁰And they bewailed him, and all Israel made great lamentation for him, and mourned many days, and said, ²¹How is the mighty fallen, the saviour of Israel! ²²And the rest of the acts of Judas, and his wars, and the valiant deeds which he did, and his greatness, they are not written; for they were exceeding many. ²³And it came to pass after the death of Judas, that the lawless put forth their heads in all the coasts of Israel, and all they that wrought iniquity rose up ²⁴(In those days was there an exceeding great famine), and the country went over with them. ²⁵And Bacchides chose out the ungodly men, and made them lords of the country. ²⁶And they sought out and searched for the friends of Judas, and brought them unto Bacchides, and he took vengeance on them, and used them despitefully. ²⁷And there was great tribulation in Israel, such as was not since the time that no prophet appeared unto them. ²⁸And all the friends of Judas were gathered together, and they said unto Jonathan, ²⁹Since thy brother Judas hath died, we have no man like him to go forth against our enemies and Bacchides, and among them of our nation that hate us. ³⁰Now therefore we have chosen thee this day to be our prince and leader in his stead, that thou mayest fight our battles. ³¹And Jonathan took the governance upon him at that time, and rose up in the stead of his brother Judas. ³²And Bacchides knew it, and he sought to slay him. ³³And Jonathan, and Simon his brother, and all that were with him, knew it; and they fled into the wilderness of Tekoah, and encamped by the water of the pool Asphar. ³⁴And Bacchides knew it on the sabbath day, and came, he and all his army, over Jordan. ³⁵And Jonathan sent his brother, a leader of the multitude, and besought his friends the Nabathæans, that they might leave with them their baggage, which was much. ³⁶And the children of Jambri came out of Medaba, and took John, and all that he had, and went their way with it. ³⁷But after these things they brought word to Jonathan and Simon his brother, that the children of Jambri were making a great marriage, and were bringing the bride from Nadabath with a great train, a daughter of one of the great nobles of Canaan. ³⁸And they remembered John their brother, and went up, and hid themselves under the covert of the mountain: ³⁹And they lifted up their eyes, and saw, and, behold, a great ado and much baggage: and the bridegroom came forth, and his friends and his brethren, to meet them with timbrels, and minstrels, and many weapons. ⁴⁰And they rose up against them from their ambush, and slew them, and many fell wounded to death, and the remnant fled into the mountain, and they took all their spoils. ⁴¹And the marriage was turned into mourning, and the voice of their minstrels into lamentation. ⁴²And they avenged fully the blood of their brother, and turned back to the marsh of Jordan. ⁴³And Bacchides heard it, and he came on the sabbath day unto the banks of Jordan with a great host. ⁴⁴And Jonathan said to his company, Let us stand up now and fight for our lives, for it is not with us to-day, as yesterday and the day before. ⁴⁵For, behold, the battle is before us and behind us; moreover the water of the Jordan is on this side and on that side, and marsh and wood; and there is no place to turn aside. ⁴⁶Now therefore cry unto heaven, that ye may be delivered out of the hand of your enemies. ⁴⁷And the battle was joined, and Jonathan stretched forth his hand to smite Bacchides, and he turned away back from him. ⁴⁸And Jonathan and they that were with him leapt into the Jordan, and swam over to the other side: and they did not pass over Jordan against them. ⁴⁹And there fell of Bacchides' company that day about a thousand men; ⁵⁰And he returned to Jerusalem. And they builded strong cities in Judæa, the stronghold that was in Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Timnath, Pharathon, and Tephon, with high walls and gates and bars. ⁵¹And in them he set a garrison, to vex Israel. ⁵²And he fortified the city Bethsura, and Gazara, and the citadel, and put forces in them, and store of victuals. ⁵³And he took the sons of the chief men of the country for hostages, and put them in ward in the citadel at Jerusalem. ⁵⁴And in the hundred and fifty and third year, in the second month, Alcimus commanded to pull down the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary; he pulled down also the works of the prophets; ⁵⁵And he began to pull down. At that time was Alcimus stricken, and his works were hindered; and his mouth was stopped, and he was taken with a palsy, and he could no more speak anything and give order concerning his house. ⁵⁶And Alcimus died at that time with great torment. ⁵⁷And Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, and he returned to the king: and the land of Judah had rest two years. ⁵⁸And all the lawless men took counsel, saying, Behold, Jonathan and they of his part are dwelling at ease, and in security: now therefore we will bring Bacchides, and he shall lay hands on them all in one night. ⁵⁹And they went and consulted with him. ⁶⁰And he removed, and came with a great host, and sent letters privily to all his confederates that were in Judæa, that they should lay hands on Jonathan and those that were with him: and they could not, because their counsel was known unto them. ⁶¹And they that were of Jonathan's part laid hands on about fifty of the men of the country, that were authors of the wickedness, and he slew them. ⁶²And Jonathan, and Simon, and they that were with him, gat them away to Bethbasi, which is in the wilderness, and he built up that which had been pulled down thereof, and they made it strong. ⁶³And Bacchides knew it, and he gathered together all his multitude, and sent word to them that were of Judæa. ⁶⁴And he went and encamped against Bethbasi, and fought against it many days, and made engines of war. ⁶⁵And Jonathan left his brother Simon in the city, and went forth into the country, and he went with a few men. ⁶⁶And he smote Odomera and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tent. ⁶⁷And they began to smite them, and to go up with their forces. And Simon and they that were with him went out of the city, and set on fire the engines of war, ⁶⁸And fought against Bacchides, and he was discomfited by them, and they afflicted him sore; for his counsel was in vain, and his inroad. ⁶⁹And they were very wroth with the lawless men that gave him counsel to come into the country, and they slew many of them. And he took counsel to depart into his own land. ⁷⁰And Jonathan had knowledge thereof, and sent ambassadors unto him, to the end that they should make peace with him, and that he should restore unto them the captives. ⁷¹And he accepted the thing, and did according to his words, and sware unto him that he would not seek his hurt all the days of his life. ⁷²And he restored unto him the captives which he had taken aforetime out of the land of Judah, and he returned and departed into his own land, and came not any more into their borders. ⁷³And the sword ceased from Israel. And Jonathan dwelt at Michmash; and Jonathan began to judge the people; and he destroyed the ungodly out of Israel.

¹And in the hundred and sixtieth year Alexander Epiphanes, the son of Antiochus, went up and took possession of Ptolemais: and they received him, and he reigned there. ²And king Demetrius heard thereof, and he gathered together exceeding great forces, and went forth to meet him in battle. ³And Demetrius sent letters unto Jonathan with words of peace, so as to magnify him. ⁴For he said, Let us be beforehand to make peace with them, ere he make peace with Alexander against us: ⁵For he will remember all the evils that we have done against him, and unto his brethren and unto his nation. ⁶And he gave him authority to gather together forces, and to provide arms, and that he should be his confederate: and he commanded that they should deliver up to him the hostages that were in the citadel. ⁷And Jonathan came to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and

of them that were in the citadel: ⁸And they were sore afraid, when they heard that the king had given him authority to gather together a host. ⁹And they of the citadel delivered up the hostages unto Jonathan, and he restored them unto their parents. ¹⁰And Jonathan dwelt in Jerusalem, and began to build and renew the city. ¹¹And he commanded them that did the work to build the walls and the mount Sion round about with square stones for defence; and they did so. ¹²And the strangers, that were in the strongholds which Bacchides had built, fled away; ¹³And each man left his place, and departed into his own land. ¹⁴Only at Bethsura were there left certain of those that had forsaken the law and the commandments; for it was a place of refuge unto them. ¹⁵And king Alexander heard all the promises which Demetrius had sent unto Jonathan: and they told him of the battles and the valiant deeds which he and his brethren had done, and of the toils which they had endured; ¹⁶And he said, Shall we find such another man? and now we will make him our Friend and confederate. ¹⁷And he wrote letters, and sent them unto him, according to these words, saying, ¹⁸King Alexander to his brother Jonathan, greeting: ¹⁹We have heard of thee, that thou art a mighty man of valour, and meet to be our Friend. ²⁰And now we have appointed thee this day to be high priest of thy nation, and to be called the king's Friend (and he sent unto him a purple robe and a crown of gold), and to take our part, and to keep friendship with us. ²¹And Jonathan put on the holy garments in the seventh month of the hundred and sixtieth year, at the feast of tabernacles, and he gathered together forces, and provided arms in abundance. ²²And Demetrius heard these things, and he was grieved, and said, ²³What is this that we have done, that Alexander hath been beforehand with us in establishing friendship with the Jews, to strengthen himself? ²⁴I also will write unto them words of encouragement and of honour and of gifts, that they may be with me to aid me. ²⁵And he sent unto them according to these words: King Demetrius unto the nation of the Jews, greeting: ²⁶Forasmuch as ye have kept your covenants with us, and continued in our friendship, and have not joined yourselves to our enemies, we have heard hereof, and are glad. ²⁷And now continue ye still to keep faith with us, and we will recompense unto you good things in return for your dealings with us, ²⁸And will grant you many immunities, and give you gifts. ²⁹And now do I free you, and release all the Jews, from the tributes, and from the customs of salt, and from the crowns. ³⁰And instead of the third part of the seed, and instead of the half of the fruit of the trees, which falleth to me to receive, I release it from this day and henceforth, so that I will not take it from the land of Judah, and from the three governments which are added thereunto from the country of Samaria and Galilee, from this day forth and for all time. ³¹And let Jerusalem be holy and free, and her borders; the tenths and the tolls also. ³²I yield up also my authority over the citadel which is at Jerusalem, and give it to the high priest, that he may appoint in it such men as he shall choose to keep it. ³³And every soul of the Jews, that hath been carried captive from the land of Judah into any part of my kingdom, I set at liberty without price; and let all remit the tributes of their cattle also. ³⁴And all the feasts, and the sabbaths, and new moons, and appointed days, and three days before a feast, and three days after a feast, let them all be days of immunity and release for all the Jews that are in my kingdom. ³⁵And no man shall have authority to exact from any of them, or to trouble them concerning any matter. ³⁶And let there be enrolled among the king's forces about thirty thousand men of the Jews, and pay shall be given unto them, as belongeth to all the king's forces. ³⁷And of them some shall be placed in the king's great strongholds, and some of them shall be placed over the affairs of the kingdom, which are of trust: and let those that are over them, and their rulers, be of themselves, and let them walk after their own laws, even as the king hath commanded in the land of Judah. ³⁸And the three governments that have been added to Judæa from the country of Samaria, let them be added to Judæa, that they may be reckoned to be under one, that they may not obey other authority than the high priest's. ³⁹As for Ptolemais, and the land pertaining thereto, I have given it as a gift to the sanctuary that is at Jerusalem, for the expenses that befit the sanctuary. ⁴⁰And I give every year fifteen thousand shekels of silver from the king's revenues from the places that are convenient. ⁴¹And all the overplus, which they that manage the king's affairs paid not in as in the first years, they shall give from henceforth toward the works of the house. ⁴²And beside this, the five thousand shekels of silver, which they received from the uses of the sanctuary from the revenue year by year, this also is released, because it appertaineth to the priests that minister. ⁴³And whosoever shall flee unto the temple that is at Jerusalem, and be found within all the borders thereof, whether one owe moneys to the king, or any other matter, let them go free, and all that they have in my kingdom. ⁴⁴And for the building and renewing of the works of the sanctuary the expense shall be given also out of the king's revenue. ⁴⁵And for the building of the walls of Jerusalem, and the fortifying thereof round about, shall the expense be given also out of the king's revenue, and for the building of the walls in Judæa. ⁴⁶Now when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gave no credence unto them, nor received them, because they remembered the great evil which he had done in Israel, and that he had afflicted them very sore. ⁴⁷And they were well pleased with Alexander, because he was the first that spake words of peace unto them, and they were confederate with him always. ⁴⁸And king Alexander gathered together great forces, and encamped over against Demetrius. ⁴⁹And the two kings joined battle, and the army of Alexander fled; and Demetrius followed after him, and prevailed against them. ⁵⁰And he strengthened the battle exceedingly until the sun went down: and Demetrius fell that day. ⁵¹And Alexander sent ambassadors to Ptolemy king of Egypt according to these words, saying, ⁵²Forasmuch as I am returned to my kingdom, and am set on the throne of my fathers, and have gotten the dominion, and have overthrown Demetrius, and have gotten possession of our country; ⁵³Yea, I joined battle with him, and he and his army were discomfited by us, and we sat upon the throne of his kingdom: ⁵⁴Now also let us establish amity one with the other, and give me now thy daughter to wife: and I will make affinity with thee, and will give both thee and her gifts worthy of thee. ⁵⁵And Ptolemy the king answered, saying, Happy is the day wherein thou didst return into the land of thy fathers, and didst sit on the throne of their kingdom. ⁵⁶And now will I do to thee, as thou hast written: but meet me at Ptolemais, that we may see one another; and I will make affinity with thee, even as thou hast said. ⁵⁷And Ptolemy went out of Egypt, himself and Cleopatra his daughter, and came unto Ptolemais in the hundred and threescore and second year: ⁵⁸And king Alexander met him, and he bestowed on him his daughter Cleopatra, and celebrated her marriage at Ptolemais with great pomp, as the manner of kings is. ⁵⁹And king Alexander wrote unto Jonathan, that he should come to meet him. ⁶⁰And he went with pomp to Ptolemais, and met the two kings, and gave them and their Friends silver and gold, and many gifts, and found favour in their sight. ⁶¹And there were gathered together against him certain pestilent fellows out of Israel, men that were transgressors of the law, to complain against him: and the king gave no heed to them. ⁶²And the king commanded, and they took off Jonathan's garments, and clothed him in purple: and thus they did. ⁶³And the king made him sit with him, and said unto his princes, Go forth with him into the midst of the city, and make proclamation, that no man complain against him of any matter, and let no man trouble him for any manner of cause. ⁶⁴And it came to pass, when they that complained against him saw his glory according as the herald made proclamation, and saw him clothed in purple, they all fled away. ⁶⁵And the king gave him honour, and wrote him among his Chief Friends, and made him a captain, and governor of a province. ⁶⁶And Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladness. ⁶⁷And in the hundred and threescore and fifth year came Demetrius, son of Demetrius, out of Crete into the land of his fathers: ⁶⁸And king Alexander heard thereof, and he was grieved exceedingly, and returned unto Antioch. ⁶⁹And Demetrius appointed Apollonius, who was over Cœlesyria, and he gathered together a great host, and encamped in Jamnia, and sent unto Jonathan the high priest, saying, ⁷⁰THOU alone liftest up thyself against us, but I am had in derision and in reproach because of thee. And why dost thou vaunt thy power against us in the mountains? ⁷¹Now therefore, if thou trustest in thy forces, come down to us into the plain, and there let us try the matter together; for with me is the power of the cities. ⁷²Ask and learn who I am, and the rest that help us; and they say, Your foot cannot stand before our face; for thy fathers have been twice put to flight in their own land. ⁷³And now thou shalt not be able to abide the horse and such a host as this in the plain, where is neither stone nor flint, nor place to flee unto. ⁷⁴Now when Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moved in his mind, and he chose out ten thousand men, and went forth from Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to help him. ⁷⁵And he encamped against Joppa: and they of the city shut him out, because Apollonius had a garrison in Joppa: ⁷⁶And they fought against it. And they of the city were afraid, and opened unto him: and Jonathan became master of Joppa. ⁷⁷And Apollonius heard, and he gathered an army of three thousand horse, and a great host, and went to Azotus as though he were on a journey, and therewithal drew onward into the plain, because he had a multitude of horse, and trusted therein. ⁷⁸And he pursued after him to Azotus, and the armies joined battle. ⁷⁹And Apollonius had left a thousand horse behind them privily. ⁸⁰And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behind him. And they compassed round his army, and cast their darts at the people, from morning until evening: ⁸¹But the people stood still, as Jonathan commanded them: and their horses were wearied. ⁸²And Simon drew forth his host, and joined battle with the phalanx (for the horsemen were spent), and they were discomfited by him, and fled. ⁸³And the horsemen were scattered in the plain, and they fled to Azotus, and entered into Beth-dagon, their idol's temple, to save themselves. ⁸⁴And Jonathan burned Azotus, and the cities round about it, and took their spoils; and the temple of Dagon, and them that fled into it, he burned with fire. ⁸⁵And they that had fallen by the sword, with them that were burned, were about eight thousand men. ⁸⁶And from thence Jonathan removed, and encamped against Ascalon, and they of the city came forth to meet him with great pomp. ⁸⁷And Jonathan, with them that were on his side, returned unto Jerusalem, having many spoils. ⁸⁸And it came to pass, when king Alexander heard these things, he honoured Jonathan yet more; ⁸⁹And he sent unto him a buckle of gold, as the use is to give to such as are of the kindred of the kings: and he gave him Ekron and all the coasts thereof for a possession.

¹And the king of Egypt gathered together great forces, as the sand which is by the sea shore, and many ships, and sought to make himself master of Alexander's kingdom by deceit, and to add it to his own kingdom. ²And he went forth into Syria with words of peace, and they of the cities opened unto him, and met him;

for king Alexander's commandment was that they should meet him, because he was his father in law. ³Now as he entered into the cities of Ptolemais, he set his forces for a garrison in each city. ⁴But when he came near to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon burned with fire, and Azotus and the suburbs thereof pulled down, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that had been burned, whom he burned in the war, for they had made heaps of them in his way. ⁵And they told the king what things Jonathan had done, that they might cast blame on him: and the king held his peace. ⁶And Jonathan met the king with pomp at Joppa, and they saluted one another, and they slept there. ⁷And Jonathan went with the king as far as the river that is called Eleutherus, and returned to Jerusalem. ⁸But king Ptolemy became master of the cities upon the sea coast, unto Seleucia which is by the sea, and he devised evil devices concerning Alexander. ⁹And he sent ambassadors unto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let us make a covenant with one another, and I will give thee my daughter whom Alexander hath, and thou shalt reign over thy father's kingdom; ¹⁰For I have repented that I gave my daughter unto him, for he sought to slay me. ¹¹And he cast blame on him, because he coveted his kingdom. ¹²And taking his daughter from him, he gave her to Demetrius, and was estranged from Alexander, and their enmity was openly seen. ¹³And Ptolemy entered into Antioch, and put on himself the diadem of Asia; and he put two diadems upon his head, the diadem of Egypt and that of Asia. ¹⁴But king Alexander was in Cilicia at that season, because they of those parts were in revolt. ¹⁵And Alexander heard of it, and he came against him in war: and Ptolemy led forth his host, and met him with a strong force, and put him to flight. ¹⁶And Alexander fled into Arabia, that he might be sheltered there; but king Ptolemy was exalted. ¹⁷And Zabdiel the Arabian took off Alexander's head, and sent it to Ptolemy. ¹⁸And king Ptolemy died the third day after, and they that were in his strongholds were slain by them that were in the strongholds. ¹⁹And Demetrius reigned in the hundred and threescore and seventh year. ²⁰In those days Jonathan gathered together them of Judæa, to take the citadel that was at Jerusalem: and he made many engines of war against it. ²¹And certain that hated their own nation, men that transgressed the law, went unto the king, and reported to him that Jonathan was besieging the citadel. ²²And he heard, and was angered; but when he heard it, he set forth immediately, and came to Ptolemais, and wrote unto Jonathan, that he should not besiege it, and that he should meet him and speak with him at Ptolemais with all speed. ²³But when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it still: and he chose certain of the elders of Israel and of the priests, and put himself in peril, ²⁴And taking silver and gold and raiment and divers presents besides, went to Ptolemais unto the king. And he found favour in his sight. ²⁵And certain lawless men of them that were of the nation made complaints against him, ²⁶And the king did unto him even as his predecessors had done unto him, and exalted him in the sight of all his Friends, ²⁷And confirmed to him the high priesthood, and all the other honours that he had before, and gave him preeminence among his Chief Friends. ²⁸And Jonathan requested of the king, that he would make Judæa free from tribute, and the three provinces, and the country of Samaria; and promised him three hundred talents. ²⁹And the king consented, and wrote letters unto Jonathan concerning all these things after this manner: ³⁰King Demetrius unto his brother Jonathan, and unto the nation of the Jews, greeting: ³¹The copy of the letter which we wrote unto Lasthenes our kinsman concerning you, we have written also unto you, that ye may see it. ³²King Demetrius unto Lasthenes his father, greeting: ³³We have determined to do good to the nation of the Jews, who are our friends, and observe what is just toward us, because of their good will toward us. ³⁴We have confirmed therefore unto them the borders of Judæa, and also the three governments of Aphærema and Lydda and Ramathaim (these were added unto Judæa from the country of Samaria), and all things appertaining unto them, for all such as do sacrifice in Jerusalem, instead of the king's dues which the king received of them yearly aforetime from the produce of the earth and the fruits of trees. ³⁵And as for the other things that pertain unto us from henceforth, of the tenths and the tolls that pertain unto us, and the saltpits, and the crowns that pertain unto us, all these we will bestow upon them. ³⁶And not one of these things shall be annulled from this time forth and for ever. ³⁷Now therefore be careful to make a copy of these things, and let it be given unto Jonathan, and let it be set up on the holy mount in a meet and conspicuous place. ³⁸And king Demetrius saw that the land was quiet before him, and that no resistance was made to him, and he sent away all his forces, each man to his own place, except the foreign forces, which he had raised from the isles of the Gentiles: and all the forces of his fathers hated him. ³⁹Now Tryphon was of those who aforetime had been of Alexander's part, and he saw that all the forces murmured against Demetrius, and he went to Imalcue the Arabian, who was nourishing up Antiochus the young child of Alexander, ⁴⁰And pressed sore upon him that he should deliver him unto him, that he might reign in his father's stead: and he told him all that Demetrius had done, and the hatred wherewith his forces hated him; and he abode there many days. ⁴¹And Jonathan sent unto king Demetrius, that he should cast out of Jerusalem them of the citadel, and them that were in the strongholds; for they fought against Israel continually. ⁴²And Demetrius sent unto Jonathan, saying, I will not only do this for thee and thy nation, but I will greatly honour thee and thy nation, if I find fair occasion. ⁴³Now therefore thou shalt do well, if thou send me men who shall fight for me; for all my forces are revolted. ⁴⁴And Jonathan sent him three thousand valiant men unto Antioch: and they came to the king, and the king was glad at their coming. ⁴⁵And they of the city gathered themselves together into the midst of the city, to the number of a hundred and twenty thousand men, and they were minded to slay the king. ⁴⁶And the king fled into the court of the palace, and they of the city seized the passages of the city, and began to fight. ⁴⁷And the king called the Jews to help him, and they were gathered together unto him all at once, and they dispersed themselves in the city, and slew that day to the number of a hundred thousand. ⁴⁸And they set the city on fire, and gat many spoils that day, and saved the king. ⁴⁹And they of the city saw that the Jews had made themselves masters of the city as they would, and they waxed faint in their hearts, and they cried out to the king with supplication, saying, ⁵⁰Give us thy right hand, and let the Jews cease from fighting against us and the city.

⁵¹And they cast away their arms, and made peace; and the Jews were glorified in the sight of the king, and before all that were in his kingdom; and they returned to Jerusalem, having many spoils.

⁵²And king Demetrius sat on the throne of his kingdom, and the land was quiet before him. ⁵³And he lied in all that he spake, and estranged himself from Jonathan, and recompensed him not according to the benefits with which he had recompensed him, and afflicted him exceedingly.

⁵⁴Now after this Tryphon returned, and with him the young child Antiochus; and he reigned, and put on a diadem. ⁵⁵And there were gathered unto him all the forces which Demetrius had sent away with disgrace, and they fought against him, and he fled and was put to the rout. ⁵⁶And Tryphon took the elephants, and became master of Antioch. ⁵⁷And the young Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, saying, I confirm unto thee the high priesthood, and appoint thee over the four governments, and to be one of the king's Friends. ⁵⁸And he sent unto him golden vessels and furniture for the table, and gave him leave to drink in golden vessels, and to be clothed in purple, and to have a golden buckle. ⁵⁹And his brother Simon he made captain from the Ladder of Tyre unto the borders of Egypt. ⁶⁰And Jonathan went forth, and took his journey beyond the river and through the cities; and all the forces of Syria gathered themselves unto him for to be his confederates. And he came to Ascalon, and they of the city met him honourably. ⁶¹And he departed thence to Gaza, and they of Gaza shut him out; and he laid siege unto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them. ⁶²And they of Gaza made request unto Jonathan, and he gave them his right hand, and took the sons of their princes for hostages, and sent them away to Jerusalem; and he passed through the country as far as Damascus. ⁶³And Jonathan heard that Demetrius' princes were come to Kedesh, which is in Galilee, with a great host, purposing to remove him from his office; ⁶⁴And he went to meet them, but Simon his brother he left in the country. ⁶⁵And Simon encamped against Bethsura, and fought against it many days, and shut it up: ⁶⁶And they made request to him that he would give them his right hand, and he gave it to them; and he put them out from thence, and took possession of the city, and set a garrison over it. ⁶⁷And Jonathan and his army encamped at the water of Gennesareth, and early in the morning they gat them to the plain of Hazor. ⁶⁸And, behold, an army of strangers met him in the plain, and they laid an ambush for him in the mountains, but themselves met him face to face. ⁶⁹But they that lay in ambush rose out of their places, and joined battle; and all they that were of Jonathan's side fled: ⁷⁰Not one of them was left, except Mattathias the son of Absalom, and Judas the son of Chalphi, captains of the forces. ⁷¹And Jonathan rent his clothes, and put earth upon his head, and prayed. ⁷²And he turned again unto them in battle, and put them to the rout, and they fled. ⁷³And they of his side that fled saw it, and returned unto him, and pursued with him unto Kedesh unto their camp, and they encamped there. ⁷⁴And there fell of the strangers on that day about three thousand men: and Jonathan returned to Jerusalem.

¹And Jonathan saw that the time served him, and he chose men, and sent them to Rome, to confirm and renew the friendship that they had with them. ²And to the Spartans, and to other places, he sent letters after the same manner. ³And they went unto Rome, and entered into the senate house, and said, Jonathan the high priest, and the nation of the Jews, have sent us, to renew for them the friendship and the confederacy, as in former time. ⁴And they gave them letters unto the men in every place, that they should bring them on their way to the land of Judah in peace. ⁵And this is the copy of the letters which Jonathan wrote to the Spartans: ⁶JONATHAN the high priest, and the senate of the nation, and the priests, and the rest of the people of the Jews, unto their brethren the Spartans, greeting: ⁷Even before this time were letters sent unto Onias the high priest from Arius, who was reigning among you, to signify that ye are our brethren, as the copy here underwritten sheweth. ⁸And Onias entreated honourably the man that was sent, and received the letters, wherein declaration was made of confederacy and friendship. ⁹Therefore we also, albeit we need none of these things, having for our encouragement the holy books which are in our hands, ¹⁰Have assayed to send that we might renew our brotherhood and friendship with you, to the end that we should not become estranged from you altogether: for long time is passed since ye sent unto us. ¹¹We therefore at all times without ceasing, both in our feasts, and on the other convenient days, do remember you in the sacrifices which we offer, and in our prayers, as it is right and meet to be mindful of brethren: ¹²And moreover are glad for your glory. ¹³But as for ourselves, many afflictions and many wars have encompassed us, and the kings that are round about us have fought against us. ¹⁴We were not minded therefore to be troublesome unto you, and to the rest of our confederates and friends, in these wars; ¹⁵For we have the help which is from heaven to help us, and we have been delivered from our enemies, and our enemies have been brought low. ¹⁶We chose therefore Numenius the son of Antiochus, and Antipater the son of Jason, and have sent them unto the Romans, to renew the friendship that we had with them, and the former confederacy. ¹⁷We commanded them therefore to go also unto you, and to salute you, and to deliver you our letters concerning the renewing of friendship and our brotherhood. ¹⁸And now ye shall do well if ye give us an answer thereto. ¹⁹And this is the copy of the letters which they sent to Onias: ²⁰ARIUS king of the Spartans to Onias the chief priest, greeting:

²¹It hath been found in writing, concerning the Spartans and the Jews, that they are brethren, and that they are of the stock of Abraham: ²²And now, since this is come to our knowledge, ye shall do well to write unto us of your prosperity. ²³And we moreover do write on our part to you, that your cattle and goods are ours, and ours are yours. We do command therefore that they make report unto you on this wise. ²⁴And Jonathan heard that Demetrius' princes were returned to fight against him with a greater host than afore, ²⁵And he removed from Jerusalem, and met them in the country of Hamath; for he gave them no respite to set foot in his country. ²⁶And he sent spies into his camp, and they came again, and reported to him that they were appointed in such and such a way to fall upon them in the night season. ²⁷But so soon as the sun was down, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in arms, that all the night long they might be ready for battle: and he put forth sentinels round about the camp. ²⁸And the adversaries heard that Jonathan and his men were ready for battle, and they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and they kindled fires in their camp. ²⁹But Jonathan and his men knew it not till the morning; for they saw the lights burning. ³⁰And Jonathan pursued after them, and overtook them not; for they were gone over the river Eleutherus. ³¹And Jonathan turned aside to the Arabians, who are called Zabadæans, and smote them, and took their spoils. ³²And he set out from thence, and came to Damascus, and took his journey through all the country. ³³And Simon went forth, and took his journey as far as Ascalon, and the strongholds that were near unto it. And he turned aside to Joppa, and took possession of it; ³⁴For he had heard that they were minded to deliver the stronghold unto the men of Demetrius; and he set a garrison there to keep it. ³⁵And Jonathan returned, and called the elders of the people together; and he took counsel with them to build strongholds in Judæa, ³⁶And to make the walls of Jerusalem higher, and to raise a great mound between the citadel and the city, for to separate it from the city, that so it might be all alone, that men might neither buy nor sell.

³⁷And they were gathered together to build the city, and there fell down part of the wall of the brook that is on the east side, and he repaired that which is called Chaphenatha. ³⁸And Simon also built Adida in the plain country, and made it strong, and set up gates and bars. ³⁹And Tryphon sought to reign over Asia and to put on himself the diadem, and to stretch forth his hand against Antiochus the king.

⁴⁰And he was afraid lest haply Jonathan should not suffer him, and lest he should fight against him; and he sought a way how to take him, that he might destroy him. And he removed, and came to Bethshan. ⁴¹And Jonathan came forth to meet him with forty thousand men chosen for battle, and came to Bethshan. ⁴²And Tryphon saw that he came with a great host, and he was afraid to stretch forth his hand against him:

⁴³And he received him honourably, and commended him unto all his Friends, and gave him gifts, and commanded his forces to be obedient unto him, as unto himself. ⁴⁴And he said unto Jonathan, Why hast thou put all this people to trouble, seeing there is no war betwixt us? ⁴⁵And now send them away to their homes, but choose for thyself a few men who shall be with thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais, and I will give it up to thee, and the rest of the strongholds and the rest of the forces, and all the king's officers: and I will return and depart; for this is the cause of my coming. ⁴⁶And he put trust in him, and did even as he said, and sent away his forces, and they departed into the land of Judah. ⁴⁷But he reserved to himself three thousand men, of whom he left two thousand in Galilee, but one thousand went with him. ⁴⁸Now as soon as Jonathan entered into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and laid hands on him; and all them that came in with him they slew with the sword. ⁴⁹And

Tryphon sent forces and horsemen into Galilee, and into the great plain, to destroy all Jonathan's men. ⁵⁰And they perceived that he was taken and had perished, and they that were with him; and they encouraged one another, and went on their way close together, prepared to fight. ⁵¹And they that followed upon them saw that they were ready to fight for their lives, and turned back again. ⁵²And they all came in peace into the land of Judah, and they mourned for Jonathan, and them that were with him, and they were sore afraid; and all Israel mourned with a great mourning. ⁵³And all the Gentiles that were round about them sought to destroy them utterly: for they said, They have no ruler, nor any to help them: now therefore let us fight against them, and take away their memorial from among men.

¹And Simon heard that Tryphon had gathered together a mighty host to come into the land of Judah, and destroy it utterly. ²And

he saw that the people trembled and was in great fear; and he went up to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together; ³And he encouraged them, and said unto them, Ye yourselves know all the things that I, and my brethren, and my father's house, have done for the laws and the sanctuary, and the battles and the distresses which we have seen: ⁴By reason hereof all my brethren have perished for Israel's sake, and I am left alone. ⁵And now be it far from me, that I should spare mine own life in any time of affliction; for I am not better than my brethren. ⁶Howbeit I will take vengeance for my nation, and for the sanctuary, and for our wives and children; because all the Gentiles are gathered to destroy us of very hatred. ⁷And the spirit of the people revived, as soon as they heard these words. ⁸And they answered with a loud voice, saying, Thou art our leader instead of Judas and Jonathan thy brother. ⁹Fight thou our battles, and all that thou shalt say unto us, that will we do. ¹⁰And he gathered together all the men of war, and made haste to finish the walls of Jerusalem, and he fortified it round about. ¹¹And he sent Jonathan the son of Absalom, and with him a great host, to Joppa: and he cast out them that were therein, and abode there in it. ¹²And Tryphon removed from Ptolemais with a mighty host to enter into the land of Judah, and Jonathan was with him in ward. ¹³But Simon encamped at Adida, over against the plain. ¹⁴And Tryphon knew that Simon was risen up instead of his brother Jonathan, and meant to join battle with him, and he sent ambassadors unto him, saying, ¹⁵It is for money which Jonathan thy brother owed unto the king's treasure, by reason of the offices which he had, that we hold him fast. ¹⁶And now send a hundred talents of silver, and two of his sons for hostages, that when he is set at liberty he may not revolt from us, and we will set him at liberty. ¹⁷And Simon knew that they spake unto him deceitfully; and he sendeth the money and the children, lest peradventure he should procure to himself great hatred of the people, ¹⁸And they should say, Because I sent him not the money and the children, he perished. ¹⁹And he sent the children and the hundred talents. And he dealt falsely, and did not set Jonathan at liberty. ²⁰And after this Tryphon came to invade the land, and destroy it, and he went round about by the way that leadeth unto Adora: and Simon and his army marched over against him to every place, wheresoever he went. ²¹Now they of the citadel sent unto Tryphon ambassadors, hastening him to come unto them through the wilderness, and to send them victuals. ²²And Tryphon made ready all his horse to come: and on that night there fell a very great snow, and he came not by reason of the snow. And he removed, and came into the country of Gilead. ²³But when he came near to Bascama, he slew Jonathan, and he was buried there. ²⁴And Tryphon returned, and went away into his own land. ²⁵And Simon sent, and took the bones of Jonathan his brother, and buried him at Modin, the city of his fathers. ²⁶And all Israel made great lamentation over him, and mourned for him many days.

²⁷And Simon built a monument upon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, and raised it aloft to the sight, with polished stone behind and before. ²⁸And he set up seven pyramids, one over against another, for his father, and his mother, and his four brethren. ²⁹And for these he made cunning devices, setting about them great pillars, and upon the pillars he fashioned all manner of arms for a perpetual memory, and beside the arms ships carved, that they should be seen of all that sail on the sea.

³⁰This is the sepulchre which he made at Modin, and it is there unto this day. ³¹Now Tryphon dealt deceitfully with the young king Antiochus, and slew him, ³²And reigned in his stead, and put on himself the diadem of Asia, and brought a great calamity upon the land. ³³And Simon built the strongholds of Judæa, and fenced them about with high towers, and great walls, and gates, and bars; and he laid up victuals in the strongholds. ³⁴And Simon chose men, and sent to king Demetrius, to the end he should give the country an immunity, because all that Tryphon did was to plunder. ³⁵And king Demetrius sent unto him according to these words, and answered him, and wrote a letter unto him, after this manner: ³⁶King Demetrius unto Simon the high priest and Friend of kings, and unto the elders and nation of the Jews, greeting: ³⁷The golden crown, and the palm branch, which ye sent, we have received: and we are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, yea, and to write unto our officers, to grant immunities unto you. ³⁸And whatsoever things we confirmed unto you, they are confirmed; and the strongholds, which ye have builded, let them be your own. ³⁹As for any oversights and faults committed unto this day, we forgive them, and the crown which ye owed us: and if there were any other toll exacted in Jerusalem, let it be exacted no longer. ⁴⁰And if there be any among you meet to be enrolled in our court, let them be enrolled, and let there be peace betwixt us. ⁴¹In the hundred and seventieth year was the yoke of the heathen taken away from Israel. ⁴²And the people began to write in their instruments and contracts, In the first year of Simon the great high priest and captain and leader of the Jews. ⁴³In those days he encamped against Gazara, and compassed it round about with armies; and he made an engine of siege, and brought it up to the city, and smote a tower, and took it. ⁴⁴And they that were in the engine leaped forth into the city; and there was a great uproar in the city: ⁴⁵And they of the city rent their clothes, and went up on the walls with their wives and children, and cried with a loud voice, making request to Simon to give them his right hand. ⁴⁶And they said, Deal not with us according to our wickednesses, but according to thy mercy. ⁴⁷And Simon was reconciled unto them, and did not fight against them: and he put them out of the city, and cleansed the houses wherein the idols were, and so entered into it with singing and giving praise. ⁴⁸And he put all uncleanness out of it, and placed in it such men as would keep the law, and made it stronger than it was before, and built therein a dwelling place for himself. ⁴⁹But they of the citadel in Jerusalem were hindered from going forth, and from going into the country, and from buying and selling; and they hungered exceedingly, and a great number of them perished through famine. ⁵⁰And they cried out to Simon, that he should give them his right hand; and he gave it to them; and he put them out from thence, and he cleansed the citadel from its pollutions. ⁵¹And he entered into it on the three and twentieth day of the second month, in the hundred and seventy and first year, with praise and palm branches, and with harps, and with cymbals, and with viols, and with hymns, and with songs: because a great enemy was destroyed out of Israel. ⁵²And he ordained that they should keep that day every year with gladness. And the hill of the temple that was by the citadel he made stronger than before, and there he dwelt, himself and his men. ⁵³And Simon saw that John his son was a valiant man, and he made him leader of all his forces: and he dwelt in Gazara.

¹And in the hundred and seventy and second year king Demetrius gathered his forces together, and went into Media, to get him help, that he might fight against Tryphon. ²And Arsaces, the king of Persia and Media, heard that Demetrius was come into his borders, and he sent one of his princes to take him alive: ³And he went and smote the army of Demetrius, and took him, and brought him to Arsaces; and he put him in ward. ⁴And the land had rest all the days of Simon: and he sought the good of his nation; and his authority and his glory was well-pleasing to them all his days. ⁵And amid all his glory he took Joppa for a haven, and made it an entrance for the isles of the sea; ⁶And he enlarged the borders of his nation, and gat possession of the country; ⁷And he gathered together a great number of captives, and gat the dominion of Gazara, and Bethsura, and the citadel, and he took away from it its uncleannesses; and there was none that resisted him. ⁸And they tilled their land in peace, and the land gave her increase, and the trees of the plains their fruit. ⁹The ancient men sat in the streets, they communed all of them together of good things, and the young men put on glorious and warlike apparel. ¹⁰He provided victuals for the cities, and furnished them with all manner of munition, until the name of his glory was named unto the end of the earth. ¹¹He made peace in the land, and Israel rejoiced with great joy: ¹²And they sat each man under his vine and his fig tree, and there was none to make them afraid: ¹³And there ceased in the land any that fought against them: and the kings were discomfited in those days. ¹⁴And he strengthened all those of his people that were brought low: the law he searched out, and every lawless and wicked person he took away. ¹⁵He glorified the sanctuary, and the vessels of the temple he multiplied. ¹⁶And it was heard at Rome that Jonathan was dead, and even unto Sparta, and they were exceeding sorry. ¹⁷But as soon as they heard that his brother Simon was made high priest in his stead, and ruled the country, and the cities therein, ¹⁸They wrote unto him on tables of brass, to renew with him the friendship and the confederacy which they had confirmed with Judas and Jonathan his brethren; ¹⁹And they were read before the congregation at Jerusalem. ²⁰And this is the copy of the letters which the Spartans sent: The rulers of the Spartans, and the city, unto Simon the high priest, and unto the elders, and the priests, and the residue of the people of the Jews, our brethren, greeting: ²¹The ambassadors that were sent unto our people made report to us of your glory and honour: and we were glad for their coming, ²²And we did register the things that were spoken by them in the public records after this manner: Numenius son of Antiochus, and Antipater son of Jason, the Jews' ambassadors, came unto us to renew the friendship they had with us. ²³And it pleased the people to entertain the men honourably, and to put the copy of their words in the public records, to the end that the people of the Spartans might have a memorial thereof: moreover they wrote a copy of these things unto Simon the high priest. ²⁴After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight, in order to confirm the confederacy with them. ²⁵But when the people heard these things, they said, What thanks shall we give to Simon and his sons? ²⁶For he and his brethren and the house of his father have made themselves strong, and have chased away in fight the enemies of Israel from them, and confirmed liberty to Israel. ²⁷And they wrote on tables of brass, and set them upon pillars in mount Sion: and this is the copy of the writing: ON the eighteenth day of Elul, in the hundred and seventy and second year, and this is the third year of Simon the high priest, ²⁸In Asaramel, in a great congregation of priests and people and princes of the nation, and of the elders of the country, was it notified unto us: ²⁹Forasmuch as oftentimes there have been wars in the country, but Simon the son of Mattathias, the son of the sons of Joarib, and his brethren, put themselves in jeopardy, and withstood the enemies of their nation, that their sanctuary and the law might be established, and glorified their nation with great glory: ³⁰And Jonathan assembled their nation together, and became their high priest, and was gathered to his people: ³¹And their enemies purposed to invade their country, that they might destroy their country utterly, and stretch forth their hands against their sanctuary: ³²Then rose up Simon, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his own substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages: ³³And he fortified the cities of Judæa, and Bethsura that lieth upon the borders of Judæa, where the arms of the enemies were aforetime, and set there a garrison of Jews: ³⁴And he fortified Joppa which is upon the sea, and Gazara which is upon the borders of Azotus, wherein the enemies dwelt aforetime, and placed Jews there, and set therein all things convenient for the reparation thereof: ³⁵And the people saw the faith of Simon, and the glory which he thought to bring unto his nation, and they made him their leader and high priest, because he had done all these things, and for the justice and the faith which he kept to his nation, and for that he sought by all means to exalt his people: ³⁶And in his days things prospered in his hands, so that the Gentiles were taken away out of their country, and they also that were in the city of David, they that were in Jerusalem, who had made themselves a citadel, out of which they issued, and polluted all things round about the sanctuary, and did great hurt unto its purity; ³⁷And he placed Jews therein, and fortified it for the safety of the country and the city, and made high the walls of Jerusalem: ³⁸And king Demetrius confirmed to him the high priesthood according to these things, ³⁹And made him one of his Friends, and honoured him with great honour; ⁴⁰For he had heard say, that the Jews had been called by the Romans friends and confederates and brethren, and that they had met the ambassadors of Simon honourably; ⁴¹And that the Jews and the priests were well pleased that Simon should be their leader and high priest for ever, until there should arise a faithful prophet; ⁴²And that he should be captain over them, and should take charge of the sanctuary, to set them over their works, and over the country, and over the arms, and over the strongholds; and that he should take charge of the sanctuary, ⁴³And that he should be obeyed by all, and that all instruments in the country should be written in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and wear gold; ⁴⁴And that it should not be lawful for any of the people or of the priests to set at nought any of these things, or to gainsay the words that he should speak, or to gather an assembly in the country without him, or to be clothed in purple, or wear a buckle of gold; ⁴⁵But whosoever should do otherwise, or set at nought any of these things, he should be liable to punishment. ⁴⁶All the people consented to ordain for Simon that he should do according to these words; ⁴⁷And Simon accepted hereof, and consented to be high priest, and to be captain and governor of the Jews and of the priests, and to be protector of all. ⁴⁸And they commanded to put this writing on tables of brass, and to set them up within the precinct of the sanctuary in a conspicuous place; ⁴⁹And moreover to put the copies thereof in the treasury, to the end that Simon and his sons might have them.

¹And Antiochus son of Demetrius the king sent letters from the isles of the sea unto Simon the priest and governor of the Jews, and to all the nation; ²And the contents thereof were after this manner: King

Antiochus to Simon the chief priest and governor, and to the nation of the Jews, greeting: ³Forasmuch as certain pestilent fellows have made themselves masters of the kingdom of our fathers, but my purpose is to claim the kingdom, that I may restore it as it was before; and moreover I have raised a multitude of foreign soldiers, and have prepared ships of war; ⁴Moreover I am minded to land in the country, that I may punish them that have destroyed our country, and them that have made many cities in the kingdom desolate: ⁵Now therefore I confirm unto thee all the exactions which the kings that were before me remitted unto thee, and whatsoever gifts besides they remitted unto thee: ⁶And I give thee leave to coin money for thy country with thine own stamp, ⁷But that Jerusalem and the sanctuary should be free: and all the arms that thou hast prepared, and the strongholds that thou hast built, which thou hast in thy possession, let them remain unto thee: ⁸And everything owing to the king, and the things that shall be owing to the king from henceforth and for evermore, let them be remitted unto thee: ⁹Moreover, when we shall have established our kingdom, we will glorify thee and thy nation and the temple with great glory, so that your glory shall be made manifest in all the earth. ¹⁰In the hundred and seventy and fourth year went Antiochus forth into the land of his fathers; and all the forces came together unto him, so that there were few men with Tryphon. ¹¹And king Antiochus pursued him, and he came, as he fled, unto Dor, which is by the sea: ¹²For he knew that troubles were come upon him all at once, and that his forces had forsaken him. ¹³And Antiochus encamped against Dor, and with him a hundred and twenty thousand men of war, and eight thousand horse. ¹⁴And he compassed the city round about, and the ships joined in the attack from the sea; and he vexed the city by land and sea, and suffered no man to go out or in. ¹⁵And Numenius and his company came from Rome, having letters to the kings and to the countries, wherein were written these things: ¹⁶LUCIUS, consul of the Romans, unto king Ptolemy, greeting: ¹⁷The Jews' ambassadors came unto us as our friends and confederates, to renew the old friendship and confederacy, being sent from Simon the high priest, and from the people of the Jews: ¹⁸Moreover they brought a shield of gold of a thousand pound. ¹⁹It pleased us therefore to write unto the kings and unto the countries, that they should not seek their hurt, nor fight against them, and their cities, and their country, nor be confederates with such as fight against them. ²⁰Moreover it seemed good to us to receive the shield of them. ²¹If therefore any pestilent fellows have fled from their country unto you, deliver them unto Simon the high priest, that he may take vengeance on them according to their law. ²²And the same things wrote he to Demetrius the king, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, ²³And unto all the countries, and to Sampsames, and to the Spartans, and unto Delos, and unto Myndos, and unto Sicyon, and unto Caria, and unto Samos, and unto Pamphylia, and unto Lycia, and unto Halicarnassus, and unto Rhodes, and unto Phaselis, and unto Cos, and unto Side, and unto Aradus, and Gortyna, and Cnidus, and Cyprus, and Cyrene. ²⁴But the copy hereof they wrote to Simon the high priest. ²⁵ But Antiochus the king encamped against Dor the second day, bringing his forces up to it continually, and making engines of war, and he shut up Tryphon from going in or out. ²⁶And Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to fight on his side; and silver, and gold, and instruments of war in abundance. ²⁷And he would not receive them, but set at nought all the covenants which he had made with him aforetime, and was estranged from him. ²⁸And he sent unto him Athenobius, one of his Friends, to commune with him, saying, YE hold possession of Joppa and Gazara, and the citadel that is in Jerusalem, cities of my kingdom. ²⁹The borders thereof ye have wasted, and done great hurt in the land, and got the dominion of many places in my kingdom.

³⁰Now therefore deliver up the cities which ye have taken, and the tributes of the places whereof ye have gotten dominion without the borders of Judæa: ³¹Or else give me for them five hundred talents of silver; and for the harm that ye have done, and the tributes of the cities, other five hundred talents: or else we will come and subdue you. ³²And Athenobius the king's Friend came to Jerusalem; and he saw the glory of Simon, and the cupboard of gold and silver vessels, and his great attendance, and he was amazed; and he reported to him the king's words. ³³And Simon answered, and said unto him, WE have neither taken other men's land, nor have we possession of that which appertaineth to others, but of the inheritance of our fathers; howbeit, it was had in possession of our enemies wrongfully for a certain time. ³⁴But we, having opportunity, hold fast the inheritance of our fathers. ³⁵But as touching Joppa and Gazara, which thou demandest, they did great harm among the people throughout our country, we will give a hundred talents for them. And he answered him not a word, ³⁶But returned in a rage to the king, and reported unto him these words, and the glory of Simon, and all that he had seen: and the king was exceeding wroth. ³⁷But Tryphon embarked on board a ship, and fled to Orthosia. ³⁸And the king appointed Cendebæus chief captain of the sea coast, and gave him forces of foot and horse: ³⁹And he commanded him to encamp before Judæa, and he commanded him to build up Kidron, and to fortify the gates, and that he should fight against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon. ⁴⁰And Cendebæus came to Jamnia, and began to provoke the people, and to invade Judæa, and to take the people captive, and to slay them. ⁴¹And he built Kidron, and set horsemen there, and forces of foot, to the end that issuing out they might make outroads upon the ways of Judæa, according as the king commanded him.

¹And John went up from Gazara, and told Simon his father what Cendebæus was doing. ²And Simon called his two eldest sons, Judas and John, and said unto them, I and my brethren and my father's house have fought the battles of Israel from our youth, even unto this day; and things have prospered in our hands, that we should deliver Israel oftentimes. ³But now I am old, and ye moreover, by his mercy, are of a sufficient age: be ye instead of me and my brother, and go forth and fight for our nation; but let the help which is from heaven be with you. ⁴And he chose out of the country twenty thousand men of war and horsemen, and they went against Cendebæus, and slept at Modin. ⁵And rising up in the morning, they went into the plain, and, behold, a great host came to meet them, of footmen and horsemen; and there was a brook betwixt them. ⁶And he encamped over against them, he and his people: and he saw that the people were afraid to pass over the brook, and he passed over first, and the men saw him, and passed over after him. ⁷And he divided the people, and set the horsemen in the midst of the footmen: but the enemies' horsemen were exceeding many. ⁸And they sounded with the trumpets; and Cendebæus and his army were put to the rout, and there fell of them many wounded to death, but they that were left fled to the stronghold: ⁹At that time was Judas John's brother wounded: but John pursued after them, till he came unto Kidron, which Cendebæus had built; ¹⁰And they fled unto the towers that are in the fields of Azotus; and he burned it with fire; and there fell of them about two thousand men. And he returned into Judæa in peace. ¹¹And Ptolemy the son of Abubus had been appointed captain for the plain of Jericho, and he had much silver and gold; ¹²For he was the high priest's son in law. ¹³And his heart was lifted up, and he was minded to make himself master of the country, and he took counsel deceitfully against Simon and his sons, to make away with them. ¹⁴Now Simon was visiting the cities that were in the country, and taking care for the good ordering of them; and he went down to Jericho, himself and Mattathias and Judas his sons, in the hundred and seventy and seventh year, in the eleventh month, the same is the month Sebat: ¹⁵And the son of Abubus received them deceitfully into the little stronghold that is called Dok, which he had built, and made them a great banquet, and hid men there. ¹⁶And when Simon and his sons had drunk freely, Ptolemy and his men rose up, and took their arms, and came in upon Simon into the banqueting place, and slew him, and his two sons, and certain of his servants. ¹⁷And he committed a great iniquity, and recompensed evil for good. ¹⁸And Ptolemy wrote these things, and sent to the king, that he should send him forces to aid him, and should deliver him their country and the cities. ¹⁹And he sent others to Gazara to make away with John: and unto the captains of thousands he sent letters to come unto him, that he might give them silver and gold and gifts. ²⁰And others he sent to take possession of Jerusalem, and the mount of the temple. ²¹And one ran before to Gazara, and told John that his father and brethren were perished, and he hath sent to slay thee also. ²²And when he heard, he was sore amazed; and he laid hands on the men that came to destroy him, and slew them; for he perceived that they were seeking to destroy him. ²³And the rest of the acts of John, and of his wars, and of his valiant deeds which he did, and of the building of the walls which he built, and of his doings, ²⁴Behold, they are written in the chronicles of his high priesthood, from the time that he was made high priest after his father.

2 MACCABEES

¹The brethren, the Jews that are in Jerusalem and they that are in the country of Judæa, send greeting to the brethren, the Jews that are throughout Egypt, and wish them good peace: ²And may God do good unto you, and remember his covenant with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, his faithful servants; ³And give you all a heart to worship him and do his pleasure with a great heart and a willing soul; ⁴And open your heart in his law and in his statutes, and make peace, ⁵And hearken to your supplications, and be reconciled with you, and not forsake you in an evil time. ⁶And now we here are praying for you. ⁷In the reign of Demetrius, in the hundred threescore and ninth year, we the Jews have already written unto you in the tribulation and in the extremity that hath come upon us in these years, from the time that Jason and his company revolted from the holy land and the kingdom, ⁸And set the gate on fire, and shed innocent blood: and we besought the Lord, and were heard; and we offered sacrifice and meal offering, and we lighted the lamps, and we set forth the shewbread. ⁹And now see that ye keep the days of the feast of tabernacles of the month Chislev.

¹⁰Written in the hundred fourscore and eighth year. They that are in Jerusalem and they that are in Judæa and the senate and Judas, unto Aristobulus, king Ptolemy's teacher, who is also of the stock of the anointed priests, and unto the Jews that are in Egypt, send greeting and health. ¹¹Having been saved by God out of great perils, as men arrayed against a king, we thank him greatly. ¹²For himself cast forth into Persia them that arrayed themselves against us in the holy city. ¹³For when the prince was come there, and the army with him that seemed irresistible, they were cut to pieces in the temple of Nanæa by the treachery of Nanæa's priests. ¹⁴For Antiochus, on the pretence that he would marry her, came into the place, he and his Friends that were with him, that they might take a great part of the treasures in name of a dowry. ¹⁵And when the priests of Nanæa's temple had set the treasures forth, and he was come there with a small company within the wall of the precincts, they shut to the temple when

Antiochus was come in: ¹⁶And opening the secret door of the panelled ceiling, they threw stones and struck down the prince, and they hewed him and his company in pieces, and smote off their heads, and cast them to those that were without. ¹⁷Blessed be our God in all things, who gave for a prey them that had committed impiety. ¹⁸Whereas we are now about to keep the purification of the temple in the month Chislev, on the five and twentieth day, we thought it necessary to certify you thereof, that ye also may keep a feast of tabernacles, and a memorial of the fire which was given when Nehemiah offered sacrifices, after that he had builded both the temple and the altar. ¹⁹For indeed when our fathers were about to be led into the land of Persia, the godly priests of that time took of the fire of the altar, and hid it privily in the hollow of a well that was without water, wherein they made it sure, so that the place was unknown to all men. ²⁰Now after many years, when it pleased God, Nehemiah, having received a charge from the king of Persia, sent in quest of the fire the descendants of the priests that hid it. When they declared to us that they had found no fire, but thick water, ²¹He commanded them to draw out thereof and bring to him: and when the sacrifices had been offered on the altar, Nehemiah commanded the priests to sprinkle with the water both the wood and the things laid thereupon. ²²And when it was done, and some time had passed, and the sun shone out, which before was hid with clouds, there was kindled a great blaze, so that all men marvelled. ²³And the priests made a prayer while the sacrifice was consuming, both the priests and all others, Jonathan leading and the rest answering, as Nehemiah did. ²⁴And the prayer was after this manner: O Lord, Lord God, the Creator of all things, who art terrible and strong and righteous and merciful, who alone art King and gracious, ²⁵Who alone suppliest every need, who alone art righteous and almighty and eternal, thou that savest Israel out of all evil, who madest the fathers thy chosen, and didst sanctify them: ²⁶Accept the sacrifice for all thy people Israel, and guard thine own portion, and consecrate it. ²⁷Gather together our Dispersion, set at liberty them that are in bondage among the heathen, look upon them that are despised and abhorred, and let the heathen know that thou art our God. ²⁸Torment them that oppress us and in arrogancy shamefully entreat us. ²⁹Plant thy people in thy holy place, even as Moses said. ³⁰And thereupon the priests sang the hymns. ³¹And as soon as the sacrifice was consumed, then Nehemiah commanded to pour on great stones the water that was left. ³²And when this was done, a flame was kindled; but when the light from the altar shone over against it, all was consumed. ³³And when the matter became known, and it was told the king of the Persians, that, in the place where the priests that were led away had hid the fire, there appeared the water, wherewith also Nehemiah and they that were with him purified the sacrifice, ³⁴Then the king, inclosing the place, made it sacred, after he had proved the matter. ³⁵And when the king would shew favour to any, he would take from them many presents and give them some of this water. ³⁶And Nehemiah and they that were with him called this thing Nephthar, which is by interpretation, Cleansing; but most men call it Nephthai.

¹It is also found in the records, that Jeremiah the prophet commanded them that were carried away to take of the fire, as hath been signified above: ²And how that the prophet charged them that were carried away, having given them the law, that they should not forget the statutes of the Lord, neither be led astray in their minds, when they saw images of gold and silver, and the adornment thereof. ³And with other such words exhorted he them, that the law should not depart from their heart. ⁴And it was contained in the writing, that the prophet, being warned of God, commanded that the tabernacle and the ark should follow with him, when he went forth into the mountain where Moses went up and beheld the heritage of God. ⁵And Jeremiah came and found a chamber in the rock, and there he brought in the tabernacle, and the ark, and the altar of incense; and he made fast the door. ⁶And some of those that followed with him came there that they might mark the way, and could not find it. ⁷But when Jeremiah perceived it, he blamed them, saying, Yea and the place shall be unknown until God gather the people again together, and mercy come: ⁸And then shall the Lord disclose these things, and the glory of the Lord shall be seen, and the cloud. AS also it was shewed with Moses; as also Solomon besought that the place might be consecrated greatly, ⁹And it was also declared that he, having wisdom, offered a sacrifice of dedication, and of the finishing of the temple; so we would have it now. ¹⁰As Moses prayed unto the Lord, and fire came down out of heaven and consumed the sacrifice, even so prayed Solomon also, and the fire came down and consumed the burnt offerings; ¹¹(And Moses said, Because the sin offering had not been eaten, it was consumed in like manner with the rest;) ¹²And Solomon kept the eight days. ¹³And the same things were related both in the public archives and in the records that concern Nehemiah; and how he, founding a library, gathered together the books about the kings and prophets, and the books of David, and letters of kings about sacred gifts. ¹⁴And in like manner Judas also gathered together for us all those writings that had been scattered by reason of the war that befell, and they are still with us. ¹⁵If therefore ye have need thereof, send some to fetch them unto you. ¹⁶SEEING then that we are about to keep the purification, we write unto you; ye will therefore do well if ye keep the days. ¹⁷Now God, who saved all his people, and restored the heritage to all, and the kingdom, and the priesthood, and the hallowing, ¹⁸Even as he promised through the law, — in God have we hope, that he will quickly have mercy upon us, and gather us together out of all the earth into the holy place: for he delivered us out of great evils, and purified the place. ¹⁹Now the things concerning Judas Maccabæus and his brethren, and the purification of the great temple, and the dedication of the altar, ²⁰And further the wars against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his son, ²¹And the manifestations that came from heaven unto those that vied with one another in manful deeds for the religion of the Jews; so that, being but a few, they rescued the whole country, and chased the barbarous multitudes, ²²And recovered again the temple renowned all the world over, and freed the city, and restored the laws which were like to be overthrown, seeing the Lord became gracious unto them with all forbearance: ²³These things, I say, which have been declared by Jason of Cyrene in five books, we will assay to abridge in one work. ²⁴For having in view the confused mass of the numbers, and the difficulty which awaiteth them that would enter into the narratives of the history, by reason of the abundance of the matter, ²⁵We were careful that they who choose to read may be attracted, and that they who wish well to our cause may find it easy to recall what we have written, and that all readers may have profit. ²⁶And although to us, who have taken upon us the painful labour of the abridgement, the task is not easy, but a matter of sweat and watching ²⁷(Even as it is no light thing unto him that prepareth a banquet, and seeketh the benefit of others); yet for the sake of the gratitude of the many we will gladly endure the painful labour, ²⁸Leaving to the historian the exact handling of every particular, and again having no strength to fill in the outlines of our abridgement. ²⁹For as the masterbuilder of a new house must care for the whole structure, and again he that undertaketh to decorate and paint it must seek out the things fit for the adorning thereof; even so I think it is also with us. ³⁰To occupy the ground, and to indulge in long discussions, and to be curious in particulars, becometh the first author of the history: ³¹But to strive after brevity of expression, and to avoid a laboured fulness in the treatment, is to be granted to him that would bring a writing into a new form. ³²Here then let us begin the narration, only adding thus much to that which hath been already said; for it is a foolish thing to make a long prologue to the history, and to abridge the history itself.

¹When the holy city was inhabited with all peace, and the laws were kept very well, because of the godliness of Onias the high priest, and his hatred of wickedness, ²It came to pass that even the kings themselves did honour the place, and glorify the temple with the noblest presents; ³Insomuch that even Seleucus the king of Asia of his own revenues bare all the costs belonging to the services of the sacrifices. ⁴But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin, having been made guardian of the temple, fell out with the high priest about the ruling of the market in the city. ⁵And when he could not overcome Onias, he gat him to Apollonius the son of Thrasæus, who at that time was governor of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia: ⁶And he brought him word how that the treasury in Jerusalem was full of untold sums of money, so that the multitude of the funds was innumerable, and that they did not pertain to the account of the sacrifices, but that it was possible that these should fall under the king's power. ⁷And when Apollonius met the king, he informed him of the money whereof he had been told; and the king appointed Heliodorus, who was his chancellor, and sent him with a commandment to accomplish the removal of the aforesaid money. ⁸So forthwith Heliodorus took his journey, under a colour of visiting the cities of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia, but in fact to execute the king's purpose. ⁹And when he was come to Jerusalem, and had been courteously received by the high priest of the city, he laid before them an account of the information which had been given him, and declared wherefore he was come; and he inquired if in truth these things were so. ¹⁰And the high priest explained to him that there were in the treasury deposits of widows and orphans, ¹¹And moreover some money belonging to Hyrcanus the son of Tobias, a man in very high place, and that the case was not as that impious Simon falsely alleged; and that in all there were four hundred talents of silver and two hundred of gold; ¹²And that it was altogether impossible that wrong should be done unto them that had put trust in the holiness of the place, and in the majesty and inviolable sanctity of the temple, honoured over all the world. ¹³But Heliodorus, because of the king's commandments given him, said that in any case this money must be confiscated for the king's treasury. ¹⁴So having appointed a day, he entered in to direct the inquiry concerning these matters; and there was no small distress throughout the whole city. ¹⁵And the priests, prostrating themselves before the altar in their priestly garments, and looking toward heaven, called upon him that gave the law concerning deposits, that he should preserve these treasures safe for those that had deposited them. ¹⁶And whosoever saw the mien of the high priest was wounded in mind; for his countenance and the change of his colour betrayed the distress of his soul. ¹⁷For a terror and a shuddering of the body had come over the man, whereby the pain that was in his heart was plainly shewn to them that looked upon him. ¹⁸And they that were in the houses rushed flocking out to make a universal supplication, because the place was like to come into contempt. ¹⁹And the women, girt with sackcloth under their breasts, thronged the streets, and the virgins that were kept in ward ran together, some to the gates, others to the walls, and some looked out through the windows. ²⁰And all, stretching forth their hands toward heaven, made their solemn supplication. ²¹Then it would have pitied a man to see the multitude prostrating themselves all mingled together, and the expectation of the high priest in his sore distress. ²²While therefore they called upon the Almighty Lord to keep the things intrusted to them safe and sure for those that had intrusted them, ²³Heliodorus went on to execute that which had been decreed. ²⁴But when he was already present there with his guards over against the treasury, the Sovereign of spirits and of all authority caused a great apparition, so that all that had presumed to come in with him, stricken with dismay at the power of God, fainted and were sore afraid. ²⁵For there was seen by them a horse with a terrible rider upon him, and adorned with beautiful trappings, and he rushed fiercely and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeet, and it seemed that he that sat upon the horse had complete armour of gold. ²⁶Two other also appeared unto him, young men notable in their strength, and beautiful in their glory, and splendid in their apparel, who stood by him on either side, and scourged him unceasingly, inflicting on him many sore stripes. ²⁷And when he had fallen suddenly unto the ground, and great darkness had come over him, his guards caught him up and put him into a litter, ²⁸And carried him, him that had just now entered with a great train and all his guard into the aforesaid treasury, himself now brought to utter helplessness, manifestly made to recognise the sovereignty of God. ²⁹And so, while he, through the working of God, speechless and bereft of all hope and deliverance, lay prostrate, ³⁰They blessed the Lord, that made marvellous his own place; and the temple, which a little afore was full of terror and alarm, was filled with joy and gladness after the Almighty Lord appeared. ³¹But quickly certain of Heliodorus's familiar friends besought Onias to call upon the Most High, and grant life to him who lay quite at the last gasp. ³²And the high priest, secretly fearing lest the king might come to think that some treachery toward Heliodorus had been perpetrated by the Jews, brought a sacrifice for the deliverance of the man. ³³But as the high priest was making the propitiation, the same young men appeared again to Heliodorus, arrayed in the same garments; and they stood and said, Give Onias the high priest great thanks, for for his sake the Lord hath granted thee life; ³⁴And do thou, since thou hast been scourged from heaven, publish unto all men the sovereign majesty of God. And when they had spoken these words, they vanished out of sight. ³⁵So Heliodorus, having offered a sacrifice unto the Lord and vowed great vows unto him that had saved his life, and having graciously received Onias, returned with his host to the king. ³⁶And he testified to all men the works of the great God which he had beheld with his eyes. ³⁷And when the king asked Heliodorus, what manner of man was fit to be sent yet once again to Jerusalem, he said, ³⁸If thou hast any enemy or conspirator against the state, send him thither, and thou shalt receive him back well scourged, if he even escape with his life; because of a truth there is about the place a power of God. ³⁹For he that hath his dwelling in heaven himself hath his eyes upon that place, and helpeth it; and them that come to hurt it he smiteth and destroyeth. ⁴⁰And such was the history of Heliodorus and the keeping of the treasury.

¹But the aforesaid Simon, he who had given information of the money, and had betrayed his country, slandered Onias, saying that it was he who had incited Heliodorus, and made himself the author of these evils. ²And him that was the benefactor of the city, and the guardian of his fellow-countrymen, and a zealot for the laws, he dared to call a conspirator against the state. ³But when the growing enmity between them waxed so great, that even murders were perpetrated through one of Simon's trusted followers, ⁴Onias, seeing the danger of the contention, and that Apollonius the son of Menestheus, the governor of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia, was increasing Simon's malice, ⁵Betook himself to the king, not to be an accuser of his fellow-citizens, but looking to the good of all the people, both public and private; ⁶For he saw that without the king's providence it was impossible for the state to obtain peace any more, and that Simon would not cease from his madness. ⁷But when Seleucus was deceased, and Antiochus, who was called Epiphanes, succeeded to the kingdom, Jason the brother of Onias supplanted his brother in the high priesthood, ⁸Having promised unto the king at an audience three hundred and threescore talents of silver, and out of another fund eighty talents; ⁹And beside this, he undertook to assign a hundred and fifty more, if it might be allowed him through the king's authority to set him up a Greek place of exercise and form a body of youths to be trained therein, and to register the inhabitants of Jerusalem as citizens of Antioch. ¹⁰And when the king had given assent, and he had gotten possession of the office, he forthwith brought over them of his own race to the Greek fashion. ¹¹And setting aside the royal ordinances of special favour to the Jews, granted by the means of John the father of Eupolemus, who went on the embassy to the Romans for friendship and alliance, and seeking to overthrow the lawful modes of life, he brought in new customs forbidden by the law: ¹²For he eagerly established a Greek place of exercise under the citadel itself; and caused the noblest of the young men to wear the Greek cap. ¹³And thus there was an extreme of Greek fashions, and an advance of an alien religion, by reason of the exceeding profaneness of Jason, that ungodly man and no high priest; ¹⁴So that the priests had no more any zeal for the services of the altar: but despising the sanctuary, and neglecting the sacrifices, they hastened to enjoy that which was unlawfully provided in the palæstra, after the summons of the discus; ¹⁵Making of no account the honours of their fathers, and thinking the glories of the Greeks best of all. ¹⁶By reason whereof sore calamity beset them; and the men whose ways of living they earnestly followed, and unto whom they desired to be made like in all things, these they had to be their enemies and to punish them. ¹⁷For it is not a light thing to do impiously against the laws of God: but these things the time following shall declare. ¹⁸Now when certain games that came every fifth year were kept at Tyre, and the king was present, ¹⁹The vile Jason sent sacred envoys, as being Antiochians of Jerusalem, bearing three hundred drachmas of silver to the sacrifice of Hercules, which even the bearers thereof thought not right to use for any sacrifice, because it was not fit, but to expend on another charge. ²⁰And though in the purpose of the sender this money was for the sacrifice of Hercules, yet on account of present circumstances it went to the equipment of the galleys. ²¹Now when Apollonius the son of Menestheus was sent into Egypt for the enthronement of Ptolemy Philometor as king, Antiochus, learning that Ptolemy had shewn himself ill affected toward his state, took thought for the security of his realm; wherefore, going by sea to Joppa, he travelled on to Jerusalem. ²²And being magnificently received by Jason and the city, he was brought in with torches and shoutings. This done, he afterward led his army down into Phœnicia. ²³Now after a space of three years Jason sent Menelaus, the aforesaid Simon's brother, to bear the money unto the king, and to make reports concerning some necessary matters. ²⁴But he being commended to the king, and having glorified himself by the display of his authority, got the high priesthood for himself, outbidding Jason by three hundred talents of silver. ²⁵And having received the royal mandates he came to Jerusalem, bringing nothing worthy the high priesthood, but having the passion of a cruel tyrant, and the rage of a savage beast. ²⁶And whereas Jason, who had supplanted his own brother, was supplanted by another and driven as a fugitive into the country of the Ammonites, ²⁷Menelaus had possession of the office: but of the money that had been promised to the king nothing was duly paid, and that though

Sostratus the governor of the citadel demanded it ²⁸(For unto him appertained the gathering of the revenues); for which cause they were both called by the king to his presence. ²⁹And Menelaus left his own brother Lysimachus for his deputy in the high priesthood; and Sostratus left Crates, who was over the Cyprians. ³⁰Now while such was the state of things, it came to pass that they of Tarsus and Mallus made insurrection, because they were to be given as a present to Antiochis, the king's concubine. ³¹The king therefore came to Cilicia in all haste to settle matters, leaving for his deputy Andronicus, a man of high rank. ³²And Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a favourable opportunity, presented to Andronicus certain vessels of gold belonging to the temple, which he had stolen: other vessels also he had already sold into Tyre and the cities round about. ³³And when Onias had sure knowledge of this, he sharply reproved him, having withdrawn himself into a sanctuary at Daphne, that lieth by

Antioch. ³⁴Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to kill Onias. And coming to Onias, and being persuaded to use treachery, and being received as a friend, Andronicus gave him his right hand with oaths of fidelity, and, though he was suspected by him, so persuaded him to come forth of the sanctuary; and forthwith he despatched him without regard of justice. ³⁵For the which cause not only Jews, but many also of the other nations, had indignation and displeasure at the unjust murder of the man. ³⁶And when the king was come back again from the places in Cilicia, the Jews that were in the city pleaded before him against Andronicus (the Greeks also joining with them in hatred of the wickedness), urging that Onias had been wrongfully slain. ³⁷Antiochus therefore was heartily sorry, and was moved to pity, and wept, because of the sober and well ordered life of him that was dead; ³⁸And being inflamed with passion, forthwith he stripped off Andronicus's purple robe, and rent off his under garments, and when he had led him round through the whole city unto that very place where he had committed impiety against Onias, there he put the murderer out of the way, the Lord rendering to him the punishment he had deserved. ³⁹Now when many sacrileges had been committed in the city by Lysimachus with the consent of Menelaus, and when the bruit thereof was spread abroad outside, the people gathered themselves together against Lysimachus, after many vessels of gold had been already dispersed. ⁴⁰And when the multitudes were rising against him, and were filled with anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand men, and with unrighteous violence began the conflict, one Hauran, a man far gone in years and no less also in madness, leading the attack. ⁴¹But when they perceived the assault of Lysimachus, some caught up stones, others logs of wood, and some took handfuls of the ashes that lay near, and they flung them all pell-mell upon Lysimachus and them that were

with him; ⁴²By reason of which they wounded many of them, and some they struck to the ground, and all of them they forced to flee, but the author of the sacrilege himself they killed beside the treasury. ⁴³But touching these matters there was an accusation laid against Menelaus. ⁴⁴And when the king was come to Tyre, the three men that were sent by the senate pleaded the cause before him. ⁴⁵But Menelaus, seeing himself now defeated, promised much money to Ptolemy the son of Dorymenes, that he might win over the king. ⁴⁶Whereupon Ptolemy taking the king aside into a cloister, as it were to take the air, brought him to be of another mind: ⁴⁷And him that was the cause of all the evil, Menelaus, he discharged from the accusations; but those hapless men, who, if they had pleaded even before Scythians, would have been discharged uncondemned, them he sentenced to death. ⁴⁸Soon then did they that were spokesmen for the city and the families of Israel and the holy vessels suffer that unrighteous penalty. ⁴⁹For which cause even certain Tyrians, moved with hatred of the wickedness, provided magnificently for their burial. ⁵⁰But Menelaus through the covetous dealings of them that were in power remained still in his office, cleaving to wickedness, as a great conspirator against his fellow-citizens.

¹Now about this time Antiochus made his second inroad into Egypt. ²And it so befell that throughout all the city, for the space of almost forty days, there appeared in the midst of the sky horsemen in swift motion, wearing robes inwrought with gold and carrying spears, equipped in troops for battle; ³And drawing of swords; and on the other side squadrons of horse in array; and encounters and pursuits of both armies; and shaking of shields, and multitudes of lances, and casting of darts, and flashing of golden trappings, and girding on of all sorts of armour. ⁴Wherefore all men besought that the vision might have been given for good. ⁵But when a false rumour had arisen that Antiochus was deceased, Jason took not less than a thousand men, and suddenly made an assault upon the city; and they that were upon the wall being routed, and the city being now at length well nigh taken, Menelaus took refuge in the citadel. ⁶But Jason slaughtered his own citizens without mercy, not considering that good success against kinsmen is the greatest ill success, but supposing himself to be setting up trophies over enemies, and not over fellow-countrymen. ⁷The office however he did not get, but, receiving shame as the end of his conspiracy, he passed again a fugitive into the country of the Ammonites. ⁸At the last therefore he met with a miserable end: having been shut up at the court of Aretas the prince of the Arabians, fleeing from city to city, pursued of all men, hated as an apostate from the laws, and held in abomination as the butcher of his country and his fellow-citizens, he was cast forth into Egypt; ⁹And he that had driven many from their own country into strange lands perished himself in a strange land, having crossed the sea to the Lacedæmonians, as thinking to find shelter there because they were near of kin; ¹⁰And he that had cast out a multitude unburied had none to mourn for him, nor had he any funeral at all, or place in the sepulchre of his fathers. ¹¹Now when tidings came to the king concerning that which was done, he thought that Judæa was in revolt; whereupon setting out from Egypt in a furious mind, he took the city by force of arms, ¹²And commanded his soldiers to cut down without mercy such as came in their way, and to slay such as went up upon the houses; ¹³And there was killing of young and old, making away of boys, women, and children, slaying of virgins and infants. ¹⁴And in all the three days of the slaughter there were destroyed fourscore thousand, whereof forty thousand were slain in close combat, and no fewer were sold than slain. ¹⁵But not content with this he presumed to enter into the most holy temple of all the earth, having Menelaus for his guide (him that had proved himself a traitor both to the laws and to his country), ¹⁶Even taking the sacred vessels with his polluted hands, and dragging down with his profane hands the offerings that had been dedicated by other kings to the augmentation and glory and honour of the place. ¹⁷And Antiochus was lifted up in mind, not seeing that because of the sins of them that dwelt in the city the Sovereign Lord had been provoked to anger a little while, and therefore his eye was then turned away from the place. ¹⁸But had it not so been that they were already holden by many sins, this man, even as Heliodorus who was sent by Seleucus the king to view the treasury, would, so soon as he pressed forward, have been scourged and turned back from his daring deed. ¹⁹Howbeit the Lord did not choose the nation for the place's sake, but the place for the nation's sake. ²⁰Wherefore also the place itself, having partaken in the calamities that befell the nation, did afterward share in its benefits; and the place which was forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty was, at the reconciliation of the great Sovereign, restored again with all glory. ²¹AS for Antiochus, when he had carried away out of the temple a thousand and eight hundred talents, he departed in all haste unto Antioch, weening in his arrogancy to make the land navigable and the sea passable by foot, because his heart was lifted up. ²²And moreover he left governors to afflict the race: at Jerusalem, Philip, by race a Phrygian, and in character more barbarous than him that set him there; ²³And at Gerizim, Andronicus; and besides these, Menelaus, who worse than all the rest exalted himself against his fellow-citizens. And having a malicious mind toward the Jews whom he had made his citizens, ²⁴He sent that lord of pollutions Apollonius with an army of two and twenty thousand, commanding him to slay all those that were of full age, and to sell the women and the younger men. ²⁵And he coming to Jerusalem, and playing the man of peace, waited till the holy day of the sabbath, and finding the Jews at rest from work, he commanded his men to parade in arms. ²⁶And he put to the sword all them that came forth to the spectacle; and running into the city with the armed men he slew great multitudes. ²⁷But Judas, who is also called Maccabæus, with nine others or thereabout, withdrew himself, and with his company kept himself alive in the mountains after the manner of wild beasts; and they continued feeding on such poor herbs as grew there, that they might not be partakers of the threatened pollution.

¹And not long after this the king sent forth an old man of Athens to compel the Jews to depart from the laws of their fathers, and not to live after the laws of God; ²And also to pollute the sanctuary in Jerusalem, and to call it by the name of Jupiter Olympius, and to call the sanctuary in Gerizim by the name of Jupiter the Protector of strangers, even as they were that dwelt in the place. ³But sore and utterly grievous was the visitation of this evil. ⁴For the temple was filled with riot and revellings by the heathen, who dallied with harlots, and had to do with women within the sacred precincts, and moreover brought inside things that were not befitting; ⁵And the place of sacrifice was filled with those abominable things which had been prohibited by the laws. ⁶And a man could neither keep the sabbath, nor observe the feasts of the fathers, nor so much as confess himself to be a Jew. ⁷And on the day of the king's birth every month they were led along with bitter constraint to eat of the sacrifices; and when the feast of Bacchus came, they were compelled to go in procession in honour of Bacchus, wearing wreaths of ivy. ⁸And there went out a decree to the neighbouring Greek cities, by the suggestion of Ptolemy, that they should observe the same conduct against the Jews, and should make them eat of the sacrifices; ⁹And that they should slay such as did not choose to go over to the Greek rites. So the present misery was for all to see: ¹⁰For two women were brought up for having circumcised their children; and these, when they had led them publicly round about the city, with the babes hung from their breasts, they cast down headlong from the wall. ¹¹And others, that had run together into the caves near by to keep the seventh day secretly, being betrayed to Philip were all burnt together, because they scrupled to defend themselves, from regard to the honour of that most solemn day. ¹²I BESEECH therefore those that read this book, that they be not discouraged because of the calamities, but account that these punishments were not for the destruction, but for the chastening of our race. ¹³For indeed that those who act impiously be not let alone any long time, but straightway meet with retribution, is a sign of great beneficence. ¹⁴For in the case of the other nations the Sovereign Lord doth with longsuffering forbear, until that he punish them when they have attained unto the full measure of their sins; but not so judged he as touching us, ¹⁵That he may not take vengeance on us afterward, when we be come unto the height of our sins.

¹⁶Wherefore he never withdraweth his mercy from us; but though he chasteneth with calamity, yet doth he not forsake his own people. ¹⁷Howbeit let this that we have spoken suffice to put you in remembrance; but after these few words we must come to the narrative. ¹⁸ELEAZAR, one of the principal scribes, a man already well stricken in years, and of a noble countenance, was compelled to open his mouth to eat swine's flesh. ¹⁹But he, welcoming death with renown rather than life with pollution, advanced of his own accord to the instrument of torture, but first spat forth the flesh, ²⁰Coming forward as men ought to come that are resolute to repel such things as not even for the natural love of life is it lawful to taste.

²¹But they that had the charge of that forbidden sacrificial feast took the man aside, for the acquaintance which of old times they had with him, and privately besought him to bring flesh of his own providing, such as was befitting for him to use, and to make as if he did eat of the flesh from the sacrifice, as had been commanded by the king; ²²That by so doing he might be delivered from death, and for his ancient friendship with them might be treated kindly. ²³But he, having formed a high resolve, and one that became his years, and the dignity of old age, and the gray hairs which he had reached with honour, and his excellent education from a child, or rather that became the holy laws of God's ordaining, declared his mind accordingly, bidding them quickly send him unto Hades. ²⁴For it becometh not our years to dissemble, said he, that through this many of the young should suppose that Eleazar, the man of fourscore years and ten, had gone over unto an alien religion; ²⁵And so they, by reason of my dissimulation, and for the sake of this brief and momentary life, should be led astray because of me, and thus I get to myself a pollution and a stain of mine old age. ²⁶For even if for the present time I shall remove from me the punishment of men, yet shall I not escape the hands of the Almighty, either living or dead.

²⁷Wherefore, by manfully parting with my life now, I will shew myself worthy of mine old age, ²⁸And leave behind a noble ensample to the young to die willingly and nobly a glorious death for the reverend and holy laws. And when he had said these words, he went straightway to the instrument of torture. ²⁹And when they changed the good will they bare him a little before into ill will, because these words of his were, as they thought, sheer madness, ³⁰And when he was at the point to die with the stripes, he groaned aloud and said, To the Lord, that hath the holy knowledge, it is manifest that, whereas I might have been delivered from death, I endure sore pains in my body by being scourged; but in soul I gladly suffer these things for my fear of him. ³¹So this man also died after this manner, leaving his death for an ensample of nobleness and a memorial of virtue, not only to the young but also to the great body of his nation.

¹And it came to pass that seven brethren also with their mother were at the king's command taken and shamefully handled with scourges and cords, to compel them to taste of the abominable swine's flesh. ²But one of them made himself the spokesman and said, What wouldest thou ask and learn of us? for we are ready to die rather than transgress the laws of our fathers. ³And the king fell into a rage, and commanded to heat pans and caldrons: ⁴And when these forthwith were heated, he commanded to cut out the tongue of him that had been their spokesman, and to scalp him, and to cut off his extremities, the rest of his brethren and his mother looking on. ⁵And when he was utterly maimed, the king commanded to bring him to the fire, being yet alive, and to fry him in the pan. And as the vapour of the pan spread far, they and their mother also exhorted one another to die nobly, saying thus: ⁶The Lord God beholdeth, and in truth is intreated for us, as Moses declared in his song, which witnesseth against the people to their faces, saying, And he shall be intreated for his servants. ⁷And when the first had died after this manner, they brought the second to the mocking; and they pulled off the skin of his head with the hair and asked him, Wilt thou eat, before thy body be punished in every limb? ⁸But he answered in the language of his fathers and said to them, No. Wherefore he also underwent the next torture in succession, as the first had done. ⁹And when he was at the last gasp, he said, Thou, miscreant, dost release us out of this present life, but the King of the world shall raise up us, who have died for his laws, unto an eternal renewal of life. ¹⁰And after him was the third made a mockingstock. And when he was required, he quickly put out his tongue, and stretched forth his hands courageously, ¹¹And nobly said, From heaven I possess these; and for his laws' sake I contemn these; and from him I hope to receive these back again: ¹²Insomuch that the king himself and they that were with him were astonished at the young man's soul, for that he nothing regarded the pains. ¹³And when he too was dead, they shamefully handled and tortured the fourth in like manner. ¹⁴And being come near unto death he said thus: It is good to die at the hands of men and look for the hopes which are given by God, that we shall be raised up again by him; for as for thee, thou shalt have no resurrection unto life. ¹⁵And next after him they brought the fifth, and shamefully handled him. ¹⁶But he looked toward the king and said, Because thou hast authority among men, though thou art thyself corruptible, thou doest what thou wilt; yet think not that our race hath been forsaken of God; ¹⁷But hold thou on thy way, and behold his sovereign majesty, how it will torture thee and thy seed. ¹⁸And after him they brought the sixth. And when he was at the point to die he said, Be not vainly deceived, for we suffer these things for our own doings, as sinning against our own God: marvellous things are come to pass; ¹⁹But think not thou that thou shalt be unpunished, having assayed to fight against God.

²⁰But above all was the mother marvellous and worthy of honourable memory; for when she looked on seven sons perishing within the space of one day, she bare the sight with a good courage for the hopes that she had set on the Lord. ²¹And she exhorted each one of them in the language of their fathers, filled with a noble temper and stirring up her womanish thought with manly passion, saying unto them, ²²I know not how ye came into my womb, neither was it I that bestowed on you your spirit and your life, and it was not I that brought into order the first elements of each one of you.

²³Therefore the Creator of the world, who fashioned the generation of man and devised the generation of all things, in mercy giveth back to you again both your spirit and your life, as ye now condemn your own selves for his laws' sake. ²⁴But Antiochus, thinking himself to be despised, and suspecting the reproachful voice, whilst the youngest was yet alive did not only make his appeal to him by words, but also at the same time promised with oaths that he would enrich him and raise him to high estate, if he would turn from the customs of his fathers, and that he would take him for his Friend and intrust him with affairs. ²⁵But when the young man would in no wise give heed, the king called unto him his mother, and exhorted her that she would counsel the lad to save himself.

²⁶And when he had exhorted her with many words, she undertook to persuade her son. ²⁷But bending toward him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorn, she spake thus in the language of her fathers: My son, have pity upon me that carried thee nine months in my womb, and gave thee suck three years, and nourished and brought thee up unto this age, and sustained thee. ²⁸I beseech thee, my child, to lift thine eyes unto the heaven and the earth, and to see all things that are therein, and thus to recognise that God made them not of things that were, and that the race of men in this wise cometh into being. ²⁹Fear not this butcher, but, proving thyself worthy of thy brethren, accept thy death, that in the mercy of God I may receive thee again with thy brethren. ³⁰But before she had yet ended speaking, the young man said, Whom wait ye for? I obey not the commandment of the king, but I hearken to the commandment of the law that was given to our fathers through Moses. ³¹But thou, that hast devised all manner of evil against the Hebrews, shalt in no wise escape the hands of God. ³²For we are suffering because of our own sins; ³³And if for rebuke and chastening our living Lord hath been angered a little while, yet shall he again be reconciled with his own servants. ³⁴But thou, O unholy man and of all most vile, be not vainly lifted up in thy wild pride with uncertain hopes, raising thy hand against the heavenly children; ³⁵For not yet hast thou escaped the judgement of the Almighty God that seeth all things. ³⁶For these our brethren, having endured a short pain that bringeth everlasting life, have now died under God's covenant; but thou, through the judgement of God, shalt receive in just measure the penalties of thine arrogancy. ³⁷But I, as my brethren, give up both body and soul for the laws of our fathers, calling upon God that he may speedily become gracious to the nation; and that thou amidst trials and plagues mayest confess that he alone is God; ³⁸And that in me and my brethren thou mayest stay the wrath of the Almighty, which hath been justly brought upon our whole race. ³⁹But the king, falling into a rage, handled him worse than all the rest, being exasperated at his mocking. ⁴⁰So he also died pure from pollution, putting his whole trust in the Lord. ⁴¹And last of all after her sons the mother died. ⁴²Let it then suffice to have said thus much concerning the enforcement of sacrificial feasts and the king's exceeding barbarities.

¹ But Judas, who is also called Maccabæus, and they that were with him, making their way privily into the villages, called unto them their kinsfolk; and taking unto them such as had continued in the Jews' religion, gathered together as many as six thousand. ²And they called upon the Lord, beseeching him to look upon the people that was oppressed by all; and to have compassion on the sanctuary also that had been profaned by the ungodly men; ³And to have pity on the city also that was suffering ruin and ready to be made even with the ground; and to hearken to the blood that cried unto him; ⁴And to remember also the lawless slaughter of the innocent infants, and the blasphemies that had been committed against his name; and to shew his hatred of wickedness. ⁵And when Maccabæus had trained his men for service, the heathen at once found him irresistible, for that the wrath of the Lord was turned into pity. ⁶And coming unawares he set fire to cities and villages. And in winning back the most important positions, putting to flight no small number of the enemies, ⁷He specially took advantage of the nights for such assaults. And his courage was loudly talked of everywhere. ⁸But when Philip saw the man gaining ground by little and little, and increasing more and more in his prosperity, he wrote unto Ptolemy, the governor of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia, that he should support the king's cause. ⁹And Ptolemy quickly appointed Nicanor the son of Patroclus, one of the king's Chief Friends, and sent him, in command of no fewer than twenty thousand of all nations, to destroy the whole race of Judæa; and with him he joined Gorgias also, a captain and one that had experience in matters of war. ¹⁰And Nicanor undertook by the sale of the captive Jews to make up for the king the tribute of two thousand talents which he was to pay to the Romans. ¹¹And immediately he sent unto the cities upon the sea coast, inviting them to buy Jewish slaves, promising to allow fourscore and ten slaves for a talent, not expecting the judgement that was to follow upon him from the Almighty. ¹²But tidings came to Judas concerning the inroad of Nicanor; and when he communicated to them that were with him the presence of the army, ¹³They that were cowardly and distrustful of the judgement of God ran away and left the country. ¹⁴And others sold all that was left over to them, and withal besought the Lord to deliver them that had been sold as slaves by the impious Nicanor or ever he met them; ¹⁵And this, if not for their own sakes, yet for the covenants made with their fathers, and because he had called them by his reverend and glorious name. ¹⁶And Maccabæus gathered his men together, six thousand in number, and exhorted them not to be stricken with dismay at the enemy, nor to fear the great multitude of the heathen who came wrongfully against them; but to contend nobly, ¹⁷Setting before their eyes the outrage that had been lawlessly perpetrated upon the holy place, and the shameful handling of the city that had been turned to mockery, and further the overthrow of the mode of life received from their ancestors. ¹⁸For they, said he,

trust to arms, and withal to deeds of daring; but we trust on the Almighty God, since he is able at a beck to cast down them that are coming against us, and even the whole world. ¹⁹And moreover he recounted unto them the help given from time to time in the days of their ancestors, both the help given in the days of Sennacherib, how that a hundred fourscore and five thousand perished. ²⁰And the help given in the land of Babylon, even the battle that was fought against the Gauls, how that they came to the engagement eight thousand in all, with four thousand Macedonians, and how that, the Macedonians being hard pressed, the six thousand destroyed the hundred and twenty thousand, because of the succour which they had from heaven, and took great booty. ²¹And when he had with these words made them of good courage, and ready to die for the laws and their country, he divided his army into four parts; ²²Appointing his brethren to be with himself leaders of the several bands, to wit, Simon and Joseph and Jonathan, giving each the command of fifteen hundred men, ²³And moreover Eleazar also: then, having read aloud the sacred book, and having given as watchword, THE HELP OF GOD, leading the first band himself, he joined battle with Nicanor. ²⁴And, since the Almighty fought on their side, they slew of the enemy above nine thousand, and wounded and disabled the more part of Nicanor's army, and compelled all to flee; ²⁵And they took the money of those that had come there to buy them. And after they had pursued them for some distance, they returned, being constrained by the time of the day; ²⁶For it was the day before the sabbath, and for this cause they made no effort to chase them far. ²⁷And when they had gathered the arms of the enemy together, and had stripped off their spoils, they occupied themselves about the sabbath, blessing and thanking the Lord exceedingly, who had saved them unto this day, for that he had caused a beginning of mercy to distil upon them. ²⁸And after the Sabbath, when they had given of the spoils to the maimed, and to the widows and orphans, the residue they distributed among themselves and their children. ²⁹And when they had accomplished these things, and had made a common supplication, they besought the merciful Lord to be wholly reconciled with his servants. ³⁰And having had an encounter with the forces of Timotheus and Bacchides, they killed above twenty thousand of them, and made themselves masters of strongholds exceeding high, and divided very much plunder, giving the maimed and orphans and widows, and moreover the aged also, an equal share with themselves. ³¹And when they had gathered the arms of the enemy together, they stored them all up carefully in the most important positions, and the residue of the spoils they carried to Jerusalem. ³²And they killed the phylarch of Timotheus's forces, a most unholy man, and one who had done the Jews much hurt. ³³And as they kept the feast of victory in the city of their fathers, they burned those that had set the sacred gates on fire, and among them Callisthenes, who had fled into an outhouse; and so they received the meet reward of their impiety. ³⁴And the thrice-accursed Nicanor, who had brought the thousand merchants to buy the Jews for slaves, ³⁵Being through the help of the Lord humbled by them who in his eyes were held to be of least account, put off his glorious apparel, and passing through the midland, shunning all company like a fugitive slave, arrived at Antioch, having, as he thought, had the greatest possible good fortune, though his host was destroyed. ³⁶And he that had taken upon him to make tribute sure for the Romans by the captivity of the men of Jerusalem published abroad that the Jews had One who fought for them, and that because this was so the Jews were invulnerable, because they followed the laws ordained by him.

¹Now about that time it befell that Antiochus had returned in disorder from the region of Persia. ²For he had entered into the city called Persepolis, and he assayed to rob a temple and to hold down the city. Whereupon there was an onset of the multitudes, and Antiochus and his men turned to make defence with arms; and it came to pass that Antiochus was put to flight by the people of the country and broke up his camp with disgrace. ³And while he was at Ecbatana, news was brought him what had happened unto Nicanor and the forces of Timotheus. ⁴And being lifted up by his passion he thought to make the Jews suffer even for the evildoing of those that had put him to rout. Wherefore, the judgement from heaven even now accompanying him, he gave order to his charioteer to drive without ceasing and despatch the journey; for thus he arrogantly spake: I will make Jerusalem a common graveyard of Jews, when I come there. ⁵But the All-seeing Lord, the God of Israel, smote him with a fatal and invisible stroke; and as soon as he had ceased speaking this word, an incurable pain of the bowels seized him, and bitter torments of the inner parts; ⁶And that most justly, for he had tormented other men's bowels with many and strange sufferings. ⁷But he in no wise ceased from his rude insolence; nay, still more was he filled with arrogancy, breathing fire in his passion against the Jews, and commanding to haste the journey. But it came to pass moreover that he fell from his chariot as it rushed along, and having a grievous fall was racked in all the members of his body. ⁸And he that but now supposed himself to have the waves of the sea at his bidding, so vainglorious was he beyond the condition of a man, and that thought to weigh the heights of the mountains in a balance, was now brought to the ground and carried in a litter, shewing unto all that the power was manifestly God's; ⁹So that out of the body of the impious man worms swarmed, and while he was still living in anguish and pains, his flesh fell off, and by reason of the stench all the army turned with loathing from his corruption. ¹⁰And the man that a little afore supposed himself to touch the stars of heaven, no one could endure to carry for his intolerable stench. ¹¹Hereupon therefore he began in great part to cease from his arrogancy, being broken in spirit, and to come to knowledge under the scourge of God, his pains increasing every moment. ¹²And when he himself could not abide his own smell, he said these words: It is right to be subject unto God, and that one who is mortal should not be minded arrogantly. ¹³And the vile man vowed unto the Sovereign Lord, who now no more would have pity upon him, saying on this wise: ¹⁴That the holy city, to the which he was going in haste, to lay it even with the ground and to make it a common graveyard, he would declare free; ¹⁵And as touching the Jews, whom he had decided not even to count worthy of burial, but to cast them out to the beasts with their infants, for the birds to devour, he would make them all equal to citizens of Athens; ¹⁶And the holy sanctuary, which before he had spoiled, he would adorn with goodliest offerings, and would restore all
