<sup>1</sup>And all the people assembled themselues together, in the streete that was before the watgate, and they spake vnto Ezra the Scribe, that hee would bring the booke of ye Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel. <sup>2</sup>And Ezra the Priest brought the Lawe before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that coulede heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seuenth moneth, <sup>3</sup>And he read therein in the streete that was before the watgate (from the morning vntill the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstoode it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Lawe. <sup>4</sup>And Ezra the Scribe stode vpon a pulpit of wood which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Vriiah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hande, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam. <sup>5</sup>And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for hee was aboute all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stode vp. <sup>6</sup>And Ezra prayes the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their handes: and they bowed themselues, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground. <sup>7</sup>Also Ieshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Iamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Iozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the lawe, and the people stood in their place. <sup>8</sup>And they read in the booke of the Lawe of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading. <sup>9</sup>Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, saide vnto all the people, This day is holie vnto ye Lord your God: mourne not, neither weepe: for all the people wept, whe they heard the words of the Lawe. <sup>10</sup>He saide also vnto the, Go, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send part vnto them, for whome none is prepared: for this day is holie vnto our Lord: be ye not sorie therefore: for the ioy of the Lord is your strength. <sup>11</sup>And the Leuites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore. <sup>12</sup>Then all the people went to eate and to drinke, and to send away part, and to make great ioy, because they had vnderstand the wordes that they had taught them. <sup>13</sup>And on the second day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the scribe, that he also might instruct them in the wordes of the Lawe. <sup>14</sup>And they found written in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwel in booths in the feast of the seuenth moneth, <sup>15</sup>And that they shoulde cause it to bee declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ierusalem, saying, Go forth vnto the mount, and bring oliue branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written. <sup>16</sup>So the people went forth and brought them, and made them boothes, euerie one vpon the rooffe of his house, and in their courtes, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of the gate of Ephraim. <sup>17</sup>And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie made boothes, and sate vnder the boothes: for since the time of Ieshua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great ioy. <sup>18</sup>And he read in the booke of the Lawe of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. and they kept the feast seuen dayes, and on the eight day a solemne assemblie, according vnto the maner.

CHAPTER 9

didest also feede them fourtie yeres in ye wildernes: they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not old, and their feete swelled not. <sup>22</sup>And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and scatterdest them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sihon and the land of ye King of Heshbon, and the land of Og King of Bashan. <sup>23</sup>And thou diddest multiple their children, like the starres of the heauen, and broughtest them into the lande, whereof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers, that they should goe, and possesse it. <sup>24</sup>So the children went in, and possessed the lande, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the lande, euen the Canaanites, and gauest them into their handes, with their Kings and the people of the lande, that they might do with them what they would. <sup>25</sup>And they tooke their strong cities and the fat lande, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyardes, and oliues, and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse. <sup>26</sup>Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Lawe behinde their backes, and slewed thy Prophets (which protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies. <sup>27</sup>Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hande of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauours, who saued them out of the hande of their aduersaries. <sup>28</sup>But when they had rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore leftest thou them in the hande of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times, <sup>29</sup>And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Lawe: but they behaued them selues proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements ( which a man should doe and liue in them) and pulled away the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and woulde not heare. <sup>30</sup>Yet thou diddest forbear them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, euen by the hande of thy Prophets, but they woulde not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hande of the people of the lands. <sup>31</sup>Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God. <sup>32</sup>Nowe therefore our God, thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepest couenant and mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a litle before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the Kings of Asshur vnto this day. <sup>33</sup>Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou hast dealt truely, but we haue done wickedly. <sup>34</sup>And our kings and our princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Lawe, nor regarded thy commandements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast protested among them. <sup>35</sup>And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat lande which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill workes. <sup>36</sup>Beholde, we are seruants this day, and the lande that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the fruite thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, beholde, we are seruants therein. <sup>37</sup>And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodyes and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction. <sup>38</sup>Now because of all this we make a sure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priestes seale vnto it.

<sup>1</sup>And the rulers of the people dwelt in Ierusalem: the other people also cast lottes, to bring one out of ten to dwel in Ierusalem the holy citie, and nine partes to be in the cities. <sup>2</sup>And the people thanked all the men that were willing to dwell in Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>These now are the chiefe of the prouince, that dwelt in Ierusalem, but in the cities of Iudah, euery one dwelt in his owne possession in their cities of Israel, the Priestes and the Leuites, and the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants. <sup>4</sup>And in Ierusalem dwelt certaine of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Benjamin. Of the sonnes of Iudah, Athaiah, the sonne of Vziah, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Mahaleel, of the sonnes of Perez, <sup>5</sup>And Maaseiah the sonne of Baruch, the sonne of Col Hozeh, the sonne of Hazaiah, the sonne of Adaiah, the sonne of Ioarib, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Shiloni. <sup>6</sup>All the sonnes of Perez that dwelt at Ierusalem, were foure hundreth, three score and eight valiant men. <sup>7</sup>These also are the sonnes of Benjamin, Sallu, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Ioed, the sonne of Pedaiah, the sonne of Kolaiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ithiel, the sonne of Ishaiah. <sup>8</sup>And after him Gabai, Sallai, nine hundreth and twentie and eight. <sup>9</sup>And Ioel the sonne of Zichri was gouernour ouer them: and Iudah, the sonne of Senuah was the second ouer the citie: <sup>10</sup>Of the Priestes, Iedaiah, the sonne of Ioarib, Iachin. <sup>11</sup>Seraiah, the sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Ahitub was chiefe of the house of God. <sup>12</sup>And their brethren that did the worke in the Temple, were eight hundreth, twenty and two: and Adaiah, the sonne of Ieroham, the sonne of Pelaliah, the sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah: <sup>13</sup>And his brethren, chiefe of the fathers, two hundreth and two and fourtie: and Amashsai the sonne of Azareel, the sonne of Ahazai, the sonne of Meshilemoth, the sonne of Immer: <sup>14</sup>And their brethren valiant men, an hundreth and eight and twentie: and their ouerseer was Zabdiel the sonne of Hagedolim. <sup>15</sup>And of the Leuites, Shemaiah, the sonne of Hashub, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Hashabiah, the sonne of Bunni. <sup>16</sup>And Shabbethai, and Iozabad of the chiefe of the Leuites were ouer the workes of the house of God without. <sup>17</sup>And Mattaniah, the sonne of Micha, the sonne of Zabdi, the sonne of Asaph was the chiefe to begin the thankesgiuing and prayer: and Bakkukiah the second of his brethren, and Abda, the sonne of Shammua, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Ieduthun. <sup>18</sup>All the Leuites in the holy citie were two hundreth foure score and foure. <sup>19</sup>And the porters Akkub, Talmon and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundreth twentie and two. <sup>20</sup>And the residue of Israel, of the Priestes, and of the Leuites dwelt in al the cities of Iudah, euery one in his inheritance. <sup>21</sup>And the Nethinims dwelt in the fortresse, and Ziha, and Gispa was ouer the Nethinims. <sup>22</sup>And the ouerseer of the Leuites in Ierusalem was Vzzi the sonne of Bani, the sonne of Ashabiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Micha: of the sonnes of Asaph singers were ouer the worke of the house of God. <sup>23</sup>For it was the Kings commandement cecerning them, that faithfull prouision shoulde bee for the singers euery day. <sup>24</sup>And Pethahiah the sonne of Meshezabeel, of the sonnes of Zerach, the sonne of Iudah was at the Kings hand in all matters concerning the people. <sup>25</sup>And in the villages in their landes, some of the children of Iudah dwelt in Kiriath-arba, and in the villages thereof, and in Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and in Iekabzeel. and in the villages thereof, <sup>26</sup>And in Ieshua, and in Moladah, and in Beth palet, <sup>27</sup>And in Hazer-shual, and in Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof, <sup>28</sup>And in Ziklag, and in Mechonah, and in the villages thereof, <sup>29</sup>And in En-rimmon, and in Zareah, and in Iarmuth, <sup>30</sup>Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, in Lachish, and in the fieldes thereof, at Azekah, and in the villages thereof: and they dwelt from Beer-sheba, vnto the valley of Hinnom. <sup>31</sup>And the sonnes of Benjamin from Geba, in Michmash, and Aiia, and Beth-el, and in the villages thereof, <sup>32</sup>Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, <sup>33</sup>Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim, <sup>34</sup>Hadid, Zeboim, Nebalat, <sup>35</sup>Lod and Ono, in the carpenters valley. <sup>36</sup>And of the Leuites were diuisions in Iudah and in Benjamin.

Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnes, both with thankesgiuings and with songs, cymbales, viols and with harpes. <sup>28</sup>Then the singers gathered themselues together both from the plaine cuntry about Ierusalem, and from the villages of Netophathi, <sup>29</sup>And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreis of Geba, and Azmaueth: for the singers had built them villages round about Ierusalem. <sup>30</sup>And the Priests and Leuites were purified, and clensed the people, and the gates, and the wall. <sup>31</sup>And I brought vp the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to giue thanks, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate. <sup>32</sup>And after them went Hoshaiiah, and halfe of the princes of Iudah, <sup>33</sup>And Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam, <sup>34</sup>Iudah, Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Ieremiah, <sup>35</sup>And of the Priests sonnes with trumpets, Zechariah the sonne of Ionathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of Zaccur, ye sonne of Asaph. <sup>36</sup>And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the musically instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the scribe went before them. <sup>37</sup>And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer against them went they vp by the staires of the cite of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eastward. <sup>38</sup>And the seconde companie of them that gaue thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the towre of the furnaces euen vnto the broad wall. <sup>39</sup>And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the olde gate, and vpon the fishgate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Meah, euen vnto the sheepegate: and they stood in the gate of the warde. <sup>40</sup>So stood the two companies (of them that gaue thanks) in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me. <sup>41</sup>The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elieoenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, <sup>42</sup>And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Vzzi, and Iehohanan, and Malchiiah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the singers sang loude, hauing Izrahiah which was the ouerseer. <sup>43</sup>And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women, and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Ierusalem was heard farre off. <sup>44</sup>Also at the same time were men appointed ouer the chambers of the store for the offerings (for the first fruites, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fieldes of the cities, the portions of the Law for the Priests and the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests and for the Leuites, that serued. <sup>45</sup>And both the singers and the Leuites kept the ward of their God, and the warde of the purification according to the commandement of Dauid, and Salomon his sonne. <sup>46</sup>For in the dayes of Dauid and Asaph, of olde were chiefe singers, and songs of praise and thankesgiuing vnto God. <sup>47</sup>And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did al Israel giue portions vnto the singers and porters, euerie day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>And on that day did they reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite should not enter into the Congregation of God, <sup>2</sup>Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing. <sup>3</sup>Now when they had heard the Lawe, they separated from Israel all those that were mixed. <sup>4</sup>And before this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobiah: <sup>5</sup>And he had made him a great chamber and there had they aforetime layde the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priests. <sup>6</sup>But in all this time was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yere of Artahshashtes King of Babel, came I vnto the King, and after certaine dayes I obtained of the King. <sup>7</sup>And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstood the euil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, <sup>8</sup>And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber. <sup>9</sup>And I commanded them to clense ye chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offring and the incense. <sup>10</sup>And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his lande, euen the Leuites and singers that executed the worke. <sup>11</sup>Then reprovod I the rulers and sayd, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place. <sup>12</sup>Then brought all Iudah the tithes of corne and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures. <sup>13</sup>And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hande Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren. <sup>14</sup>Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my kindenes that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof. <sup>15</sup>In those dayes saw I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on ye Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold vitales. <sup>16</sup>There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem. <sup>17</sup>Then reprovod I the rulers of Iudah, and sayd vnto them, What euil thing is this that yee doe, and breake the Sabbath day? <sup>18</sup>Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this cite? yet yee increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath. <sup>19</sup>And when the gates of Ierusalem beganne to be darke before the Sabbath, I commaded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened til after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there shoulde no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day. <sup>20</sup>So the chapmen and marchants of al merchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem. <sup>21</sup>And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. from that time came they no more on the Sabbath. <sup>22</sup>And I sayde vnto the Leuites, that they should clense themselues, and that they shoulde come and keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercy. <sup>23</sup>In those dayes also I saw Iewes that married wiues of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab. <sup>24</sup>And their children spake halfe in ye speach of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people. <sup>25</sup>Then I reproved them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their heare, and tooke an othe of them by God, Yee shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues. <sup>26</sup>Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these thinges? yet among many nations was there no King like him: for he was beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Israel: yet strange women caused him to sinne. <sup>27</sup>Shall wee then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euil, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marry strange wiues? <sup>28</sup>And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest was the sonne in law of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me. <sup>29</sup>Remember them, O my God, that defile the Priesthoode, and the Leuites. <sup>30</sup>Then clensed I them from all strangers, and appoynted the wardes of the Priestes and of the Leuites, euery one in his office, <sup>31</sup>And for the offering of the wood at times appoynted, and for the first fruites. Remember me, O my God, in goodnes.

ESTHER

of the garden of the Kings palace, <sup>6</sup>Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blue clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blue colour. <sup>7</sup>And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessel, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the King. <sup>8</sup>And the drinking was by an order, none might compel: for so the King had appoynted vnto all the officers of his house, that they should do according to euery mans pleasure. <sup>9</sup>The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of King Ahashuerosh. <sup>10</sup>Vpon the seuenth daye when the King was merie with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Ahashuerosh) <sup>11</sup>To bring Queene Vashti before the King with the crowne royall, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was fayre to looke vpon. <sup>12</sup>But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the Kings worde, which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him. <sup>13</sup>Then the King said to the wise men, that knew the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement: <sup>14</sup>And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome) <sup>15</sup>What shall we do vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the worde of the King Ahashuerosh by the commission of the eunuches? <sup>16</sup>Then Memucan answered before the King and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not only done euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh. <sup>17</sup>For the acte of the Queene shall come abroade vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The King Ahashuerosh comanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not. <sup>18</sup>So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefulnesse and wrath. <sup>19</sup>If it please the King, let a royal decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media, (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come no more before King Ahashuerosh: and let the King giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she. <sup>20</sup>And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (though it be great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour, both great and small. <sup>21</sup>And this saying pleased the King and the princes, and the King did according to the worde of Memucan. <sup>22</sup>For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man should beare rule in his owne house, and that he should publish it in the language of that same people.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>After these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerosh was appeased, he remembred Vashti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her. <sup>2</sup>And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, sayd, Let them seeke for the King beautifull yong virgins, <sup>3</sup>And let the King appoynt officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautiful yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the Kings eunuche, keeper of the women, to giue them their things for purification. <sup>4</sup>And the mayde that shall please the King, let her reigne in the steade of Vashti. And this pleased the King, and he did so. <sup>5</sup>In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Iewe, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Iemini, <sup>6</sup>Which had bene caryed away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was caryed away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caryed away) <sup>7</sup>And he nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vnckles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the mayde was fayre, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his own daughter <sup>8</sup>And when the Kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maydes were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hande of Hege

the keeper of the women. <sup>9</sup>And the mayde pleased him, and she founde fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her state, and seuen comely maides to be giuen her out of the Kings house, and he gaue change to her and to her maydes of the best in the house of the women. <sup>10</sup>But Ester shewed not her people and her kinned: for Mordecai had charged her, that shee should not tell it. <sup>11</sup>Aud Mordecai walked euery day before the court of the womens house, to knowe if Ester did well, and what should be done with her. <sup>12</sup>And when the course of euery mayd came, to go in to King Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweete odours and in the purifying of the women: <sup>13</sup>And thus went the maides vnto the King) whatsoever she required, was giuen her, to go with her out of the womens house vnto ye kings house. <sup>14</sup>In the euening she went, and on the morow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shaashgaz the Kings eunuche, which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except shee pleased the King, and that she were called by name. <sup>15</sup>Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that shee should go in to the King, she desired nothing, but what Hege the Kings eunuche the keeper of the women sayde: and Ester founde fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her. <sup>16</sup>So Ester was taken vnto King Ahashuerosh into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne. <sup>17</sup>And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and shee founde grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene instead of Vashti. <sup>18</sup>Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to the power of a King. <sup>19</sup>And whe the virgins were gathered ye second time, then Mordecai sate in the Kings gate. <sup>20</sup>Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the worde of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him. <sup>21</sup>In those dayes whe Mordecai sate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunuches, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the King Ahashuerosh. <sup>22</sup>And the thing was knowen to Mordecai, and he tolde it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>After these things did King Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him. <sup>2</sup>And all the Kings seruants that were at the Kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the King had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence. <sup>3</sup>Then the Kings seruants which were at the Kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why transgressesst thou the Kings commandement? <sup>4</sup>And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they tolde Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stande: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe. <sup>5</sup>And when Haman sawe that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath. <sup>6</sup>Now he thought it too litle to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai. <sup>7</sup>In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yere of King Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adar. <sup>8</sup>Then Haman said vnto King Ahashuerosh, There is a people scattered, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to suffer them. <sup>9</sup>If it please the King, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the Kings treasure. <sup>10</sup>Then the King tooke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie. <sup>11</sup>And the King sayde vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee. <sup>12</sup>Then were the Kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of King Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the Kings ring. <sup>13</sup>And the letters were sent by postes into all the Kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray. <sup>14</sup>The contents of the writing was, that there shoulde be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day. <sup>15</sup>And the postes compelled by the Kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the King and Haman sate drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Now when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cryed with a great crye, and a bitter. <sup>2</sup>And he came euen before the Kings gate, but he might not enter within the Kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth. <sup>3</sup>And in euery prouince, and place, whither the Kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorowe among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping and mourning, and many laye in sackcloth and in ashes. <sup>4</sup>Then Esters maydes and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauie, and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not. <sup>5</sup>Then called Ester Hatach one of the Kings eunuches, whom he had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to knowe what it was, and why it was. <sup>6</sup>So Hatach went forth to Mordecai vnto the streete of the citie, which was before the Kings gate. <sup>7</sup>And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Iewes, for to destroy them. <sup>8</sup>Also he gaue him the copy of the writing and commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shewe it vnto Ester and declare it vnto her, and to charge her that she should goe in to the King, and make petition and supplication before him for her people. <sup>9</sup>So when Hatach came, he told Ester the wordes of Mordecai. <sup>10</sup>Then Ester sayde vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, <sup>11</sup>All the Kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces doe knowe, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shall dye, except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rodde, that he may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King these thirtie dayes. <sup>12</sup>And they certified Mordecai of Esters wordes. <sup>13</sup>And Mordecai saide, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Iewes. <sup>14</sup>For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time? <sup>15</sup>Then Ester commanded to answere Mordecai, <sup>16</sup>Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so will I go in to the King, which is not according to the lawe: and if I perish, I perish. <sup>17</sup>So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAPTER 5

Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen thee to the halfe of ye kingdome. <sup>4</sup>Then saide Ester, If it please the King, let the King and Haman come this day vnto the banket, that I haue prepared for him. <sup>5</sup>And the King sayd, Cause Haman to make haste that he may doe as Ester hath sayde. So the King and Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared. <sup>6</sup>And the King sayd vnto Ester at the banket of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome. <sup>7</sup>Then answered Ester, and sayd, My petition and my request is, <sup>8</sup>If I haue found fauour in the sight of the King, and if it please the King to giue me my petition, and to perfourme my request, let the King and Haman come to the banket that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morowe according to the Kings saying. <sup>9</sup>Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the Kings gate, that he stode not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai. <sup>10</sup>Neuerthelesse Haman refrayned himselfe: and when he came home, he sent, and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife. <sup>11</sup>And Haman tolde them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the King. <sup>12</sup>Haman sayde moreouer, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banket that she had prepared, saue me: and to morowe am I bidden vnto her also with the King. <sup>13</sup>But al this doth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai ye Iewe sitting at ye Kings gate. <sup>14</sup>Then sayde Zeresh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubites hie, and to morowe speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banket. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>The same night the King slept not, and he comanded to bring ye booke of the records, and the chronicles: and they were read before ye King. <sup>2</sup>Then it was found written that Mordecai had tolde of Bigtana, and Teresh two of the Kings eunuches, keepers of the dore, who sought to lay hands on the King Ahashuerosh. <sup>3</sup>Then the King sayde, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, sayd, There is nothing done for him. <sup>4</sup>And the King sayde, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that he might speake vnto the King to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.) <sup>5</sup>And the Kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the King sayd, Let him come in. <sup>6</sup>And when Haman came in, the King saide vnto him, What shalbe done vnto ye man, whom the King will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the King do honour more then to me? <sup>7</sup>And Haman answered the King, The man whome the King would honour, <sup>8</sup>Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the King vseth to weare, and the horse that the King rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head. <sup>9</sup>And let the raiment and the horse be deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparel the man (whome the King will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the streete of the citie, and proclayme before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man, whome the King will honour. <sup>10</sup>Then the King said to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment and the horse as thou hast said, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Iewe, that sitteth at the Kings gate: let nothing fayle of all that thou hast spoken. <sup>11</sup>So Haman tooke the rayment and the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horse backe thorowe the streete of the citie, and proclaymed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whome the King will honour. <sup>12</sup>And Mordecai came againe to the Kings gate, but Haman hasted home mourning and his head couered. <sup>13</sup>And Haman tolde Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then sayd his wise men, and Zeresh his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Iewes, before whom thou hast begunne to fall; thou shalt not preuaile against him, but shalt surely fall before him. <sup>14</sup>And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches and hasted to bring Haman vnto the banket that Ester had prepared.

<sup>1</sup>So the King and Haman came to banket with the Queene Ester. <sup>2</sup>And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banket of wine,

What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giue thee? and what is thy request? It shalbe euen perfourmed vnto the halfe of the kingdome. <sup>3</sup>And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request. <sup>4</sup>For we are solde, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slayne and to perish: but if we were solde for seruants, and for handmaidens, I woulde haue helde my tongue: although the aduersarie could not recompense the Kings losse. <sup>5</sup>Then King Ahashuerosh answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he? and where is he that presumeth to doe thus? <sup>6</sup>And Ester said, The aduersarie and enemye is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraide before the King and the Queene. <sup>7</sup>And the King arose from ye banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he sawe that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King. <sup>8</sup>And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sate! therefore the King sayd, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the worde went out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamans face. <sup>9</sup>And Harbonah one of the eunuches, sayde in the presence of the King, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fiftie cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the King. Then the King sayd, Hang him thereon. <sup>10</sup>So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

<sup>1</sup>The same day did King Ahashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. and Mordecai came before the King: for Ester tolde what hee was vnto her. <sup>2</sup>And the King tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman. <sup>3</sup>And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he would put away the wickednes of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that he had imagined against the Iewes. <sup>4</sup>And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King. <sup>5</sup>And sayd, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all the Kings prouinces. <sup>6</sup>For how can I suffer and see the euil, that shall come vnto my people? Or howe can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred? <sup>7</sup>And the King Ahashuerosh sayde vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whome they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he layd hand vpon the Iewes. <sup>8</sup>Write yee also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke) <sup>9</sup>Then were the Kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in the thirde moneth, that is the moneth Suan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commanded, vnto the Iewes and to the princes, and captaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language. <sup>10</sup>And hee wrote in the King Ahashuerosh name, and sealed it with the Kings ring: and he sent letters by postes on horsebacke and that rode on beastes of price, as dromedaries and coltes of mares. <sup>11</sup>Wherein the King graunted the Iewes (in what cities so euer they were) to gather theselues together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay and to destroy al the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoyle their goods: <sup>12</sup>Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar. <sup>13</sup>The copie of the writing was, howe there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day to auenge themselues on their enemies. <sup>14</sup>So the postes rode vpon beastes of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with speede, to execute the Kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace. <sup>15</sup>And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blewe, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the cite of Shushan reioyced and was glad. <sup>16</sup>And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioy and gladnes, and honour. <sup>17</sup>Also in all and euery prouince, and in al and euery cite and place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnes to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>So in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth daye of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them) <sup>2</sup>The Iewes gathered themselues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, to lay hande on such as sought their hurt, and no man coulde withstande them: for the feare of them fel vpon al people. <sup>3</sup>And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them. <sup>4</sup>For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater. <sup>5</sup>Thus the Iewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they woulde vnto those that hated them. <sup>6</sup>And at Shushan the palace slewe the Iewes and destroyed fife hundreth men, <sup>7</sup>And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha, <sup>8</sup>And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha, <sup>9</sup>And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha, <sup>10</sup>The ten sonnes of Haman, ye sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slewe they: but they layd not their hands on the spoyle. <sup>11</sup>On the same day came ye number of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King. <sup>12</sup>And the King sayd vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slayne in Shushan the palace and destroyed fife hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be performed? <sup>13</sup>Then sayd Ester, If it please the King, let it be granted also to morow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to do according vnto this daies decree, that they may hang vpon ye tree Hamans ten sonnes. <sup>14</sup>And the King charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes. <sup>15</sup>So the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundreth men in Shushan, but on the spoyle they layd not their hand. <sup>16</sup>And the rest of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces assembled themselues, and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slewe of them that hated them, seuentie and fife thousand: but they layd not their hand on the spoyle. <sup>17</sup>This they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy. <sup>18</sup>But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy. <sup>19</sup>Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalld townes, kept the foureteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour. <sup>20</sup>And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerosh, both neere and farre, <sup>21</sup>Inioyning them that they shoulde keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere. <sup>22</sup>According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and to sende presents euery man to his neyghbour, and giftes to the poore. <sup>23</sup>And the Iewes promised to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, <sup>24</sup>Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite al the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroy them, and had cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them. <sup>25</sup>And when she came before the King, he commanded by letters, Let this wicked deuise (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree. <sup>26</sup>Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them. <sup>27</sup>The Iewes also ordeined, and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not faile to obserue those two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season, <sup>28</sup>And that these dayes shoulde be remembered, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery cite: euen these daies of Purim should not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them should not perish from their seede. <sup>29</sup>And the Queene Ester ye daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iew wrote with al authoritie (to cofirme this letter of Purim ye second time) <sup>30</sup>And he sent letters vnto al the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with words of peace and trueth, <sup>31</sup>To confirme these dayes of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iewe and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them selues and for their seede with fasting and prayer. <sup>32</sup>And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAPTER 10

JOB

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>There was a man in the lande of Vz called Iob, and this man was an vpriight and iust man, one that feared God, and eschewed euill. <sup>2</sup>And he had seue sonnes, and three daughters. <sup>3</sup>His substance also was seuen thousande sheepe, and three thousand camels, and fiue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fiue hundreth shee asses, and his family was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East. <sup>4</sup>And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate and to drinke with them. <sup>5</sup>And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified them, and rose vp early in the morning, and offred burnt offrings according to the nomber of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euery day. <sup>6</sup>Nowe on a day when the children of God came and stode before the Lord, Satan came also among them. <sup>7</sup>Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and from, and from walking in it. <sup>8</sup>And the Lord saide vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpriight and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? <sup>9</sup>Then Satan answered the Lord, and sayde, Doeth Iob feare God for nought? <sup>10</sup>Hast thou not made an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land. <sup>11</sup>But stretch out now thine hand and touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face. <sup>12</sup>Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord. <sup>13</sup>And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, <sup>14</sup>There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places, <sup>15</sup>And the Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slayne the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. <sup>16</sup>And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayde, The fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. <sup>17</sup>And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The Caldeans set on three bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slayne the seruantes with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. <sup>18</sup>And whiles he was yet speaking, came an other, and sayd, Thy sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, <sup>19</sup>And behold, there came a great wind from beyonde the wilderness, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fel vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee. <sup>20</sup>Then Iob arose, and rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fel downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, <sup>21</sup>And sayd, Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: blessed be the Name of the Lord. <sup>22</sup>In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God foolishly.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>And on a day the children of God came and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stode before the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, From compassing the earth to and from, and from walking in it. <sup>3</sup>And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpriight and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet he continueth in his vprihtnesse, although thou mouedst me against him, to destroy him without cause. <sup>4</sup>And Satan answered the Lord, and sayde, Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life. <sup>5</sup>But stretch now out thine hand, and touch his bones and his flesh, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face. <sup>6</sup>Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue his life. <sup>7</sup>So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne. <sup>8</sup>And he tooke a potsharde to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes. <sup>9</sup>Then said his wife vnto him, Doest thou continue yet in thine vprihtnes? Blaspheme God, and dye. <sup>10</sup>But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hande of God, and not receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his lippes. <sup>11</sup>Nowe when Iobs three friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him. <sup>12</sup>So when they lift vp their eyes a farre off, they knewe him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinkled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen. <sup>13</sup>So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the griefe was very great.

<sup>1</sup>Afterward Iob opened his mouth, and cursed his day. <sup>2</sup>And Iob cryed out, and sayd, <sup>3</sup>Let the day perish, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was sayde, There is a man childe conceived. <sup>4</sup>Let that day bee darknesse, let not God regarde it from aboue, neyther let the light shine vpon it, <sup>5</sup>But let darknesse, and the shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remayne vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day. <sup>6</sup>Let darknesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths. <sup>7</sup>Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy be in it. <sup>8</sup>Let them that curse the day, (being readie to renew their mourning) curse it. <sup>9</sup>Let the starres of that twilight be dimme through darknesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see the dawning of the day, <sup>10</sup>Because it shut not vp the dores of my mothers wombe: nor hid sorowe from mine eyes. <sup>11</sup>Why died I not in the birth? or why dyed I not, when I came out of the wombe? <sup>12</sup>Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breasts? <sup>13</sup>For so shoulde I now haue lyen and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest, <sup>14</sup>With the Kings and counselors of the earth, which haue buylded themselues desolate places: <sup>15</sup>Or with the princes that had golde, and haue filled their houses with siluer. <sup>16</sup>Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not seene the light? <sup>17</sup>The wicked haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest. <sup>18</sup>The prisoners rest together, and heare not the voyce of the oppressour. <sup>19</sup>There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his master. <sup>20</sup>Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and life vnto them that haue heauie hearts? <sup>21</sup>Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures: <sup>22</sup>Which ioy for gladnes, and reioyce, when they can finde the graue. <sup>23</sup>Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in? <sup>24</sup>For my sighing commeth before I eate, and my roarings are powred out like the water. <sup>25</sup>For the thing I feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me. <sup>26</sup>I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, yet trouble is come.

<sup>1</sup>Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withholde himselfe from speaking? <sup>3</sup>Behold, thou hast taught many, and hast strengthened the wearie hands. <sup>4</sup>Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees. <sup>5</sup>But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled. <sup>6</sup>Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy pacience, and the vprightness of thy wayes? <sup>7</sup>Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished, being an innocent? or where were the vpriight destroyed? <sup>8</sup>As I haue seene, they that plow iniquitie, and sowe wickednesse, reape the same. <sup>9</sup>With the blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostrils are they consumed. <sup>10</sup>The roaring of the Lion, and the voyce of the Lionesse, and the teeth of the Lions whelpes are broken. <sup>11</sup>The Lyon perisheth for lacke of pray, and the Lyons whelpes are scattered abroad. <sup>12</sup>But a thing was brought to me secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a litle thereof. <sup>13</sup>In the thoughtes of ye visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, <sup>14</sup>Feare came vpon me, and dread which made all my bones to tremble. <sup>15</sup>And the wind passed before me, and made the heares of my flesh to stande vp. <sup>16</sup>Then stode one, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I a voyce, saying, <sup>17</sup>Shall man be more iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his maker? <sup>18</sup>Beholde, he founde no stedfastnesse in his Seruants, and laid follie vpon his Angels. <sup>19</sup>Howe much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shalbe destroyed before the moth? <sup>20</sup>They be destroyed from the morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, without regarde. <sup>21</sup>Doeth not their dignitie goe away with them? do they not die, and that without wisdom?

sinne. <sup>25</sup>Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seede shalbe great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth. <sup>26</sup>Thou shalt goe to thy graue in a ful age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne. <sup>27</sup>Lo, thus haue we inquired of it, and so it is: heare this and knowe it for thy selfe.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Bvt Iob answered, and said, <sup>2</sup>Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were layed together in the balance. <sup>3</sup>For it would be nowe heauier then the sande of the sea: therefore my wordes are swallowed vp. <sup>4</sup>For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrours of God fight against me. <sup>5</sup>Doeth the wilde asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder? <sup>6</sup>That which is vnsauerie, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge? <sup>7</sup>Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meate. <sup>8</sup>Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God would grant me the thing that I long for! <sup>9</sup>That is, that God would destroy me: that he would let his hand go, and cut me off. <sup>10</sup>Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) because I haue not denyed the wordes of the Holy one. <sup>11</sup>What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life? <sup>12</sup>Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brasse? <sup>13</sup>Is it not so, that there is in me no helpe? and that strength is taken from me? <sup>14</sup>He that is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty. <sup>15</sup>My brethre haue deceiued me as a brook, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away. <sup>16</sup>Which are blackish with yee, and wherein the snowe is hid. <sup>17</sup>But in time they are dried vp with heate and are consumed: and when it is hote they faile out of their places, <sup>18</sup>Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish. <sup>19</sup>They that go to Tema, considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them. <sup>20</sup>But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed. <sup>21</sup>Surely nowe are ye like vnto it: ye haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraide. <sup>22</sup>Was it because I said, Bring vnto me? or giue a rewarde to me of your substance? <sup>23</sup>And deliuer me from the enemies hande, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrants? <sup>24</sup>Teach me, and I wil hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstande, wherein I haue erred. <sup>25</sup>Howe stedfast are the wordes of righteousness? and what can any of you iustly reprove? <sup>26</sup>Doe ye imagine to reprove wordes, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde? <sup>27</sup>Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friende. <sup>28</sup>Nowe therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face. <sup>29</sup>Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouth feelee sorowes?

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an hyreling? <sup>2</sup>As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, and as an hyreling looketh for the ende of his worke, <sup>3</sup>So haue I had as an inheritance the moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me. <sup>4</sup>If I layed me downe, I sayde, When shall I arise? and measuring the euening I am euen full with tossing to and from vnto the dawning of the day. <sup>5</sup>My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my skinne is rent, and become horrible. <sup>6</sup>My dayes are swifter then a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope. <sup>7</sup>Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure. <sup>8</sup>The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer. <sup>9</sup>As the cloude vanisheth and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shall come vp no more. <sup>10</sup>He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place knowe him any more. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirite, and muse in the bitterness of my minde. <sup>12</sup>Am I a sea or a whalefish, that thou keepest me in ward? <sup>13</sup>When I say, My couch shall relieue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, <sup>14</sup>Then fearest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions. <sup>15</sup>Therefore my soule chuseth rather to be strangled and to die, then to be in my bones. <sup>16</sup>I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie. <sup>17</sup>What is man, that thou doest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him? <sup>18</sup>And doest visite him euery morning, and tryest him euery moment? <sup>19</sup>Howe long will it be yer thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallowe my spettle. <sup>20</sup>I haue sinned, what shall I do vnto thee? O thou preseruer of me, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe? <sup>21</sup>And why doest thou not pardon my trespasse? and take away mine iniquitie? for nowe shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

<sup>1</sup>Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and saide, <sup>2</sup>Howe long wilt thou talke of these things? and howe long shall the wordes of thy mouth be as a mightie winde? <sup>3</sup>Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth the Almightye subuert iustice? <sup>4</sup>If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie, <sup>5</sup>Yet if thou wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almightye, <sup>6</sup>If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and he wil make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous. <sup>7</sup>And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter ende shall greatly encrease. <sup>8</sup>Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers. <sup>9</sup>(For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadowe) <sup>10</sup>Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart? <sup>11</sup>Can a rush grow without myre? or can ye grasse growe without water? <sup>12</sup>Though it were in greene and not cutte downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe. <sup>13</sup>So are the paths of al that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish. <sup>14</sup>His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a spyder. <sup>15</sup>He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall holde him fast by it, yet shall it not endure. <sup>16</sup>The tree is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof. <sup>17</sup>The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about ye house of stones. <sup>18</sup>If any plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not seene thee, <sup>19</sup>Beholde, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde. <sup>20</sup>Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, <sup>21</sup>Till he haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lippes with ioy. <sup>22</sup>They that hate thee, shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

<sup>1</sup>Then Iob answered, and sayd, <sup>2</sup>I knowe verily that it is so: for howe should man compared vnto God, be iustified? <sup>3</sup>If I would dispute with him, hee could not answere him one thing of a thousand. <sup>4</sup>He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered? <sup>5</sup>He remoueth the mountaines, and they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath. <sup>6</sup>Hee remooueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake. <sup>7</sup>He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: hee closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet. <sup>8</sup>Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea. <sup>9</sup>He maketh the starres Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South. <sup>10</sup>He doeth great things, and vnsearcheable: yea, marueilous things without number. <sup>11</sup>Lo, when he goeth by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not. <sup>12</sup>Behold, when he taketh a pray, who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou? <sup>13</sup>God will not withdrawe his anger, and the most mightie helpe doe stoupe vnder him. <sup>14</sup>Howe much lesse shall I answere him? or howe should I finde out my words with him? <sup>15</sup>For though I were iust, yet could I not answere, but I would make supplication to my Iudge. <sup>16</sup>If I cry, and he answere me, yet woulde I not beleuee, that he heard my voyce. <sup>17</sup>For he destroyeth mee with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause. <sup>18</sup>He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness. <sup>19</sup>If we speake of strength, behold, he is strog: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade? <sup>20</sup>If I woulde iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne mee: if I would be perfite, he shall iudge me wicked. <sup>21</sup>Though I were perfite, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life. <sup>22</sup>This is one point: therefore I said, Hee destroyeth the perfite and the wicked. <sup>23</sup>If the scourge should suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent? <sup>24</sup>The earth is giuen into the hand of ye wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges therof: if not, where is he? or who is he? <sup>25</sup>My dayes haue bene more swift then a post: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing. <sup>26</sup>They are passed as with the most swift ships, and as the eagle that flyeth to the pray. <sup>27</sup>If I say, I wil forget my complaynt, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort mee, <sup>28</sup>Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent. <sup>29</sup>If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine? <sup>30</sup>If I wash my selfe with snowe water, and purge mine hands most cleane, <sup>31</sup>Yet shalt thou plunge mee in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthie. <sup>32</sup>For he is not a man as I am, that I shoulde answere him, if we come together to iudgement. <sup>33</sup>Neyther is there any vmpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both. <sup>34</sup>Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me: <sup>35</sup>Then will I speake, and feare him not: but because I am not so, I holde me still.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>My soule is cut off though I liue: I wil leaue my complaint vpon my selfe, and wil speake in the bitterness of my soule. <sup>2</sup>I will say vnto God, Condemne mee not: shew me, wherefore thou contendest with mee. <sup>3</sup>Thinkest thou it good to oppresse me, and to cast off the labour of thine handes, and to fauour the counsel of the wicked? <sup>4</sup>Hast thou carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth? <sup>5</sup>Are thy dayes as mans dayes? or thy yeres, as the time of man, <sup>6</sup>That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne? <sup>7</sup>Thou knowest that I can not do wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand. <sup>8</sup>Thine handes haue made me, and fashioned mee wholly rounde about, and wilt thou destroy me? <sup>9</sup>Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe? <sup>10</sup>Hast thou not powred me out as milke? and turned me to cruds like cheese? <sup>11</sup>Thou hast clothed me with skin and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes. <sup>12</sup>Thou hast giuen me life, and grace: and thy visitation hath preserued my spirit. <sup>13</sup>Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe that it is so with thee. <sup>14</sup>If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde mee guiltlesse of mine iniquitie. <sup>15</sup>If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction. <sup>16</sup>But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shew thy selfe marueilous vpon me. <sup>17</sup>Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: changes and armies of sorowes are against me. <sup>18</sup>Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me! <sup>19</sup>And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue! <sup>20</sup>Are not my dayes fewe? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a litle comfort, <sup>21</sup>Before I goe and shall not returne, euen to the land of darkenesse and shadow of death: <sup>22</sup>Into a land, I say, darke as darknes it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darkenesse.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great talker be iustified? <sup>3</sup>Should men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed? <sup>4</sup>For thou hast sayde, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes. <sup>5</sup>But, oh that God would speake and open his lippes against thee! <sup>6</sup>That he might shewe thee the secretes of wisdom, howe thou hast deserued double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie. <sup>7</sup>Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out ye Almighty to his perfection? <sup>8</sup>The heauens are hie, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it? <sup>9</sup>The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea. <sup>10</sup>If hee cut off and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe? <sup>11</sup>For hee knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing. <sup>12</sup>Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wilde asse colte. <sup>13</sup>If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him: <sup>14</sup>If iniquitie be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy Tabernacle. <sup>15</sup>The truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare. <sup>16</sup>But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past. <sup>17</sup>Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and bee as the morning. <sup>18</sup>And thou shalt bee bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pittes, and shalt lye downe safely. <sup>19</sup>For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee. <sup>20</sup>But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shalbe sorow of minde.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>Then Iob answered, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>In deede because that ye are the people onely, wisdomes must dye with you. <sup>3</sup>But I haue vnderstanding aswel as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things? <sup>4</sup>I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne. <sup>5</sup>Hee that is readie to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche. <sup>6</sup>The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, whome God hath enriched with his hand. <sup>7</sup>Aske now the beasts, and they shall teach thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee: <sup>8</sup>Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee. <sup>9</sup>Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hande of the Lord hath made these? <sup>10</sup>In whose hande is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all mankind. <sup>11</sup>Doeth not the eares discerne the words? and the mouth taste meate for it selfe? <sup>12</sup>Among the ancient is wisdomes, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding. <sup>13</sup>With him is wisdomes and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, he will breake downe, and it can not be built: he shutteth a man vp, and he can not be loosed. <sup>15</sup>Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth. <sup>16</sup>With him is strength and wisdomes: hee that is deceiued, and that deceiue, are his. <sup>17</sup>He causeth the counsellors to goe as spoyled, and maketh the iudges fooles. <sup>18</sup>He looseth the collar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle. <sup>19</sup>He leadeth away the princes as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mightie. <sup>20</sup>He taketh away the speach from the faithfull counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient. <sup>21</sup>He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mightie weake. <sup>22</sup>He discovereth the deepe places from their darkenesse, and bringeth forth the shadowe of death to light. <sup>23</sup>He increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe. <sup>24</sup>He taketh away the heartes of the that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernes out of the way. <sup>25</sup>They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh the to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>Loe, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstande it. <sup>2</sup>I knowe also as much as you knowe: I am not inferiour vnto you. <sup>3</sup>But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire to dispute with God. <sup>4</sup>For in deede ye forge lyes, and all you are physitions of no value. <sup>5</sup>Oh, that you would holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdomes! <sup>6</sup>Nowe heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips. <sup>7</sup>Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause? <sup>8</sup>Will ye accept his person? or will ye contende for God? <sup>9</sup>Is it well that he should seeke of you? will you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a man? <sup>10</sup>He will surely reprove you, if ye doe secretly accept any person. <sup>11</sup>Shall not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you? <sup>12</sup>Your memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodyes to bodyes of clay. <sup>13</sup>Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore doe I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hande? <sup>15</sup>Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reprove my wayes in his sight. <sup>16</sup>He shalbe my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him. <sup>17</sup>Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke. <sup>18</sup>Beholde now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shalbe iustified. <sup>19</sup>Who is he, that will pleade with me? for if I nowe holde my tongue, I dye. <sup>20</sup>But doe not these two things vnto me: then will I not hide my selfe from thee. <sup>21</sup>Withdrawe thine hande from me, and let not thy feare make me afraide. <sup>22</sup>Then call thou, and I will answer: or let me speake, and answer thou me. <sup>23</sup>Howe many are mine iniquities and sinnes? shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemy? <sup>25</sup>Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and from? and wilt thou pursue the drie stubble? <sup>26</sup>For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth. <sup>27</sup>Thou puttest my feete also in the stocks, and lookest narrowly vnto all my pathes, and makest the print thereof in ye heeles of my feet. <sup>28</sup>Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>Man that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble. <sup>2</sup>He shooteth forth as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as a shadowe, and continueth not. <sup>3</sup>And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee. <sup>4</sup>Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one. <sup>5</sup>Are not his dayes determined? the nobler of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his boundes, which he can not passe. <sup>6</sup>Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, as an hyreling. <sup>7</sup>For there is hope of a tree, if it bee cut downe, that it will yet sproute, and the branches thereof will not cease. <sup>8</sup>Though the roote of it waxe olde in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in ye ground, <sup>9</sup>Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant. <sup>10</sup>But man is sicke, and dyeth, and man perisheth, and where is he? <sup>11</sup>As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp, <sup>12</sup>So man sleepeth and riseth not: for hee shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more. <sup>13</sup>Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe me secret, vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue me terme, and remember me. <sup>14</sup>If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, till my changing shall come. <sup>15</sup>Thou shalt call me, and I shall answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine own hands. <sup>16</sup>But nowe thou nombrest my steppes, and doest not delay my sinnes. <sup>17</sup>Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse. <sup>18</sup>And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the rocke that is remooued from his place: <sup>19</sup>As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which growe in the dust of ye earth: so thou destroyest ye hope of man. <sup>20</sup>Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away. <sup>21</sup>And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shalbe of lowe degree, <sup>22</sup>But while his flesh is vpon him, he shall be sorrowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

strong against the Almightye. <sup>26</sup>Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shilde. <sup>27</sup>Because he hath couered his face with his fatnesse, and hath colloppes in his flanke. <sup>28</sup>Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, <sup>29</sup>He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth. <sup>30</sup>He shall neuer depart out of darkenesse: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and he shall goe away with the breath of his mouth. <sup>31</sup>He beleueeth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shalbe his change. <sup>32</sup>His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day. <sup>33</sup>God shall destroy him as the vine her sower grape, and shall cast him off, as the oliue doeth her flowre. <sup>34</sup>For the congregation of the hypocrite shalbe desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of bribes. <sup>35</sup>For they conceiue mischiefe and bring foorth vanitie, and their bellie hath prepared deceite.

CHAPTER 16

<sup>1</sup>Bvt Iob answered, and said, <sup>2</sup>I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all. <sup>3</sup>Shall there be none ende of wordes of winde? or what maketh thee bold so to answer? <sup>4</sup>I could also speake as yee doe: (but woulde God your soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you, <sup>5</sup>But I woulde strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should assuage your sorowe. <sup>6</sup>Though I speake, my sorow can not be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I? <sup>7</sup>But now hee maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate, <sup>8</sup>And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witness thereof, and my leannes ryseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face. <sup>9</sup>His wrath hath torne me, and hee hateth me, and gnasheth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me. <sup>10</sup>They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten me on the cheek in reproch; they gather themselves together against me. <sup>11</sup>God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked. <sup>12</sup>I was in welth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe. <sup>13</sup>His archers compassed mee rounde about: he cutteth my reines, and doth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground. <sup>14</sup>He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant. <sup>15</sup>I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine horne vnto the dust. <sup>16</sup>My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes, <sup>17</sup>Though there be no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure. <sup>18</sup>O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place. <sup>19</sup>For lo, now my witness is in the heauen, and my record is on hie. <sup>20</sup>My friends speake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God. <sup>21</sup>Oh that a man might pleade with God, as man with his neighbour! <sup>22</sup>For the yeres accounted come, and I shall go the way, whence I shall not returne.

CHAPTER 17

<sup>1</sup>My breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is readie for me. <sup>2</sup>There are none but mockers with mee, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness. <sup>3</sup>Lay downe nowe and put me in suretie for thee: who is hee, that will touch mine hand? <sup>4</sup>For thou hast hid their heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not set them vp on hie. <sup>5</sup>For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speaketh flattery to his friends. <sup>6</sup>Hee hath also made mee a byword of the people, and I am as a Tabret before them. <sup>7</sup>Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadowe. <sup>8</sup>The righteous shalbe astonied at this, and the innocent shalbe moued against ye hypocrite. <sup>9</sup>But the righteous wil holde his way, and he whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength. <sup>10</sup>All you therefore turne you, and come nowe, and I shall not finde one wise among you. <sup>11</sup>My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart. <sup>12</sup>Haue changed the nyght for the day, and the light that approached, for darkenesse. <sup>13</sup>Though I hope, yet the graue shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke. <sup>14</sup>I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister. <sup>15</sup>Where is then now mine hope? or who shall consider the thing, that I hoped for? <sup>16</sup>They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lye together in the dust.

CHAPTER 18

<sup>1</sup>Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said, <sup>2</sup>When will yee make an ende of your words? cause vs to vnderstande, and then wee will speake. <sup>3</sup>Wherefore are wee counted as bestes, and are vile in your sight? <sup>4</sup>Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the earth bee forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place? <sup>5</sup>Yea, the light of the wicked shalbe quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine. <sup>6</sup>The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candle shalbe put out with him. <sup>7</sup>The steps of his strength shalbe restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe. <sup>8</sup>For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he walketh vpon the snares. <sup>9</sup>The grenne shall take him by the heele, and the theefe shall come vpon him. <sup>10</sup>A snare is layed for him in the ground, and a trappe for him in the way. <sup>11</sup>Fearefulness shall make him afraide on euery side, and shall driue him to his feete. <sup>12</sup>His strength shalbe famine: and destruction shalbe readie at his side. <sup>13</sup>It shall deuoure the inner partes of his skinne, and the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength. <sup>14</sup>His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to go to the King of feare. <sup>15</sup>Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and brimstone shalbe scattered vpon his habitation. <sup>16</sup>His rootes shalbe dried vp beneath, and aboue shall his branche be cut downe. <sup>17</sup>His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete. <sup>18</sup>They shall driue him out of the light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world. <sup>19</sup>Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings. <sup>20</sup>The posteritie shalbe astonied at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient. <sup>21</sup>Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

<sup>1</sup>Bvt Iob answered, and said, <sup>2</sup>Howe long will yee vex me soule, and torment me with wordes? <sup>3</sup>Ye haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward mee. <sup>4</sup>And though I had in deede erred, mine errour remaineth with me. <sup>5</sup>But in deede if ye will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproche, <sup>6</sup>Know nowe, that God hath ouerthrowen me, and hath compassed me with his net. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crie, but there is no iudgement. <sup>8</sup>Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot passe, and he hath set darkenesse in my paths. <sup>9</sup>Hee hath spoyled mee of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head. <sup>10</sup>He hath destroyed mee on euery side and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree. <sup>11</sup>And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth mee as one of his enemies. <sup>12</sup>His armies came together, and made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle. <sup>13</sup>He hath remooued my brethre farre from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me. <sup>14</sup>My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me. <sup>15</sup>They that dwell in mine house, and my maydes tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight. <sup>16</sup>I called my seruant, but he would not answere, though I prayed him with my mouth. <sup>17</sup>My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body. <sup>18</sup>The wicked also despised mee, and when I rose, they spake against me. <sup>19</sup>All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whome I loued, are turned against me. <sup>20</sup>My bone cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skinne of my teeth. <sup>21</sup>Haue pitie vpon me: haue pitie vpon me, (O yee my friendes) for the hande of God hath touched me. <sup>22</sup>Why do ye persecute me, as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh? <sup>23</sup>Oh that my wordes were nowe written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, <sup>24</sup>And grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer! <sup>25</sup>For I am sure, that my Redemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth. <sup>26</sup>And though after my skin wormes destroy this bodie, yet shall I see God in my flesh. <sup>27</sup>Whome I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other for me, though my reynes are consumed within me. <sup>28</sup>But yee sayde, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me. <sup>29</sup>Be ye afraide of the sworde: for the sworde will be auenged of wickednesse, that yee may knowe that there is a iudgement.

CHAPTER 20

the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirite of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answer. <sup>4</sup>Knowest thou not this of olde? and since God placed man vpon the earth, <sup>5</sup>That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment? <sup>6</sup>Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reache vnto the cloudes, <sup>7</sup>Yet shall hee perish for euer, like his dung, and they which haue seene him, shall say, Where is hee? <sup>8</sup>He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night, <sup>9</sup>So that the eye which had seene him, shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more. <sup>10</sup>His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance. <sup>11</sup>His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust. <sup>12</sup>When wickednesse was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue, <sup>13</sup>And faoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, <sup>14</sup>Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him. <sup>15</sup>He hath deuoured substance, and hee shall vomit it: for God shall drawe it out of his bellie. <sup>16</sup>He shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him. <sup>17</sup>He shall not see the riuers, nor the floods and streames of honie and butter. <sup>18</sup>He shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shalbe his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more. <sup>19</sup>For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which he builded not. <sup>20</sup>Surely he shall feelee no quietnes in his bodie, neither shall he reserue of that which he desired. <sup>21</sup>There shall none of his meate bee left: therefore none shall hope for his goods. <sup>22</sup>When he shalbe filled with his abundance, he shalbe in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him. <sup>23</sup>He shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall sende vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to rayne vpon him, euen vpon his meate. <sup>24</sup>He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of steele shall strike him through. <sup>25</sup>The arrowe is drawn out, and commeth forth of the body, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him. <sup>26</sup>All darkenes shalbe hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blowen, shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroyed. <sup>27</sup>The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him. <sup>28</sup>The increase of his house shall go away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath. <sup>29</sup>This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that he shall haue of God for his wordes.

CHAPTER 21

<sup>1</sup>Bvt Iob answered, and sayd, <sup>2</sup>Heare diligently my wordes, and this shalbe in stead of your consolations. <sup>3</sup>Suffer mee, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on. <sup>4</sup>Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled? <sup>5</sup>Marke mee, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth. <sup>6</sup>Euen when I remember, I am afrayde, and feare taketh hold on my flesh. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore do the wicked lue, and waxe olde, and grow in wealth? <sup>8</sup>Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes. <sup>9</sup>Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them. <sup>10</sup>Their bullocke gendreth, and fayleth not: their cow calueth, and casteth not her calfe. <sup>11</sup>They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes dance. <sup>12</sup>They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs. <sup>13</sup>They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they go downe to the graue. <sup>14</sup>They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes. <sup>15</sup>Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him? <sup>16</sup>Lo, their wealth is not in their hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from me. <sup>17</sup>How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he wil deuide their liues in his wrath. <sup>18</sup>They shall be as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away. <sup>19</sup>God wil lay vp the sorowe of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, hee shall knowe it. <sup>20</sup>His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty. <sup>21</sup>For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off? <sup>22</sup>Shall any teache God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things? <sup>23</sup>One dyeth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie. <sup>24</sup>His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marowe. <sup>25</sup>And another dieth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure. <sup>26</sup>They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall cower them. <sup>27</sup>Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, wherewith ye do me wrong. <sup>28</sup>For ye say, Where is the princes house? and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling? <sup>29</sup>May ye not aske the that go by the way? and ye can not deny their signes. <sup>30</sup>But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall be brought forth to the day of wrath. <sup>31</sup>Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done? <sup>32</sup>Yet shall he be brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape. <sup>33</sup>The slimie valley shalbe sweete vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable. <sup>34</sup>How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answers there remaine but lyes?

CHAPTER 22

<sup>1</sup>Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>May a man be profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe? <sup>3</sup>Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpight? <sup>4</sup>Is it for feare of thee that he will accuse thee? or go with thee into iudgement? <sup>5</sup>Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable? <sup>6</sup>For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoyled the clothes of the naked. <sup>7</sup>To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie. <sup>8</sup>But the mightie man had the earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it. <sup>9</sup>Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of the fatherles were broken. <sup>10</sup>Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee: <sup>11</sup>Or darkenes that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of waters shall cower thee. <sup>12</sup>Is not God on hie in the heauen? and behold the height of the starres how hie they are. <sup>13</sup>But thou sayest, How should God know? can he iudge through the darke cloude? <sup>14</sup>The cloudes hide him that he can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen. <sup>15</sup>Hast thou marked the way of the worlde, wherein wicked men haue walked? <sup>16</sup>Which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed: <sup>17</sup>Which sayd vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could do for them. <sup>18</sup>Yet hee filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me. <sup>19</sup>The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne. <sup>20</sup>Surely our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them. <sup>21</sup>Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie. <sup>22</sup>Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart. <sup>23</sup>If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be buylt vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle. <sup>24</sup>Thou shalt lay vp golde for dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers. <sup>25</sup>Yea, the Almighty shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer. <sup>26</sup>And thou shalt then delite in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God. <sup>27</sup>Thou shalt make thy praiser vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vows. <sup>28</sup>Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes. <sup>29</sup>When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person. <sup>30</sup>The innocent shall deliuer the yland, and it shalbe preserued by the purenes of thine hands.

CHAPTER 23

<sup>1</sup>Bvt Iob answered and sayd, <sup>2</sup>Though my talke be this day in bitterness, and my plague greater then my groning, <sup>3</sup>Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place. <sup>4</sup>I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments. <sup>5</sup>I would knowe the wordes, that he would answer me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me. <sup>6</sup>Would he plead against me with his great power? No, but he would put strength in me. <sup>7</sup>There the righteous might reason with him, so I shoulde be deliuered for euer from my Iudge. <sup>8</sup>Behold, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I can not perceiue him: <sup>9</sup>If to the North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he wil hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot beholde him. <sup>10</sup>But he knoweth my way, and trieth mee, and I shall come forth like the gold. <sup>11</sup>My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined. <sup>12</sup>Neyther haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, and I haue esteemed the words of his mouth more then mine appointed foode. <sup>13</sup>Yet he is in one minde, and who can turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth. <sup>14</sup>For he will performe that, which is decreed of me, and many such things are with him. <sup>15</sup>Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him. <sup>16</sup>For God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me. <sup>17</sup>For I am not cut off in darknesse, but he hath hid the darknesse from my face.

<sup>1</sup>Howe should not the times be hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which knowe him, see not his dayes? <sup>2</sup>Some remoue the land marks, that rob the flockes and feede thereof. <sup>3</sup>They leade away the asse of the fatherles: and take the widowes ox to pledge. <sup>4</sup>They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselves together. <sup>5</sup>Behold, others as wilde asses in the wilderness, goe forth to their businesse, and rise early for a praye: the wilderness giueth him and his children foode. <sup>6</sup>They reape his prouision in the felde, but they gather the late vintage of the wicked. <sup>7</sup>They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde. <sup>8</sup>They are wet with the shewres of the moutaines, and they imbrace the rocke for want of a couering. <sup>9</sup>They plucke the fatherles from the breast, and take the pledge of the poore. <sup>10</sup>They cause him to go naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungrie. <sup>11</sup>They that make oyle betwene their walles, and treade their wine presses, suffer thirst. <sup>12</sup>Men cry out of the cite, and the soules of the slayne cry out: yet God doth not charge them with follie. <sup>13</sup>These are they, that abhorre the light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof. <sup>14</sup>The murdereth riseth early and killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night he is as a theefe. <sup>15</sup>The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and sayth, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face. <sup>16</sup>They digge through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselves in the daye: they knowe not the light. <sup>17</sup>But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one knowe them, they are in the terrours of the shadowe of death. <sup>18</sup>He is swift vpon the waters: their portion shalbe cursed in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyardes. <sup>19</sup>As the dry ground and heate consume the snowe waters, so shall the graue the sinners. <sup>20</sup>The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shall feelee his sweetenes: he shalbe no more remembered, and the wicked shalbe broke like a tree. <sup>21</sup>He doth euil intreat ye barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth he good to the widowe. <sup>22</sup>He draweth also the mighty by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life. <sup>23</sup>Though men giue him assurance to be in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes. <sup>24</sup>They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought lowe as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the toppes of an eare of corne. <sup>25</sup>But if it be not so, where is he? or who wil proue me a lyer, and make my words of no value?

CHAPTER 25

<sup>1</sup>Bvt Iob answered, and sayde, <sup>2</sup>Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou the arme that hath no strength? <sup>3</sup>Whome counsellst thou? him that hath no wisdom? thou shewest right well as the thing is. <sup>4</sup>To whom doest thou declare these words? or whose spirit commeth out of thee? <sup>5</sup>The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them. <sup>6</sup>The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction. <sup>7</sup>He stretcheth out the North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing. <sup>8</sup>He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the cloude is not broken vnder them. <sup>9</sup>He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and spreadeth his cloude vpon it. <sup>10</sup>He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and night come to an ende. <sup>11</sup>The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe. <sup>12</sup>The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride thereof. <sup>13</sup>His Spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked serpent. <sup>14</sup>Loe, these are part of his wayes: but how litle a portion heare we of him? and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup>Moreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying, <sup>2</sup>The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness. <sup>3</sup>Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, <sup>4</sup>My lips surely shall speake no wickednesse, and my tongue shall vtter no deceite. <sup>5</sup>God forbid, that I should iustifie you: vntill I dye, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe. <sup>6</sup>I will keepe my righteousness, and wil not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprove me of my dayes. <sup>7</sup>Mine enimie shall be as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous. <sup>8</sup>For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule? <sup>9</sup>Will God heare his cry, when trouble commeth vpon him? <sup>10</sup>Will he set his delight on the Almighty? will he call vpon God at all times? <sup>11</sup>I will teache you what is in the hande of God, and I wil not conceale that which is with the Almighty. <sup>12</sup>Beholde, all ye your selues haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish in vanitie? <sup>13</sup>This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty. <sup>14</sup>If his children be in great nomber, the sworde shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread. <sup>15</sup>His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes shall not weepe. <sup>16</sup>Though he shoulde heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare payment as the clay, <sup>17</sup>He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall deuide the siluer. <sup>18</sup>He buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh. <sup>19</sup>When the rich man sleepeth, he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone. <sup>20</sup>Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night. <sup>21</sup>The East winde shall take him away, and he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place. <sup>22</sup>And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though he would faine flee out of his hand. <sup>23</sup>Euery man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

CHAPTER 28

<sup>1</sup>The siluer surely hath his veyne, and ye gold his place, where they take it. <sup>2</sup>Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone. <sup>3</sup>God putteth an end to darknesse, and he tryeth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darknesse, and of the shadowe of death. <sup>4</sup>The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away. <sup>5</sup>Out of the same earth commeth bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp. <sup>6</sup>The stones thereof are a place of saphirs, and the dust of it is golde. <sup>7</sup>There is a path which no foule hath knowen, neyther hath the kites eye seene it. <sup>8</sup>The Lyons whelpes haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby. <sup>9</sup>He putteth his hand vpon the rockes, and ouerthroweth the moutaines by the rootes. <sup>10</sup>He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing. <sup>11</sup>He bindeth the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light. <sup>12</sup>But where is wisdom found? and where is the place of vnderstanding? <sup>13</sup>Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing. <sup>14</sup>The depth sayth, It is not in mee: the sea also sayth, It is not with me. <sup>15</sup>Golde shall not be giuen for it, neyther shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof. <sup>16</sup>It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir. <sup>17</sup>The golde nor the chrystall shall be equall vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine golde. <sup>18</sup>No mention shall be made of coral, nor of the gabish: for wisdom is more precious then pearles. <sup>19</sup>The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold. <sup>20</sup>Whence then commeth wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding. <sup>21</sup>Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the foules of the heauen? <sup>22</sup>Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares. <sup>23</sup>But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof. <sup>24</sup>For he beholdeth the endes of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen, <sup>25</sup>To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure. <sup>26</sup>When he made a decree for the rayne, and a way for the lightening of the thunders, <sup>27</sup>Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it. <sup>28</sup>And vnto man he said, Behold, the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euil is vnderstanding.

CHAPTER 29

<sup>1</sup>So Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying, <sup>2</sup>Oh that I were as in times past, when God preserued me! <sup>3</sup>When his light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorowe the darkenesse, <sup>4</sup>As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle: <sup>5</sup>When the almightie was yet with me, and my children round about me. <sup>6</sup>When I washed my pathes with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle: <sup>7</sup>When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seate in the streete. <sup>8</sup>The yong men saw me, and hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood vp. <sup>9</sup>The princes stayed talke, and layde their hand on their mouth. <sup>10</sup>The voyce of princes was hidde, and their tongue cleaued to the rooffe of their mouth. <sup>11</sup>And when the eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye sawe me, it gaue witness to me. <sup>12</sup>For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him. <sup>13</sup>The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce. <sup>14</sup>I put on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne. <sup>15</sup>I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the feete to the lame. <sup>16</sup>I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently. <sup>17</sup>I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the praye out of his teeth. <sup>18</sup>Then I sayde, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiplie my dayes as the sand. <sup>19</sup>For my roote is spread out by the water, and the dewe shall lye vpon my branche. <sup>20</sup>My glory shall renewe towarde me, and my bowe shall be restored in mine hand. <sup>21</sup>Vnto me men gaue care, and wayted, and helde their tongue at my counsell. <sup>22</sup>After my wordes they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them. <sup>23</sup>And they wayted for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter rayne. <sup>24</sup>If I laughed on them, they beleueed it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall. <sup>25</sup>I appoynted out their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the army, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAPTER 30

<sup>1</sup>Bvt now they that are yonger then I, mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the dogges of my flockes. <sup>2</sup>For whereto shoulde the strength of their handes haue serued mee, seeing age perished in them? <sup>3</sup>For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wildernes, which is darke, desolate and waste. <sup>4</sup>They cut vp nettels by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meate. <sup>5</sup>They were chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a theefe. <sup>6</sup>Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes. <sup>7</sup>They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselues. <sup>8</sup>They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth. <sup>9</sup>And now am I their song, and I am their talke. <sup>10</sup>They abhorre me, and flee farre from mee, and spare not to spit in my face. <sup>11</sup>Because that God hath loosed my corde and humbled mee, they haue loosed the bridle before me. <sup>12</sup>The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my feete, and haue trode on me as on the paths of their destruction. <sup>13</sup>They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe. <sup>14</sup>They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes. <sup>15</sup>Feare is turned vpon mee: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloude. <sup>16</sup>Therefore my soule is nowe powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me. <sup>17</sup>It pearceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest. <sup>18</sup>For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the colar of my coate. <sup>19</sup>He hath cast me into the myre, and I am become like ashes and dust. <sup>20</sup>When I cry vnto thee, thou doest not heare me, neither regardest me, when I stand vp. <sup>21</sup>Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemy vnto mee with the strength of thine hand. <sup>22</sup>Thou takest me vp and caustest mee to ride vpon the winde, and makest my strength to faile. <sup>23</sup>Surely I knowe that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the house appoynted for all the liuing. <sup>24</sup>Doubtles none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction. <sup>25</sup>Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble?

was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore? <sup>26</sup>Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenesse. <sup>27</sup>My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me. <sup>28</sup>I went mourning without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation and cryed. <sup>29</sup>I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches. <sup>30</sup>My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heate. <sup>31</sup>Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAPTER 31

<sup>1</sup>I made a couenant with mine eyes: why then should I thinke on a mayde? <sup>2</sup>For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on hie? <sup>3</sup>Is not destruction to the wicked and strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie? <sup>4</sup>Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steps? <sup>5</sup>If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceite, <sup>6</sup>Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vprightness. <sup>7</sup>If my steppe hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine handes, <sup>8</sup>Let me sowe, and let another eate: yea, let my plantes be rooted out. <sup>9</sup>If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue layde wayte at the doore of my neighbour, <sup>10</sup>Let my wife grinde vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her. <sup>11</sup>For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to bee condemned: <sup>12</sup>Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out al mine increase, <sup>13</sup>If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayde, when they did contend with me, <sup>14</sup>What then shall I do when God standeth vp? and when he shall visit me, what shall I answer? <sup>15</sup>He that hath made me in the wombe, hath he not made him? hath not he alone facioned vs in the wombe? <sup>16</sup>If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile, <sup>17</sup>Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherles hath not eaten thereof, <sup>18</sup>(For from my youth hee hath growen vp with me as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her) <sup>19</sup>If I haue seene any perish for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, <sup>20</sup>If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe, <sup>21</sup>If I haue lift vp mine hande against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, <sup>22</sup>Let mine arme fal from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone. <sup>23</sup>For Gods punishment was fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnes. <sup>24</sup>If I made gold mine hope, or haue sayd to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence, <sup>25</sup>If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much, <sup>26</sup>If I did behold the sunne, when it shined, or the moone, walking in her brightnes, <sup>27</sup>If mine heart did flatter me in secrete, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand, <sup>28</sup>(This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denied the God aboue) <sup>29</sup>If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued to ioye when euill came vpon him, <sup>30</sup>Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule. <sup>31</sup>Did not the men of my Tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? we can not bee satisfied. <sup>32</sup>The stranger did not lodge in the streete, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way. <sup>33</sup>If I haue hid my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome, <sup>34</sup>Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare me: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore. <sup>35</sup>Oh that I had some to heare me! beholde my signe that the Almighty will witness for me: though mine aduersary should write a booke against me, <sup>36</sup>Woulde not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me? <sup>37</sup>I will tell him the nomber of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a prince. <sup>38</sup>If my lande cry against me, or the furrowes thereof complayne together, <sup>39</sup>If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without siluer: or if I haue griued the soules of the masters thereof, <sup>40</sup>Let thistles growe in steade of wheate, and cockle in the stead of Barley. The wordes of Iob are ended.

CHAPTER 32

<sup>1</sup>So these three men ceased to answer Iob, because he esteemed himselfe iust. <sup>2</sup>Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the familie of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe more then God. <sup>3</sup>Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an

answere, and yet condemned Iob. <sup>4</sup>(Now Elihu had wayted til Iob had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeeres then he) <sup>5</sup>So when Elihu saw, that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled. <sup>6</sup>Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and sayd, I am yong in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraide to shewe you mine opinion. <sup>7</sup>For I said, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeeres shall teach wisdom. <sup>8</sup>Surely there is a spirite in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding. <sup>9</sup>Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement. <sup>10</sup>Therefore I say, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion. <sup>11</sup>Behold, I did waite vpon your wordes, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out reasons. <sup>12</sup>Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reprov'd Iob, nor answered his wordes: <sup>13</sup>Lest ye should say, We haue found wisdom: for God hath cast him downe, and no man. <sup>14</sup>Yet hath he not directed his words to me, neyther will I answer him by your wordes. <sup>15</sup>Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke. <sup>16</sup>When I had wayted (for they spake not, but stood still and answered no more) <sup>17</sup>Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion. <sup>18</sup>For I am full of matter, and the spirite within me compelleth me. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottels that brast. <sup>20</sup>Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lippes, and will answer. <sup>21</sup>I will not now accept the person of man, neyther will I giue titles to man. <sup>22</sup>For I may not giue titles, lest my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAPTER 33

<sup>1</sup>Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes. <sup>2</sup>Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth. <sup>3</sup>My words are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lippes shall speake pure knowledge. <sup>4</sup>The Spirite of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life. <sup>5</sup>If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe and stand before me. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon thee. <sup>8</sup>Doubtles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes. <sup>9</sup>I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me. <sup>10</sup>Lo, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy. <sup>11</sup>He hath put my feete in the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto all my paths. <sup>12</sup>Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man. <sup>13</sup>Why doest thou striue against him? for he doeth not giue account of all his matters. <sup>14</sup>For God speaketh once or twice, and one seeth it not. <sup>15</sup>In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beds, <sup>16</sup>Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he had sealed, <sup>17</sup>That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man, <sup>18</sup>And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword. <sup>19</sup>He is also stricken with sorow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore, <sup>20</sup>So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meate. <sup>21</sup>His flesh faileth that it can not be scene, and his bones which were not scene, clatter. <sup>22</sup>So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers. <sup>23</sup>If there be a messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousness, <sup>24</sup>Then will he haue mercie vpon him, and will say, Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation. <sup>25</sup>Then shall his flesh be as fresh as a childe, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth. <sup>26</sup>He shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his righteousness. <sup>27</sup>He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruered righteousness, and it did not profite me, <sup>28</sup>He will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light. <sup>29</sup>Lo, all these things will God worke twice or thrise with a man, <sup>30</sup>That he may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing. <sup>31</sup>Marke well, O Iob, and heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake. <sup>32</sup>If there be matter, answer me, and speak: for I desire to iustifie thee. <sup>33</sup>If thou hast not, heare me: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

<sup>1</sup>Moreouer Elihu answered, and saide, <sup>2</sup>Heare my wordes, ye wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge. <sup>3</sup>For the eare tryeth the words, as the mouth tasteth meate. <sup>4</sup>Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, and let vs knowe among our selues what is good. <sup>5</sup>For Iob hath saide, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement. <sup>6</sup>Should I lye in my right? my wound of the arrowe is grievous without my sinne. <sup>7</sup>What man is like Iob, that drinketh scornfulnesse like water? <sup>8</sup>Which goeth in the companie of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men? <sup>9</sup>For he hath saide, It profiteth a man nothing that he should walke with God. <sup>10</sup>Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednesse should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty. <sup>11</sup>For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way. <sup>12</sup>And certainly God will not do wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement. <sup>13</sup>Whome hath he appointed ouer the earth beside him selfe? or who hath placed the whole worlde? <sup>14</sup>If he set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto him selfe his spirit and his breath, <sup>15</sup>All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust. <sup>16</sup>And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this and hearken to the voyce of my wordes. <sup>17</sup>Shal he that hateth iudgement, gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust? <sup>18</sup>Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly? <sup>19</sup>How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his handes. <sup>20</sup>They shall die suddenly, and the people shalbe troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth and take away the mightie without hand. <sup>21</sup>For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings. <sup>22</sup>There is no darkenesse nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein. <sup>23</sup>For he will not lay on man so much, that he should enter into iudgement with God. <sup>24</sup>He shall breake the mightie without seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead. <sup>25</sup>Therefore shall he declare their works: he shall turne the night, and they shalbe destroyed. <sup>26</sup>He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers, <sup>27</sup>Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes: <sup>28</sup>So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the cry of the afflicted. <sup>29</sup>And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely? <sup>30</sup>Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared. <sup>31</sup>Surely it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy. <sup>32</sup>But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more. <sup>33</sup>Wil he performe the thing through thee? for thou hast reprov'd it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I. now speake what thou knowest. <sup>34</sup>Let men of vnderstanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me. <sup>35</sup>Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neyther were his wordes according to wisdom. <sup>36</sup>I desire that Iob may be tryed, vnto the ende touching the answers for wicked men. <sup>37</sup>For he addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his handes among vs, and multiplieth his wordes against God.

CHAPTER 35

<sup>1</sup>Elihu spake moreouer, and said, <sup>2</sup>Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am more righteous then God? <sup>3</sup>For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee and what auaieth it me, to purge me from my sinne? <sup>4</sup>Therefore will I answer thee, and thy companions with thee. <sup>5</sup>Looke vnto the heauen, and see and behold the cloudes which are hyer then thou. <sup>6</sup>If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him? <sup>7</sup>If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiuest he at thine hand? <sup>8</sup>Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousness may profite ye sonne of man. <sup>9</sup>They cause many that are oppressed, to crye, which crye out for ye violence of the mightie. <sup>10</sup>But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the nyght? <sup>11</sup>Which teacheth vs more then the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdom then the fowles of the heauen. <sup>12</sup>Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not. <sup>13</sup>Surely God will not heare vanitie, neyther will the Almighty regard it. <sup>14</sup>Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him. <sup>15</sup>But nowe because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euill with great extremitie, <sup>16</sup>Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAPTER 36

<sup>1</sup>Elihu also proceeded and sayde, <sup>2</sup>Suffer me a litle, and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe. <sup>3</sup>I will fetch my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousness vnto my Maker. <sup>4</sup>For truly my wordes shall not be false, and he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee. <sup>5</sup>Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is mighty and valiant of courage. <sup>6</sup>He mainteineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted. <sup>7</sup>He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with Kings in ye throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted. <sup>8</sup>And if they bee bound in fetters and tyed with the cordes of affliction, <sup>9</sup>Then will he shewe them their worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude. <sup>10</sup>He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquity. <sup>11</sup>If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperity, and their yerres in pleasures. <sup>12</sup>But if they wil not obey, they shall passe by the sworde, and perish without knowledge. <sup>13</sup>But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them. <sup>14</sup>Their soule dyeth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers. <sup>15</sup>He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble. <sup>16</sup>Euen so woulde he haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broad place and not shut vp beneath: and that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat. <sup>17</sup>But thou art ful of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things. <sup>18</sup>For Gods wrath is, least hee should take that away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee. <sup>19</sup>Wil he regard thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excel in strength. <sup>20</sup>Be not carefull in the night, howe he destroyeth the people out of their place. <sup>21</sup>Take thou heede: looke not to iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him? <sup>23</sup>Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly? <sup>24</sup>Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold. <sup>25</sup>All men see it, and men beholde it afarre off. <sup>26</sup>Beholde, God is excellent, and we knowe him not, neither can the number of his yerres bee searched out. <sup>27</sup>When he restraineth the droppes of water, the rayne powreth down by the vapour thereof, <sup>28</sup>Which raine the cloudes do droppe and let fall abundantly vpon man. <sup>29</sup>Who can know the diuisions of ye cloudes and the thunders of his tabernacle? <sup>30</sup>Beholde, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea. <sup>31</sup>For thereby hee iudgeth the people, and giueth meate abundantly. <sup>32</sup>He couereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to go against it. <sup>33</sup>His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

through the South winde? <sup>18</sup>Hast thou stretched out the heaues, which are strong, and as a molten glasse? <sup>19</sup>Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we can not dispose our matter because of darknes. <sup>20</sup>Shall it be told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shalbe destroyed? <sup>21</sup>And nowe men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and clenseth them. <sup>22</sup>The brightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible. <sup>23</sup>It is the Almighty: we can not finde him out: he is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he afflicteth not. <sup>24</sup>Let men therefore feare him: for he will not regarde any that are wise in their owne conceit.

CHAPTER 38

<sup>1</sup>Then answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirle winde, and said, <sup>2</sup>Who is this that darkeneth the counsell by wordes without knowledge? <sup>3</sup>Girde vp nowe thy loynes like a man: I will demande of thee and declare thou vnto me. <sup>4</sup>Where wast thou when I layd the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast vnderstanding. <sup>5</sup>Who hath layde the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line ouer it: <sup>6</sup>Whereupon are the foundations thereof set: or who layed the corner stone thereof? <sup>7</sup>When the starres of the morning prayed me together, and all the children of God reioyced: <sup>8</sup>Or who hath shut vp the Sea with doores, when it yssued and came forth as out of the wombe: <sup>9</sup>When I made the cloudes as a couering thereof, and darknesse as the swadeling bands thereof: <sup>10</sup>When I stablished my commandment vpon it, and set barres and doores, <sup>11</sup>And said, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no farther, and here shall it stay thy proude waues. <sup>12</sup>Hast thou commanded the morning since thy dayes? hast thou caused the morning to knowe his place, <sup>13</sup>That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be shaken out of it? <sup>14</sup>It is turned as clay to facion, and all stand vp as a garment. <sup>15</sup>And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, and the hie arme shalbe broken. <sup>16</sup>Hast thou entred into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth? <sup>17</sup>Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or hast thou seene the gates of the shadowe of death? <sup>18</sup>Hast thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knowest all this. <sup>19</sup>Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darknesse, <sup>20</sup>That thou shouldest receiue it in the boundes thereof, and that thou shouldest knowe the paths to the house thereof? <sup>21</sup>Knewest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and because the number of thy dayes is great? <sup>22</sup>Hast thou entred into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seene the treasures of ye haile, <sup>23</sup>Which I haue hid against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell? <sup>24</sup>By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East winde vpon the earth? <sup>25</sup>Who hath deuided the spowtes for the raine? or the way for the lightning of ye thunders, <sup>26</sup>To cause it to raine on the earth where no man is, and in the wildernes where there is no man? <sup>27</sup>To fulfil the wilde and waste place, and to cause the bud of the herbe to spring forth? <sup>28</sup>Who is the father of the rayne? or who hath begotten the droppes of the dewe? <sup>29</sup>Out of whose wombe came the yee? who hath ingendred the frost of the heauen? <sup>30</sup>The waters are hid as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frosen. <sup>31</sup>Canst thou restraine the sweete influences of the Pleiades? or loose the bandes of Orion? <sup>32</sup>Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in their time? canst thou also guide Arcturus with his sonnes? <sup>33</sup>Knowest thou the course of heauen, or canst thou set the rule thereof in the earth? <sup>34</sup>Canst thou lift vp thy voice to the cloudes that the abundance of water may couer thee? <sup>35</sup>Canst thou sende the lightnings that they may walke, and say vnto thee, Loe, heere we are? <sup>36</sup>Who hath put wisdom in the reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding? <sup>37</sup>Who can number cloudes by wisdom? or who can cause to cease the bottels of heaue, <sup>38</sup>When the earth groweth into hardnesse, and the clottes are fast together? <sup>39</sup>Wylt thou hunt the pray for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelpes, <sup>40</sup>When they couche in their places, and tarie in the couert to lye in wayte? <sup>41</sup>Who prouideth meate for the rauens, when his young ones crye vnto God, and flee about for lacke of meate?

lye in waite? <sup>3</sup>Who prepareth for the rauē his meate, when his birdes crie vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate? <sup>4</sup>Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring foorth yong? Or doest thou marke when the hindes doe calue? <sup>5</sup>Canst thou 216pieth the 216pieth that they fulfill? Or knowest thou the time when they bring foorth? <sup>6</sup>They bow them selues: they bruise their yong and cast out their sorowes. <sup>7</sup>Yet their yong waxe fatte, and growe vp with corn: they goe foorth and returne not vnto them. <sup>8</sup>Who hath set the wilde asse at libertie? Or who hath loosed the bondes of the wilde asse? <sup>9</sup>It is I which haue made the wilderness his house, and the salt places his dwellings. <sup>10</sup>He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the crie of the driuer. <sup>11</sup>He seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing. <sup>12</sup>Will the vnicorne serue thee? Or will he tary by thy cribbe? <sup>13</sup>Canst thou binde the vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrowe? Or will he plowe the 216pieth216 after thee? <sup>14</sup>Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him? <sup>15</sup>Wilt thou beleue him, that he will bring home thy seede, and gather it vnto thy barne? <sup>16</sup>Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the 216pieth216p? Or winges and feathers vnto the ostriche? <sup>17</sup>Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them hote in the dust, <sup>18</sup>And forgetteth that the foote might scatter the, or that the wild beast might breake the. <sup>19</sup>He sheweth 216pieth216 cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauailed in vaine. <sup>20</sup>For God had depriued him of wisdom, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding. <sup>21</sup>When time is, he mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider. <sup>22</sup>Hast thou giuen the horse strength? Or couered his necke with neyng? <sup>23</sup>Hast thou made him afraid as the 216pieth216pper? His strong neyng is fearefull. <sup>24</sup>He diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth in his strength: he goeth foorth to meete the harness man. <sup>25</sup>He mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sworde, <sup>26</sup>Though the quiuer rattle against him, the glittering speare and the shield. <sup>27</sup>He swalloweth the ground for fearceness and rage, and he beleueeth not that it is the noise of the trumpet. <sup>28</sup>He sayth among the trumpets, Ha, ha: hee smellleth the battell afarre off, and the noyse of the captaynes, and the shouting. <sup>29</sup>Shall the hauke flie by thy wisdom, stretching out his wings toward the South? <sup>30</sup>Doeth the eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on hie? (Job) Shee abideth and remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the toppe of the rocke, and the tower. : (Job) From thence she 216pieth for meate, and her eyes beholde afarre off. : (Job) His young ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine are, there is she. : (Job) Moreouer ye Lord spake vnto Iob, and said, : (Job) Is this to learne to striue with the Almighty? He that reprooueth God, let him answere to it. : (Job) Then Iob answered the Lord, saying, : (Job) Beholde, I am vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth. : (Job) Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea twise, but I will proceede no further. :

CHAPTER 40

that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth. <sup>19</sup>Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him. <sup>20</sup>Canst thou drawe out Liuathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue? <sup>21</sup>Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou perce his iawes with an angle? <sup>22</sup>Will he make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire? <sup>23</sup>Will hee make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer? <sup>24</sup>Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bynd him for thy maydes? (Job : ) Shall the companions baket with him? shall they deuide him among the marchants? (Job : ) Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fishpanier with his head? (Job : ) Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battel, and do no more so. (Job : ) Behold, his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

<sup>1</sup>None is so feare that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand before me? <sup>2</sup>Who hath preuented mee that I shoulde make an ende? Al vnder heauen is mine. <sup>3</sup>I will not keepe silence concerning his partes, nor his power nor his comely proportion. <sup>4</sup>Who can discouer the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double bridle? <sup>5</sup>Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about. <sup>6</sup>The maiestie of his scales is like strog shields, and are sure sealed. <sup>7</sup>One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them. <sup>8</sup>One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundered. <sup>9</sup>His niesings make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eyelids of the morning. <sup>10</sup>Out of his mouth go lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out. <sup>11</sup>Out of his nostrils commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron. <sup>12</sup>His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth. <sup>13</sup>In his necke remayneth strength, and labour is reiected before his face. <sup>14</sup>The members of his bodie are ioyned: they are strong in themselves, and cannot be moued. <sup>15</sup>His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether milstone. <sup>16</sup>The mightie are afraid of his maiestie, and for feare they faint in themselves. <sup>17</sup>When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart nor habergeon. <sup>18</sup>He esteemeth yron as strawe, and brasse as rotten wood. <sup>19</sup>The archer canot make him flee: ye stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him: <sup>20</sup>The dartes are counted as strawe: and hee laugheth at the shaking of the speare. <sup>21</sup>Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre. <sup>22</sup>He maketh the depth to boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oyntment. <sup>23</sup>He maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head. <sup>24</sup>In the earth there is none like him: hee is made without feare. <sup>25</sup>He beholdeth al hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

CHAPTER 42

<sup>1</sup>Then Iob answered the Lord, and said, <sup>2</sup>I knowe that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hidde from thee. <sup>3</sup>Who is hee that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderfull for me, and which I knew not. <sup>4</sup>Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demaunde of thee, and declare thou vnto me. <sup>5</sup>I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee. <sup>6</sup>Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes. <sup>7</sup>Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, ye Lord also said vnto Eliphaz ye Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for yee haue not spoken of me the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob. <sup>8</sup>Therefore take vnto you nowe seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and go to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I wil accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob. <sup>9</sup>So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had saide vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob. <sup>10</sup>Then the Lord turned the captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before. <sup>11</sup>Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for al the euil, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of golde. <sup>12</sup>So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had foureteene thousand sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses. <sup>13</sup>He had also seue sonnes, and three daughters. <sup>14</sup>And he called the name of one Iemimah, and the name of the seconde Keziah, and the name of the third Kerenhappuch. <sup>15</sup>In all the lande were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren. <sup>16</sup>And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeres, and sawe his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations. <sup>17</sup>So Iob dyed, being old, and full of dayes.

PSALMS

<sup>1</sup>Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in ye seate of the scornfull: <sup>2</sup>But his delite is in the Lawe of the Lord, and in his Lawe doeth he meditate day and night. <sup>3</sup>For he shall be like a tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruite in due season: whose leafe shall not fade: so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper. <sup>4</sup>The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away. <sup>5</sup>Therefore the wicked shall not stande in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assemblie of the righteous. <sup>6</sup>For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

<sup>1</sup>Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmure in vaine? <sup>2</sup>The Kings of the earth band themselues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ. <sup>3</sup>Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cordes from vs. <sup>4</sup>But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision. <sup>5</sup>Then shall hee speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexeth them in his sore displeasure, saying, <sup>6</sup>Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine. <sup>7</sup>I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me, Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee. <sup>8</sup>Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the endes of the earth for thy possession. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt krush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in peeces like a potters vessell. <sup>10</sup>Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth. <sup>11</sup>Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling. <sup>12</sup>Kisse the sonne, least he be angry, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne. blessed are all that trust in him.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalom. Lord, howe are mine aduersaries increased? howe many rise against me? <sup>2</sup>Many say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. Selah. <sup>3</sup>But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head. <sup>4</sup>I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah. <sup>5</sup>I layed me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord susteined me. <sup>6</sup>I will not be afraide for ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about. <sup>7</sup>O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked. <sup>8</sup>Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid. Heare me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast set me at libertie, when I was in distresse: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer. <sup>2</sup>O ye sonnes of men, howe long will yee turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lyes? Selah. <sup>3</sup>For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him. <sup>4</sup>Tremble, and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Many say, Who will shewe vs any good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs. <sup>7</sup>Thou hast giuen mee more ioye of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine did abound. <sup>8</sup>I will lay mee downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou, Lord, onely makest me dwell in safetie.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth upon Nehiloth. A Psalme of Dauid. Heare my wordes, O Lord: vnderstande my meditation. <sup>2</sup>Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray. <sup>3</sup>Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will waite. <sup>4</sup>For thou art not a God that loueth wickednes: neither shall euill dwell with thee. <sup>5</sup>The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie. <sup>6</sup>Thou shalt destroy them that speake lyes: the Lord will abhorre the bloodie man and deceitfull. <sup>7</sup>But I wil come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple. <sup>8</sup>Leade me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face. <sup>9</sup>For no constancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue. <sup>10</sup>Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee. <sup>11</sup>And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee. <sup>12</sup>For thou Lord wilt blesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compasse him, as with a shielde.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth upon the eith tune. A Psalme of Dauid. O lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. <sup>2</sup>Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for my bones are vexed. <sup>3</sup>My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay? <sup>4</sup>Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake. <sup>5</sup>For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall prayse thee? <sup>6</sup>I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares. <sup>7</sup>Mine eye is dimmed for despight, and sunke in because of all mine enemies. <sup>8</sup>Away from mee all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping. <sup>9</sup>The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer. <sup>10</sup>All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame suddenly.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>Shigaion of Dauid, which he sang vnto the Lord, concerning the wordes of Chush the sonne of Iemini. O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust: saue me from all that persecute me, and deliuer me, <sup>2</sup>Least he deuoure my soule like a lion, and teare it in peeces, while there is none to helpe. <sup>3</sup>O Lord my God, if I haue done this thing, if there be any wickednes in mine handes, <sup>4</sup>If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with mee, (yea I haue deliuered him that vexed me without cause) <sup>5</sup>Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him treade my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the iudgement that thou hast appointed. <sup>7</sup>So shall the Congregation of the people compasse thee about: for their sakes therefore returne on hie. <sup>8</sup>The Lord shall iudge the people: Iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my righteousness, and according to mine innocencie, that is in mee. <sup>9</sup>Oh let the malice of the wicked come to an ende: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reines. <sup>10</sup>My defence is in God, who preserueth the vpriht in heart. <sup>11</sup>God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God euery day. <sup>12</sup>Except he turne, he hath whet his sword: he hath bent his bowe and made it readie. <sup>13</sup>Hee hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordeine his arrowes for them that persecute me. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, hee shall trauaile with wickednes: for he hath conceiued mischief, but he shall bring forth a lye. <sup>15</sup>Hee hath made a pitte and digged it, and is fallen into the pit that he made. <sup>16</sup>His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, and his crueltie shall fall vpon his owne pate. <sup>17</sup>I wil praise the Lord according to his righteousness, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Gittith. A Psalme of Dauid. O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the worlde! which hast set thy glory about the heauens. <sup>2</sup>Out of the mouth of babes and suckelings hast thou ordained strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger. <sup>3</sup>When I beholde thine heavens, even the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordeined, <sup>4</sup>What is man, say I, that thou art mindefull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him? <sup>5</sup>For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feete: <sup>7</sup>All sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beastes of the field: <sup>8</sup>The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the paths of the seas. <sup>9</sup>O Lord our Lord, howe excellent is thy Name in all the world!

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth vpon Muth Laben. A Psalme of Dauid. I will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake of all thy marueilous workes. <sup>2</sup>I will bee glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High, <sup>3</sup>For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall, and perish at thy presence. <sup>4</sup>For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudget right. <sup>5</sup>Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer. <sup>6</sup>O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetual end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them. <sup>7</sup>But the Lord shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement. <sup>8</sup>For he shall iudge the worlde in righteousness, and shall iudge the people with equitie. <sup>9</sup>The Lord also will be a refuge for the poore, a refuge in due time, euen in affliction. <sup>10</sup>And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seeke thee. <sup>11</sup>Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: shewe the people his workes. <sup>12</sup>For whe he maketh inquisition for blood, hee remembreth it, and forgetteth not the complaint of the poore. <sup>13</sup>Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord: consider my trouble which I suffer of them that hate mee, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death, <sup>14</sup>That I may shewe all thy praises within the gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation. <sup>15</sup>The heathen are sunken downe in the pit that they made: in the nette that they hid, is their foote taken. <sup>16</sup>The Lord is knownen by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the worke of his owne handes. Higgaion. Selah. <sup>17</sup>The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God. <sup>18</sup>For the poore shall not bee alway forgotten: the hope of the afflicted shall not perish for euer. <sup>19</sup>Vp Lord: let not man preuaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy sight. <sup>20</sup>Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may knowe that they are but men. Selah.

<sup>1</sup>Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction? <sup>2</sup>The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the craftes that they haue imagined. <sup>3</sup>For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hartes desire, and the couetous blesseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord. <sup>4</sup>The wicked is so proude that hee seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alwayes, There is no God. <sup>5</sup>His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are hie about his sight: therefore defieth he all his enemies. <sup>6</sup>He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger. <sup>7</sup>His mouth is full of cursing and deceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie. <sup>8</sup>He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth hee murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore. <sup>9</sup>He lyeth in waite secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lyeth in waite to spoyle the poore: he doeth spoyle the poore, when he draweth him into his net. <sup>10</sup>He croucheth and boweth: therefore heaps of the poore doe fall by his might. <sup>11</sup>He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see. <sup>12</sup>Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hande: forget not the poore. <sup>13</sup>Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God? he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard. <sup>14</sup>Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse. <sup>15</sup>Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searche his wickednes, and thou shalt finde none. <sup>16</sup>The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed forth of his land. <sup>17</sup>Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou bendest thine eare to them, <sup>18</sup>To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man cause to feare no more.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. In the Lord put I my trust: howe say yee then to my soule, Flee to your mountaine as a birde? <sup>2</sup>For loe, the wicked bende their bowe, and make readie their arrows vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at them, which are vpriight in heart. <sup>3</sup>For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done? <sup>4</sup>The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lordes throne is in the heauen: his eyes wil consider: his eye lids will try the children of men. <sup>5</sup>The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate. <sup>6</sup>Vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the porcion of their cup. <sup>7</sup>For the righteous Lord loueth righteousness: his countenance doeth beholde the iust.

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid. Helpe Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are fayled from among the children of men. <sup>2</sup>They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart. <sup>3</sup>The Lord cut off all flattering lippes, and the tongue that speaketh proude things: <sup>4</sup>Which haue saide, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lippes are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs? <sup>5</sup>Now for the oppression of the needy, and for the sighes of the poore, I will vp, sayeth the Lord, and will set at libertie him, whom the wicked hath snared. <sup>6</sup>The wordes of the Lord are pure wordes, as the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen folde. <sup>7</sup>Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preserue him from this generation for euer. <sup>8</sup>The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. Howe long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for euer? howe long wilt thou hide thy face from me? <sup>2</sup>How long shall I take counsell within my selfe, hauing wearinesse dayly in mine heart? how long shall mine enemy be exalted about me? <sup>3</sup>Beholde, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death: <sup>4</sup>Lest mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide. <sup>5</sup>But I trust in thy mercie: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lord, because he hath delt louingly with me.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. The foole hath said in his heart, There is no God: they haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good. <sup>2</sup>The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God. <sup>3</sup>All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one. <sup>4</sup>Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord. <sup>5</sup>There they shall be taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust. <sup>6</sup>You haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust. <sup>7</sup>Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iaakob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

CHAPTER 15

CHAPTER 16

<sup>1</sup>Michtam of Dauid. Preserue mee, O God: for in thee doe I trust. <sup>2</sup>O my soule, thou hast sayd vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my weldoing extendeth not to thee, <sup>3</sup>But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delite is in them. <sup>4</sup>The sorowes of them, that offer to an other god, shall be multiplied: their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make mention of their names with my lips. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt mainteine my lot. <sup>6</sup>The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage. <sup>7</sup>I wil prayse the Lord, who hath giuen me counsell: my reines also teach me in the nightes. <sup>8</sup>I haue set the Lord alwayes before me: for hee is at my right hand: therefore I shall not slide. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doeth rest in hope. <sup>10</sup>For thou wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy one to see corruption. <sup>11</sup>Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is the fulnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

CHAPTER 17

<sup>1</sup>The prayer of Dauid. Heare the right, O Lord, consider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfaigned. <sup>2</sup>Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes beholde equitie. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast prooued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed me, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend. <sup>4</sup>Concerning the workes of men, by the wordes of thy lips I kept mee from the paths of the cruell man. <sup>5</sup>Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feete doe not slide. <sup>6</sup>I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my wordes. <sup>7</sup>Shewe thy marueilous mercies, thou that art the Sauour of them that trust in thee, from such as resist thy right hand. <sup>8</sup>Keepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadowe of thy wings, <sup>9</sup>From the wicked that oppresse mee, from mine enemies, which compasse me round about for my soule. <sup>10</sup>They are inclosed in their owne fat, and they haue spoken proudly with their mouth. <sup>11</sup>They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground: <sup>12</sup>Like as a lyon that is greedy of pray, and as it were a lyons whelp lurking in secret places. <sup>13</sup>Vp Lord, disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked with thy sworde, <sup>14</sup>From men by thine hand, O Lord, from men of the world, who haue their portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their children haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children. <sup>15</sup>But I will beholde thy face in righteousness, and when I awake, I shalbe satisfied with thine image.

CHAPTER 18

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake unto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord delivered him for the hande of all this enemies, and form the and of saul) and sayd, I will loue thee dearely, O Lord my strength. <sup>2</sup>The Lord is my rocke, and my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the horne also of my saluation, and my refuge. <sup>3</sup>I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be praysted: so shall I be safe from mine enemies. <sup>4</sup>The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednes made me afraide. <sup>5</sup>The sorowes of the graue haue compassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me. <sup>6</sup>But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye did come before him, euen into his eares. <sup>7</sup>Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angrie. <sup>8</sup>Smoke went out at his nostrels, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat. <sup>9</sup>He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and darkenes was vnder his feete. <sup>10</sup>And he rode vpon Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde. <sup>11</sup>He made darkenes his secrete place, and his pauilion round about him, euen darkenesse of waters, and cloudes of the ayre. <sup>12</sup>At the brightnes of his presence his clouds passed, haylestones and coles of fire. <sup>13</sup>The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue his voyce, haylestones and coales of fire. <sup>14</sup>Then hee sent out his arrowes and scatted them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them. <sup>15</sup>And the chanel of waters were seene, and the foundations of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrels. <sup>16</sup>He hath sent downe from aboue and taken mee: hee hath drawen mee out of many waters. <sup>17</sup>He hath deliuered mee from my strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me. <sup>18</sup>They preuented me in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay. <sup>19</sup>Hee brought

mee fourth also into a large place: hee deliuered mee because hee fauoured me. <sup>20</sup>The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompensed me: <sup>21</sup>Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God. <sup>22</sup>For all his Lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his commandements from mee. <sup>23</sup>I was vpriht also with him, and haue kept me from my wickednes. <sup>24</sup>Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness, and according to the purenes of mine hands in his sight. <sup>25</sup>With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpriht man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpriht. <sup>26</sup>With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shewe thy selfe froward. <sup>27</sup>Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proude lookes. <sup>28</sup>Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God wil lighten my darkenes. <sup>29</sup>For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall. <sup>30</sup>The way of God is vncorrupt: the worde of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him. <sup>31</sup>For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God? <sup>32</sup>God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way vpriht. <sup>33</sup>He maketh my feete like hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places. <sup>34</sup>He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of brasse is broken with mine armes. <sup>35</sup>Thou hast also giuen me the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy louing kindenes hath caused me to increase. <sup>36</sup>Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder mee, and mine heeles haue not slid. <sup>37</sup>I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them. <sup>38</sup>I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete. <sup>39</sup>For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me. <sup>40</sup>And thou hast giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me. <sup>41</sup>They cryed but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but hee answered them not. <sup>42</sup>Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did treade them flat as the clay in the streetes. <sup>43</sup>Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not knownen, shall serue me. <sup>44</sup>As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the strangers shall be in subiection to me. <sup>45</sup>Strangers shall shrink away, and feare in their priuie chambers. <sup>46</sup>Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted. <sup>47</sup>It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me. <sup>48</sup>O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set mee vp from them, that rose against me: thou hast deliuered mee from the cruell man. <sup>49</sup>Therefore I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the nations, and wil sing vnto thy Name. <sup>50</sup>Great deliuerances giueth hee vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anoynted, euen to Dauid, and to his seede for euer.

CHAPTER 20

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation! <sup>2</sup>Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denyed him the request of his lips. Selah. <sup>3</sup>For thou diddest preuent him with liberall blessings, and didest set a crowne of pure gold vpon his head. <sup>4</sup>He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer. <sup>5</sup>His glory is great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou laid vpon him. <sup>6</sup>For thou hast set him as blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance. <sup>7</sup>Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercie of the most High, he shall not slide. <sup>8</sup>Thine hand shall finde out all thine enemies, and thy right hand shall finde out them that hate thee. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them. <sup>10</sup>Their fruite shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seede from the children of men. <sup>11</sup>For they intended euill against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not preuaile. <sup>12</sup>Therefore shalt thou put them aparte, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make readie against their faces. <sup>13</sup>Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing and prayse thy power.

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth upon Aieeth Hassshahar. A Psalme of Dauid. My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so farre from mine health, and from the wordes of my roaring? <sup>2</sup>O my God, I crie by day, but thou hearest not, and by night, but haue no audience. <sup>3</sup>But thou art holy, and doest inhabit the prayes of Israel. <sup>4</sup>Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didest deliuer them. <sup>5</sup>They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded. <sup>6</sup>But I am a worme, and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people. <sup>7</sup>All they that see me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe and nod the head, saying, <sup>8</sup>He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he loueth him. <sup>9</sup>But thou didest draw me out of ye wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts. <sup>10</sup>I was cast vpon thee, euen from ye wombe: thou art my God from my mothers belly. <sup>11</sup>Be not farre from me, because trouble is neere: for there is none to helpe me. <sup>12</sup>Many yong bulles haue compassed me: mightie bulles of Bashan haue closed me about. <sup>13</sup>They gape vpon me with their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lyon. <sup>14</sup>I am like water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the middes of my bowels. <sup>15</sup>My strength is dried vp like a potsheard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought me into the dust of death. <sup>16</sup>For dogges haue compassed me, and the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they perced mine hands and my feete. <sup>17</sup>I may tell all my bones: yet they beholde, and looke vpon me. <sup>18</sup>They part my garments among them, and cast lottes vpon my vesture. <sup>19</sup>But be thou not farre off, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me. <sup>20</sup>Deliuer my soule from the sword: my desolate soule from the power of the dogge. <sup>21</sup>Saue me from the lyons mouth, and answer me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes. <sup>22</sup>I wil declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the middes of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying, <sup>23</sup>Prayse the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iaakob, and feare ye him, all the seede of Israel. <sup>24</sup>For he hath not despised nor abhorred ye affliction of the poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard. <sup>25</sup>My prayse shalbe of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes will I perfourme before them that feare him. <sup>26</sup>The poore shall eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall prayse him: your heart shall liue for euer. <sup>27</sup>All the endes of the worlde shall remember themselues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kinreds of the nations shall worship before thee. <sup>28</sup>For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations. <sup>29</sup>All they that be fat in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that go downe into the dust, shall bowe before him, euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule. <sup>30</sup>Their seede shall serue him: it shalbe counted vnto the Lord for a generation. <sup>31</sup>They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnesse vnto a people that shall be borne, because he hath done it.

CHAPTER 23

CHAPTER 24

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. The earth is the Lordes, and all that therein is: the worlde and they that dwell therein. <sup>2</sup>For he hath founded it vpon the seas: and established it vpon the floods. <sup>3</sup>Who shall ascende into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stand in his holy place? <sup>4</sup>Euen he that hath innocent handes, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his minde vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully. <sup>5</sup>He shall receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousnesse from the God of his saluation. <sup>6</sup>This is the generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iaakob. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Lift vp your heads ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euerlasting doores, and the King of glory shall come in. <sup>8</sup>Who is this King of glorie? the Lord, strong and mightie, euen the Lord mightie in battell. <sup>9</sup>Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and lift vp your selues, ye euerlasting doores, and the King of glorie shall come in. <sup>10</sup>Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hostes, he is the King of glorie. Selah.

CHAPTER 25

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. Unto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule. <sup>2</sup>My God, I trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer mee. <sup>3</sup>So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause. <sup>4</sup>Shew me thy waies, O Lord, and teache me thy paths. <sup>5</sup>Leade me forth in thy trueth, and teache me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day. <sup>6</sup>Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue beene for euer. <sup>7</sup>Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord. <sup>8</sup>Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teache sinners in the way. <sup>9</sup>Them that be meeke, will hee guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way. <sup>10</sup>All the pathes of the Lord are mercie and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies. <sup>11</sup>For thy Names sake, O Lord, be merciful vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great. <sup>12</sup>What man is he that feareth the Lord? him wil he teache the way that hee shall chuse. <sup>13</sup>His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seede shall inherite the land. <sup>14</sup>The secrete of the Lord is reueiled to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding. <sup>15</sup>Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he will bring my feete out of the net. <sup>16</sup>Turne thy face vnto mee, and haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate and poore. <sup>17</sup>The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: drawe me out of my troubles. <sup>18</sup>Looke vpon mine affliction and my trauel, and forgie all my sinnes. <sup>19</sup>Beholde mine enemies, for they are manie, and they hate me with cruell hatred. <sup>20</sup>Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee. <sup>21</sup>Let mine vp rightnes and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee. <sup>22</sup>Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

CHAPTER 26

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. Judge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocency: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide. <sup>2</sup>Proue me, O Lord, and trie mee: examine my reines, and mine heart. <sup>3</sup>For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth. <sup>4</sup>I haue not hanted with vaine persons, neither kept companie with the dissemblers. <sup>5</sup>I haue hated the assemblie of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked. <sup>6</sup>I will wash mine handes in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar, <sup>7</sup>That I may declare with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and set foorth all thy wonderous woorkes. <sup>8</sup>O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth. <sup>9</sup>Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloodie men: <sup>10</sup>In whose handes is wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes. <sup>11</sup>But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me therefore, and be mercifull vnto me. <sup>12</sup>My foote standeth in vprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shall I be afraide? <sup>2</sup>When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon mee to eate vp my flesh; they stumbled and fell. <sup>3</sup>Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart should not be afraide: though warre be raised against me, I will trust in this. <sup>4</sup>One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple. <sup>5</sup>For in the time of trouble hee shall hide mee in his Tabernacle: in the secrete place of his pauillion shall he hide me, and set me vp vpon a rocke. <sup>6</sup>And now shall hee lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies rounde about mee: therefore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I wil sing and praise the Lord. <sup>7</sup>Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I crie: haue mercie also vpon mee and heare mee. <sup>8</sup>When thou saidest, Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face. <sup>9</sup>Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruau away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake mee, O God of my saluation. <sup>10</sup>Though my father and my mother shoulde forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp. <sup>11</sup>Teache mee thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies. <sup>12</sup>Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly. <sup>13</sup>I should haue fainted, except I had beleued to see the goodnes of the Lord in the land of the liuing. <sup>14</sup>Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

CHAPTER 28

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. Unto thee, O Lord, doe I crie: O my strength, be not deafe toward mee, lest, if thou answer me not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit. <sup>2</sup>Hear the voyce of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I holde vp mine handes toward thine holy Oracle. <sup>3</sup>Drawe mee not away with the wicked, and with the woorkers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts. <sup>4</sup>Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense them after the woorkes of their handes: render them their reward. <sup>5</sup>For they regarde not the woorkes of the Lord, nor the operation of his handes: therefore breake them downe, and builde them not vp. <sup>6</sup>Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions. <sup>7</sup>The Lord is my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therfore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him. <sup>8</sup>The Lord is thy strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed. <sup>9</sup>Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

Lord is vpon the great waters. <sup>4</sup>The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious. <sup>5</sup>The voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon. <sup>6</sup>He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and Shirion like a yong vnicone. <sup>7</sup>The voice of the Lord deuideth the flames of sire. <sup>8</sup>The voice of the Lord maketh the wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of Kadesh to tremble. <sup>9</sup>The voice of the Lord maketh the hindes to calue, and discovereth the forests: therefore in his Temple doth euery man speake of his glory. <sup>10</sup>The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer. <sup>11</sup>The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

CHAPTER 30

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme or song of the dedication of the house of David. I will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted mee, and hast not made my foe to reioyce ouer me. <sup>2</sup>O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me. <sup>3</sup>O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit. <sup>4</sup>Sing praises vnto the Lord, ye his Saintes, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holinesse. <sup>5</sup>For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning. <sup>6</sup>And in my prosperitie I sayde, I shall neuer be moued. <sup>7</sup>For thou Lord of thy goodnes hadest made my mountaine to stande strong: but thou didest hide thy face, and I was troubled. <sup>8</sup>Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and praied to my Lord. <sup>9</sup>What profite is there in my boasting, when I go downe to the pit? shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shall it declare thy trueth? <sup>10</sup>Hear, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper. <sup>11</sup>Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded mee with gladnesse. <sup>12</sup>Therefore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

CHAPTER 31

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. In thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let mee neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousnesse. <sup>2</sup>Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer mee: be vnto me a stronge rocke, and an house of defence to saue me. <sup>3</sup>For thou art my rocke and my fortress: therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me. <sup>4</sup>Drawe mee out of the nette, that they haue layde priuilie for mee: for thou art my strength. <sup>5</sup>Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of trueth. <sup>6</sup>I haue hated them that giue them selues to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord. <sup>7</sup>I wil be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities. <sup>8</sup>And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of the enimie, but hast set my feete at large. <sup>9</sup>Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule and my bellie are consumed with griefe. <sup>10</sup>For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed. <sup>11</sup>I was a reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in the streete, fled from me. <sup>12</sup>I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell. <sup>13</sup>For I haue heard the rayling of great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against mee, and consulted to take my life. <sup>14</sup>But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God. <sup>15</sup>My times are in thine hande: deliuer mee from the hande of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me. <sup>16</sup>Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruau, and saue me through thy mercie. <sup>17</sup>Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion, and to silence in the graue. <sup>18</sup>Let the lying lips be made dumme, which cruelly, proudly and spitefully speake against the righteous. <sup>19</sup>Howe great is thy goodnesse, which thou hast layde vp for them, that feare thee! and done to them, that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men! <sup>20</sup>Thou doest hide them priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues. <sup>21</sup>Blessed be the Lord: for hee hath shewed his marueilous kindnesse toward me in a strong citie. <sup>22</sup>Though I said in mine haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voyce of my prayer, when I cried vnto thee. <sup>23</sup>Loue ye the Lord all his Saintes: for the Lord preserueth the faithfull, and rewardeth abundantly the proud doer. <sup>24</sup>All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and he shall establish your heart.

CHAPTER 32

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David to give instruction. Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiuen, and whose sinne is couered. <sup>2</sup>Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirite there is no guile. <sup>3</sup>When I helde my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day, <sup>4</sup>(For thine hand is heauie vpon me, day and night: and my moysture is turned into ye drought of summer. Selah) <sup>5</sup>Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Therefore shall euery one, that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a time, when thou mayest be founde: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come neere him. <sup>7</sup>Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou compassest me about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah. <sup>8</sup>I will instruct thee, and teache thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye. <sup>9</sup>Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridle, least they come neere thee. <sup>10</sup>Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compasse him. <sup>11</sup>Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpriight in heart.

<sup>1</sup>Reioice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it becommeth vpriight men to be thankfull. <sup>2</sup>Prayse the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viole and instrument of ten strings. <sup>3</sup>Sing vnto him a newe song: sing cheerefully with a loude voyce. <sup>4</sup>For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithfull. <sup>5</sup>He loueth righteousness and iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>By the worde of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth. <sup>7</sup>He gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in his treasures. <sup>8</sup>Let all the earth feare the Lord: let al them that dwell in the world, feare him. <sup>9</sup>For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it stood. <sup>10</sup>The Lord breaketh the counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuices of the people. <sup>11</sup>The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages. <sup>12</sup>Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Lord: euen the people that he hath chosen for his inheritance. <sup>13</sup>The Lord looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men. <sup>14</sup>From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth. <sup>15</sup>He facioneth their hearts euery one, and vnderstandeth all their workes. <sup>16</sup>The King is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength. <sup>17</sup>A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength. <sup>18</sup>Beholde, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercie, <sup>19</sup>To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine. <sup>20</sup>Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shilde. <sup>21</sup>Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name. <sup>22</sup>Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behaiour before Abimelech, who droue him away, and he departed. I will alway giue thanks vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually. <sup>2</sup>My soule shall glory in the Lord: the humble shall heare it, and be glad. <sup>3</sup>Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together. <sup>4</sup>I sought the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my feare. <sup>5</sup>They shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying, <sup>6</sup>This poore man cryed, and the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles. <sup>7</sup>The Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them. <sup>8</sup>Taste ye and see, howe gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him. <sup>9</sup>Feare the Lord, ye his Saintes: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him. <sup>10</sup>The Lyons doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seeke the Lord, shall want nothing that is good. <sup>11</sup>Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teache you the feare of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>What man is he, that desireth life, and loueth long dayes for to see good? <sup>13</sup>Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips, that they speake no guile. <sup>14</sup>Eschewe euill and doe good: seeke peace and follow after it. <sup>15</sup>The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crie. <sup>16</sup>But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth. <sup>17</sup>The righteous crie, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles. <sup>18</sup>The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in Spirite. <sup>19</sup>Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all. <sup>20</sup>He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken. <sup>21</sup>But malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish. <sup>22</sup>The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none, that trust in him, shall perish.

CHAPTER 35

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of Dauid. Pleade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me. <sup>2</sup>Lay hand vpon the shilde and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe. <sup>3</sup>Bring out also the speare and stop the way against them, that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation. <sup>4</sup>Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt. <sup>5</sup>Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them. <sup>6</sup>Let their way be darke and slipperie: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them. <sup>7</sup>For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule. <sup>8</sup>Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, and let his net, that he hath laid priuilie, take him: let him fall into the same destruction. <sup>9</sup>Then my soule shalbe ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation. <sup>10</sup>All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is too strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him! <sup>11</sup>Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knewe not. <sup>12</sup>They rewarded me euill for good, to haue spoyled my soule. <sup>13</sup>Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and my praier was turned vpon my bosome. <sup>14</sup>I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother. <sup>15</sup>But in mine aduersitie they reioiced, and gathered them selues together: the abiects assembled themselves against me, and knewe not: they tare me and ceased not, <sup>16</sup>With the false skoffers at bankets, gnashing their teeth against me. <sup>17</sup>Lord, how long wilt thou beholde this? deliuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions. <sup>18</sup>So will I giue thee thanks in a great Congregation: I will praise thee among much people. <sup>19</sup>Let not them that are mine enemies, vnjustly reioyce ouer mee, neyther let them winke with the eye, that hate mee without a cause. <sup>20</sup>For they speake not as friendes: but they imagine deceitfull wordes against the quiet of the lande. <sup>21</sup>And they gaped on mee with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, our eye hath seene. <sup>22</sup>Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord. <sup>23</sup>Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord. <sup>24</sup>Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteousness, and let them not reioyce ouer mee. <sup>25</sup>Let them not say in their hearts, O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, We haue deuoured him. <sup>26</sup>Let them bee confounded, and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselves against me. <sup>27</sup>But let them be ioyful and glad, that loue my righteousness: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the prosperitie of his seruant. <sup>28</sup>And my tongue shall vtter thy righteousness, and thy praise euery day.

of thy wings. <sup>8</sup>They shall be satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuier of thy pleasures. <sup>9</sup>For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light. <sup>10</sup>Extend thy louing kindnes vnto them that knowe thee, and thy righteousness vnto them that are vpriight in heart. <sup>11</sup>Let not ye foote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of ye wicked men moue me. <sup>12</sup>There they are fallen that worke iniquity: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

CHAPTER 37

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. Fret not thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers. <sup>2</sup>For they shall soone bee cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe. <sup>3</sup>Trust thou in the Lord and do good: dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly. <sup>4</sup>And delite thy selfe in the Lord, and hee shall giue thee thine hearts desire. <sup>5</sup>Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe. <sup>6</sup>And he shall bring forth thy 223imself223sness as the light, and thy iudgement as the 223imself day. <sup>7</sup>Waite patiently vpon the Lord and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe. <sup>8</sup>Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe also to doe euill. <sup>9</sup>For euill doers shalbe cut off, and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land. <sup>10</sup>Therefore yet a 223imself while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found. <sup>11</sup>But meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their delite in the multitude of peace. <sup>12</sup>The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him. <sup>13</sup>But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his day is I. <sup>14</sup>The wicked haue drawn their sworde, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needie, and to slay such as be of vpriight conuersation. <sup>15</sup>But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shalbe broken. <sup>16</sup>A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie. <sup>17</sup>For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men. <sup>18</sup>The Lord knoweth the 223ims of vpriight men, and their inheritance shall bee perpetuall. <sup>19</sup>They shall not be confounded in the perilous time, and in the daies of famine they shall haue ynough. <sup>20</sup>But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the fatte of lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away. <sup>21</sup>The wicked boroweth and payeth not againe. But the righteous is mercifull, and giueth. <sup>22</sup>For such as be blessed of God, shall inherite the lande, and they that be cursed of him, shalbe cut off. <sup>23</sup>The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way. <sup>24</sup>Though he fall, hee shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand. <sup>25</sup>I haue beene yong, and am olde: yet I sawe neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seede begging bread. <sup>26</sup>But hee is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seede enioyeth the blessing. <sup>27</sup>Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer. <sup>28</sup>For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saintes: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off. <sup>29</sup>The righteous men shall inherit the lande, and dwell therein for euer. <sup>30</sup>The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will talke of iudgement. <sup>31</sup>For the Lawe of his God is in his heart, and his steppes shall not slide. <sup>32</sup>The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him. <sup>33</sup>But the Lord wil not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is iudged. <sup>34</sup>Waite thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherite the lande: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see. <sup>35</sup>I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading 223imself like a greene bay tree. <sup>36</sup>Yet he passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be founde. <sup>37</sup>Marke the vpriight man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace. <sup>38</sup>But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, and the ende of the wicked shall bee cut off. <sup>39</sup>But the saluation of the righteous men shalbe of the Lord: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble. <sup>40</sup>For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of Dauid for remembrance. O Lord, rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. <sup>2</sup>For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me. <sup>3</sup>There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my sinne. <sup>4</sup>For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weightie burden they are too heauie for me. <sup>5</sup>My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnes. <sup>6</sup>I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe mourning all the day. <sup>7</sup>For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh. <sup>8</sup>I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very grieve of mine heart. <sup>9</sup>Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee. <sup>10</sup>Mine heart panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne. <sup>11</sup>My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand a farre off. <sup>12</sup>They also, that seeke after my life, laye snares, and they that go about to do me euil, talke wicked things and imagine deceite continually. <sup>13</sup>But I as a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth. <sup>14</sup>Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes. <sup>15</sup>For on thee, O Lord, do I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God. <sup>16</sup>For I said, Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for when my foote slippeth, they extol themselues against me. <sup>17</sup>Surely I am ready to halte, and my sorow is euer before me. <sup>18</sup>When I declare my paine, and am sory for my sinne, <sup>19</sup>Then mine enemies are alieue and are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are many. <sup>20</sup>They also, that rewarde euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I follow goodnesse. <sup>21</sup>Forsake me not, O Lord: be not thou farre from me, my God. <sup>22</sup>Haste thee to helpe mee, O my Lord, my saluation.

CHAPTER 39

<sup>1</sup>To the excellent musician Ieduthun. I thought, I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth brided, while the wicked is in my sight. <sup>2</sup>I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silece euen from good, and my sorow was more stirred. <sup>3</sup>Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fire kindeled, and I spake with my tongue, saying, <sup>4</sup>Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee knowe howe long I haue to liue. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them. <sup>7</sup>And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee. <sup>8</sup>Deliuier me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish. <sup>9</sup>I should haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because thou didest it. <sup>10</sup>Take thy plague away from mee: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand. <sup>11</sup>When thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a mothe makest his beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah. <sup>12</sup>Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a strager with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers. <sup>13</sup>Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, before I go hence and be not

CHAPTER 40

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. I Waited paciently for the Lord, and he inclined vnto me, and heard my cry. <sup>2</sup>Hee brought mee also out of the horrible pit, out of the myrie clay, and set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings. <sup>3</sup>And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lyes. <sup>5</sup>O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse. <sup>6</sup>Sacrifice and offering thou didest not desire: (for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sinne offering hast thou not required. <sup>7</sup>Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the booke it is written of me, <sup>8</sup>I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Lawe is within mine heart. <sup>9</sup>I haue declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lippes: O Lord, thou knowest. <sup>10</sup>I haue not hidde thy righteousness within mine heart, but I haue declared thy trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation. <sup>11</sup>Withdraw not thou thy tender mercie from mee, O Lord: let thy mercie and thy trueth alway preserue me. <sup>12</sup>For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number then the heares of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me. <sup>13</sup>Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me. <sup>14</sup>Let them be confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroye it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt. <sup>15</sup>Let them be destroyed for a rewarde of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha. <sup>16</sup>Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them, that loue thy saluation, say alway, The Lord be prayseed. <sup>17</sup>Though I be poore and needie, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no taryng.

CHAPTER 41

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid. Blessed is he that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in ye time of trouble. <sup>2</sup>The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliuie: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies. <sup>3</sup>The Lord wil strengthen him vpon ye bed of sorow: thou hast turned al his bed in his sicknes. <sup>4</sup>Therefore I saide, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee. <sup>5</sup>Mine enemies speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish? <sup>6</sup>And if hee come to see mee, hee speaketh lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it. <sup>7</sup>All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt. <sup>8</sup>A mischief is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shall no more rise. <sup>9</sup>Yea, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon mee, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them. <sup>11</sup>By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemy doth not triumph against me. <sup>12</sup>And as for me, thou vpholdest me in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy face for euer. <sup>13</sup>Blessed be the Lord God of Israel worlde without ende. So be it, euen so be it.

CHAPTER 42

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. As the harte brayeth for the riuers of water, so panteth my soule after thee, O God. <sup>2</sup>My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God? <sup>3</sup>My teares haue bin my meate day and night, while they dayly say vnto me, Where is thy God? <sup>4</sup>When I remembered these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the House of God with the voyce of singing, and prayse, as a multitude that keepeth a feast. <sup>5</sup>Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence. <sup>6</sup>My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee, from the land of Iorden, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar. <sup>7</sup>One deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me. <sup>8</sup>The Lord will graunt his louing kindnesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life. <sup>9</sup>I wil say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? why goe I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me? <sup>10</sup>My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproch me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God? <sup>11</sup>Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe, and my God.

CHAPTER 43

<sup>1</sup>Judge me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmercifull people: deliuer mee from the deceitfull and wicked man. <sup>2</sup>For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put me away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me? <sup>3</sup>Sende thy light and thy truth: let them leade mee: let them bring mee vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles. <sup>4</sup>Then wil I go vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe wil I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God. <sup>5</sup>Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my present helpe, and my God.

CHAPTER 44

CHAPTER 45

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Shoshannim a song of love to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah. Mine heart will vtter forth a good matter: I wil intreat in my workes of the King: my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer. <sup>2</sup>Thou art fayrer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer. <sup>3</sup>Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to wit, thy worship and thy glory, <sup>4</sup>And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the worde of truth and of meekenes and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things. <sup>5</sup>Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the Kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee. <sup>6</sup>Thy throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousness. <sup>7</sup>Thou louest righteousness, and hatest wickednesse, because God, euen thy God hath anoynted thee with the oyle of gladnes aboue thy fellows. <sup>8</sup>All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and cassia, when thou comest out of the yuorie palaces, where they haue made thee glad. <sup>9</sup>Kings daughters were among thine honorable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir. <sup>10</sup>Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house. <sup>11</sup>So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him. <sup>12</sup>And the daughter of Tyrus with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents. <sup>13</sup>The Kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of broyred golde. <sup>14</sup>She shalbe brought vnto the King in raiment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee. <sup>15</sup>With ioy and gladnes shall they be brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace. <sup>16</sup>In steade of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth. <sup>17</sup>I will make thy Name to be remembered through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee world without ende.

CHAPTER 46

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth upon Alamothe a song committed to the sonnes of Korah. God is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found. <sup>2</sup>Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountaines fall into the middes of the sea. <sup>3</sup>Though the waters thereof rage and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Yet there is a Riuer, whose streames shall make glad the citie of God: euen the Sanctuarie of the Tabernacles of the most High. <sup>5</sup>God is in the middes of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very earely. <sup>6</sup>When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were moued, God thundred, and the earth melted. <sup>7</sup>The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Come, and behold the workes of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth. <sup>9</sup>He maketh warres to cease vnto the endes of the world: he breaketh the bowe and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire. <sup>10</sup>Be still and knowe that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth. <sup>11</sup>The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iaakob is our refuge. Selah.

CHAPTER 47

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. All people clap your hands: sing loude vnto God with a ioyfull voyce. <sup>2</sup>For the Lord is high, and terrible: a great King ouer all the earth. <sup>3</sup>He hath subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete. <sup>4</sup>Hee hath chosen our inheritance for vs: euen the glory of Iaakob whom he loued. Selah. <sup>5</sup>God is gone vp with triumph, euen the Lord, with the sound of the trumpet. <sup>6</sup>Sing prayses to God, sing prayses: sing prayses vnto our King, sing prayses. <sup>7</sup>For God is the King of all the earth: sing prayses euery one that hath vnderstanding. <sup>8</sup>God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne. <sup>9</sup>The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: he is greatly to be exalted.

CHAPTER 48

<sup>1</sup>A song or Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. Great is the Lord, and greatly to be prayseed, in the Citie of our God, euen vpon his holy Mountaine. <sup>2</sup>Mount Zion, lying Northwarde, is faire in situation: it is the ioy of the whole earth, and the Citie of the great King. <sup>3</sup>In the palaces thereof God is knownen for a refuge. <sup>4</sup>For lo, the Kings were gathered, and went together. <sup>5</sup>When they sawe it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe. <sup>6</sup>Feare came there vpon them, and sorowe, as vpon a woman in trauaile. <sup>7</sup>As with an East winde thou breakest the shippes of Tarshish, so were they destroyed. <sup>8</sup>As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the citie of the Lord of hostes, in the Citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah. <sup>9</sup>We waite for thy louing kindnes, O God, in the middes of thy Temple. <sup>10</sup>O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy prayse vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousnes. <sup>11</sup>Let mount Zion reioyce, and the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements. <sup>12</sup>Compass about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towres thereof. <sup>13</sup>Marke well the wall thereof: beholde her towres, that ye may tell your posteritie. <sup>14</sup>For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shall be our guide vnto the death.

CHAPTER 49

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. Heare this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world, <sup>2</sup>As well lowe as hie, both rich and poore. <sup>3</sup>My mouth shall speake of wisdom, and the meditation of mine heart is of knowledge. <sup>4</sup>I will incline mine eare to a parable, and vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore should I feare in the euil dayes, when iniquitie shall compass me about, as at mine heeles? <sup>6</sup>They trust in their goods, and boast them selues in the multitude of their riches. <sup>7</sup>Yet a man can by no meanes redeeme his brother: he can not giue his ransome to God, <sup>8</sup>(So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for euer) <sup>9</sup>That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue. <sup>10</sup>For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others. <sup>11</sup>Yet they thinke, their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and call their lands by their names. <sup>12</sup>But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beastes that die. <sup>13</sup>This their way vttereth their foolishnes: yet their posteritie delite in their talke. Selah. <sup>14</sup>Like sheepe they lie in graue: death deuoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the morning: for their beautie shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue. <sup>15</sup>But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will receiue me. Selah. <sup>16</sup>Be not thou afraide when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased. <sup>17</sup>For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descende after him. <sup>18</sup>For while he liued, he reioyced himselfe: and men will prayse thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe. <sup>19</sup>He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not liue for euer. <sup>20</sup>Man is in honour, and vnderstandeth not: he is like to beastes that perish.

CHAPTER 50

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of Asaph. The God of Gods, euen the Lord hath spoken and called the earth from the rising vp of the sunne vnto the going downe thereof. <sup>2</sup>Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beautie, hath God shined. <sup>3</sup>Our God shall come and shall not keepe silence: a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mightie tempest shall be moued round about him. <sup>4</sup>Hee shall call the heauen aboue, and the earth to iudge his people. <sup>5</sup>Gather my Saints together vnto me, those that make a couenant with me with sacrifice. <sup>6</sup>And the heauens shall declare his righteousnes: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Heare, O my people, and I wil speake: heare, O Israel, and I wil testifie vnto thee: for I am God, euen thy God. <sup>8</sup>I wil not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not bene continually before me. <sup>9</sup>I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy foldes. <sup>10</sup>For all the beastes of the forest are mine, and the beastes on a thousand mountaines. <sup>11</sup>I knowe all the foules on the mountaines: and the wilde beastes of the field are mine. <sup>12</sup>If I bee hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is. <sup>13</sup>Will I eate the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goates? <sup>14</sup>Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High, <sup>15</sup>And call vpon me in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me. <sup>16</sup>But vnto the wicked said God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, <sup>17</sup>Seeing thou hatest to bee reformed, and hast cast my wordes behinde thee? <sup>18</sup>For when thou seest a thiefe, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers. <sup>19</sup>Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgest deceit. <sup>20</sup>Thou sittest, and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne. <sup>21</sup>These things hast thou done, and I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and set them in order before thee. <sup>22</sup>Oh cosider this, ye that forget God, least I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you. <sup>23</sup>He that offereth praise, shall glorifie mee: and to him, that disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

CHAPTER 51

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David, when the Prophet Nathan came unto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba. Have mercie vpon me, O God, according to thy louing kindnes: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities. <sup>2</sup>Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne. <sup>3</sup>For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euer before me. <sup>4</sup>Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudgest. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I was borne in iniquitie, and in sinne hath my mother conceived me. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, thou louest trueth in the inwarde affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart. <sup>7</sup>Purge me with hyssope, and I shalbe cleane: wash me, and I shalbe whiter then snowe. <sup>8</sup>Make me to heare ioye and gladnes, that the bones, which thou hast broken, may reioyce. <sup>9</sup>Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities. <sup>10</sup>Create in mee a cleane heart, O God, and renue a right spirit within me. <sup>11</sup>Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirit from me. <sup>12</sup>Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish me with thy free Spirit. <sup>13</sup>Then shall I teache thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shalbe conuerted vnto thee. <sup>14</sup>Deliuer me from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousnes. <sup>15</sup>Open thou my lippes, O Lord, and my mouth shall shewe foorth thy praise. <sup>16</sup>For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delitest not in burnt offering. <sup>17</sup>The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. <sup>18</sup>Bee fauourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: builde the walles of Ierusalem. <sup>19</sup>Then shalt thou accept ye sacrifices of righteousness, euen the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calues vpon thine altar.

CHAPTER 52

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and saide to him, Dauid is come to the house of Abimelech. Why boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O man of power? the louing kindenesse of God indureth dayly. <sup>2</sup>Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe rasor, that cutteth deceitfully. <sup>3</sup>Thou doest loue euill more then good, and lies more then to speake the truth. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Thou louest all wordes that may destroye, O deceitfull tongue! <sup>5</sup>So shall God destroy thee for euer: he shall take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and roote thee out of ye land of the liuing. Selah. <sup>6</sup>The righteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying, <sup>7</sup>Beholde the man that tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, and put his strength in his malice. <sup>8</sup>But I shall bee like a greene oliue tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercie of God for euer and euer. <sup>9</sup>I will alway praise thee, for that thou hast done this, and I will hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

CHAPTER 53

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Mahalath. A Psalme of David to give instruction. The fooles hath saide in his heart, There is no God. they haue corrupted and done abominable wickednes: there is none that doeth good. <sup>2</sup>God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God. <sup>3</sup>Euery one is gone backe: they are altogether corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one. <sup>4</sup>Doe not the workers of iniquitie knowe that they eate vp my people as they eate bread? they call not vpon God. <sup>5</sup>There they were afraide for feare, where no feare was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that besieged thee: thou hast put them to confusion, because God hath cast them off. <sup>6</sup>Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when God turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iacob shall reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

CHAPTER 54

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David, to give instruction. When the Ziphims came and said unto Saul, Is not David hid among us? Save mee, O God, by thy Name, and by thy power iudge me. <sup>2</sup>O God, heare my prayer: hearken vnto the wordes of my mouth. <sup>3</sup>For strangers are risen vp against me, and tyrants seeke my soule: they haue not set God before them. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, God is mine helper: the Lord is with them that vpholde my soule. <sup>5</sup>He shall rewarde euill vnto mine enemies: Oh cut them off in thy truth! <sup>6</sup>Then I will sacrifice freely vnto thee: I wil praise thy Name, O Lord, because it is good. <sup>7</sup>For he hath deliuered me out of al trouble, and mine eye hath seene my desire vpon mine enemies.

CHAPTER 55

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David to give instruction. Heare my prayer, O God, and hide not thy selfe from my supplication. <sup>2</sup>Hearken vnto me, and answere me: I mourne in my prayer, and make a noyse, <sup>3</sup>For the voyce of the enemy, and for the vexation of ye wicked, because they haue brought iniquitie vpon me, and furiously hate me. <sup>4</sup>Mine heart trembleth within mee, and the terrours of death are fallen vpon me. <sup>5</sup>Feare and trembling are come vpon mee, and an horrible feare hath couered me. <sup>6</sup>And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove: then would I flie away and rest. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I woulde take my flight farre off, and lodge in the wilderness. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Hee would make haste for my deliuerance from the stormie winde and tempest. <sup>9</sup>Destroy, O Lord, and deuide their tongues: for I haue seene crueltie and strife in the cite. <sup>10</sup>Day and night they goe about it vpon the walles thereof: both iniquitie and mischief are in the middes of it. <sup>11</sup>Wickednes is in the middes thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streetes. <sup>12</sup>Surely mine enemy did not defame mee: for I could haue borne it: neither did mine aduersarie exalt himselfe against mee: for I would haue hid me from him. <sup>13</sup>But it was thou, O man, euen my companion, my guide and my familiar: <sup>14</sup>Which delited in consulting together, and went into the House of God as companions. <sup>15</sup>Let death sense vpon them: let them goe downe quicke into the graue: for wickednes is in their dwellings, euen in the middes of them. <sup>16</sup>But I will call vnto God, and the Lord will saue me. <sup>17</sup>Euening and morning, and at noone will I pray, and make a noyse, and he wil heare my voice. <sup>18</sup>He hath deliuered my soule in peace from the battel, that was against me: for many were with me. <sup>19</sup>God shall heare and afflict them, euen hee that reigneth of olde, Selah. because they haue no changes, therefore they feare not God. <sup>20</sup>Hee layed his hande vpon such, as be at peace with him, and he brake his couenant. <sup>21</sup>The wordes of his mouth were softer then butter, yet warre was in his heart: his words were more gentle then oyle, yet they were swordes. <sup>22</sup>Cast thy burden vpon the Lord, and hee shall nourish thee: he wil not suffer the righteous to fall for euer. <sup>23</sup>And thou, O God, shalt bring them downe into the pitte of corruption: the bloudie, and deceitfull men shall not liue halfe their dayes: but I will trust in thee.

CHAPTER 56

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David on Michtam, concerning the dumme doue in a farre country, when the Philistims tooke him in Gath. Be mercifull vnto me, O God, for man would swallow me vp: he fighteth continually and vexeth me. <sup>2</sup>Mine enemies would dayly swallowe mee vp: for many fight against me, O thou most High. <sup>3</sup>When I was afraide, I trusted in thee. <sup>4</sup>I will reioyce in God, because of his word, I trust in God, and will not feare what flesh can doe vnto me. <sup>5</sup>Mine owne wordes grieue me dayly: all their thoughtes are against me to doe me hurt. <sup>6</sup>They gather together, and keepe them selues close: they marke my steps, because they waite for my soule. <sup>7</sup>They thinke they shall escape by iniquitie: O God, cast these people downe in thine anger. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast counted my wandrings: put my teares into thy bottel: are they not in thy register? <sup>9</sup>When I cry, then mine enemies shall turne backe: this I know, for God is with me. <sup>10</sup>I will reioyce in God because of his worde: in the Lord wil I reioyce because of his worde. <sup>11</sup>In God doe I trust: I will not be afraide what man can doe vnto me. <sup>12</sup>Thy vowes are vpon me, O God: I will render prayes vnto thee. <sup>13</sup>For thou hast deliuered my soule from death, and also my feete from falling, that I may walke before God in the light of the liuing.

CHAPTER 57

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. When he fled from Saul in the cave. Have mercie vpon me, O God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadowe of thy wings wil I trust, till these afflictions ouerpasse. <sup>2</sup>I will call vnto the most high God, euen to the God, that performeth his promise toward me. <sup>3</sup>He will send from heauen, and saue me from the reproofe of him that would swallowe me. Selah. God wil send his mercy, and his truth. <sup>4</sup>My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth are speares and arrowes, and their tongue a sharpe sworde. <sup>5</sup>Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth. <sup>6</sup>They haue layd a net for my steps: my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the mids of it. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Mine heart is prepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue prayse. <sup>8</sup>Awake my tongue, awake viole and harpe: I wil awake early. <sup>9</sup>I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations. <sup>10</sup>For thy mercie is great vnto the heauens, and thy truth vnto the cloudes. <sup>11</sup>Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

the waters, let them passe away: when hee shooteth his arrowes, let them be as broken. <sup>8</sup>Let them consume like a snayle that melteth, and like the vntimely fruite of a woman, that hath not seene the sunne. <sup>9</sup>As raw flesh before your pots feelee the fire of thornes: so let him cary them away as with a whirlewinde in his wrath. <sup>10</sup>The righteous shall reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feete in the blood of the wicked. <sup>11</sup>And men shall say, Verily there is fruite for the righteous: doubtlesse there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

CHAPTER 59

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of David on Michtam. When Saul sent and they did watch the house to kill him. O my God, deliuer mee from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against me. <sup>2</sup>Deliver me from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloody men. <sup>3</sup>For loe, they haue layd waite for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against me, not for mine offence, nor for my sinne, O Lord. <sup>4</sup>They runne and prepare themselves without a fault on my part: arise therefore to assist me, and beholde. <sup>5</sup>Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel awake to visit all the heathen, and be not merciful vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah. <sup>6</sup>They goe to and from in the euening: they barke like dogs, and goe about the citie. <sup>7</sup>Behold, they brag in their talke, and swords are in their lips: for, Who, say they, doeth heare? <sup>8</sup>But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen. <sup>9</sup>He is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence. <sup>10</sup>My mercifull God will preuent me: God wil let me see my desire vpon mine enemies. <sup>11</sup>Slay them not, least my people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield, <sup>12</sup>For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be taken in their pride, euen for their periurie and lies, that they speake. <sup>13</sup>Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that they be no more: and let them knowe that God ruleth in Iakob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah. <sup>14</sup>And in the euening they shall go to and from, and barke like dogs, and go about the citie. <sup>15</sup>They shall runne here and there for meate: and surely they shall not be satisfied, though they tary all night. <sup>16</sup>But I wil sing of thy power, and will prayse thy mercy in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble. <sup>17</sup>Vnto thee, O my Strength, wil I sing: for God is my defence, and my mercifull God.

CHAPTER 60

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth vpon Shushan Eduth, or Michtam. A Psalme of David to teach. When he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against Aram Zobah, when Joab returned and slew twelve thousand Edomites in the salt valley. O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast scattered vs, thou hast bene angry, turne againe vnto vs. <sup>2</sup>Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast shewed thy people heauy things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddines. <sup>4</sup>But now thou hast giuen a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy truth. Selah. <sup>5</sup>That thy beloued may be deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me. <sup>6</sup>God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I will reioyce: I shall deuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth. <sup>7</sup>Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iudah is my lawgiuer. <sup>8</sup>Moab shalbe my wash pot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: Palestina shew thy selfe ioyfull for me. <sup>9</sup>Who will leade me into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom? <sup>10</sup>Wilt not thou, O God, which hadest cast vs off, and didest not go forth, O God, with our armies? <sup>11</sup>Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man. <sup>12</sup>Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

CHAPTER 61

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of David. Heare my cry, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer. <sup>2</sup>From the endes of the earth will I crye vnto thee: when mine heart is opprest, bring me vpon the rocke that is higher then I. <sup>3</sup>For thou hast bene mine hope, and a strong tower against the enemy. <sup>4</sup>I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah. <sup>5</sup>For thou, O God, hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name. <sup>6</sup>Thou shalt giue the King a long life: his yeeres shalbe as many ages. <sup>7</sup>Hee shall dwell before God for euer: prepare mercie and faithfulness that they may preserue him. <sup>8</sup>So will I alway sing prayse vnto thy Name in performing dayly my vowes.

CHAPTER 62

<sup>1</sup>To the excellēt musician Ieduthun. A Psalme of David. Yet my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him commeth my saluation. <sup>2</sup>Yet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not much be moued. <sup>3</sup>How long wil ye imagine mischief against a man? ye shalbe all slaine: ye shalbe as a bowed wall, or as a wall shaken. <sup>4</sup>Yet they consult to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him. <sup>6</sup>Yet is hee my strength, and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be moued. <sup>7</sup>In God is my saluation and my glory, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust. <sup>8</sup>Trust in him alway, ye people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah. <sup>9</sup>Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie. <sup>10</sup>Trust not in oppression nor in robbrie: be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon. <sup>11</sup>God spake once or twice, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God, <sup>12</sup>And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou rewardest euery one according to his worke.

CHAPTER 63

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. When he was in the wilderness of Judah. O God, thou art my God, earely will I seeke thee: my soule thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drye land without water. <sup>2</sup>Thus I beholde thee as in the Sanctuarie, when I beholde thy power and thy glorie. <sup>3</sup>For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lippes shall prayse thee. <sup>4</sup>Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy name. <sup>5</sup>My soule shalbe satisfied, as with marowe and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lippes, <sup>6</sup>When I remember thee on my bedde, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches. <sup>7</sup>Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings wil I reioyce. <sup>8</sup>My soule cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me. <sup>9</sup>Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest partes of the earth. <sup>10</sup>They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall be a portion for foxes. <sup>11</sup>But the King shall reioyce in God, and all that swear by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lyes, shall be stopped.

CHAPTER 64

CHAPTER 65

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of David. O God, praise waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall the vowe be performed. <sup>2</sup>Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall all flesh come. <sup>3</sup>Wicked deedes haue preuailed against me: but thou wilt be mercifull vnto our transgressions. <sup>4</sup>Blessed is he, whom thou chusest and causest to come to thee: he shall dwell in thy courtes, and we shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holy Temple. <sup>5</sup>O God of our saluation, thou wilt answere vs with fearefull signes in thy righteousness, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the sea. <sup>6</sup>He stablisheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength. <sup>7</sup>He appeaseth the noyse of the seas and the noyse of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people. <sup>8</sup>They also, that dwell in the vttermost parts of the earth, shalbe afraide of thy signes: thou shalt make the East and the West to reioyce. <sup>9</sup>Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very riche: the Riuer of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for so thou appointest it. <sup>10</sup>Thou waterest abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou causest the raine to descende into the valleeies thereof: thou makest it soft with showres, and blessest the bud thereof. <sup>11</sup>Thou crownest ye yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steppes droppe fatnesse. <sup>12</sup>They drop vpon the pastures of the wilderness: and the hils shalbe compassed with gladnes. <sup>13</sup>The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleies also shalbe couered with corne: therefore they shoute for ioye, and sing.

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A song or Psalme. Reioice in God, all ye inhabitants of the earth. <sup>2</sup>Sing forth the glory of his name: make his praise glorious. <sup>3</sup>Say vnto God, Howe terrible art thou in thy workes! through the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be in subiection vnto thee. <sup>4</sup>All the worlde shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Come and beholde the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing towarde the sonnes of men. <sup>6</sup>He hath turned the Sea into drie land: they passe through the riuer on foote: there did we reioyce in him. <sup>7</sup>He ruleth the worlde with his power: his eyes beholde the nations: the rebellious shall not exalt them selues. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Praise our God, ye people, and make the voyce of his prayse to be heard. <sup>9</sup>Which holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slippe. <sup>10</sup>For thou, O God, hast proued vs, thou hast tryed vs as siluer is tryed. <sup>11</sup>Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and layed a strait chaine vpon our loynes. <sup>12</sup>Thou hast caused men to ryde ouer our heads: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a welthie place. <sup>13</sup>I will go into thine House with burnt offrings, and will pay thee my voves, <sup>14</sup>Which my lippes haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction. <sup>15</sup>I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullocks and goates. Selah. <sup>16</sup>Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule. <sup>17</sup>I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue. <sup>18</sup>If I regard wickednesse in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me. <sup>19</sup>But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer. <sup>20</sup>Praysed be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercie from me.

CHAPTER 67

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song. God be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and cause his face to shine among vs. Selah. <sup>2</sup>That they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy sauing health among all nations. <sup>3</sup>Let the people prayse thee, O God: let all the people prayse thee. <sup>4</sup>Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah. <sup>5</sup>Let the people prayse thee, O God: let all the people prayse thee. <sup>6</sup>Then shall the earth bring forth her increase, and God, euen our God shall blesse vs. <sup>7</sup>God shall blesse vs, and all the endes of the earth shall feare him.

CHAPTER 68

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of David. God will arise, and his enemies shalbe scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him. <sup>2</sup>As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God. <sup>3</sup>But the righteous shalbe glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioye. <sup>4</sup>Sing vnto God, and sing prayses vnto his name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name Iah, and reioyce before him. <sup>5</sup>He is a Father of the fatherlesse, and a Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation. <sup>6</sup>God maketh the solitarie to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in stocks: but the rebellious shall dwell in a dry land. <sup>7</sup>O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest through the wilderness, (Selah) <sup>8</sup>The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel. <sup>9</sup>Thou, O God, sendest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, and thou didest refresh it when it was wearie. <sup>10</sup>Thy Congregation dwelled therein: for thou, O God, hast of thy goodnesse prepared it for the poore. <sup>11</sup>The Lord gaue matter to the women to tell of the great armie. <sup>12</sup>Kings of the armies did flee: they did flee, and she that remained in the house, deuided the spoyle. <sup>13</sup>Though ye haue lien among pots, yet shall ye be as the winges of a doue that is couered with siluer, and whose fethers are like yelow golde. <sup>14</sup>When the Almighty scattered Kings in it, it was white as the snowe in Zalmon. <sup>15</sup>The mountaine of God is like the mountaine of Bashan: it is an high Mountaine, as mount Bashan. <sup>16</sup>Why leape ye, ye high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God deliteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer. <sup>17</sup>The charets of God are twentie thousande thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuarie of Sinai. <sup>18</sup>Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and receiued giftes for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there. <sup>19</sup>Praysed be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which ladeth vs dayly with benefites. Selah. <sup>20</sup>This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the issues of death. <sup>21</sup>Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hearie pate of him that walketh in his sinnes. <sup>22</sup>The Lord hath sayde, I will bring my people againe from Bashan: I will bring them againe from the depths of the Sea: <sup>23</sup>That thy foote may bee dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy dogges in the blood of the enemies, euen in it. <sup>24</sup>They haue scene, O God, thy goings, the goings of my God, and my King, which art in the Sanctuarie. <sup>25</sup>The singers went before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the maides playing with timbrels. <sup>26</sup>Praise yee God in the assemblies, and the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel. <sup>27</sup>There was litle Benjamin with their ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assemblie, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali. <sup>28</sup>Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that, which thou hast wrought in vs, <sup>29</sup>Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and Kings shall bring presents vnto thee. <sup>30</sup>Destroy the company of the spearmen, and multitude of the mightie bulles with the calues of the people, that tread vnder feete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delite in warre. <sup>31</sup>Then shall the princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall hast to stretche her hands vnto God. <sup>32</sup>Sing vnto God, O yee kingdomes of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah) <sup>33</sup>To him that rideth vpon ye most high heauens, which were from the beginning: beholde, he will send out by his voice a mightie sound. <sup>34</sup>Ascribe the power to God: for his maiestie is vpon Israel, and his strength is in the cloudes. <sup>35</sup>O God, thou art terrible out of thine holie places: the God of Israel is hee that giueth strength and power vnto the people: praised be God.

CHAPTER 69

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth vpon Shoshannim. A Psalme of David. Save mee, O God: for the waters are entred euen to my soule. <sup>2</sup>I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no staie is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me. <sup>3</sup>I am wearie of crying: my throte is drie: mine eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God. <sup>4</sup>They that hate mee without a cause, are moe then the heares of mine heade: they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies falsly, are mightie, so that I restored that which I tooke not. <sup>5</sup>O God, thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my fautes are not hid from thee. <sup>6</sup>Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for me: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through mee, O God of Israel. <sup>7</sup>For thy sake haue I suffred reproofe: shame hath couered my face. <sup>8</sup>I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes. <sup>9</sup>For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me. <sup>10</sup>I wept and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe. <sup>11</sup>I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them. <sup>12</sup>They that sate in the gate, spake of mee, and the drunkards sang of me. <sup>13</sup>But Lord, I make my praier vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation. <sup>14</sup>Deliuer mee out of the myre, that I sinke not: let me be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters. <sup>15</sup>Let not the water flood drowne mee, neither let the deepe swallowe me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me. <sup>16</sup>Heare me, O Lord, for thy louing kindnes is good: turne vnto me according to ye multitude of thy tender mercies. <sup>17</sup>And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me. <sup>18</sup>Draw neere vnto my soule and redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies. <sup>19</sup>Thou hast known my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee. <sup>20</sup>Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and I looked for some to haue pitie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none. <sup>21</sup>For they gaue me gall in my meate, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke. <sup>22</sup>Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine. <sup>23</sup>Let their eyes be blinded that they see not: and make their loynes alway to tremble. <sup>24</sup>Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them. <sup>25</sup>Let their habitation be voided, and let none dwell in their tents. <sup>26</sup>For they persecute him, whome thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorrowe of them, whome thou hast wounded. <sup>27</sup>Laie iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousness. <sup>28</sup>Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous. <sup>29</sup>When I am poore and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me. <sup>30</sup>I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thankesgiuing. <sup>31</sup>This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath hornes and hooves. <sup>32</sup>The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God, shalbe glad, and your heart shall liue. <sup>33</sup>For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners. <sup>34</sup>Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them. <sup>35</sup>For God will saue Zion, and builde the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there and haue it in possession. <sup>36</sup>The seede also of his seruants shall inherit it: and they that loue his name, shall dwel therein.

CHAPTER 70

<sup>1</sup>To him excellet. A Psalme of David to put in remembrance. O God, haste thee to deliuer mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord. <sup>2</sup>Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them bee turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt. <sup>3</sup>Let them be turned backe for a rewarde of their shame, which said, Aha, aha. <sup>4</sup>But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwaies, God be praised. <sup>5</sup>Nowe I am poore and needie: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no taryng.

CHAPTER 71

<sup>1</sup>In thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed. <sup>2</sup>Rescue mee and deliuer me in thy righteousness: incline thine eare vnto me and saue me. <sup>3</sup>Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou hast giuen commandement to saue me: for thou art my rocke, and my fortesse. <sup>4</sup>Deliuer mee, O my God, out of the hande of the wicked: out of the hande of the euill and cruell man. <sup>5</sup>For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, euen my trust from my youth. <sup>6</sup>Vpon thee haue I bene stayed from the wombe: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shalbe alwaies of thee. <sup>7</sup>I am become as it were a monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust. <sup>8</sup>Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy glory euery day. <sup>9</sup>Cast mee not off in the time of age: forsake me not when my strength faileth. <sup>10</sup>For mine enemies speake of mee, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, <sup>11</sup>Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him. <sup>12</sup>Goe not farre from me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me. <sup>13</sup>Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be couered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt. <sup>14</sup>But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more. <sup>15</sup>My mouth shall daily rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluation: for I knowe not the nomber. <sup>16</sup>I will goe forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousness, euen of thine onely. <sup>17</sup>O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wonderous workes, <sup>18</sup>Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and graie head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them, that shall come. <sup>19</sup>And thy righteousness, O God, I wil exalt on high: for thou hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee! <sup>20</sup>Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt returne, and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth. <sup>21</sup>Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me. <sup>22</sup>Therefore will I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O Holy one of Israel. <sup>23</sup>My lippes will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule, which thou hast deliuered. <sup>24</sup>My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousness daily: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

CHAPTER 73

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme committed to Asaph. Yet God is good to Israel: euen, to the pure in heart. <sup>2</sup>As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had well neere slipt. <sup>3</sup>For I feared at the foolish, when I sawe the prosperitie of the wicked. <sup>4</sup>For there are no bandes in their death, but they are lustie and strong. <sup>5</sup>They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men. <sup>6</sup>Therefore pride is as a chayne vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment. <sup>7</sup>Their eyes stande out for fatnesse: they haue more then heart can wish. <sup>8</sup>They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously. <sup>9</sup>They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth. <sup>10</sup>Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them. <sup>11</sup>And they say, Howe doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in the most High? <sup>12</sup>Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches. <sup>13</sup>Certainely I haue clenched mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie. <sup>14</sup>For dayly haue I bene punished, and chastened euery morning. <sup>15</sup>If I say, I will iudge thus, beholde the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed. <sup>16</sup>Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me, <sup>17</sup>Vntill I went into the Sanctuarie of God: then vnderstoode I their ende. <sup>18</sup>Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, and castest them downe into desolation. <sup>19</sup>How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and horribly consumed, <sup>20</sup>As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised. <sup>21</sup>Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines: <sup>22</sup>So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee. <sup>23</sup>Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand. <sup>24</sup>Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory. <sup>25</sup>Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee. <sup>26</sup>My flesh fayleth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer. <sup>27</sup>For loe, they that withdrawe themselues from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee. <sup>28</sup>As for me, it is good for me to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

CHAPTER 74

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme to give instruction, committed to Asaph. O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture? <sup>2</sup>Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of olde, and on the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt. <sup>3</sup>Lift vp thy strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroy euery enimie that doeth euill to the Sanctuarie. <sup>4</sup>Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, and set vp their banners for signes. <sup>5</sup>He that lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one, that brought a thing to perfection: <sup>6</sup>But nowe they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers. <sup>7</sup>They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, and rased it to the grounde, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name. <sup>8</sup>They saide in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land. <sup>9</sup>We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth howe long. <sup>10</sup>O God, howe long shall the aduersarie reproche thee? shall the enimie blaspheme thy Name for euer? <sup>11</sup>Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? drawe it out of thy bosome, and consume them. <sup>12</sup>Euen God is my King of olde, working saluation in the middes of the earth. <sup>13</sup>Thou didest deuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters. <sup>14</sup>Thou brakest the head of Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meate for the people in wilderness. <sup>15</sup>Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuier: thou dryedst vp mightie riuers. <sup>16</sup>The day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne. <sup>17</sup>Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter. <sup>18</sup>Remember this, that the enimie hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name. <sup>19</sup>Giue not the soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer. <sup>20</sup>Consider thy couenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell. <sup>21</sup>Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needie prayse thy Name. <sup>22</sup>Arise, O God: mainteine thine owne cause: remember thy daily reproche by the foolish man. <sup>23</sup>Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumult of them, that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

CHAPTER 75

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph. We will prayse thee, O God, we will prayse thee, for thy Name is neere: therefore they will declare thy wonderous workes. <sup>2</sup>When I shall take a conuenient time, I will iudge righteously. <sup>3</sup>The earth and all the inhabitantes thereof are dissolued: but I will establish the pillars of it. Selah. <sup>4</sup>I saide vnto the foolish, Be not so foolish, and to the wicked, Lift not vp the horne. <sup>5</sup>Lift not vp your horne on high, neither speake with a stiffe necke. <sup>6</sup>For to come to preferment is neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South, <sup>7</sup>But God is the iudge: he maketh lowe and he maketh hie. <sup>8</sup>For in the hand of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and he powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dregges thereof. <sup>9</sup>But I will declare for euer, and sing prayes vnto the God of Iakob. <sup>10</sup>All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the righteous shalbe exalted.

CHAPTER 76

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph. God is known in Iudah: his Name is great in Israel. <sup>2</sup>For in Shalem is his Tabernacle, and his dwelling in Zion. <sup>3</sup>There brake he the arrowes of the bowe, the shielde and the sword and the battell. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Thou art more bright and puissant, then the mountaines of pray. <sup>5</sup>The stout hearted are spoyled: they haue slept their sleepe, and all the men of strength haue not found their hands. <sup>6</sup>At thy rebuke, O God of Iakob, both the chariot and horse are cast a sleepe. <sup>7</sup>Thou, euen thou art to be feared: and who shall stand in thy sight, when thou art angrie! <sup>8</sup>Thou didest cause thy iudgement to bee heard from heauen: therefore the earth feared and was still, <sup>9</sup>When thou, O God, arose to iudgement, to helpe all the meeke of the earth. Selah. <sup>10</sup>Surely the rage of man shall turne to thy praise: the remnant of the rage shalt thou restrayne. <sup>11</sup>Vowe and performe vnto the Lord your God, all ye that be rounde about him: let them bring presents vnto him that ought to be feared. <sup>12</sup>He shall cut off the spirit of princes: he is terrible to the Kings of the earth.

CHAPTER 77

<sup>1</sup>For the excellent musician Ieduthun. A Psalme committed to Asaph. My voyce came to God, when I cried: my voyce came to God, and he heard me. <sup>2</sup>In the day of my trouble I sought ye Lord: my sore ranne and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort. <sup>3</sup>I did thinke vpon God, and was troubled: I praied, and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Thou keepest mine eyes waking: I was astonied and could not speake. <sup>5</sup>Then I considered the daies of olde, and the yeeres of ancient time. <sup>6</sup>I called to remembrance my song in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently. <sup>7</sup>Will the Lord absent him selfe for euer? and will he shewe no more fauour? <sup>8</sup>Is his mercie cleane gone for euer? doeth his promise faile for euermore? <sup>9</sup>Hath God forgotten to be mercifull? hath he shut vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah. <sup>10</sup>And I sayde, This is my death: yet I remembred the yeeres of the right hand of the most High. <sup>11</sup>I remembred the workes of the Lord: certainly I remembred thy wonders of olde. <sup>12</sup>I did also meditate all thy woorkes, and did deuise of thine actes, saying, <sup>13</sup>Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuarie: who is so great a God as our God! <sup>14</sup>Thou art ye God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people. <sup>15</sup>Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, euen the sonnes of Iakob and Ioseph. Selah. <sup>16</sup>The waters sawe thee, O God: the waters sawe thee, and were afraide: yea, the depths trembled. <sup>17</sup>The cloudes powred out water: the heauens gaue a sounce: yea, thine arrowes went abroade. <sup>18</sup>The voyce of thy thunder was rounde about: the lightnings lightened the worlde: the earth trembled and shooke. <sup>19</sup>Thy way is in the Sea, and thy paths in the great waters, and thy footsteps are not known. <sup>20</sup>Thou diddest leade thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

CHAPTER 78

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme to give instruction committed to Asaph. Heare my doctrine, O my people: incline your eares vnto the wordes of my mouth. <sup>2</sup>I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of olde. <sup>3</sup>Which we haue heard and knowen, and our fathers haue tolde vs. <sup>4</sup>Wee will not hide them from their children but to the generation to come we wil shewe the praises of the Lord his power also, and his wonderful woorkes that he hath done: <sup>5</sup>How he established a testimonie in Iakob, and ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they shoulde teache their children: <sup>6</sup>That the posteritie might knowe it, and the children, which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children: <sup>7</sup>That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God but keepe his commandements: <sup>8</sup>And not to bee as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirite was not faithfull vnto God. <sup>9</sup>The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell. <sup>10</sup>They kept not the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Lawe, <sup>11</sup>And forgate his Actes, and his wonderfull woorkes that he had shewed them. <sup>12</sup>Hee did marueilous thinges in the sight of their fathers in the lande of Egypt: euen in the fiede of Zoan. <sup>13</sup>He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made also the waters to stand as an heape. <sup>14</sup>In the day time also hee led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire. <sup>15</sup>He claued the rockes in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths. <sup>16</sup>He brought floods also out of the stonie rocke; so that hee made the waters to descend like the riuers. <sup>17</sup>Yet they sinned stil against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wilderness, <sup>18</sup>And tempted God in their heartes in requiring meate for their lust. <sup>19</sup>They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness? <sup>20</sup>Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people? <sup>21</sup>Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the fire was kindled in Iakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, <sup>22</sup>Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe. <sup>23</sup>Yet he had comanded the clouds aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, <sup>24</sup>And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen. <sup>25</sup>Man did eate the bread of Angels: hee sent them meate ynough. <sup>26</sup>He caused the Eastwinde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the Southwinde. <sup>27</sup>Hee rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea. <sup>28</sup>And hee made it fall in the middles of their campe euen round about their habitations. <sup>29</sup>So they did eate and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire. <sup>30</sup>They were not turned from their lust, but the meate was yet in their mouthes, <sup>31</sup>When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel. <sup>32</sup>For all this, they sinned stil, and beleeued not his wonderous workes. <sup>33</sup>Therefore their daies did hee consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily. <sup>34</sup>And when hee slewe them, they sought him and they returned, and sought God earely. <sup>35</sup>And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer. <sup>36</sup>But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue. <sup>37</sup>For their heart was not vpriht with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant. <sup>38</sup>Yet he being mercifull forgave their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath. <sup>39</sup>For he remembered that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe. <sup>40</sup>How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderness? and grieue him in the desert? <sup>41</sup>Yea, they returned, and tempted God, and limited the Holie one of Israel. <sup>42</sup>They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy, <sup>43</sup>Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the felde of Zoan, <sup>44</sup>And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke. <sup>45</sup>Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them. <sup>46</sup>He gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grassehopper. <sup>47</sup>He destroyed their vines with haile, and their wilde figge trees with the hailestone. <sup>48</sup>He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderboltes. <sup>49</sup>Hee cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill Angels. <sup>50</sup>He made a way to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, <sup>51</sup>And smote al the firstborne in Egypt, euen the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham. <sup>52</sup>But hee made his people to goe out like sheepe, and led them in the wilderness like a flocke. <sup>53</sup>Yea, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies. <sup>54</sup>And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased. <sup>55</sup>He cast out the heathe also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles. <sup>56</sup>Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies, <sup>57</sup>But turned backe and delt falsely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bowe. <sup>58</sup>And they prouoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images. <sup>59</sup>God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel, <sup>60</sup>So that hee forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men, <sup>61</sup>And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beautie into the enemies hand. <sup>62</sup>And hee gaue vp his people to the sworde, and was angrie with his inheritance. <sup>63</sup>The fire deuoured their chosen men, and their maides were not praised. <sup>64</sup>Their Priestes fell by the sworde, and their widowes lamented not. <sup>65</sup>But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his wine crieth out, <sup>66</sup>And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame. <sup>67</sup>Yet he refused the tabernacle of Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim: <sup>68</sup>But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which he loued. <sup>69</sup>And he built his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he stablished for euer. <sup>70</sup>He chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the shepefolds. <sup>71</sup>Euen from behinde the ewes with yong brought he him to feede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel. <sup>72</sup>So he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

CHAPTER 79

<sup>1</sup>A Psalm committed to Asaph. O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones. <sup>2</sup>The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meat vnto foules of ye heauen: and the flesh of thy Saintes vnto the beastes of the earth. <sup>3</sup>Their blood haue they shead like waters rounde about Ierusalem, and there was none to burie them. <sup>4</sup>Wee are a reproche to our neighbours, euen a scorne and derision vnto them that are round about vs. <sup>5</sup>Lord, howe long wilt thou be angrie, for euer? shall thy gelousie burne like fire? <sup>6</sup>Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that

haue not knowen thee, and vpon the kingdomes that haue not called vpon thy Name. <sup>7</sup>For they haue deuoured Iakob and made his dwelling place desolate. <sup>8</sup>Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie. <sup>9</sup>Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glorie of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let him be knowen among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed. <sup>11</sup>Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie arme preserue the children of death, <sup>12</sup>And render to our neighbours seuen folde into their bosome their reproche, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord. <sup>13</sup>So wee thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy praise.

CHAPTER 80

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth on Shoshannim Eduth. A Psalm committed to Asaph. Heare, O thou Shepheard of Israel, thou that ledest Ioseph like sheepe: shewe thy brightnes, thou that sittest betweene the Cherubims. <sup>2</sup>Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs. <sup>3</sup>Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine that we may be saued. <sup>4</sup>O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angrie against the prayer of thy people? <sup>5</sup>Thou hast fedde them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselues. <sup>7</sup>Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shalbe saued. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it. <sup>9</sup>Thou madest rouse for it, and didest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land. <sup>10</sup>The mountaines were couered with the shadowe of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars. <sup>11</sup>Shee stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the Riuer. <sup>12</sup>Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her? <sup>13</sup>The wilde bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the felde haue eaten it vp. <sup>14</sup>Returne we beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and beholde and visite this vine, <sup>15</sup>And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the young vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe. <sup>16</sup>It is burnt with fire and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance. <sup>17</sup>Let thine hande be vpon the man of thy right hande, and vpon the sonne of man, whome thou madest strong for thine owne selfe. <sup>18</sup>So will not we goe backe from thee: reuiue thou vs, and we shall call vpon thy Name. <sup>19</sup>Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hostes: cause thy face to shine and we shalbe saued.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme committed to Asaph. God standeth in the assemblie of gods: hee iudgeth among gods. <sup>2</sup>How long wil ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah. <sup>3</sup>Doe right to the poore and fatherlesse: doe iustice to the poore and needie. <sup>4</sup>Deliuere the poore and needie: saue them from the hand of the wicked. <sup>5</sup>They knowe not and vnderstand nothing: they walke in darkenes, albeit all the foundations of the earth be moued. <sup>6</sup>I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High. <sup>7</sup>But ye shall die as a man, and yee princes, shall fall like others. <sup>8</sup>O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

CHAPTER 84

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah. Lord, thou hast bene fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iaakob. <sup>2</sup>Thou hast forgien the iniquitie of thy people, and couered all their sinnes. Selah. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast withdrawn all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the fierces of thy wrath. <sup>4</sup>Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger toward vs. <sup>5</sup>Wilt thou be angry with vs for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another? <sup>6</sup>Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee? <sup>7</sup>Shew vs thy mercie, O Lord, and graunt vs thy saluation. <sup>8</sup>I will hearken what the Lord God will say: for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saintes, that they turne not again to follie. <sup>9</sup>Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land. <sup>10</sup>Mercie and trueth shall meete: righteousnes and peace shall kisse one another. <sup>11</sup>Trueth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousnes shall looke downe from heauen. <sup>12</sup>Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase. <sup>13</sup>Righteousnes shall go before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

CHAPTER 86

<sup>1</sup>A prayer of David. Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needy. <sup>2</sup>Preserue thou my soule, for I am mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee. <sup>3</sup>Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I crie vpon thee continually. <sup>4</sup>Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule. <sup>5</sup>For thou, Lord, art good and mercifull, and of great kindenes vnto all them, that call vpon thee. <sup>6</sup>Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and hearken to the voyce of my supplication. <sup>7</sup>In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me. <sup>8</sup>Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can doe like thy workes. <sup>9</sup>All nations, whome thou hast made, shall come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name. <sup>10</sup>For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone. <sup>11</sup>Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name. <sup>12</sup>I wil prayse thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I wil glorifie thy Name for euer. <sup>13</sup>For great is thy mercie toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue. <sup>14</sup>O God, the proude are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them. <sup>15</sup>But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger and great in kindenes and trueth. <sup>16</sup>Turne vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the sonne of thine handmayd. <sup>17</sup>Shew a token of thy goodnes toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

CHAPTER 88

<sup>1</sup>A song or Psalme of Heman the Ezrahite to give instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth upon Malath Leannoth. O Lord God of my saluation, I cry day and night before thee. <sup>2</sup>Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry. <sup>3</sup>For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue. <sup>4</sup>I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength: <sup>5</sup>Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whome thou remembreth no more, and they are cut off from thine hand. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast layde me in the lowest pit, in darkenes, and in the deepe. <sup>7</sup>Thine indignation lyeth vpon me, and thou hast vexed me with all thy waues. Selah. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me, and made mee to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get forth. <sup>9</sup>Mine eye is sorowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call dayly vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee. <sup>10</sup>Wilt thou shewe a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and prayse thee? Selah. <sup>11</sup>Shall thy louing kindenes be declared in the graue? or thy faithfulness in destruction? <sup>12</sup>Shall thy wonderous workes be known in the darke? and thy righteousness in the land of obliuion? <sup>13</sup>But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and early shall my prayer come before thee. <sup>14</sup>Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from me? <sup>15</sup>I am afflicted and at the point of death: from my youth I suffer thy terrors, doubting of my life. <sup>16</sup>Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off. <sup>17</sup>They came round about me dayly like water, and compassed me together. <sup>18</sup>My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance hid themselves.

CHAPTER 89

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme to give instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite. I will sing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation. <sup>2</sup>For I said, Mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou stablish in ye very heauens. <sup>3</sup>I haue made a couenant with my chossen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant, <sup>4</sup>Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah. <sup>5</sup>O Lord, euen the heauens shall prayse thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the Congregation of the Saints. <sup>6</sup>For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods? <sup>7</sup>God is very terrible in the assemblie of the Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all, that are about him. <sup>8</sup>O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy trueth is about thee? <sup>9</sup>Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them. <sup>10</sup>Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme. <sup>11</sup>The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast layde the foundation of the world, and all that therein is. <sup>12</sup>Thou hast created the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name. <sup>13</sup>Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand. <sup>14</sup>Righteousnesse and equitie are the establishment of thy throne: mercy and trueth goe before thy face. <sup>15</sup>Blessed is the people, that can reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy countenance, O Lord. <sup>16</sup>They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnes shall they exalt them selues. <sup>17</sup>For thou art the glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shall be exalted. <sup>18</sup>For our shield appertaineth to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel. <sup>19</sup>Thou spakest then in a vision vnto thine Holy one, and saydest, I haue layde helpe vpon one that is mightie: I haue exalted one chossen out of the people. <sup>20</sup>I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anoynted him. <sup>21</sup>Therefore mine hande shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him. <sup>22</sup>The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him. <sup>23</sup>But I will destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him. <sup>24</sup>My trueth also and my mercie shall be with him, and in my Name shall his horne be exalted. <sup>25</sup>I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the floods. <sup>26</sup>He shall cry vnto mee, Thou art my Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation. <sup>27</sup>Also I wil make him my first borne, higher then the Kings of the earth. <sup>28</sup>My mercie will I keepe for him for euermore, and my couenant shall stande fast with him. <sup>29</sup>His seede also will I make to endure for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen. <sup>30</sup>But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements: <sup>31</sup>If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements: <sup>32</sup>Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, and their iniquitie with strokes. <sup>33</sup>Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth. <sup>34</sup>My couenant wil I not breake, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips. <sup>35</sup>I haue sworne once by mine holines, that I will not fayle Dauid, saying, <sup>36</sup>His seede shall endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me. <sup>37</sup>He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, and as a faythfull witnes in the heauen. Selah. <sup>38</sup>But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angry with thine Anoynted. <sup>39</sup>Thou hast broken the couenant of thy seruant, and profaned his crowne, casting it on the ground. <sup>40</sup>Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layd his fortresses in ruine. <sup>41</sup>All that goe by the way, spoyle him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours. <sup>42</sup>Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce. <sup>43</sup>Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battell. <sup>44</sup>Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground. <sup>45</sup>The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah. <sup>46</sup>Lord, howe long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire? <sup>47</sup>Remember of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men? <sup>48</sup>What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hande of the graue? Selah. <sup>49</sup>Lord, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth? <sup>50</sup>Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mightie people. <sup>51</sup>For thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the footesteps of thine Anointed. <sup>52</sup>Praised be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

CHAPTER 90

<sup>1</sup>A prayer of Moses, the man of God. Lord, thou hast bene our habitation from generation to generation. <sup>2</sup>Before the mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God. <sup>3</sup>Thou turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam. <sup>4</sup>For a thousande yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night. <sup>5</sup>Thou hast ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse: <sup>6</sup>In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth. <sup>7</sup>For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled. <sup>8</sup>Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance. <sup>9</sup>For all our dayes are past in thine anger: we haue spent our yeeres as a thought. <sup>10</sup>The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorowe: for it is cut off quickly, and we flee away. <sup>11</sup>Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger. <sup>12</sup>Teach vs so to nomber our dayes, that we may apply our heartes vnto wisdom. <sup>13</sup>Returne (O Lord, howe long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants. <sup>14</sup>Fill vs with thy mercie in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes. <sup>15</sup>Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill. <sup>16</sup>Let thy worke bee seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children. <sup>17</sup>And let the beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our handes.

CHAPTER 91

<sup>1</sup>Who so dwelleth in the secreete of the most High, shall abide in the shadowe of the Almighty. <sup>2</sup>I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: he is my God, in him will I trust. <sup>3</sup>Surely he will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence. <sup>4</sup>Hee will couer thee vnder his winges, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his trueth shall be thy shielde and buckler. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt not be affraide of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flyeth by day: <sup>6</sup>Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darknesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day. <sup>7</sup>A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee. <sup>8</sup>Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou beholde and see the reward of the wicked. <sup>9</sup>For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge. <sup>10</sup>There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle. <sup>11</sup>For hee shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes. <sup>12</sup>They shall beare thee in their handes, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone. <sup>13</sup>Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aspe: the yong lyon and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete. <sup>14</sup>Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath knowen my Name. <sup>15</sup>He shall call vpon me, and I wil heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him. <sup>16</sup>With long life wil I satisfie him, and shew him my saluation.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme or song for the Sabbath day. It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High, <sup>2</sup>To declare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, and thy trueth in the night, <sup>3</sup>Vpon an instrument of tenne strings, and vpon the viole with the song vpon the harpe. <sup>4</sup>For thou, Lord, hast made mee glad by thy workes, and I wil reioyce in the workes of thine handes. <sup>5</sup>O Lord, how glorious are thy workes! and thy thoughtes are very deepe. <sup>6</sup>An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this, <sup>7</sup>(When the wicked growe as the grasse, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish) that they shall be destroyed for euer. <sup>8</sup>But thou, O Lord, art most High for euermore. <sup>9</sup>For loe, thine enemies, O Lord: for loe, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed. <sup>10</sup>But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, and I shalbe anoynted with fresh oyle. <sup>11</sup>Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

<sup>1</sup>The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established, that it cannot be mooued. <sup>2</sup>Thy throne is established of olde: thou art from euerlasting. <sup>3</sup>The floodes haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floodes haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues. <sup>4</sup>The waues of ye sea are marueilous through the noyse of many waters, yet the Lord on High is more mightie. <sup>5</sup>Thy testimonies are very sure: holinesse becommeth thine House, O Lord, for euer.

<sup>1</sup>O Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shewe thy selfe clearly. <sup>2</sup>Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the worlde, and render a reward to the proude. <sup>3</sup>Lord how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph? <sup>4</sup>They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselves. <sup>5</sup>They smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage. <sup>6</sup>They slay the widowe and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse. <sup>7</sup>Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iakob regard it. <sup>8</sup>Vnderstande ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise? <sup>9</sup>Hee that planted the eare, shall hee not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see? <sup>10</sup>Or he that chastiseth the nations, shall he not correct? hee that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not knowe? <sup>11</sup>The Lord knoweth the thoughtes of man, that they are vanitie. <sup>12</sup>Blessed is the man, whom thou chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Lawe, <sup>13</sup>That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pitte is digged for the wicked. <sup>14</sup>Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance. <sup>15</sup>For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpriight in heart shall follow after it. <sup>16</sup>Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie? <sup>17</sup>If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence. <sup>18</sup>When I said, My foote slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me. <sup>19</sup>In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comfortes haue reioyced my soule. <sup>20</sup>Hath the throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a Lawe? <sup>21</sup>They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood. <sup>22</sup>But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope. <sup>23</sup>And hee will recompence them their wickednes, and destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

<sup>1</sup>Come, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing aloud vnto the rocke of our saluation. <sup>2</sup>Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loude vnto him with Psalmes. <sup>3</sup>For the Lord is a great God, and a great King aboue all gods. <sup>4</sup>In whose hande are the deepe places of the earth, and the heightes of the mountaines are his: <sup>5</sup>To whome the Sea belongeth: for hee made it, and his handes formed the dry land. <sup>6</sup>Come, let vs worship and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker. <sup>7</sup>For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his hande: to day, if ye will heare his voyce, <sup>8</sup>Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, and as in the day of Massah in the wilderness. <sup>9</sup>Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, though they had seene my worke. <sup>10</sup>Fourtie yeeres haue I contended with this generation, and said, They are a people that erre in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore I sware in my wrath, saying, Surely they shall not enter into my rest.

are in his Sanctuarie. <sup>7</sup>Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power. <sup>8</sup>Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courtes. <sup>9</sup>Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth. <sup>10</sup>Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shalbe stable, and not moue, and he shall iudge the people in righteousness. <sup>11</sup>Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is. <sup>12</sup>Let the field be ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce <sup>13</sup>Before the Lord: for he commeth, for he cometh to iudge the earth: he wil iudge the world with righteousness, and the people in his trueth.

<sup>1</sup>The Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the multitude of the yles be glad. <sup>2</sup>Cloudes and darkenes are round about him: righteousness and iudgement are the foundation of his throne. <sup>3</sup>There shall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about. <sup>4</sup>His lightnings gaue light vnto the worlde: the earth sawe it and was afraide. <sup>5</sup>The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth. <sup>6</sup>The heauens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory. <sup>7</sup>Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, and that glory in idoles: worship him all ye gods. <sup>8</sup>Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord. <sup>9</sup>For thou, Lord, art most High aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods. <sup>10</sup>Ye that loue the Lord, hate euill: he preserueth the soules of his Saints: hee will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked. <sup>11</sup>Light is sowne for the righteous, and ioy for the vpriight in heart. <sup>12</sup>Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holy remembrance.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme. Sing vnto the Lord a newe song: for hee hath done marueilous things: his right hand, and his holy arme haue gotten him the victorie. <sup>2</sup>The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hath he reueiled in the sight of ye nations. <sup>3</sup>He hath remembred his mercy and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God. <sup>4</sup>All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lord: crie out and reioyce, and sing prayes. <sup>5</sup>Sing prayse to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce. <sup>6</sup>With shalmes and sound of trumpets sing loude before the Lord the King. <sup>7</sup>Let the sea roare, and all that therein is, the world, and they that dwell therein. <sup>8</sup>Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together <sup>9</sup>Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: with righteousness shall hee iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

CHAPTER 101

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. I will sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing. <sup>2</sup>I will doe wisely in the perfite way, till thou comest to me: I will walke in the vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house. <sup>3</sup>I wil set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me. <sup>4</sup>A froward heart shall depart from me: I will knowe none euill. <sup>5</sup>Him that priuily slandereth his neighbour, wil I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and hie heart, I cannot suffer. <sup>6</sup>Mine eyes shalbe vnto the faithfull of the lande, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, he shall serue me. <sup>7</sup>There shall no deceitful person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lyes, shall not remaine in my sight. <sup>8</sup>Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the Citie of the Lord.

CHAPTER 102

<sup>1</sup>A prayer of the afflicted, when he shall be in distresse, and pour forth his meditation before the Lord. O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my crye come vnto thee. <sup>2</sup>Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me. <sup>3</sup>For my dayes are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herthe. <sup>4</sup>Mine heart is smitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread. <sup>5</sup>For the voyce of my groning my bones doe cleaue to my skinne. <sup>6</sup>I am like a pelicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts. <sup>7</sup>I watch and am as a sparowe alone vpon the house top. <sup>8</sup>Mine enemies reuile me daily, and they that rage against me, haue sworne against me. <sup>9</sup>Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, <sup>10</sup>Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe. <sup>11</sup>My dayes are like a shadowe that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse. <sup>12</sup>But thou, O Lord, doest remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation. <sup>13</sup>Thou wilt arise and haue mercy vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the appointed time is come. <sup>14</sup>For thy seruants delite in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof. <sup>15</sup>Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the Kings of the earth thy glory. <sup>16</sup>When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare in his glory, <sup>17</sup>And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer. <sup>18</sup>This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people, which shalbe created, shall prayse the Lord. <sup>19</sup>For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuarie: out of the heauen did the Lord beholde the earth, <sup>20</sup>That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death: <sup>21</sup>That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his prayse in Ierusalem, <sup>22</sup>When the people shalbe gathered together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord. <sup>23</sup>He abated my strength in the way, and shortened my dayes. <sup>24</sup>And I sayd, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation. <sup>25</sup>Thou hast aforetime layde the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands. <sup>26</sup>They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed. <sup>27</sup>But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not fayle. <sup>28</sup>The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand fast in thy sight.

made: he remembreth that we are but dust. <sup>15</sup>The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flowre of the field, so florisheth he. <sup>16</sup>For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall knowe it no more. <sup>17</sup>But the louing kindnesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his righteousnes vpon childrens children, <sup>18</sup>Vnto them that keepe his couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to doe them. <sup>19</sup>The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his Kingdome ruleth ouer all. <sup>20</sup>Prayse the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voyce of his worde. <sup>21</sup>Prayse the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure. <sup>22</sup>Prayse the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, prayse thou the Lord.

remembred his couenant and promise, that he made to a thousand generations, <sup>9</sup>Euen that which he made with Abraham, and his othe vnto Izhak: <sup>10</sup>And since hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a lawe, and to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, <sup>11</sup>Saying, Vnto thee will I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance. <sup>12</sup>Albeit they were fewe in number, yea, very fewe, and strangers in the land, <sup>13</sup>And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people, <sup>14</sup>Yet suffered he no man to doe them wrong, but reprooued Kings for their sakes, saying, <sup>15</sup>Touche not mine anointed, and doe my Prophets no harme. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer, he called a famine vpon ye land, and vtterly brake the staffe of bread. <sup>17</sup>But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was solde for a slaue. <sup>18</sup>They helde his feete in the stockes, and he was laide in yrons, <sup>19</sup>Vntill his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tryed him. <sup>20</sup>The King sent and loosed him: euen the Ruler of the people deliuered him. <sup>21</sup>He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, <sup>22</sup>That he shoulde binde his princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisdom. <sup>23</sup>Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham. <sup>24</sup>And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours. <sup>25</sup>He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants. <sup>26</sup>Then sent he Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen. <sup>27</sup>They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham. <sup>28</sup>He sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not disobedient vnto his commission. <sup>29</sup>He turned their waters into blood, and slewe their fish. <sup>30</sup>Their land brought forth frogs, euen in their Kings chambers. <sup>31</sup>He spake, and there came swarmes of flies and lice in all their quarters. <sup>32</sup>He gaue them haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land. <sup>33</sup>He smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes. <sup>34</sup>He spake, and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable, <sup>35</sup>And did eate vp all the grasse in their land, and deuoured the fruite of their ground. <sup>36</sup>He smote also all the first borne in their land, euen the beginning of all their strength. <sup>37</sup>He brought them forth also with siluer and golde, and there was none feeble among their tribes. <sup>38</sup>Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them. <sup>39</sup>He spred a cloude to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night. <sup>40</sup>They asked, and he brought quails, and he filled them with the bread of heauen. <sup>41</sup>He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the drye places like a riuer. <sup>42</sup>For he remembred his holy promise to Abraham his seruant, <sup>43</sup>And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse, <sup>44</sup>And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession, <sup>45</sup>That they might keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Praise ye the Lord.

Sauour, which had done great things in Egypt, <sup>22</sup>Wonderous woorkes in the lande of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea. <sup>23</sup>Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stand in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, least he shoulde destroy them. <sup>24</sup>Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleueed not his worde, <sup>25</sup>But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not vnto the voice of the Lord. <sup>26</sup>Therefore hee lifted vp his hande against them, to destroy them in the wilderness, <sup>27</sup>And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countries. <sup>28</sup>They ioyned themselues also vnto Baalpeor, and did eate the offrings of the dead. <sup>29</sup>Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them. <sup>30</sup>But Phinehas stode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was staied. <sup>31</sup>And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for euer. <sup>32</sup>They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes, <sup>33</sup>Because they vexed his spirite, so that hee spake vnadvisedly with his lippes. <sup>34</sup>Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, <sup>35</sup>But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, <sup>36</sup>And serued their idoles, which were their ruine. <sup>37</sup>Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, <sup>38</sup>And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offred vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande was defiled with blood. <sup>39</sup>Thus were they steined with their owne woorkes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions. <sup>40</sup>Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance. <sup>41</sup>And hee gaue them into the hande of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lordes ouer them. <sup>42</sup>Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand. <sup>43</sup>Many a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie. <sup>44</sup>Yet hee sawe when they were in affliction, and he heard their crie. <sup>45</sup>And he remembred his couenant toward them and repented according to the multitude of his mercies, <sup>46</sup>And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that lead them captiues. <sup>47</sup>Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise. <sup>48</sup>Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise yee the Lord.

great waters, <sup>24</sup>They see the woorkes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe. <sup>25</sup>For he commaundeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifeth vp the waues thereof. <sup>26</sup>They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to ye deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble. <sup>27</sup>They are tossed to and from, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunning is gone. <sup>28</sup>Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse. <sup>29</sup>He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still. <sup>30</sup>When they are quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they would be. <sup>31</sup>Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull woorkes before the sonnes of men. <sup>32</sup>And let them exalt him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders. <sup>33</sup>He turneth the floodes into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drinesse, <sup>34</sup>And a fruitfull land into barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein. <sup>35</sup>Againe hee turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the drie lande into water springs. <sup>36</sup>And there he placeth the hungrie, and they builde a citie to dwell in, <sup>37</sup>And sowe the fieldes, and plant vineyardes, which bring forth fruitfull increase. <sup>38</sup>For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattell. <sup>39</sup>Againe men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppression, euill and sorowe. <sup>40</sup>He powreth contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way. <sup>41</sup>Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe. <sup>42</sup>The righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stoppe her mouth. <sup>43</sup>Who is wise that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

CHAPTER 108

<sup>1</sup>A song or Psalme of David. O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise. <sup>2</sup>Awake viole and harpe: I will awake early. <sup>3</sup>I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations. <sup>4</sup>For thy mercy is great aboute the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the clouds. <sup>5</sup>Exalt thy self, O God, aboute the heauens, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth, <sup>6</sup>That thy beloued may be deliuered: helpe with thy right hand and heare me. <sup>7</sup>God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce, I shall deuide Shechem and measure the valley of Succoth. <sup>8</sup>Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shalbe mine: Ephraim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my lawgiuer. <sup>9</sup>Moab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edom wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph. <sup>10</sup>Who will leade mee into the strong citie? who will bring me vnto Edom? <sup>11</sup>Wilt not thou, O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and diddest not goe foorth, O God, with our armies? <sup>12</sup>Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man. <sup>13</sup>Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall treade downe our enemies.

CHAPTER 109

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. Holde not thy tongue, O God of my praise. <sup>2</sup>For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceite are opened vpon me: they haue spoken to me with a lying tongue. <sup>3</sup>They compassed me about also with words of hatred, and fought against me without a cause. <sup>4</sup>For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to praier. <sup>5</sup>And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship. <sup>6</sup>Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand. <sup>7</sup>Whe he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his praier be turned into sinne. <sup>8</sup>Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his charge. <sup>9</sup>Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widowe. <sup>10</sup>Let his children be vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed. <sup>11</sup>Let the extortioner catch all that he hath, and let the strangers spoile his labour. <sup>12</sup>Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: neither let there be any to shewe mercie vpon his fatherlesse children. <sup>13</sup>Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name be put out. <sup>14</sup>Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away. <sup>15</sup>But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memorial from ye earth. <sup>16</sup>Because he remembred not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorowfull hearted to slay him. <sup>17</sup>As he loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him. <sup>18</sup>As he clothed himselfe with cursing like a rayment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones. <sup>19</sup>Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shalbe alway girded. <sup>20</sup>Let this be the rewarde of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule. <sup>21</sup>But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good) <sup>22</sup>Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me. <sup>23</sup>I depart like the shadowe that declineth, and am shaken off as the grashopper. <sup>24</sup>My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnes. <sup>25</sup>I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads. <sup>26</sup>Helpe me, O Lord my God: saue me according to thy mercie. <sup>27</sup>And they shall know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it. <sup>28</sup>Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce. <sup>29</sup>Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion, as with a cloke. <sup>30</sup>I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth and praise him among ye multitude. <sup>31</sup>For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that woulde condemne his soule.

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord. Blessed is the man, that feareth the Lord, and deliteth greatly in his commandements. <sup>2</sup>His seede shall be mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed. <sup>3</sup>Riches and treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousness endureth for euer. <sup>4</sup>Vnto the righteous ariseth light in darkenes: he is merciful and full of copassion and righteous. <sup>5</sup>A good man is mercifull and lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement. <sup>6</sup>Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance. <sup>7</sup>He will not be afraide of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and beleueth in the Lord. <sup>8</sup>His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies. <sup>9</sup>He hath distributed and giuen to ye poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his horne shalbe exalted with glory. <sup>10</sup>The wicked shall see it and be angrie: he shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

his dwelling on high! <sup>6</sup>Who abaseth himselfe to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth! <sup>7</sup>He raiseth the needie out of the dust, and lifteth vp the poore out of the dung, <sup>8</sup>That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people. <sup>9</sup>He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, and a ioyfull mother of children. Prayse ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>When Israel went out of Egypt, and the house of Iaakob from the barbarous people, <sup>2</sup>Judah was his sanctification, and Israel his dominion. <sup>3</sup>The Sea sawe it and fled: Iorden was turned backe. <sup>4</sup>The mountaines leaped like rams, and the hils as lambes. <sup>5</sup>What ailed thee, O Sea, that thou fleddest? O Iorden, why wast thou turned backe? <sup>6</sup>Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hils as lambes? <sup>7</sup>The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iaakob, <sup>8</sup>Which turneth the rocke into waterpooles, and the flint into a fountaine of water.

<sup>1</sup>Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie and for thy truethe sake. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore shall the heathen say, Where is nowe their God? <sup>3</sup>But our God is in heauen: he doeth what so euer he will. <sup>4</sup>Their idoles are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands. <sup>5</sup>They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and see not. <sup>6</sup>They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not. <sup>7</sup>They haue handes and touche not: they haue feete and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throte. <sup>8</sup>They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them. <sup>9</sup>O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shielde. <sup>10</sup>O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shielde. <sup>11</sup>Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield. <sup>12</sup>The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he will blesse, he will blesse the house of Israel, he will blesse the house of Aaron. <sup>13</sup>He will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great. <sup>14</sup>The Lord will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you and toward your children. <sup>15</sup>Ye are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth. <sup>16</sup>The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lordes: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men. <sup>17</sup>The dead prayse not the Lord, neither any that goe downe into the place of silence. <sup>18</sup>But we will prayse the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Prayse ye the Lord.

CHAPTER 116

<sup>1</sup>I love the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce and my prayers. <sup>2</sup>For he hath inclined his eare vnto me, whe I did call vpon him in my dayes. <sup>3</sup>When the snares of death copassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: when I founde trouble and sorowe. <sup>4</sup>Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion. <sup>6</sup>The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me. <sup>7</sup>Returne vnto thy rest, O my soule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee, <sup>8</sup>Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling. <sup>9</sup>I shall walke before the Lord in the lande of the liuing. <sup>10</sup>I beleueed, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled. <sup>11</sup>I said in my feare, All men are lyers. <sup>12</sup>What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me? <sup>13</sup>I will take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the Name of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen nowe in the presence of all his people. <sup>15</sup>Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saintes. <sup>16</sup>Beholde, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broken my bondes. <sup>17</sup>I will offer to thee a sacrifice of prayse, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord. <sup>18</sup>I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, euen nowe in the presence of all his people, <sup>19</sup>In the courtes of ye Lords house, euen in the middes of thee, O Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>All nations, praise ye the Lord: all ye people, praise him. <sup>2</sup>For his louing kindnes is great toward vs, and the trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>Praise yee the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer. <sup>2</sup>Let Israel now say, That his mercy endureth for euer. <sup>3</sup>Let the house of Aaron nowe say, That his mercy endureth for euer. <sup>4</sup>Let them, that feare the Lord, nowe say, That his mercie endureth for euer. <sup>5</sup>I called vpon the Lord in trouble, and the Lord heard me, and set me at large. <sup>6</sup>The Lord is with mee: therefore I will not feare what man can doe vnto me. <sup>7</sup>The Lord is with mee among them that helpe me: therefore shall I see my desire vpon mine enemies. <sup>8</sup>It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in man. <sup>9</sup>It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes. <sup>10</sup>All nations haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them. <sup>11</sup>They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them. <sup>12</sup>They came about mee like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them. <sup>13</sup>Thou hast thrust sore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me. <sup>14</sup>The Lord is my strength and song: for he hath beene my deliuerance. <sup>15</sup>The voice of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly. <sup>16</sup>The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly. <sup>17</sup>I shall not die, but liue, and declare the woorkes of the Lord. <sup>18</sup>The Lord hath chastened me sore, but he hath not deliuered me to death. <sup>19</sup>Open ye vnto me the gates of righteousness, that I may goe into them, and praise the Lord. <sup>20</sup>This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it. <sup>21</sup>I will praise thee: for thou hast heard mee, and hast beene my deliuerance. <sup>22</sup>The stone, which the builders refused, is the head of the corner. <sup>23</sup>This was the Lordes doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes. <sup>24</sup>This is the day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it. <sup>25</sup>O Lord, I praie thee, saue now: O Lord, I praie thee nowe giue prosperitie. <sup>26</sup>Blessed be he, that commeth in the Name of the Lord: wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>The Lord is mightie, and hath giuen vs light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar. <sup>28</sup>Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee. <sup>29</sup>Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

O Lord: confound me not. <sup>32</sup>I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart. <sup>33</sup>HE. Teach mee, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the ende. <sup>34</sup>Giue mee vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I wil keepe it with my whole heart. <sup>35</sup>Direct mee in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite. <sup>36</sup>Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to couetousnesse. <sup>37</sup>Turne away mine eies from regarding vanitie, and quicken me in thy way. <sup>38</sup>Stablish thy promise to thy seruauent, because he feareth thee. <sup>39</sup>Take away my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good. <sup>40</sup>Beholde, I desire thy commandements: quicken me in thy righteousness, <sup>41</sup>VAV. And let thy louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, and thy saluation according to thy promise. <sup>42</sup>So shall I make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy woorde. <sup>43</sup>And take not the woorde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements. <sup>44</sup>So shall I alway keepe thy Lawe for euer and euer. <sup>45</sup>And I will walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts. <sup>46</sup>I will speake also of thy testimonies before Kings, and will not be ashamed. <sup>47</sup>And my delite shalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued. <sup>48</sup>Mine handes also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes. <sup>49</sup>ZAIN. Remember the promise made to thy seruauent, wherein thou hast caused me to trust. <sup>50</sup>It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me. <sup>51</sup>The proude haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Lawe. <sup>52</sup>I remembred thy iudgements of olde, O Lord, and haue bene comforted. <sup>53</sup>Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Lawe. <sup>54</sup>Thy statutes haue bene my songes in the house of my pilgrimage. <sup>55</sup>I haue remembred thy Name, O Lord, in the night, and haue kept thy Lawe. <sup>56</sup>This I had because I kept thy precepts. <sup>57</sup>CHET O Lord, that art my portion, I haue determined to keepe thy wordes. <sup>58</sup>I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be mercifull vnto me according to thy promise. <sup>59</sup>I haue considered my waies, and turned my feete into thy testimonies. <sup>60</sup>I made haste and delaied not to keepe thy commandements. <sup>61</sup>The bandes of the wicked haue robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Lawe. <sup>62</sup>At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements. <sup>63</sup>I am companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts. <sup>64</sup>The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercie: teache me thy statutes. <sup>65</sup>TET O Lord, thou hast delt graciously with thy seruauent according vnto thy woorde. <sup>66</sup>Teach me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleueed thy commandements. <sup>67</sup>Before I was afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy woorde. <sup>68</sup>Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes. <sup>69</sup>The proud haue imagined a lie against me: but I wil keepe thy precepts with my whole heart. <sup>70</sup>Their heart is fatte as grease: but my delite is in thy Lawe. <sup>71</sup>It is good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes. <sup>72</sup>The Lawe of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of golde and siluer. <sup>73</sup>IOD. Thine hands haue made me and fashioned me: giue mee vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commandements. <sup>74</sup>So they that feare thee, seeing mee shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy worde. <sup>75</sup>I knowe, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted me iustly. <sup>76</sup>I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me according to thy promise vnto thy seruauent. <sup>77</sup>Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may liue: for thy Lawe is my delite. <sup>78</sup>Let the proude be ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly and falsely with me: but I meditate in thy precepts. <sup>79</sup>Let such as feare thee turne vnto me, and they that knowe thy testimonies. <sup>80</sup>Let mine heart bee vpriight in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed. <sup>81</sup>CAP My soule fainteth for thy saluation: yet I waite for thy worde. <sup>82</sup>Mine eyes faile for thy promise, saying, when wilt thou comfort me? <sup>83</sup>For I am like a bottell in the smoke: yet doe I not forget thy statutes. <sup>84</sup>Howe many are the dayes of thy seruauent? When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me? <sup>85</sup>The proude haue digged pittes for mee, which is not after thy Lawe. <sup>86</sup>All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsely: helpe me. <sup>87</sup>They had almost consumed me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts. <sup>88</sup>Quicken me according to thy louing kindnes: so shall I keepe the testimony of thy mouth. <sup>89</sup>LAMED. O Lord, thy worde endureth for euer in heauen. <sup>90</sup>Thy trueth is from generation to generation: thou hast layed the foundation of the earth, and it abideth. <sup>91</sup>They continue euen to this day by thine ordinances: for all are thy seruants. <sup>92</sup>Except thy

Lawe had bene my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction. <sup>93</sup>I wil neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me. <sup>94</sup>I am thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts. <sup>95</sup>The wicked haue waited for me to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies. <sup>96</sup>I haue seene an ende of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large. <sup>97</sup>MEM. Oh howe loue I thy Lawe! it is my meditation continually. <sup>98</sup>By thy commandements thou hast made mee wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with mee. <sup>99</sup>I haue had more vnderstading then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation. <sup>100</sup>I vnderstoode more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts. <sup>101</sup>I haue refrained my feete from euery euil way, that I might keepe thy word. <sup>102</sup>I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for thou didest teach me. <sup>103</sup>Howe sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth! yea, more then hony vnto my mouth. <sup>104</sup>By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood. <sup>105</sup>NUN. Thy worde is a lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path. <sup>106</sup>I haue sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements. <sup>107</sup>I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word. <sup>108</sup>O Lord, I beseeche thee accept the free offerings of my mouth, and teach mee thy iudgements. <sup>109</sup>My soule is continually in mine hande: yet doe I not forget thy Lawe. <sup>110</sup>The wicked haue layed a snare for mee: but I swarued not from thy precepts. <sup>111</sup>Thy testimonies haue I taken as an heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart. <sup>112</sup>I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the ende. <sup>113</sup>SAMEC I hate vaine inuentions: but thy Lawe doe I loue. <sup>114</sup>Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy worde. <sup>115</sup>Away from mee, yee wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God. <sup>116</sup>Stablish me according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope. <sup>117</sup>Stay thou mee, and I shall be safe, and I will delite continually in thy statutes. <sup>118</sup>Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their deceit is vaine. <sup>119</sup>Thou hast taken away all ye wicked of the earth like drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies. <sup>120</sup>My flesh trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraide of thy iudgements. <sup>121</sup>AIN. I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressours. <sup>122</sup>Answer for thy seruauent in that, which is good, and let not the proude oppresse me. <sup>123</sup>Mine eyes haue failed in waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promise. <sup>124</sup>Deale with thy seruauent according to thy mercie, and teache me thy statutes. <sup>125</sup>I am thy seruauent: graunt mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies. <sup>126</sup>It is time for thee Lord to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Lawe. <sup>127</sup>Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue golde, yea, aboue most fine golde. <sup>128</sup>Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false wayes. <sup>129</sup>PE. Thy testimonies are wonderfull: therefore doeth my soule keepe them. <sup>130</sup>The entrance into thy wordes sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple. <sup>131</sup>I opened my mouth and panted, because I loued thy commandements. <sup>132</sup>Looke vpon mee and bee mercifull vnto me, as thou vvest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name. <sup>133</sup>Direct my steppes in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me. <sup>134</sup>Deliuere mee from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts. <sup>135</sup>Shew the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruauent, and teache me thy statutes. <sup>136</sup>Mine eyes gush out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Lawe. <sup>137</sup>TSADDI. Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements. <sup>138</sup>Thou hast commanded iustice by thy testimonies and trueth especially. <sup>139</sup>My zeale hath euen consumed mee, because mine enemies haue forgotten thy wordes. <sup>140</sup>Thy word is prooued most pure, and thy seruauent loueth it. <sup>141</sup>I am small and despised: yet do I not forget thy precepts. <sup>142</sup>Thy righteousness is an euerlasting righteousness, and thy Lawe is trueth. <sup>143</sup>Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: yet are thy commandements my delite. <sup>144</sup>The righteousness of thy testimonies is euerlasting: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall liue. <sup>145</sup>KOP I haue cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes. <sup>146</sup>I called vpon thee: saue mee, and I will keepe thy testimonies. <sup>147</sup>I preuented the morning light, and cried: for I waited on thy word. <sup>148</sup>Mine eyes preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word. <sup>149</sup>Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy iudgement. <sup>150</sup>They drawe neere, that follow after malice, and are farre from thy Lawe. <sup>151</sup>Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy commandements are true. <sup>152</sup>I haue knowen long since by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer. <sup>153</sup>RES Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer mee: for I haue not forgotten thy Lawe.

<sup>157</sup>My persecutours and mine oppressours are many: yet doe I not swarue from thy testimonies.
<sup>166</sup>Lord, I haue trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements.
<sup>169</sup>TAV. Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, and giue me vnderstanding, according vnto thy worde.
<sup>175</sup>Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy iudgements shall helpe me.
<sup>176</sup>I haue gone astraye like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

CHAPTER 120

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. I called vnto the Lord in my trouble, and hee heard me.
<sup>4</sup>It is as the sharpe arrowes of a mightie man, and as the coales of iuniper.
<sup>5</sup>Woe is to me that I remaine in Meschech, and dwell in the tentes of Kedar.
<sup>6</sup>My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.
<sup>7</sup>I seeke peace, and when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

CHAPTER 121

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. I will lift mine eyes vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.
<sup>2</sup>Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hath made the heauen and the earth.
<sup>3</sup>He wil not suffer thy foote to slippe: for he that keepeth thee, will not slumber.
<sup>8</sup>The Lord shall preserue thy going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

CHAPTER 122

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. I rejoiced, when they sayd to me, We wil go into the house of the Lord.
<sup>4</sup>Whereunto the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord go vp according to the testimonie to Israel, to prayse the Name of the Lord.
<sup>5</sup>For there are thrones set for iudgement, euen the thrones of the house of Dauid.
<sup>6</sup>Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.
<sup>8</sup>For my brethren and neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.
<sup>9</sup>Because of the House of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. I lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.
<sup>2</sup>Behold, as the eyes of seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a mayden vnto the hand of her mistres: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God vntil he haue mercie vpon vs.
<sup>3</sup>Haue mercie vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs: for we haue suffered too much contempt.

CHAPTER 124

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. If the Lord had not bene on our side, (may Israel now say)
<sup>2</sup>If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs, <sup>3</sup>They had then swallowed vs vp quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs.
<sup>4</sup>Then the waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule.
<sup>8</sup>Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. They that trust in the Lord, shalbe as mount Zion, which can not be remooued, but remaineth for euer.
<sup>2</sup>As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth and for euer.
<sup>5</sup>But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord leade with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

CHAPTER 126

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees, or Psalme of David. When ye Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame.
<sup>2</sup>Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with ioye: then sayd they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.
<sup>4</sup>O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.

CHAPTER 127

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees, or Psalme of Salomon. Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.
<sup>4</sup>As are the arrowes in the hand of ye strong man: so are the children of youth.

<sup>2</sup>When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee.
<sup>3</sup>Thy wife shalbe as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy children like the oliue plantes round about thy table.

CHAPTER 129

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. They haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may Israel nowe say)
<sup>2</sup>They haue often times afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.
<sup>3</sup>The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.
<sup>8</sup>Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We blesse you in the Name of the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. Out of the deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord. <sup>2</sup>Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers. <sup>3</sup>If thou, O Lord, straightly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? <sup>4</sup>But mercie is with thee, that thou mayest be feared. <sup>5</sup>I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde. <sup>6</sup>My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning. <sup>7</sup>Let Israel waite on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great redemption. <sup>8</sup>And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

CHAPTER 131

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees or Psalme of David. Lord, mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me. <sup>2</sup>Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one wained from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is wained. <sup>3</sup>Let Israel waite on the Lord from hencefoorth and for euer.

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. Lord, remember Dauid with all his affliction. <sup>2</sup>Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying, <sup>3</sup>I will not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet or bed, <sup>4</sup>Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber, <sup>5</sup>Vntill I finde out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mightie God of Iaakob. <sup>6</sup>Lo, we heard of it in Ephrathah, and found it in the fieldes of the forest. <sup>7</sup>We will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footestoole. <sup>8</sup>Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength. <sup>9</sup>Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce. <sup>10</sup>For thy seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anointed. <sup>11</sup>The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he wil not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruite of thy body will I set vpon thy throne. <sup>12</sup>If thy sonnes keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for euer. <sup>13</sup>For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, <sup>14</sup>This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delite therein. <sup>15</sup>I will surely blesse her vitales, and will satisfie her poore with bread, <sup>16</sup>And will clothe her Priests with saluation, and her Saints shall shoute for ioye. <sup>17</sup>There will I make the horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted. <sup>18</sup>His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall florish.

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees or Psalme of David. Behold, howe good and howe comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen together. <sup>2</sup>It is like to the precious oyntment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments: <sup>3</sup>And as the dew of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing and life for euer.

<sup>1</sup>A song of degrees. Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stande in the house of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord. <sup>3</sup>The Lord, that hath made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord. Praise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him. <sup>2</sup>Ye that stande in the House of the Lord, and in the courtes of the House of our God, <sup>3</sup>Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing. <sup>4</sup>For the Lord hath chosen Iaakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure. <sup>5</sup>For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods. <sup>6</sup>Whatsoever pleased the Lord, that did hee in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths. <sup>7</sup>He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the lightnings with ye raine: he draweth forth the winde out of his treasures. <sup>8</sup>He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast. <sup>9</sup>He hath sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants. <sup>10</sup>He smote many nations, and slew mightie Kings: <sup>11</sup>As Sihon King of the Amorites, and Og King of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan: <sup>12</sup>And gaue their lande for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people. <sup>13</sup>Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation. <sup>14</sup>For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants. <sup>15</sup>The idoles of the heathen are siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens handes. <sup>16</sup>They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes and see not. <sup>17</sup>They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth. <sup>18</sup>They that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them. <sup>19</sup>Praise the Lord, ye house of Israel: praise the Lord, ye house of Aaron. <sup>20</sup>Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Praised bee the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer. <sup>2</sup>Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer. <sup>3</sup>Praise ye the Lord of lordes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>4</sup>Which onely doeth great wonders: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>5</sup>Which by his wisdom made the heauens: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>6</sup>Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>7</sup>Which made great lightes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>8</sup>As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>9</sup>The moone and the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>10</sup>Which smote Egypt with their first borne, (for his mercie endureth for euer) <sup>11</sup>And brought out Israel from among them (for his mercie endureth for euer) <sup>12</sup>With a mightie hande and stretched out arme: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>13</sup>Which deuided the red Sea in two partes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>14</sup>And made Israel to passe through the mids of it: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>15</sup>And ouerthrewe Pharaoh and his hoste in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>16</sup>Which led his people through the wildernes: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>17</sup>Which smote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>18</sup>And slewe mightie Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>19</sup>As Sihon King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>20</sup>And Og the King of Bashan: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>21</sup>And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>22</sup>Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>23</sup>Which remembred vs in our base estate: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>24</sup>And hath rescued vs from our oppressours: for his mercie endureth for euer: <sup>25</sup>Which giueth foode to all flesh: for his mercie endureth for euer. <sup>26</sup>Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

<sup>1</sup>By the riuers of Babel we sate, and there wee wept, when we remembred Zion. <sup>2</sup>Wee hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the middes thereof. <sup>3</sup>Then they that ledde vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when wee had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion. <sup>4</sup>Howe shall we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land? <sup>5</sup>If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play. <sup>6</sup>If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofof my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefe ioy. <sup>7</sup>Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the day of Ierusalem, which saide, Rase it, rase it to the foundation thereof. <sup>8</sup>O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs. <sup>9</sup>Blessed shall he be that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

CHAPTER 138

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. I will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee. <sup>2</sup>I will worship toward thine holy Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindenesse and for thy trueth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word. <sup>3</sup>When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast encreased strength in my soule. <sup>4</sup>All the Kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth. <sup>5</sup>And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great. <sup>6</sup>For the Lord is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude he knoweth afarre off. <sup>7</sup>Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue me. <sup>8</sup>The Lord will performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercie endureth for euer: forsake not the workes of thine handes.

CHAPTER 139

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. O Lord, thou hast tried me and knowen me. <sup>2</sup>Thou knowest my sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afarre off. <sup>3</sup>Thou compassed my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes. <sup>4</sup>For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord. <sup>5</sup>Thou holdest mee strait behind and before, and layest thine hand vpon me. <sup>6</sup>Thy knowledge is too wonderfull for mee: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it. <sup>7</sup>Whither shall I goe from thy Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? <sup>8</sup>If I ascende into heauen, thou art there: if I lye downe in hell, thou art there. <sup>9</sup>Let mee take the winges of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost parts of the sea: <sup>10</sup>Yet thither shall thine hand leade me, and thy right hand holde me. <sup>11</sup>If I say, Yet the darkenes shall hide me, euen the night shalbe light about me. <sup>12</sup>Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darkenes and light are both alike. <sup>13</sup>For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe. <sup>14</sup>I will praise thee, for I am fearefully and wonderously made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well. <sup>15</sup>My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and facioned beneath in the earth. <sup>16</sup>Thine eyes did see me, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were facioned, when there was none of them before. <sup>17</sup>Howe deare therefore are thy thoughtes vnto me, O God! how great is ye summe of them! <sup>18</sup>If I should count them, they are moe then the sand: when I wake, I am still with thee. <sup>19</sup>Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, to whom I say, Depart ye from mee: <sup>20</sup>Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine. <sup>21</sup>Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee? <sup>22</sup>I hate them with an vnfaigned hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies. <sup>23</sup>Try mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: prooue me and know my thoughtes, <sup>24</sup>And consider if there be any way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the way for euer.

<sup>1</sup>To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David. Deliuer me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the cruel man: <sup>2</sup>Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually. <sup>3</sup>They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poyson is vnder their lips. Selah. <sup>4</sup>Keep me, O Lord, from the handes of the wicked: preserue mee from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steppes to slide. <sup>5</sup>The proude haue layde a snare for me, and spred a net with cordes in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah. <sup>6</sup>Therefore I saide vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers. <sup>7</sup>O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou hast couered mine head in the day of battel. <sup>8</sup>Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: performe not his wicked thought, least they be proude. Selah. <sup>9</sup>As for the chiefe of them, that compasse me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them. <sup>10</sup>Let coles fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they rise not. <sup>11</sup>For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction. <sup>12</sup>I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore. <sup>13</sup>Surely the righteous shall prayse thy Name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. O Lord, I call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I cry vnto thee. <sup>2</sup>Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice. <sup>3</sup>Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips. <sup>4</sup>Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their delicates. <sup>5</sup>Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: and let him reprooue me, and it shalbe a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen pray in their miseries. <sup>6</sup>When their iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweete. <sup>7</sup>Our bones lye scattered at the graues mouth, as he that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth. <sup>8</sup>But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute. <sup>9</sup>Keep me from the snare, which they haue layde for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie. <sup>10</sup>Let the wicked fall into his nettes together, whiles I escape.

CHAPTER 142

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David, to give instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the cave. I cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord. <sup>2</sup>I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence. <sup>3</sup>Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily layde a snare for me. <sup>4</sup>I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would knowe me: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule. <sup>5</sup>Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and sayde, thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing. <sup>6</sup>Hearken vnto my crye, for I am brought very lowe: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me. <sup>7</sup>Bring my soule out of prison, that I may prayse thy Name: then shall the righteous come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

CHAPTER 143

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. Hear my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy trueth and in thy righteousness. <sup>2</sup>(And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none that liueth, be iustified) <sup>3</sup>For the enimie hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath layde me in the darkenes, as they that haue bene dead long agoe: <sup>4</sup>And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine heart within me was amased. <sup>5</sup>Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands. <sup>6</sup>I stretch forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah. <sup>7</sup>Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit fayleth: hide not thy face from me, els I shall be like vnto them that go downe into the pit. <sup>8</sup>Let me heare thy louing kindenes in the morning, for in thee is my trust: shewe mee the way, that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee. <sup>9</sup>Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee. <sup>10</sup>Teach me to doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade me vnto the land of righteousness. <sup>11</sup>Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble. <sup>12</sup>And for thy mercy slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy seruant.

CHAPTER 144

<sup>1</sup>A Psalme of David. Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth mine hands to fight, and my fingers to battell. <sup>2</sup>He is my goodnes and my fortresse, my towre and my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me. <sup>3</sup>Lord, what is man that thou regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him! <sup>4</sup>Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow, that vanisheth. <sup>5</sup>Bow thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke. <sup>6</sup>Cast forth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them. <sup>7</sup>Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers, <sup>8</sup>Whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood. <sup>9</sup>I wil sing a new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings. <sup>10</sup>It is he that giueth deliuerance vnto Kings, and rescueth Dauid his seruant from the hurtfull sworde. <sup>11</sup>Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood: <sup>12</sup>That our sonnes may be as the plantes growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace: <sup>13</sup>That our corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousand in our streetes: <sup>14</sup>That our oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes. <sup>15</sup>Blessed are the people, that be so, yea, blessed are the people, whose God is the Lord.

CHAPTER 145

praise thy Name for euer and euer. <sup>3</sup>Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be prayed, and his greatnes is incomprehensible. <sup>4</sup>Generation shall praise thy works vnto generation, and declare thy power. <sup>5</sup>I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes, <sup>6</sup>And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnes. <sup>7</sup>They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, and shall sing aloud of thy righteousness. <sup>8</sup>The Lord is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great mercie. <sup>9</sup>The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes. <sup>10</sup>All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee. <sup>11</sup>They shewe the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power, <sup>12</sup>To cause his power to be known to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome. <sup>13</sup>Thy kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages. <sup>14</sup>The Lord vpholdeth all that fall, and lifteth vp all that are ready to fall. <sup>15</sup>The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season. <sup>16</sup>Thou openest thine hand, and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure. <sup>17</sup>The Lord is righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes. <sup>18</sup>The Lord is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in trueth. <sup>19</sup>He wil fulfill the desire of them that feare him: he also wil heare their cry, and wil saue them. <sup>20</sup>The Lord preserueth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked. <sup>21</sup>My mouth shall speake the prayse of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

CHAPTER 146

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord. Praise thou the Lord, O my soule. <sup>2</sup>I will prayse the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I wil sing vnto my God. <sup>3</sup>Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him. <sup>4</sup>His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his thoughtes perish. <sup>5</sup>Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God. <sup>6</sup>Which made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer. <sup>7</sup>Which executeth iustice for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord loseth the prisoners. <sup>8</sup>The Lord giueth sight to the blinde: the Lord rayseth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous. <sup>9</sup>The Lord keepeth the strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked. <sup>10</sup>The Lord shall reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God endureth from generation to generation. Prayse ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely. <sup>2</sup>The Lord doth builde vp Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel. <sup>3</sup>He healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores. <sup>4</sup>He counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names. <sup>5</sup>Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite. <sup>6</sup>The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the ground. <sup>7</sup>Sing vnto the Lord with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God, <sup>8</sup>Which couereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaines: <sup>9</sup>Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that crie. <sup>10</sup>He hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man. <sup>11</sup>But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attende vpon his mercie. <sup>12</sup>Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: praise thy God, O Zion. <sup>13</sup>For he hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee. <sup>14</sup>He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the floure of wheate. <sup>15</sup>He sendeth forth his commandement vpon earth, and his worde runneth very swiftly. <sup>16</sup>He giueth snowe like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes. <sup>17</sup>He casteth forth his yce like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof? <sup>18</sup>He sendeth his worde and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blowe, and the waters flowe. <sup>19</sup>He sheweth his word vnto Iakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel. <sup>20</sup>He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they knownen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

armie. <sup>3</sup>Prayse ye him, sunne and moone: prayse ye him all bright starres. <sup>4</sup>Prayse ye him, heauens of heauens, and waters, that be aboute the heauens. <sup>5</sup>Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created. <sup>6</sup>And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe. <sup>7</sup>Prayse ye the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all depths: <sup>8</sup>Fire and hayle, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his worde: <sup>9</sup>Mountaines and all hils, fruitfull trees and all ceders: <sup>10</sup>Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and fethered foules: <sup>11</sup>Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde: <sup>12</sup>Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children: <sup>13</sup>Let them prayse the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his prayse aboute the earth and the heauens. <sup>14</sup>For he hath exalted the horne of his people, which is a prayse for all his Saintes, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Prayse ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord. Sing ye vnto the Lord a newe song: let his prayse be heard in the Congregation of Saints. <sup>2</sup>Let Israel reioyce in him that made him, and let ye children of Zion reioyce in their King. <sup>3</sup>Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayses vnto him with the timbrell and harpe. <sup>4</sup>For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance. <sup>5</sup>Let ye Saints be ioyfull with glorie: let them sing loud vpon their beddes. <sup>6</sup>Let the high Actes of God bee in their mouth, and a two edged sword in their hands, <sup>7</sup>To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people: <sup>8</sup>To binde their Kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, <sup>9</sup>That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is written: this honour shall be to all his Saintes. Prayse ye the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>Praise ye the Lord. Praise ye God in his Sanctuarie: prayse ye him in the firmament of his power. <sup>2</sup>Prayse ye him in his mightie Actes: prayse ye him according to his excellent greatnesse. <sup>3</sup>Prayse ye him in the sounde of the trumpet: prayse yee him vpon the viole and the harpe. <sup>4</sup>Prayse ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginales and organs. <sup>5</sup>Prayse ye him with sounding cymbales: prayse ye him with high sounding cymbales. <sup>6</sup>Let euery thing that hath breath prayse the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

PROVERBS

<sup>1</sup>The Parables of Salomon the sonne of Daud King of Israel, <sup>2</sup>To knowe wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand ye wordes of knowledge, <sup>3</sup>To receiue instruction to do wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie, <sup>4</sup>To giue vnto the simple, sharpenesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion. <sup>5</sup>A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attayne vnto wise counsels, <sup>6</sup>To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of ye wise, and their darke sayings. <sup>7</sup>The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction. <sup>8</sup>My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching. <sup>9</sup>For they shalbe a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke. <sup>10</sup>My sonne, if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not. <sup>11</sup>If they say, Come with vs, we will lay waite for blood, and lie priuile for the innocent without a cause: <sup>12</sup>We wil swallow them vp alieue like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit: <sup>13</sup>We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle: <sup>14</sup>Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one purse: <sup>15</sup>My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their path. <sup>16</sup>For their feete runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood. <sup>17</sup>Certainly as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing: <sup>18</sup>So they lay waite for blood and lie priuile for their liues. <sup>19</sup>Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: he would take away the life of the owners thereof.

<sup>20</sup>Wisdom cryeth without: she vttereth her voyce in the streetes. <sup>21</sup>She calleth in the hye streete, among the prease in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her wordes in the citie, saying, <sup>22</sup>O ye foolish, howe long will ye loue foolishnes? and the scornfull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge? <sup>23</sup>(Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes) <sup>24</sup>Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none woulde regarde. <sup>25</sup>But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction. <sup>26</sup>I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke, when your feare commeth. <sup>27</sup>Whe your feare cometh like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirlle wind: whe affliction and anguish shall come vpon you, <sup>28</sup>Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answer: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not finde me, <sup>29</sup>Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord. <sup>30</sup>They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction. <sup>31</sup>Therefore shall they eate of ye fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises. <sup>32</sup>For ease slaieth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them. <sup>33</sup>But he that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>16</sup>Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory. <sup>17</sup>Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her pathes prosperitie. <sup>18</sup>She is a tree of life to them that lay holde on her, and blessed is he that retaineth her. <sup>19</sup>The Lord by wisdom hath layde the foundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heauens through vnderstanding. <sup>20</sup>By his knowledge the depthes are broken vp, and the cloudes droppe downe the dewe. <sup>21</sup>My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom, and counsell. <sup>22</sup>So they shalbe life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke. <sup>23</sup>Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shall not stumble. <sup>24</sup>If thou sleepest, thou shalt not bee afraide, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shalbe sweete. <sup>25</sup>Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it commeth. <sup>26</sup>For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserue thy foote from taking. <sup>27</sup>Withhold not the good from the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it. <sup>28</sup>Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morow wil I giue thee, if thou now haue it. <sup>29</sup>Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doeth dwell without feare by thee. <sup>30</sup>Striue not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme. <sup>31</sup>Bee not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes. <sup>32</sup>For the frowarde is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous. <sup>33</sup>The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the righteous. <sup>34</sup>With the scornfull he scorneth, but hee giueth grace vnto the humble. <sup>35</sup>The wise shall inherite glorie: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

<sup>1</sup>Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding. <sup>2</sup>For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake yee not my lawe. <sup>3</sup>For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother, <sup>4</sup>When he taught me, and sayde vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue. <sup>5</sup>Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth. <sup>6</sup>Forsake her not, and shee shall keepe thee: loue her and shee shall preserue thee. <sup>7</sup>Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding. <sup>8</sup>Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her. <sup>9</sup>She shall giue a comely ornamet vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glorie. <sup>10</sup>Heare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe many. <sup>11</sup>I haue taught thee in ye way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousness. <sup>12</sup>Whe thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall. <sup>13</sup>Take holde of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for shee is thy life. <sup>14</sup>Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men. <sup>15</sup>Auoide it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by. <sup>16</sup>For they can not sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth except they cause some to fall. <sup>17</sup>For they eate the breade of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence. <sup>18</sup>But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that shineth more and more vnto the perfite day. <sup>19</sup>The way of the wicked is as the darkenes: they knowe not wherein they shall fall. <sup>20</sup>My sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, incline thine eare vnto my sayings. <sup>21</sup>Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the middes of thine heart. <sup>22</sup>For they are life vnto those that find them, and health vnto all their flesh. <sup>23</sup>Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth life. <sup>24</sup>Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lippes farre from thee. <sup>25</sup>Let thine eyes beholde the right, and let thine eyelids direct thy way before thee. <sup>26</sup>Ponder the path of thy feete, and let all thy waies be ordred aright. <sup>27</sup>Turne not to the right hande, nor to the left, but remooue thy foote from euill.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>My sonne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and incline thine eare vnto my knowledge. <sup>2</sup>That thou maiest regarde counsell, and thy lippes obserue knowledge. <sup>3</sup>For the lippes of a strange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more soft then oyle. <sup>4</sup>But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sworde. <sup>5</sup>Her feete goe downe to death, and her steps take holde on hell. <sup>6</sup>She weighth not the way of life: her paths are moueable: thou canst not knowe them. <sup>7</sup>Heare yee me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth. <sup>8</sup>Keep thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house, <sup>9</sup>Least thou giue thine honor vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell: <sup>10</sup>Least the stranger should be silled with thy strength, and thy labours bee in the house of a stranger, <sup>11</sup>And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy bodie) <sup>12</sup>And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction! <sup>13</sup>And haue not obeyed the voyce of them that taught mee, nor enclined mine eare to them that instructed me! <sup>14</sup>I was almost brought into all euil in ye mids of the Congregation and assemblie. <sup>15</sup>Drinke the water of thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well. <sup>16</sup>Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streetes. <sup>17</sup>But let them bee thine, euen thine onely, and not the strangers with thee. <sup>18</sup>Let thy fontaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth. <sup>19</sup>Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her brests satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually. <sup>20</sup>For why shouldest thou delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger? <sup>21</sup>For the waies of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes. <sup>22</sup>His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne. <sup>23</sup>Hee shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great follie.

<sup>1</sup>My sonne, if thou be surety for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger, <sup>2</sup>Thou art snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth. <sup>3</sup>Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hande of thy neighbour, goe, and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends. <sup>4</sup>Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyelids. <sup>5</sup>Deliuer thy selfe as a doe from the hande of the hunter, and as a birde from the hande of the fowler. <sup>6</sup>Goe to the pismire, O sluggarde: beholde her waies, and be wise. <sup>7</sup>For shee hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler, <sup>8</sup>Prepareth her meat in the sommer, and gathereth her foode in haruest. <sup>9</sup>Howe long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggarde? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe? <sup>10</sup>Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, a litle folding of the hands to sleepe. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man. <sup>12</sup>The vnthrifitie man and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth. <sup>13</sup>He maketh a signe with his eyes: he signifieth with his feete: he instructeth with his fingers. <sup>14</sup>Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions. <sup>15</sup>Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: hee shall be destroyed suddenly without recouerie. <sup>16</sup>These sixe things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen: <sup>17</sup>The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood, <sup>18</sup>An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, feete that be swift in running to mischief, <sup>19</sup>A false witnesse that speaketh lyes, and him that rayseth vp contentions among brethren. <sup>20</sup>My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction. <sup>21</sup>Binde them alway vpon thine heart, and tye them about thy necke. <sup>22</sup>It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee. <sup>23</sup>For the commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life, <sup>24</sup>To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from ye flatterie of ye tongue of a strange woman. <sup>25</sup>Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eye lids. <sup>26</sup>For because of the whorish woman a man is brought to a morsell of brad, and a woman wil hunt for the precious life of a man. <sup>27</sup>Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt? <sup>28</sup>Or can a man go vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt? <sup>29</sup>So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her. <sup>30</sup>Men do not despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his soule, because he is hungrie. <sup>31</sup>But if he be founde, he shall restore seuen folde, or he shall giue all the substance of his house. <sup>32</sup>But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule. <sup>33</sup>He shall finde a wounde and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away. <sup>34</sup>For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance. <sup>35</sup>He cannot beare the sight of any raunsome: neither will he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

<sup>1</sup>My sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee. <sup>2</sup>Keep my commandements, and thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes. <sup>3</sup>Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart. <sup>4</sup>Say vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman, <sup>5</sup>That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smoothe in her wordes. <sup>6</sup>As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window, <sup>7</sup>And I sawe among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding, <sup>8</sup>Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house, <sup>9</sup>In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be blacke and darke. <sup>10</sup>And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots behaiour, and subtil in heart. <sup>11</sup>(She is babling and loud: whose feete can not abide in her house. <sup>12</sup>Nowe she is without, nowe in the streetes, and lyeth in waite at euery corner) <sup>13</sup>So she caught him and kissed him and with an impudent face said vnto him, <sup>14</sup>I haue peace offerings: this day haue I payed my vowes. <sup>15</sup>Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee. <sup>16</sup>I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt. <sup>17</sup>I haue perfumed my bedde with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom. <sup>18</sup>Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance. <sup>19</sup>For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off. <sup>20</sup>He hath taken with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed. <sup>21</sup>Thus with her great craft she caused him to yelde, and with her flattering lips she entised him. <sup>22</sup>And he followed her straight wayes, as an oxe that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stockes for correction, <sup>23</sup>Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that he is in danger. <sup>24</sup>Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth. <sup>25</sup>Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths. <sup>26</sup>For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the strong men are all slaine by her. <sup>27</sup>Her house is the way vnto ye graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

<sup>1</sup>Doth not wisdom crie? and vnderstanding vtter her voyce? <sup>2</sup>She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths. <sup>3</sup>She cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entrie of the doores, <sup>4</sup>O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voyce to the children of men. <sup>5</sup>O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart. <sup>6</sup>Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes, shall teache things that be right. <sup>7</sup>For my mouth shall speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednesse. <sup>8</sup>All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardnesse in them. <sup>9</sup>They are all plaine to him that will vnderstande, and streight to them that woulde finde knowledge. <sup>10</sup>Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde. <sup>11</sup>For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her. <sup>12</sup>I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsels. <sup>13</sup>The feare of the Lord is to hate euill as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I doe hate. <sup>14</sup>I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength. <sup>15</sup>By me, Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice. <sup>16</sup>By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth. <sup>17</sup>I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me carely, shall finde me. <sup>18</sup>Riches and honour are with me: euen durable riches and righteousness. <sup>19</sup>My fruite is better then golde, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer. <sup>20</sup>I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the middes of the paths of iudgement, <sup>21</sup>That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures. <sup>22</sup>The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his workes of olde. <sup>23</sup>I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning and before the earth. <sup>24</sup>When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water. <sup>25</sup>Before the mountaines were settled: and before the hilles, was I begotten. <sup>26</sup>He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde. <sup>27</sup>When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when he set the compasse vpon the deepe. <sup>28</sup>When he established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe, <sup>29</sup>When he gaue his decree to the Sea, that the waters shoulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the foundations of the earth, <sup>30</sup>Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was dayly his delight reioycing alway before him, <sup>31</sup>And tooke my solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delite is with the children of men. <sup>32</sup>Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes. <sup>33</sup>Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth mee, watching dayly at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores. <sup>34</sup>For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord. <sup>35</sup>But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue death.

<sup>1</sup>Wisedome hath built her house, and hewen out her seuen pillars. <sup>2</sup>She hath killed her vitales, drawen her wine, and prepared her table. <sup>3</sup>She hath sent forth her maydens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying, <sup>4</sup>Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisedome, she sayth, <sup>5</sup>Come, and eate of my meate, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawen. <sup>6</sup>Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding. <sup>7</sup>He that reproueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot. <sup>8</sup>Rebuke not a scorner, least he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee. <sup>9</sup>Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teache a righteous man, and he will increase in learning. <sup>10</sup>The beginning of wisedome is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is vnderstanding. <sup>11</sup>For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe augmented. <sup>12</sup>If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy selfe, and if thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer. <sup>13</sup>A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing. <sup>14</sup>But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seate in the hie places of the citie, <sup>15</sup>To call them that passe by the way, that go right on their way, saying, <sup>16</sup>Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisedome, shee sayth also, <sup>17</sup>Stollen waters are sweete, and hid bread is pleasant. <sup>18</sup>But he knoweth not, that ye dead are there, and that her ghestes are in the depth of hell.

<sup>1</sup>THE PARABLE OF SALOMON. A wise sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauines to his mother. <sup>2</sup>The treasures of wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death. <sup>3</sup>The Lord will not famish the soule of the righteous: but he casteth away the substance of the wicked. <sup>4</sup>A slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche. <sup>5</sup>He that gathereth in sommer, is the sonne of wisdom: but he that sleepeth in haruest, is the sonne of confusion. <sup>6</sup>Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked. <sup>7</sup>The memoriall of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rotte. <sup>8</sup>The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talke shalbe beaten. <sup>9</sup>He that walketh vprightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruerteth his wayes, shalbe known. <sup>10</sup>He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he yet is foolish in talke, shalbe beaten. <sup>11</sup>The mouth of a righteous man is a welspiring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked. <sup>12</sup>Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses. <sup>13</sup>In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisedome is founde, and a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisedome. <sup>14</sup>Wise men lay vp knowledge: but ye mouth of the foole is a present destruction. <sup>15</sup>The riche mans goodes are his strong citie: but the feare of the needie is their pouertie. <sup>16</sup>The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne. <sup>17</sup>He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way. <sup>18</sup>He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slaunder, is a foole. <sup>19</sup>In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refrayneth his lippes, is wise. <sup>20</sup>The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is litle worth. <sup>21</sup>The lippes of the righteous doe feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisedome. <sup>22</sup>The blessing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde no sorowes with it. <sup>23</sup>It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisedome is vnderstanding to a man. <sup>24</sup>That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God wil graunt the desire of the righteous. <sup>25</sup>As the whirlwinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation. <sup>26</sup>As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthful to them that send him. <sup>27</sup>The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked shalbe diminished. <sup>28</sup>The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish. <sup>29</sup>The way of the Lord is strength to the vpriht man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie. <sup>30</sup>The righteous shall neuer be remoued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land. <sup>31</sup>The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out. <sup>32</sup>The lips of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

<sup>1</sup>False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite weight pleaseeth him. <sup>2</sup>When pride commeth, then commeth shame: but with the lowly is wisedome. <sup>3</sup>The vprihtnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnes of the transgressors shall destroy them. <sup>4</sup>Riches auail not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death. <sup>5</sup>The righteousness of the vpriht shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes. <sup>6</sup>The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednes. <sup>7</sup>When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish. <sup>8</sup>The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his steade. <sup>9</sup>An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge. <sup>10</sup>In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioye. <sup>11</sup>By the blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked. <sup>12</sup>He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisedome: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence. <sup>13</sup>Hee that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but hee that is of a faithfull heart concealeth a matter. <sup>14</sup>Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellors are, there is health. <sup>15</sup>Hee shall be sore vexed, that is suretie for a stranger, and he that hateth suretiship, is sure. <sup>16</sup>A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches. <sup>17</sup>Hee that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his own flesh, is cruel. <sup>18</sup>The wicked worketh a deceitful worke: but hee that soweth righteousness, shall receiue a sure rewarde. <sup>19</sup>As righteousness leadeth to life: so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death. <sup>20</sup>They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpriht in their way, are his delite. <sup>21</sup>Though hande ioyne in hande, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape. <sup>22</sup>As a iewell of golde in a swines snoute: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion. <sup>23</sup>The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation. <sup>24</sup>There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but hee that spareth more then is right, surely commeth to pouertie. <sup>25</sup>The liberall person shall haue plentie: and he that watereth, shall also haue raine. <sup>26</sup>He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shalbe vpon the head of him that selleth corne. <sup>27</sup>He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him. <sup>28</sup>He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall florish as a leafe. <sup>29</sup>He that troubleth his owne house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole shalbe seruant to the wise in heart. <sup>30</sup>The fruite of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, the righteous shalbe recompensed in the earth: howe much more the wicked and the sinner?

<sup>9</sup>He that is despised, and is his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe and lacketh bread. <sup>10</sup>A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell. <sup>11</sup>He that tilleth his lande, shalbe satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding. <sup>12</sup>The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth fruite. <sup>13</sup>The euill man is snared by the wickednesse of his lips, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie. <sup>14</sup>A man shalbe satiate with good things by the fruite of his mouth, and the recompence of a mans hands shall God giue vnto him. <sup>15</sup>The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsell, is wise. <sup>16</sup>A foole in a day shall be known by his anger: but he that couereth shame, is wise. <sup>17</sup>He that speaketh trueth, will shewe righteousness: but a false witnes vseth deceite. <sup>18</sup>There is that speaketh wordes like the prickings of a sworde: but the tongue of wise men is health. <sup>19</sup>The lip of trueth shall be stable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently. <sup>20</sup>Deceite is in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counsellors of peace shall be ioye. <sup>21</sup>There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euill. <sup>22</sup>The lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truly are his delite. <sup>23</sup>A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fooles publisheth foolishnes. <sup>24</sup>The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shalbe vnder tribute. <sup>25</sup>Heauines in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good worde reioyceth it. <sup>26</sup>The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked will deceiue them. <sup>27</sup>The deceitfull man roseth not, that hee tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious. <sup>28</sup>Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path way there is no death.

<sup>1</sup>A wise sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scorner will heare no rebuke. <sup>2</sup>A man shall eat good things by the fruite of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence. <sup>3</sup>Hee that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lips, destruction shall be to him. <sup>4</sup>The sluggard lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie. <sup>5</sup>A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked causeth slander and shame. <sup>6</sup>Righteousnesse preserueth the vpright of life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the sinner. <sup>7</sup>There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches. <sup>8</sup>A man will giue his riches for the ransom of his life: but the poore cannot heare ye reproch. <sup>9</sup>The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out. <sup>10</sup>Onely by pride doeth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wisdom. <sup>11</sup>The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them. <sup>12</sup>The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, it is as a tree of life. <sup>13</sup>He that despiseth the worde, hee shall be destroyed: but hee that feareth the commandement he shalbe rewarded. <sup>14</sup>The instruction of a wise man is as the wellspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death. <sup>15</sup>Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated. <sup>16</sup>Euery wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly. <sup>17</sup>A wicked messenger falleth into euill: but a faithfull ambassadour is preservation. <sup>18</sup>Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but hee that regardeth correction, shalbe honoured. <sup>19</sup>A desire accomplished deliteth ye soule: but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euil. <sup>20</sup>He that walketh with the wise, shalbe wise: but a companion of fooles shalbe afflicted. <sup>21</sup>Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good. <sup>22</sup>The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his children: and the riches of the sinner is layde vp for the iust. <sup>23</sup>Much foode is in the felde of the poore: but the felde is destroyed without discretion. <sup>24</sup>He that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that loueth him, chasteneth him betime. <sup>25</sup>The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

<sup>4</sup>Where none oxen are, there the cribbe is emptie: but much increase cometh by the strength of the ox. <sup>5</sup>A faithfull witnes will not lye: but a false record will speake lyes. <sup>6</sup>A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstande. <sup>7</sup>Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge. <sup>8</sup>The wisdom of ye prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnes of the fooles is deceite. <sup>9</sup>The foole maketh a mocke of sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour. <sup>10</sup>The heart knoweth the bitternes of his soule, and the stranger shall not medle with his ioy. <sup>11</sup>The house of the wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall florish. <sup>12</sup>There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the wayes of death. <sup>13</sup>Euen in laughing the heart is sorrowful, and the end of that mirth is heauinesse. <sup>14</sup>The heart that declineth, shall be satiate with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him. <sup>15</sup>The foolish will beleue euery thing: but the prudent will consider his steppes. <sup>16</sup>A wise man feareth, and departeth from euill: but a foole rageth, and is carelesse. <sup>17</sup>He that is hastie to anger, committeth follie, and a busie body is hated. <sup>18</sup>The foolish do inherite follie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge. <sup>19</sup>The euill shall bowe before the good, and the wicked at the gates of the righteous. <sup>20</sup>The poore is hated euen of his own neighbour: but the friends of the rich are many. <sup>21</sup>The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is blessed. <sup>22</sup>Doe not they erre that imagine euill? but to them that thinke on good things, shalbe mercie and trueth. <sup>23</sup>In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth onely want. <sup>24</sup>The crowne of the wise is their riches, and the follie of fooles is foolishnes. <sup>25</sup>A faithfull witnes deliuereth soules: but a deceiuer speaketh lyes. <sup>26</sup>In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope. <sup>27</sup>The feare of the Lord is as a wellspring of life, to auoyde the snares of death. <sup>28</sup>In the multitude of the people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the Prince. <sup>29</sup>He that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisdom: but he that is of an hastie minde, exalteth follie. <sup>30</sup>A sounde heart is the life of the flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones. <sup>31</sup>He that oppresseth the poore, reprooueth him that made him: but hee honoureth him, that hath mercie on the poore. <sup>32</sup>The wicked shall be cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death. <sup>33</sup>Wisdom resteth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is known in the mids of fooles. <sup>34</sup>Iustice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people. <sup>35</sup>The pleasure of a King is in a wise seruant: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

<sup>1</sup>A soft answer putteth away wrath: but grieuous wordes stirre vp anger. <sup>2</sup>The tongue of the wise vseth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles babbleth out foolishnesse. <sup>3</sup>The eyes of the Lord in euery place beholde the euill and the good. <sup>4</sup>A wholesome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnes therof is the breaking of ye minde. <sup>5</sup>A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent. <sup>6</sup>The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is trouble. <sup>7</sup>The lippes of the wise doe spread abroad knowledge: but ye heart of the foolish doth not so. <sup>8</sup>The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him. <sup>9</sup>The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteousness. <sup>10</sup>Instruction is euill to him that forsaketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die. <sup>11</sup>Hell and destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the sonnes of men? <sup>12</sup>A scorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither will he goe vnto the wise. <sup>13</sup>A ioyfull heart maketh a chearefull countenance: but by the sorow of the heart the minde is heauie. <sup>14</sup>The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fedde with foolishnes. <sup>15</sup>All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast. <sup>16</sup>Better is a litle with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure, and trouble therewith. <sup>17</sup>Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled ox and hatred therewith. <sup>18</sup>An angrie man stirreth vp strife: but hee that is slowe to wrath, appeaseth strife. <sup>19</sup>The way of a slouthfull man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine. <sup>20</sup>A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother. <sup>21</sup>Foolishnes is ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding

walketh vprightly. <sup>22</sup>Without counsel thoughts come to nought: but in the multitude of counsellors there is stedfastnesse. <sup>23</sup>A ioy commeth to a man by the answere of his mouth: and how good is a word in due season? <sup>24</sup>The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoyde from hell beneath. <sup>25</sup>The Lord will destroye the house of the proude men: but hee will stablish the borders of the widowe. <sup>26</sup>The thoughts of ye wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure haue pleasant wordes. <sup>27</sup>He that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth giftes, shall liue. <sup>28</sup>The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euil thinges. <sup>29</sup>The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous. <sup>30</sup>The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat. <sup>31</sup>The eare that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise. <sup>32</sup>Hee that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding. <sup>33</sup>The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour, goeth humilitie.

<sup>1</sup>The preparations of the heart are in man: but the answere of the tongue is of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>All the wayes of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the spirits. <sup>3</sup>Commit thy workes vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shalbe directed. <sup>4</sup>The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill. <sup>5</sup>All that are proude in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though hand ioyne in hand, he shall not be vnpunished. <sup>6</sup>By mercy and trueth iniquitie shalbe forgien, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill. <sup>7</sup>When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him. <sup>8</sup>Better is a litle with righteousness, then great reuenues without equitie. <sup>9</sup>The heart of man purposeth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his steppes. <sup>10</sup>A diuine sentence shalbe in the lips of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement. <sup>11</sup>A true weight and balance are of the Lord: all the weightes of the bagge are his worke. <sup>12</sup>It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is stablished by iustice. <sup>13</sup>Righteous lips are the delite of Kings, and the King loueth him that speaketh right things. <sup>14</sup>The wrath of a King is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it. <sup>15</sup>In the light of the Kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloude of the latter raine. <sup>16</sup>Howe much better is it to get wisdom then golde? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer. <sup>17</sup>The pathe of the righteous is to decline from euil, and hee keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way. <sup>18</sup>Pride goeth before destruction, and an high minde before the fall. <sup>19</sup>Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to deuide the spoyle with the proude. <sup>20</sup>He that is wise in his busines, shall finde good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed. <sup>21</sup>The wise in heart shall bee called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lippes shall increase doctrine. <sup>22</sup>Vnderstanding is wel spring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of fooles is folly. <sup>23</sup>The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lippes. <sup>24</sup>Faire wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, and health to the bones. <sup>25</sup>There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death. <sup>26</sup>The person that traueileth, traueileth for himselfe: for his mouth craueth it of him. <sup>27</sup>A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lippes is like burning fire. <sup>28</sup>A frowarde person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes. <sup>29</sup>A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good. <sup>30</sup>He shutteth his eyes to deuise wickednes: he moueth his lippes, and bringeth euil to passe. <sup>31</sup>Age is a crowne of glory, when it is founde in the way of righteousness. <sup>32</sup>He that is slowe vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and hee that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie. <sup>33</sup>The lot is cast into the lap: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

CHAPTER 17

vnpunished. <sup>6</sup>Childres children are the crowne of the elders: and the glory of ye children are their fathers. <sup>7</sup>Hie talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince. <sup>8</sup>A rewarde is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whithersoer it turneth. <sup>9</sup>Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but hee that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince. <sup>10</sup>A reproofe entereth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole. <sup>11</sup>A seditious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruel messenger shall be sent against him. <sup>12</sup>It is better for a man to meete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his follie. <sup>13</sup>He that rewardeth euil for good, euil shall not depart from his house. <sup>14</sup>The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore or the contention be medled with, leaue off. <sup>15</sup>He that iustificieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord. <sup>16</sup>Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath none heart? <sup>17</sup>A friende loueth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersitie. <sup>18</sup>A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the hande, and becommeth suretie for his neighbour. <sup>19</sup>He loueth transgression, that loueth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction. <sup>20</sup>The froward heart findeth no good: and he that hath a naughtie tongue, shall fall into euill. <sup>21</sup>He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy. <sup>22</sup>A ioyfull heart causeth good health: but a sorowfull minde dryeth the bones. <sup>23</sup>A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to wrest the wayes of iudgement. <sup>24</sup>Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world. <sup>25</sup>A foolish sonne is a grieue vnto his father, and a heauines to her that bare him. <sup>26</sup>Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that ye princes should smite such for equitie. <sup>27</sup>Hee that hath knowledge, spareth his wordes, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit. <sup>28</sup>Euen a foole (when he holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and hee that stoppeth his lips, prudent.

<sup>1</sup>For the desire thereof hee will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisdom. <sup>2</sup>A foole hath no delite in vnderstanding: but that his heart may be discovered. <sup>3</sup>When the wicked commeth, then commeth contempt, and with the vile man reproch. <sup>4</sup>The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the wel spring of wisdom is like a flowing riuier. <sup>5</sup>It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause ye righteous to fall in iudgement. <sup>6</sup>A fooles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes. <sup>7</sup>A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule. <sup>8</sup>The wordes of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly. <sup>9</sup>He also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster. <sup>10</sup>The Name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted. <sup>11</sup>The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an hie wall in his imagination. <sup>12</sup>Before destruction the heart of a man is hautie, and before glory goeth lowlines. <sup>13</sup>He that answereth a matter before hee heare it, it is folly and shame vnto him. <sup>14</sup>The spirit of a man will susteine his infirmitie: but a wounded spirit who can beare it? <sup>15</sup>A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the eare of the wise seeketh learning. <sup>16</sup>A mans gift enlargeth him, and leadeth him before great men. <sup>17</sup>He that is first in his owne cause, is iust: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh inquirie of him. <sup>18</sup>The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie. <sup>19</sup>A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace. <sup>20</sup>With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled. <sup>21</sup>Death and life are in the power of ye tongue, and they that loue it, shall eate the fruite thereof. <sup>22</sup>He that findeth a wife, findeth a good thing, and receiueth fauour of the Lord. <sup>23</sup>The poore speaketh with prayers: but the rich answereth roughly. <sup>24</sup>A man that hath friends, ought to shew him selfe friendly: for a friend is neerer then a brother.

CHAPTER 19

<sup>1</sup>Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole. <sup>2</sup>For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that hasteth with his feete, sinneth. <sup>3</sup>The foolishnesse of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart freateth against the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Riches gather

many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour. <sup>5</sup>A false witnes shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall not escape. <sup>6</sup>Many reuerence the face of the prince, and euery man is friend to him that giueth giftes. <sup>7</sup>All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: howe much more will his friends depart farre from him? though hee be instant with wordes, yet they will not. <sup>8</sup>He that possesseth vnderstanding, loueth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to finde goodnesse. <sup>9</sup>A false witnes shall not be vnpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall perish. <sup>10</sup>Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes. <sup>11</sup>The discretion of man deferreth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence. <sup>12</sup>The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a lyon: but his fauour is like the dewe vpon ye grasse. <sup>13</sup>A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping. <sup>14</sup>House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife commeth of the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Slouthfulnes causeth to fall asleepe, and a deceitfull person shall be affamished. <sup>16</sup>He that keepeth the commandement, keepeth his owne soule: but hee that despiseth his wayes, shall dye. <sup>17</sup>He that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen. <sup>18</sup>Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring. <sup>19</sup>A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliuer him, yet wil his anger come againe. <sup>20</sup>Heare counsell and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter ende. <sup>21</sup>Many deuises are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand. <sup>22</sup>That that is to be desired of a man, is his goodnes, and a poore man is better then a lyer. <sup>23</sup>The feare of the Lord leadeth to life: and he that is filled therewith, shall continue, and shall not be visited with euill. <sup>24</sup>The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and wil not put it to his mouth againe. <sup>25</sup>Smite a scorner, and the foolish wil beware: and reprove the prudent, and he wil vnderstand knowledge. <sup>26</sup>He that destroyeth his father, or chaseth away his mother, is a lewde and shamefull childe. <sup>27</sup>My sonne, heare no more the instruction, that causeth to erre from ye words of knowledge. <sup>28</sup>A wicked witnes mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of ye wicked swalloweth vp iniquitie. <sup>29</sup>But iudgements are prepared for the scornors, and stripes for the backe of the fooles.

<sup>1</sup>Wine is a mocker and strong drinke is raging: and whosoever is deceiued thereby, is not wise. <sup>2</sup>The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lyon: hee that prouoketh him vnto anger, sinneth against his owne soule. <sup>3</sup>It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be medling. <sup>4</sup>The slouthfull will not plowe, because of winter: therefore shall he beg in sommer, but haue nothing. <sup>5</sup>The counsell in the heart of man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will drawe it out. <sup>6</sup>Many men wil boast, euery one of his owne goodnes: but who can finde a faithfull man? <sup>7</sup>He that walketh in his integritie, is iust: and blessed shall his children be after him. <sup>8</sup>A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, chaseth away all euill with his eyes. <sup>9</sup>Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne? <sup>10</sup>Diuers weightes, and diuers measures, both these are euen abomination vnto the Lord. <sup>11</sup>A childe also is knowen by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right. <sup>12</sup>The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see. <sup>13</sup>Loue not sleepe least thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread. <sup>14</sup>It is naught, it is naught, sayth the buyer: but when he is gone apart, he boasteth. <sup>15</sup>There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lips of knowledge are a precious iewel. <sup>16</sup>Take his garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger. <sup>17</sup>The bread of deceit is sweete to a man: but afterward his mouth shall be filled with grauel. <sup>18</sup>Establish the thoughtes by counsell: and by counsell make warre. <sup>19</sup>He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips. <sup>20</sup>He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darkenes. <sup>21</sup>An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed. <sup>22</sup>Say not thou, I wil recompense euill: but waite vpon the Lord, and he shall saue thee. <sup>23</sup>Diuers weightes are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good. <sup>24</sup>The steps of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way? <sup>25</sup>It is a destruction for a man to deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vovowes to inquire. <sup>26</sup>A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the wheele to turne ouer them. <sup>27</sup>The light of the Lord is the breath of man, and searcheth all the bowels of the belly. <sup>28</sup>Mercie and trueth preserue the King: for his throne shall be established with mercie. <sup>29</sup>The beautie of yong men is their strength, and the glory of the aged is the gray head. <sup>30</sup>The blewnes of the wound serueth to purge the euill, and the stripes within the bowels of the belly.

CHAPTER 21

CHAPTER 22

<sup>1</sup>A good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue siluer and aboue golde. <sup>2</sup>The rich and poore meete together: the Lord is the maker of them all. <sup>3</sup>A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished. <sup>4</sup>The rewarde of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life. <sup>5</sup>Thornes and snares are in the way of the frowarde: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them. <sup>6</sup>Teache a childe in the trade of his way, and when he is olde, he shall not depart from it. <sup>7</sup>The rich ruleth the poore, and the borower is seruant to the man that lendeth. <sup>8</sup>He that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the rodde of his anger shall faile. <sup>9</sup>He that hath a good eye, he shalbe blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore. <sup>10</sup>Cast out the scorner, and strife shall go out: so contention and reproche shall cease. <sup>11</sup>Hee that loueth purenesse of heart for the grace of his lippes, the King shalbe his friend. <sup>12</sup>The eyes of the Lord preserue knowledge: but hee ouerthroweth the wordes of the transgressour. <sup>13</sup>The slouthfull man saith, A lyon is without, I shall be slaine in the streete. <sup>14</sup>The mouth of strage women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angry, shall fall therein. <sup>15</sup>Foolishnesse is bounde in the heart of a childe: but the rodde of correction shall driue it away from him. <sup>16</sup>Hee that oppresseth the poore to increase him selfe, and giueth vnto the riche, shall surely come to pouertie. <sup>17</sup>Incline thine eare, and heare the wordes of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge. <sup>18</sup>For it shalbe pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy bellie, and if they be directed together in thy lippes. <sup>19</sup>That thy confidence may be in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede. <sup>20</sup>Haue not I written vnto thee three times in counsels and knowledge, <sup>21</sup>That I might shewe thee the assurance of the wordes of trueth to answere the wordes of trueth to them that sende to thee? <sup>22</sup>Robbe not the poore, because hee is poore, neither oppresse the afflicted in iudgement. <sup>23</sup>For the Lord will defende their cause, and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them. <sup>24</sup>Make no friendship with an angrie man, neither goe with the furious man, <sup>25</sup>Least thou learne his wayes, and receiue destruction to thy soule. <sup>26</sup>Be not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts. <sup>27</sup>If thou hast nothing to paye, why causest thou that he should take thy bed from vnder thee? <sup>28</sup>Thou shalt not remooue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made. <sup>29</sup>Thou seest that a diligent man in his businesse standeth before Kings, and standeth not before the base sort.

<sup>1</sup>When thou sittest to eate with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee, <sup>2</sup>And put the knife to thy throte, if thou be a man giuen to the appetite. <sup>3</sup>Be not desirous of his deintie meates: for it is a deceiuable meate. <sup>4</sup>Trouaile not too much to be rich: but cease from thy wisdom. <sup>5</sup>Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing? for riches taketh her to her wings, as an eagle, and flyeth into the heauen. <sup>6</sup>Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euil eye, neither desire his deintie meates. <sup>7</sup>For as though he thought it in his heart, so will hee say vnto thee, Eate and drinke: but his heart is not with thee. <sup>8</sup>Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweete wordes. <sup>9</sup>Speake not in the eares of a foole: for hee will despise the wisdom of thy wordes. <sup>10</sup>Remooue not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fieldes of the fatherlesse. <sup>11</sup>For he that redeemeth them, is mightie: he will defend their cause against thee. <sup>12</sup>Apply thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the wordes of knowledge. <sup>13</sup>Withhold not correction from the childe: if thou smite him with the rodde, he shall not die. <sup>14</sup>Thou shalt smite him with the rodde, and shalt deliuer his soule from hell. <sup>15</sup>My sonne, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also. <sup>16</sup>And my reynes shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things. <sup>17</sup>Let not thine heart bee enuious against sinners: but let it bee in the feare of the Lord continually. <sup>18</sup>For surely there is an ende, and thy hope shall not be cut off. <sup>19</sup>O thou my sonne, heare, and bee wise, and guide thine heart in the way. <sup>20</sup>Keepe not company with drunkards, nor with gluttons. <sup>21</sup>For the drunkard and the glutton shall bee poore, and the sleeper shalbe clothed with ragges. <sup>22</sup>Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is olde. <sup>23</sup>Bye the trueth, but sell it not: likewise wisdom, and instruction, and vnderstanding. <sup>24</sup>The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and hee that begetteth a wise childe, shall haue ioy of him. <sup>25</sup>Thy father and thy mother shall be glad, and she that bare thee shall reioyce. <sup>26</sup>My sonne, giue mee thine heart, and let thine eyes delite in my wayes. <sup>27</sup>For a whore is as a deepe ditch, and a strange woman is as a narrowe pitte. <sup>28</sup>Also she lyeth in wait as for a praye, and she increaseth the transgressors among men. <sup>29</sup>To whome is woe? to whome is sorowe? to whom is strife? to whom is murmuring? to whom are woundes without cause? and to whome is the rednesse of the eyes? <sup>30</sup>Euen to them that tarie long at the wine, to them that goe, and seeke mixt wine. <sup>31</sup>Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly. <sup>32</sup>In the ende thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice. <sup>33</sup>Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things. <sup>34</sup>And thou shalt bee as one that sleepeth in the middes of the sea, and as hee that sleepeth in the toppe of the mast. <sup>35</sup>They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten mee, but I knew not, when I awoke: therefore will I seeke it yet still.

<sup>1</sup>Be not thou enuious against euill men, neither desire to be with them. <sup>2</sup>For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lippes speake mischief. <sup>3</sup>Through wisdom is an house builded, and with vnderstanding it is established. <sup>4</sup>And by knowledge shall the chambers bee filled with all precious, and pleasant riches. <sup>5</sup>A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding encreaseth his strength. <sup>6</sup>For with counsel thou shalt enterprise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell, is health. <sup>7</sup>Wisdom is hie to a foole: therefore he can not open his mouth in the gate. <sup>8</sup>Hee that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an autour of wickednes. <sup>9</sup>The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men. <sup>10</sup>If thou bee faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small. <sup>11</sup>Deliuer them that are drawn to death: wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine? <sup>12</sup>If thou say, Beholde, we knew not of it: he that pondereth the heartes, doeth not hee vnderstand it? and hee that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not? will not he also recompense euery man according to his workes? <sup>13</sup>My sonne, eate hony, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is sweete vnto thy mouth. <sup>14</sup>So shall the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, and there shall be an ende, and thine hope shall not be cut off. <sup>15</sup>Laye no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place. <sup>16</sup>For a iust man falleth seuen times, and riseth againe: but the wicked fall into mischief. <sup>17</sup>Bee thou not glad when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when hee stumbleth, <sup>18</sup>Least the Lord see it, and it displease him, and he turne his wrath from him. <sup>19</sup>Fret not thy selfe because of the malicious, neither be enuious at the wicked. <sup>20</sup>For there shall bee none ende of plagues to the euill man: the light of the wicked shall bee put out. <sup>21</sup>My sonne feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are sedicious. <sup>22</sup>For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them both? <sup>23</sup>ALSO THESE THINGS PERTEINE TO THE WISE, It is not good to haue respect of any person in iudgement. <sup>24</sup>He that saith to the wicked, Thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him. <sup>25</sup>But to them that rebuke him, shall be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodnesse. <sup>26</sup>They shall kisse the lippes of him that answereth vpriht wordes. <sup>27</sup>Prepare thy worke without, and make readie thy thinges in the fiede, and after, builde thine house. <sup>28</sup>Be not a witnes against thy neighbour without cause: for wilt thou deceiue with thy lippes? <sup>29</sup>Say not, I wil doe to him, as he hath done to mee, I will recompence euery man according to his worke. <sup>30</sup>I passed by the fiede of the slouthfull, and by the vineyarde of the man destitute of vnderstanding. <sup>31</sup>And lo, it was al growen ouer with thornes, and nettles had couered the face thereof, and the stone wall thereof was broken downe. <sup>32</sup>Then I behelde, and I considered it well: I looked vpon it, and receiued instruction. <sup>33</sup>Yet a litle sleepe, a litle slumber, a litle folding of the handes to sleepe. <sup>34</sup>So thy pouertie commeth as one that traueileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

<sup>1</sup>THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the men of Hezekiah King of Iudah copied out. <sup>2</sup>The glorie of God is to concele a thing secret: but the Kings honour is to search out a thing. <sup>3</sup>The heauens in height, and the earth in deepenes, and the Kings heart can no man search out. <sup>4</sup>Take the drosse from the siluer, and there shall proceede a vessell for the finer. <sup>5</sup>Take away the wicked from the King, and his throne shall be stablished in righteousness. <sup>6</sup>Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men. <sup>7</sup>For it is better, that it be saide vnto thee, Come vp hither, then thou to be put lower in the presee of the prince whom thine eyes haue seene. <sup>8</sup>Goe not forth hastily to strife, least thou know not what to doe in the ende thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame. <sup>9</sup>Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discouer not the secret to another, <sup>10</sup>Least he that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not cease. <sup>11</sup>A word spoken in his place, is like apples of golde with pictures of siluer. <sup>12</sup>He that reprooueth the wise, and the obedient eare, is as a golden earering and an ornament of fine golde. <sup>13</sup>As the colde of the snowe in the time of haruest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters. <sup>14</sup>A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like cloudes and winde without raine. <sup>15</sup>A Prince is pacified

by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones. <sup>16</sup>If thou haue found hony, eate that is sufficient for thee, least thou be ouerfull, and vomit it. <sup>17</sup>Withdraw thy foote from thy neighbours house, least he be weary of thee, and hate thee. <sup>18</sup>A man that beareth false witnes against his neighbour, is like an hammer and a sword, and a sharpe arrowe. <sup>19</sup>Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth and a sliding foote. <sup>20</sup>Hee that taketh away the garment in the colde season, is like vineger powred vpon nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauy heart. <sup>21</sup>If hee that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke. <sup>22</sup>For thou shalt lay coles vpon his head, and the Lord shall recompense thee. <sup>23</sup>As the Northwinde driueth away the raine, so doeth an angry countenance the slandering tongue. <sup>24</sup>It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top, then with a contentious woman in a wide house. <sup>25</sup>As are the colde waters to a weary soule, so is good newes from a farre countrey. <sup>26</sup>A righteous man falling downe before the wicked, is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring. <sup>27</sup>It is not good to eate much hony: so to search their owne glory is not glory. <sup>28</sup>A man that refraineth not his appetite, is like a citie which is broken downe and without walles.

CHAPTER 26

<sup>1</sup>As the snowe in the sommer, and as the raine in the haruest are not meete, so is honour vnseemely for a foole. <sup>2</sup>As the sparowe by flying, and the swallow by flying escape, so the curse that is causeles, shall not come. <sup>3</sup>Vnto the horse belongeth a whip, to the asse a bridle, and a rod to the fooles backe. <sup>4</sup>Answer not a foole according to his foolishnes, least thou also be like him. <sup>5</sup>Answer a foole according to his foolishnes, least he be wise in his owne conceite. <sup>6</sup>He that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, is as he that cutteth off the feete, and drinketh iniquitie. <sup>7</sup>As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a fooles mouth. <sup>8</sup>As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heape of stones, so is he that giueth glory to a foole. <sup>9</sup>As a thorne standing vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles. <sup>10</sup>The excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors. <sup>11</sup>As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, so a foole turneth to his foolishnes. <sup>12</sup>Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceite? more hope is of a foole then of him. <sup>13</sup>The slouthfull man sayth, A lyon is in the way: a lyon is in the streetes. <sup>14</sup>As the doore turneth vpon his hinges, so doeth the slouthfull man vpon his bed. <sup>15</sup>The slouthfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieveth him to put it againe to his mouth. <sup>16</sup>The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceite, then seuen men that can render a reason. <sup>17</sup>He that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares. <sup>18</sup>As he that faineth himselfe mad, casteth fire brands, arrowes, and mortall things, <sup>19</sup>So dealeth the deceitfull man with his friend and sayth, Am not I in sport? <sup>20</sup>Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth. <sup>21</sup>As ye cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife. <sup>22</sup>The wordes of a tale bearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly. <sup>23</sup>As siluer drosse ouerlayde vpon a potsheard, so are burning lips, and an euill heart. <sup>24</sup>He that hateth, will counterfaite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceite. <sup>25</sup>Though he speake fauourably, beleue him not: for there are seuen abominations in his heart. <sup>26</sup>Hatred may be couered by deceite: but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the congregation. <sup>27</sup>He that diggeth a pit shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him. <sup>28</sup>A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup>Boast not thy selfe of to morowe: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth. <sup>2</sup>Let another man prayse thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lips. <sup>3</sup>A stone is heauie, and the sand weightie: but a fooles wrath is heauier then them both. <sup>4</sup>Anger is cruell, and wrath is raging: but who can stand before enuie? <sup>5</sup>Open rebuke is better then secret loue. <sup>6</sup>The wounds of a louer are faithful, and the kisses of an enemye are pleasant. <sup>7</sup>The person that is full, despiseth an hony combe: but vnto the hungry soule euery bitter thing is sweete. <sup>8</sup>As a bird that wandreth from her nest, so is a man that wandreth from his owne place. <sup>9</sup>As oyntment and perfume reioyce the heart, so doeth the

sweetenes of a mans friend by hearty counsell. <sup>10</sup>Thine owne friend and thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off. <sup>11</sup>My sonne, be wise, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that reprocheth me. <sup>12</sup>A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished. <sup>13</sup>Take his garment that is surety for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger. <sup>14</sup>He that prayseth his friend with a loude voyce, rising earely in the morning, it shall be counted to him as a curse. <sup>15</sup>A continual dropping in the day of raine, and a contentious woman are alike. <sup>16</sup>He that hideth her, hideth the winde, and she is as ye oyle in his right hand, that vttereth it selfe. <sup>17</sup>Yron sharpeneth yron, so doeth man sharpen the face of his friend. <sup>18</sup>He that keepeth the fig tree, shall eate the fruite thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shall come to honour. <sup>19</sup>As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man. <sup>20</sup>The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satisfied. <sup>21</sup>As is the fining pot for siluer and the fornace for golde, so is euery man according to his dignitie. <sup>22</sup>Though thou shouldest bray a foole in a mortar among wheate brayed with a pestell, yet will not his foolishnes depart from him. <sup>23</sup>Be diligent to know ye state of thy flocke, and take heede to the heardes. <sup>24</sup>For riches remaine not alway, nor the crowne from generation to generation. <sup>25</sup>The hey discovereth it selfe, and the grasse appeareth, and the herbes of the mountaines are gathered. <sup>26</sup>The lambes are for thy clothing, and the goates are the price of the field. <sup>27</sup>And let the milke of the goates be sufficient for thy foode, for the foode of thy familie, and for the sustenance of thy maydes.

CHAPTER 28

<sup>1</sup>The wicked flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bolde as a lyon. <sup>2</sup>For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a realme likewise endureth long. <sup>3</sup>A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no foode. <sup>4</sup>They that forsake the Law, prayse the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, set themselues against them. <sup>5</sup>Wicked men vnderstand not iudgemnt: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things. <sup>6</sup>Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then hee that peruerteth his wayes, though he be riche. <sup>7</sup>He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shameth his father. <sup>8</sup>He that increaseth his riches by vsurie and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore. <sup>9</sup>He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shalbe abominable. <sup>10</sup>He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things. <sup>11</sup>The riche man is wise in his owne conceite: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trie him. <sup>12</sup>When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried. <sup>13</sup>He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy. <sup>14</sup>Blessed is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill. <sup>15</sup>As a roaring lyon, and an hungry beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people. <sup>16</sup>A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but hee that hateth couetousnes, shall prolong his dayes. <sup>17</sup>A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not stay him. <sup>18</sup>He that walketh vprightly, shalbe saued: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall. <sup>19</sup>He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouertie. <sup>20</sup>A faythfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to be riche, shall not be innocent. <sup>21</sup>To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread. <sup>22</sup>A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shall come vpon him. <sup>23</sup>He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at length, then he that flattereth with his tongue. <sup>24</sup>Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and sayth, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth. <sup>25</sup>He that is of a proude heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be fatte. <sup>26</sup>Hee that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdome, shall be deliuered. <sup>27</sup>He that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses. <sup>28</sup>When the wicked rise vp, men hide them selues: but when they perish, ye righteous increase.

CHAPTER 29

<sup>1</sup>A man that hardeneth his necke when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed and can not be cured. <sup>2</sup>When the righteous are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh. <sup>3</sup>A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance. <sup>4</sup>A King by iudgement mainteineth ye countrey: but a man receiuing giftes, destroyeth it. <sup>5</sup>A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps. <sup>6</sup>In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce. <sup>7</sup>The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge. <sup>8</sup>Scornefull men bring a cite into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath. <sup>9</sup>If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest. <sup>10</sup>Bloodie men hate him that is vpriht: but the iust haue care of his soule. <sup>11</sup>A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward. <sup>12</sup>Of a prince that hearkeneth to lyes, all his seruants are wicked. <sup>13</sup>The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes. <sup>14</sup>A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shalbe established for euer. <sup>15</sup>The rodde and correction giue wisdom: but a childe set a libertie, maketh his mother ashamed. <sup>16</sup>When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but ye righteous shall see their fall. <sup>17</sup>Correct thy sonne and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule. <sup>18</sup>Where there is no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Lawe, is blessed. <sup>19</sup>A seruant will not be chastised with words: though he vnderstand, yet he will not answer. <sup>20</sup>Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? there is more hope of a foole, then of him. <sup>21</sup>He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen as his sone. <sup>22</sup>An angrie man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression. <sup>23</sup>The pride of a man shall bring him lowe: but the humble in spirit shall enioy glory. <sup>24</sup>He that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, and declareth it not. <sup>25</sup>The feare of man bringeth a snare: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shalbe exalted. <sup>26</sup>Many doe seeke the face of the ruler: but euery mans iudgement commeth from the Lord. <sup>27</sup>A wicked man is abomination to the iust, and he that is vpriht in his way, is abomination to the wicked.

CHAPTER 30

<sup>1</sup>THE WORDS OF AGUR THE SONNE OF JAKE The prophecie which ye man spake vnto Ithiel, euen to Ithiel, and Vcal. <sup>2</sup>Surely I am more foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me. <sup>3</sup>For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things. <sup>4</sup>Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended? Who hath gathered the winde in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the endes of the world? What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell? <sup>5</sup>Euery worde of God is pure: he is a shield to those, that trust in him. <sup>6</sup>Put nothing vnto his wordes, least he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar. <sup>7</sup>Two things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I die. <sup>8</sup>Remoue farre from me vanitie and lyes: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede me with foode conuenient for me, <sup>9</sup>Least I be full, and denie thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or least I be poore and steale, and take the Name of my God in vaine. <sup>10</sup>Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest he curse thee, when thou hast offended. <sup>11</sup>There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother. <sup>12</sup>There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceite, and yet are not washed from their filthinesse. <sup>13</sup>There is a generation, whose eies are hautie, and their eye liddes are lifted vp. <sup>14</sup>There is a generation, whose teeth are as swordes, and their chawes as kniues to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men. <sup>15</sup>The horse leache hath two daughters which crye, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is ynough. <sup>16</sup>The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water, and the fire that sayeth not, It is ynough. <sup>17</sup>The eye that mocketh his father and despiseth the instruction of his mother, let ye rauens of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles eate it. <sup>18</sup>There be three thinges hid from me: yea, foure that I knowe not, <sup>19</sup>The way of an eagle in the aire, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, ye way of a ship in ye middes of the sea, and the way of a man with a maide. <sup>20</sup>Such is ye way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and wipeth her mouth, and sayth, I haue not committed iniquitie. <sup>21</sup>For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe: <sup>22</sup>For a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate, <sup>23</sup>For the hatefull woman, when she is married, and for a handmaid that is heire to her mistres. <sup>24</sup>These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise and full of wisdom: <sup>25</sup>The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in sommer: <sup>26</sup>The conies a people not mightie, yet make their houses in the rocke: <sup>27</sup>The grasshopper hath no King, yet goe they forth all by bandes: <sup>28</sup>The spider taketh holde with her handes, and is in Kings palaces. <sup>29</sup>There be three thinges that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going, <sup>30</sup>A lyon which is strong among beastes, and turneth not at the sight of any: <sup>31</sup>A lusty grayhound, and a goate, and a King against whom there is no rising vp. <sup>32</sup>If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth. <sup>33</sup>When one churneth milke, he bringeth forth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

ECCLESIASTES

rounde about, and returneth by his circuites. <sup>7</sup>All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers goe vnto ye place, whence they returne, and goe. <sup>8</sup>All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing. <sup>9</sup>What is it that hath bene? that that shalbe: and what is it that hath bene done? that which shalbe done: and there is no newe thing vnder the sunne. <sup>10</sup>Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe? it hath bene already in the olde time that was before vs. <sup>11</sup>There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after. <sup>12</sup>I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem: <sup>13</sup>And I haue giuen mine heart to search and finde out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauaile hath GOD giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby) <sup>14</sup>I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit. <sup>15</sup>That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, cannot be nombred. <sup>16</sup>I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge. <sup>17</sup>And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdom and knowledge, madnes and foolishnes: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit. <sup>18</sup>For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorowe.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>I said in mine heart, Goe to nowe, I will proue thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and beholde, this also is vanitie. <sup>2</sup>I saide of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest? <sup>3</sup>I sought in mine heart to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodness of the children of men, which they enioy vnder the sunne: the whole number of the dayes of their life. <sup>4</sup>I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards. <sup>5</sup>I haue made me gardens and orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite. <sup>6</sup>I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that growe with trees. <sup>7</sup>I haue gotten seruants and maides, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeuies and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem. <sup>8</sup>I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, and the delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues. <sup>9</sup>And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me. <sup>10</sup>And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioiced in al my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauaile. <sup>11</sup>Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne. <sup>12</sup>And I turned to beholde wisdom, and madnes and follie: (for who is the man that will come after the King in things, which men now haue done?) <sup>13</sup>Then I saw that there is profite in wisdom, more then in follie: as the light is more excellent then darkenes. <sup>14</sup>For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darknes: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all. <sup>15</sup>Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to ye foole. Why therefore doe I then labour to be more wise? And I sayd in mine heart, that this also is vanitie. <sup>16</sup>For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And howe dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole? <sup>17</sup>Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grieuous vnto me: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit. <sup>18</sup>I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shalbe after me. <sup>19</sup>And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie. <sup>20</sup>Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne. <sup>21</sup>For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisdom, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall he giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe. <sup>22</sup>For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne? <sup>23</sup>For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie. <sup>24</sup>There is no profit to man: but that he eate, and drinke, and delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God. <sup>25</sup>For who could eate, and who could haste to outward things more then I? <sup>26</sup>Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>To all things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen. <sup>2</sup>A time to bee borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted. <sup>3</sup>A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to builde. <sup>4</sup>A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance. <sup>5</sup>A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing. <sup>6</sup>A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away. <sup>7</sup>A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake. <sup>8</sup>A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace. <sup>9</sup>What profite hath hee that worketh of the thing wherein he trauaileth? <sup>10</sup>I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to ye sonnes of men to humble them thereby. <sup>11</sup>He hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also he hath set the worlde in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end. <sup>12</sup>I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life. <sup>13</sup>And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour. this is the gift of God. <sup>14</sup>I knowe that whatsoever God shall doe, it shalbe for euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him. <sup>15</sup>What is that that hath bene? that is nowe: and that that shalbe, hath now bene: for God requireth that which is past. <sup>16</sup>And moreouer I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie. <sup>17</sup>I thought in mine heart, God wil iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke. <sup>18</sup>I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beastes. <sup>19</sup>For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellency of man aboue ye beast: for all is vanitie. <sup>20</sup>All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust. <sup>21</sup>Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth? <sup>22</sup>Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man shoulde reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shalbe after him?

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>So I turned and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sunne, and beholde the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and lo, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore I prayed the dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet alieue. <sup>3</sup>And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet bin: for he hath not seene the euill workes which are wrought vnder the sunne. <sup>4</sup>Also I beheld all trauaile, and all perfection of workes that this is ye enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit. <sup>5</sup>The foole foldeth his hands, and eateth vp his owne flesh. <sup>6</sup>Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit. <sup>7</sup>Againe I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne. <sup>8</sup>There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be satisfied with riches: neither doeth he thinke, For whome doe I trauaile and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile. <sup>9</sup>Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour. <sup>10</sup>For if they fal, the one wil lift vp his fellow: but wo vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp. <sup>11</sup>Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate? <sup>12</sup>And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefolde coard is not easily broken. <sup>13</sup>Better is a poore and wise childe, then an olde and foolish King, which will no more be admonished. <sup>14</sup>For out of the prison he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is borne in his kingdom, is made poore. <sup>15</sup>I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place. <sup>16</sup>There is none ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and vexation of spirit. (Ecclesiastes : ) Take heede to thy foote when thou entrest into the House of God, and be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of fooles: for they knowe not that they doe euil.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Be not rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be hastie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be fewe. <sup>2</sup>For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes. <sup>3</sup>When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast vowed. <sup>4</sup>It is better that thou shouldest not vowe, then that thou shouldest vow and not pay it. <sup>5</sup>Suffer not thy mouth to make thy flesh to sinne: neither say before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God bee angry by thy voyce, and destroy the worke of thine hands? <sup>6</sup>For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are also many wordes: but feare thou God. <sup>7</sup>If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not astonied at the matter: for hee that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they. <sup>8</sup>And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King also consisteth by the field that is tilled. <sup>9</sup>He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loueth riches, shalbe without the fruite thereof: this also is vanitie. <sup>10</sup>When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes? <sup>11</sup>The sleepe of him that traueileth, is sweete, whether he eate litle or much: but the sacietie of the riche will not suffer him to sleepe. <sup>12</sup>There is an euill sickenes that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches reserued to the owners thereof for their euill. <sup>13</sup>And these riches perish by euill trauel, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing. <sup>14</sup>As hee came foorth of his mothers belly, he shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath caused to passe by his hand. <sup>15</sup>And this also is an euill sickenes that in all pointes as he came, so shall he goe, and what profit hath he that he hath traueiled for the winde? <sup>16</sup>Also all his dayes hee eateth in darkenes with much griefe, and in his sorowe and anger. <sup>17</sup>Beholde then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he traueileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion. <sup>18</sup>Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God. <sup>19</sup>Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart. <sup>20</sup>For he thinketh not much howe long he shall lyue, forasmuch as God fylleth his heart with gladnesse.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>There is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men: <sup>2</sup>A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sicknesse. <sup>3</sup>If a man beget an hundreth children and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruite is better then he. <sup>4</sup>For he commeth into vanitie and goeth into darkenesse: and his name shall be couered with darkenesse. <sup>5</sup>Also he hath not seene ye sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other. <sup>6</sup>And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place? <sup>7</sup>All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled. <sup>8</sup>For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing? <sup>9</sup>The sight of ye eye is better then to walke in ye lustes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit. <sup>10</sup>What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knownen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is stronger then he.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaieth it man? <sup>2</sup>For who knoweth what is good for man in the life and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadowe? For who can shewe vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne? <sup>3</sup>A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne. <sup>4</sup>It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart. <sup>5</sup>Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better. <sup>6</sup>The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth. <sup>7</sup>Better it is to heare ye rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles. <sup>8</sup>For like ye noyse of the thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie. <sup>9</sup>Surely oppression maketh a wise man mad: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart. <sup>10</sup>The ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the pacient in spirit is better then the proude in spirit. <sup>11</sup>Be not thou of an hastie spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles. <sup>12</sup>Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing. <sup>13</sup>Wisedome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne. <sup>14</sup>For man shall rest in the shadowe of wisdom, and in the shadowe of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessers thereof. <sup>15</sup>Beholde the worke of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked? <sup>16</sup>In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man shoulde finde nothing after him. <sup>17</sup>I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice. <sup>18</sup>Be not thou iust ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate? <sup>19</sup>Be not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time? <sup>20</sup>It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all. <sup>21</sup>Wisedome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in ye citie. <sup>22</sup>Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not. <sup>23</sup>Giue not thine heart also to all ye wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee. <sup>24</sup>For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others. <sup>25</sup>All this haue I prooued by wisdom: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me. <sup>26</sup>It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it? <sup>27</sup>I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wisdom, and reason, and to knowe the wickednesse of follie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse, <sup>28</sup>And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nettes and snares, and her handes, as bands: he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her. <sup>29</sup>Beholde, sayth the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count: (Ecclesiastes ) And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde. : (Ecclesiastes ) Onely loe, this haue I founde, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inuentions.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>Who is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shalbe changed. <sup>2</sup>I aduertise thee to take heede to ye mouth of the King, and to the worde of the othe of God. <sup>3</sup>Haste not to goe forth of his sight: stand not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatsoever pleaseth him. <sup>4</sup>Where the word of ye King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou? <sup>5</sup>He that keepeth the commandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time and iudgement. <sup>6</sup>For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him. <sup>7</sup>For he knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tell him when it shalbe?

<sup>8</sup>Man is not lorde ouer the spirit to retaine the spirite: neither hath hee power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessers thereof. <sup>9</sup>All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I sawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt. <sup>10</sup>And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie. <sup>11</sup>Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill. <sup>12</sup>Though a sinner doe euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it shalbe well with them that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him. <sup>13</sup>But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God. <sup>14</sup>There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie. <sup>15</sup>And I prayed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne. <sup>16</sup>When I applied mine heart to knowe wisdom, and to behold the busines that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, <sup>17</sup>Then I behelde the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out ye worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>I have surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth eyther loue or hatred of all that is before them. <sup>2</sup>All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe. <sup>3</sup>This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnes is in their heartes whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead. <sup>4</sup>Surely whosoeuer is ioyned to all ye liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon. <sup>5</sup>For the liuing knowe that they shall dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten. <sup>6</sup>Also their loue, and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne. <sup>7</sup>Goe, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes. <sup>8</sup>At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head. <sup>9</sup>Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou labourest vnder the sunne. <sup>10</sup>All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the graue whither thou goest. <sup>11</sup>I returned, and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance commeth to them all. <sup>12</sup>For neither doth man knowe his time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birdes that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly. <sup>13</sup>I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me. <sup>14</sup>A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded fortes against it. <sup>15</sup>And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the citie by his wisdom: but none remembred this poore man. <sup>16</sup>Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard. <sup>17</sup>The wordes of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles. <sup>18</sup>Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

<sup>1</sup>Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apoticarie: so doeth a litle follie him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glorie. <sup>2</sup>The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand. <sup>3</sup>And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that he is a foole. <sup>4</sup>If the spirite of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great sinnes. <sup>5</sup>There is an euil that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth. <sup>6</sup>Follie is set in great excellencie, and the riche set in the lowe place. <sup>7</sup>I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground. <sup>8</sup>He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, and he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him. <sup>9</sup>He that remooueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and hee that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby. <sup>10</sup>If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom. <sup>11</sup>If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler. <sup>12</sup>The words of ye mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure himselfe. <sup>13</sup>The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter ende of his mouth is wicked madnesse. <sup>14</sup>For the foole multiplieth woordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him? <sup>15</sup>The labour of the foolish doeth wearie him: for he knoweth not to goe into the citie. <sup>16</sup>Woe to thee, O lande, when thy King is a childe, and thy princes eate in the morning. <sup>17</sup>Blessed art thou, O land, when thy King is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse. <sup>18</sup>By slouthfulnes the roofof the house goeth to decaie, and by the ydlenesse of the handes the house droppeth through. <sup>19</sup>They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all. <sup>20</sup>Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the foule of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many daies thou shalt finde it. <sup>2</sup>Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shalbe vpon ye earth. <sup>3</sup>If the clouds be full, they wil powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shalbe. <sup>4</sup>He that obserueth ye winde, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape. <sup>5</sup>As thou knowest not which is ye way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all. <sup>6</sup>In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shalbe a like good. <sup>7</sup>Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne. <sup>8</sup>Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet hee shall remember the daies of darkenesse, because they are manie, all that commeth is vanitie. <sup>9</sup>Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God wil bring thee to iudgement. <sup>10</sup>Therefore take away grieue out of thine heart, and cause euil to depart from thy flesh: for childehood and youth are vanitie.

the earth as it was, and the spirit returne to God that gaue it. <sup>8</sup>Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie. <sup>9</sup>And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables. <sup>10</sup>The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vpriht writing, euen the wordes of trueth. <sup>11</sup>The wordes of the wise are like goads, and like nailes fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one pastour. <sup>12</sup>And of other things beside these, my sone, take thou heede: for there is none ende in making many bookes, and much reading is a wearines of the flesh. <sup>13</sup>Let vs heare the end of all: feare God and keepe his commandments: for this is the whole duetie of man. <sup>14</sup>For God will bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it be good or euill.

SONG OF SOLOMON

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>Let him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine. <sup>2</sup>Because of the sauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the virgins loue thee. <sup>3</sup>Drawe me: we will runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his chabers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous do loue thee. <sup>4</sup>I am blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tentes of Kedar, and as the curtaines of Salomon. <sup>5</sup>Regard ye me not because I am blacke: for the sunne hath looked vpon mee. The sonnes of my mother were angry against mee: they made me the keeper of ye vines: but I kept not mine owne vine. <sup>6</sup>Shewe me, O thou, whome my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I be as she that turneth aside to the flockes of thy companions? <sup>7</sup>If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepheards. <sup>8</sup>I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the charets of Pharaoh. <sup>9</sup>Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines. <sup>10</sup>We will make thee borders of golde with studdes of siluer. <sup>11</sup>Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof. <sup>12</sup>My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my breasts. <sup>13</sup>My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi. <sup>14</sup>My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues. <sup>15</sup>My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is greene: <sup>16</sup>The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>I am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the valleys. <sup>2</sup>Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters. <sup>3</sup>Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruit was sweete vnto my mouth. <sup>4</sup>Hee brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me. <sup>5</sup>Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue. <sup>6</sup>His left hande is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth imbrace me. <sup>7</sup>I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please. <sup>8</sup>It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, hee commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles. <sup>9</sup>My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: loe, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing him selfe through the grates. <sup>10</sup>My welbeloued spake and said vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way. <sup>11</sup>For beholde, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away. <sup>12</sup>The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land. <sup>13</sup>The figtree hath brought forth her yong figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away. <sup>14</sup>My doue, that art in the holes of ye rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shewe mee thy sight, let mee heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely. <sup>15</sup>Take vs the foxes, the little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes. <sup>16</sup>My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: hee feedeth among the lilies, <sup>17</sup>Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>In my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not. <sup>2</sup>I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the cite, by the streetes and by the open places, and wil seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not. <sup>3</sup>The watchmen that went about the cite, found mee: to whome I said, Haue you seene him, whome my soule loueth? <sup>4</sup>When I had past a litle from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me. <sup>5</sup>I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please. <sup>6</sup>Who is shee that commeth vp out of the wildernes like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the marchant? <sup>7</sup>Beholde his bed, which is Salomons: threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel. <sup>8</sup>They all handle the sworde, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night. <sup>9</sup>King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon. <sup>10</sup>Hee made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was pauered with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem. <sup>11</sup>Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, and behold the King Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in ye day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Behold, thou art faire, my loue: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues: among thy lockes thine heare is like the flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead. <sup>2</sup>Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which go vp from the washing: which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them. <sup>3</sup>Thy lippes are like a threede of scarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate. <sup>4</sup>Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid builde for defence: a thousand shieldes hang therein, and all the targates of the strong men. <sup>5</sup>Thy two breastes are as two young roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies. <sup>6</sup>Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flie away, I wil go into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense. <sup>7</sup>Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee. <sup>8</sup>Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the toppe of Amanah, from the toppe of Shenir and Hermon, from the dennes of the lyons, and from the mountaines of the leopards. <sup>9</sup>My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke. <sup>10</sup>My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue? howe much better is thy loue then wine? and the sauour of thine oyntments then all spices? <sup>11</sup>Thy lippes, my spouse, droppe as honie combs: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauoure of thy garments is as the sauoure of Lebanon. <sup>12</sup>My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp. <sup>13</sup>Thy plantes are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenarde, <sup>14</sup>Euen spikenarde, and saffran, calamus, and cynamon with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices. <sup>15</sup>O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon. <sup>16</sup>Arise, O North, and come O South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruit.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>I am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honie combe with mine honie, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merie, O welbeloued. <sup>2</sup>I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto mee, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vnfiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the droppes of the night. <sup>3</sup>I haue put off my coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, howe shall I defile them? <sup>4</sup>My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him. <sup>5</sup>I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre. <sup>6</sup>I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I coude not finde him: I called him, but hee answered mee not. <sup>7</sup>The watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: they smote me and wounded me: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from me. <sup>8</sup>I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue. <sup>9</sup>O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs? <sup>10</sup>My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand. <sup>11</sup>His head is as fine golde, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen. <sup>12</sup>His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels. <sup>13</sup>His cheekes are as a bedde of spices, and as sweete flowres, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe. <sup>14</sup>His hands as rings of gold set with the chrysolite, his belly like white yuorie couered with saphirs. <sup>15</sup>His legges are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars. <sup>16</sup>His mouth is as sweete thinges, and hee is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Ierusalem. (Song of Solomon : ) O the fairest among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>My welbeloued is gone downe into his garden to the beds of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies. <sup>2</sup>I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies. <sup>3</sup>Thou art beautifull, my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Ierusalem, terrible as an army with baners. <sup>4</sup>Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: thine heare is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead. <sup>5</sup>Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them. <sup>6</sup>Thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate. <sup>7</sup>There are threescore Queenes and fourescore concubines and of the damsels without nobler. <sup>8</sup>But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praised her. <sup>9</sup>Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning, fayre as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners! <sup>10</sup>I went downe to the garden of nuttes, to see the fruites of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished. <sup>11</sup>I knewe nothing, my soule set me as the charetes of my noble people. <sup>12</sup>Returne, returne, O Shulamite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

<sup>1</sup>Howe beautifull are thy goings with shooes, O princes daughter! the ioynets of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hande of a cunning workeman. <sup>2</sup>Thy naul is as a round cuppe that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with lilies. <sup>3</sup>Thy two breastes are as two young roes that are twinnes. <sup>4</sup>Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like the fishe pooles in Heshbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus. <sup>5</sup>Thine head vpon thee is as skarlet, and the bush of thine head like purple: the King is tyed in the rafters. <sup>6</sup>Howe faire art thou, and howe pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasures! <sup>7</sup>This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy brestes like clusters. <sup>8</sup>I saide, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take holde of her boughes: thy breastes shall now be like the clusters of the vine: and the sauour of thy nose like apples, <sup>9</sup>And the roufe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, and causeth the lippes of the ancient to speake. <sup>10</sup>I am my welbeloueds, and his desire is toward mee. <sup>11</sup>Come, my welbeloued, let vs go forth into the field: let vs remaine in the villages. <sup>12</sup>Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs see if the vine flourish, whether it hath budded the small grape, or whether the pomegranates flourish: there will I giue thee my loue. <sup>13</sup>The mandrakes haue giuen a smell, and in our gates are all sweete things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>Oh that thou werest as my brother that sucked the brestes of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kisse thee, then they should not despise thee. <sup>2</sup>I will leade thee and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teache me: and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and newe wine of the pomegranate. <sup>3</sup>His left hand shalbe vnder mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me. <sup>4</sup>I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you stir not vp, nor waken my loue, vntil she please. <sup>5</sup>(Who is this that commeth vp out of the wilderness, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I rayseed thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceiued thee: there she coccieued that bare thee. <sup>6</sup>Set mee as a scale on thine heart, and as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruel as the graue: the coles thereof are fierie coles, and a vehement flame. <sup>7</sup>Much water can not quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: If a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it. <sup>8</sup>Wee haue a litle sister, and she hath no breastes: what shall we do for our sister when she shalbe spoken for? <sup>9</sup>If shee be a wall, we will builde vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, we wil keepe her in with bordes of cedar. <sup>10</sup>I am a wall, and my breastes are as towres: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace. <sup>11</sup>Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue the vineyarde vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for ye fruit thereof a thousand pices of siluer. <sup>12</sup>But my vineyarde which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon appertaineth a thousand pices of siluer, and two hundreth to them that keepe the fruit thereof. <sup>13</sup>O thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it. <sup>14</sup>O my welbeloued, flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the yong harte vpon ye mountaines of spices.

ISAIAH

<sup>1</sup>A vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he sawe concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the dayes of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah. <sup>2</sup>Heare, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath sayde, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me. <sup>3</sup>The ox knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib: but Israel hath not knowne: my people hath not vnderstand. <sup>4</sup>Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backward. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore shoulde ye be smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie. <sup>6</sup>From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle. <sup>7</sup>Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers deuoure your lande in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrowe of strangers. <sup>8</sup>And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cotage in a vineyarde, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie. <sup>9</sup>Except the Lord of hostes had reserued vnto vs, euen a small remnant: we should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorah. <sup>10</sup>Heare the worde of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah. <sup>11</sup>What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, sayth the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goates. <sup>12</sup>When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts? <sup>13</sup>Bring no more oblations, in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto me: I can not suffer your newe moones, nor Sabbaths, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies. <sup>14</sup>My soule hateth your newe moones and your appointed feastes: they are a burden vnto me: I am weary to beare them. <sup>15</sup>And when you shall stretch out your hands, I wil hide mine eyes from you: and though ye make many prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are full of blood. <sup>16</sup>Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill. <sup>17</sup>Learn to doe well: seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse and defend the widowe. <sup>18</sup>Come now, and let vs reason together, sayth the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimsin, they shalbe made white as snowe: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as wooll. <sup>19</sup>If ye consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land. <sup>20</sup>But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>21</sup>Howe is the faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murtherers. <sup>22</sup>Thy siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water. <sup>23</sup>Thy Princes are rebellious and companions of theeues: euery one loueth giftes, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them. <sup>24</sup>Therefore sayth the Lord God of hostes, the mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies. <sup>25</sup>Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it be pure, and take away all thy tinne. <sup>26</sup>And I will restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, and a faithfull citie. <sup>27</sup>Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice. <sup>28</sup>And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners shalbe together: and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed. <sup>29</sup>For they shalbe confounded for the okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shall be ashamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen. <sup>30</sup>For ye shalbe as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water. <sup>31</sup>And the strong shall be as towe, and the maker thereof, as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>The worde that Isaiahs the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem. <sup>2</sup>It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and all nations shall flowe vnto it. <sup>3</sup>And many people shall go, and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Lawe shall go forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem, <sup>4</sup>And he shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into siethes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more. <sup>5</sup>O house of Iaakob, come ye, and let vs walke in the Lawe of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, and abound with strange children. <sup>7</sup>Their land also was full of siluer and golde, and there was none ende of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charets were infinite. <sup>8</sup>Their land also was full of idols: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, which their owne fingers haue made. <sup>9</sup>And a man bowed himselfe, and a man humbled himselfe: therefore spare them not. <sup>10</sup>Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie. <sup>11</sup>The hie looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in that day. <sup>12</sup>For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shalbe made lowe. <sup>13</sup>Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan, <sup>14</sup>And vpon all the hie mountaines, and vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp, <sup>15</sup>And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall, <sup>16</sup>And vpon all the shippes of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures. <sup>17</sup>And the hautinesse of men shalbe brought low, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day. <sup>18</sup>And the idoles will he vtterly destroy. <sup>19</sup>Then they shall goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth. <sup>20</sup>At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) to the mowles and to the backes, <sup>21</sup>To goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth. <sup>22</sup>Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>For lo, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay and the strength: euen all the staye of bread, and all the stay of water, <sup>2</sup>The strong man, and the man of warre, the iudge and the prophet, the prudent and the aged, <sup>3</sup>The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man. <sup>4</sup>And I will appoint children to bee their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them. <sup>5</sup>The people shalbe oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable. <sup>6</sup>When euery one shall take holde of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt bee our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand. <sup>7</sup>In that day hee shall sweare, saying, I cannot bee an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people. <sup>8</sup>Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory. <sup>9</sup>The trial of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes as Sodom, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euil vnto themselues. <sup>10</sup>Say ye, Surely it shalbe well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes. <sup>11</sup>Woe be to the wicked, it shalbe euill with him: for the reward of his handes shalbe giuen him. <sup>12</sup>Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths. <sup>13</sup>The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people. <sup>14</sup>The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyarde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses. <sup>15</sup>What haue ye to do, that ye beate my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hoasts? <sup>16</sup>The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and minsing as they goe, and making a tinkeling with their feete, <sup>17</sup>Therefore shall the Lord make the heades of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secreete partes. <sup>18</sup>In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tyres, <sup>19</sup>The sweete balles, and the brasselets, and the bonnets, <sup>20</sup>The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the head bandes, and the tablets, and the earings, <sup>21</sup>The rings and the mufflers, <sup>22</sup>The costly apparell and the vailles, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes, <sup>23</sup>And the glasses and the fine linen, and the hoodes, and the launes. <sup>24</sup>And in steade of sweete sauour, there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in steade of dressing of the heare, baldnesse, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in steade of beautie. <sup>25</sup>Thy men shall fall by the sworde, and thy strength in the battell. <sup>26</sup>Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>And in that day shall seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we wil weare our owne garments: onely let vs bee called by thy name, and take away our reproche. <sup>2</sup>In that day shall the budde of the Lord bee beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel. <sup>3</sup>Then hee that shalbe left in Zion, and hee that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shalbe called holy, and euery one shalbe written among the liuing in Ierusalem, <sup>4</sup>When the Lord shall wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, and purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the middes thereof by the spirite of iudgement, and by the spirit of burning. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glory shall be a defence. <sup>6</sup>And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme and for the raine.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Now will I sing to my beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyarde, My beloued had a vineyarde in a very fruitefull hill, <sup>2</sup>And hee hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, and hee builde a towre in the middes thereof, and made a wine presse therein: then hee looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought

foorth wilde grapes. <sup>3</sup>Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betweene me, and my vineyarde. <sup>4</sup>What coulede I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring foorth grapes, and it bringeth foorth wilde grapes? <sup>5</sup>And now I will tell you what I will do to my vineyarde: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe: <sup>6</sup>And I will laye it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briars, and thornes shall growe vp: I will also commande the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it. <sup>7</sup>Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousness, but beholde a crying. <sup>8</sup>Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and laye field to field, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth. <sup>9</sup>This is in mine cares, saith the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shall be desolate, euen great, and faire without inhabitant. <sup>10</sup>For ten acres of vines shall yelde one bath, and the seede of an homer shall yelde an ephah. <sup>11</sup>Wo vnto them, that rise vp early to follow drunkennes, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine doe inflame them. <sup>12</sup>And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feastes: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his handes. <sup>13</sup>Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glorie thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst. <sup>14</sup>Therefore hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it. <sup>15</sup>And man shalbe brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proude shalbe humbled. <sup>16</sup>And the Lord of hostes shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sanctified in iustice. <sup>17</sup>Then shall the lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat. <sup>18</sup>Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes: <sup>19</sup>Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may knowe it. <sup>20</sup>Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre. <sup>21</sup>Woe vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight. <sup>22</sup>Wo vnto them that are mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke: <sup>23</sup>Which iustifie the wicked for a rewarde, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him. <sup>24</sup>Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is cosumed of the flame: so their roote shalbe as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel. <sup>25</sup>Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee hath stretched out his hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkases were torne in the middes of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hande was stretched out still. <sup>26</sup>And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations a farre, and wil hisse vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speede. <sup>27</sup>None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken: <sup>28</sup>Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooves shall be thought like flint, and his wheelles like a whirlwinde. <sup>29</sup>His roaring shalbe like a lyon, and he shall roare like lyons whelpes: they shall roare, and lay holde of the praye: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it. <sup>30</sup>And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, beholde darkenesse, and sorowe, and the light shalbe darkened in their skie.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>In the yeere of the death of King Vzziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower partes thereof filled the Temple. <sup>2</sup>The Seraphims stode vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his face, and with twaine hee couered his feete, and with twaine he did flie. <sup>3</sup>And one cryed to another, and sayde, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory. <sup>4</sup>And the lintles of the doore cheekes moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke. <sup>5</sup>Then I sayd, Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes. <sup>6</sup>Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the altar with the tongs: <sup>7</sup>And he touched my mouth, and sayd, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall be taken away, and thy sinne shalbe purged. <sup>8</sup>Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send me. <sup>9</sup>And he sayd, Goe, and say vnto this people, Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue. <sup>10</sup>Make the heart of this people fatte, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them. <sup>11</sup>Then sayd I, Lord, howe long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, <sup>12</sup>And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land. <sup>13</sup>But yet in it shalbe a tenth, and shall returne, and shalbe eaten vp as an elme or an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>And in the dayes of Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah king of Iudah, Rezin the King of Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it. <sup>2</sup>And it was tolde the house of Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde. <sup>3</sup>Then sayde the Lord vnto Isaiah, Goe foorth now to meete Ahaz (thou and Shearishub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field, <sup>4</sup>And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still: feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailles of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne: <sup>5</sup>Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying, <sup>6</sup>Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a King in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of Tabeal. <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be. <sup>8</sup>For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and threescore yeere, Ephraim shalbe destroyed from being a people. <sup>9</sup>And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeeue not, surely ye shall not be established. <sup>10</sup>And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying, <sup>11</sup>Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath or in the height aboue. <sup>12</sup>But Ahaz sayd, I wil not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Then he sayd, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieue men, that ye will also grieue my God? <sup>14</sup>Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name Immanu-el. <sup>15</sup>Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good. <sup>16</sup>For afore the childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of both her Kings. <sup>17</sup>The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of Asshur. <sup>18</sup>And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the lande of Asshur, <sup>19</sup>And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thorny places, and vpon all bushy places. <sup>20</sup>In that day shall the Lord shaue with a razor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, the head and the heare of the feete, and it shall consume the beard. <sup>21</sup>And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe. <sup>22</sup>And for the abundance of milke, that they shall giue, hee shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land. <sup>23</sup>And at the same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shalbe at a thousand peeces of siluer: so it shalbe for the briars and for the thornes. <sup>24</sup>With arrowes and with bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briars and thornes. <sup>25</sup>But on all the mountaines, which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briars and thornes:

but they shalbe for the sending out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>Moreover, the Lord sayd vnto me, Take thee a great roll, and write in it with a mans penne, Make speede to the spoyle: haste to the praye. <sup>2</sup>Then I tooke vnto me faithfull witnesses to recorde, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah. <sup>3</sup>After, I came vnto the Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to me, Call his name, Mahershalalhash-baz. <sup>4</sup>For before the childe shall haue knowledge to crye, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the King of Asshur. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying, <sup>6</sup>Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah, <sup>7</sup>Nowe therefore, beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their banks, <sup>8</sup>And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O Immanu-el. <sup>9</sup>Gather together on heapes, O ye people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces. <sup>10</sup>Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs. <sup>11</sup>For the Lord spake thus to me in taking of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, <sup>12</sup>Say ye not, A confederacie to all them, to whome this people sayth a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor be afraide of them. <sup>13</sup>Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, <sup>14</sup>And he shalbe as a Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>15</sup>And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall and shalbe broken and shalbe snared and shalbe taken. <sup>16</sup>Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples. <sup>17</sup>Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I wil looke for him. <sup>18</sup>Beholde, I and the children whome the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion. <sup>19</sup>And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, Should not a people enquire at their God? from the liuing to the dead? <sup>20</sup>To the Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde: it is because there is no light in them. <sup>21</sup>Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and from in it: and when he shalbe hungry, he shall euen freat himselfe, and curse his King and his gods, and shall looke vpward. <sup>22</sup>And when he shall looke to the earth, beholde trouble, and darkenes, vexation and anguish, and he is driuen to darkenes.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>Yet the darkenesse shall not be according to the affliction that it had when at the first hee touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when he was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galile of the Gentiles. <sup>2</sup>The people that walked in darkenes haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadowe of death, vpon them hath the light shined. <sup>3</sup>Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioye: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioye in haruest, and as men reioyce when they deuide a spoyle. <sup>4</sup>For the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian. <sup>5</sup>Surely euery battell of the warriour is with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire. <sup>6</sup>For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his name Wonderfull, Counsellor, The mightie God, The euerlasting Father, The prince of peace, <sup>7</sup>The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from hencefoorth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this. <sup>8</sup>The Lord hath sent a worde into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel. <sup>9</sup>And all the people shall knowe, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart, <sup>10</sup>The bricke are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into ceders. <sup>11</sup>Neuerthelesse the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and ioine his enemies together. <sup>12</sup>Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. <sup>13</sup>For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes. <sup>14</sup>Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branche and rush in one day. <sup>15</sup>The ancient and the honorable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile. <sup>16</sup>For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured. <sup>17</sup>Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh follie: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out stil. <sup>18</sup>For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke. <sup>19</sup>By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of ye fire: no man shall spare his brother. <sup>20</sup>And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate ye flesh of his owne arme. <sup>21</sup>Manasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

<sup>1</sup>Woe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grieuous things, <sup>2</sup>To keepe backe ye poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse. <sup>3</sup>What will ye doe nowe in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your glorie? <sup>4</sup>Without me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slayne: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still. <sup>5</sup>O Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation. <sup>6</sup>I will sende him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to treade them vnder feete like the mire in the streete. <sup>7</sup>But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a fewe nations. <sup>8</sup>For he sayeth, Are not my princes altogether Kings? <sup>9</sup>Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus? <sup>10</sup>Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria: <sup>11</sup>Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem and to the idoles thereof? <sup>12</sup>But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruite of the proude heart of the King of Asshur, and his glorious and proud lookes, <sup>13</sup>Because he said, By ye power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man. <sup>14</sup>And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper. <sup>15</sup>Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood. <sup>16</sup>Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes send amog his fat men, leannes, and vnder his glorie he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire. <sup>17</sup>And the light of Israel shalbe as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thornes and his briers in one day: <sup>18</sup>And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fieldes both soule and flesh: and he shalbe as ye fainting of a standard bearer. <sup>19</sup>And the rest of the trees of his forest shalbe fewe, that a childe may tell them. <sup>20</sup>And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon ye Lord, ye Holy one of Israel in trueth. <sup>21</sup>The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God. <sup>22</sup>For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shall ouerflow with righteousness. <sup>23</sup>For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen determined, in the middes of all the land. <sup>24</sup>Therefore thus saith ye Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwelless in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of Egypt: <sup>25</sup>But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction. <sup>26</sup>And ye Lord of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt. <sup>27</sup>And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed because of the anoynting. <sup>28</sup>He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour. <sup>29</sup>They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraide: Gibeah of Saul is fled away. <sup>30</sup>Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth. <sup>31</sup>Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together. <sup>32</sup>Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem. <sup>33</sup>Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the hie shalbe humbled. <sup>34</sup>And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>But there shall come a rodde forth of the stocke of Ishai, and a grasse shall growe out of his rootes. <sup>2</sup>And the Spirite of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirite of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirite of counsell and strength, the Spirite of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord, <sup>3</sup>And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eies, neither reprove by ye hearing of his eares. <sup>4</sup>But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equite shall he reprove for the meeke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked. <sup>5</sup>And iustice shall be ye girdle of his loynes, and faithfulness the girdle of his reines. <sup>6</sup>The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shall leade them. <sup>7</sup>And the kow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lie together: and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke. <sup>8</sup>And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole. <sup>9</sup>Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holines: for the earth shalbe full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea. <sup>10</sup>And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious. <sup>11</sup>And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea. <sup>12</sup>And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the worlde. <sup>13</sup>The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shalbe cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah vexe Ephraim: <sup>14</sup>But they shall flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience. <sup>15</sup>The Lord also shall vtterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie winde shall lift vp his hand ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in his seven streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes. <sup>16</sup>And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>And thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will prayse thee: though thou wast angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, God is my saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for ye Lord God is my strength and song: he also is become my saluation. <sup>3</sup>Therefore with ioy shall ye draw waters out of the welles of saluation. <sup>4</sup>And ye shall say in that day, Prayse the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted. <sup>5</sup>Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the worlde. <sup>6</sup>Cry out, and shoute, O inhabitant of Zion: for great is ye holy one of Israel in the middes of thee.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>The burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see. <sup>2</sup>Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles. <sup>3</sup>I haue commanded them, that I haue sanctified: and I haue called ye mightie to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my glorie. <sup>4</sup>The noyse of a multitude is in the mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes nombreth the hoste of the battell. <sup>5</sup>They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land. <sup>6</sup>Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hande: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty. <sup>7</sup>Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt, <sup>8</sup>And they shalbe afraid: anguish and sorowe shall take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shall be amased at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like flames of fire. <sup>9</sup>Beholde, the day of the Lord commeth, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land wast: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it. <sup>10</sup>For the starres of heauen and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the sunne shalbe darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine. <sup>11</sup>And I will visite the wickednes vpon the worlde, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I wil cause the arrogancie of the proud to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants. <sup>12</sup>I will make a man more precious then fine golde, euen a man about the wedge of golde of Ophir. <sup>13</sup>Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger. <sup>14</sup>And it shall be as a chased doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp. euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee eche one to his owne lande. <sup>15</sup>Euery one that is founde, shall be stricken through: and whosoever ioyneth himselfe, shall fal by the sword. <sup>16</sup>Their children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wiues rauished. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regarde siluer, nor be desirous of golde. <sup>18</sup>With bowes also shall they destroy ye children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eies shall not spare the children. <sup>19</sup>And Babel the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shall be as the destruction of God in Sodom and Gomorah. <sup>20</sup>It shall not bee inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepheardes make their foldes there. <sup>21</sup>But Ziim shall lodge there, and their houses shall be ful of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwel there, and the Satyrs shall dance there. <sup>22</sup>And Iim shall crie in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is readie to come, and the daies thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>For the Lord wil haue compassion of Iaakob, and wil yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne lande: and the stranger shall ioine him selfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob. <sup>2</sup>And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruants and handmaids: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours. <sup>3</sup>And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou didest serue, <sup>4</sup>Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, Howe hath the oppressor ceased? and the gold thirsty Babel rested? <sup>5</sup>The Lord hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers: <sup>6</sup>Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let. <sup>7</sup>The whole worlde is at rest and is quiet: they sing for ioye. <sup>8</sup>Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs. <sup>9</sup>Hel beneath is moooued for thee to meete thee at thy comming, raising vp the deade for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kinges of the nations. <sup>10</sup>All they shall crie, and saie vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs? <sup>11</sup>Thy pompe is brought downe to ye graue, and the sounde of thy violes: the worme is spred vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee. <sup>12</sup>How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cutte downe to the grounde, which didest cast lottes vpon the nations? <sup>13</sup>Yet thou saidest in thine heart, I will ascende into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sitte also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North. <sup>14</sup>I wil ascend aboue ye height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most high. <sup>15</sup>But thou shalt bee brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit. <sup>16</sup>They that see thee, shall looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes? <sup>17</sup>He made the worlde as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners. <sup>18</sup>All the Kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glorie, euery one in his owne house. <sup>19</sup>But thou art cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorowe with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete. <sup>20</sup>Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne lande, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renoumed for euer. <sup>21</sup>Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fil the face of the world with enemies. <sup>22</sup>For I wil rise vp against them (sayth the Lord of hostes) and will cutt off from Babel the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephew, sayth the Lord: <sup>23</sup>And I wil make it a possession to ye hedgehogge, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>24</sup>The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand: <sup>25</sup>That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I treade him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder. <sup>26</sup>This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hande stretched out ouer all the nations, <sup>27</sup>Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hande is stretched out, and who shall turne it away? <sup>28</sup>In the yeere that King Ahaz died, was this burden. <sup>29</sup>Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beat thee, is broken for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof shalbe a firy flying serpent. <sup>30</sup>For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needie shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant. <sup>31</sup>Howle, O gate, crie, O cite: thou whole lande of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shalbe alone, at his time appointed. <sup>32</sup>What shall then one answer the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup>The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silece in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night. <sup>2</sup>He shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heades shalbe baldnesse, and euery beard shauen. <sup>3</sup>In their streetes shall they bee gilded with sackcloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping. <sup>4</sup>And Heshbon shall crie, and Elealeh: their voyce shall bee heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall shewt: the soule of euery one shall lament in him selfe. <sup>5</sup>Mine heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, an heiffer of three yere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crie of destruction. <sup>6</sup>For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe. <sup>7</sup>Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes. <sup>8</sup>For the crie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer Elim, <sup>9</sup>Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lyons vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

<sup>1</sup>Send yee a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion. <sup>2</sup>For it shall be as a birde that flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the foordes of Arnon. <sup>3</sup>Gather a counsel, execute iudgement: make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled. <sup>4</sup>Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall end: the destroyer shalbe consumed, and the oppressour shall cease out of the land. <sup>5</sup>And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, and hee shall sit vpon it in stedfastnesse, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hasting iustice. <sup>6</sup>We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so. <sup>7</sup>Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for the foundations of Kirhareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shalbe stricken. <sup>8</sup>For ye vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof: they are come vnto Iazer: they wandred in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretched out them selues, and went ouer the sea. <sup>9</sup>Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer fruits, and vpon thy haruest a showing is fallen. <sup>10</sup>And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull fildes: and in the vineyardes shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore, my bowels shall sounde like an harpe for Moab, and mine inwarde partes for Ker-haresh. <sup>12</sup>And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his hie places, then shall hee come to his temple to praie, but he shall not preuaile. <sup>13</sup>This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time. <sup>14</sup>And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeres, as the yeeres of a hireling, and the glorie of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shalbe very small and feeble.

of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlwinde. <sup>14</sup>And loe, in the euening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

CHAPTER 18

<sup>1</sup>Oh, the lande shadowing with winges, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, <sup>2</sup>Sending ambassadours by the Sea, euen in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying, Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by litle and litle, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoyled. <sup>3</sup>Al ye the inhabitants of ye world and dwellers in the earth, shall see when he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet, ye shall heare. <sup>4</sup>For so the Lord saide vnto me, I will rest and beholde in my tabernacle, as the heate drying vp the rayne, and as a cloude of dewe in the heate of haruest. <sup>5</sup>For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is ripening in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes: <sup>6</sup>They shall be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beastes of the earth: for the foule shall sommer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it. <sup>7</sup>At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

CHAPTER 19

<sup>1</sup>The burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her. <sup>2</sup>And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, cite against cite, and kingdome against kingdome. <sup>3</sup>And the spirite of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the southsayers. <sup>4</sup>And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of the cruell Lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, sayth the Lord God of hostes. <sup>5</sup>Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuers shall be dried vp, and wasted. <sup>6</sup>And the riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe. <sup>7</sup>The grasse in the riuier, and at the head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuier, shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more. <sup>8</sup>The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuier, shall lament, and they that spread their nettes vpon the waters, shall be weakened. <sup>9</sup>Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nettes. <sup>10</sup>For their nettes shalbe broken, and all they, that make pondes, shalbe heauie in heart. <sup>11</sup>Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counselors of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings? <sup>12</sup>Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt? <sup>13</sup>The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of Noph are deceived, they haue deceived Egypt, euen the corners of the tribes thereof. <sup>14</sup>The Lord hath mingled among them the spirite of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite. <sup>15</sup>Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the tayle, ye branch nor the rush. <sup>16</sup>In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be afraide and feare because of the moouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it. <sup>17</sup>And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraid thereat, because of ye counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it. <sup>18</sup>In that day shall fise cities in the lande of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, and shall sweare by the Lord of hostes. one shall be called the cite of destruction. <sup>19</sup>In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And it shall be for a signe and for a witnes vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shall send them a Sauour and a great man, and shall deliuer them. <sup>21</sup>And the Lord shall be knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them. <sup>22</sup>So ye Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall retorne vnto ye Lord, and he shall be intreated of them and shall heale them. <sup>23</sup>In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur. <sup>24</sup>In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land. <sup>25</sup>For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAPTER 20

<sup>1</sup>In the yeere that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon King of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it, <sup>2</sup>At the same time spake the Lord by ye hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loose the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote. <sup>3</sup>And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia, <sup>4</sup>So shall the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt. <sup>5</sup>And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory. <sup>6</sup>Then shall the inhabitant of this yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither we fledde for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Asshur, and howe shall we be deliuered?

CHAPTER 21

<sup>1</sup>The burden of the desert Sea. As the whirlwindes in the South vse to passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land. <sup>2</sup>A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goe vp Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease. <sup>3</sup>Therefore are my loynes filled with sorrow: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauayleth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amased when I sawe it. <sup>4</sup>Mine heart failed: fearefulness troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me. <sup>5</sup>Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: arise, ye princes, anoynt the shielde. <sup>6</sup>For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth. <sup>7</sup>And he sawe a charret with two horsemen: a charret of an asse, and a charret of a camel: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede. <sup>8</sup>And he cryed, A lyon: my lorde, I stand continually vpon ye watche towre in the day time, and I am set in my watche euery night: <sup>9</sup>And beholde, this mans charret commeth with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground. <sup>10</sup>O my threshing, and the come of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you. <sup>11</sup>The burden of Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in ye night? Watchman, what was in the night? <sup>12</sup>The watchman saide, The morning commeth, and also the night. If yee will aske, enquire: retorne and come. <sup>13</sup>The burden against Arabia. In the forest of Arabia shall yee tarie all night, euen in the waies of Dedanim. <sup>14</sup>O inhabitants of the lande of Tema, bring forth water to meete the thirstie, and preuent him that fleeth with his bread. <sup>15</sup>For they flee from the drawen swords, euen from the drawen sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grieuousnesse of warre. <sup>16</sup>For thus hath the Lord sayd vnto me, Yet a yeere according to the yeeres of an hireling, and all the glorie of Kedar shall faile. <sup>17</sup>And the residue of the number of ye strong archers of the sonnes of Kedar shall be fewe: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

together, which haue fled from farre. <sup>4</sup>Therefore said I, Turne away from me: I wil weepe bitterly: labour not to comfort mee for the destruction of the daughter of my people. <sup>5</sup>For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a crying vnto the mountaines. <sup>6</sup>And Elam bare the quier in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield. <sup>7</sup>And thy chiefe valleis were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate. <sup>8</sup>And hee discouered the couering of Iudah: and thou didest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest. <sup>9</sup>And ye haue seene the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole. <sup>10</sup>And yee nombred the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall, <sup>11</sup>And haue also made a ditche betweene the two walles, for the waters of the olde poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde. <sup>12</sup>And in that day did the Lord God of hosts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes and girding with sackcloth. <sup>13</sup>And beholde, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morowe we shall die. <sup>14</sup>And it was declared in ye eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, til ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes. <sup>15</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, Goe, get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, <sup>16</sup>What haste thou to doe here? and whome hast thou here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graue an habitation for him selfe in a rocke? <sup>17</sup>Beholde, the Lord wil carie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee. <sup>18</sup>He wil surely rolle and turne thee like a bal in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glory shalbe the shame of thy lordes house. <sup>19</sup>And I wil driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee. <sup>20</sup>And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, <sup>21</sup>And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hande, and hee shalbe a father of the inhabitats of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah. <sup>22</sup>And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open. <sup>23</sup>And I will fasten him as a naile in a sure place, and hee shall be for the throne of glorie to his fathers house. <sup>24</sup>And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie all small vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musike. <sup>25</sup>In that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes, shall the naile, that is fastned in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden, that was vpon it, shall bee cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAPTER 23

<sup>1</sup>The burden of Tyrus. Howle, yee shippes of Tarshish: for it is destroyed, so that there is none house: none shall come from the lande of Chittim: it is reueiled vnto them. <sup>2</sup>Be still, yee that dwell in the yles: the marchantes of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee. <sup>3</sup>The seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the haruest of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations. <sup>4</sup>Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not trauailed, nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins. <sup>5</sup>When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be sorie, concerning the rumour of Tyrus. <sup>6</sup>Goe you ouer to Tarshish: howle, yee that dwell in the yles. <sup>7</sup>Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient daies: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a sojourner. <sup>8</sup>Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that crowneth men) whose marchantes are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the worlde? <sup>9</sup>The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth. <sup>10</sup>Pass through thy lande like a flood to the daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength. <sup>11</sup>He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof. <sup>12</sup>And he saide, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: O virgin daughter of Zidon: rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest. <sup>13</sup>Behold the lande of the Caldeans: this was no people: Asshur founded it by the inhabitantes of the wilderness: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof and hee brought it to ruine. <sup>14</sup>Howle yee shippes of Tarshish, for your strength is destroyed. <sup>15</sup>And in that day shall Tyrus bee forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one King) at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus sing as an harlot. <sup>16</sup>Take an harpe and go about the citie: (thou harlot thou hast bene forgotten) make sweete melodie, sing moe songes that thou maiest be remembred. <sup>17</sup>And at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world. <sup>18</sup>Yet her occupying and her wages shall bee holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be laied vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shalbe for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

<sup>1</sup>Behold, the Lord maketh the earth emptie, and hee maketh it waste: hee turneth it vpside downe, and scattereth abrode the inhabitants thereof. <sup>2</sup>And there shalbe like people, like Priest, and like seruaunt, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like bier, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie. <sup>3</sup>The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoiled: for the Lord hath spoken this worde. <sup>4</sup>The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feeble and decayed: the proude people of the earth are weakened. <sup>5</sup>The earth also deceiueth, because of the inhabitantes thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant. <sup>6</sup>Therefore hath the curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitantes thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are burned vp, and fewe men are left. <sup>7</sup>The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merie heart, doe mourne. <sup>8</sup>The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioye of the harpe ceaseth. <sup>9</sup>They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it. <sup>10</sup>The citie of vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in. <sup>11</sup>There is a crying for wine in the streetes: al ioy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away. <sup>12</sup>In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction. <sup>13</sup>Surely thus shall it bee in the middes of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended. <sup>14</sup>They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea. <sup>15</sup>Wherefore praise yee the Lord in the valleis, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea. <sup>16</sup>From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard praises, euen glory to the iust, and I sayd, My leanesse, my leanesse, woe is mee: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grievously offended. <sup>17</sup>Feare, and the pitte, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth. <sup>18</sup>And hee that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake. <sup>19</sup>The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moooued exceedingly. <sup>20</sup>The earth shall reele to and from like a drunken man, and shall be remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more. <sup>21</sup>And in that day shall the Lord visite the hoste about that is on hie, euen the Kinges of the world that are vpon the earth. <sup>22</sup>And they shall be gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many daies shall they be visited. <sup>23</sup>Then the moone shall be abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shalbe before his ancient men.

CHAPTER 25

<sup>1</sup>O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will prayse thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable trueth. <sup>2</sup>For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built. <sup>3</sup>Therefore shall the mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee. <sup>4</sup>For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blaste of the mightie is like a storme against the wall. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heate in a drie place: he wil bring downe the song of the

mightie, as the heate in the shadowe of a cloude. <sup>6</sup>And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat thinges, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat thinges full of marow, of wines fined and purified. <sup>7</sup>And he will destroy in this mountaine the couereth that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations. <sup>8</sup>He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God wil wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>9</sup>And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation. <sup>10</sup>For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is threshed in Madmenah. <sup>11</sup>And he shall stretch out his hande in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his handes shall he bring downe their pride. <sup>12</sup>The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay lowe, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

CHAPTER 26

<sup>1</sup>In that day shall this song be sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes. <sup>2</sup>Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in. <sup>3</sup>By an assured purpose wilt thou preserue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee. <sup>4</sup>Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore. <sup>5</sup>For hee will bring downe them that dwell on hie: the hie citie he will abase: euen vnto the ground wil he cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust. <sup>6</sup>The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the poore, and the steppes of the needie. <sup>7</sup>The way of the iust is righteousness: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust. <sup>8</sup>Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee. <sup>9</sup>With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousness. <sup>10</sup>Let mercie bee shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousness: in the land of vprightnesse will he do wickedly, and will not beholde the maiestie of the Lord. <sup>11</sup>O Lord, they will not beholde thine hie hande: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them. <sup>12</sup>Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs. <sup>13</sup>O Lord our God, other lords beside thee, haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name. <sup>14</sup>The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie. <sup>15</sup>Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth. <sup>16</sup>Lord, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them. <sup>17</sup>Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord. <sup>18</sup>We haue cociued, we haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall. <sup>19</sup>Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwel in dust: for thy dewe is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead. <sup>20</sup>Come, my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer. <sup>21</sup>For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup>In that day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea. <sup>2</sup>In that daye sing of the vineyarde of redde wine. <sup>3</sup>I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day. <sup>4</sup>Anger is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battel? I would go through them, I would burne them together. <sup>5</sup>Or will he feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with me? <sup>6</sup>Hereafter, Iakob shall take roote: Israel shall florish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruite. <sup>7</sup>Hath hee smitten him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him? <sup>8</sup>In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contende with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde. <sup>9</sup>By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iakob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: whe he shall make all the stoness of the altars, as chalke stoness broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp. <sup>10</sup>Yet the defenced citie shalbe desolate, and the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof. <sup>11</sup>When the boughes of it are drie, they shalbe broken: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstading: therefore hee that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them. <sup>12</sup>And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanell of the Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel. <sup>13</sup>In that day also shall the great trumpet be blowne, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the lande of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

CHAPTER 28

<sup>1</sup>Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are ouercome with wine. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, the Lord hath a mightie and strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily. <sup>3</sup>They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim. <sup>4</sup>For his glorious beautie shall be a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as the hastie fruite afore sommer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it. <sup>5</sup>In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people: <sup>6</sup>And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate. <sup>7</sup>But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement. <sup>8</sup>For all their tables are full of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane. <sup>9</sup>Whome shall he teache knowledge? and whome shall he make to vnderstand the thinges that hee heareth? them that are weyned from the milke, and drawn from the breastes. <sup>10</sup>For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle. <sup>11</sup>For with a stammering tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people. <sup>12</sup>Vnto whome hee saide, This is the rest: giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare. <sup>13</sup>Therefore shall the worde of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle and there a litle, that they may goe, and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye scornfull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem. <sup>15</sup>Because ye haue said, We haue made a couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid, <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will laye in Zion a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. Hee that beleueeth, shall not make haste. <sup>17</sup>Iudgement also will I laye to the rule, and righteousness to the balance, and the haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe the secret place. <sup>18</sup>And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it. <sup>19</sup>When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shalbe onely feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing. <sup>20</sup>For the bed is streight that it can not suffice, and the couering narrowe that one can not wrappe himselfe. <sup>21</sup>For the Lord shall stand as in mount Perazim: hee shall be wroth as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strage worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte. <sup>22</sup>Nowe

therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth. <sup>23</sup>Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach. <sup>24</sup>Doeth the plowe man plowe all the day, to sowe? doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground? <sup>25</sup>When he hath made it plaine, wil he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, and the appointed barley and rye in their place? <sup>26</sup>For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him. <sup>27</sup>For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but ye fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod. <sup>28</sup>Bread come when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof. <sup>29</sup>This also commeth from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in workes.

CHAPTER 29

<sup>1</sup>Ah altar, altar of the cite that Dauid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere: let them kill lambs. <sup>2</sup>But I wil bring the altar into distresse, and there shalbe heauines and sorowe, and it shall be vnto me like an altar. <sup>3</sup>And I wil besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee. <sup>4</sup>So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speach shalbe as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirite of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust. <sup>5</sup>Moreouer, the multitude of thy strangers shalbe like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly. <sup>6</sup>Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire. <sup>7</sup>And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and lay siege vnto it. <sup>8</sup>And it shalbe like as an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion. <sup>9</sup>Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke. <sup>10</sup>For the Lord hath couered you with a spirite of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered. <sup>11</sup>And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can not: for it is sealed. <sup>12</sup>And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I can not reade. <sup>13</sup>Therefore the Lord sayd, Because this people come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, <sup>14</sup>Therefore behold, I wil againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid. <sup>15</sup>Wo vnto them that seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenes, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs? <sup>16</sup>Your turning of deuises shall it not be esteemed as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that facioned it, He had none vnderstanding? <sup>17</sup>Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall be turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a forest? <sup>18</sup>And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse. <sup>19</sup>The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel. <sup>20</sup>For the cruel man shall cease, and the scornfull shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off: <sup>21</sup>Which made a man to sinne in ye worde, and tooke him in a snare: which reproved them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause. <sup>22</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale. <sup>23</sup>But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel. <sup>24</sup>Then they that erred in spirit, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

CHAPTER 30

<sup>1</sup>Wo to the rebellious children, sayth the Lord, that take counsell, but not of me, and couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne: <sup>2</sup>Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen them selues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt. <sup>3</sup>But the strength of Pharaoh shalbe your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion. <sup>4</sup>For his princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came vnto Hanes. <sup>5</sup>They shalbe all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche. <sup>6</sup>The burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bouches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite. <sup>7</sup>For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto her, Their strength is to sit still. <sup>8</sup>Now go, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the last day for euer and euer: <sup>9</sup>That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the law of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: propheticie errors. <sup>11</sup>Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs. <sup>12</sup>Therefore thus saith the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this worde, and trust in violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon, <sup>13</sup>Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment. <sup>14</sup>And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit. <sup>15</sup>For thus sayd the Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnes shall ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not. <sup>16</sup>For ye haue sayd, No, but we wil flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter. <sup>17</sup>A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship maste vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill. <sup>18</sup>Yet therefore will the Lord waite, that he may haue mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that hee may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him. <sup>19</sup>Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he wil certainly haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy crye: when he heareth thee, he wil answere thee. <sup>20</sup>And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine. <sup>21</sup>And thine eares shall heare a worde behind thee, saying, This is the way, walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left. <sup>22</sup>And ye shall pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence. <sup>23</sup>Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures. <sup>24</sup>The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shoouel and with the fanne. <sup>25</sup>And vpon euery hie mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall. <sup>26</sup>Moreouer, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the sunne, and the light of the sunne shalbe seven folde, and like the light of seven dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound. <sup>27</sup>Beholde, the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heavy: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire. <sup>28</sup>And his spirit is as a riuier that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it deuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people. <sup>29</sup>But there shall be a song vnto you as in the night, when solemne feast is kept: and gladnes of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel. <sup>30</sup>And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones. <sup>31</sup>For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod. <sup>32</sup>And in euery place that ye staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it. <sup>33</sup>For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuier of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

CHAPTER 31

<sup>1</sup>Woe vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemens, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor seeke vnto the Lord. <sup>2</sup>But he yet is wisest: therefore he wil bring euill, and not turne backe his worde, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie. <sup>3</sup>Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh and not spirite: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile. <sup>4</sup>For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lyon or lyons whelpes roareth vpon his praye, against whom if a multitude of shepherds be called, hee will not be afraide at their voyce, neither will humble him selfe at their noise: so shall the Lord of hostes come downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof. <sup>5</sup>As birds that flie, so shall the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it. <sup>6</sup>O ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as ye are sunken deepe in rebellion. <sup>7</sup>For in that day euery man shall cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your handes haue made you, euen a sinne. <sup>8</sup>Then shall Asshur fall by the sworde, not of man, neither shall the sworde of man deuoure him, and hee shall flee from the sworde, and his yong men shall faint. <sup>9</sup>And he shall go for feare to his towre, and his princes shall be afraide of the standart, sayeth the Lord, whose fire is in Zion, and his fornice in Ierusalem.

CHAPTER 32

<sup>1</sup>Behold, a King shall reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule in iudgement. <sup>2</sup>And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in a weary land. <sup>3</sup>The eyes of the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken. <sup>4</sup>And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shalbe ready to speake distinctly. <sup>5</sup>A nigard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle riche. <sup>6</sup>But the nigarde will speake of nigardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile. <sup>7</sup>For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuiseth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake against the poore in iudgement. <sup>8</sup>But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie. <sup>9</sup>Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye carelesse daughters: hearken to my wordes. <sup>10</sup>Yee women, that are carelesse, shall be in feare aboue a yeere in dayes: for the vintage shall faile, and the gatherings shall come no more. <sup>11</sup>Yee women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O yee carelesse women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde sackcloth vpon the loynes. <sup>12</sup>Men shall lament for the teates, euen for the pleasant fieldes, and for the fruitfull vine. <sup>13</sup>Vpon the lande of my people shall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioye in the cite of reioysing. <sup>14</sup>Because the palace shalbe forsaken, and the noise of the cite shalbe left: the towre and fortresse shalbe dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, <sup>15</sup>Vntill the Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wilderness become a fruitfull field, and the plementous felde be counted as a forest. <sup>16</sup>And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull felde. <sup>17</sup>And the worke of iustice shall bee peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer. <sup>18</sup>And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places. <sup>19</sup>When it haileth, it shall fall on the forest, and the cite shall be set in the lowe place. <sup>20</sup>Blessed are ye that sowe vpon all waters, and drieu thither the feete of the oxen and the asse.

CHAPTER 33

<sup>1</sup>Woe to thee that spoylest, and wast not spoiled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoiled: when thou shalt make an ende of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee. <sup>2</sup>O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which waste their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble. <sup>3</sup>At the noise of the tumult, the people fled: at thine exalting the nations were scattered. <sup>4</sup>And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillers: and he shall go against him like the leaping of grasshoppers. <sup>5</sup>The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice. <sup>6</sup>And there shall be stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shalbe his treasure. <sup>7</sup>Behold, their messengers shall cry without, and ye ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly. <sup>8</sup>The pathes are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: hee hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man. <sup>9</sup>The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: Sharon is like a wilderness, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel. <sup>10</sup>Now will I arise, saith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe. <sup>11</sup>Ye shall conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you. <sup>12</sup>And the people shall be as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire. <sup>13</sup>Heare, yee that are farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power. <sup>14</sup>The sinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings? <sup>15</sup>Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his handes from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill. <sup>16</sup>He shall dwell on hie: his defence shall be the munitions of rockes: bread shalbe giuen him, and his waters shalbe sure. <sup>17</sup>Thine eyes shall see the King in his glory: they shall beholde the lande farre off. <sup>18</sup>Thine heart shall meditate feare, Where is the scribe? where is the receiuer? where is hee that counted the towres? <sup>19</sup>Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speache, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstande. <sup>20</sup>Looke vpon Zion the cite of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be remooued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof be broken. <sup>21</sup>For surely there the mightie Lord will be vnto vs, as a place of floods and broade riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby. <sup>22</sup>For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our lawe giuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs. <sup>23</sup>Thy cordes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their maste, neither coulde they spread the saile: then shall the praye be deuied for a great spoile: yea, the lame shall take away the pray. <sup>24</sup>And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

CHAPTER 34

<sup>1</sup>Come neere, ye nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and al that proceedeth thereof. <sup>2</sup>For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter. <sup>3</sup>And their slaine shalbe cast out, and their stincke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood. <sup>4</sup>And all the hoste of heauen shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shall be folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree. <sup>5</sup>For my sword shalbe drunken in the heauen: beholde, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement. <sup>6</sup>The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat and with the blood of the lambes and the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom. <sup>7</sup>And the vnicorne shall come downe with them and the heiffers

with the bulles, and their lande shalbe drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnesse. <sup>8</sup>For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yeere of recompence for the iudgement of Zion. <sup>9</sup>And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitche, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shalbe burning pitch. <sup>10</sup>It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall goe vp euermore: it shall be desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe through it for euer. <sup>11</sup>But the pelicane and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauens shall dwel in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of vanitie, and the stones of emptinesse. <sup>12</sup>The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shalbe none, and all the princes thereof shalbe as nothing. <sup>13</sup>And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shall be an habitation for dragons, and a court for ostriches. <sup>14</sup>There shall meete also Ziim and Iim, and the Satyre shall cry to his fellow, and the shriceowle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling. <sup>15</sup>There shall the owle make her nest, and laye, and hatche, and gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the vultures also bee gathered, euery one with her make. <sup>16</sup>Seeke in the booke of the Lord, and reade: none of these shall fayle, none shall want her make: for his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them. <sup>17</sup>And he hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath deuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAPTER 35

<sup>1</sup>The desert and the wildernes shall reioyce: and the waste ground shalbe glad and florish as the rose. <sup>2</sup>It shall florish abundantly and shall greatly reioyce also and ioye: the glory of Lebanon shalbe giuen vnto it: the beaute of Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God. <sup>3</sup>Strengthen the weake handes, and comfort the feeble knees. <sup>4</sup>Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: beholde, your God commeth with vengeance: euen God with a recompense, he will come and saue you. <sup>5</sup>Then shall the eyes of the blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened. <sup>6</sup>Then shall ye lame man leape as an hart, and the dumme mans tongue shall sing: for in the wildernes shall waters breake out, and riuers in ye desert. <sup>7</sup>And the dry ground shalbe as a poole, and the thirstie (as springs of water in the habitation of dragons: where they lay) shall be a place for reedes and rushes. <sup>8</sup>And there shalbe a path and a way, and the way shalbe called holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for he shalbe with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre. <sup>9</sup>There shall be no lyon, nor noysome beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke. <sup>10</sup>Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shall bee vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioye and gladnesse, and sorow and mourning shall flee away.

<sup>1</sup>Nowe in the fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib King of Asshur came vp against al the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them. <sup>2</sup>And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stood by ye conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field. <sup>3</sup>Then came fourth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceler, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder. <sup>4</sup>And Rabshakeh sayde vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus sayth the great King, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest? <sup>5</sup>I say, Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me? <sup>6</sup>Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pearce it: so is Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him. <sup>7</sup>But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar? <sup>8</sup>Nowe therefore giue hostages to my lorde the King of Asshur, and I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them. <sup>9</sup>For howe canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lordes seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charrets and for horsemen?

<sup>10</sup>And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord sayd vnto me, Goe vp against this land and destroy it. <sup>11</sup>Then sayd Eliakim and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall. <sup>12</sup>Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eate their owne dounge, and drinke their owne pisse with you? <sup>13</sup>So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and sayd, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Asshur. <sup>14</sup>Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you. <sup>15</sup>Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshur. <sup>16</sup>Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus sayth the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne fig tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well, <sup>17</sup>Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate, and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, <sup>18</sup>Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshur? <sup>19</sup>Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand? <sup>20</sup>Who is hee among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their cuntry out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand? <sup>21</sup>Then they kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not. <sup>22</sup>Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chanceler, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAPTER 37

<sup>1</sup>And when the King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and came into the House of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>And he sent Eliakim the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chanceler, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackcloth vnto Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz. <sup>3</sup>And they sayd vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth. <sup>4</sup>If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left. <sup>5</sup>So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. <sup>6</sup>And Isaiah sayde vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afrayd of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noyse, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land. <sup>8</sup>So Rabshakeh returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish. <sup>9</sup>He heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying, <sup>10</sup>Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered? <sup>12</sup>Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telsassar? <sup>13</sup>Where is the King of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah? <sup>14</sup>So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying, <sup>16</sup>O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth. <sup>17</sup>Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God. <sup>18</sup>Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, and their cuntry, <sup>19</sup>And haue cast their gods in ye fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them. <sup>20</sup>Nowe therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Asshur, <sup>22</sup>This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against him, the virgine, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn: the daughter of Ierusalem, hath shaken her head at thee. <sup>23</sup>Whome hast thou railed on and blasphemed? and against whome hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the holy one of Israel. <sup>24</sup>By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heightes of his top and to the forest of his fruitfull places. <sup>25</sup>I haue digged and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in. <sup>26</sup>Hast thou not heard howe I haue of olde time made it, and haue formed it long ago? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and layde on ruinous heapes, as cities defended? <sup>27</sup>Whose inhabitants haue small power, and are afraide and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or corne blassed afore it be growen. <sup>28</sup>But I know thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy comming in, and thy fury against me. <sup>29</sup>Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, and wil bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest. <sup>30</sup>And this shalbe a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the second yeere, such things as growe without sowing: and in the third yeere, sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof. <sup>31</sup>And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downward and beare fruite vpward. <sup>32</sup>For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shall doe this. <sup>33</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, concerning the King of Asshur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it. <sup>34</sup>By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord. <sup>35</sup>For I will defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruant Dauids sake. <sup>36</sup>Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth, fourescore, and fiue thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, beholde, they were all dead corpses. <sup>37</sup>So Saneherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at Nineueh. <sup>38</sup>And as he was in the temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes slewe him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of Ararat: and Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his steade.

CHAPTER 38

<sup>1</sup>About that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and sayd vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt dye, and not liue. <sup>2</sup>Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, <sup>3</sup>And saide, I beseeche thee, Lord, remember nowe howe I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfit heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore. <sup>4</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord to Isaiah, saying, <sup>5</sup>Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yeeres. <sup>6</sup>And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the King of Asshur, and this citie: for I will defende this citie. <sup>7</sup>And this signe shalt thou haue of ye Lord, that ye Lord will do this thing that he hath spoken, <sup>8</sup>Beholde, I will bring againe the shadowe of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by tenne degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe. <sup>9</sup>The writing of Hezekiah King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recovered of his sicknesse. <sup>10</sup>I saide in the cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeeres. <sup>11</sup>I said, I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world. <sup>12</sup>Mine habitation is departed, and is remoued from me, like a shepherds tent: I haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day to night, thou wilt make an ende of me. <sup>13</sup>I rekoned to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me. <sup>14</sup>Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eies were lift vp on high: O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me. <sup>15</sup>What shall I say? for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shall walke weakely all my yeeres in the bitterness of my soule. <sup>16</sup>O Lord, to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirite shalbe knowen, that thou causedst me to sleepe and hast giuen life to me. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, for felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sinnes behinde thy backe. <sup>18</sup>For the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth. <sup>19</sup>But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the children shall declare thy trueth. <sup>20</sup>The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the House of the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Then said Isaiah, Take a lump of drye figs and lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer. <sup>22</sup>Also Hezekiah had said, What is ye signe, that I shall goe vp into the House of the Lord?

CHAPTER 39

<sup>1</sup>At the same time, Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recovered. <sup>2</sup>And Hezekiah was glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was founde in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not. <sup>3</sup>Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel. <sup>4</sup>Then saide he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them. <sup>5</sup>And Isaiah saide to Hezekiah, Heare the worde of the Lord of hostes, <sup>6</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layed vp in store vntill this day, shall be caried to Babel: nothing shall be left, sayeth the Lord. <sup>7</sup>And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuches in the palace of the King of Babel. <sup>8</sup>Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he saide, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

CHAPTER 40

<sup>1</sup>Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, will your God say. <sup>2</sup>Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and crye vnto her, that her warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand double for all her sinnes. <sup>3</sup>A voyce cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God. <sup>4</sup>Euery valley shall be exalted, and euery mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shalbe streight, and the rough places plaine. <sup>5</sup>And the glory of the Lord shalbe reueiled, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>6</sup>A voyce saide, Crie. And he saide, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof is as the floure of the fiede. <sup>7</sup>The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the Spirite of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse. <sup>8</sup>The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the worde of our God shall stand for euer. <sup>9</sup>O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraide: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Beholde your God. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, the Lord God will come with power, and his arme shall rule for him: beholde, his rewarde is with him, and his worke before him, <sup>11</sup>He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with young. <sup>12</sup>Who hath measured the waters in his fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed ye mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a balance? <sup>13</sup>Who hath instructed ye Spirit of the Lord? or was his counselor or taught him? <sup>14</sup>Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding? <sup>15</sup>Beholde, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: beholde, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust. <sup>16</sup>And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beastes thereof sufficient for a burnt offering. <sup>17</sup>All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie. <sup>18</sup>To whom then wil ye liken God? or what similitude will ye set vp vnto him? <sup>19</sup>The workeman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldsmith maketh siluer plates. <sup>20</sup>Doeth not the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation? he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shall not be moued. <sup>21</sup>Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard it? hath it not bene tolde you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstand it by the foundation of the earth? <sup>22</sup>He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers, hee stretcheth out ye heauens, as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in. <sup>23</sup>He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, <sup>24</sup>As though they were not plated, as though they were not sowed, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble. <sup>25</sup>To whom nowe will ye liken me, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one? <sup>26</sup>Lift vp your eyes on hie, and beholde who hath created these things, and bringeth out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names? by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth. <sup>27</sup>Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God? <sup>28</sup>Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the endes of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his vnderstanding. <sup>29</sup>But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power. <sup>30</sup>Euen the yong men shall faint, and be wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall. <sup>31</sup>But they that waite vpon the Lord, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

CHAPTER 41

<sup>1</sup>Keep silence before mee, O ylands, and let the people renew their strength: let the come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement. <sup>2</sup>Who raised vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the Kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bowe. <sup>3</sup>He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete. <sup>4</sup>Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the first, and with the last I am ye same. <sup>5</sup>The yles sawe it, and did feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drew neere, and came. <sup>6</sup>Euery man helped his neighbour, and saide to his brother, Be strong. <sup>7</sup>So the workeman comforted the founder, and he that smote with ye hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, and he fastened it with nayles that it should not be mooued. <sup>8</sup>But thou, Israel, art my seruaut, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend. <sup>9</sup>For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and saide vnto thee, Thou art my seruaut: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away. <sup>10</sup>Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraide, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, all they that prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, and they that strue with thee, shall perish. <sup>12</sup>Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought. <sup>13</sup>For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I wil helpe thee. <sup>14</sup>Feare not, thou worme, Iaakob, and ye men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, sayth the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel. <sup>15</sup>Behold, I wil make thee a roller, and a newe threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountaines, and bring them to pouder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe. <sup>16</sup>Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shall carie them away, and the whirlewinde shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy one of Israel. <sup>17</sup>When the poore and the needy seeke water, and there is none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them) <sup>18</sup>I will open riuers in the toppes of the hils, and fountaines in the middes of the valleis: I will make the wilderness as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water. <sup>19</sup>I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah tree, and the mirre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together. <sup>20</sup>Therefore let them see and knowe, and let them consider and vnderstande together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel hath created it. <sup>21</sup>Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith ye King of Iaakob. <sup>22</sup>Let them bring forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that wee may consider them, and knowe the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come. <sup>23</sup>Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, doe good or doe euill, that we may declare it, and beholde it together. <sup>24</sup>Beholde, ye are of no value, and your making is of naught: man hath chosen an abomination by them. <sup>25</sup>I haue raised vp from the North, and he shall come: from the East sunne shall he cal vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the foote. <sup>26</sup>Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may knowe? or before time, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your wordes. <sup>27</sup>I am the first, that saith to Zion, Beholde, beholde them: and I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings. <sup>28</sup>But when I behelde, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellor, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a worde. <sup>29</sup>Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

CHAPTER 42

<sup>1</sup>Behold, my seruaut: I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule deliteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles. <sup>2</sup>He shall not crie, nor lift vp, nor cause his voice to be heard in the streete. <sup>3</sup>A bruised reede shall hee not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in trueth. <sup>4</sup>He shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue set iudgement in the earth: and the yles shall waite for his lawe. <sup>5</sup>Thus sayeth God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spred them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein) <sup>6</sup>I the Lord haue called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles, <sup>7</sup>That thou maist open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sitte in darkenesse, out of the prison house. <sup>8</sup>I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory wil I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images. <sup>9</sup>Beholde, the former things are come to passe, and newe things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them. <sup>10</sup>Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, and his praise from the ende of the earth: yee that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof. <sup>11</sup>Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shoute from the toppe of the mountaines. <sup>12</sup>Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands. <sup>13</sup>The Lord shall go forth as a gyant: he shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shout and crie, and shall preuaile against his enemies. <sup>14</sup>I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: nowe will I crie like a traouailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once. <sup>15</sup>I will make waste mountaines, and hilles, and drie vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles. <sup>16</sup>And I will bring the blinde by a way, that they knewe not, and lead them by paths that they haue not knownen: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them. <sup>17</sup>They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods. <sup>18</sup>Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regarde, that ye may see. <sup>19</sup>Who is blinde but my seruaut? or deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blind as the perfit, and blinde as the Lordes seruaut? <sup>20</sup>Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not? <sup>21</sup>The Lord is willing for his righteousnesse sake that he may magnifie the Lawe, and exalt it. <sup>22</sup>But this people is robbed and spoiled, and shalbe all snared in dungeons, and they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, Restore. <sup>23</sup>Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for afterwarde? <sup>24</sup>Who gaue Iakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not ye Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they woulde not walke in his waies, neither be obedient vnto his Lawe. <sup>25</sup>Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and he knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

CHAPTER 43

<sup>1</sup>But nowe thus sayeth the Lord, that created thee, O Iakob: and hee that formed thee, O Israel, Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine. <sup>2</sup>When thou passest through the waters, I wil be with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee. <sup>3</sup>For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee. <sup>4</sup>Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue man for thee, and people for thy sake. <sup>5</sup>Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West. <sup>6</sup>I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth. <sup>7</sup>Euery one shall be called by my Name: for I created him for my glorie, formed him and made him. <sup>8</sup>I will bring foorth the blinde people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares. <sup>9</sup>Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this and shewe vs former things? let them bring foorth their witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them heare, and say, It is truth. <sup>10</sup>You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore yee shall knowe and beleue me and yee shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. <sup>11</sup>I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauour. <sup>12</sup>I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, sayeth the Lord, that I am God. <sup>13</sup>Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it? <sup>14</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Chaldeans crie in the shippes. <sup>15</sup>I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King. <sup>16</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord which maketh a way in the Sea, and a path in the mighty waters. <sup>17</sup>When hee bringeth out the charet and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as tow. <sup>18</sup>Remember yee not the former things, neither regard the things of olde. <sup>19</sup>Behold, I do a new thing: now shall it come foorth: shall you not knowe it? I wil euen make a way in the desert, and floods in the wilderness. <sup>20</sup>The wilde beastes shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderness to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect. <sup>21</sup>This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shewe foorth my praise. <sup>22</sup>And thou hast not called vpon mee, O Iakob, but thou hast wearied me, O Israel. <sup>23</sup>Thou hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offrings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense. <sup>24</sup>Thou boughtest mee no sweete sauour with money, neither hast thou made mee drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made mee to serue with thy sinnes, and wearied mee with thine iniquities. <sup>25</sup>I, euen I am he that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes. <sup>26</sup>Put me in remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maist be iustified. <sup>27</sup>Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me. <sup>28</sup>Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuarie, and haue made Iakob a curse, and Israel a reproche.

CHAPTER 44

wombe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakob, my seruauant, and thou righteous, whome I haue chosen. <sup>3</sup>For I will powre water vpon the thirstie, and floods vpon the drie ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy buddes. <sup>4</sup>And they shall grow as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters. <sup>5</sup>One shall say, I am the Lordes: another shalbe called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel. <sup>6</sup>Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hostes, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God. <sup>7</sup>And who is like me, that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before me, since I appointed the ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shewe vnto them. <sup>8</sup>Feare ye not, neither be afraide: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not. <sup>9</sup>All they that make an image, are vanitie, and their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shalbe confounded. <sup>10</sup>Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing? <sup>11</sup>Beholde, all that are of the fellowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together. <sup>12</sup>The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint. <sup>13</sup>The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreyeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in an house. <sup>14</sup>He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it. <sup>15</sup>And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it. <sup>16</sup>He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and sayth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire. <sup>17</sup>And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and sayeth, Deliuer me: for thou art my god. <sup>18</sup>They haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their heartes, that they cannot vnderstand. <sup>19</sup>And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree? <sup>20</sup>He feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lye in my right hand? <sup>21</sup>Remember these (O Iakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not. <sup>22</sup>I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee. <sup>23</sup>Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, ye lower partes of the earth: brast foorth into prayes, ye mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iakob and will be glorified in Israel. <sup>24</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord thy redeemer and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe. <sup>25</sup>I destroy the tokens of ye southsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse. <sup>26</sup>He confirmeth the worde of his seruant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall be built vp, and I will repayre the decayed places thereof. <sup>27</sup>He saith to the deepe, Be drye and I will drye vp thy floods. <sup>28</sup>He saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely layed.

CHAPTER 45

of Kings and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut: <sup>2</sup>I will goe before thee and make the crooked streight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres. <sup>3</sup>And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou maist know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel. <sup>4</sup>For Iaakob my seruants sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name and name thee, though thou hast not known me. <sup>5</sup>I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee though thou hast not known me, <sup>6</sup>That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other. <sup>7</sup>I forme the light and create darkenes: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things. <sup>8</sup>Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe righteousness: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue created him. <sup>9</sup>Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, It hath none hands? <sup>10</sup>Woe vnto him that sayeth to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought foorth? <sup>11</sup>Thus saith the Lord, the holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine hands: commande you me. <sup>12</sup>I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie. <sup>13</sup>I haue raised him vp in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for price nor rewarde, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>14</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides. <sup>15</sup>Verely thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauour of Israel. <sup>16</sup>All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images. <sup>17</sup>But Israel shall be saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded worlde without ende. <sup>18</sup>For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other. <sup>19</sup>I haue not spoken in secrete, neither in a place of darkenes in the earth: I saide not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you me: I the Lord doe speake righteousness, and declare righteous things. <sup>20</sup>Assemble your selues, and come: drave neere together, ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them. <sup>21</sup>Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauour: there is none beside me. <sup>22</sup>Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued: all the endes of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there is none other. <sup>23</sup>I haue sworn by my selfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not returne, That euery knee shall bowe vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me. <sup>24</sup>Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that prouoke him, shall be ashamed. <sup>25</sup>The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAPTER 46

<sup>1</sup>Bel is bowed downe: Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden. <sup>2</sup>They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they coulde not rid them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie. <sup>3</sup>Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth. <sup>4</sup>Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare heares: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will cary you and I will deliuer you. <sup>5</sup>To whom will ye make me like or make me equall, or copare me, that I should be like him? <sup>6</sup>They draw gold out of the bagge and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe, and worship it. <sup>7</sup>They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation. <sup>8</sup>Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, O you transgressors. <sup>9</sup>Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me, <sup>10</sup>Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoever I will. <sup>11</sup>I call a birde from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it. <sup>12</sup>Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from iustice. <sup>13</sup>I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I wil giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

CHAPTER 47

<sup>1</sup>Come downe and sit in the dust: O virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate. <sup>2</sup>Take the mill stones, and grinde meale: loose thy lockes: make bare the feete: vncover the legges, and passe through the floods. <sup>3</sup>Thy filthinesse shall be discouered, and thy shame shall be scene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a man. <sup>4</sup>Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel. <sup>5</sup>Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse, O daughter of the Chaldeas: for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes. <sup>6</sup>I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine had: thou diddest shew them no mercy, but thou didest lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient. <sup>7</sup>And thou saidest, I shall be a ladie for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy mind to these things, neither diddest thou remember ye latter end therof. <sup>8</sup>Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, Shee sayeth in her heart, I am, and none els: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall knowe the losse of children. <sup>9</sup>But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children and widowhoode: they shall come vpon thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters. <sup>10</sup>For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast sayd, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast saide in thine heart, I am, and none els. <sup>11</sup>Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shall fal vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware. <sup>12</sup>Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy southsaiers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou maist haue profit, or if so be thou maist haue strength. <sup>13</sup>Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticatours stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coles to warme at, nor light to sit by. <sup>15</sup>Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAPTER 48

<sup>1</sup>Hear yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness. <sup>2</sup>For they are called of the holy citie, and staie themselues vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hostes. <sup>3</sup>I haue declared ye former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe. <sup>4</sup>Because I knewe, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brasse, <sup>5</sup>Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them. <sup>6</sup>Thou hast heard, behold all this, and wil not yee declare it? I haue shewed thee newe things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not. <sup>7</sup>They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shouldest say, Beholde, I knewe them. <sup>8</sup>Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grieuouſly transgreſſe: therefore haue I called thee a transgreſſour from the wombe. <sup>9</sup>For my Names ſake will I defer my wrath, and for my praiſe will I reſtraine it from thee, that I cut thee not off. <sup>10</sup>Behold, I haue fined thee, but not as ſiluer: I haue choſen thee in the furnace of affliction. <sup>11</sup>For mine owne ſake, for mine owne ſake will I doe it: for how ſhould my Name be polluted? ſurely I wil not giue my glory vnto another. <sup>12</sup>Heare me, O Iaakob and Iſrael, my called, I am, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt. <sup>13</sup>Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath ſpanned the heaues: when I cal them, they ſtand vp together. <sup>14</sup>All you, aſſemble your ſelues, and heare: which among them hath declared theſe thinges? The Lord hath loued him: he wil doe his will in Babel, and his arme ſhalbe againſt the Chaldeans. <sup>15</sup>I, euen I haue ſpoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way ſhall proſper. <sup>16</sup>Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not ſpoken it in ſecret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath ſent me. <sup>17</sup>Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Iſrael, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profite, and lead thee by the way, that thou ſhouldeſt goe. <sup>18</sup>Oh that thou haddeſt hearkened to my commandements! then had thy proſperitie bene as the floude, and thy righteouſneſſe as the waues of the ſea. <sup>19</sup>Thy ſeede alſo had bene as the ſande, and the fruite of thy body like the grauell thereof: his name ſhould not haue bene cut off nor deſtroied before me. <sup>20</sup>Goe yee out of Babel: flee yee from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel and declare this: ſhewe it forth to the ende of the earth: ſay yee, The Lord hath redeemed his ſeruant Iaakob. <sup>21</sup>And they were not thirſtie: hee led them through the wilderneſſe: hee cauſed the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water guſhed out. <sup>22</sup>There is no peace, ſayeth the Lord, vnto the wicked.

CHAPTER 39

<sup>1</sup>Hear yee me, O yles, and hearken, yee people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers bellie. <sup>2</sup>And hee hath made my mouth like a ſharpe ſworde: vnder the ſhadowe of his hande hath he hid mee, and made me a choſen ſhafte, and hid me in his quiuer. <sup>3</sup>And ſayd vnto me, Thou art my ſeruaunt, Iſrael, for I will be glorious in thee. <sup>4</sup>And I ſaid, I haue labored in vaine: I haue ſpent my ſtrength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God. <sup>5</sup>And now ſayeth the Lord, that formed me from the wombe to be his ſeruaunt, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Iſrael be not gathered, yet ſhall I bee glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God ſhall be my ſtrength) <sup>6</sup>And hee ſayde, It is a ſmall thing that thou ſhouldeſt be my ſeruaunt, to raiſe vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to reſtore the deſolations of Iſrael: I will alſo giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest bee my ſaluation vnto the ende of the worlde. <sup>7</sup>Thus ſayeth the Lord the redeemer of Iſrael, and his Holie one, to him that is deſpised in ſoule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a ſeruaunt of rulers, Kinges ſhall ſee, and ariſe, and princes ſhall worſhip, becauſe of the Lord, that is faithfull: and ye Holy one of Iſrael, which hath choſen thee. <sup>8</sup>Thus ſayeth the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of ſaluation haue I helped thee: and I will preſerue thee, and wil giue thee for a couenant of ye people, that thou maiest raiſe vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the deſolate heritages: <sup>9</sup>That thou maiest ſay to the priſoners, Goe forth: and to them that are in darkeneſſe, Shewe your ſelues: they ſhall feede in the waies, and their paſtures ſhall bee in all the toppes of the hilles. <sup>10</sup>They ſhall not be hungrie, neither ſhall they be thirſtie, neither ſhall the heat ſmite them, nor the ſunne: for he that hath compaſſion on them, ſhall leade them: euen to the ſprings of waters ſhall he driue them. <sup>11</sup>And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my paths ſhalbe exalted. <sup>12</sup>Beholde, theſe ſhall come from farre: and loe, theſe from the North and from the Weſt, and theſe from the land of Sinim. <sup>13</sup>Reioyce, O heauens: and bee ioyfull, O earth: braſt forth into praiſe, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted. <sup>14</sup>But Zion ſaide, The Lord hath forſaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me. <sup>15</sup>Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compaſſion on the ſonne of her wombe? though they ſhould forget, yet wil I not forget thee. <sup>16</sup>Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy wallies are euer in my ſight. <sup>17</sup>Thy builders make haſte: thy deſtroiers and they that made thee waſte, are departed from thee. <sup>18</sup>Lift vp thine eies round about and behold: all theſe gather themſelues together and come to thee: as I liue, ſayeth the Lord, thou ſhalt ſurely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and girdle thy ſelfe with them like a bride. <sup>19</sup>For thy deſolations, and thy waſte places, and thy land deſtroied, ſhall ſurely be now narrow for them that ſhall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, ſhalbe farre away. <sup>20</sup>The children of thy barenneſſe ſhall ſay againe in thine eares, The place is ſtraight for mee: giue place to me that I may dwell. <sup>21</sup>Then ſhalt thou ſay in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee theſe, ſeeing I am barren and deſolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and from? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are theſe? <sup>22</sup>Thus ſayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will lift vp mine hande to the Gentiles and ſet vp my ſtadart to the people, and they ſhall bring thy ſonnes in their armes: and thy daughters ſhall be caried vpon their ſhoulders. <sup>23</sup>And Kinges ſhalbe thy nouriſhing fathers, and Queenes ſhalbe thy nouriſſes: they ſhall worſhip thee with their faces toward the earth, and lick vp the duſt of thy feete: and thou ſhalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they ſhall not be aſhamed that waite for me. <sup>24</sup>Shall the pray be taken from the mightie? or the juſt captiuitie deliuered? <sup>25</sup>But thus ſayeth the Lord, euen the captiuitie of the mightie ſhall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant ſhall be deliuered: for I wil contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will ſaue thy children, <sup>26</sup>And will feede them that ſpoile thee, with their owne fleſh, and they ſhall be drunken with their owne bloode, as with ſweete wine: and all fleſh ſhall knowe that I the Lord am thy ſauiour and thy redeemer, the mighty one of Iaakob.

CHAPTER 50

<sup>1</sup>Thus ſayeth the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whome I haue caſt off? or who is the creditour to whome I ſolde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are yee ſolde, and becauſe of your transgreſſions is your mother forſaken. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand ſo ſhortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Beholde, at my rebuke I drie vp the Sea: I make the floods deſert: their fiſh rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirſt. <sup>3</sup>I clothe the heauens with darkeneſſe, and make a ſacke their couering. <sup>4</sup>The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I ſhoulde knowe to miniſter a word in time to him that is weary: he will raiſe me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare, as the learned. <sup>5</sup>The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe. <sup>6</sup>I gaue my backe vnto the ſmiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from ſhame and ſpitting. <sup>7</sup>For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore ſhall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I ſet my face like a flint, and I knowe that I ſhall not be aſhamed. <sup>8</sup>Hee is neere that iuſtifieth mee: who will contend with me? Let vs ſtande together: who is mine aduerſarie? let him come neere to me. <sup>9</sup>Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they ſhall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe ſhall eate them vp. <sup>10</sup>Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his ſeruant: hee that walketh in darkeneſſe, and hath no light, let him truſt in the Name of the Lord, and ſtaye vpon his God. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, all you kindle a fire, and are compaſſed about with ſparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the ſparkes that ye haue kindled. This ſhall ye haue of mine hand: ye ſhall lye downe in ſorowe.

CHAPTER 51

<sup>1</sup>Heare me, ye that follow after righteouſneſſe, and ye that ſeek the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged. <sup>2</sup>Conſider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and bleſſed him, and increaſed him. <sup>3</sup>Surely the Lord ſhall comfort Zion: he ſhall comfort all her deſolations, and he ſhall make her deſert like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladneſſe ſhalbe founde therein: praiſe, and the voyce of ſinging. <sup>4</sup>Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a Law ſhall procede from me, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people. <sup>5</sup>My righteouſneſſe is neere: my ſaluation goeth forth, and mine armes ſhall iudge the people: the yles ſhall waite for me, and ſhall truſt vnto mine arme. <sup>6</sup>Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heauens ſhall vaniſh away like ſmoke, and the earth ſhall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, ſhall periſh in like maner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. <sup>7</sup>Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproche of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes. <sup>8</sup>For the mothe shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wool: but my righteousness shall be for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation. <sup>9</sup>Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as in the olde time in the generations of the worlde. Art not thou the same, that hath cutte Rahab, and wounded the dragon? <sup>10</sup>Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer? <sup>11</sup>Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy, and gladnesse: and sorow and mourning shall flee away. <sup>12</sup>I, euen I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall be made as grasse? <sup>13</sup>And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layde the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is readie to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour? <sup>14</sup>The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that hee should not die in the pitte, nor that his bread should faile. <sup>15</sup>And I am the Lord thy God that deuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes is his Name. <sup>16</sup>And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people. <sup>17</sup>Awake, awake, and stande vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hande of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out. <sup>18</sup>There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whome she hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp. <sup>19</sup>These two thinges are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sworde: by whome shall I comfort thee? <sup>20</sup>Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a nette, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God. <sup>21</sup>Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine. <sup>22</sup>Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hande the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more. <sup>23</sup>But I will put it into their hande that spoile thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bowe downe, that wee may goe ouer, and thou hast layde thy bodie as the ground, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

CHAPTER 52

<sup>1</sup>Aries, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on thy garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane. <sup>2</sup>Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion. <sup>3</sup>For thus sayeth the Lord, Yee were solde for naught: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe afore time into Egypt to sojourne there, and Asshur oppressed them without cause. <sup>5</sup>Nowe therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for naught, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is blasphemed? <sup>6</sup>Therefore my people shall know my Name: therefore they shall know in that day, that I am he that doe speake: beholde, it is I. <sup>7</sup>How beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth peace? that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth? <sup>8</sup>The voyce of thy watchmen shall be heard: they shall lift vp their voyce, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion. <sup>9</sup>O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, bee glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the endes of the earth shall see the saluation of our God. <sup>11</sup>Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence and touche no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: be ye cleane, that beare the vessels of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>For ye shall not goe out with haste, nor depart by fleeing away:

but the Lord will goe before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, my seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very hie. <sup>14</sup>As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so deformed of men, and his forme of the sonnes of men) so shall hee sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their mouths at him: for that which had not bene tolde them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstande.

CHAPTER 53

<sup>1</sup>Who will beleue our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lord reueiled? <sup>2</sup>But hee shall growe vp before him as a branche, and as a roote out of a dry ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that wee should desire him. <sup>3</sup>He is despised and reiecte of men: he is a man full of sorowes and hath experience of infirmities: we hidde as it were our faces from him: he was despised and we esteemed him not. <sup>4</sup>Surely hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried our sorowes: yet wee did iudge him, as plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled. <sup>5</sup>But hee was wounded for our transgressions, hee was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed. <sup>6</sup>All we like sheepe haue gone astraye: wee haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layed vpon him the iniquitie of vs all. <sup>7</sup>Hee was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: hee is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth. <sup>8</sup>Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgement: and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the lande of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued. <sup>9</sup>And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, though hee had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceite in his mouth. <sup>10</sup>Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subiect to infirmities: when hee shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seede and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand. <sup>11</sup>Hee shall see of the trauaile of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities. <sup>12</sup>Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall deuide the spoyle with the strong, because hee hath powred out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressors, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

CHAPTER 54

<sup>1</sup>Reioice, O barren that diddest not beare: breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that diddest not trauaile with childe: for the desolate hath moe children then the married wife, sayeth the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtains of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cords and make fast thy stakes. <sup>3</sup>For thou shalt increase on the right hande and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities. <sup>4</sup>Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not bee put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widdowhoode any more. <sup>5</sup>For hee that made thee, is thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the Holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world. <sup>6</sup>For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a yong wife when thou wast refused, sayth thy God. <sup>7</sup>For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee. <sup>8</sup>For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a litle season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, sayth the Lord thy redeemer. <sup>9</sup>For this is vnto me as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee. <sup>10</sup>For the mountaines shall remoue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee. <sup>11</sup>O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, beholde, I wil lay thy stones with the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs, <sup>12</sup>And I will make thy windowes of emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones. <sup>13</sup>And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children. <sup>14</sup>In righteousness shalt thou be established, and

be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee. <sup>15</sup>Beholde, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without me: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall. <sup>16</sup>Beholde, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy. <sup>17</sup>But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and every tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, and their righteousnesse is of me, sayth the Lord.

CHAPTER 55

<sup>1</sup>Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no siluer, come, buy and eate: come, I say, buy wine and milke without siluer and without money. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in fatnes. <sup>3</sup>Endure your cares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the sure mercies of Dauid. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, I gaue him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the holy one of Israel: for hee hath glorified thee. <sup>6</sup>Seeke ye the Lord while he may be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere. <sup>7</sup>Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for hee is very ready to forgieue. <sup>8</sup>For my thoughtes are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayth the Lord. <sup>9</sup>For as ye heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughtes aboute your thoughtes. <sup>10</sup>Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth, <sup>11</sup>So shall my worde be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it. <sup>12</sup>Therefore ye shall go out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountaines and the hilles shall breake forth before you into ioye, and all the trees of the fildes shall clap their hands. <sup>13</sup>For thornes there shall grow firre trees: for nettles shall growe the myrrhe tree, and it shalbe to the Lord for a name, and for an euerlasting signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAPTER 56

<sup>1</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousness to be reueiled. <sup>2</sup>Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: hee that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill. <sup>3</sup>And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a drye tree. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my couenant, <sup>5</sup>Euen vnto them wil I giue in mine House and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out. <sup>6</sup>Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: every one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant, <sup>7</sup>Them wil I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shall be called an house of prayer for all people. <sup>8</sup>The Lord God sayth, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet wil I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them. <sup>9</sup>All ye beastes of the fildes, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forest. <sup>10</sup>Their watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they can not barked: they lie and sleepe and delite in sleeping. <sup>11</sup>And these griedy dogs can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne waye, every one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose. <sup>12</sup>Come, I wil bring wine, and we wil fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morowe shalbe as this day, and much more abundant.

<sup>1</sup>The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away from the euill to come. <sup>2</sup>Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, every one that walketh before him. <sup>3</sup>But you witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer and of the whore. <sup>4</sup>On whome haue ye iested? vpon whome haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false seede? <sup>5</sup>Inflamed with idoles vnder every greene tree? and sacrificing the children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks? <sup>6</sup>Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the ruer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delite in these? <sup>7</sup>Thou hast made thy bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice. <sup>8</sup>Behinde the doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in every place where thou sawest it. <sup>9</sup>Thou wentest to the Kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine oyntments and sende thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell. <sup>10</sup>Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifold iourneys, yet saydest thou not, There is no hope: thou hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved. <sup>11</sup>And whome diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast lyed vnto me, and hast not remembred me, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me. <sup>12</sup>I will declare thy righteousness and thy workes, and they shall not profite thee. <sup>13</sup>When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherite the lande, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine. <sup>14</sup>And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people. <sup>15</sup>For thus sayth he that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirite to reuiue the spirite of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart. <sup>16</sup>For I will not contende for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, for the spirite should fayle before me: and I haue made the breath. <sup>17</sup>For his wicked couetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart. <sup>18</sup>I haue seene his wayes, and wil heale him: I wil leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him. <sup>19</sup>I create the fruite of the lips, to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere, sayth the Lord: for I wil heale him. <sup>20</sup>But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt. <sup>21</sup>There is no peace, sayth my God, to the wicked.

CHAPTER 58

<sup>1</sup>Crye aloud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes. <sup>2</sup>Yet they seeke me daily, and will knowe my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they wil drawe neere vnto God, saying, <sup>3</sup>Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke your will, and require all your dettes. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboute. <sup>5</sup>Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bull rush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord? <sup>6</sup>Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake every yoke? <sup>7</sup>Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh? <sup>8</sup>Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy righteousness shall goe before thee, and the glorie of the Lord shall embrace thee. <sup>9</sup>Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt cry and hee shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the mids of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and wicked speaking: <sup>10</sup>If thou powre out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenes, and thy darkenes shalbe as the noone day. <sup>11</sup>And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watred garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not. <sup>12</sup>And they shalbe of thee, that shall builde the olde waste places: thou shalt rayse vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach and the restorer of the pathes to dwell in. <sup>13</sup>If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, <sup>14</sup>Then shalt thou delite in the Lord, and I wil cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of ye Lord hath spoken it.

CHAPTER 59

<sup>1</sup>Beholde, the Lordes hande is not shortened, that it can not saue: neither is his eare heauie, that it cannot heare. <sup>2</sup>But your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hidde his face from you, that he will not heare. <sup>3</sup>For your handes are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie. <sup>4</sup>No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth iniquitie. <sup>5</sup>They hatch cockatrice egges, and weaue the spiders webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent. <sup>6</sup>Their webbes shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their handes. <sup>7</sup>Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths. <sup>8</sup>The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not knowe peace. <sup>9</sup>Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we waite for light, but loe, it is darkenesse: for brightnessse, but we walke in darkenesse. <sup>10</sup>Wee grope for the wall like the blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men. <sup>11</sup>We roare all like beares, and mourne like dooues: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs. <sup>12</sup>For our trespasses are many before thee, and our sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we knowe our iniquities. <sup>13</sup>In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false matters. <sup>14</sup>Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter. <sup>15</sup>Yea, trueth faileth, and hee that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe a praye: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement. <sup>16</sup>And when he sawe that there was no man, hee wondered that none woulde offer him selfe. Therefore his arme did saue it, and his righteousness it selfe did sustaine it. <sup>17</sup>For he put on righteousness, as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke. <sup>18</sup>As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will fully repaire the ylands. <sup>19</sup>So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away. <sup>20</sup>And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord. My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAPTER 60

<sup>1</sup>Arise, O Ierusalem: be bright, for thy light is come, and the glorie of the Lord is risen vpon thee. <sup>2</sup>For beholde, darkenesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee. <sup>3</sup>And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and Kings at the brightnessse of thy rising vp. <sup>4</sup>Lift vp thine eyes round about, and beholde: all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side. <sup>5</sup>Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee. <sup>6</sup>The multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shewe forth the prayes of the Lord. <sup>7</sup>All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to bee accepted vpon mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glorie. <sup>8</sup>Who are these that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes? <sup>9</sup>Surely the yles shall waite for mee, and the shippes of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer, and their golde with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee. <sup>10</sup>And the sonnes of strangers shall builde vp thy walles, and their Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thy gates shalbe open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shutte, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought. <sup>12</sup>For the nation and the kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed. <sup>13</sup>The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my feete. <sup>14</sup>The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The cite of the Lord, Zion of the Holy one of Israel. <sup>15</sup>Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated: so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glorie, and a ioye from generation to generation. <sup>16</sup>Thou shalt also sucke ye milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breastes of Kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Sauour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob. <sup>17</sup>For brasce will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasce, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement peace, and thine exactours righteousnessse. <sup>18</sup>Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates. <sup>19</sup>Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnessse of the moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glorie. <sup>20</sup>Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorowe shalbe ended. <sup>21</sup>Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the grasse of my planting shalbe the worke of mine handes, that I may be glorified. <sup>22</sup>A litle one shall become as a thousande, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord wil hasten it in due time.

CHAPTER 61

<sup>1</sup>The Spirit of the Lord God is vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anoynted mee: hee hath sent mee to preache good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the broken hearted, to preach libertie to the captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison, <sup>2</sup>To preache the acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne, <sup>3</sup>To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for ashes, the oyle of ioye for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called trees of righteousnessse, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. <sup>4</sup>And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the cities that were desolate and waste through many generations. <sup>5</sup>And the strangers shall stande and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines. <sup>6</sup>But ye shall be named the Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God, Ye shall eate the riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie.

<sup>7</sup>For your shame you shall receiue double, and for confusion they shall reioyce in their portion: for in their lande they shall possesse the double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them. <sup>8</sup>For I the Lord loue iudgement and hate robberie for burnt offering, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them. <sup>9</sup>And their seede shall be known among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed. <sup>10</sup>I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed mee with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousness: hee hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tareth herselfe with her iewels. <sup>11</sup>For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sown in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousness to grow and praise before all the heathen.

CHAPTER 62

<sup>1</sup>For Zions sake I will not holde my tongue, and for Ierusalems sake I wil not rest, vntill the righteousness thereof breake forth as the light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe. <sup>2</sup>And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name. <sup>3</sup>Thou shalt also be a crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God. <sup>4</sup>It shall no more be sayd vnto thee, Forsaken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called Hephzi-bah, and thy land Beulah: for the Lord deliteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband. <sup>5</sup>For as a yong man marieth a virgine, so shall thy sonnes marry thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee. <sup>6</sup>I haue set watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: ye that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence, <sup>7</sup>And giue him no rest, till hee repaire and vntill hee set vp Ierusalem the prayse of the worlde. <sup>8</sup>The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I wil no more giue thy corne to be meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured. <sup>9</sup>But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and prayse the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courtes of my Sanctuarie. <sup>10</sup>Go through, go through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones and set vp a standart for the people. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the endes of the worlde: tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauour commeth: beholde, his wages is with him, and his worke is before him. <sup>12</sup>And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A citie sought out and not forsaken.

<sup>1</sup>Who is this that commeth from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparel and walketh in his great strength: I speake in righteousness, and am mightie to saue. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in ye wine presse? <sup>3</sup>I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment. <sup>4</sup>For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redeemed is come. <sup>5</sup>And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me. <sup>6</sup>Therefore I wil tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and wil bring downe their strength to the earth. <sup>7</sup>I wil remember the mercies of the Lord and the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies. <sup>8</sup>For he saide, Surely they are my people, children that wil not lie: so he was their Sauour. <sup>9</sup>In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually. <sup>10</sup>But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy and he fought against them. <sup>11</sup>Then he remembered the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with the shepherd of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him? <sup>12</sup>He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name. <sup>13</sup>Hee led them through the deepe, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble, <sup>14</sup>As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name. <sup>15</sup>Looke downe from heauen, and beholde from the dwelling place of thine holines, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from me. <sup>16</sup>Doutles thou art our Father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel knowe vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer. <sup>17</sup>O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance. <sup>18</sup>The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it, but a litle while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie. <sup>19</sup>We haue bene as they, ouer whome thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

CHAPTER 64

<sup>1</sup>Oh, that thou wouldest breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence! <sup>2</sup>As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence. <sup>3</sup>When thou diddest terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence. <sup>4</sup>For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstande with the care, neither hath ye eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him. <sup>5</sup>Thou diddest meete him, that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembered thee in thy wayes: beholde, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saued. <sup>6</sup>But we haue all bene as an vnclene thing, and all our righteousness is as filthie cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away. <sup>7</sup>And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities. <sup>8</sup>But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands. <sup>9</sup>Be not angry, O Lord, aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: lo, we beseech thee beholde, we are all thy people. <sup>10</sup>Thine holy cities lye waste: Zion is a wilderness, and Ierusalem a desert. <sup>11</sup>The House of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, where our fathers prayed thee, is burnt vp with fire and all our pleasant things are wasted. <sup>12</sup>Wilt thou holde thy selfe still at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

CHAPTER 65

<sup>1</sup>I haue bene sought of them that asked not: I was found of them that sought me not: I sayd, Beholde me, beholde me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name. <sup>2</sup>I haue spred out mine handes all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne imaginations: <sup>3</sup>A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon bricke. <sup>4</sup>Which remaine among the graues, and lodge in the desarts, which eate swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels. <sup>5</sup>Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath and a fire that burneth all the day. <sup>6</sup>Beholde, it is written before me: I wil not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome. <sup>7</sup>Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shalbe together (sayth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome. <sup>8</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one sayth, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole. <sup>9</sup>But I will bring a seede out of Iakob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherit my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherit it, and my seruants shall dwell there. <sup>10</sup>And Sharon shalbe a sheepefolde, and the valley of Achor shalbe a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me. <sup>11</sup>But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

<sup>12</sup>Therefore wil I number you to the sword, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I spake, and ye heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not. <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shall eate, and ye shalbe hungrie: beholde, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioye of heart, and ye shall crye for sorow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde. <sup>15</sup>And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you and call his seruants by another name. <sup>16</sup>He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes. <sup>17</sup>For lo, I will create newe heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde. <sup>18</sup>But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for beholde, I will create Ierusalem, as a reioicing and her people as a ioye, <sup>19</sup>And I wil reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioye in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying. <sup>20</sup>There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath not filled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundreth yeeres old, shall dye as a yong man: but the sinner being an hundreth yeeres olde shall be accursed. <sup>21</sup>And they shall build houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruite of them. <sup>22</sup>They shall not build, and another inhabite: they shall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall inioue in olde age the worke of their handes. <sup>23</sup>They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them. <sup>24</sup>Yea, before they call, I will answer, and whiles they speake, I will heare. <sup>25</sup>The wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord.

CHAPTER 66

<sup>1</sup>Thus saith the Lord, The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footestoolle: where is that house that ye will builde vnto me? and where is that place of my rest? <sup>2</sup>For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things haue bene, sayth the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him, that is poore, and of a contrite spirite and trembleth at my wordes. <sup>3</sup>He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he slewe a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule deliteth in their abominations. <sup>4</sup>Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none woulde answer: I spake and they woulde not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not. <sup>5</sup>Heare the wordes of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his worde, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed. <sup>6</sup>A voyce soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully. <sup>7</sup>Before she trauailed, she brought forth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man childe. <sup>8</sup>Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall ye earth be brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children. <sup>9</sup>Shall I cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be baren, saith thy God? <sup>10</sup>Reioyce ye with Ierusalem, and be gladd with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her, <sup>11</sup>That ye may sucke and be satisfied with the brestes of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delited with ye brightnes of her glorie. <sup>12</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glorie of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees. <sup>13</sup>As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem. <sup>14</sup>And when ye see this, your hearts shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies. <sup>15</sup>For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charrets like a whirlwinde, that he may recompence his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire. <sup>16</sup>For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sworde all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many. <sup>17</sup>They that sanctifie themselves, and purifie themselves in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shall be consumed together, sayeth the Lord. <sup>18</sup>For I will visite their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glorie. <sup>19</sup>And I will set a signe among them, and will send those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Tarshish, Pul, and Lud, and to them that drawe the bowe, to Tubal and Tauan, yles afarre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glorie, and they shall declare my glorie among the Gentiles. <sup>20</sup>And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon horses, and in charrets, and in horse litters, and vpon mules, and swift beastes, to Ierusalem mine holy Mountaine, saith the Lord, as the children of Israel, offer in a cleane vessell in the House of the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And I will take of them for Priestes, and for Leuites, saith the Lord. <sup>22</sup>For as the newe heauens, and the newe earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seede and your name continue. <sup>23</sup>And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord. <sup>24</sup>And they shall goe forth, and looke vpon the carkases of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their worme shall not dye, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shalbe an abhorring vnto all flesh.

JEREMIAH

<sup>1</sup>The wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the lande of Benjamin. <sup>2</sup>To whom the worde of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne: <sup>3</sup>And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift moneth. <sup>4</sup>Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>5</sup>Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations. <sup>6</sup>Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe. <sup>7</sup>But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee, shalt thou speake. <sup>8</sup>Be not afraide of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord. <sup>9</sup>Then the Lord stretched out his hand and touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroye and throwe downe, to builde, and to plant. <sup>11</sup>After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a rod of an almonde tree. <sup>12</sup>Then saide the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my worde to performe it. <sup>13</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I saide, I see a seething pot looking out of the North. <sup>14</sup>Then saide the Lord vnto me, Out of the North shall a plague be spred vpon all the inhabitants of the land. <sup>15</sup>For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all the cities of Iudah. <sup>16</sup>And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne handes. <sup>17</sup>Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise and speake vnto them all that I commaund thee: be not afraide of their faces, lest I destroy thee before them. <sup>18</sup>For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole lande, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof and against the people of the lande. <sup>19</sup>For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayth the Lord.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Moreover, the woordes of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, I remember thee, with the kindenes of thy youth and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after me in the wilderness in a lande that was not sowed. <sup>3</sup>Israel was as a thing halowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruits: all they that eat it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in mee, that they are gone farre from mee, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become vaine? <sup>6</sup>For they saide not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the lande of Egypt? that led vs through the wilderness, through a desert, and waste land, through a drie land, and by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt? <sup>7</sup>And I brought you into a plentiful country, to eat the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when yee entred, yee defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination. <sup>8</sup>The priests said not, Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the Lawe, knewe me not: the pastours also offended against me, and the Prophets prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profite. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore I wil yet plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children. <sup>10</sup>For goe ye to the yles of Chittim, and beholde, and sende vnto Kedar, and take diligent heede, and see whether there be such things. <sup>11</sup>Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue chaged their glorie, for that which doeth not profite. <sup>12</sup>O yee heauens, be astonished at this: bee afraid and vtterly confounded, sayeth the Lord. <sup>13</sup>For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken mee the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge them pittes, euen broken pittes, that can holde no water. <sup>14</sup>Is Israel a seruauant, or is hee borne in the house? why then is he spoiled? <sup>15</sup>The lions roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without an inhabitant. <sup>16</sup>Also the children of Noph and Tahapanes haue broken thine head. <sup>17</sup>Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way? <sup>18</sup>And what hast thou now to do in the way of Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the water of the Riuer? <sup>19</sup>Thine owne wickednes shall correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprooue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, sayeth the Lord God of hostes. <sup>20</sup>For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bondes, and thou saidest, I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon al hie hilles, and vnder all greene trees. <sup>21</sup>Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whose plants were all natural: howe then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine? <sup>22</sup>Though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>23</sup>Howe canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim? beholde thy waies in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his waies. <sup>24</sup>And as a wilde asse, vnto the wilderness, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselves, but wil finde her in her moneth. <sup>25</sup>Keepe thou thy feete from barennes, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saidest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow. <sup>26</sup>As the theefe is ashamed, when he is foud, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes and their Priests, and their Prophets, <sup>27</sup>Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their back vnto me, and not their face: but in ye time of their trouble they wil say, Arise, and help vs. <sup>28</sup>But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah. <sup>29</sup>Wherefore wil ye plead with me? ye all haue rebelled against me, sayeth the Lord. <sup>30</sup>I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne sworde hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon. <sup>31</sup>O generation, take heede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Israel? or a lande of darkenesse? Wherefore sayeth my people then, We are lordes, we will come no more vnto thee? <sup>32</sup>Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, daies without number. <sup>33</sup>Why doest thou prepare thy way, to seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy waies are wickednesse. <sup>34</sup>Also in thy wings is founde the bloud of the soules of ye poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places. <sup>35</sup>Yet thou saiest, Because I am gittles, surely his wrath shall turne from mee: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou saiest, I haue not sinned. <sup>36</sup>Why runnest thou about so much to change thy waies? for thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Asshur. <sup>37</sup>For thou shalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>They say, If a man put away his wife, and she goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe vnto her? shall not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many louers: yet turne againe to mee, sayeth the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and beholde, where thou hast not plaid the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waies, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the lande with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice. <sup>3</sup>Therefore the showres haue beene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou haddest a whores forehead: thou wouldest not bee ashamed. <sup>4</sup>Diddest thou not stil crie vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth? <sup>5</sup>Wil he keepe his anger for euer? will he reserue it to the ende? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more. <sup>6</sup>The Lord saide also vnto me, in the daies of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebell Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there plaid the harlot. <sup>7</sup>And I sayde, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah sawe. <sup>8</sup>When I sawe, howe that by all occasions rebellious Israel had plaid the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraied, but shee went also, and plaid the harlot. <sup>9</sup>So that for the lightnesse of her whoredome shee hath euen defiled the lande: for shee hath committed fornication with stones and stockes. <sup>10</sup>Neuerthelesse for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with her whole heart, but fainedly, sayth the Lord. <sup>11</sup>And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah. <sup>12</sup>Goe and crie these wordes toward the North and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayeth the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, sayeth the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger. <sup>13</sup>But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy waies to the straunge gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee woulde not obey my voyce, sayeth the Lord. <sup>14</sup>O yee disobedient children, turne againe, sayeth the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and wil bring you to Zion, <sup>15</sup>And I will giue you pastours according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer, when yee be increased and multiplied in the land, in those daies, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visite it, for that shalbe no more done. <sup>17</sup>At that time they shall cal Ierusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thence forth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart. <sup>18</sup>In those daies ye house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the North, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers. <sup>19</sup>But I sayde, Howe did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and saide, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me? <sup>20</sup>But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue yee rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord. <sup>21</sup>A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God. <sup>22</sup>O yee disobedient children, returne and I wil heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God. <sup>23</sup>Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel. <sup>24</sup>For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth their sheepe and their bullocks, their sonnes and their daughters. <sup>25</sup>Wee lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>O Israel, if thou returne, returne vnto me, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue. <sup>2</sup>And thou shalt sweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glorie in him. <sup>3</sup>For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem, <sup>4</sup>Breake vp your fallowe ground, and sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come foorth like fire, and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions. <sup>5</sup>Declare in Iudah, and shewe forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the lande: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities. <sup>6</sup>Set vp the standart in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction. <sup>7</sup>The lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant. <sup>8</sup>Wherefore girde you with sackcloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs. <sup>9</sup>And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priestes shall be astonished, and the Prophets shall wonder. <sup>10</sup>Then saide I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast deceiued this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sworde perceth vnto the heart. <sup>11</sup>At that time shall it bee saide to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry winde in the hie places of the wildernes commeth towarde ye daughter of my people, but neither to fanne nor to clesne. <sup>12</sup>A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those places, and nowe will I also giue sentence vpon them. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, he shall come vp as the cloudes, and his charrets shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Woe vnto vs, for wee are destroyed. <sup>14</sup>O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou maiest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughtes remaine within thee? <sup>15</sup>For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim. <sup>16</sup>Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and crie out against the cities of Iudah. <sup>17</sup>They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the field, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall perce vnto thine heart. <sup>19</sup>My bely, my bely, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sounde of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell. <sup>20</sup>Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole lande is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment. <sup>21</sup>Howe long shall I see the standert, and heare the sounde of the trumpet? <sup>22</sup>For my people is foolish, they haue not knownen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge. <sup>23</sup>I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and voide: and to the heauens, and they had no light. <sup>24</sup>I behelde the mountaines: and loe, they trembled and all the hilles shooke. <sup>25</sup>I behelde, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed. <sup>26</sup>I behelde, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath. <sup>27</sup>For thus hath the Lord saide, The whole lande shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full ende. <sup>28</sup>Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it. <sup>29</sup>The whole citie shall flee, for the noyse of the horsemen and bowemen: they shall goe into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein. <sup>30</sup>And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clothest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life. <sup>31</sup>For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her handes: woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Run to and from by the streetes of Ierusalem, and beholde nowe, and knowe, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I will spare it. <sup>2</sup>For though they say, The Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsely. <sup>3</sup>O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the trueth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne. <sup>4</sup>Therefore I saide, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God. <sup>5</sup>I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes. <sup>6</sup>Wherefore a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased. <sup>7</sup>Howe should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled them selues by companies in the harlots houses. <sup>8</sup>They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man neyed after his neighbours wife. <sup>9</sup>Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? <sup>10</sup>Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full ende: take away their batilments, for they are not the Lords. <sup>11</sup>For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against me, saith the Lord. <sup>12</sup>They haue denied the Lord, and saide, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sworde nor famine. <sup>13</sup>And the Prophetes shall be as winde, and the worde is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, beholde, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them. <sup>15</sup>Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say. <sup>16</sup>Whose quiuer is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong. <sup>17</sup>And they shall eate thine haruest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullocks: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sworde thy fenced cities, wherein thou didest trust. <sup>18</sup>Neuerthelesse at those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will not make a full ende of you. <sup>19</sup>And when ye shall say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours. <sup>20</sup>Declare this in the house of Iakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, <sup>21</sup>Heare nowe this, O foolish people, and without vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not. <sup>22</sup>Feare ye not me, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afraide at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it? <sup>23</sup>But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone. <sup>24</sup>For they say not in their heart, Let vs nowe feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the haruest. <sup>25</sup>Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you. <sup>26</sup>For among my people are founde wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit, to catch men. <sup>27</sup>As a cage is full of birdes, so are their houses full of deceite: thereby they are become great and waxen riche. <sup>28</sup>They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore. <sup>29</sup>Shall I not visite for these things, sayth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? <sup>30</sup>An horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land. <sup>31</sup>The Prophetes prophesie lies, and ye Priests receiue giftes in their handes, and my people delite therein. What will ye then doe in the ende thereof?

<sup>1</sup>O ye children of Benjamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blowe the trumpet in Tekoa: set vp a standart vpon Beth-hacerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction. <sup>2</sup>I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautifull and daintie woman. <sup>3</sup>The pastors with their flockes shall come vnto her: they shall pitche their tentes rounde about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place. <sup>4</sup>Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out. <sup>5</sup>Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces. <sup>6</sup>For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hewe downe wood, and cast a mounte against Ierusalem: this cite must be visited: all oppression is in the middes of it. <sup>7</sup>As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me with sorowe and strokes. <sup>8</sup>Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hande as the grape gatherer into the baskets. <sup>10</sup>Vnto whome shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? beholde, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: beholde, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no delite in it. <sup>11</sup>Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powre it out vpon the children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of daies. <sup>12</sup>And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hande vpon the inhabitants of the land, sayeth the Lord. <sup>13</sup>For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely. <sup>14</sup>They haue healed also ye hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. <sup>15</sup>Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither coulde they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, sayth the Lord. <sup>16</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, Stande in the waies and beholde, and aske for the olde way, which is the good way and walke therein, and yee shall finde rest for your soules: but they saide, We will not walke therein. <sup>17</sup>Also I set watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heede to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heede. <sup>18</sup>Heare therefore, yee Gentiles, and thou Congregation knowe, what is among them. <sup>19</sup>Heare, O earth, beholde, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my Lawe, but cast it off. <sup>20</sup>To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre country? Your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me. <sup>21</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, I will laie stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friende shall perish. <sup>22</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, Beholde, a people commeth from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth. <sup>23</sup>With bowe and shield shall they be weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion. <sup>24</sup>We haue heard their fame, and our handes waxe feeble sorrowe is come vpon vs, as the sorrowe of a woman in trauaile. <sup>25</sup>Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemie and feare is on euery side. <sup>26</sup>O daughter of my people, girde thee with sackcloth, and wallowe thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs. <sup>27</sup>I haue set thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou maiest knowe and trie their waies. <sup>28</sup>They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are brasse, and yron, they all are destroyers. <sup>29</sup>The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away. <sup>30</sup>They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

<sup>1</sup>The wordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Stand in the gate of the Lordes house and crie this worde there, and say, Heare the worde of the Lord, al ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Amend your waies and your woorkes, and I will let you dwell in this place. <sup>4</sup>Trust not in lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>For if you amende and redresse your waies and your woorkes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour, <sup>6</sup>And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction, <sup>7</sup>Then will I let you dwell in this place in the lande that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, you trust in lying wordes, that can not profite. <sup>9</sup>Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsely and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whome yee knowe not? <sup>10</sup>And come and stande before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and saye, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations? <sup>11</sup>Is this House become a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Beholde, euen I see it, sayeth the Lord. <sup>12</sup>But go ye nowe vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde, what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel. <sup>13</sup>Therefore nowe because yee haue done all these woorkes, sayeth the Lord, (and I rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, yee would not heare me, neither when I called, would yee answer). <sup>14</sup>Therefore will I do vnto this House, wherupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo. <sup>15</sup>And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim. <sup>16</sup>Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or praier for them neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee. <sup>17</sup>Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem? <sup>18</sup>The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knede the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger. <sup>19</sup>Doe they prouoke me to anger, sayeth the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces? <sup>20</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not bee quenched. <sup>21</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh. <sup>22</sup>For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices. <sup>23</sup>But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and yee shalbe my people: and walke yee in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you. <sup>24</sup>But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbernesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward. <sup>25</sup>Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the lande of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you al my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early euery day, and sending them. <sup>26</sup>Yet would they not heare me nor encline their eare, but hardened their necke and did worse then their fathers. <sup>27</sup>Therefore shalt thou speake al these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answer thee. <sup>28</sup>But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voice of the Lord their God, nor receiue discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth. <sup>29</sup>Cut off thine heare, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath. <sup>30</sup>For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it. <sup>31</sup>And they haue built the hie place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart. <sup>32</sup>Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth til there be no place. <sup>33</sup>And ye carkeises of this people shalbe meat for the foules of the heauen and for the beastes of the earth, and none shall fraie them away. <sup>34</sup>Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrom and the voice of the bride: for the lande shalbe desolate.

<sup>1</sup>At that time, sayeth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priests and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues. <sup>2</sup>And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the host of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, and whome they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung vpon the earth. <sup>3</sup>And death shall bee desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>4</sup>Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayeth the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe? <sup>5</sup>Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to deceit, and would not returne. <sup>6</sup>I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell. <sup>7</sup>Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallows obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Howe doe yee say, Wee are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainly in vaine made hee it, the penne of the scribes is in vaine. <sup>9</sup>The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken. loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them? <sup>10</sup>Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fieldes to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely. <sup>11</sup>For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace. <sup>12</sup>Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither coulde they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, sayeth the Lord. <sup>13</sup>I wil surely consume them, sayth the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them. <sup>14</sup>Why doe we stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord. <sup>15</sup>We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles. <sup>16</sup>The neying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole lande trembled at the noyse of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and those that dwell therein. <sup>17</sup>For beholde, I will sende serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, sayth the Lord. <sup>18</sup>I would haue comforted my selfe against sorowe, but mine heart is heauie in me. <sup>19</sup>Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre country, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her king in her? Why haue they prouoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god? <sup>20</sup>The haruest is past, the sommer is ended, and we are not holpen. <sup>21</sup>I am sore vexed for the hurt of ye daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me. <sup>22</sup>Is there no balme at Gilead? is there no Physition there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recouered.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>Oh, that mine head were full of water and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slayne of the daughter of my people. <sup>2</sup>Oh, that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels, <sup>3</sup>And they bende their tongues like their bowes for lyes: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they procede from euill to worse, and they haue not known

mee, sayth the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceite, and euery friend will deale deceitfully, <sup>5</sup>And euery one wil deceiue his friende, and wil not speake the trueth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paynes to do wickedly. <sup>6</sup>Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, sayth the Lord. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I wil melt them, and trie them: for what should I els do for the daughter of my people? <sup>8</sup>Their tongue is as an arow shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart hee layeth waite for him. <sup>9</sup>Shal I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this? <sup>10</sup>Vpon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the fayre places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe through them, neyther can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone. <sup>11</sup>And I wil make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant. <sup>12</sup>Who is wise, to vnderstande this? and to whome the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passeth through? <sup>13</sup>And the Lord sayeth, Because they haue forsaken my Lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voice, neither walked thereafter, <sup>14</sup>But haue walked after the stubbennesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them, <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke: <sup>16</sup>I wil scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knownen, and I will send a sworde after them, til I haue consumed them. <sup>17</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women that they may come, <sup>18</sup>And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares and our eye liddes gush out of water. <sup>19</sup>For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, Howe are we destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out. <sup>20</sup>Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament. <sup>21</sup>For death is come vp into our windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streetes. <sup>22</sup>Speake, thus sayth the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lye, euen as the doung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them. <sup>23</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neyther the riche man glorie in his riches. <sup>24</sup>But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which shewe mercie, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these things I delite, sayth the Lord. <sup>25</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil visite all them, which are circumcised with the vncircumcised: <sup>26</sup>Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and al the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>Heare ye the worde of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such. <sup>3</sup>For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the handes of the carpenter) with the axe, <sup>4</sup>And another decketh it with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not. <sup>5</sup>The idoles stande vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go feare them not, for they cannot do euill, neither can they do good. <sup>6</sup>There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy name is great in power. <sup>7</sup>Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in al their kingdoms there is none like thee. <sup>8</sup>But, altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie. <sup>9</sup>Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and golde from Vphaz, for the worke of the workman, and the handes of the founder: the blew silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men. <sup>10</sup>But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath. <sup>11</sup>(Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens) <sup>12</sup>He hath made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion. <sup>13</sup>Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to rayne, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures. <sup>14</sup>Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein. <sup>15</sup>They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. <sup>16</sup>The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name. <sup>17</sup>Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place. <sup>18</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, at this time I will throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the lande, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so. <sup>19</sup>Wo is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorow, and I will beare it. <sup>20</sup>My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coardes are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines. <sup>21</sup>For the Pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, the noyse of the brute is come, and a great commotion out of the North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons. <sup>23</sup>O Lord, I knowe, that the way of man is not in himselfe, neyther is it in man to walke and to direct his steps. <sup>24</sup>O Lord, correct mee, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring mee to nothing. <sup>25</sup>Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob and deuoured him and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>The worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, <sup>3</sup>And say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant, <sup>4</sup>Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the lande of Egypt, from the yron furnace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commande you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God, <sup>5</sup>That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a lande, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I and sayde, So be it, O Lord. <sup>6</sup>Then the Lord saide vnto me, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare yee the words of this couenant, and doe them. <sup>7</sup>For I haue protested vnto your fathers, whe I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce. <sup>8</sup>Neuerthesse they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbenesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did it not. <sup>9</sup>And the Lord sayd vnto me, A conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crye vnto me, I will not heare them. <sup>12</sup>Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto whome they offer incense, but they shall not bee able to helpe them in time of their trouble. <sup>13</sup>For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue yee set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal. <sup>14</sup>Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto mee in their trouble, I will not heare them. <sup>15</sup>What shoulde my beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with manie? and the holy flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest. <sup>16</sup>The Lord called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with noyse and great tumult he hath set fyre vpon it, and the branches of it are broken. <sup>17</sup>For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal. <sup>18</sup>And the Lord hath taught me, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst mee their practises. <sup>19</sup>But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deuised thus against me, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the lande of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memory. <sup>20</sup>But O Lord of hostes, that iudgeth righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause. <sup>21</sup>The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands) <sup>22</sup>Thus therefore sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine, <sup>23</sup>And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

<sup>1</sup>O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let mee talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse? <sup>2</sup>Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruite: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their reines. <sup>3</sup>But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter. <sup>4</sup>Howe long shall the lande mourne, and the herbes of euery felde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beastes are consumed and the birdes, because they sayd, He wil not see our last ende. <sup>5</sup>If thou hast runne with the footemen and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable lande, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iorden? <sup>6</sup>For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, though they speake faire to thee. <sup>7</sup>I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearly beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies. <sup>8</sup>Mine heritage is vnto mee, as a lion in the forest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it. <sup>9</sup>Shall mine heritage bee vnto mee, as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all ye beastes of the felde, come to eate her? <sup>10</sup>Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyarde, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness. <sup>11</sup>They haue layde it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole lande lyeth waste, because no man setteth his minde on it. <sup>12</sup>The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for the sworde of the Lord shall deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other ende of the lande: no flesh shall haue peace. <sup>13</sup>They haue sown wheate, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of your fruites, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord against all mine euill neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their lande, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them. <sup>15</sup>And after that I haue plucked them out, I will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land. <sup>16</sup>And if they will learne the wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the middes of my people. <sup>17</sup>But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, sayeth the Lord.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>Thus sayth the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water. <sup>2</sup>So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

<sup>3</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, <sup>4</sup>Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe towarde Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke. <sup>5</sup>So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me. <sup>6</sup>And after many dayes, the Lord sayde vnto mee, Arise, goe towarde Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there. <sup>7</sup>Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing. <sup>8</sup>Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walke after ye stubbernesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing. <sup>11</sup>For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and prayse, and glory, but they would not heare. <sup>12</sup>Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottell shalbe filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that euery bottell shalbe filled with wine? <sup>13</sup>Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priestes and the Prophets and all the inhabitantes of Ierusalem with drunkennesse. <sup>14</sup>And I wil dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, sayeth the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them. <sup>15</sup>Heare and giue care, be not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>16</sup>Giue glory to the Lord your God before he bring darknes, and or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you look for light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darknesse. <sup>17</sup>But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secreete for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue. <sup>18</sup>Say vnto the King and to the Queene, Humble yourselues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads. <sup>19</sup>The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue. <sup>20</sup>Lift vp your eyes and beholde them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull flocke? <sup>21</sup>What wilt thou saye, when hee shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaile? <sup>22</sup>And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discouered and thy heeles made bare. <sup>23</sup>Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euill. <sup>24</sup>Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde. <sup>25</sup>This is thy portion, and ye part of thy measures from me, sayth the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lyes. <sup>26</sup>Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare. <sup>27</sup>I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neiings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hills in the fieldes, and thine abominations. Wo vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not bee made cleane? when shall it once be?

CHAPTER 14

art thou as a man astonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not. <sup>10</sup>Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes. <sup>11</sup>Then sayd the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to do this people good. <sup>12</sup>When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by the pestilence. <sup>13</sup>Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sworde, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place. <sup>14</sup>Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophecie lyes in my Name: I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart. <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed. <sup>16</sup>And the people to whome these prophets doe prophecie, shalbe cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to bury them, both they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague. <sup>18</sup>For if I go into the field, behold the slaine with the sworde: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreover the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring into a land that they know not. <sup>19</sup>Hast thou vtterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble. <sup>20</sup>We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee. <sup>21</sup>Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs. <sup>22</sup>Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup>Then sayde the Lord vnto me, Though Moses and Samuel stood before mee, yet mine affection coulde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart. <sup>2</sup>And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sworde, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie. <sup>3</sup>And I wil appoint ouer them foure kindes, sayth the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the soules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy. <sup>4</sup>I will scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem. <sup>5</sup>Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shall go to pray for thy peace? <sup>6</sup>Thou hast forsaken me, sayth the Lord, and gone backward: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting. <sup>7</sup>And I wil scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth I haue wasted, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes. <sup>8</sup>Their widowes are increased by mee about the sande of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fal vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily. <sup>9</sup>Shee that hath borne seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, sayth the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Wo is mee, my mother, that thou hast borne mee, a contentious man, and a man that striueth with the whole earth I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet every one doeth curse me. <sup>11</sup>The Lord sayd, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction. <sup>12</sup>Shall the yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North? <sup>13</sup>Thy substance and thy treasures wil I giue to be spoyled without gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders. <sup>14</sup>And I wil make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you. <sup>15</sup>O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke. <sup>16</sup>Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did eate them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioy and reioicing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hostes. <sup>17</sup>I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation. <sup>18</sup>Why is mine heauines continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me as a lyar, and as waters that faile? <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then wil I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my worde: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them. <sup>20</sup>And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee and to deliuer thee, saith ye Lord. <sup>21</sup>And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place. <sup>3</sup>For thus sayeth the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land, <sup>4</sup>They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shalbe as dung vpon the earth, and they shalbe consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carkeises shall be meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth. <sup>5</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for the: for I haue taken my peace, from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion. <sup>6</sup>Both the great, and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them nor cut themselves, nor make themselves balde for them. <sup>7</sup>They shall not stretch out the hands for the in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother. <sup>8</sup>Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke. <sup>9</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of myrth, and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride. <sup>10</sup>And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, and they shall say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God? <sup>11</sup>Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, sayth the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law, <sup>12</sup>(And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euery one after the stubbenesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me) <sup>13</sup>Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a lande that ye knowe not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace. <sup>14</sup>Behold therfore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, <sup>15</sup>But the Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the lande of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I wil bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers. <sup>16</sup>Behold, sayth the Lord, I wil send out many fishers, and they shall fish them, and after, will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes. <sup>17</sup>For mine eyes are vpon al their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes. <sup>18</sup>And first I wil recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my lande, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie carions and their abominations. <sup>19</sup>O Lord, thou art my force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited lies, and vanitie, wherein was no profite. <sup>20</sup>Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods? <sup>21</sup>Beholde, therefore I wil this once teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>The sinne of Iudah is written with a pen of yron, and with the poynt of a diamonde, and grauen vpon the table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your altars. <sup>2</sup>They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the hilles. <sup>3</sup>O my mountaine in the field, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sinne of thy high places throughout all thy borders. <sup>4</sup>And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord. <sup>6</sup>For he shall be like the heath in the wilderness, and shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited. <sup>7</sup>Blessed be the man, that trusteth in ye Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. <sup>8</sup>For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuier, and shall not feele when the heate commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neyther shall cease from yeelding fruit. <sup>9</sup>The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can knowe it? <sup>10</sup>I the Lord search the heart, and try ye reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes. <sup>11</sup>As the partryche gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his ende shall bee a foole. <sup>12</sup>As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuarie. <sup>13</sup>O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shalbe written in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters. <sup>14</sup>Heale me, O Lord, and I shall bee whole: saue me, and I shall bee saued: for thou art my prayse. <sup>15</sup>Behold, they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come nowe. <sup>16</sup>But I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee. <sup>17</sup>Be not terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie. <sup>18</sup>Let them bee confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraide, but let not me be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction. <sup>19</sup>Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe and stande in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all ye gates of Ierusalem, <sup>20</sup>And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and al Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates. <sup>21</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem. <sup>22</sup>Neither cary forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers. <sup>23</sup>But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction. <sup>24</sup>Neuerthelesse if ye will heare me, sayth the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie ye Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein, <sup>25</sup>Then shall the Kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer. <sup>26</sup>And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offrings, and sacrifices, and meate offrings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of prayse into the house of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAPTER 18

<sup>1</sup>The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Arise, and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shewe thee my words. <sup>3</sup>Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheelles. <sup>4</sup>And the vessell that he made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potter. so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it. <sup>5</sup>Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>6</sup>O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, sayth the Lord? beholde, as the clay is in the potters hande, so are you in mine hande, O house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>I will speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to destroy it. <sup>8</sup>But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them. <sup>9</sup>And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to builde it and to plant it. <sup>10</sup>But if it do euill in my sight and heare not my voyce, I will repent of ye good that I thought to do for them. <sup>11</sup>Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith ye Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good. <sup>12</sup>But they sayde desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnnesse of his wicked heart. <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such thinges? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily. <sup>14</sup>Will a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? or shall the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken? <sup>15</sup>Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the auncient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden, <sup>16</sup>To make their land desolate and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head, <sup>17</sup>I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemy: I will shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction. <sup>18</sup>Then sayde they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuice against Ieremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his words. <sup>19</sup>Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me. <sup>20</sup>Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for the, and to turne away thy wrath from them. <sup>21</sup>Therefore, deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sword in the battell. <sup>22</sup>Let the crye bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete. <sup>23</sup>Yet Lord thou knowest al their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgieue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAPTER 19

<sup>1</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests, <sup>2</sup>And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preache there the wordes, that I shall tell thee, <sup>3</sup>And shalt say, Heare yee the worde of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle. <sup>4</sup>Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neyther they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents, <sup>5</sup>And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde) <sup>6</sup>Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Topheth, nor ye valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter. <sup>7</sup>And I will bring the counsell

of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meate for ye foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the field. <sup>8</sup>And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and hisse because of all ye plagues thereof. <sup>9</sup>And I will feede the with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friende in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait. <sup>10</sup>Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that go with thee, <sup>11</sup>And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith ye Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth till there be no place to bury. <sup>12</sup>Thus will I doe vnto this place, sayth the Lord, and to the inhabitantes thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth. <sup>13</sup>For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shalbe defiled as the place of Topheth, because of al the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods. <sup>14</sup>Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophecie, and he stood in the court of the Lordes house, and sayde to all the people, <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

CHAPTER 20

<sup>1</sup>When Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophecied these things, <sup>2</sup>Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stockes that were in the hie gate of Benjamin which was by the House of the Lord. <sup>3</sup>And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stockes. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-missabib. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy self, and to al thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sworde. <sup>5</sup>Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and al the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hande of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel. <sup>6</sup>And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friendes, to whome thou hast prophecied lyes. <sup>7</sup>O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me. <sup>8</sup>For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derision daily. <sup>9</sup>Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his worde was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay. <sup>10</sup>For I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery side. Declare, said they, and wee wil declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him. <sup>11</sup>But the Lord is with me like a mightie gyant: therefore my persecuters shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten. <sup>12</sup>But, O Lord of hostes, that tryest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause. <sup>13</sup>Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hande of the wicked. <sup>14</sup>Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed. <sup>15</sup>Cursed be the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him. <sup>16</sup>And let that man be as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the showing at noone tide, <sup>17</sup>Because he hath not slaine me, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wobe a perpetual conception.

<sup>18</sup>How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorowe, that my dayes shoulde be consumed with shame?

CHAPTER 21

<sup>1</sup>The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maasciah the Priest, saying, <sup>2</sup>Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs. <sup>3</sup>Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah, <sup>4</sup>Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the middes of this cite. <sup>5</sup>And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mighty arme, eue in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation. <sup>6</sup>And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man, and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence. <sup>7</sup>And after this, sayeth the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this cite, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hande of their enemies, and into the hande of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion. <sup>8</sup>And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death. <sup>9</sup>He that abideth in this cite, shall dye by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a pray. <sup>10</sup>For I haue set my face against this cite, for euill and not for good, saith the Lord: it shalbe giuen into the hande of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire. <sup>11</sup>And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the worde of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hande of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednes of your workes. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations? <sup>14</sup>But I will visite you according to the fruite of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure rounde about it.

CHAPTER 22

<sup>1</sup>Thus said the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing, <sup>2</sup>And say, Heare the worde of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates. <sup>3</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Execute ye iudgement and righteousness, and deliuer the oppressed from the hande of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widowe: doe no violence, nor sheade innocent blood in this place. <sup>4</sup>For if ye do this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this House, and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people. <sup>5</sup>But if ye will not heare these wordes, I swear by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this House shalbe waste. <sup>6</sup>For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I wil make thee a wilderness and as cities not inhabited, <sup>7</sup>And I will prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire. <sup>8</sup>And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite? <sup>9</sup>Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them. <sup>10</sup>Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his natieue country. <sup>11</sup>For thus saith ye Lord, As touching Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, <sup>12</sup>But he shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this lande no more. <sup>13</sup>Wo vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke. <sup>14</sup>He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make him selfe large windowes, and feeling with cedar, and paint them with vermillion. <sup>15</sup>Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice? <sup>16</sup>When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knewe me, saith the Lord? <sup>17</sup>But thine eyes and thine heart are but only for thy couetousnesse, and for to sheade innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this. <sup>18</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie. <sup>19</sup>He shalbe buried, as an asse is buried, euen drawen and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem. <sup>20</sup>Goe vp to Lebanon, and cry: showte in Bashan and crye by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed. <sup>21</sup>I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidest, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce. <sup>22</sup>The wind shall feede all thy pastors, and thy louers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of al thy wickednesse. <sup>23</sup>Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, howe beautiful shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorowe of a woman in trauaile? <sup>24</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence. <sup>25</sup>And I will giue thee into the hande of them that seeke thy life, and into the hande of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hande of the Caldeans. <sup>26</sup>And I will cause them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die. <sup>27</sup>But to the lande, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither. <sup>28</sup>Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caryed away, hee and his seede, and cast out into a lande that they knowe not? <sup>29</sup>O earth, earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord. <sup>30</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seede that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

CHAPTER 23

<sup>1</sup>Woe be vnto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastors that feede my people, Yee haue scattered my flock and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your works, saith the Lord. <sup>3</sup>And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreyes, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall growe and encrease. <sup>4</sup>And I will set vp shepherdes ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraide, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Behold, The dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branche, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth. <sup>6</sup>In his dayes Iudah shalbe saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name wherby they shall call him, The Lord our righteousness. <sup>7</sup>Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypt, <sup>8</sup>But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey and from all countreyes where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne lande. <sup>9</sup>Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whome wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holie wordes. <sup>10</sup>For the lande is full of adulterers, and because of othes the lande mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right. <sup>11</sup>For both the prophet and the Priest doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine House, saith the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darkness: they shalbe driuen forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord. <sup>13</sup>And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre. <sup>14</sup>I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah. <sup>15</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophets, Beholde, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the lande. <sup>16</sup>Thus sayth ye Lord of hosts, Heare not the wordes of the prophets that prophecie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. <sup>17</sup>They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath sayde, Ye shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbernesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you. <sup>18</sup>For who hath stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his worde and heard it? <sup>19</sup>Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewinde shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked. <sup>20</sup>The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue perfourmed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstande it plainly. <sup>21</sup>I haue not sent these prophets, sayth the Lord, yet they ranne; I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied. <sup>22</sup>But if they had stande in my counsell, and had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions. <sup>23</sup>Am I a God at hande, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off? <sup>24</sup>Can any hide him selfe in secrete places, that I shall not see him, sayth the Lord? Do not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord? <sup>25</sup>I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed. <sup>26</sup>Howe long? Doe the prophets delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart? <sup>27</sup>Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neyghbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal? <sup>28</sup>The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and hee that hath my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, sayth the Lord? <sup>29</sup>Is not my word euen like a fire, sayeth the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone? <sup>30</sup>Therefore beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steale my word euerie one from his neyghbour. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweete tongues, and say, He saith. <sup>32</sup>Beholde, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord. <sup>33</sup>And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, saith the Lord. <sup>34</sup>And the prophet, or the Priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euerie such one, and his house. <sup>35</sup>Thus shall yee say euery one to his neyghbour, and euerie one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken? <sup>36</sup>And the burden of the Lord shall yee mention no more: for euery mans worde shall bee his burden: for ye haue peruerted the words of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God. <sup>37</sup>Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken? <sup>38</sup>And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because yee say this word, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord, <sup>39</sup>Therefore beholde, I, euen I will vtterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, <sup>40</sup>And will bring an euerlasting reproche vpon you, and a perpetual shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAPTER 24

<sup>1</sup>The Lord shewed me, and beholde, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caryed away captiue Ieconiah ye sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel. <sup>2</sup>One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had verie naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

<sup>3</sup>Then saide the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I said, Figges: ye good figges verie good, and the naughtie verie naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill. <sup>4</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>5</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I knowe them that are caryed away captiue of Iudah to bee good, whome I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans. <sup>6</sup>For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this lande, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out, <sup>7</sup>And I will giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God: for they shall returne vnto mee with their whole heart. <sup>8</sup>And as the naughtie figges which can not bee eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this lande, and them that dwell in the lande of Egypt: <sup>9</sup>I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places where I shall cast them. <sup>10</sup>And I will sende the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAPTER 25

<sup>1</sup>The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: <sup>2</sup>The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, <sup>3</sup>From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto mee, and I haue spoken vnto you rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare. <sup>4</sup>And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruantes the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but yee would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey. <sup>5</sup>They sayde, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the lande that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer. <sup>6</sup>And go not after other gods to serue them and to worshippe them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you. <sup>7</sup>Neuerthesse ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked mee to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes, <sup>9</sup>Beholde, I will send and take to mee all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this lande, and against the inhabitantes thereof, and against all these nations rounde about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation. <sup>10</sup>Moreouer I will take from them the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride, the noise of the milstones, and the light of the candle. <sup>11</sup>And this whole land shalbe desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the King of Babel seuentie yeeres. <sup>12</sup>And when the seentie yeres are accomplished, I will visite the King of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation, <sup>13</sup>And I will bring vpon that lande all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath prophecied against all nations. <sup>14</sup>For many nations, and great Kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne handes. <sup>15</sup>For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto me, Take the cuppe of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whome I sende thee, to drinke it. <sup>16</sup>And they shall drinke, and be moued and be mad, because of the sworde that I will sende among them. <sup>17</sup>Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me: <sup>18</sup>Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the Kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day: <sup>19</sup>Pharaoh also, King of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people: <sup>20</sup>And all sortes of people, and all the Kings of the lande of Vz: and all the Kings of the lande of the Philistims, and Ashkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod: <sup>21</sup>Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites, <sup>22</sup>And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the Kings of the Yles, that are beyonde the Sea, <sup>23</sup>And Dedan, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners, <sup>24</sup>And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the desert, <sup>25</sup>And all the Kings of Zimri, and all the Kings of Elam, and all the Kings of the Medes, <sup>26</sup>And all the Kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the worlde, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Sheshach shall drinke after them. <sup>27</sup>Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and bee drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I will sende among you. <sup>28</sup>But if they refuse to take the cuppe at thine hande to drinke, then tell them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Ye shall certainly drinke. <sup>29</sup>For loe, I beginne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and shoulde you goe free? Ye shall not goe quite: for I will call for a sword vpon al the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>30</sup>Therefore prophecie thou against them al these words, and say vnto them, The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and crie aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth. <sup>31</sup>The sounde shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked, to the sworde, saith the Lord. <sup>32</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewinde shall be raised vp from the coastes of the earth, <sup>33</sup>And the slaine of the Lord shall be at that day, from one ende of the earth, euen vnto the other ende of the earth: they shall not bee mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shalbe as the dongue vpon the ground. <sup>34</sup>Howle, ye shepherdes, and crie, and wallowe your selues in the ashes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and ye shall fall like precious vessels. <sup>35</sup>And the flight shall faile from the shepherdes, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke. <sup>36</sup>A voyce of the crye of the shepherdes, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shalbe heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture. <sup>37</sup>And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord. <sup>38</sup>He hath forsaken his couert, as the lyon: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressor, and because of ye wrath of his indignatio.

CHAPTER 26

<sup>1</sup>In the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this worde from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Sande in the court of the Lordes House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worshippe in the Lords House, all the wordes that I commaund thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a worde backe, <sup>3</sup>If so be they will hearken, and turne euery man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes. <sup>4</sup>And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you, <sup>5</sup>And to heare ye wordes of my seruants the Prophets, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp earely, and sending them, and will not obey them, <sup>6</sup>Then will I make this House like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth. <sup>7</sup>So the Priestes, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Nowe when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priestes, and the prophets, and all the people tooke him, and saide, Thou shalt die the death. <sup>9</sup>Why hast thou prophecied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This House shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the Kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the new gate of the Lords House. <sup>11</sup>Then spake the Priestes, and the prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthie to die: for he hath prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares. <sup>12</sup>Then spake Ieremiah vnto all the princes, and to al the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophecie against this house and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard. <sup>13</sup>Therefore nowe amende your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you. <sup>14</sup>As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right. <sup>15</sup>But knowe ye for certaine, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these words in your eares. <sup>16</sup>Then saide the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes, and to the prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God. <sup>17</sup>Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the lande, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying, <sup>18</sup>Michah the Morashite prophecied in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to al the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a fiede, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the House shalbe as the hie places of the forest. <sup>19</sup>Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare ye Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules. <sup>20</sup>And there was also a man that prophecied in the Name of the Lord, one Vriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this lande, according to all the wordes of Ieremiah. <sup>21</sup>Nowe when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Vriah heard it, he was afraide and fled, and went into Egypt. <sup>22</sup>Then Iehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt. <sup>23</sup>And they fet Vriah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people. <sup>24</sup>But the hande of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they shoulde not giue him into the hande of the people to put him to death.

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup>In the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke, <sup>3</sup>And send them to the King of Edom, and to the King of Moab, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hande of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah ye king of Iudah, <sup>4</sup>And commande them to saye vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters, <sup>5</sup>I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpon the groud, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me. <sup>6</sup>But nowe I haue giuen all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beastes of the fiede haue I also giuen him to serue him. <sup>7</sup>And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his lande come also: then many nations and great Kinges shall serue themselues of him. <sup>8</sup>And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sworde, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands. <sup>9</sup>Therefore heare not your prophets nor your southsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel. <sup>10</sup>For they prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your lande, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish. <sup>11</sup>But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those wil I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwel therein. <sup>12</sup>I spake also to Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue. <sup>13</sup>Why will ye dye, thou, and thy people by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel? <sup>14</sup>Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you. <sup>15</sup>For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophecie vnto you. <sup>16</sup>Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your prophets that prophetic vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophetic a lie vnto you. <sup>17</sup>Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore shoulde this cite be desolate? <sup>18</sup>But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel. <sup>19</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this cite, <sup>20</sup>Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when he caryed away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem. <sup>21</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, <sup>22</sup>They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntil the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAPTER 28

<sup>1</sup>And that same yeere in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to mee in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said, <sup>2</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel. <sup>3</sup>Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caryed them into Babel. <sup>4</sup>And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caryed away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel. <sup>5</sup>Then the Prophet Ieremiah saide vnto the Prophet Hananiah in the presence of ye Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stoode in the House of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Euen the Prophet Ieremiah sayde, So bee it: the Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophced to restore the vessels of the Lordes House, and al that is caryed captiue, from Babel, into this place. <sup>7</sup>But heare thou now this worde that I will speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people. <sup>8</sup>The Prophets that haue beene before mee and before thee in time past, prophced against many countreyes, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence. <sup>9</sup>And the Prophet which prophcieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet be knowne that the Lord hath truly sent him. <sup>10</sup>Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and brake it. <sup>11</sup>And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of al nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way. <sup>12</sup>Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, <sup>13</sup>Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron. <sup>14</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the felde also. <sup>15</sup>Then sayd the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare nowe Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye. <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will cast thee from of the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord. <sup>17</sup>So Hananiah the Prophet died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAPTER 29

<sup>1</sup>Now these are the wordes of the booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priestes, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzar had caryed away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel: <sup>2</sup>(After that Ieconiah the King, and the Queene, and the eunuches, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem) <sup>3</sup>By the hand of Elasah

the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying, <sup>4</sup>Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue caused to be caryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel: <sup>5</sup>Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them. <sup>6</sup>Take you wiues, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may bee increased there, and not diminished. <sup>7</sup>And seeke the prosperitie of the cite, whither I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace. <sup>8</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophets, and your southsayers that bee among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame. <sup>9</sup>For they prophetic you a lie in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord. <sup>10</sup>But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place. <sup>11</sup>For I knowe the thoughtes, that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughtes of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope. <sup>12</sup>Then shall you crie vnto mee, and ye shall go and pray vnto me, and I will heare you, <sup>13</sup>And ye shall seeke mee and finde mee, because ye shall seeke mee with all your heart. <sup>14</sup>And I wil be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue. <sup>15</sup>Because ye haue sayd, The Lord hath raised vs vp Prophets in Babel, <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people, that dwell in this cite, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie: <sup>17</sup>Euen thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will sende vpon them the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that cannot bee eaten, they are so naughtie. <sup>18</sup>n/a <sup>19</sup>Because they haue not hearde my words, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruantes the Prophetes, rising vp early, and sending them, but yee woulde not heare, saith the Lord. <sup>20</sup>Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord al ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel. <sup>21</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophetic lyes vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes. <sup>22</sup>And al they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt in the fire, <sup>23</sup>Because they haue committed vilenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying words in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, and testifie it, saith the Lord. <sup>24</sup>Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying, <sup>25</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priestes, saying, <sup>26</sup>The Lord hath made thee Priest for Iehoiada the Priest, that yee should bee officers in the House of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes. <sup>27</sup>Nowe therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophcieth vnto you? <sup>28</sup>For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: buylde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them. <sup>29</sup>And Zephaniah the Priest red this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet. <sup>30</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>31</sup>Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophced vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lye, <sup>32</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I wil visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: hee shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will doe for my people, sayth the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAPTER 30

<sup>1</sup>The worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke. <sup>3</sup>For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the lande, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it. <sup>4</sup>Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah. <sup>5</sup>For thus saith the Lord, wee haue heard a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace. <sup>6</sup>Demand now and beholde, if man trauallye with childe? wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a palenesse? <sup>7</sup>Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it. <sup>8</sup>For in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues of him. <sup>9</sup>But they shall serue the Lord their God, and Daud their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them. <sup>10</sup>Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraide, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy seede from the lande of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie and none shall make him afraide. <sup>11</sup>For I am with thee, sayth the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off. <sup>12</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous. <sup>13</sup>There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor help for thee. <sup>14</sup>All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for ye multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased. <sup>15</sup>Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee. <sup>16</sup>Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shalbe spoyled, and all they that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed. <sup>17</sup>For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after. <sup>18</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iakobs tentes, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof. <sup>19</sup>And out of them shall proceede thankesgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they shall not bee fewe: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished. <sup>20</sup>Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shall be established before me: and I will visite all that vexed them. <sup>21</sup>And their noble ruler shall be of themselves, and their gouernour shall proceede from the middes of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto mee, saith the Lord? <sup>22</sup>And ye shall be my people, and I will bee your God. <sup>23</sup>Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlewinde that hangeeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked. <sup>24</sup>The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne, vntill he haue done, and vntill he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

CHAPTER 31

<sup>1</sup>At the same time, saith the Lord, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sword, founde grace in the wildernes: he walked before Israel to cause him to rest. <sup>3</sup>The Lord hath appeared vnto me of old, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawn thee. <sup>4</sup>Againe I will builde thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt stil be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shall make them common. <sup>6</sup>For the dayes shall come that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zion to the Lord our God. <sup>7</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iakob, and shoute for ioye among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, I will bring them from the North country, and

gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered also: a great companie shall returne hither. <sup>9</sup>They shall come weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will lead them by the riuers of water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne. <sup>10</sup>Hearre the worde of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, Hee that scattered Israel, wil gather him and wil keepe him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke. <sup>11</sup>For the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and ransomed him from the hande of him, that was stronger then he. <sup>12</sup>Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euen for the wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe, and bullocks: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow. <sup>13</sup>Then shall ye virgine reioyce in the dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioy, and wil comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes. <sup>14</sup>And I wil replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnesse, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weeping. Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not. <sup>16</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy: <sup>17</sup>And there is hope in thine ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders. <sup>18</sup>I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God. <sup>19</sup>Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth. <sup>20</sup>Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I still remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord. <sup>21</sup>Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities. <sup>22</sup>How long wilt thou goe astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man. <sup>23</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine. <sup>24</sup>And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke. <sup>25</sup>For I haue sated the wearie soule, and I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule. <sup>26</sup>Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my sleepe was sweete vnto me. <sup>27</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the seede of man and with the seede of beast. <sup>28</sup>And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so wil I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith ye Lord. <sup>29</sup>In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge. <sup>30</sup>But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, <sup>32</sup>Not according to ye couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord. <sup>33</sup>But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawe in their inward partes, and write it in their hearts, and wil be their God, and they shalbe my people. <sup>34</sup>And they shall teach no more euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more. <sup>35</sup>Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes. <sup>36</sup>If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

<sup>37</sup>Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then wil I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord. <sup>38</sup>Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner. <sup>39</sup>And the line of the measure shall go forth in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath. <sup>40</sup>And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shalbe holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

CHAPTER 32

<sup>1</sup>The worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchadnezzar. <sup>2</sup>For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: And Ieremiah the Prophet was shutte vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house. <sup>3</sup>For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the handes of the King of Babel, and he shall take it? <sup>4</sup>And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shall not escape out of the hande of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the handes of the King of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beholde his face, <sup>5</sup>And he shall lead Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntil I visit him, saith ye Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper. <sup>6</sup>And Ieremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>7</sup>Beholde, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncl, shall come vnto thee and say, Bye vnto thee my felde, that is in Anathoth: for the title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee to bye it. <sup>8</sup>So Hanameel, mine vncl, sonne, came to mee in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord. <sup>9</sup>And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncl, sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen shekels, and tenne pecies of siluer. <sup>10</sup>And I writ it in the booke and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances. <sup>11</sup>So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open, <sup>12</sup>And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncl, sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before al the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison. <sup>13</sup>And I charged Baruch before them, saying, <sup>14</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessell, that they may continue a long time. <sup>15</sup>For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fieldes, and vineyardes shall be possessed againe in this land. <sup>16</sup>Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, <sup>17</sup>Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee. <sup>18</sup>Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their children after them: O God the great and mightie, whose Name is ye Lord of hostes, <sup>19</sup>Great in counsell, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of ye sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes) <sup>20</sup>Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day, <sup>21</sup>And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour, <sup>22</sup>And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and hony, <sup>23</sup>And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commaundedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them. <sup>24</sup>Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it. <sup>25</sup>And thou hast sayd vnto me, O Lord God, Bye vnto thee the felde for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans. <sup>26</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>27</sup>Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me? <sup>28</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babel, and he shall take it. <sup>29</sup>And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rouses they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger. <sup>30</sup>For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord. <sup>31</sup>Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight, <sup>32</sup>Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priests, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>33</sup>And they haue turned vnto me the backe and not the face: though I taught them rising vp earely, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine, <sup>34</sup>But they set their abominations in ye house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it, <sup>35</sup>And they built the hie places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne. <sup>36</sup>And nowe therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, <sup>37</sup>Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely. <sup>38</sup>And they shall be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>39</sup>And I wil giue them one heart and one way that they may feare me for euer for ye wealth of them, and of their children after them. <sup>40</sup>And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me. <sup>41</sup>Yea, I wil delite in them to do them good, and I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule. <sup>42</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them. <sup>43</sup>And the fields shalbe possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans. <sup>44</sup>Men shall buy fields for siluer, and make writings and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

CHAPTER 33

<sup>1</sup>Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of prison) saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name. <sup>3</sup>Call vnto me, and I will answere thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mounts, and by the sword, <sup>5</sup>They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednes. <sup>6</sup>Behold, I will giue it health and amendment: for I wil cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and truth. <sup>7</sup>And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first. <sup>8</sup>And I wil clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me. <sup>9</sup>And it shalbe to me a name, a

ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all ye good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare and tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie. <sup>10</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Againe there shalbe heard in this place (which ye say shalbe desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast) <sup>11</sup>The voyce of ioy and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercy endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of prayse in the House of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, sayth the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flockes. <sup>13</sup>In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, sayth the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I wil performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah. <sup>15</sup>In those dayes and at that time, wil I cause the branch of righteousness to growe vp vnto Dauid, and he shall execute iudgement, and righteousness in the land. <sup>16</sup>In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousness. <sup>17</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel. <sup>18</sup>Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meat offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually. <sup>19</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>20</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season, <sup>21</sup>Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers. <sup>22</sup>As the army of heauen can not be nombred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so wil I multiplie the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me. <sup>23</sup>Moreover, the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying, <sup>24</sup>Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them. <sup>25</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, <sup>26</sup>Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAPTER 34

<sup>1</sup>The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cites thereof) saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, and tell him, Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire, <sup>3</sup>And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the King of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babel. <sup>4</sup>Yet heare the worde of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus sayth the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not dye by the sword, <sup>5</sup>But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh lord: for I haue pronounced the worde, sayth the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem, <sup>7</sup>(When the King of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah) <sup>8</sup>This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, to proclaime libertie vnto them, <sup>9</sup>That euery man should let his seruant go free, and

euery man his handmayde, which was an Ebrue or an Ebruesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a fewe his brother. <sup>10</sup>Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant go free, and euery one his handmaide, and that none should serue them selues of them any more, they obeyed and let them go. <sup>11</sup>But afterwarde they repented and caused the seruants and the handmayds, whom they had let go free, to returne, and helde them in subiection as seruants and handmayds. <sup>12</sup>Therefore the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>13</sup>Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of seruants, saying, <sup>14</sup>At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Ebrewe which hath bene solde vnto thee: and when he hath serued the sixe yeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares. <sup>15</sup>And ye were nowe turned, and had done right in my sight in proclayming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before mee in the house, whereupon my Name is called. <sup>16</sup>But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmayde, whom ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to bee vnto you as seruantes and as handmaydes. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed mee, in proclayming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sworde, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth. <sup>18</sup>And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betwene the partes thereof: <sup>19</sup>The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the lande, which passed betwene the partes of the calfe, <sup>20</sup>I wil euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth. <sup>21</sup>And Zedekiah King of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hande of them that seeke their life, and into the hande of the King of Babels hoste, which are gone vp from you. <sup>22</sup>Beholde, I will commande, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAPTER 35

<sup>1</sup>The worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, <sup>2</sup>Go vnto the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke. <sup>3</sup>Then tooke I Iazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites, <sup>4</sup>And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure. <sup>5</sup>And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, and cuppes, and said vnto them, Drinke wine. <sup>6</sup>But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer. <sup>7</sup>Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers. <sup>8</sup>Thus haue wee obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and wee drinke no wine all our dayes, neither wee, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters. <sup>9</sup>Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor fildes, nor seede, <sup>10</sup>But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs. <sup>11</sup>But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we dwel at Ierusalem. <sup>12</sup>Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying, <sup>13</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not

receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord? <sup>14</sup>The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising earely, and speaking, but ye would not obey me. <sup>15</sup>I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes, rising vp earely, and sending, them, saying, Returne nowe euery man from his euill way, and amende your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwel in the lande which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey mee. <sup>16</sup>Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoke vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answer. <sup>18</sup>And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that hee hath commanded you, <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

CHAPTER 36

<sup>1</sup>And in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying, <sup>2</sup>Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day. <sup>3</sup>It may bee that the House of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes. <sup>4</sup>Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke. <sup>5</sup>And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and can not go into the House of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lordes House vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities. <sup>7</sup>It may be that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared against this people. <sup>8</sup>So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House. <sup>9</sup>And in the fift yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the new gate of the Lordes house, in the hearing of all the people. <sup>11</sup>When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, <sup>12</sup>Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes. <sup>13</sup>Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people. <sup>14</sup>Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hande the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them. <sup>15</sup>And they saide vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience. <sup>16</sup>Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraid both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these wordes. <sup>17</sup>And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth? <sup>18</sup>Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke. <sup>19</sup>Then saide the princes vnto Baruch, Goe, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be. <sup>20</sup>And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour and tolde the King all the wordes, that he might heare. <sup>21</sup>So the King sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stode beside the King. <sup>22</sup>Nowe the King sate in the winter House, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him. <sup>23</sup>And when Iehudi had read three, or foure sides, hee cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntil all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth. <sup>24</sup>Yet they were not afraide, nor rent their garmets, neither the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes. <sup>25</sup>Neuerthelesse, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the King, that he would not burne ye roule: but he would not heare them. <sup>26</sup>But the King commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord hid them. <sup>27</sup>Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying, <sup>28</sup>Take thee againe another roule and write in it all ye former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt, <sup>29</sup>And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the King of Babel shall certainly come and destroye this land, and shall take thence both man and beast? <sup>30</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Hee shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost. <sup>31</sup>And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare. <sup>32</sup>Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAPTER 37

<sup>1</sup>And King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah. <sup>2</sup>But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah. <sup>3</sup>And Zedekiah the King sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs. <sup>4</sup>(Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison. <sup>5</sup>Then Pharaohs hoste was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem) <sup>6</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land. <sup>8</sup>And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart. <sup>10</sup>For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire. <sup>11</sup>When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, <sup>12</sup>Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the land of Benjamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people. <sup>13</sup>And when hee was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fleest to the Caldeans. <sup>14</sup>Then sayde Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes. <sup>15</sup>Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and

layde him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the prison. <sup>16</sup>When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, <sup>17</sup>Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiah sayd, Yea: for, sayd he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel. <sup>18</sup>Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison? <sup>19</sup>Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land? <sup>20</sup>Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lorde the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there. <sup>21</sup>Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill all the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAPTER 38

<sup>1</sup>Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but hee that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a praye, and shall liue. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it. <sup>4</sup>Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt. <sup>5</sup>Then Zedekiah the King sayd, Behold, he is in your hands, for ye King can denie you nothing. <sup>6</sup>Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the myre. <sup>7</sup>Now when Ebed-melech ye blacke More one of ye Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the King sate in the gate of Beniamin) <sup>8</sup>And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying, <sup>9</sup>My lorde the King, these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie. <sup>10</sup>Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he dye. <sup>11</sup>So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasure, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah. <sup>12</sup>And Ebed-melech the blacke More sayde vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coards. And Ieremiah did so. <sup>13</sup>So they drewe vp Ieremiah with coards and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison. <sup>14</sup>Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entrie that is in the House of the Lord, and the King sayd vnto Ieremiah, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me. <sup>15</sup>Then Ieremiah sayd to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me. <sup>16</sup>So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life. <sup>17</sup>Then sayd Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayth the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house. <sup>18</sup>But if thou wilt not go forth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of ye Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands. <sup>19</sup>And Zedekiah the King sayde vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer mee into their hands, and they mocke me. <sup>20</sup>But Ieremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue. <sup>21</sup>But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the worde that the Lord hath shewed me. <sup>22</sup>And beholde, all the women that are left in the King of Iudahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe. <sup>23</sup>So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire. <sup>24</sup>Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die. <sup>25</sup>But if ye princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs nowe, what thou hast sayde vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the King sayd vnto thee, <sup>26</sup>Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there. <sup>27</sup>Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued. <sup>28</sup>So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

<sup>1</sup>In the ninth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and they besieged it. <sup>2</sup>And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken vp. <sup>3</sup>And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel. <sup>4</sup>And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes. <sup>5</sup>But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. <sup>6</sup>Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slewe all the nobles of Iudah. <sup>7</sup>Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel. <sup>8</sup>And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem. <sup>9</sup>Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained. <sup>10</sup>But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fieldes at the same time. <sup>11</sup>Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde, saying, <sup>12</sup>Take him, and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as he shall say vnto thee. <sup>13</sup>So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes: <sup>14</sup>Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people. <sup>15</sup>Now the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, <sup>16</sup>Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring my wordes vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee. <sup>17</sup>But I wil deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest. <sup>18</sup>For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shall be for a praye vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, sayth the Lord.

CHAPTER 40

<sup>1</sup>The worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe stewarde had let him goe from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel. <sup>2</sup>And the chiefe stewarde tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place. <sup>3</sup>Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you. <sup>4</sup>And now beholde, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, tarie still: beholde, all the lande is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe. <sup>5</sup>For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe stewarde gaue him vitales and a rewarde, and let him goe. <sup>6</sup>Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the lande. <sup>7</sup>Nowe when all the captaines of the hoste, which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel, <sup>8</sup>Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men. <sup>9</sup>And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the lande, and serue the King of Babel, and it shall be well with you. <sup>10</sup>As for me, Beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken. <sup>11</sup>Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, <sup>12</sup>Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and sommer fruites, very much. <sup>13</sup>Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, <sup>14</sup>And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleueed them not. <sup>15</sup>Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shoulde be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish? <sup>16</sup>But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

CHAPTER 41

<sup>1</sup>But in the seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seede royall, and the princes of the King, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eate bread together in Mizpah. <sup>2</sup>Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slewe him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the lande. <sup>3</sup>Ishmael also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre. <sup>4</sup>Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it, <sup>5</sup>There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beardes shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with offerings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam. <sup>7</sup>And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slewe them, and cast them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him. <sup>8</sup>But tenne men were founde among them, that saide vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the fieldes, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren. <sup>9</sup>Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had made because of Basha King of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine. <sup>10</sup>Then Ishmael caryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites. <sup>11</sup>But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, <sup>12</sup>Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by ye great waters that are in Gibeon. <sup>13</sup>Nowe when all the people whom Ishmael caryed away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad. <sup>14</sup>So all the people, that Ishmael had caryed away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah. <sup>15</sup>But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites. <sup>16</sup>Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon: <sup>17</sup>And they departed and dwelt in Geruth Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, <sup>18</sup>Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael ye sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAPTER 42

<sup>1</sup>Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came, <sup>2</sup>And saide vnto Ieremiah the Prophete, Heare our prayer, we beseeche thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe beholde) <sup>3</sup>That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may doe. <sup>4</sup>Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto ye Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you. <sup>5</sup>Then they said to Ieremiah, The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things for ye which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs. <sup>6</sup>Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom we sende thee that it may be well with vs, when wee obey the voyce of the Lord our God. <sup>7</sup>And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah. <sup>8</sup>Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all ye people from ye least to the most, <sup>9</sup>And saide vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him, <sup>10</sup>If ye will dwell in this land, then I wil build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you. <sup>11</sup>Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraide: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, <sup>12</sup>And I will graunt you mercie that he may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to dwell in your owne land. <sup>13</sup>But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God, <sup>14</sup>Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell, <sup>15</sup>(And nowe therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there) <sup>16</sup>Then the sworde that ye feared, shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die. <sup>17</sup>And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by ye sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them. <sup>18</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse and a reproche, and ye shall see this place no more. <sup>19</sup>O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day. <sup>20</sup>Surely ye dissembled in your hearts When ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto al that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it. <sup>21</sup>Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you. <sup>22</sup>Nowe therefore, knowe certainly that ye shall die by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

CHAPTER 43

<sup>1</sup>Nowe when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto ye whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes, <sup>2</sup>Then spake Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the proude men, saying vnto Ieremiah, Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, <sup>3</sup>But Baruch ye sonne of Neriah prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and cary vs away captiues into Babel. <sup>4</sup>So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the lande of Iudah. <sup>5</sup>But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from al nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwel in ye land of Iudah: <sup>6</sup>Euen men and women, and children, and the Kinges daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, ye sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah. <sup>7</sup>So they came into the lande of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes. <sup>8</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, <sup>9</sup>Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clae in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tanpanhes in ye sight of the men of Iudah, <sup>10</sup>And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his paulion ouer them. <sup>11</sup>And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appoynted for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword to the sword. <sup>12</sup>And I wil kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and carie them away captiues, and he shall aray himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace. <sup>13</sup>He shall breake also ye images of Bethshemesh, that is in the lande of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

CHAPTER 44

<sup>1</sup>The worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the coutry of Pathros, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue scene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, <sup>3</sup>Because of their wickednes which they haue comitted, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, who they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers. <sup>4</sup>Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruats the Prophets rising earely, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate. <sup>5</sup>But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods. <sup>6</sup>Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

<sup>7</sup>Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, childe and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine? <sup>8</sup>In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the woorkes of your hands, burning incense vnto other Gods in the lande of Egypt whither yee be gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth. <sup>9</sup>Haue yee forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the Kings of Iudah and the wickednesse of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem? <sup>10</sup>They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you to euill and to destroy all Iudah, <sup>12</sup>And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sworde and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sworde, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche. <sup>13</sup>For I will visite them that dwel in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by ye sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, <sup>14</sup>So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they shoulde returne into the land of Iudah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape. <sup>15</sup>Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods and all the women that stode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the lande of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying, <sup>16</sup>The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, wee will not heare it of thee, <sup>17</sup>But wee will doe whatsoever thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then had wee plentie of vitales and were well and felt none euill. <sup>18</sup>But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sworde and by the famine. <sup>19</sup>And when we burnt incense to ye Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands? <sup>20</sup>Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying, <sup>21</sup>Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kinges, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it? <sup>22</sup>So that the Lord could no longer forbear, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day. <sup>23</sup>Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Lawe, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day. <sup>24</sup>Moreouer Ieremiah saide vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt. <sup>25</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hande, saying, We will performe our vowe that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowe and doe the things that yee haue vowed. <sup>26</sup>Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwel in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, sayeth the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the lande of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth. <sup>27</sup>Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shalbe consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be vtterly destroyed. <sup>28</sup>Yet a small number that escape the sworde, shall returne out of the lande of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stad, mine or theirs. <sup>29</sup>And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, whe I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill. <sup>30</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

CHAPTER 45

CHAPTER 46

<sup>1</sup>The wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Gentiles, <sup>2</sup>As against Egypt, against ye armie of Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the riuier Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah. <sup>3</sup>Make readie buckler and shilde, and goe forth to battell. <sup>4</sup>Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stande vp with your sallets, fourbush the speares, and put on the brigandines. <sup>5</sup>Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was rounde about, sayeth the Lord. <sup>6</sup>The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall towarde the North by the riuier Perath. <sup>7</sup>Who is this, that commeth vp, as a flood, whose waters are mouued like the riuers? <sup>8</sup>Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mouued like the riuers, and he sayth, I wil goe vp, and will couer the earth: I wil destroy the citie with them that dwell therein. <sup>9</sup>Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come forth, the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe. <sup>10</sup>For this is the day of ye Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shall be satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the North countrey by the Riuier Perath. <sup>11</sup>Goe vp vnto Gilead, and take balme, O virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health. <sup>12</sup>The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crie hath filled the lande: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together. <sup>13</sup>The woorde that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, howe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shoulde come and smite the lande of Egypt. <sup>14</sup>Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sworde shall deuoure rounde about thee. <sup>15</sup>Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them. <sup>16</sup>Hee made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they saide, Arise, let vs goe againe to our owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the sworde of the violent. <sup>17</sup>They did cry there, Pharaoh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath passed the time appointed. <sup>18</sup>As I liue, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, surely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the sea: so shall it come. <sup>19</sup>O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant. <sup>20</sup>Egypt is like a faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth. <sup>21</sup>Also her hired men are in the middes of her like fat calves: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation. <sup>22</sup>The voyce thereof shall goe forth like a serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood. <sup>23</sup>They shall cut downe her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more then ye grasshoppers, and are innumerable. <sup>24</sup>The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shall be deliuered into the handes of the people of the North. <sup>25</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the common people of No and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their Kings, euen Pharaoh, and al them that trust in him, <sup>26</sup>And I will deliuer them into the handes of those, that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the handes of his seruants, and afterwarde she shall dwell as in the olde time, saith the Lord. <sup>27</sup>But feare not thou, O my seruant Iakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iakob shall returne and be in rest, and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid. <sup>28</sup>Feare thou not, O Iakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

CHAPTER 47

<sup>1</sup>The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote Azzah. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, waters rise vp out of the North, and shalbe as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflowe the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle, <sup>3</sup>At the noise and stamping of ye hooves of his strong horses, at the noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: ye fathers shall not looke backe to their children, for feeblenes of handes, <sup>4</sup>Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the yle of Caphtor. <sup>5</sup>Baldenes is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleys. Howe long wilt thou thy selfe? <sup>6</sup>O thou sword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still. <sup>7</sup>Howe can it cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

CHAPTER 48

<sup>1</sup>Concerning Moab, thus saith ye Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraide. <sup>2</sup>Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euill against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, O Madmen, and the sworde shall pursue thee. <sup>3</sup>A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction. <sup>4</sup>Moab is destroyed: her litle ones haue caused their crie to be heard. <sup>5</sup>For at the going vp of Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction, <sup>6</sup>Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wilderness. <sup>7</sup>For because thou hast trusted in thy workes and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his Priests and his princes together. <sup>8</sup>And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish and the plaine shalbe destroyed as the Lord hath spoken. <sup>9</sup>Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shalbe desolate, without any to dwell therein. <sup>10</sup>Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood. <sup>11</sup>Moab hath bene at rest from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not bene powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him and his sent is not changed. <sup>12</sup>Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carie him away, and shall emptie his vessels, and breake their bottels. <sup>13</sup>And Moab shalbe ashamed of Chemosh as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence. <sup>14</sup>Howe thinke you thus, We are mightie and strong men of warre? <sup>15</sup>Moab is destroyed, and his cities burnt vp, and his chose yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saith ye King, whose name is ye Lord of hostes. <sup>16</sup>The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast. <sup>17</sup>All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that knowe his name, say, Howe is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod! <sup>18</sup>Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holdes. <sup>19</sup>Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done? <sup>20</sup>Moab is cofouded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste, <sup>21</sup>And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, <sup>22</sup>And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, <sup>23</sup>And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, <sup>24</sup>And vpon Kerieth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of ye land of Moab farre or neere. <sup>25</sup>The horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord. <sup>26</sup>Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall wallowe in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision. <sup>27</sup>For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued. <sup>28</sup>O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth. <sup>29</sup>We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proude) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart. <sup>30</sup>I know his wrath, saith ye Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulation, for they do not right. <sup>31</sup>Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres. <sup>32</sup>O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: ye destroyer is fallen vpon thy somer fruites, and vpon thy vintage, <sup>33</sup>And ioye, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifulle fildes, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse: none shall treade with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting. <sup>34</sup>From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noyse from Zoar vnto Horonaim, ye heiffer of three yere old shall go lowing: for ye waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted. <sup>35</sup>Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offered in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods. <sup>36</sup>Therefore mine heart shall sounde for Moab like a shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Ker-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished. <sup>37</sup>For euery head shalbe balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth. <sup>38</sup>And mourning shall be vpon all the house toppes of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, sayeth the Lord. <sup>39</sup>They shall howle, saying, How is he destroyed? howe hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him. <sup>40</sup>For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, he shall flee as an eagle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab. <sup>41</sup>The cities are taken, and the strong holdes are wonne, and ye mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day shalbe as ye heart of a woman in trauaile. <sup>42</sup>And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord. <sup>43</sup>Feare, and pit and snare shall be vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord. <sup>44</sup>He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, sayeth the Lord. <sup>45</sup>They that fled, stode vnder the shadowe of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children. <sup>46</sup>Wo be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie. <sup>47</sup>Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, sayeth the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAPTER 49

<sup>1</sup>Unto the children of Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their king possessed God? and his people dwelt in his cities? <sup>2</sup>Therefore beholde the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, sayeth the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: girde you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and from by the hedges: for their King shall goe into captiuitie; and his Priestes, and his princes likewise. <sup>4</sup>Wherefore gloriest thou in the valles? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her

treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me? <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I will bring a feare vpon thee, sayth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scattered euery man right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth. <sup>6</sup>And afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon. <sup>7</sup>To Edom thus sayeth the Lord of hostes: Is wisdom no more in Teman? is counsel perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished? <sup>8</sup>Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan ( they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation. <sup>9</sup>If the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue ynough. <sup>10</sup>For I haue discovered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, <sup>11</sup>Leaue thy fathers children, and I will preserue them aliuie, and let thy widowes trust in me. <sup>12</sup>For thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it. <sup>13</sup>For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayeth the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations. <sup>14</sup>I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battell. <sup>15</sup>For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men. <sup>16</sup>Thy feare, and ye pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and keepest the height of ye hil: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hie as the eagle, I wil bring thee downe from thee, sayth the Lord. <sup>17</sup>Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, <sup>18</sup>As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like mee? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stand before me? <sup>20</sup>Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them. <sup>21</sup>The earth is moued at the noyse of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red Sea. <sup>22</sup>Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the Eagle, and spreade his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edome be as the heart of a woman in trauaile. <sup>23</sup>Vnto Damascus he sayeth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearefull sea that can not rest. <sup>24</sup>Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile. <sup>25</sup>How is the glorious citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy? <sup>26</sup>Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>27</sup>And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall cosume the palaces of Benhadad. <sup>28</sup>Vnto Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel shall smite, thus sayeth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East. <sup>29</sup>Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side. <sup>30</sup>Flee, get you farre off ( they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you. <sup>31</sup>Arise, and get you vp vnto the welthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwel alone. <sup>32</sup>And their camels shall be a bootie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I will scatter them into all windes, and to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from al the sides thereof, sayeth the Lord. <sup>33</sup>And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it. <sup>34</sup>The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying, <sup>35</sup>Thus sayeth

the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will breake the bowe of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength. <sup>36</sup>And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these windes, and there shall bee no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come. <sup>37</sup>For I will cause Elam to be afraied before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I wil sende the sworde after them till I haue consumed them. <sup>38</sup>And I wil set my throne in Elam, and I wil destroy both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter daies I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, sayeth the Lord.

CHAPTER 50

<sup>1</sup>The word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and cocrning the land of the Caldeans by the ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet. <sup>2</sup>Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idols are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces. <sup>3</sup>For out of the North there commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her lande waste, and none shall dwel therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast. <sup>4</sup>In those daies, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God. <sup>5</sup>They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten. <sup>6</sup>My people hath beene as lost sheepe: their shepherds haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from mountaine to hil, and forgotten their resting place. <sup>7</sup>Al that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies saide, We offende not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers. <sup>8</sup>Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the lande of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates before the flocke. <sup>9</sup>For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie natos from the North cuntry, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby shee shall be taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine. <sup>10</sup>And Caldea shall be a spoyle: all that spoyle her, shall be satisfied, sayth the Lord. <sup>11</sup>Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fatte, as the calues in the grasse, and neied like strong horses, <sup>12</sup>Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall be ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shalbe a desert, a drie land, and a wildernes. <sup>13</sup>Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and hisse at all her plagues. <sup>14</sup>Put your selues in aray against Babel rounde about: all ye that bende the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for shee hath sinned against the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Crie against her round about: she hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, doe vnto her. <sup>16</sup>Destroy the sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sieth in the time of haruest: because of the sworde of the oppressor they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land. <sup>17</sup>Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lions haue dispersed them: first the King of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King, of Babel hath broken his bones. <sup>18</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visit ye King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur. <sup>19</sup>And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead. <sup>20</sup>In those daies, and at that time, sayeth the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be founde: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whome I reserue. <sup>21</sup>Goe vp against the lande of the rebelles, euen against it, and against the inhabitantes of Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee. <sup>22</sup>A crie of battell is in the land, and of great destruction. <sup>23</sup>Howe is the hammer of the whole world destroyed, and broken! howe is Babel become desolate among the nations! <sup>24</sup>I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord. <sup>25</sup>The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the woork of the Lord God of hostes in the lande of the Caldeans. <sup>26</sup>Come against her from the vtmost border: open her store houses: treade on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left. <sup>27</sup>Destroy all her bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation. <sup>28</sup>The voyce of them that flee, and escape out of the lande of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple. <sup>29</sup>Call vp the archers against Babel: al ye that bend the bow, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel. <sup>30</sup>Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and al her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, sayeth the Lord. <sup>31</sup>Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee. <sup>32</sup>And the proude shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all round about him. <sup>33</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe. <sup>34</sup>But their strong redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the lande, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel. <sup>35</sup>A sworde is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men. <sup>36</sup>A sworde is vpon the soothsaiers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shalbe afraide. <sup>37</sup>A sworde is vpon their horses and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall be like women: a sworde is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoyled. <sup>38</sup>A drought is vpon her waters, and they shall be dried vp: for it is the lande of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles. <sup>39</sup>Therefore the Ziims with the Iims shall dwel there, and the ostriches shall dwel therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation. <sup>40</sup>As God destroyed Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein. <sup>41</sup>Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many Kings shall be raised vp from the coastes of the earth. <sup>42</sup>They shall holde the bowe and the buckeler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel. <sup>43</sup>The King of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorowe as of a woman in trauaile. <sup>44</sup>Beholde, hee shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like me, and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the shepherd that will stande before me? <sup>45</sup>Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the lande of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them. <sup>46</sup>At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the crye is heard among the nations.

Lordes hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage. <sup>8</sup>Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed. <sup>9</sup>We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euery one into his owne cuntry: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to ye cloudes. <sup>10</sup>The Lord hath brought forth our righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God. <sup>11</sup>Make bright the arrowes: gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple. <sup>12</sup>Set vp the standart vpon the wallles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitantes of Babel. <sup>13</sup>O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, euen the ende of thy couetousnes. <sup>14</sup>The Lord of hostes hath sworne by him selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shoute against thee. <sup>15</sup>He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion. <sup>16</sup>Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures. <sup>17</sup>Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein. <sup>18</sup>They are vanitie, and the worke of errorrs: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. <sup>19</sup>The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name. <sup>20</sup>Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee wil I destroy kingdomes, <sup>21</sup>And by thee wil I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein. <sup>22</sup>By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee wil I breake olde and yong, and by thee wil I breake the yong man and the mayde. <sup>23</sup>I wil also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husband man and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes. <sup>24</sup>And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euil, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, sayth the Lord. <sup>25</sup>Beholde, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, sayth the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the rockes, and wil make thee a burnt mountaine. <sup>26</sup>They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, sayth the Lord. <sup>27</sup>Set vp a standard in the lande: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoynt the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers. <sup>28</sup>Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion. <sup>29</sup>And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuse of the Lord shalbe performed against Babel, to make the lande of Babel waste without an inhabitant. <sup>30</sup>The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remayned in their holdes: their strength hath fayled, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken. <sup>31</sup>A post shall runne to meete the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the King of Babel, that his cite is taken on a side thereof, <sup>32</sup>And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the me of war troubled. <sup>33</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, the daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest shall come. <sup>34</sup>Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an emptie vessel: he swallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out. <sup>35</sup>The spoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitantes of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say. <sup>36</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Beholde, I will maintayne thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springes. <sup>37</sup>And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant. <sup>38</sup>They shall rore together like lions, and yell as the lyons whelpes. <sup>39</sup>In their heate I will make them feastes, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetual sleepe, and not wake, sayth the Lord. <sup>40</sup>I wil bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rams and goates. <sup>41</sup>How is Sheshach taken! and howe is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations! <sup>42</sup>The sea is come vp vpon Babel: he is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof. <sup>43</sup>Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernes, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth the sonne of man passe thereby. <sup>44</sup>I wil also visite Bel in Babel, and I wil bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall. <sup>45</sup>My people, go out of the middes of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, <sup>46</sup>Least your heart euen faynt, and ye feare the rumour, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other yeere shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler. <sup>47</sup>Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shalbe confounded, and all her slayne shall fall in the middes of her. <sup>48</sup>Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord. <sup>49</sup>As Babel caused the slaine of Israel to fal, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall. <sup>50</sup>Ye that haue escaped the sworde, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord a farre of, and let Ierusalem come into your minde. <sup>51</sup>Wee are confounded because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for straungers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes House. <sup>52</sup>Wherefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone. <sup>53</sup>Though Babel should mount vp to heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on hye, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, sayth the Lord. <sup>54</sup>A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, <sup>55</sup>Because the Lord hath layde Babel waste and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sounde was made by their noyse: <sup>56</sup>Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shall surely recompence. <sup>57</sup>And I will make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayth the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes. <sup>58</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her hie gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in ye fire, for they shalbe weary. <sup>59</sup>The worde which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the sonne of Neriiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the King of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peaceable prince. <sup>60</sup>So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euil that should come vpon Babel: euen al these things, that are written against Babel. <sup>61</sup>And Ieremiah sayd to Sheraiah, Whe thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these wordes, <sup>62</sup>Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place, to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer. <sup>63</sup>And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates, <sup>64</sup>And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned, and shall not rise from the euil, that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be weary. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

CHAPTER 52

<sup>1</sup>Zedekiah was one and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah. <sup>2</sup>And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done. <sup>3</sup>Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel. <sup>4</sup>But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and buylt fortes against it round about. <sup>5</sup>So the cite was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah. <sup>6</sup>Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in ye cite, so that there was no more bread for ye people of the land. <sup>7</sup>Then the cite was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes. <sup>8</sup>But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him. <sup>9</sup>Then they tooke the king and caryed him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him. <sup>10</sup>And the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes he slew also al ye princes of Iudah in Riblah. <sup>11</sup>Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in pryson till the day of his death. <sup>12</sup>Now in the fift moneth in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of ye King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which stooode before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, <sup>13</sup>And burnt the House of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire. <sup>14</sup>And al the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all ye walles of Ierusalem round about. <sup>15</sup>Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remayned in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude. <sup>16</sup>But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to dresse the vines, and to till the land. <sup>17</sup>Also the pillars of brasse that were in the House of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the house of ye Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel. <sup>18</sup>The pots also and the besomes, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away. <sup>19</sup>And the bowles, and the ashpannes, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlestickes, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, and all that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away, <sup>20</sup>With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in ye house of ye Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without weight. <sup>21</sup>And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eightene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was holowe. <sup>22</sup>And a chapter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapters round about, all of brasse: the seconde pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these. <sup>23</sup>And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an hundreth round about. <sup>24</sup>And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the seconde Priest, and the three keepers of the doore. <sup>25</sup>Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and seuen men that were in the Kings presence, which were founde in the citie, and Sopher captayne of the hoste who mustered the people of the lande, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the citie. <sup>26</sup>Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah. <sup>27</sup>And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the lande of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land. <sup>28</sup>This is the people, whome Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the seuenth yere, euen three thousande Iewes, and three and twentie. <sup>29</sup>In the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two persons. <sup>30</sup>In the three and twentieth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and sixe hundreth. <sup>31</sup>And in the seuen and thirtieth yere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach King of Babel, in the first yere of his reigne, lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, and brought him out of pryson, <sup>32</sup>And spake kindly vnto him, and set his throne about the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, <sup>33</sup>And changed his pryson garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life. <sup>34</sup>His porcion was a continuall portion giuen him of ye king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

LAMENTATIONS

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>Howe doeth the citie remaine solitarie that was full of people? she is as a widowe: she that was great among the nations, and princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie. <sup>2</sup>She weepeth continually in the night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friendes haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies. <sup>3</sup>Iudah is caried away captiue because of affliction, and because of great seruitude: shee dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites. <sup>4</sup>The wayes of Zion lament, because no man commeth to the solemne feastes: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in heauinesse. <sup>5</sup>Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enimie. <sup>6</sup>And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become like harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer. <sup>7</sup>Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people fell into the hande of the enimie, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did mocke at her Sabbaths. <sup>8</sup>Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore shee is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward. <sup>9</sup>Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last ende, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enimie is proud. <sup>10</sup>The enimie hath stretched out his hande vpon al her pleasant things: for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom thou diddest commande, that they shoulde not enter into thy Church. <sup>11</sup>All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant thinges for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile. <sup>12</sup>Haue ye no regarde, all yee that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto mee, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath. <sup>13</sup>From aboute hath hee sent fire into my bones, which preuaile against them: he hath spred a net for my feete, and turned me backe: hee hath made me desolate, and daily in heauinesse. <sup>14</sup>The yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp. <sup>15</sup>The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of me: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah. <sup>16</sup>For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enimie preuailed. <sup>17</sup>Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appoynted the enemies of Iakob rounde about him: Ierusalem is as a menstruous woman in the middes of them. <sup>18</sup>The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorowe: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie. <sup>19</sup>I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priestes and mine Elders perished in the citie while they sought their meate to refresh their soules. <sup>20</sup>Behold, O Lord, howe I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am ful of heauinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home. <sup>21</sup>They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me. <sup>22</sup>Let all their wickednes come before thee: do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, and mine heart is heauy.

CHAPTER 2

princes thereof. <sup>3</sup>Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the horne of Israel: he hath drawn backe his right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iacob like a flame of fire, which deuoured rounde about. <sup>4</sup>He hath bent his bowe like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe al that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire. <sup>5</sup>The Lord was as an enemy: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: hee hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning. <sup>6</sup>For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbathes to bee forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest. <sup>7</sup>The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hath giue into the hand of the enemy the walles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie. <sup>8</sup>The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a lyne: hee hath not withdrawn his hande from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together. <sup>9</sup>Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord. <sup>10</sup>The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue girded them selues with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground. <sup>11</sup>Mine eyes doe saile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings swoone in the streetes of the cite. <sup>12</sup>They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is bread and drinke? when they swooned as the wounded in the streetes of the cite, and whe they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome. <sup>13</sup>What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like ye sea: who can heale thee? <sup>14</sup>Thy Prophets haue looked out wayne, and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophesies, and causes of banishment. <sup>15</sup>All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the cite that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioye of the whole earth? <sup>16</sup>All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnashe the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue founde and seene it. <sup>17</sup>The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemy to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries. <sup>18</sup>Their heart cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuier, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease. <sup>19</sup>Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine handes toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes. <sup>20</sup>Beholde, O Lord, and consider to whome thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruite, and children of a spanne long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord? <sup>21</sup>The yong and the olde lie on the ground in the streetes: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sworde: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared. <sup>22</sup>Thou hast called as in a solemne daye my terrours rounde about, so that in the day of the Lordes wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAPTER 3

my chaines heauy. <sup>8</sup>Also when I cry and showte, hee shutteth out my prayer. <sup>9</sup>He hath stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths. <sup>10</sup>He was vnto me as a beare lying in waite, and as a Lion in secret places. <sup>11</sup>He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate. <sup>12</sup>He hath bent his bow and made me a marke for the arrow. <sup>13</sup>Hee caused the arrowes of his quier to enter into my reines. <sup>14</sup>I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day. <sup>15</sup>He hath filled me with bitternes, and made me drunken with wormewood. <sup>16</sup>He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes. <sup>17</sup>Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie, <sup>18</sup>And I saide, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord, <sup>19</sup>Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall. <sup>20</sup>My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me. <sup>21</sup>I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope. <sup>22</sup>It is the Lordes mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not. <sup>23</sup>They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness. <sup>24</sup>The Lord is my portion, sayth my soule: therefore wil I hope in him. <sup>25</sup>The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him. <sup>26</sup>It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord. <sup>27</sup>It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his youth. <sup>28</sup>He sitteth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him. <sup>29</sup>He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope. <sup>30</sup>Hee giueth his cheekes to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches. <sup>31</sup>For the Lord will not forsake for euer. <sup>32</sup>But though he sende affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies. <sup>33</sup>For he doeth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men, <sup>34</sup>In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth, <sup>35</sup>In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most high, <sup>36</sup>In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not. <sup>37</sup>Who is he then that sayth, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not? <sup>38</sup>Out of the mouth of the most high proceedeth not euill and good? <sup>39</sup>Wherefore then is the liuing man sorrowfull? man suffreth for his sinne. <sup>40</sup>Let vs search and try our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord. <sup>41</sup>Let vs lift vp our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens. <sup>42</sup>We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared. <sup>43</sup>Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine and not spared. <sup>44</sup>Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through. <sup>45</sup>Thou hast made vs as the ofscouring and refuse in the middes of the people. <sup>46</sup>All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs. <sup>47</sup>Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs with desolation and destruction. <sup>48</sup>Mine eye casteth out riuers of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people. <sup>49</sup>Mine eye droppeth without stay and ceaseth not, <sup>50</sup>Till the Lord looke downe, and beholde from heauen. <sup>51</sup>Mine eye breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my cite. <sup>52</sup>Mine enemies chased me sore like a birde, without cause. <sup>53</sup>They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me. <sup>54</sup>Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed. <sup>55</sup>I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon. <sup>56</sup>Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh and from my cry. <sup>57</sup>Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, Feare not. <sup>58</sup>O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, and hast redeemed my life. <sup>59</sup>O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause. <sup>60</sup>Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me. <sup>61</sup>Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me: <sup>62</sup>The lippes also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually. <sup>63</sup>Behold, their sitting downe and their rising vp, how I am their song. <sup>64</sup>Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their handes. <sup>65</sup>Giue them sorrow of heart, euen thy curse to them. <sup>66</sup>Persecute with wrath and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

CHAPTER 4

his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them. <sup>5</sup>They that did feede delicately, perish in the streetes: they that were brought vp in skarlet, embrace the dongue. <sup>6</sup>For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodom, that was destroyed as in a moment, and none pitched campes against her. <sup>7</sup>Her Nazarites were purer then the snowe, and whiter then ye milke: they were more ruddie in bodie, then the redde precious stones; they were like polished saphir. <sup>8</sup>Nowe their visage is blacker then a cole: they can not knowe them in the streetes: their skinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke. <sup>9</sup>They that be slaine with the sword are better, then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were striken through for the fruites of the field. <sup>10</sup>The hands of the pitifull women haue soddren their owne children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people. <sup>11</sup>The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof. <sup>12</sup>The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleued that the aduersarie and the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem: <sup>13</sup>For the sinnes of her Prophets, and the iniquities of her Priests, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of her. <sup>14</sup>They haue wandred as blinde men in the streetes, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments. <sup>15</sup>But they cried vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue sayd among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there. <sup>16</sup>The anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priest, nor had compassion of the Elders. <sup>17</sup>Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that could not saue vs. <sup>18</sup>They hunt our steppes that we cannot goe in our streetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come. <sup>19</sup>Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and layed waite for vs in the wilderness. <sup>20</sup>The breath of our nostrels, the Anoynted of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whome we sayde, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued alieue among the heathen. <sup>21</sup>Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Edom, that dwellest in the lande of Vz, the cuppe also shall passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken and vomit. <sup>22</sup>Thy punishment is accomplished, O daughter Zion: he will no more carie thee away into captiuitie, but he will visite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he wil discouer thy sinnes.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Remember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider, and behold our reproche. <sup>2</sup>Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants. <sup>3</sup>We are fatherles, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes. <sup>4</sup>We haue drunke our water for money, and our wood is solde vnto vs. <sup>5</sup>Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are wearie, and haue no rest. <sup>6</sup>We haue giuen our handes to the Egyptians, and to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread. <sup>7</sup>Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities. <sup>8</sup>Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands. <sup>9</sup>Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wilderness. <sup>10</sup>Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine. <sup>11</sup>They defiled the women in Zion, and the maydes in the cities of Iudah. <sup>12</sup>The princes are hanged vp by their hande: the faces of the elders were not had in honour. <sup>13</sup>They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder the wood. <sup>14</sup>The Elders haue ceased from the gate and the yong men from their songs. <sup>15</sup>The ioy of our heart is gone, our daunce is turned into mourning. <sup>16</sup>The crowne of our head is fallen: wo nowe vnto vs, that we haue sinned. <sup>17</sup>Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, our eyes are dimme, <sup>18</sup>Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it. <sup>19</sup>But thou, O Lord, remainest for euer: thy throne is from generation to generation. <sup>20</sup>Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time? <sup>21</sup>Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde. <sup>22</sup>But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

EZEKIEL

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>It came to passe in the thirtieth yere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuier Chebar) that the heauens were opened and I sawe visions of GOD. <sup>2</sup>In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yere of King Ioiachins captiuitie) <sup>3</sup>The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Caldeans, by the riuier Chebar, where the hande of the Lord was vpon him. <sup>4</sup>And I looked, and beholde, a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likenesse of amber. <sup>5</sup>Also out of the middes therof came the likenesse of foure beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man. <sup>6</sup>And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings. <sup>7</sup>And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse. <sup>8</sup>And the handes of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings. <sup>9</sup>They were ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward. <sup>10</sup>And the similitude of their faces was as the face of a man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle. <sup>11</sup>Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioined one to another, and two couered their bodies. <sup>12</sup>And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth. <sup>13</sup>The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning. <sup>14</sup>And the beastes ranne, and returned like vnto lightning. <sup>15</sup>Nowe as I behelde the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces. <sup>16</sup>The facion of the wheelles and their worke was like vnto a chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele. <sup>17</sup>Whe they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went. <sup>18</sup>They had also rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure. <sup>19</sup>And when the beastes went, the wheelles went with them: and when the beastes were lift vp from the earth, the wheelles were lift vp. <sup>20</sup>Whither the spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheelles leade them, and the wheelles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheelles. <sup>21</sup>When the beastes went, they went, and when they stode, they stode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheelles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirite of the beastes was in the wheelles. <sup>22</sup>And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrysell, spread ouer their heads aboue. <sup>23</sup>And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which couered the, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies. <sup>24</sup>And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speach, as the noyse of an host: and when they stood, they let downe their wings. <sup>25</sup>And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stode, and had let downe their wings. <sup>26</sup>And about the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it. <sup>27</sup>And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpwarde: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downwarde, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it. <sup>28</sup>As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about. (Ezekiel :) This was the appearance of the similitude of the glorie of the Lord: and when I sawe it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feete, and I wil speake vnto thee. <sup>2</sup>And the Spirite entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me. <sup>3</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day. <sup>4</sup>For they are impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God. <sup>5</sup>But surely they will not heare, neither in deede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they knowe that there hath bene a Prophet among them. <sup>6</sup>And thou sonne of man, feare them not, neither be afraide of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afraide at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease: for they are rebellious. <sup>8</sup>But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eate that I giue thee. <sup>9</sup>And when I looked vp, beholde, an hande was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein. <sup>10</sup>And he spred it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Moreover he saide vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel. <sup>2</sup>So I opened my mouth, and he gaue mee this roule to eate. <sup>3</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie. <sup>4</sup>And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes. <sup>5</sup>For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel, <sup>6</sup>Not to many people of an vnknown tongue, or of an harde language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should sende thee to them, they would obey thee. <sup>7</sup>But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead harde against their foreheads. <sup>9</sup>I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>10</sup>He said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, <sup>11</sup>And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they in deede cease. <sup>12</sup>Then the spirite tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noise of a great russhing, saying, Blessed be ye glorie of the Lord out of his place. <sup>13</sup>I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great russhing. <sup>14</sup>So the spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirite, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me. <sup>15</sup>Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes. <sup>16</sup>And at the ende of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>17</sup>Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me. <sup>18</sup>When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hande. <sup>19</sup>Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule. <sup>20</sup>Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand. <sup>21</sup>Neuerthelesse, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule. <sup>22</sup>And the hande of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and goe into the felde, and I will there talke with thee. <sup>23</sup>So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the felde, beholde, the glorie of the Lord stode there, as the glorie which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face. <sup>24</sup>Then the Spirit entred into me, which set me vp vpon my feete, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, and shut thy selfe within thine house. <sup>25</sup>But thou, O sonne of man, beholde, they shall put bandes vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them. <sup>26</sup>And I will make thy tongue cleaue to the rooffe of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dume, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>27</sup>But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth off, let him leaue: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Thou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem, <sup>2</sup>And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it rounde about. <sup>3</sup>Moreover, take an yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel. <sup>4</sup>Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquity. <sup>5</sup>For I haue layed vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel. <sup>6</sup>And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it. <sup>8</sup>And beholde, I will lay bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof. <sup>10</sup>And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof. <sup>11</sup>Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt part of an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke. <sup>12</sup>And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dongue that commeth out of man, in their sight. <sup>13</sup>And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them. <sup>14</sup>Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any vnclane flesh in my mouth. <sup>15</sup>Then he said vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes dongue for mans dongue, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith. <sup>16</sup>Moreover, he said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment. <sup>17</sup>Because that bread and water shall faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>And thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor and cause it to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and deuide the heare. <sup>2</sup>Thou shalt burne with fire the thirde part in the middes of the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other thirde part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last thirde part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will drawe out a sword after them. <sup>3</sup>Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in number, and binde them in thy lappe. <sup>4</sup>Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the middes of the nations and countreyes, that are rounde about her. <sup>6</sup>And she hath changed my iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreis, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations that are rounde about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are rounde about you, <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the middes of thee, euen in the sight of the nations. <sup>9</sup>And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will do any more the like, because of all thine abominations. <sup>10</sup>For in the middes of thee, the fathers shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes. <sup>11</sup>Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely because thou hast defiled my Sanctuarie with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie. <sup>12</sup>The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they bee consumed in the middes of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will drawe out a sword after them. <sup>13</sup>Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted: and they shall knowe, that I the Lord haue spoke it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them. <sup>14</sup>Moreouer, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by. <sup>15</sup>So thou shalt bee a reproche and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are rounde about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>16</sup>When I shall sende vpon them the euill arrowes of famine, which shalbe for their destruction, and which I will sende to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread. <sup>17</sup>So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beastes, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe through thee, and I will bring the sworde vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the mountaines of Israel, and prophetic against them, <sup>3</sup>And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus sayth the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valles, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a sworde vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places: <sup>4</sup>And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the sunne shalbe broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles. <sup>5</sup>And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars. <sup>6</sup>In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shalbe laide waste, so that your altars shalbe made waste and desolate, and your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished. <sup>7</sup>And the slaine shall fall in the middes of you, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Yet will I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shalbe scattred through the countreyes. <sup>9</sup>And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shalbe displeased in them selues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations. <sup>10</sup>And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not saide in vaine, that I woulde doe this euill vnto them. <sup>11</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Smit with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence. <sup>12</sup>He that is farre off, shall dye of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall dye by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them. <sup>13</sup>Then ye shall knowe, that I am ye Lord, when their slaine men shalbe among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euerie hie hill in al the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euerie thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweete sauour to all their idoles. <sup>14</sup>So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the lande waste, and desolate from the wildernes vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An ende is come vnto the lande of Israel: the ende is come vpon the foure corners of the lande. <sup>3</sup>Nowe is the ende come vpon thee, and I will sende my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will laye vpon thee all thine abominations. <sup>4</sup>Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will laye thy waies vpon thee: and thine abomination shall bee in the middes of thee, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, one euil, euen one euill is come. <sup>6</sup>An ende is come, the end is come, it watched for thee: beholde, it is come. <sup>7</sup>The morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the lande: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the sounding againe of the mountaines. <sup>8</sup>Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfil mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations. <sup>9</sup>Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will laye vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shalbe in the middes of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord that smiteth. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod flourisheth: pride hath budded. <sup>11</sup>Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there bee lamentation for them. <sup>12</sup>The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the byer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, mourne: for the wrath is vpon al the multitude thereof. <sup>13</sup>For hee that selleth, shall not returne to that which is solde, although they were yet alieue: for the vision was vnto al the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life. <sup>14</sup>They haue blowne the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof. <sup>15</sup>The sword is without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shall dye with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him. <sup>16</sup>But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shalbe in the mountaines, like the doves of the valles: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie. <sup>17</sup>All handes shalbe weake, and all knees shall fall away as water. <sup>18</sup>They shall also girde them selues with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shalbe vpon all faces, and baldnes vpon their heads. <sup>19</sup>They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their golde shalbe cast farre off: their siluer and their gold can not deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie. <sup>20</sup>He had also set the beautie of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them. <sup>21</sup>And I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it. <sup>22</sup>My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it. <sup>23</sup>Make a chaine: for the lande is full of the iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holie places shalbe defiled. <sup>25</sup>When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it. <sup>26</sup>Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Lawe shall perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient. <sup>27</sup>The King shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the handes of the people in the land shall be troubled: I wil doe vnto them according to their waies, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>And in the sixt yere, in the sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me. <sup>2</sup>Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loynes downward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnes, and like vnto amber. <sup>3</sup>And he stretched out the likenes of an had, and tooke me by an hearie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee by a Diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entry of ye inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation. <sup>4</sup>And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field. <sup>5</sup>Then saide he vnto mee, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes nowe toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and beholde, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie. <sup>6</sup>He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations. <sup>7</sup>And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall. <sup>8</sup>Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge nowe in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore. <sup>9</sup>And he said vnto mee, Go in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here. <sup>10</sup>So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping thinges and abominable beasts and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about. <sup>11</sup>And there stode before them seuentie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stode Iaazaniah, ye sonne of Shaphan, with euerie man his censour in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloude. <sup>12</sup>Then saide hee vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth. <sup>13</sup>Againe he saide also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe. <sup>14</sup>And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde there sate women mourning for Tammuz. <sup>15</sup>Then saide hee vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these. <sup>16</sup>And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porche and the altar were about fife and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East. <sup>17</sup>The he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out stinke before their noses. <sup>18</sup>Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and though they crie in mine eares with a loude voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>He cryed also with a loude voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hande to destroy it. <sup>2</sup>And beholde, sixe men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the North, and euery man a weapon in his hande to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers ynkhorne by his side, and they went in and stode beside the brasen altar. <sup>3</sup>And the glorie of the God of Israel was gone vp from ye Cherub, whereupon he was and stode on the doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side. <sup>4</sup>And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the middes of the citie, euen through the middes of Ierusalem and set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof. <sup>5</sup>And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie. <sup>6</sup>Destroy vtterly the old, and the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whome is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the Ancient men, which were before the house. <sup>7</sup>And he sayde vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courtes with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie. <sup>8</sup>Nowe when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem? <sup>9</sup>Then saide he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the lande is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not. <sup>10</sup>As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heades. <sup>11</sup>And beholde, the man clothed with linnen which had the ynkhorne by his side, made report, and saide, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>And as I looked, beholde, in the firmament that was aboue the head of the Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone. <sup>2</sup>And he spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Go in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter the ouer the citie. And he went in in my sight. <sup>3</sup>Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner court. <sup>4</sup>Then the glorie of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stode ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lordes glorie. <sup>5</sup>And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh. <sup>6</sup>And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene ye Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside ye wheele. <sup>7</sup>And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out. <sup>8</sup>And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hande vnder their wings. <sup>9</sup>And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone. <sup>10</sup>And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele. <sup>11</sup>When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went. <sup>12</sup>And their whole bodie, and their rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles. <sup>13</sup>And the Cherub cryed to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele. <sup>14</sup>And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the thirde the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Egle. <sup>15</sup>And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beast that I sawe at the riuier Chebar. <sup>16</sup>And when ye Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them. <sup>17</sup>When the Cherubims stode, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted the selues vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them. <sup>18</sup>Then the glorie of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stode vpon the Cherubims. <sup>19</sup>And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stode at the entrie of the gate of the Lordes House at the East side, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie. <sup>20</sup>This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuier Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims. <sup>21</sup>Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings. <sup>22</sup>And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuier Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was ye selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>Moreover, the Spirite lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lordes house, which lyeth Eastwarde, and beholde, at the entrie of the gate were fife and twentie men: among whome I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people. <sup>2</sup>Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie. <sup>3</sup>For they say, It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the caldron, and wee be the flesh. <sup>4</sup>Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie. <sup>5</sup>And the Spirite of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes. <sup>6</sup>Many haue ye murdered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine. <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layed in the

middes of it, they are the flesh, and this cite is the caldron, but I wil bring you foorth of the mids of it. <sup>8</sup>Ye haue feared the sworde, and I wil bring a sworde vpon you, saith the Lord God. <sup>9</sup>And I will bring you out of the middes thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you. <sup>10</sup>Ye shall fall by the sworde, and I wil iudge you in the border of Israel, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>11</sup>This cite shall not be your caldron, neyther shall ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I wil iudge you in the border of Israel. <sup>12</sup>And ye shall knowe that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are round about you. <sup>13</sup>And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah dyed: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loude voyce, and saide, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel? <sup>14</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>15</sup>Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the lande is giuen vs in possession. <sup>16</sup>Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreis, yet wil I be to them as a litle Sanctuarie in ye countreis where they shall come. <sup>17</sup>Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreis where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you ye land of Israel. <sup>18</sup>And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence. <sup>19</sup>And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a newe spirit within their bowels: and I will take the stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, <sup>20</sup>That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>21</sup>But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heades, saith the Lord God. <sup>22</sup>Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie. <sup>23</sup>And the glorie of the Lord went vp from the middes of the cite, and stode vpon the moutaine which is toward the East side of the cite. <sup>24</sup>Afterwarde the Spirite tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me. <sup>25</sup>Then I declared vnto them that were led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord also came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>3</sup>Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe foorth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house. <sup>4</sup>Then shalt thou bring foorth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that go foorth into captiuitie. <sup>5</sup>Dig thou through the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby. <sup>6</sup>In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it foorth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a signe vnto the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as ye stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in ye darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight. <sup>8</sup>And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, sayde vnto thee, What doest thou? <sup>10</sup>But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them. <sup>11</sup>Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie. <sup>12</sup>And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge through the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eies. <sup>13</sup>My net also will I spread vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall dye there. <sup>14</sup>And

I will scatter toward euerie winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will drawe out the sworde after them. <sup>15</sup>And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreis. <sup>16</sup>But I will leaue a litle number of them from the sworde, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord. <sup>17</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse, <sup>19</sup>And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnes, and drinke their water with desolation: for the lande shall bee desolate from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein. <sup>20</sup>And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyde, and the land shall be desolate, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>22</sup>Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged and all visions faile? <sup>23</sup>Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I wil make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The daies are at hand and the effect of euery vision. <sup>24</sup>For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there bee any flattering diuination within the house of Israel. <sup>25</sup>For I am the Lord: I wil speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I saye the thing, and will performe it, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>26</sup>Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>27</sup>Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophecieth of the times that are farre off. <sup>28</sup>Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto them, that prophecie out of their owne hearts, Heare the worde of the Lord. <sup>3</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish Prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing. <sup>4</sup>O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes in the waste places. <sup>5</sup>Ye haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for ye house of Israel, to stand in the battel in the daye of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord sayth it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophecie. <sup>7</sup>Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue yee not spoken a lying diuination? ye say, The Lord sayth it, albeit I haue not spoken. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanytie and haue seene lyes, therefore beholde, I am agaynst you, sayth the Lord God, <sup>9</sup>And mine hande shalbe vpon the Prophets that see vanity, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assemblie of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and yee shall know that I am the Lord God. <sup>10</sup>And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one buylt vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, <sup>11</sup>Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I wil sende haylestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it. <sup>12</sup>Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not bee sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it? <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake foorth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to consume it. <sup>14</sup>So I wil destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the fundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fal, and ye shalbe consumed in the middes thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, <sup>16</sup>To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayth the Lord God. <sup>17</sup>Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say, <sup>18</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe pillowes vnder al arme holes, and make vailles vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will yee hunt ye soules of my people, and will yee giue life to the soules that come vnto you? <sup>19</sup>And will ye pollute me among my people for handfules of barley, and for peeces of bread to slay the soules of them that shoulde not dye, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies? <sup>20</sup>Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to do with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie. <sup>21</sup>Your vailles also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hande, and they shalbe no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>22</sup>Because with your lyes yee haue made the heart of the righteous sadde, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, <sup>23</sup>Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinatios: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am ye Lord.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and sate before me. <sup>2</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>3</sup>Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them? <sup>4</sup>Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles: <sup>5</sup>That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles. <sup>6</sup>Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations. <sup>7</sup>For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from mee, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him for my selfe, <sup>8</sup>And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>9</sup>And if the Prophet be deceiued, when hee hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hande vpon him, and will destroy him from the middes of my people of Israel. <sup>10</sup>And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, <sup>11</sup>That the house of Israel may go no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, sayth the Lord God. <sup>12</sup>The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>13</sup>Sonne of man, when ye land sinneth against me by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it. <sup>14</sup>Though these three men Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they shoulde deliuer but their owne soules by their righteousness, saith the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>If I bring noysome beastes into the lande and they spoyle it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beastes, <sup>16</sup>Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shall be waste. <sup>17</sup>Or if I bring a sworde vpon this land, and say, Sworde, go through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, <sup>18</sup>Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselves. <sup>19</sup>Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, <sup>20</sup>And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousness. <sup>21</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, Howe much more when I sende my foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sworde, and famine, and the noysome beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it? <sup>22</sup>Yet beholde, therein shalbe left a remnant of them that shalbe caryed away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning al that I haue brought vpon it. <sup>23</sup>And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup>And thee word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine braunch, which is among the trees of ye forest? <sup>3</sup>Shall wood bee taken thereof to doe any worke? or wil men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon? <sup>4</sup>Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke? <sup>5</sup>Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it bee meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt? <sup>6</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem. <sup>7</sup>And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them, <sup>8</sup>And when I make the lande waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

whome thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter? <sup>21</sup>That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them? <sup>22</sup>And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood. <sup>23</sup>And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God) <sup>24</sup>Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete. <sup>25</sup>Thou hast built thine hie place at euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome. <sup>26</sup>Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me. <sup>27</sup>Beholde, therefore I did stretche out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way. <sup>28</sup>Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insaciab: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied. <sup>29</sup>Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith. <sup>30</sup>Howe weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these thinges, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman? <sup>31</sup>In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot that despiseth a reward, <sup>32</sup>But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband: <sup>33</sup>They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest giftes vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication. <sup>34</sup>And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou giuest a rewarde, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary. <sup>35</sup>Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord. <sup>36</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thy shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didest offer vnto them, <sup>37</sup>Beholde, therefore I wil gather all thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with al them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthines vnto them, that they may see all thy filthines. <sup>38</sup>And I wil iudge thee after ye maner of them that are harlots, and of them that shead blood, and I wil giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie. <sup>39</sup>I will also giue thee into their handes, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places. they shall strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare. <sup>40</sup>They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes. <sup>41</sup>And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more. <sup>42</sup>So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angrie. <sup>43</sup>Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, sayeth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations. <sup>44</sup>Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter. <sup>45</sup>Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite. <sup>46</sup>And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters. <sup>47</sup>Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes. <sup>48</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters. <sup>49</sup>Beholde, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hande of the poore and needie. <sup>50</sup>But they were hautie, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me. <sup>51</sup>Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done. <sup>52</sup>Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters. <sup>53</sup>Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, <sup>54</sup>That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest bee confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them. <sup>55</sup>And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state. <sup>56</sup>For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride, <sup>57</sup>Before thy wickednes was discouered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about her which despise thee on all sides. <sup>58</sup>Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, saith the Lord. <sup>59</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou didest despise the othe, in breaking the couenant. <sup>60</sup>Neuerthesse, I wil remember my couenant made with thee in ye dayes of thy youth, and I wil confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant. <sup>61</sup>Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, both thy elder and thy yonger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenat. <sup>62</sup>And I wil establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord, <sup>63</sup>That thou mayest remember, and be ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

CHAPTER 17

<sup>1</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel, <sup>3</sup>And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, and long wings, and ful of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar, <sup>4</sup>And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and caried it into the land of marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants. <sup>5</sup>Hee tooke also of the seede of the lande, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willowe tree. <sup>6</sup>And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds. <sup>7</sup>There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and beholde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spred forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation. <sup>8</sup>It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine. <sup>9</sup>Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof. <sup>10</sup>Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grewe. <sup>11</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>12</sup>Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, <sup>13</sup>And hath taken one of the Kings seede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, <sup>14</sup>That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it. <sup>15</sup>But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered? <sup>16</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake. <sup>17</sup>Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, mainteine him in the warre, when they

haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.<sup>18</sup>For he hath despised the othe, and broken ye couenant (yet lo, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.<sup>19</sup>Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken vpon his owne head.<sup>20</sup>And I wil spread my net vpon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespas that he hath committed against me.<sup>21</sup>And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shalbe scattered towarde all the windes: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.<sup>22</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also take off the top of this hie cedar, and wil set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I wil plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.<sup>23</sup>Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes and beare fruite, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.<sup>24</sup>And all the trees of the fiele shall knowe that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree, that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to florish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAPTER 18

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying, <sup>2</sup>What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?<sup>3</sup>As I liue, sayth the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die. <sup>5</sup>But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull, and right, <sup>6</sup>And hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath lyen with a menstruous woman, <sup>7</sup>Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his dettour: he that hath spoyled none by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, <sup>8</sup>And hath not giuen foorth vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawn his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man, <sup>9</sup>And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, he shall surely liue, sayth the Lord God. <sup>10</sup>If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a sheader of blood, if he do any one of these things, <sup>11</sup>Though he doe not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife, <sup>12</sup>Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination, <sup>13</sup>Or hath giuen forth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him. <sup>14</sup>But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like, <sup>15</sup>That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of ye house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife, <sup>16</sup>Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, <sup>17</sup>Neither hath withdrawn his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue. <sup>18</sup>His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dyeth in his iniquitie. <sup>19</sup>Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because ye sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue, <sup>20</sup>The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon him selfe. <sup>21</sup>But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die. <sup>22</sup>All his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousness that he hath done, he shall liue. <sup>23</sup>Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, sayth the Lord God? or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes? <sup>24</sup>But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his righteousness that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die. <sup>25</sup>Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall? <sup>26</sup>For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie, that he hath done. <sup>27</sup>Again when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule aliu. <sup>28</sup>Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die. <sup>29</sup>Yet saith ye house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall? <sup>30</sup>Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayth the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction. <sup>31</sup>Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make you a newe heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? <sup>32</sup>For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, sayth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAPTER 19

<sup>1</sup>Thou also, take vp a lamentation for the princes of Israel, <sup>2</sup>And say, Wherefore lay thy mother as a lyoness among the lyons? she nourished her yong ones among the lyons whelps, <sup>3</sup>And she brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the praye, and it deuoured men. <sup>4</sup>The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt. <sup>5</sup>Nowe when she sawe, that she had waited and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her whelps, and made him a lyon. <sup>6</sup>Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon, and learned to catch the praye, and he deuoured men. <sup>7</sup>And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring. <sup>8</sup>Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and laide their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit. <sup>9</sup>And they put him in prison and in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel. <sup>10</sup>Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought foorth fruite and branches by the abundant waters, <sup>11</sup>And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches. <sup>12</sup>But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the East winde dried vp her fruite: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it. <sup>13</sup>And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirstie ground. <sup>14</sup>And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruite, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation and shalbe for a lamentation.

CHAPTER 20

<sup>1</sup>And in the seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me. <sup>2</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>3</sup>Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, sayth the Lord God, when I am asked, I wil not answer you. <sup>4</sup>Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers, <sup>5</sup>And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iakob, and made my selfe knownen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God, <sup>6</sup>In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had provided for them, flowing with milke and hony which is pleasant among all lands, <sup>7</sup>Then sayd I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selues with the idols of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God. <sup>8</sup>But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the mids of the land of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whome they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt. <sup>10</sup>Nowe I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness. <sup>11</sup>And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them. <sup>12</sup>Moreouer I gaue them also my Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them. <sup>13</sup>But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wilderness to consume them, <sup>14</sup>But I had respect to my Name, that it shoulde not bee polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out. <sup>15</sup>Yet neuerthesse, I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all landes, <sup>16</sup>Because they cast away my iudgments, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles. <sup>17</sup>Neuerthesse, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroye them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness. <sup>18</sup>But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles. <sup>19</sup>I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, <sup>20</sup>And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall bee a signe betweene mee and you, that ye may knowe that I am the Lord your God. <sup>21</sup>Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe, hee shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness. <sup>22</sup>Neuerthesse I withdrew mine hand and had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth. <sup>23</sup>Yet I lift vp mine hande vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys, <sup>24</sup>Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue. <sup>26</sup>And I polluted them in their owne giftes in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth ye wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende, that they might know that I am ye Lord. <sup>27</sup>Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me. <sup>28</sup>For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offred there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings. <sup>29</sup>Then I saide vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day. <sup>30</sup>Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations? <sup>31</sup>For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I wil not answere you when I am asked. <sup>32</sup>Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We wil be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood, and stone. <sup>33</sup>As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, <sup>34</sup>And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, <sup>35</sup>And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there wil I pleade with you face to face. <sup>36</sup>Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the lande of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God. <sup>37</sup>And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bond of the couenant. <sup>38</sup>And I wil chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against mee: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the lande of Israel, and you shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>39</sup>As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes and with your idoles. <sup>40</sup>For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the lande, serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things. <sup>41</sup>I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before ye heathen. <sup>42</sup>And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to your fathers. <sup>43</sup>And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed. <sup>44</sup>And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God. <sup>45</sup>Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>46</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward the South, and prophecie toward the forest of the felde of the South, <sup>47</sup>And say to the forest of the South, Heare the worde of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame shall not bee quenched, and euery face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein. <sup>48</sup>And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not bee quenched. Then saide I, Ah Lord God, they say of me, Doeth not he speake parables?

<sup>1</sup>The word of ye Lord came to me againe, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie against the land of Israel. <sup>3</sup>And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I come against thee, and will drawe my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked. <sup>4</sup>Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sworde goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North, <sup>5</sup>That all flesh may knowe that I the Lord haue drawn my sworde out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more. <sup>6</sup>Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reines, and mourne bitterly before them. <sup>7</sup>And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answere, Because of the brute: for it commeth, and euery heart shall melt, and all handes shall be weake, and all mindes shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: beholde, it commeth, and shall be done, saith the Lord God. <sup>8</sup>Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde both sharpe, and fourbished. <sup>10</sup>It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it contemneth the rod of my sonne, as all other trees. <sup>11</sup>And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into ye hand of the slayer. <sup>12</sup>Cry, and houle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the terrours of the sword shall be vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh. <sup>13</sup>For it is a triall, and what shall this be, if the sworde contemne euen the rodde? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God. <sup>14</sup>Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sworde be doubled: let the sworde that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entring into their priue chambers. <sup>15</sup>I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter. <sup>16</sup>Get thee alone: goe to the right hande, or get thy selfe to the left hande, whithersoever thy face turneth. <sup>17</sup>I wil also smite mine hands together, and wil cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it. <sup>18</sup>The worde of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying, <sup>19</sup>Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sworde of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one lande, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie. <sup>20</sup>Appoint a way, that the sworde may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie. <sup>21</sup>And the King of Babel stode at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idoles, and looked in the liuer. <sup>22</sup>At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint capitaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to laye engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to builde a fortesse. <sup>23</sup>And it shalbe vnto them as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: but hee will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken. <sup>24</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to bee remembered, in discouering your rebellion, that in al your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand. <sup>25</sup>And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an ende, <sup>26</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shalbe no more the same: I wil exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie. <sup>27</sup>I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntill he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him. <sup>28</sup>And thou, sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn forth, and furbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering: <sup>29</sup>Whiles they see vanitie vnto thee, and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an ende. <sup>30</sup>Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, euen in the land of thine habitation. <sup>31</sup>And I wil powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skilfull to destroy. <sup>32</sup>Thou shalt bee in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the middes of the lande, and thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it. <sup>15</sup>And I wil scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy filthines to cease from thee. <sup>16</sup>And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>17</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and leade in the middes of the furnace: they are euen the drosse of siluer. <sup>19</sup>Therefore, thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem. <sup>20</sup>As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the furnace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and wil put you there and melt you. <sup>21</sup>I wil gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the midds thereof. <sup>22</sup>As siluer is melted in the midds of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midds thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you. <sup>23</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>24</sup>Sonne of man, say vnto her; Thou art the land, that is vnclane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath. <sup>25</sup>There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the midds thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the midds thereof. <sup>26</sup>Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vnclane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them. <sup>27</sup>Her princes in the midds thereof are like wolues, rauening the praye to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre. <sup>28</sup>And her prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken. <sup>29</sup>The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right. <sup>30</sup>And I sought for a man among them, that should make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none. <sup>31</sup>Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, sayth the Lord God.

CHAPTER 23

vermelon, <sup>15</sup>And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuite) <sup>16</sup>Assoone, I say, as she sawe them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea. <sup>17</sup>Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them. <sup>18</sup>So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister. <sup>19</sup>Yet she encreased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance ye dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt. <sup>20</sup>For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose yssue is like the yssue of horses. <sup>21</sup>Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by ye Egyptians: therefore ye paps of thy youth are thus. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, O Aholibah, thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side, <sup>23</sup>To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renoumed, riding vpon horses. <sup>24</sup>Euen these shall come against thee with charets, waggons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements. <sup>25</sup>And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire. <sup>26</sup>They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy fayre iewels. <sup>27</sup>Thus wil I make thy wickednes to cease from thee and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more. <sup>28</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil deliuer thee into the hand of them, whome thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whome thine heart is departed. <sup>29</sup>And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shalbe discovered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome. <sup>30</sup>I wil doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles. <sup>31</sup>Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore wil I giue her cup into thine hand. <sup>32</sup>Thus saith ye Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much. <sup>33</sup>Thou shalt be filled with drunkennes and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria. <sup>34</sup>Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>35</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome. <sup>36</sup>The Lord sayd moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations? <sup>37</sup>For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meate. <sup>38</sup>Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths. <sup>39</sup>For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house. <sup>40</sup>And howe much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, <sup>41</sup>And satest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle. <sup>42</sup>And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads. <sup>43</sup>Then I sayd vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end. <sup>44</sup>And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women. <sup>45</sup>And ye righteous men they shall iudge them, after the maner of harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands. <sup>46</sup>Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoyle, <sup>47</sup>And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swordes: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire. <sup>48</sup>Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse. <sup>49</sup>And they shall laye your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

<sup>1</sup>Again in the ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day. <sup>3</sup>Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it. <sup>4</sup>Gather the pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones. <sup>5</sup>Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein, <sup>6</sup>Because the Lord God sayth thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, whose skomme is therein, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it. <sup>7</sup>For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon on the ground to couer it with dust, <sup>8</sup>That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered. <sup>9</sup>Therefore thus saith ye Lord God, Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make ye burning great. <sup>10</sup>Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt. <sup>11</sup>Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skomme of it may be consumed. <sup>12</sup>She hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shall be consumed with fire. <sup>13</sup>Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednes: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee. <sup>14</sup>I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Also the worde of ye Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>16</sup>Sonne of man beholde, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe. <sup>17</sup>Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate not the bread of men. <sup>18</sup>So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded. <sup>19</sup>And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest so? <sup>20</sup>Then I answered them, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>21</sup>Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword. <sup>22</sup>And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men. <sup>23</sup>And your tyre shalbe vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another. <sup>24</sup>Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall do: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God. <sup>25</sup>Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, ye ioy of their honor, ye pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters? <sup>26</sup>That he that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares? <sup>27</sup>In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 25

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophecie against them, <sup>3</sup>And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, <sup>4</sup>Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke. <sup>5</sup>And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecote, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>6</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel, <sup>7</sup>Beholde, therefore I will stretche out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord. <sup>8</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, <sup>9</sup>Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshimoth, Baal-meon, and Karia-thaim. <sup>10</sup>I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, <sup>11</sup>And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, <sup>13</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sworde. <sup>14</sup>And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, sayth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred, <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will stretche out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast. <sup>17</sup>And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAPTER 26

<sup>1</sup>And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished, <sup>3</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues. <sup>4</sup>And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoile to ye nations. <sup>6</sup>And her daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>7</sup>For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people. <sup>8</sup>He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee. <sup>9</sup>He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres. <sup>10</sup>The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe. <sup>11</sup>With the hooues of his horses shall he treade downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sworde, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground. <sup>12</sup>And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water. <sup>13</sup>Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard. <sup>14</sup>I wil lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sounde of thy fall? and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murthered in the middes of thee? <sup>16</sup>Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sitte vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee. <sup>17</sup>And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, Howe art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renoumed citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein! <sup>18</sup>Nowe shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure. <sup>19</sup>For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like ye cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee, <sup>20</sup>When I shall cast thee downe with them that descende into the pitte, with the people of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe partes of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pitte, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the land of the liuing, <sup>21</sup>I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, sayth the Lord God.

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus, <sup>3</sup>And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the marte of the people for many yles, Thus sayeth the Lord God, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie. <sup>4</sup>Thy borders are in the middes of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfit beauty. <sup>5</sup>They haue made all thy shippe boardes of firre trees of Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee. <sup>6</sup>Of ye okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy banks of yuorie, brought out of ye yles of Chittim. <sup>7</sup>Fine linen with broydered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy sayle, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering. <sup>8</sup>The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots. <sup>9</sup>The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy marchandise. <sup>10</sup>They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shielde and helmet in thee: they set foorth thy beautie. <sup>11</sup>The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite. <sup>12</sup>They of Tarshish were thy marchantes for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tynne, and leade, which they brought to thy faires. <sup>13</sup>They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchadise. <sup>14</sup>They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules. <sup>15</sup>The men of Dedan were thy marchantes: and the marchandise of many yles were in thine handes: they brought thee for a present hornes, teeth, and peacocks. <sup>16</sup>They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with emerauds, purple, and broyded worke, and fine linen, and corall, and pearle. <sup>17</sup>They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheat of Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and balme. <sup>18</sup>They of Damascus were thy marchants in ye multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll. <sup>19</sup>They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and from, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise. <sup>20</sup>They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious clothes for the charets. <sup>21</sup>They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy marchants. <sup>22</sup>The marchats of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchantes: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with al precious stones and golde. <sup>23</sup>They of Haram and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were

thy marchants. <sup>24</sup>These were thy marchants in all sortes of things, in raiment of blewe silke, and of broydred woorke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy marchandise. <sup>25</sup>The shippes of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea. <sup>26</sup>Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the middes of the sea. <sup>27</sup>Thy riches and thy faires, thy marchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise and al thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine. <sup>28</sup>The suburbs shall shake at the sound of the crie of thy pilotes. <sup>29</sup>And all that handle the ore, the mariners and al the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their shippes, and shall stand vpon the land, <sup>30</sup>And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, and wallow theselues in the ashes. <sup>31</sup>They shall plucke off their heare for thee and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart and bitter mourning. <sup>32</sup>And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What cite is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea! <sup>33</sup>When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise. <sup>34</sup>When thou shalt be broken by ye seas in the depths of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fal. <sup>35</sup>All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraide and troubled in their countenance. <sup>36</sup>The marchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be any more.

CHAPTER 28

<sup>1</sup>The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, I am a God, I sit in the seat of God in ye mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and though thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, <sup>3</sup>Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee. <sup>4</sup>With thy wisdom and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures. <sup>5</sup>By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches. <sup>6</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God, <sup>7</sup>Behold, therefore I wil bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swordes against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnes. <sup>8</sup>They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea. <sup>9</sup>Wilt thou say then before him, that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the hands of him that slayeth thee. <sup>10</sup>Thou shalt die the death of the vncircumcised by the hands of stragers: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>11</sup>Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>12</sup>Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom and perfite in beautie. <sup>13</sup>Thou hast ben in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the diamonde, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, emeraude, and the carbuncle and golde: the woorkmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created. <sup>14</sup>Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the stones of fire. <sup>15</sup>Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee. <sup>16</sup>By the multitude of thy marchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the mids of the stones of fire. <sup>17</sup>Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnes: I wil cast thee to ye ground: I will lay thee before Kings that they may beholde thee. <sup>18</sup>Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy marchandise: therefore wil I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that beholde thee. <sup>19</sup>All they that knowe thee among the people, shalbe astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt thou be any more. <sup>20</sup>Againe, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>21</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it, <sup>22</sup>And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her. <sup>23</sup>For I wil send into her pestilence, and blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the middes of her: the enimie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>24</sup>And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord God. <sup>25</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shalbe sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iakob. <sup>26</sup>And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall bulde houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon al round about them that despise them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God.

CHAPTER 29

<sup>1</sup>In the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt. <sup>3</sup>Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath saide, The riuier is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe. <sup>4</sup>But I will put hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fishe of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales. <sup>5</sup>And I will leaue thee in the wilderness, both thee and al the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fal vpon ye open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giue thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of heauen. <sup>6</sup>And al the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue ben a staffe of reede to the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to stand vpriht. <sup>8</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee, <sup>9</sup>And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am ye Lord: because he hath said, The riuier is mine, and I haue made it, <sup>10</sup>Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt vtterly waste and desolate from the towre of Seuenh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Mores. <sup>11</sup>No foote of man shall passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourtie yeeres. <sup>12</sup>And I wil make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countries, that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and wil disperse them through the countreis. <sup>13</sup>Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the end of fourtie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered, <sup>14</sup>And I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the lande of their habitation, and they shalbe there a small kingdome. <sup>15</sup>It shall be the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more about the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations. <sup>16</sup>And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they knowe, that I am the Lord God. <sup>17</sup>In the seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel caused his armie to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it. <sup>19</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his armie. <sup>20</sup>I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued against it, because they wrought for me, sayth the Lord God. <sup>21</sup>In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 30

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Wo be vnto this day. <sup>3</sup>For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen. <sup>4</sup>And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe. <sup>5</sup>Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword. <sup>6</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, They also that mainteine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of Seuench shall they fall by the sword, sayth the Lord God. <sup>7</sup>And they shall be desolate in the middes of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the middes of the cities that are wasted. <sup>8</sup>And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed. <sup>9</sup>In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in shippes, to make the carelesse Mores aftaide, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth. <sup>10</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel. <sup>11</sup>For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine. <sup>12</sup>And I will make the riuers drye, and fell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>13</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt. <sup>14</sup>And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No. <sup>15</sup>And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of No. <sup>16</sup>And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorowe and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes dayly. <sup>17</sup>The yong men of Auen, and of Phibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie. <sup>18</sup>At Tehaphnehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie. <sup>19</sup>Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>21</sup>Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh King of Egypt: and lo, it shall not be boud vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and so make it strong, to hold the sworde. <sup>22</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh King of Egypt, and will breake his arme, that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sworde to fall out of his hande. <sup>23</sup>And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys. <sup>24</sup>And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, and put my sworde in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him. <sup>25</sup>But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sworde into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt. <sup>26</sup>And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among ye countreys, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 31

very hye, and his toppe was among the thicke boughes. <sup>4</sup>The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her litle riuers vnto all the trees of the field. <sup>5</sup>Therefore his height was exalted about all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out. <sup>6</sup>All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations. <sup>7</sup>Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters. <sup>8</sup>The cedars in the garden of God coule not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chessenut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like him in his beautie. <sup>9</sup>I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him. <sup>10</sup>Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, <sup>11</sup>I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse. <sup>12</sup>And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valles his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadowe, and haue forsaken him. <sup>13</sup>Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shall be vpon his branches, <sup>14</sup>So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoote vp their toppe among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men among them that goe downe to the pit. <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I couered the deepe for him, and I did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted. <sup>16</sup>I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth. <sup>17</sup>They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sworde, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadowe in the middes of the heathen. <sup>18</sup>To whom art thou thus like in glorie and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the middes of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sworde: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

CHAPTER 32

sayth the Lord God, The sworde of the King of Babel shall come vpon thee. <sup>12</sup>By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed. <sup>13</sup>I will destroy also all the beastes thereof from the great watersides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hoooves of beast trouble them. <sup>14</sup>Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>15</sup>When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am ye Lord. <sup>16</sup>This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>17</sup>In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying, <sup>18</sup>Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit. <sup>19</sup>Whome doest thou passe in beautie? goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised. <sup>20</sup>They shall fall in the middes of them that are slaine by the sword: shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude. <sup>21</sup>The most mighty and strong shall speake to him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the sworde. <sup>22</sup>Asshur is there and all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde. <sup>23</sup>Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are rounde about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing. <sup>24</sup>There is Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: al they are slaine and fallen by the sword which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit. <sup>25</sup>They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with al his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sworde: though they haue caused their feare in the land of ye liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pitte: they are laide in the middes of them, that be slaine. <sup>26</sup>There is Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude, their graues are round about them: al these vncircumcised were slaine by the sworde, though they caused their feare to be in ye land of the liuing. <sup>27</sup>And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone down to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laied their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shalbe vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the lande of the liuing. <sup>28</sup>Yea, thou shalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sworde. <sup>29</sup>There is Edom, his Kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laied by them that were slaine by the sworde: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit. <sup>30</sup>There be al the princes of the North, with al the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit. <sup>31</sup>Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God. <sup>32</sup>For I haue caused my feare to be in the lande of the liuing: and he shall be laid in the mids of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAPTER 33

sworde come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sworde come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hande. <sup>7</sup>So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the woorde at my mouth, and admonish them from me. <sup>8</sup>When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at thine hand. <sup>9</sup>Neuerthesse, If thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule. <sup>10</sup>Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, howe should we then liue? <sup>11</sup>Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill waies, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel? <sup>12</sup>Therefore thou sonne of man, saye vnto the children of thy people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousness in the day that he sinneth. <sup>13</sup>When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousness, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousness shall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same. <sup>14</sup>Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and right, <sup>15</sup>To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die. <sup>16</sup>None of his sinnes that he hath comitted, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawful, and right, he shall surely liue. <sup>17</sup>Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall. <sup>18</sup>When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby. <sup>19</sup>But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby. <sup>20</sup>Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his waies. <sup>21</sup>Also in the twelfth yere of our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten. <sup>22</sup>Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in ye euening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumme. <sup>23</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, and saide, <sup>24</sup>Sonne of man, these that dwel in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the lande: but we are many, therefore the lande shall be giuen vs in possession. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and sheade blood: should ye then possesse the land? <sup>26</sup>Ye leane vpon your swordes: ye worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land? <sup>27</sup>Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beastes to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence. <sup>28</sup>For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease: and the moutaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through. <sup>29</sup>Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue laid ye land desolate and wast, because of al their abominations, that they haue committed. <sup>30</sup>Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wals and in the dores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord. <sup>31</sup>For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse. <sup>32</sup>And loe, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy woordes, but they doe them not. <sup>33</sup>And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAPTER 34

<sup>1</sup>And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepherdes of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepherds, Wo be vnto the shepherds of Israel, that feede them selues: should not the shepherds feede the flockes? <sup>3</sup>Yee eate the fat, and yee clothe you with the wooll: yee kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe. <sup>4</sup>The weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bounde vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue yee ruled them. <sup>5</sup>And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of all the beastes of the felde. <sup>6</sup>My sheepe wandred through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them. <sup>7</sup>Therefore ye shepherds, heare the woordes of the Lord. <sup>8</sup>As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the felde, hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fedde them selues, and fedde not my sheepe, <sup>9</sup>Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherds. <sup>10</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feede them selues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them. <sup>11</sup>For thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out. <sup>12</sup>As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so wil I seeke out my sheepe and wil deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day, <sup>13</sup>And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreis, and will bring them to their owne lande, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the country. <sup>14</sup>I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel. <sup>15</sup>I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayth the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driue away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake but I wil destroy the fat and the strong, and I wil feede them with iudgement. <sup>17</sup>Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I iudge betweene sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates. <sup>18</sup>Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but yee must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete? <sup>19</sup>And my sheepe eate that which yee haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete. <sup>20</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God vnto them, behold, I, euen I wil iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe. <sup>21</sup>Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht al the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, <sup>22</sup>Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, and I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe. <sup>23</sup>And I wil set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shall feede them, euen my seruant Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shalbe their shepherd. <sup>24</sup>And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shalbe the prince amog them. I the Lord haue spoken it. <sup>25</sup>And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euil beastes to cease out of the land: and they shall dwel safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods. <sup>26</sup>And I wil set them, as a blessing, euen roud about my mountaine: and I will cause rayne to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing. <sup>27</sup>And the tree of the felde shall yeeld her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shalbe safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselves of them. <sup>28</sup>And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely and none shall make them afayd. <sup>29</sup>And I will rayse vp for them a plant of renoume, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more. <sup>30</sup>Thus shall they vnderstande, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, sayth the Lord God. <sup>31</sup>And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAPTER 35

CHAPTER 36

<sup>1</sup>Also thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord. <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, because the enemy hath sayde against you, Aha, euen the hye places of the world are ours in possession, <sup>3</sup>Therefore prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lippes and tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people, <sup>4</sup>Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about. <sup>5</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my lande for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despitefull mindes to cast it out for a pray. <sup>6</sup>Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the shame of the heathen, <sup>7</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame. <sup>8</sup>But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come. <sup>9</sup>For behold, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sown. <sup>10</sup>And I wil multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shalbe inhabited, and the desolate places shalbe builded. <sup>11</sup>And I wil multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall encrease, and bring fruite, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestowe benefites vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth depriue them of men. <sup>13</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, <sup>14</sup>Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, sayth the Lord God, <sup>15</sup>Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fal any more, saith the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>17</sup>Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous. <sup>18</sup>Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it. <sup>19</sup>And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them. <sup>20</sup>And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they sayd of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land. <sup>21</sup>But I faoured mine holy Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went. <sup>22</sup>Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith ye Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which yee polluted among the heathen whither ye went. <sup>23</sup>And I wil sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shalbe sanctified in you before their eyes. <sup>24</sup>For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your owne land. <sup>25</sup>Then wil I powre cleane water vpon you, and ye shalbe cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles wil I cense you. <sup>26</sup>A newe heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit wil I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh. <sup>27</sup>And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and do them. <sup>28</sup>And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shalbe my people, and I will be your God. <sup>29</sup>I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you. <sup>30</sup>For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen. <sup>31</sup>Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthie to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations. <sup>32</sup>Be it knowen vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, sayth the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes. <sup>33</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, What time as I shall haue censed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwel in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe builded. <sup>34</sup>And the desolate land shalbe tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by. <sup>35</sup>For they sayd, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited. <sup>36</sup>Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord builde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and wil do it. <sup>37</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of ye house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke. <sup>38</sup>As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 37

<sup>1</sup>The hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caryed me out in ye spirit of ye Lord, and set me downe in ye mids of the field, which was full of bones. <sup>2</sup>And he led me round about by them, and beholde, they were very many in the open field, and lo, they were very drie. <sup>3</sup>And he sayde vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest. <sup>4</sup>Again he sayde vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye dry bones, heare the word of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I wil cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue. <sup>6</sup>And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord. <sup>7</sup>So I

prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone. <sup>8</sup>And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them. <sup>9</sup>Then sayd he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus sayth the Lord God, Come from the foure windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these slayne, that they may liue. <sup>10</sup>So I prophecied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie. <sup>11</sup>Then he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off. <sup>12</sup>Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the lande of Israel. <sup>13</sup>And yee shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres, <sup>14</sup>And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, sayth the Lord. <sup>15</sup>The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, <sup>16</sup>Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a peece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions the take another peece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to al the house of Israel his companions. <sup>17</sup>And thou shalt ioine the one to another into one tree, and they shalbe as one in thine hand. <sup>18</sup>And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these? <sup>19</sup>Thou shalt answere them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I wil take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hande of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shalbe one in mine hand. <sup>20</sup>And the peece of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight. <sup>21</sup>And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and wil gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land. <sup>22</sup>And I will make them one people in the lande, vpon the mountaines of Israel, and one king shalbe king to them all: and they shalbe no more two peoples, neither bee deuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes. <sup>23</sup>Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cense them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>24</sup>And Daudid my seruant shalbe king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepherd: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them. <sup>25</sup>And they shall dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen vnto Iakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwel therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Daudid shall bee their prince for euer. <sup>26</sup>Moreouer, I will make a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I wil place them, and multiply them, and wil set my Sanctuarie among them for euermore. <sup>27</sup>My tabernacle also shalbe with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shalbe my people. <sup>28</sup>Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lord do sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

CHAPTER 38

with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe. <sup>9</sup>Thou shalt ascende and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bandes, and many people with thee. <sup>10</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at ye same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke euil thoughts. <sup>11</sup>And thou shalt say, I wil go vp to the land that hath no walled towres: I will goe to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, <sup>12</sup>Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hande vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the middes of the land. <sup>13</sup>Sheba and Dedan, and the marchantes of Tarshish with all the lions thereof shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to cary away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray? <sup>14</sup>Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and saye vnto Gog, Thus sayeth the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not knowe it? <sup>15</sup>And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie. <sup>16</sup>And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my lande, that the heathen may knowe mee, when I shalbe sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes. <sup>17</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, by ye hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeeeres, that I woulde bring thee vpon them? <sup>18</sup>At the same time also whe Gog shall come against the land of Israel, sayth the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger. <sup>19</sup>For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel, <sup>20</sup>So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the field and al that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and al ye men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground. <sup>21</sup>For I will call for a sworde against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother. <sup>22</sup>And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and hailestones, fire, and brimstone. <sup>23</sup>Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAPTER 39

<sup>1</sup>Therefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, ye chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal. <sup>2</sup>And I will destroy thee and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel: <sup>3</sup>And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand. <sup>4</sup>Thou shalt fal vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered foule and beast of the fielde to be deuoured. <sup>5</sup>Thou shalt fall vpon the open fielde: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God. <sup>6</sup>And I will sende a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the yles, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord. <sup>7</sup>So will I make mine holy Name known in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel. <sup>8</sup>Beholde, it is come, and it is done, sayeth the Lord God: and this is the day whereof I haue spoken. <sup>9</sup>And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the stauies in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seven yeeeres. <sup>10</sup>So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, sayeth the Lord God. <sup>11</sup>And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for burial in Israel, euen the valley whereby men go toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog. <sup>12</sup>And seven moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of the, that they may clense the land. <sup>13</sup>Yea, all the people of the lande shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God. <sup>14</sup>And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the lande with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon ye ground, and clense it: they shall search to the ende of seven moneths. <sup>15</sup>And the traualers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog. <sup>16</sup>And also the name of the citie shalbe Hamonah: thus shall they clense the land. <sup>17</sup>And thou sonne of man, thus sayeth the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the fielde, Assemble your selues, and come gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood. <sup>18</sup>Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beastes of Bashan. <sup>19</sup>And ye shall eate fat till you be full, and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you. <sup>20</sup>Thus you shalbe filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with al men of warre, sayth the Lord God. <sup>21</sup>And I wil set my glory among the heathe, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layed vpon them. <sup>22</sup>So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth. <sup>23</sup>And the heathen shall knowe, that ye house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into ye hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword. <sup>24</sup>According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto the, and hid my face from them. <sup>25</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and wil be ielous for mine holy Name, <sup>26</sup>After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, whe they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any. <sup>27</sup>When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations, <sup>28</sup>Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, <sup>29</sup>Neither wil I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAPTER 40

<sup>1</sup>In the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hande of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither. <sup>2</sup>Into the lande of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South. <sup>3</sup>And he brought me thither, and beholde, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stode at the gate. <sup>4</sup>And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the buylding with one reede, and the height with one reede. <sup>6</sup>Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the stayres thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad. <sup>7</sup>And euery chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede. <sup>8</sup>He measured also the porche of the gate within with one reede. <sup>9</sup>Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the postes thereof, of two

cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward. <sup>10</sup>And the chambers of the gate Eastwarde, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side. <sup>11</sup>And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites. <sup>12</sup>The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side and sixe cubites on that side. <sup>13</sup>He measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore. <sup>14</sup>He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about. <sup>15</sup>And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites. <sup>16</sup>And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went rounde about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees. <sup>17</sup>Then brought he me into the outwarde court, and lo, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement. <sup>18</sup>And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath. <sup>19</sup>Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubits Eastward and Northward. <sup>20</sup>And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof. <sup>21</sup>And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites. <sup>22</sup>And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches therof were before them. <sup>23</sup>And the gate of the inner court stode ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites. <sup>24</sup>After that, he brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures. <sup>25</sup>And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites. <sup>26</sup>And there were seuen steps to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof. <sup>27</sup>And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundreth cubites. <sup>28</sup>And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures, <sup>29</sup>And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof rounde about, it was fiftie cubites long and fiue and twentie cubites broad. <sup>30</sup>And the arches round about were fiue and twenty cubites long, and fiue cubites broad. <sup>31</sup>And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes. <sup>32</sup>Againe he brought me into ye inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures. <sup>33</sup>And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad. <sup>34</sup>And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes. <sup>35</sup>After he brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, <sup>36</sup>The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubits, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites. <sup>37</sup>And the postes thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps. <sup>38</sup>And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering. <sup>39</sup>And in the porch of the gate stode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering. <sup>40</sup>And at the side beyond the steppes, at the entrie of the North gate stode two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables. <sup>41</sup>Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice. <sup>42</sup>And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layde the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice. <sup>43</sup>And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering. <sup>44</sup>And without the inner gate were ye chambers of the singers in the inner Court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North. <sup>45</sup>And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the house. <sup>46</sup>And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among ye sonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him. <sup>47</sup>So he measured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubits broad, eue four square: likewise the altar that was before ye house. <sup>48</sup>And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side. <sup>49</sup>The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and ye breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

<sup>1</sup>Afterward, hee brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, sixe cubites broad on the one side, and sixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle. <sup>2</sup>And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites. <sup>3</sup>Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites. <sup>4</sup>So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he sayde vnto mee, This is the most holy place. <sup>5</sup>After, he measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber four cubites rounde about the house, on euery side. <sup>6</sup>And the chambers were chamber vpon chaber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house. <sup>7</sup>And it was large and went rounde mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpwarde, rounde about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes. <sup>8</sup>I sawe also the house hie rounde about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of fixe great cubites. <sup>9</sup>The thickenesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within. <sup>10</sup>And betweene the chambers was the widenes of twentie cubites round about the House on euery side. <sup>11</sup>And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about. <sup>12</sup>Nowe the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thick, round about, and ye length ninetie cubites. <sup>13</sup>So he measured the house an hundreth cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long. <sup>14</sup>Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundreth cubites. <sup>15</sup>And hee measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court. <sup>16</sup>The postes and the narrowe windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood rounde about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled. <sup>17</sup>And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall rounde about within and without it was sieled according to the measure. <sup>18</sup>And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces. <sup>19</sup>So that the face of a man was towarde the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about. <sup>20</sup>From the grounde vnto aboute the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple. <sup>21</sup>The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie. <sup>22</sup>The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, 'This is the table that shalbe before the Lord. <sup>23</sup>And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores. <sup>24</sup>And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore. <sup>25</sup>And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palmetrees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without. <sup>26</sup>And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon ye sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAPTER 42

<sup>1</sup>Then brought hee me into the vtter court by the way towarde the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North. <sup>2</sup>Before ye length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad. <sup>3</sup>Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes. <sup>4</sup>And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores towarde the North. <sup>5</sup>Nowe the chambers aboute were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the middes of the building. <sup>6</sup>For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground. <sup>7</sup>And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long. <sup>8</sup>For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites. <sup>9</sup>And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court. <sup>10</sup>The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court towarde the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building. <sup>11</sup>And the way before them was after ye maner of the chambers, which were toward ye North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their facions, and according to their doores. <sup>12</sup>And according to ye doores of ye chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth. <sup>13</sup>The said he vnto me, The North chambers and ye South chambers which are before ye separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto ye Lord, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy. <sup>14</sup>When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garmentes wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garmentes, and so shall approach to those things, which are for the people. <sup>15</sup>Nowe when he had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is towarde the East, and measured it round about. <sup>16</sup>He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fife hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about. <sup>17</sup>He measured also the Northside, fife hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede rounde about. <sup>18</sup>And he measured the South side fife hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. <sup>19</sup>He turned about also to the West side, and measured fife hundreth reedes with the measuring reede. <sup>20</sup>He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fife hundreth reedes long, and fife hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAPTER 43

<sup>1</sup>Afterward he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth towarde the East. <sup>2</sup>And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie. <sup>3</sup>And the vision which I saw was like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuier Chebar: and I fell vpon my face. <sup>4</sup>And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is towarde the East. <sup>5</sup>So the Spirite tooke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house. <sup>6</sup>And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stode a man by me, <sup>7</sup>Which saide vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of their Kings in their high places. <sup>8</sup>Albeit they set their thresholdes by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherfore I haue consumed them in my wrath. <sup>9</sup>Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer. <sup>10</sup>Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure ye paterne. <sup>11</sup>And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the House, and ye paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them. <sup>12</sup>This is the description of the house, It shalbe vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limites thereof round about shalbe most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house. <sup>13</sup>And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an had breadth, euen the bottome shalbe a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof rounde about shalbe a spanne: and this shalbe the height of the altar. <sup>14</sup>And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shalbe two cubites: and the breadth one cubite, and from the litle piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite. <sup>15</sup>So the altar shalbe foure cubites, and from the altar vpward shalbe foure hornes. <sup>16</sup>And the altar shalbe twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and fouresquare in the foure corners thereof. <sup>17</sup>And ye frame shalbe foureteene cubites long, and foureteene broad in the fouresquare corners thereof, and the border about it shalbe halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shalbe a cubite about, and the steps thereof shalbe turned towarde ye East. <sup>18</sup>And he said vnto me, Sone of man, thus saith ye Lord God, These are ye ordinances of ye altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon. <sup>19</sup>And thou shalt giue to the Priestes, and to the Leuites, that be of the seede of Zadok, which approach vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering. <sup>20</sup>And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou clense it, and reconcile it. <sup>21</sup>Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie. <sup>22</sup>But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall clense ye altar, as they did clense it with the bullocke. <sup>23</sup>When thou hast made an ende of clensing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish. <sup>24</sup>And thou shalt offer them before ye Lord, and the Priestes shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto ye Lord. <sup>25</sup>Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goate for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish. <sup>26</sup>Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and clense it, and consecrate it. <sup>27</sup>And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priestes shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAPTER 44

<sup>1</sup>Then he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut. <sup>2</sup>Then saide the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe shut, and shall not bee opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shalbe shut. <sup>3</sup>It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porche of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same. <sup>4</sup>Then brought he mee toward the North gate before the House: and when I looked, beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning al the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and al the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie, <sup>6</sup>And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to ye house of Israel, Thus saith ye Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of al your abominations, <sup>7</sup>Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuarie strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to bee in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine house, when yee offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations. <sup>8</sup>For yee haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie. <sup>9</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel, <sup>10</sup>Neither yet ye Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from thee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie. <sup>11</sup>And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them. <sup>12</sup>Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against the, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity, <sup>13</sup>And they shall not come neere vnto me to do ye office of ye Priest vnto me, neyther shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue comitted. <sup>14</sup>And I will make them keepers of ye watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein. <sup>15</sup>But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge. <sup>17</sup>And whe they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come vpon the while they serue in ye gates of the inner court, and within. <sup>18</sup>They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heades, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not girde them selues in the sweating places. <sup>19</sup>But when they goe forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments. <sup>20</sup>They shall not also shaue their heades, nor suffer their lockes to growe long, but rounde their heades. <sup>21</sup>Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court. <sup>22</sup>Neither shall they take for their wiues a widowe, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest. <sup>23</sup>And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discern betweene the vncleane and the cleane. <sup>24</sup>And in controuersie they shall stande to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths. <sup>25</sup>And they shall come at no dead person to defile theselues, except at their father, or mother, or sone, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they be defiled. <sup>26</sup>And when he is clensed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes. <sup>27</sup>And when he goeth into ye Sanctuarie vnto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuarie, he shall offer his sinne offering, saith ye Lord God. <sup>28</sup>And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye giue them no possessio in Israel, for I am their possession. <sup>29</sup>They shall eate the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering, and euery dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs. <sup>30</sup>And all the first of all the first borne, and euery oblation, euen all of euery sort of your oblations shall be the Priestes. Ye shall also giue vnto the Priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house. <sup>31</sup>The Priests shall not eate of any thing, that is dead, or torne, whether it be foule or beast.

CHAPTER 45

<sup>1</sup>Moreover when yee shall deuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an holy portion of the land, fue and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about. <sup>2</sup>Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuarie fue hundreth in length with fue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites rounde about for the suburbs thereof. <sup>3</sup>And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fue and twentie thousande, and the breadth of tenne thousande: and in it shalbe the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place. <sup>4</sup>The holy portion of the lande shalbe the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shalbe a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie. <sup>5</sup>And in the fue and twentie thousande of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers. <sup>6</sup>Also ye shall appoynt the possession of the citie, fue thousand broad, and fue and twentie thousand log ouer against the oblation of ye holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And a portion shalbe for the prince on ye one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border. <sup>8</sup>In this lande shalbe his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to ye house of Israel, according to their tribes. <sup>9</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgment and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God. <sup>10</sup>Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath. <sup>11</sup>The Ephah and the Bath shalbe equal: a Bath shall conteyne the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer. <sup>12</sup>And the shekel shalbe twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and fue and twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shalbe your Maneh. <sup>13</sup>This is the oblation that ye shall offer, ye sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley. <sup>14</sup>Concerning ye ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of ye Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer) <sup>15</sup>And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of ye fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, sayth the Lord God. <sup>16</sup>All the people of the lande shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel. <sup>17</sup>And it shalbe ye princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the newe moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel. <sup>18</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense the Sanctuarie. <sup>19</sup>And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court. <sup>20</sup>And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceived: so shall you reconcile the house. <sup>21</sup>In the first moneth in the foureteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and ye shall eate vnleauened bread. <sup>22</sup>And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for him selfe, and for all the people of the lande, a bullocke for a sinne offering. <sup>23</sup>And in the seuen dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offering. <sup>24</sup>And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an Hin of oyle for an Ephah. <sup>25</sup>In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he do the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAPTER 46

<sup>1</sup>Thus sayth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shalbe opened. <sup>2</sup>And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stande by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euenig. <sup>3</sup>Likewise the people of the lande shall worshippe at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones. <sup>4</sup>And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shalbe sixe lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish. <sup>5</sup>And the meat offering shalbe an Ephah for a ram: and the meate offering for the lambs a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. <sup>6</sup>And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ram: they shalbe without blemish. <sup>7</sup>And he shall prepare a meat offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambes according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. <sup>8</sup>And when the prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porche of that gate, and hee shall go forth by the way thereof. <sup>9</sup>But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feastes, hee that entreteth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreteth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it. <sup>10</sup>And the prince shall be in the middes of them: hee shall go in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together. <sup>11</sup>And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meat offering shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah. <sup>12</sup>Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, hee shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate. <sup>13</sup>Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning. <sup>14</sup>And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the thirde part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meate offering shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euery morning, for a continual burnt offering. <sup>16</sup>Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, and it shall bee their possession by inheritance. <sup>17</sup>But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall bee his to the yere of libertie: after, it shall returne to ye prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them. <sup>18</sup>Moreouer the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession. <sup>19</sup>After, he brought me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestess, which stode toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them. <sup>20</sup>Then saide he vnto me, This is the place where the Priestess shall see the trespass offering and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meat offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, to sanctifie ye people. <sup>21</sup>Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court. <sup>22</sup>In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourty cubits long, and thirty broad: these foure corners were of one measure. <sup>23</sup>And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles rounde about. <sup>24</sup>Then said he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall see the sacrifice of the people.

CHAPTER 47

of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Ephraim. <sup>6</sup>And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben. <sup>7</sup>And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah. <sup>8</sup>And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part shall be the offering which they shall offer of fūe and twentie thousande reedes broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the Westside, and the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes of it. <sup>9</sup>The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fūe and twentie thousande long, and of ten thousand the breadth. <sup>10</sup>And for them, euen for the Priestes shalbe this holy oblation, towarde the North fūe and twentie thousande long, and towarde the West, ten thousande broad, and towarde the East ten thousand broad, and towarde the South fūe and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shalbe in the middes thereof. <sup>11</sup>It shalbe for the Priestes that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray. <sup>12</sup>Therefore this oblation of the land that is offred, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites. <sup>13</sup>And ouer against the border of the Priestes the Leuites shall haue fūe and twentie thousande long, and ten thousande broad: all the length shalbe fūe and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousande. <sup>14</sup>And they shall not sel of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first frutes of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And the fūe thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fūe and twentie thousande, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shalbe in the middes thereof. <sup>16</sup>And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fūe hundreth and foure thousand, and the South parte fūe hundreth and foure thousande, and the East parte fūe hundreth and foure thousande, and the West parte fūe hundreth and foure thousande. <sup>17</sup>And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the South two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the East two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the West two hundreth and fiftie. <sup>18</sup>And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastwarde, and ten thousand Westwarde: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for foode vnto them that serue in the citie. <sup>19</sup>And they that serue in the citie, shalbe of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein. <sup>20</sup>All the oblation shalbe fūe and twentie thousand with fūe and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie. <sup>21</sup>And the residue shalbe for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fūe and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fūe and twentie thousande towarde the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof. <sup>22</sup>Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shall be the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall be the princes. <sup>23</sup>And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East parte vnto the West parte Benjamin shalbe a portion. <sup>24</sup>And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion. <sup>25</sup>And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Isshachar a portion. <sup>26</sup>And by the border of Isshachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion. <sup>27</sup>And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion. <sup>28</sup>And by the border of Gad at the South side, towarde Temath, the border shall be euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the riuer, that runneth into the maine sea. <sup>29</sup>This is the lande, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God. <sup>30</sup>And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fūe hundreth, and foure thousande measures. <sup>31</sup>And the gates of the citie shalbe after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northwarde, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui. <sup>32</sup>And at the East side fūe hundreth and foure thousande, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beiamin, and one gate of Dan. <sup>33</sup>And at the South side, fūe hundreth and foure thousande measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Isshachar, and one gate of Zebulun. <sup>34</sup>At the West side, fūe hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali. <sup>35</sup>It was rounde about eighteene thousande measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, The Lord is there

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>In the thirde yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it. <sup>2</sup>And ye Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand; with parte of the vessels of the house of God, which he caryed into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie. <sup>3</sup>And the King spake vnto Ashpenaz the master of his Eunuches, that he shoulde bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the Kings seede, and of the princes: <sup>4</sup>Children in whome was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instruct in all wisdom, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stande in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans. <sup>5</sup>And the King appointed them prouision euery day of a portion of the Kings meate, and and of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing them three yeere, that at the ende thereof, they might stande before the King. <sup>6</sup>Nowe among these were certeine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. <sup>7</sup>Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego. <sup>8</sup>But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee woulde not defile him selfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe. <sup>9</sup>(Nowe God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches) <sup>10</sup>And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King. <sup>11</sup>Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, <sup>12</sup>Proue thy seruants, I beseeche thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eate, and water to drinke. <sup>13</sup>Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruantes. <sup>14</sup>So hee consented to them in this matter, an proued them ten dayes. <sup>15</sup>And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fayrer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate. <sup>16</sup>Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse. <sup>17</sup>As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in al learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames. <sup>18</sup>Nowe when the time was expired, that the King had appoynted to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar. <sup>19</sup>And the King communed with them: and among them al was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stode they before the king. <sup>20</sup>And in all matters of wisdom, and vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, hee founde them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his realme. <sup>21</sup>And Daniel was vnto the first yeere of king Cyrus.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>And in the seconde yeere of the raygne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirite was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him. <sup>2</sup>Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stode before the King. <sup>3</sup>And the King sayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirite was troubled to knowe the dreame. <sup>4</sup>Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King, lue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shewe the interpretation. <sup>5</sup>And the King answered and sayd to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes. <sup>6</sup>But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receyue of me gifts and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it. <sup>7</sup>They answered againe, and sayde, Let the King shewe his seruantes the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof. <sup>8</sup>Then the King answered, and sayd, I knowe certainly that ye woulde gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me. <sup>9</sup>But if ye will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time bee changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if yee can declare me the interpretation thereof. <sup>10</sup>Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lorde that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean. <sup>11</sup>For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh. <sup>12</sup>For this cause the king was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel. <sup>13</sup>And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slayne: and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death. <sup>14</sup>Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chiefe stewarde, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel. <sup>15</sup>Yea, he answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel. <sup>16</sup>So Daniel went and desired the king that he woulde giue him leasure and that he woulde shewe the king the interpretation thereof. <sup>17</sup>The Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, <sup>18</sup>That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of ye wise men of Babel. <sup>19</sup>Then was the secret reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel prayed the God of heauen. <sup>20</sup>And Daniel answered and sayde, The Name of God be prayed for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his, <sup>21</sup>And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand. <sup>22</sup>Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in darkenes, and the light dwelleth with him. <sup>23</sup>I thanke thee and prayse thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen mee wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me nowe the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter. <sup>24</sup>Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeyned to destroy the wise men of Babel: he went and sayde thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation. <sup>25</sup>Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and sayd thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation. <sup>26</sup>Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof? <sup>27</sup>Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayd, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southsayers declare vnto the King. <sup>28</sup>But there is a God in heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine heade vpon thy bed, is this. <sup>29</sup>O King, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughts came into thy mind, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reueyleth secretes, telleth thee, what shall come. <sup>30</sup>As for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart. <sup>31</sup>O King, thou sawest, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible. <sup>32</sup>This images head was of fine golde, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse, <sup>33</sup>His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay. <sup>34</sup>Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces. <sup>35</sup>Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sommer floures, and the winde caryed them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth. <sup>36</sup>This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof. <sup>37</sup>O King, thou art a king of Kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glorie. <sup>38</sup>And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them al: thou art this heade of golde. <sup>39</sup>And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth. <sup>40</sup>And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruiet all. <sup>41</sup>Where as thou sawest the feete and toes, parte of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shalbe deuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth. <sup>42</sup>And as the toes of the feete were parte of yron, and parte of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken. <sup>43</sup>And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with the seede of men: but they shall not ioine one with another, as yron can not bee mixed with clay. <sup>44</sup>And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy al these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer. <sup>45</sup>Where as thou sawest, that the stone was cut of the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure. <sup>46</sup>Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meate offrings, and sweete odours vnto him. <sup>47</sup>Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and said, I know of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the reuiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret. <sup>48</sup>So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great gifts. Hee made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel. <sup>49</sup>Then Daniel made request to the King, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the gate of the King.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Nebuchad-nezzar the King made an image of gold, whose height was three score cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel. <sup>2</sup>Then Nebuchad-nezzar ye King sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes, and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp. <sup>3</sup>So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp. <sup>4</sup>Then an herald cried aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, nations, and languages, <sup>5</sup>That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp, <sup>6</sup>And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre bee cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornace. <sup>7</sup>Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp. <sup>8</sup>By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Jewes. <sup>9</sup>For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, lue for euer. <sup>10</sup>Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, <sup>11</sup>And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fierie fornace. <sup>12</sup>There are certaine Iewes whome thou hast set ouer the charge of ye prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither wil they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp. <sup>13</sup>Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King. <sup>14</sup>And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp? <sup>15</sup>Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine handes? <sup>16</sup>Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not carefull to answere thee in this matter. <sup>17</sup>Beholde, our God whom we serue, is able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King. <sup>18</sup>But if not, bee it knownen to thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp. <sup>19</sup>Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat. <sup>20</sup>And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace. <sup>21</sup>So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornace. <sup>22</sup>Therefore, because the Kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. <sup>23</sup>And these three men Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace. <sup>24</sup>Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and saide vnto his counsellers, Did not wee cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, O King. <sup>25</sup>And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God. <sup>26</sup>Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, the seruants of the hie God goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire. <sup>27</sup>Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heare of their head was burnt, neither was their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them. <sup>28</sup>Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yielded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God. <sup>29</sup>Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shalbe drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort. <sup>30</sup>Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel. (Daniel) Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you: : (Daniel) I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward me. : (Daniel) How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>I Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace, <sup>2</sup>Saw a dreame, which made me afraide, and the thoughtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me. <sup>3</sup>Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame. <sup>4</sup>So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the sothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof, <sup>5</sup>Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirite of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying, <sup>6</sup>O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the enchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene and the interpretation thereof. <sup>7</sup>Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I sawe a tree in the middes of the earth and the height thereof was great: <sup>8</sup>A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth. <sup>9</sup>The boughes thereof were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beastes of the felde, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fedde of it. <sup>10</sup>I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen, <sup>11</sup>And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches. <sup>12</sup>Neuerthelesse leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the felde. <sup>13</sup>Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him. <sup>14</sup>The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaunde was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men. <sup>15</sup>This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee. <sup>16</sup>Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and saide, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies. <sup>17</sup>The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world, <sup>18</sup>Whose leaues were faire and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beastes of the felde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit, <sup>19</sup>It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth. <sup>20</sup>Where as the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the felde, and let it be wette with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the felde, till seuen times passe ouer him, <sup>21</sup>This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King. <sup>22</sup>That they shall drie thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the felde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom so euer he will. <sup>23</sup>Where as they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: lo, let there be an healing of thine errour. <sup>25</sup>All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar. <sup>26</sup>At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel. <sup>27</sup>And the King spake and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie? <sup>28</sup>While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchadnezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, <sup>29</sup>And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whosoever he will. <sup>30</sup>The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchadnezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growen as eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes. <sup>31</sup>And at the ende of these dayes I Nebuchadnezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I prayed and honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation. <sup>32</sup>And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou? <sup>33</sup>At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours and my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me. <sup>34</sup>Now therefore I Nebuchadnezzar prayse and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand. <sup>2</sup>And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchadnezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein. <sup>3</sup>Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them. <sup>4</sup>They dranke wine and prayed the gods of golde, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone. <sup>5</sup>At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlestick vpon the plaister of the wall of ye Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote. <sup>6</sup>Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughtes troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other. <sup>7</sup>Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome. <sup>8</sup>Then came all the Kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation. <sup>9</sup>Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonished. <sup>10</sup>Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed. <sup>11</sup>There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchadnezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers, <sup>12</sup>Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtles) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whome the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and hee will declare the interpretation. <sup>13</sup>Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie? <sup>14</sup>Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee. <sup>15</sup>Now therefore, wisemen and astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing. <sup>16</sup>Then heard I of thee, that thou couldst shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubtles: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome. <sup>17</sup>Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy giftes to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation. <sup>18</sup>O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour and glory. <sup>19</sup>And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whome he would: whome he would he set vp, and whome he would he put downe. <sup>20</sup>But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him. <sup>21</sup>And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till he knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whosoever he pleaseth. <sup>22</sup>And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, <sup>23</sup>But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast prayed the gods of siluer and golde, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified. <sup>24</sup>Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing. <sup>25</sup>And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL UPHARSIN. <sup>26</sup>This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath nombred thy kingdome, and hath finished it. <sup>27</sup>TEKEL, thou art wayed in the balance, and art found too light. <sup>28</sup>PERES, thy kingdome is deuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians. <sup>29</sup>Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome. <sup>30</sup>The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine. <sup>31</sup>And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeere olde.

<sup>1</sup>It pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundred and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome, <sup>2</sup>And ouer these, three rulers (of whome Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage. <sup>3</sup>Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme. <sup>4</sup>Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him. <sup>5</sup>Then sayd these men, We shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God. <sup>6</sup>Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayde thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer. <sup>7</sup>All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons. <sup>8</sup>Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree. <sup>10</sup>Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and prayed his God, as he did aforetime. <sup>11</sup>Then these men assembled, and founde Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God. <sup>12</sup>So they came and, spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make a request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not. <sup>13</sup>Then answered they, and sayd vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day. <sup>14</sup>When the King heard these wordes, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him. <sup>15</sup>Then these men assembled vnto the King, and sayde vnto ye King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, may be altered. <sup>16</sup>Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee. <sup>17</sup>And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel. <sup>18</sup>Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him. <sup>19</sup>Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons. <sup>20</sup>And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and saide to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of ye liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lyons? <sup>21</sup>Then saide Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer. <sup>22</sup>My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for my iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt. <sup>23</sup>Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleueed in his God. <sup>24</sup>And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lyons had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a pecies, or euer they came at the groud of the denne. <sup>25</sup>Afterwarde King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you. <sup>26</sup>I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remayneth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting. <sup>27</sup>Hee rescueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth, who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons. <sup>28</sup>So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>In the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter. <sup>2</sup>Daniel spake and saide, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea: <sup>3</sup>And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another. <sup>4</sup>The first was as a lyon, and had eagles wings: I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt of, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him. <sup>5</sup>And beholde, another beast which was the second, was like a beare and stood vpon the one side: and hee had three ribbes in his mouth betweene his teeth, and they saide thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh. <sup>6</sup>After this I behelde, and loe, there was an other like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was giuen him. <sup>7</sup>After this I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pecies and stamped the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had ten hornes. <sup>8</sup>As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle horne, before whome there were three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things. <sup>9</sup>I behelde, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the heare of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheelles as burning fire. <sup>10</sup>A fierie streame yssued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousandes ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand thousands stode before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened. <sup>11</sup>Then I behelde, because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

<sup>12</sup>As concerning the other beastes, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season. <sup>13</sup>As I behelde in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him. <sup>14</sup>And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed. <sup>15</sup>I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraide. <sup>16</sup>Therefore I came vnto one of them that stode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things. <sup>17</sup>These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, <sup>18</sup>And they shall take the kingdome of the Saintes of the most High, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer. <sup>19</sup>After this, I woulde knowe the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pecies, and stamped the residue vnder his feete. <sup>20</sup>Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whome three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous thinges, whose looke was more stoute then his fellows. <sup>21</sup>I beheld, and the same horne made battel against the Saintes, yea, and preuailed against them, <sup>22</sup>Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saintes of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome. <sup>23</sup>Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pecies. <sup>24</sup>And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are tenne Kings that shall rise: and an other shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue three Kings, <sup>25</sup>And shall speake wordes against the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shalbe giuen into his hand, vntill a time, and times and the deuiding of time. <sup>26</sup>But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende. <sup>27</sup>And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shalbe giue to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all powers shall serue and obey him. <sup>28</sup>Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>In the thirde yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, after that which appeared vnto mee at the first. <sup>2</sup>And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuier of Vlai. <sup>3</sup>Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stode before the riuier a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was hier then another, and the hiest came vp last. <sup>4</sup>I sawe the ramme pusshing against ye West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beastes might stande before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great. <sup>5</sup>And as I considered, beholde, a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an horne that appeared betweene his eyes. <sup>6</sup>And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage. <sup>7</sup>And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the grounde, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that coulde deliuer the ramme out of his power. <sup>8</sup>Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure windes of ye heauen. <sup>9</sup>And out of one of them came forth a litle horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land. <sup>10</sup>Yea, it grewe vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them, <sup>11</sup>And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste from whome the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe. <sup>12</sup>And a time shall be giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper. <sup>13</sup>Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the armie vnder foote? <sup>14</sup>And he answered me, Vnto the euening and the morning, two thousand and three hundredth: then shall the Sanctuarie be censed. <sup>15</sup>Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stode before me like the similitude of a man. <sup>16</sup>And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlaï, which called, and sayde, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision. <sup>17</sup>So he came where I stood: and when hee came, I was afraide, and fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shalbe the vision. <sup>18</sup>Nowe as he was speaking vnto me, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place. <sup>19</sup>And he sayde, Beholde, I will shewe thee what shalbe in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come. <sup>20</sup>The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians. <sup>21</sup>And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King. <sup>22</sup>And that that is broken, and foure stode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength. <sup>23</sup>And in the end of their kingdom, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp. <sup>24</sup>And his power shalbe mightie, but not in his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mightie, and the holy people. <sup>25</sup>And through his policie also, hee shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: hee shall also stande vp against the prince of princes, but he shalbe broken downe without hand. <sup>26</sup>And the vision of the euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes. <sup>27</sup>And I Daniel was stricken and sicke certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings busines, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth. <sup>14</sup>Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce. <sup>15</sup>And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly. <sup>16</sup>O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy cite Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproche to all that are about vs. <sup>17</sup>Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for the Lords sake. <sup>18</sup>O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the cite whereupon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies. <sup>19</sup>O Lord, heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy cite, and vpon thy people. <sup>20</sup>And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, <sup>21</sup>Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation. <sup>22</sup>And he informed me, and talked with me, and sayd, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding. <sup>23</sup>At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstande the matter and consider the vision. <sup>24</sup>Seuentie weekes are determined vpon thy people and vpon thyne holy cite, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousness, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoynt the most Holy. <sup>25</sup>Knowe therefore and vnderstande, that from the going forth of the commandment to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall be seuen weekes and threescore and two weekes, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a troublous time. <sup>26</sup>And after threescore and two weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall haue nothing, and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the cite and the Sanctuarie, and the end thereof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shalbe destroyed by desolations. <sup>27</sup>And he shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the ouerspreeding of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>In the third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the worde was true, but the time appointed was long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision. <sup>2</sup>At the same time I Daniel was in heauines for three weekes of dayes. <sup>3</sup>I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled. <sup>4</sup>And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great riuier, euen Hiddekel, <sup>5</sup>And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of Vphaz. <sup>6</sup>His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude. <sup>7</sup>And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues. <sup>8</sup>Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I reitained no power. <sup>9</sup>Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground. <sup>10</sup>And behold, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands. <sup>11</sup>And he sayde vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe sent. And when hee had sayde this worde vnto me, I stood trembling. <sup>12</sup>Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes. <sup>13</sup>But the prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode me one and twentie dayes: but loe, Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the Kings of Persia. <sup>14</sup>Nowe I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision is for many dayes. <sup>15</sup>And when he spake these wordes vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and helde my tongue. <sup>16</sup>And beholde, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him that stoode before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength. <sup>17</sup>For howe can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straight way there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me. <sup>18</sup>Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, <sup>19</sup>And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and saide, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me. <sup>20</sup>Then saide he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but nowe wil I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the prince of Grecia shall come. <sup>21</sup>But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

<sup>1</sup>Also I, in ye first yere of Darius of ye Medes, euen I stood to encourage and to strengthen him. <sup>2</sup>And now wil I shew thee ye trueth, Behold, there shall stand vp yet three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia. <sup>3</sup>But a mightie King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure. <sup>4</sup>And when he shall stand vp, his kingdome shall be broken, and shall be deuided toward the foure windes of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shall be pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides those. <sup>5</sup>And ye King of ye South shalbe mightie, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominio shalbe a great dominion. <sup>6</sup>And in the ende of yeeeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings daughter of ye South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not reteine the power of the arme, neither shall he continue, nor his arme: but she shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times. <sup>7</sup>But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile. <sup>8</sup>And shall also carie captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue more yeeeres then the King of the North. <sup>9</sup>So the King of ye South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mightie great armie: and one shall come, and ouerflowe, and passe through: then shall he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse. <sup>11</sup>And the King of the South shall be angrie, and shall come foorth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for he shall set foorth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand. <sup>12</sup>Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile. <sup>13</sup>For the King of the North shall returne, and shall set foorth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come foorth (after certeine yeeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches. <sup>14</sup>And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalt them selues to establish the vision, but they shall fall. <sup>15</sup>So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong cite: and the armes of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand. <sup>16</sup>But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed. <sup>17</sup>Againe he shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and he shall giue him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but she shall not stande on his side, neither bee for him. <sup>18</sup>After this shall he turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe. <sup>19</sup>For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more founde. <sup>20</sup>Then shall stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell. <sup>21</sup>And in his place shall stand vp a vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries. <sup>22</sup>And the armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the couenant. <sup>23</sup>And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a small people. <sup>24</sup>He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall deuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a time. <sup>25</sup>Also he shall stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him. <sup>26</sup>Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflowe: and many shall fall, and be slaine. <sup>27</sup>And both these Kings hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall talke of deceite at one table: but it shall not auaille: for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed. <sup>28</sup>Then shall he returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land. <sup>29</sup>At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first. <sup>30</sup>For the shippes of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sorie and returne, and freat against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant. <sup>31</sup>And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation. <sup>32</sup>And such as wickedly breake ye couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shall preuaile and prosper. <sup>33</sup>And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile many dayes. <sup>34</sup>Nowe when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a litle helpe: but many shall cleaue vnto them fainedly. <sup>35</sup>And some of the of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed. <sup>36</sup>And the King shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against ye God of gods, and shall prosper, till ye wrath be accomplished: for ye determination is made. <sup>37</sup>Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all. <sup>38</sup>But in his place shall he honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shall he honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things. <sup>39</sup>Thus shall he do in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many and shall deuide ye land for gaine. <sup>40</sup>And at ye end of time shall the King of the South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewind with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shall enter into ye countreis, and shall ouerflow and passe through. <sup>41</sup>He shall enter also into the pleasant land, and many countreis shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon. <sup>42</sup>He shall stretch foorth his hands also vpon the countreis, and ye land of Egypt shall not escape. <sup>43</sup>But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe. <sup>44</sup>But the tidings out of the East and the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall goe foorth with great wrath to destroy and roote out many. <sup>45</sup>And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>And at that time shall Michael stand vp, ye great prince, which standeth for ye children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall be foud written in ye boke. <sup>2</sup>And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt. <sup>3</sup>And they that be wise, shall shine, as ye brightnes of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousness, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer. <sup>4</sup>But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the boke til the end of the time: many shall run to and from, and knowledge shall be increased. <sup>5</sup>Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, ye one on this side of ye brinke of ye riuier, and the other on that side of ye brinke of the riuier. <sup>6</sup>And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon ye waters of the riuier, When shalbe the ende of these wonders? <sup>7</sup>And I heard ye man clothed in line which was vpon the waters of the riuier, when he helde vp his right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tarie for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished. <sup>8</sup>The I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: the said I, O my Lord, what shalbe ye end of these things? <sup>9</sup>And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for ye words are closed vp, and sealed, till the ende of the time. <sup>10</sup>Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand. <sup>11</sup>And from the time that the daily sacrifice shalbe take away and the abominable desolatio set vp, there shalbe a thousand, two hundreth and ninetie daies. <sup>12</sup>Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand, three hundreth and fiue and thirtie daies. <sup>13</sup>But go thou thy way til the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of ye daies.

HOSEA

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of Vziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel. <sup>2</sup>At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord. <sup>3</sup>So he went, and tooke Gomer, ye daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne. <sup>4</sup>And the Lord said vnto him, Cal his name Izreel: for yet a litle, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel. <sup>5</sup>And at that day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel. <sup>6</sup>She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God saide vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I wil vtterly take them away. <sup>7</sup>Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and wil saue them by the Lord their God, and wil not saue them by bow, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen. <sup>8</sup>Nowe when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, shee conceived, and bare a sonne. <sup>9</sup>Then saide God, Call his name Lo-ammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours. <sup>10</sup>Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sande of the sea, which can not be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was saide vnto them, Yee are not my people, it shall be saide vnto them, Yee are the sonnes of the liuing God. <sup>11</sup>Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint them selues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Izreel.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Say vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah, <sup>2</sup>Plead with your mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betweene her breasts. <sup>3</sup>Lest I strippe her naked, and set her as in the day that shee was borne, and make her as a wildernes, and leaue her like a drie land, and slaie her for thirst. <sup>4</sup>And I wil haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications. <sup>5</sup>For their mother hath plaied the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for shee said, I will goe after my louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke. <sup>6</sup>Therefore beholde, I will stoope thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her pathes. <sup>7</sup>Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall shee not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now. <sup>8</sup>Nowe she did not knowe that I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal. <sup>9</sup>Therefore wil I returne, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wool and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame. <sup>10</sup>And now will I discouer her lewdnes in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand. <sup>11</sup>I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast daies, her newe moones, and her Sabbathes, and all her solemne feasts. <sup>12</sup>And I wil destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them. <sup>13</sup>And I wil visit vpon her the daies of Baalim, wherein shee burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her earings and her iewels, and shee folowed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Therefore beholde, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her. <sup>15</sup>And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the daies of her youth, and as in the daies when shee came vp out of the land of Egypt. <sup>16</sup>And at that day, sayeth the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call me no more Baali. <sup>17</sup>For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembred by their names. <sup>18</sup>And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely. <sup>19</sup>And I wil marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion. <sup>20</sup>I will euen marry thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt knowe the Lord. <sup>21</sup>And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, <sup>22</sup>And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel. <sup>23</sup>And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Then said the Lord to me, Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottels. <sup>2</sup>So I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie. <sup>3</sup>And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee. <sup>4</sup>For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a King and without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod and without Teraphim. <sup>5</sup>Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and Dauid their King, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Heare the worde of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the lande, because there is no trueth nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the lande. <sup>2</sup>By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring they breake out, and blood toucheth blood. <sup>3</sup>Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away. <sup>4</sup>Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest. <sup>5</sup>Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother. <sup>6</sup>My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Lawe of thy God, I will also forget thy children. <sup>7</sup>As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I chaunge their glorie into shame. <sup>8</sup>They ate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie. <sup>9</sup>And there shalbe like people, like Priest: for I wil visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes. <sup>10</sup>For they shall eat, and not haue ynough: they shall commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to ye Lord. <sup>11</sup>Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart. <sup>12</sup>My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirite of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God. <sup>13</sup>They sacrifice vpon the toppes of ye mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores. <sup>14</sup>I will not visite your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall. <sup>15</sup>Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth. <sup>16</sup>For Israel is rebellious as an vnruely heyfer. Nowe the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place. <sup>17</sup>Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone. <sup>18</sup>Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye. <sup>19</sup>The winde hath bounde them vp in her wings, and they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>O ye Priestes, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is towarde you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor. <sup>2</sup>Yet they were profounde, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all. <sup>3</sup>I knowe Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for nowe, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled. <sup>4</sup>They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, and they haue not knowne the Lord. <sup>5</sup>And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them. <sup>6</sup>They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawne himselfe from them. <sup>7</sup>They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotte strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions. <sup>8</sup>Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Ramah: crie out at Beth-auen, after thee, O Benjamin. <sup>9</sup>Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to knowe the trueth. <sup>10</sup>The princes of Iudah were like them that remoue the bounde: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water. <sup>11</sup>Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandement. <sup>12</sup>Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse. <sup>13</sup>When Ephraim sawe his sickenes, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Asshur, and sent vnto King Iareb: yet coulde hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound. <sup>14</sup>For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it. <sup>15</sup>I will go, and returne to my place, til they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp. <sup>2</sup>After two dayes will he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight. <sup>3</sup>Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth. <sup>4</sup>O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away. <sup>5</sup>Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth. <sup>6</sup>For I desired mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings. <sup>7</sup>But they like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me. <sup>8</sup>Gilead is a cite of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood. <sup>9</sup>And as the eues waite for a man, so the companie of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief. <sup>10</sup>I haue scene vileny in the house of Israel: there is ye whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled. <sup>11</sup>Yea, Iudah hath set a plant for thee, whiles I woulde returne ye captiuitie of my people.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>When I woulde haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and the theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without. <sup>2</sup>And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednes: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight. <sup>3</sup>They make the King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies. <sup>4</sup>They are all adulterers, and as a very ouen heated by ye baker, which ceaseth from raysing vp, and from kneading ye dough vntill it be leauened. <sup>5</sup>This is the day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scornors. <sup>6</sup>For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire. <sup>7</sup>They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me. <sup>8</sup>Ephraim hath mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned. <sup>9</sup>Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray heares are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not. <sup>10</sup>And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this. <sup>11</sup>Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur. <sup>12</sup>But when they shall go, I will spred my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastice them as their congregation hath heard. <sup>13</sup>Wo vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lyes against me. <sup>14</sup>And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they houled vpon their beds: they assembled themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me. <sup>15</sup>Though I haue boud and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me. <sup>16</sup>They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>Set the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe. <sup>2</sup>Israel shall crie vnto me, My God, we know thee. <sup>3</sup>Israel hath cast off ye thing that is good: the enimie shall pursue him. <sup>4</sup>They haue set vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed. <sup>5</sup>Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: howe long will they be without innocencie! <sup>6</sup>For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces. <sup>7</sup>For they haue sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no stalke: the budde shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it. <sup>8</sup>Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure. <sup>9</sup>For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers. <sup>10</sup>Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they shall sorowe a litle, for the burden of the King and the princes. <sup>11</sup>Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne. <sup>12</sup>I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a strange thing. <sup>13</sup>They sacrifice flesh for ye sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt. <sup>14</sup>For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will sende a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>Reioice not, O Israel for ioy as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued a rewarde vpon euery corne floore. <sup>2</sup>The floore, and the wine presse shall not feede them, and the newe wine shall faile in her. <sup>3</sup>They wil not dwel in the Lordes lande, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vnclane things in Asshur. <sup>4</sup>They shall not offer wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: al that eate thereof, shalbe polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>What wil ye do then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord? <sup>6</sup>For loe, they are gone from destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles. <sup>7</sup>The daies of visitation are come: the daies of recompence are come: Israel shall knowe it: the Prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great. <sup>8</sup>The watchman of Ephraim shoulde bee with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his waies, and hatred in the House of his God. <sup>9</sup>They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the daies of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes. <sup>10</sup>I found Israel like grapes in the wildernes: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers. <sup>11</sup>Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a birde: from the birth and from the wombe, and from the conception. <sup>12</sup>Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them. <sup>13</sup>Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer. <sup>14</sup>O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a baren wombe and drie breasts. <sup>15</sup>All their wickednesse is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels. <sup>16</sup>Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slaie euen the dearest of their bodie. <sup>17</sup>My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

<sup>1</sup>Israel is a emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images. <sup>2</sup>Their heart is deuided: nowe shall they be founde faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images. <sup>3</sup>For now they shall say, We haue no King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs? <sup>4</sup>They haue spoken woordes, swearing falsly in making a couenant: thus iudgement groweth as wormewoode in the furrowes of the field. <sup>5</sup>The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it. <sup>6</sup>It shall bee also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell. <sup>7</sup>Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed as the some vpon the water. <sup>8</sup>The hie places also of Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs. <sup>9</sup>O Israel, thou hast sinned from the daies of Gibeah: there they stode: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them. <sup>10</sup>It is my desire that I should chastice them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two furrowes. <sup>11</sup>And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delite in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iakob shall breake his cloddes. <sup>12</sup>Sowe to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercy: breake vp your fallowe groundes: for it is time to seeke

the Lord, till he come and raine righteousness vpon you. <sup>13</sup>But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruite of lies: because thou didest trust in thine owne waies, and in the multitude of thy strong men, <sup>14</sup>Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Beth-arbell in the daie of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces. <sup>15</sup>So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>When Israel was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt. <sup>2</sup>They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images. <sup>3</sup>I ledde Ephraim also, as one shoulde beare them in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them. <sup>4</sup>I led them with cordes of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laide the meat vnto them. <sup>5</sup>He shall no more returne into the lande of Egypt: but Asshur shalbe his King, because they refused to conuert. <sup>6</sup>And the sworde shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels. <sup>7</sup>And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most hie, yet none at all would exalt him. <sup>8</sup>Howe shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? howe shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? howe shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: my repentings are rouled together. <sup>9</sup>I wil not execute ye fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the cite. <sup>10</sup>They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare. <sup>11</sup>They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue of the lande of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, sayth the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Ephraim copaseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>Ephraim is fed with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they do make a couenant with Asshur, and oyle is caried into Egypt. <sup>2</sup>The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visite Iakob, according to his waies: according to his workes, wil he recompence him. <sup>3</sup>Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had power with God, <sup>4</sup>And had power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and praied vnto him: he founde him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs. <sup>5</sup>Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall. <sup>6</sup>Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God. <sup>7</sup>He is Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse. <sup>8</sup>And Ephraim saide, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, that were wickednesse. <sup>9</sup>Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the daies of the solemne feast. <sup>10</sup>I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets. <sup>11</sup>Is there iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field. <sup>12</sup>And Iakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe. <sup>13</sup>And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued. <sup>14</sup>But Ephraim prouoked him with hie places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproche shall his Lord reward him.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>When Ephraim spake, there was trembling: hee exalted him selfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead. <sup>2</sup>And nowe they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calues. <sup>3</sup>Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlwind out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney. <sup>4</sup>Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt knowe no God but me: for there is no Sauour beside me. <sup>5</sup>I did knowe thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought. <sup>6</sup>As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me. <sup>7</sup>And I wil be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur. <sup>8</sup>I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beast shall teare them. <sup>9</sup>O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe. <sup>10</sup>I am: where is thy King, that shoulde help thee in al thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saidest, Giue me a King, and princes? <sup>11</sup>I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath. <sup>12</sup>The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid. <sup>13</sup>The sorowes of a traailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stande still at the time, euen at the breaking forth of the children. <sup>14</sup>I wil redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death, I wil be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes. <sup>15</sup>Though he grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dryed vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>Samaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shalbe dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript. <sup>2</sup>O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie. <sup>3</sup>Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our lippes. <sup>4</sup>Asshur shall not saue vs, neither wil we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie. <sup>5</sup>I wil heale their rebellion: I wil loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him. <sup>6</sup>I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shall grow as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon. <sup>7</sup>His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon. <sup>8</sup>They that dwel vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and florish as the vine: the sent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon. <sup>9</sup>Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruite founde. (Hosea) Who is wise, and he shall vnderstande these things? and prudent, and he shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

JOEL

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord that came to Joel the sonne of Pethuel. <sup>2</sup>Heare ye this, O Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers. <sup>3</sup>Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation. <sup>4</sup>That which is left of ye palmer worrne, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of ye grasshopper hath the canker worrne eaten, and the residue of the canker worrne hath the caterpillar eaten. <sup>5</sup>Awake ye drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shalbe pulled from your mouth. <sup>6</sup>Yea, a nation commeth vpon my lande, mightie, and without nomber, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and he hath the iawes of a great lyon. <sup>7</sup>He maketh my vine waste, and pillet off the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: ye branches therof are made white. <sup>8</sup>Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth. <sup>9</sup>The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne. <sup>10</sup>The field is wasted: the lande mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed. <sup>11</sup>Be ye ashamed, O husband men: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate, and for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished. <sup>12</sup>The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men. <sup>13</sup>Girde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God. <sup>14</sup>Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assemblie: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, <sup>15</sup>Alas: for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty. <sup>16</sup>Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God? <sup>17</sup>The seede is rotten vnder their cloddes: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered. <sup>18</sup>How did the beasts mourne! the herdes of cattel pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed. <sup>19</sup>O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field. <sup>20</sup>The beasts of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Blowe the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the lande tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand. <sup>2</sup>A day of darknesse, and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spred vpon the mountaines, so is there a great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shalbe any more after it, vnto the yeeeres of many generations. <sup>3</sup>A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him. <sup>4</sup>The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemen, so shall they runne. <sup>5</sup>Like the noyse of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battel. <sup>6</sup>Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse. <sup>7</sup>They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths. <sup>8</sup>Neither shall one thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded. <sup>9</sup>They shall runne to and from in the cite: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at ye windowes like ye thiefe. <sup>10</sup>The earth shall tremble before him, ye heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining. <sup>11</sup>And the Lord shall vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strog that doeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it? <sup>12</sup>Therefore also now the Lord sayth, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning. <sup>13</sup>And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill. <sup>14</sup>Who knoweth, is he wil returne and repent and leaue a blessing behinde him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto ye Lord your God? <sup>15</sup>Blowe the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly. <sup>16</sup>Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber. <sup>17</sup>Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betwene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen should rule ouer them. Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God? <sup>18</sup>Then will the Lord be ielous ouer his land, and spare his people. <sup>19</sup>Yea, the Lord wil answere and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you shalbe satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproche among the heathen, <sup>20</sup>But I will remouue farre off from you the Northren armie, and I will driue him into a land, barren and desolate with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to do this. <sup>21</sup>Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord wil do great things. <sup>22</sup>Be not afrayde, ye beastes of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree and the vine do giue their force. <sup>23</sup>Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God:

for he hath giuen you the rayne of righteousness, he wil cause to come downe for you the rayne, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth. <sup>24</sup>And the barnes shalbe full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine and oyle. <sup>25</sup>And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpillar and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you. <sup>26</sup>So you shall eate and be satisfied and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed. <sup>27</sup>Ye shall also know, that I am in the middes of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed. <sup>28</sup>And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophetic: your olde men shall dreame dreames, and your yong men shall see visions, <sup>29</sup>And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes wil I powre my Spirit. <sup>30</sup>And I will shewe wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke. <sup>31</sup>The sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come. <sup>32</sup>But whosoeuer shall call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>For beholde, in those dayes and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem, <sup>2</sup>I will also gather all nations, and wil bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land. <sup>3</sup>And they haue cast lottes for my people, and haue giuen the childe for the harlot, and sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke. <sup>4</sup>Yea, and what haue you to do with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the costes of Palestina? will ye render me a recompence? and if ye recompence mee, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompence vpon your head: <sup>5</sup>For ye haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things. <sup>6</sup>The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border. <sup>7</sup>Beholde, I will rayse them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head, <sup>8</sup>And I will send your sonnes and your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>9</sup>Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere and come vp. <sup>10</sup>Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong. <sup>11</sup>Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe the mightie men. <sup>12</sup>Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about. <sup>13</sup>Put in your sithes, for the haruest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great. <sup>14</sup>O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing. <sup>15</sup>The sunne and moone shalbe darkened, and the starres shall withdrawe their light. <sup>16</sup>The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord wil be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel. <sup>17</sup>So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem bee holy, and there shall no strangers go thorowe her any more. <sup>18</sup>And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe newe wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and al the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim. <sup>19</sup>Egypt shalbe waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the childe of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land. <sup>20</sup>But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation. <sup>21</sup>For I will clense their blood, that I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen at Tecoah, which he sawe vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel, two yeere before the earthquake. <sup>2</sup>And he saide, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perish, and the top of Carmel shall wither, <sup>3</sup>Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron. <sup>4</sup>Therefore will I sende a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben-hadad. <sup>5</sup>I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-aue: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, sayth the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom. <sup>7</sup>Therefore will I sende a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof. <sup>8</sup>And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hande to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, sayth the Lord God. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the brotherly couenant. <sup>10</sup>Therefore wil I send a fire vpon ye walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof. <sup>11</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sworde, and did cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway. <sup>12</sup>Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah. <sup>13</sup>Thus sayth ye Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border. <sup>14</sup>Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde. <sup>15</sup>And their King shall go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime. <sup>2</sup>Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet. <sup>3</sup>And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, sayth the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandementes, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked. <sup>5</sup>Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem. <sup>6</sup>Thus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer and the poore for shooes. <sup>7</sup>They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour mine holy Name. <sup>8</sup>And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God. <sup>9</sup>Yet destroyed I the Amorite before the, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath. <sup>10</sup>Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeres thorowe the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite. <sup>11</sup>And I raysed vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, sayth the Lord? <sup>12</sup>But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophetes, saying, Prophecie not. <sup>13</sup>Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues. <sup>14</sup>Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life. <sup>15</sup>Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neyther shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life. <sup>16</sup>And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, sayth the Lord.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Heare this worde that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying, <sup>2</sup>You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities. <sup>3</sup>Can two walke together except they bee agreed? <sup>4</sup>Will a lion roare in ye forest, when he hath no pray? or wil a lions whelpes cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing? <sup>5</sup>Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all? <sup>6</sup>Or shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shall there be euil in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it? <sup>7</sup>Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he reueileth his secreete vnto his seruantes the Prophets. <sup>8</sup>The lyon hath roared: who will not bee afraide? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophecie? <sup>9</sup>Proclayme in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the lande of Egypt, and saye, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof. <sup>10</sup>For they knowe not to doe right, sayth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbery in their palaces. <sup>11</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen rounde about the cuntrye, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled. <sup>12</sup>Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherde taketh out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus, as in a couche. <sup>13</sup>Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes. <sup>14</sup>Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I wil also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground. <sup>15</sup>And I wil smite the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, sayth the Lord.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Heare this worde, ye kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, Bring, and let vs drinke. <sup>2</sup>The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee wil take you away with thornes, and your posteritie with fish hookes. <sup>3</sup>And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kow forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three yeres. <sup>5</sup>And offer a thankesgiuing of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God. <sup>6</sup>And therefore haue I giuen you cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. <sup>7</sup>And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered. <sup>8</sup>So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. <sup>9</sup>I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyardes, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. <sup>10</sup>Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sworde, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tentes to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. <sup>11</sup>I haue ouerthrowe you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Therefore, thus wil I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I wil doe this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel. <sup>13</sup>For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

<sup>1</sup>Heare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel. <sup>2</sup>The virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her lande, and there is none to raise her vp. <sup>3</sup>For thus saith ye Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel. <sup>4</sup>For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue. <sup>5</sup>But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought. <sup>6</sup>Seeke the Lord, and yee shall liue, least he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el. <sup>7</sup>They turne iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousness in the earth. <sup>8</sup>He maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. <sup>9</sup>He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortress. <sup>10</sup>They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly. <sup>11</sup>Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and yee take from him burdens of wheate, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue plated pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them. <sup>12</sup>For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in ye gate. <sup>13</sup>Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time. <sup>14</sup>Seeke good and not euil, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shalbe with you, as you haue spoken. <sup>15</sup>Hate the euil, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph. <sup>16</sup>Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shalbe in all streetes: and they shall say in al the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning. <sup>17</sup>And in al the vines shalbe lamentation: for I wil passe through thee, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>Woe vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkenes and not light. <sup>19</sup>As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him. <sup>20</sup>Shal not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it? <sup>21</sup>I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I wil not smell in your solemne assemblies. <sup>22</sup>Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meat offerings, I wil not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts. <sup>23</sup>Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I wil not heare the melodie of thy viols) <sup>24</sup>And let iudgement runne downe as waters, and righteousness as a mightie riuer. <sup>25</sup>Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness fourtie yeres, O house of Israel? <sup>26</sup>But you haue borne Siccuth your King, and Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues. <sup>27</sup>Therefore wil I cause you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Woe to them that are at ease in Zion and trust in the moutaine of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them. <sup>2</sup>Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border, <sup>3</sup>Ye that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquitie? <sup>4</sup>They lie vpon beddes of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beddes, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall. <sup>5</sup>They sing to the sounde of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musike like Dauid. <sup>6</sup>They drinke wine in bowles, and anoynt themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is sory for the affliction of Ioseph. <sup>7</sup>Therefore now shall they go captiue with the first that go captiue, and the sorow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand. <sup>8</sup>The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore wil I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein. <sup>9</sup>And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die. <sup>10</sup>And his vnkle shall take him vp and burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by ye sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, Holde thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord. <sup>11</sup>For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts. <sup>12</sup>Shal horses runne vpon the rocke? or wil one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousness into wormewood. <sup>13</sup>Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs hornes by our owne strength? <sup>14</sup>But behold, I wil raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of Hamath vnto the riuier of the wilderness.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and beholde, he formed grasshoppers in the beginning of ye shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth after the Kings mowing. <sup>2</sup>And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I saide, O Lord God, spare, I beseeche thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small. <sup>3</sup>So the Lord repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord. <sup>4</sup>Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part. <sup>5</sup>Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseeche thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small. <sup>6</sup>So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God. <sup>7</sup>Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stode vpon a wall made by line with a line in his hand. <sup>8</sup>And the Lord saide vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Beholde, I wil set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and wil passe by them no more. <sup>9</sup>And the hye places of Izhak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shalbe destroyed: and I wil rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sworde. <sup>10</sup>Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the lande is not able to beare all his wordes. <sup>11</sup>For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sworde, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land. <sup>12</sup>Also Amaziah sayde vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophecie there. <sup>13</sup>But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappel, and it is the Kings court. <sup>14</sup>Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a prophets sonne, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of wilde figs. <sup>15</sup>And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Go, prophecie vnto my people Israel. <sup>16</sup>Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Izhak. <sup>17</sup>Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be deuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruite. <sup>2</sup>And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of sommer fruite. Then said the Lord vnto me, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I wil passe by them no more. <sup>3</sup>And the songs of the Temple shalbe howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with silence. <sup>4</sup>Heare this, O yee that swallowe vp the poore, that ye may make the needie of the lande to fayle, <sup>5</sup>Saying, When will the newe moneth bee gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, and make the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit? <sup>6</sup>That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate. <sup>7</sup>The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iakob, Surely I wil neuer forget any of their workes. <sup>8</sup>Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall bee cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt. <sup>9</sup>And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day. <sup>10</sup>And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnes vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day. <sup>11</sup>Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and from to seeke the worde of the Lord, and shall not finde it. <sup>13</sup>In that day shall the faire virgines and the yong men perish for thirst. <sup>14</sup>They that sweare by the sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>I sawe the Lord standing vpon the altar, and he sayde, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered. <sup>2</sup>Though they digge into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe. <sup>3</sup>And though they hide them selues in the toppes of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I commande the serpent, and he shall bite them. <sup>4</sup>And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence wil I commande the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good. <sup>5</sup>And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and al that dwel therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall bee drowned as by the flood of Egypt. <sup>6</sup>He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name. <sup>7</sup>Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto mee, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir? <sup>8</sup>Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuerthesse I will not vtterly destroy the house of Iakob, saith the Lord. <sup>9</sup>For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth. <sup>10</sup>But all the sinners of my people shall dye by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs. <sup>11</sup>In that day will I raise vp the tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches therof, and I will rayse vp his ruines, and I will builde it, as in the dayes of olde, <sup>12</sup>That they may possesse the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayeth the Lord, that doeth this. <sup>13</sup>Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall touche the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt. <sup>14</sup>And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabite the, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them. <sup>15</sup>And I wil plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their lande, which I haue giuen them, sayeth the Lord thy God.

OBADIAH

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, We haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battel. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised. <sup>3</sup>The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground? <sup>4</sup>Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, sayth the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? howe wast thou brought to silence? woulde they not haue stolen, til they had ynough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, woulde they not leaue some grapes? <sup>6</sup>Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched? <sup>7</sup>All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to ye borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that ate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him. <sup>8</sup>Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau? <sup>9</sup>And thy strong men, O Teman, shall bee afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter. <sup>10</sup>For thy crueltie against thy brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer. <sup>11</sup>When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and straungers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them. <sup>12</sup>But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction. <sup>13</sup>Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction. <sup>14</sup>Neyther shouldest thou haue stande in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that shoulde escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction. <sup>15</sup>For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall bee done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head. <sup>16</sup>For as yee haue drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shalbe as though they had not bene. <sup>17</sup>But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions, <sup>18</sup>And the house of Iaakob shalbe a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall bee no remnant of the house of Esau for the Lord hath spoken it. <sup>19</sup>And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilead. <sup>20</sup>And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South. <sup>21</sup>And they that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

JONAH

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The worde of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying, <sup>2</sup>Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that great citie, and crye against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before mee. <sup>3</sup>But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Iapho: and he founde a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord. <sup>4</sup>But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken. <sup>5</sup>Then the mariners were afraide, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of the: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast a sleepe. <sup>6</sup>So the shipmaster came to him, and saide vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish not. <sup>7</sup>And they saide euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast lottes, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Ionah. <sup>8</sup>Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou? <sup>9</sup>And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry lande. <sup>10</sup>Then were the men exceedingly afrayde, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had tolde them) <sup>11</sup>Then saide they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous) <sup>12</sup>And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you. <sup>13</sup>Neuerthesse, the men rowed to bring it to the lande, but they coulde not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them. <sup>14</sup>Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee. <sup>15</sup>So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging. <sup>16</sup>Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vows. <sup>17</sup>Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallowe vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the belly of the fish three dayes, and three nightes.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Then Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly, <sup>2</sup>And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the bellie of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce. <sup>3</sup>For thou haddest cast me into the bottome in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me. <sup>4</sup>Then I saide, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe towarde thine holy Temple. <sup>5</sup>The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me rounde about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head. <sup>6</sup>I went downe to the bottome of the moutaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God. <sup>7</sup>When my soule fainted within me, I remembred the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple. <sup>8</sup>They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercie. <sup>9</sup>But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord. <sup>10</sup>And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry lande.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ionah the seconde time, saying, <sup>2</sup>Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee. <sup>3</sup>So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to ye word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney. <sup>4</sup>And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen. <sup>5</sup>So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from ye greatest of the euen to the least of them. <sup>6</sup>For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he rose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes. <sup>7</sup>And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsell of ye king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor beast, bullock nor sheep taste any thing, neither feed nor drinke water. <sup>8</sup>But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their handes. <sup>9</sup>Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not? <sup>10</sup>And God sawe their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he woulde doe vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Therefore it displeased Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry. <sup>2</sup>And he prayed vnto the Lord, and saide, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill. <sup>3</sup>Therefore nowe O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue. <sup>4</sup>Then saide the Lord, Doest thou well to be angry? <sup>5</sup>So Ionah went out of the citie and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe till he might see what should be done in the citie. <sup>6</sup>And the Lord God prepared a gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourde. <sup>7</sup>But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered. <sup>8</sup>And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to dye, then to lue. <sup>9</sup>And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angrie for the gourde? And he said, I doe well to be angrie vnto the death. <sup>10</sup>Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, <sup>11</sup>And shoulde not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are sixe score thousande persons, that cannot discerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and also much cattell?

MICAH

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he sawe concerning Samaria, and Ierusalem. <sup>2</sup>Heare, al ye people: hearke thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnes against you, euen ye Lord from his holy Teple. <sup>3</sup>For beholde, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come downe, and tread vpon the hie places of the earth. <sup>4</sup>And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downewarde. <sup>5</sup>For the wickednes of Iakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iakob? Is not Samaria? and which are the hie places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem? <sup>6</sup>Therefore I wil make Samaria as an heape of the fiele, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof. <sup>7</sup>And all the grauen images thereof shalbe broken, and all the giftes thereof shalbe burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot. <sup>8</sup>Therefore I will mourne and howle: I wil goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches. <sup>9</sup>For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>Declare ye it not at Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust. <sup>11</sup>Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, go together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in ye mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemy shall receiue of you for his standing. <sup>12</sup>For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem. <sup>13</sup>O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charret to the beastes of price: she is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee. <sup>14</sup>Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lye to the Kings of Israel. <sup>15</sup>Yet will I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, he shall come vnto Adullam, the glorie of Israel. <sup>16</sup>Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Woe vnto them, that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: when the morning is light they practise it because their hande hath power. <sup>2</sup>And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage. <sup>3</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euill. <sup>4</sup>In that daye shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, We be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto mee? he hath deuised our fieldes. <sup>5</sup>Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a corde by lot in the Congregation of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>They that prophesied, Prophecie ye not. They shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame. <sup>7</sup>O thou that art named of the house of Iakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh vprightly? <sup>8</sup>But hee that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoyle the beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre. <sup>9</sup>The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their childre haue ye taken away my glorie continually. <sup>10</sup>Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction. <sup>11</sup>If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, I wil prophecie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the prophet of this people. <sup>12</sup>I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the cities shall be full of brute of the men. <sup>13</sup>The breake vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their King shall goe before them, and the Lord shalbe vpon their heades.

<sup>1</sup>And I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should not ye knowe iudgement? <sup>2</sup>But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skinnies from them, and their flesh from their bones. <sup>3</sup>And they ate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skinnies from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron. <sup>4</sup>Then shall they cry vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he wil euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes. <sup>5</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and cry peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him, <sup>6</sup>Therefore night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shalbe vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them. <sup>7</sup>Then shall the Seers bee ashamed, and the southsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lippes, for they haue none answere of God. <sup>8</sup>Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne. <sup>9</sup>Heare this, I pray you, ye heades of the house of Iakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie. <sup>10</sup>They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie. <sup>11</sup>The heads thereof iudge for rewardes, and the Priestes thereof teache for hyre, and the prophets thereof prophecie for money: yet wil they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs. <sup>12</sup>Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hye places of the forest.

<sup>1</sup>But in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it shall bee exalted aboue the hilles, and people shall flowe vnto it. <sup>2</sup>Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iakob, and hee will teache vs his wayes, and we wil walke in his pathes: for the Lawe shall goe forth of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mightie nations a farre off, and they shall breake their swordes into mattocks, and their speares into sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more. <sup>4</sup>But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it. <sup>5</sup>For all people will walke euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer. <sup>6</sup>At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted. <sup>7</sup>And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in Mount Zion, from hence forth euen for euer. <sup>8</sup>And thou, O towre of the flock, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdom shall come to the daughter Ierusalem. <sup>9</sup>Nowe why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is there no King in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for sorowe hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile. <sup>10</sup>Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for nowe shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwel in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies. <sup>11</sup>Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned and our eye shall looke vpon Zion. <sup>12</sup>But they knowe not the thoughtes of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne. <sup>13</sup>Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Nowe assemble thy garisons, O daughter of garisons: he hath layed siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke. <sup>2</sup>And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art litle to bee among the thousandes of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting. <sup>3</sup>Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that shee which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel. <sup>4</sup>And he shall stand, and feed in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwel still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world. <sup>5</sup>And hee shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our lande: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepherdes, and eight principall men. <sup>6</sup>And they shall destroy Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swordes: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our lande, and when he shall tread within our borders. <sup>7</sup>And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam. <sup>8</sup>And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beastes of the forest, and as the lyons whelp among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer. <sup>9</sup>Thine hand shall bee lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off. <sup>10</sup>And it shall come to passe in that day, sayth the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets. <sup>11</sup>And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes. <sup>12</sup>And I will cut off thine enchanter out of thine hande: and thou shalt haue no more southsayers. <sup>13</sup>Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands. <sup>14</sup>And I wil plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies. <sup>15</sup>And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

<sup>1</sup>Hearken ye nowe what the Lord sayth, Arise thou, and contende before the mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce. <sup>2</sup>Heare ye, O mountaynes, the Lordes quarel, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel. <sup>3</sup>O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifie against me. <sup>4</sup>Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam. <sup>5</sup>O my people, remember nowe what Balak King of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may knowe the righteousnes of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offrings, and with calues of a yeere olde? <sup>7</sup>Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my bodie, for the sinne of my soule? <sup>8</sup>He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God. <sup>9</sup>The Lordes voyce cryeth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: Heare the rodde, and who hath appoynted it. <sup>10</sup>Are yet the treasures of wickednes in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable? <sup>11</sup>Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weightes? <sup>12</sup>For the rich men thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth. <sup>13</sup>Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes. <sup>14</sup>Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword. <sup>15</sup>Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine. <sup>16</sup>For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproche of my people.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>Woe is me, for I am as the sommer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites. <sup>2</sup>The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lye in wayte for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net. <sup>3</sup>To make good for the euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrapt it vp. <sup>4</sup>The best of them is as a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shalbe their confusion. <sup>5</sup>Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome. <sup>6</sup>For the sonne reuileth the father: ye daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house. <sup>7</sup>Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauour: my God will heare me. <sup>8</sup>Reioyce not against me, O mineemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me. <sup>9</sup>I will beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousness. <sup>10</sup>Then she that is mineemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes. <sup>11</sup>This is ye day, that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away the decree. <sup>12</sup>In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the ruer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine. <sup>13</sup>Notwithstanding, the lande shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of their inuentions. <sup>14</sup>Feed thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the middes of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time. <sup>15</sup>According to the dayes of thy comming out of the lande of Egypt, will I shewe vnto him marueilous things. <sup>16</sup>The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hande vpon their mouth: their eares shall be deafe. <sup>17</sup>They shall lick the dust like a serpent: they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee. <sup>18</sup>Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! He reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him. <sup>19</sup>He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottome of the sea. <sup>20</sup>Thou wilt perfourme thy trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

NAHUM

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The burden of Nineueh. The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite. <sup>2</sup>God is ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies. <sup>3</sup>The Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in ye whirlwind, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete. <sup>4</sup>He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted. <sup>5</sup>The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the worlde, and all that dwell therein. <sup>6</sup>Who can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him. <sup>7</sup>The Lord is good and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him. <sup>8</sup>But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the place thereof, and darknesse shall pursue his enemies. <sup>9</sup>What doe ye imagine against the Lord? he wil make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the seconde time. <sup>10</sup>For he shall come as vnto thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried. <sup>11</sup>There commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour. <sup>12</sup>Thus saith the Lord, Though they be quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more. <sup>13</sup>For nowe I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder. <sup>14</sup>And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile. <sup>15</sup>Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, perfourme thy vows: for the wicked shall no more passe thorowe thee: he is vtterly cut off.

<sup>1</sup>The destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily. <sup>2</sup>For the Lord hath turned away the glorie of Iakob, as the glorie of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches. <sup>3</sup>The shield of his mightie men is made red: the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shalbe as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and the firre trees shall tremble. <sup>4</sup>The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and from in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning. <sup>5</sup>He shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall bee prepared. <sup>6</sup>The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shall melt. <sup>7</sup>And Huzzab the Queene shalbe led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doves, smiting vpon their breastes. <sup>8</sup>But Nineueh is of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stande, stande, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe. <sup>9</sup>Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glorie of all the pleasant vessels. <sup>10</sup>She is emptie and voyde and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorowe is in all loynes, and the faces of the all gather blacknesse. <sup>11</sup>Where is the dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lion, and the lionesse walked, and the lyons whelp, and none made them afraide. <sup>12</sup>The lion did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and wored for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with, spoyle. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, I come vnto thee, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the smoke, and the sworde shall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

<sup>1</sup>O bloody citie, it is all full of lyes, and robberie: the pray departeth not: <sup>2</sup>The noyse of a whippe, and the noyse of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets. <sup>3</sup>The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses, <sup>4</sup>Because of the multitude of the fornications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and sellet the people thorow her whoredome, and the nations thorowe her witchcrafts. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discouer thy skirtes vpon thy face, and will shewe the nations thy filthines, and the kingdomes thy shame. <sup>6</sup>And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gasing stocke. <sup>7</sup>And it shall come to passe, that al they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie

vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee? <sup>8</sup>Art thou better then No, which was ful of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditche was the sea, and her wall was from the sea? <sup>9</sup>Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were her helpers. <sup>10</sup>Yet was she caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lottes for her noble men, and al her myghtie men were bound in chaines. <sup>11</sup>Also thou shalt bee drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe because of the enemye. <sup>12</sup>All thy strong cities shall be like figtrees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and ye fire shall deuoure thy barres. <sup>14</sup>Drawe thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: go into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke. <sup>15</sup>There shall ye fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the locustes, though thou bee multiplied like the locustes, and multiplied like the grasshopper. <sup>16</sup>Thou hast multiplied thy marchantes about the starres of heauen: the locust spoileth and flyeth away. <sup>17</sup>Thy princes are as the grasshoppers, and thy captaines as the great grasshoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away and their place is not knownen where they are. <sup>18</sup>Thy shepheardes doe sleepe, O King of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them. <sup>19</sup>There is no healing of thy wounde: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon whome hath not thy malice passed continually?

HABAKKUK

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see. <sup>2</sup>O Lord, howe long shall I crye, and thou wilt not heare! euen crye out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe! <sup>3</sup>Why doest thou shewe mee iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that rayse vp strife and contention. <sup>4</sup>Therefore the Lawe is dissolved, and iudgement doeth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth compasse about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth. <sup>5</sup>Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: yee will not beleuee it, though it be tolde you. <sup>6</sup>For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the lande to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs. <sup>7</sup>They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement and their dignitie shall procede of theselues. <sup>8</sup>Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate. <sup>9</sup>They come all to spoyle: before their faces shalbe an Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, as the sand. <sup>10</sup>And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a skorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust, and take it. <sup>11</sup>Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god. <sup>12</sup>Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction. <sup>13</sup>Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he? <sup>14</sup>And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them. <sup>15</sup>They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad. <sup>16</sup>Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat and their meat plenteous. <sup>17</sup>Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay the nations?

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>I will stand vpon my watch, and set me vpon the towre, and wil looke and see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me. <sup>2</sup>And the Lord answered me, and sayde, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne that readeth it. <sup>3</sup>For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stand. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, he that lifeth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpriht in him, but the iust shall liue by his fayth, <sup>5</sup>Yea, in deede the proude man is as hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people. <sup>6</sup>Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? howe long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay? <sup>7</sup>Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their praye? <sup>8</sup>Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein. <sup>9</sup>Ho, he that coueteth an euil couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euil. <sup>10</sup>Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule. <sup>11</sup>For the stone shall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it. <sup>12</sup>Wo vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie. <sup>13</sup>Beholde, is it not of the Lord of hostes that the people shall labour in ye very fire? the people shall euen weary themselves for very vanitie. <sup>14</sup>For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea. <sup>15</sup>Wo vnto him that giueth his neighbour drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities. <sup>16</sup>Thou art filled with shame for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glory. <sup>17</sup>For the crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein. <sup>18</sup>What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles. <sup>19</sup>Wo vnto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: beholde, it is layde ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it. <sup>20</sup>But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>A prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorances. <sup>2</sup>O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lord, reuiue thy worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeeres make it knownen: in wrath remember mercy. <sup>3</sup>God commeth from Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his prayse, <sup>4</sup>And his brightnes was as the light: he had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power. <sup>5</sup>Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete. <sup>6</sup>He stode and measured the earth: he behelde and dissolved the nations and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bowe: his wayes are euerlasting. <sup>7</sup>For his iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble. <sup>8</sup>Was the Lord angry against the riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation. <sup>9</sup>Thy bowe was manifestly reueiled, and the othes of the tribes were a sure worde, Selah. thou diddest cleaue the earth with riuers. <sup>10</sup>The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie. <sup>11</sup>The sunne and moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares. <sup>12</sup>Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and didest thresh the heathen in displeasure. <sup>13</sup>Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the necke, Selah. <sup>14</sup>Thou didest strike thorowe with his owne staues the heades of his villages: they came out as a whirle winde to scatter me: their reioyng was as to deuoure the poore secretly. <sup>15</sup>Thou didest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters. <sup>16</sup>When I heard, my bellie trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble: for whe he commeth vp vnto the people, he shall destroy them. <sup>17</sup>For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite be in the vines: the labour of the oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the folde, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles. <sup>18</sup>But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation. <sup>19</sup>The Lord God is my strength: hee will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

ZEPHANIAH

<sup>1</sup>The word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah ye sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of Amon King of Iudah. <sup>2</sup>I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord. <sup>3</sup>I will destroy man and beast: I wil destroy the foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord. <sup>4</sup>I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I wil cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with ye Priestes, <sup>5</sup>And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by Malcham, <sup>6</sup>And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him. <sup>7</sup>Be stil at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests. <sup>8</sup>And it shalbe in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the Kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell. <sup>9</sup>In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite. <sup>10</sup>And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles. <sup>11</sup>Howe ye inhabitants of the lowe place: for the companie of the marchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off. <sup>12</sup>And at that time will I searche Ierusalem with lightes, and visite the men that are frozen in their dregges, and say in their heartes, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill. <sup>13</sup>Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof. <sup>14</sup>The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry there bitterly. <sup>15</sup>That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blackenesse, <sup>16</sup>A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the hie towres. <sup>17</sup>And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dongue. <sup>18</sup>Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in ye day of the Lords wrath, but the whole lande shalbe deuoured by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

<sup>1</sup>Gather your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthie to be loued, <sup>2</sup>Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you. <sup>3</sup>Seeke yee the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so bee that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath. <sup>4</sup>For Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shalbe rooted vp. <sup>5</sup>Wo vnto the inhabitants of the sea coast. the nation of the Cherethims, the worde of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the lande of the Philistims, I will euen destroye thee without an inhabitant. <sup>6</sup>And the sea coast shall be dwellings and cotages for shepherdes and sheepefoldes. <sup>7</sup>And that coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie. <sup>8</sup>I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their borders. <sup>9</sup>Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles and salt pittes, and a perpetuall desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoyle them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them. <sup>10</sup>This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched and magnified themselves against the Lord of hostes people. <sup>11</sup>The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for he wil consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen. <sup>12</sup>Ye Morians also shalbe slaine by my sword with them. <sup>13</sup>And he wil stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderness. <sup>14</sup>And flockes shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the pelicane, and the owle shall abide in the vpper postes of it: the voyce of birdes shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shalbe vpon the postes: for the cedars are vncovered. <sup>15</sup>This is the reioycing citie that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beastes! euery one that passeth by her, shall hisse and wagge his hand.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Woe to her that is filthie and polluted, to the robbing citie. <sup>2</sup>She heard not the voyce: she receiued not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God. <sup>3</sup>Her princes within her are as roaring lyons: her iudges are as wolues in the euening, which leaue not the bones till the morow. <sup>4</sup>Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuarie: they haue wrested the Lawe. <sup>5</sup>The iust Lord is in the middes thereof: he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth hee bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed. <sup>6</sup>I haue cut off the nations: their towres are desolate: I haue made their streetes waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant. <sup>7</sup>I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling shoulde not be destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but they rose early and corrupted all their workes. <sup>8</sup>Therefore wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my ielousie. <sup>9</sup>Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one cosent. <sup>10</sup>From beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shall bring me an offering. <sup>11</sup>In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy workes, wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then I will take away out of the middes of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proude of mine holy Mountaine. <sup>12</sup>Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord. <sup>13</sup>The remnant of Israel shall do none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth: for they shalbe fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraide. <sup>14</sup>Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem. <sup>15</sup>The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: hee hath cast out thineemie: the King of Israel, euen the Lord is in the middes of thee: thou shalt see no more euill. <sup>16</sup>In that day it shalbe said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine handes be faint. <sup>17</sup>The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mightie: hee will saue, hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himselfe in his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy. <sup>18</sup>After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it. <sup>19</sup>Beholde, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the landes of their shame. <sup>20</sup>At that time wil I bring you againe, and then wil I gather you: for I wil giue you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

HAGGAI

<sup>1</sup>In the second yeere of King Darius, in the sixth moneth, the first day of the moneth, came ye worde of the Lord (by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords House should be builded. <sup>3</sup>Then came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, <sup>4</sup>Is it time for your selues to dwell in your sieled houses, and this House lie waste? <sup>5</sup>Now therefore thus saith ye Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts. <sup>6</sup>Ye haue sowen much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge. <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts. <sup>8</sup>Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and I wil be fauourable in it, and I will be glorified, sayth the Lord. <sup>9</sup>Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe vpon it. And why, sayth the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house. <sup>10</sup>Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite. <sup>11</sup>And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands. <sup>12</sup>When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, sayth the Lord. <sup>14</sup>And the Lord stirred vp the spirite of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hostes their God.

<sup>1</sup>In the foure and twentieth day of the sixth moneth, in the second yeere of King Darius, <sup>2</sup>In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, <sup>3</sup>Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying, <sup>4</sup>Who is left among you, that sawe this House in her first glory, and howe doe you see it nowe? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing? <sup>5</sup>Yet nowe be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, sayth the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, sayth the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, sayth the Lord of hostes, <sup>6</sup>According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirite shall remaine among you, feare ye not. <sup>7</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land: <sup>8</sup>And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>9</sup>The siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>10</sup>The glory of this last House shall be greater then the first, sayth the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>11</sup>In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying, <sup>12</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske nowe the Priests concerning the Law, and say, <sup>13</sup>If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the potage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meate, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No. <sup>14</sup>Then sayde Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vnclane? And the Priests answered, and sayd, It shalbe vnclane. <sup>15</sup>Then answered Haggai, and sayd, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vnclane. <sup>16</sup>And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layde vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord: <sup>17</sup>Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie. <sup>18</sup>I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord. <sup>19</sup>Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laide: consider it in your mindes. <sup>20</sup>Is the seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you. <sup>21</sup>And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying, <sup>22</sup>Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I wil shake the heauens and the earth, <sup>23</sup>And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I wil destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I wil ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother. (Haggai : ) In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruaut, the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lord, and wil make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayth the Lord of hostes

ZECHARIAH

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>In the eight moneth of the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying, <sup>2</sup>The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers. <sup>3</sup>Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>4</sup>Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whome the former prophets haue cried, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord. <sup>5</sup>Your fathers, where are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer? <sup>6</sup>But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants ye Prophets, take holde of your fathers? and they returned, and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs. <sup>7</sup>Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, <sup>8</sup>I saw by night, and behold a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there red horses speckeled and white. <sup>9</sup>Then sayd I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, sayde vnto me, I wil shew thee what these be. <sup>10</sup>And the man that stood among the mirre trees, answered, and sayd, These are they whome the Lord hath sent to go through the world. <sup>11</sup>And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the mirre trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorowe the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest. <sup>12</sup>Then the Angel of the Lord answered and sayd, O Lord of hostes, howe long wilt thou be vnmmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres? <sup>13</sup>And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes. <sup>14</sup>So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto me, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, <sup>15</sup>And am greatly angrie against the carelesse heathen: for I was angrie but a litle, and they helped forward the affliction. <sup>16</sup>Therefore thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem. <sup>17</sup>Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plentie: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem. <sup>18</sup>Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, foure hornes. <sup>19</sup>And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem. <sup>20</sup>And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters. <sup>21</sup>Then said I, What come these to doe? And he answered, and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to scatter it.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>I lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand. <sup>2</sup>Then saide I, Whither goest thou? And he saide vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof. <sup>3</sup>And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him, <sup>4</sup>And saide vnto him, Runne, speake to this yong man, and say, Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein. <sup>5</sup>For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and wil be the glory in the middes of her. <sup>6</sup>Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure winds of the heauen, saith ye Lord. <sup>7</sup>Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel. <sup>8</sup>For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath hee sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye. <sup>9</sup>For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand vpon them: and they shalbe a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me. <sup>10</sup>Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, saith the Lord. <sup>11</sup>And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee. <sup>12</sup>And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy lande, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe. <sup>13</sup>Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

<sup>1</sup>And he shewed mee Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stooode at his right hand to resist him. <sup>2</sup>And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprocue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprocue thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire? <sup>3</sup>Nowe Iehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stooode before the Angel. <sup>4</sup>And he answered and spake vnto those that stooode before him, saying, Take away the filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee saide, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I wil clothe thee with change of raiment. <sup>5</sup>And I saide, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stooode by. <sup>6</sup>And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying, <sup>7</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my courtes, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by. <sup>8</sup>Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they are monstuous persons: but behold, I wil bring forth the Branche my seruaut. <sup>9</sup>For loe, the stone that I haue layd before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: beholde, I will cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day. <sup>10</sup>In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figge tree.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is rayased out of his sleepe, <sup>2</sup>And saide vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a candlesticke all of gold with a bowle vpon the toppe of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the toppe thereof. <sup>3</sup>And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof. <sup>4</sup>So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord? <sup>5</sup>Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord. <sup>6</sup>Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>7</sup>Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it. <sup>8</sup>Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>9</sup>The handes of Zerubbabel haue layde the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. <sup>10</sup>For who hath despised the day of the small thinges? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which go thorow the whole world. <sup>11</sup>Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof? <sup>12</sup>And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two oliue branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde? <sup>13</sup>And hee answered me, and saide, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayde, No, my Lord. <sup>14</sup>Then said he, These are the two oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and beholde, a flying booke. <sup>2</sup>And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof tenne cubites. <sup>3</sup>Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that stealeth, shalbe cut off aswell on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth, shall be cut off aswell on this side, as on that. <sup>4</sup>I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hosts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof. <sup>5</sup>Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth foorth. <sup>6</sup>And I saide, What is it? And hee sayde, This is an Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee saide moreouer, This is the sight of them through all the earth. <sup>7</sup>And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the middes of the Ephah. <sup>8</sup>And he said, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof. <sup>9</sup>Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betwene the earth and the heauen. <sup>10</sup>Then saide I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah? <sup>11</sup>And hee saide vnto mee, To builde it an house in the lande of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Againe, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure charets out from betwene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse. <sup>2</sup>In the first charet were red horses, and in the second charet blacke horses, <sup>3</sup>And in the thirde charet white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of diuers colours, and reddish. <sup>4</sup>Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angell that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord? <sup>5</sup>And the Angell answered, and sayde vnto mee, These are the foure spirites of the heauen, which goe foorth from standing with the Lord of all the earth. <sup>6</sup>That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South country. <sup>7</sup>And the reddish went out, and required to go, and passe through the world, and he sayde, Goe passe through the worlde. So they went thorowout the world. <sup>8</sup>Then cryed hee vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe toward the North countrey, haue pacified my spirit in the North countrey. <sup>9</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, <sup>10</sup>Take of them of ye captiuitie, euen of Heldaï, and of Tobijah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah. <sup>11</sup>Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, <sup>12</sup>And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and sayth, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe vp out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord. <sup>13</sup>Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shalbe a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betwene them both. <sup>14</sup>And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Iedaiah, and to Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memorall in the Temple of the Lord. <sup>15</sup>And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>And in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in Chisleu, <sup>2</sup>For they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord, <sup>3</sup>And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fift moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres? <sup>4</sup>Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying, <sup>5</sup>Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen the seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? doe I approoue it? <sup>6</sup>And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate for your selues, and drinke for your selues? <sup>7</sup>Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited? <sup>8</sup>And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying, <sup>9</sup>Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother, <sup>10</sup>And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fatherles, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart. <sup>11</sup>But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare. <sup>12</sup>Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministerie of ye former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes. <sup>13</sup>Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>14</sup>But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they layd the pleasant land waste.

<sup>1</sup>Againe the worde of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying, <sup>2</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath. <sup>3</sup>Thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zion, and wil dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shalbe called a citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine. <sup>4</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet olde men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age. <sup>5</sup>And the streetes of the citie shalbe full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof. <sup>6</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, sayth the Lord of hostes? <sup>7</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey. <sup>8</sup>And I wil bring them, and they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shalbe my people, and I wil be their God in trueth, and in righteousnes. <sup>9</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded. <sup>10</sup>For before these dayes there was no hire for man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour. <sup>11</sup>But now, I wil not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes. <sup>12</sup>For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things. <sup>13</sup>And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong. <sup>14</sup>For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, sayth the Lord of hostes, and repented not, <sup>15</sup>So againe haue I determined in these daies to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not. <sup>16</sup>These are ye things that ye shall doe.

Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vpightly in your gates, <sup>17</sup>And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>And the worde of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying, <sup>19</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, 'The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous hie feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace. <sup>20</sup>Thus saith the Lord of hostes, 'That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities. <sup>21</sup>And they that dwell in one cite, shall go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I wil go also. <sup>22</sup>Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord. <sup>23</sup>Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will go with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>The burden of the worde of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shalbe his rest: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord. <sup>2</sup>And Hamath also shall border thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise. <sup>3</sup>For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes. <sup>4</sup>Beholde, the Lord wil spoyle her, and he wil smite her power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire. <sup>5</sup>Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shalbe very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited. <sup>6</sup>And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I wil cut off the pride of the Philistims. <sup>7</sup>And I wil take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shalbe for our God, and he shalbe as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite. <sup>8</sup>And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I seene with mine eyes. <sup>9</sup>Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy King commeth vnto thee: he is iust and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse. <sup>10</sup>And I wil cut off the charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shalbe broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shalbe from sea vnto sea, and from the Riuer to the end of the land. <sup>11</sup>Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water. <sup>12</sup>Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee. <sup>13</sup>For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword. <sup>14</sup>And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrowe shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewindes of the South. <sup>15</sup>The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorowe wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar. <sup>16</sup>And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be as the stones of the crowne lifted up upon his land. <sup>17</sup>For howe great is his goodnesse! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cherefull, and newe wine the maidens.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>Aske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showers of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field. <sup>2</sup>Surely the idols haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepherd. <sup>3</sup>My wrath was kindled against the shepherdes, and I did visite the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull horse in the battell. <sup>4</sup>Out of him shall the corner come forth:

out of him the nayle, out of him ye bowe of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also. <sup>5</sup>And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded. <sup>6</sup>And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them. <sup>7</sup>And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as thorowe wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord. <sup>8</sup>I will hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased. <sup>9</sup>And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreys: and they shall lue with their children and turne againe. <sup>10</sup>I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them. <sup>11</sup>And he shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuier shall drye vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away. <sup>12</sup>And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, sayth the Lord.

<sup>1</sup>Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars. <sup>2</sup>Houle, firme trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashan, for ye defesed forest is cut downe. <sup>3</sup>There is the voyce of the howling of the shepherdes: for their glorie is destroyed: the voyce of ye roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed. <sup>4</sup>Thus sayeth the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter. <sup>5</sup>They that possesse them, slay them and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed be the Lord: for I am riche, and their owne shepherds spare them not. <sup>6</sup>Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayth the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his King: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I wil not deliuer them. <sup>7</sup>For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me two stauers: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe. <sup>8</sup>Three shepherdes also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed them, and their soule abhorred me. <sup>9</sup>Then said I, I will not feede you: that that dyeth, let it dye: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour. <sup>10</sup>And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people. <sup>11</sup>And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the worde of the Lord. <sup>12</sup>And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer. <sup>13</sup>And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel. <sup>15</sup>And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd. <sup>16</sup>For loe, I will rayse vp a shepherd in the land, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces. <sup>17</sup>O idole shepherd that leaueth the flocke: the sword shalbe vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be vtterly darkened.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>The burden of the worde of the Lord vpon Israel, sayth the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layed the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him. <sup>2</sup>Beholde, I will make Ierusalem a cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be, in ye siege against Ierusalem. <sup>3</sup>And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it. <sup>4</sup>In that day, sayeth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse. <sup>5</sup>And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God. <sup>6</sup>In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem. <sup>7</sup>The Lord also shall preserue the tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah. <sup>8</sup>In that day shall the Lord defende the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them. <sup>9</sup>And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem. <sup>10</sup>And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pearced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne. <sup>11</sup>In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon. <sup>12</sup>And the land shall bewaile euery familie apart, the familie of the house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart: <sup>13</sup>The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of Semei apart, and their wiues apart: <sup>14</sup>All the families that remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>In that day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse. <sup>2</sup>And in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I will cause the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land. <sup>3</sup>And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not lue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begat him, shall thrust him through, when he prophesieth. <sup>4</sup>And in that day shall the prophetes be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue. <sup>5</sup>But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp. <sup>6</sup>And one shall say vnto him, What are these woundes in thine hands? Then he shall answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friendes. <sup>7</sup>Arise, O sword, vpon my shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, sayth the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the litle ones. <sup>8</sup>And in all the land, sayeth the Lord, two partes therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein. <sup>9</sup>And I will bring that third part thorowe the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trye them as golde is tryed: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>Beholde, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall be deuided in the middes of thee. <sup>2</sup>For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the cite shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the cite shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from ye cite. <sup>3</sup>Then shall the Lord goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell. <sup>4</sup>And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the Eastside, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great valley, and halfe of ye mountaine shall remooue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South. <sup>5</sup>And yee shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reache vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the daies of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee. <sup>6</sup>And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke. <sup>7</sup>And there shall bee a day (it is knowne to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light. <sup>8</sup>And in that day shall there waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermost sea, and shall be, both in sommer and winter. <sup>9</sup>And the Lord shall bee King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there bee one Lord, and his Name shalbe one. <sup>10</sup>All the lande shall bee turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the Kings wine presses. <sup>11</sup>And men shall dwell in it, and there shall bee no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall bee safely inhabited. <sup>12</sup>And this shall bee the plague, wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth. <sup>13</sup>But in that day a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take the hande of his neighbour, and his hande shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour. <sup>14</sup>And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered rounde about, with golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell. <sup>15</sup>Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this plague. <sup>16</sup>But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. <sup>17</sup>And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine. <sup>18</sup>And if the familie of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. <sup>19</sup>This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles. <sup>20</sup>In that day shall there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the pottes in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar. <sup>21</sup>Yea, euery pottle in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and see the therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

MALACHI

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The burden of the woordes of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi. <sup>2</sup>I haue loued you, sayth the Lord: yet yee say, Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iakob, <sup>3</sup>And I hated Esau, and made his mountaines wast, and his heritage a wildernes for dragons. <sup>4</sup>Though Edom say, wee are impouerished, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet sayeth the Lord of hostes, they shall bulde, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whome the Lord is angrie for euer. <sup>5</sup>And your eyes shall see it, and yee shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel. <sup>6</sup>A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, sayth the Lord of hostes vnto you, O Priestes, that despise my Name? and yee say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name? <sup>7</sup>Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not to be regarded. <sup>8</sup>And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes? <sup>9</sup>And nowe, I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard your persons, sayth the Lord of hostes? <sup>10</sup>Who is there euen among you, that would shut the doores? and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine, I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hande. <sup>11</sup>For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offred vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>12</sup>But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted and the fruit thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded. <sup>13</sup>Ye said also, Beholde, it is a wearines, and ye haue snuffed at it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame and the sick: thus yee offred an offering: shoulde I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lord? <sup>14</sup>But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto ye Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>And now, O ye Priests, this commandement is for you. <sup>2</sup>If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, sayth the Lord of hostes, I will euen sende a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them alreadie, because yee doe not consider it in your heart. <sup>3</sup>Behold, I wil corrupt your seede, and cast dongue vpon your faces, euen the dongue of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it. <sup>4</sup>And yee shall know, that I haue sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>5</sup>My couenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared mee, and was afraid before my Name. <sup>6</sup>The lawe of trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie founde in his lippes: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie. <sup>7</sup>For the Priestes lippes shoulde preserue knowledge, and they shoulde seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes. <sup>8</sup>But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>9</sup>Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue beene partiall in the Lawe. <sup>10</sup>Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of our fathers? <sup>11</sup>Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange God. <sup>12</sup>The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruauent out of the Tabernacle of Iacob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes. <sup>13</sup>And this haue ye done againe, and couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands. <sup>14</sup>Yet yee say, Wherein? Because the Lord hath beene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy companion, and the wife of thy couenant. <sup>15</sup>And did not hee make one? yet had hee abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly seede: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth. <sup>16</sup>If thou hatest her, put her away, sayeth the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hosts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not. <sup>17</sup>Yee haue wearied the Lord with your wordes: yet yee say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he deliteth in them. Or where is the God of iudgement?

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedely come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, he shall come, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>2</sup>But who may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope. <sup>3</sup>And he shall sit downe to trye and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousness. <sup>4</sup>Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeres afore. <sup>5</sup>And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the southsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vex the widowe, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, sayth the Lord of hostes. <sup>6</sup>For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iacob are not consumed. <sup>7</sup>From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye saide, Wherein shall we returne? <sup>8</sup>Will a man

spoyl his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In tithes, and offerings. <sup>9</sup>Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation. <sup>10</sup>Bring ye all the tythes into the storehouse that there may be meate in mine House, and proue me nowe herewith, sayeth the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing without measure. <sup>11</sup>And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine be baren in the field, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>12</sup>And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>13</sup>Your wordes haue bene stout against me, sayeth the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee? <sup>14</sup>Ye haue saide, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes? <sup>15</sup>Therefore wee count the proude blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are deliuered. <sup>16</sup>Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name. <sup>17</sup>And they shall be to me, sayeth the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall do this, for a flocke, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him. <sup>18</sup>Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>For behold, the day commeth that shall burne as an ouen, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branche. <sup>2</sup>But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the sunne of righteousness arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall goe forth, and growe vp as fat calves. <sup>3</sup>And ye shall treade downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, sayeth the Lord of hostes. <sup>4</sup>Remember the lawe of Moses my seruauent, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements. <sup>5</sup>Beholde, I will sende you Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and fearefull day of the Lord. <sup>6</sup>And he shall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with cursing.

1 ESDRAS

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup> And Josias held the passover in Jerusalem unto his Lord, and offered the passover the fourteenth day of the first month; <sup>2</sup>Having set the priests according to their daily courses, being arrayed in their vestments, in the temple of the Lord. <sup>3</sup>And he spake unto the Levites, the temple-servants of Israel, that they should hallow themselves unto the Lord, to set the holy ark of the Lord in the house that king Solomon the son of David had built: <sup>4</sup>And said, Ye shall no more have need to bear it upon your shoulders: now therefore serve the Lord your God, and minister unto his people Israel, and prepare you after your fathers' houses and kindreds, <sup>5</sup>According to the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the magnificence of Solomon his son: and standing in the holy place according to the several divisions of the families of you the Levites, who minister in the presence of your brethren the children of Israel, <sup>6</sup>Offer the passover in order, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keep the passover according to the commandment of the Lord, which was given unto Moses. <sup>7</sup>And unto the people which were present Josias gave thirty thousand lambs and kids, and three thousand calves: these things were given of the king's substance, according as he promised, to the people, and to the priests and Levites. <sup>8</sup>And Helkias, and Zacharias, and Eyselus, the rulers of the temple, gave to the priests for the passover two thousand and six hundred sheep, and three hundred calves. <sup>9</sup>And Jeconias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Sabias, and Ochielus, and Joram, captains over thousands, gave to the Levites for the passover five thousand sheep, and seven hundred calves. <sup>10</sup>And when these things were done, the priests and Levites, having the unleavened bread, stood in comely order according to the kindreds, <sup>11</sup>And according to the several divisions by fathers' houses, before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moses: and thus did they in the morning. <sup>12</sup>And they roasted the passover with fire, as appertaineth: and the sacrifices they sod in the brassen vessels and caldrons with a good savour, <sup>13</sup>And set them before all the people: and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the priests their brethren, the sons of Aaron. <sup>14</sup>For the priests offered the fat until night: and the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests their brethren, the sons of Aaron. <sup>15</sup>The holy singers also, the sons of Asaph, were in their order, according to the appointment of David, to wit, Asaph, Zacharias, and Eddinus, who was of the king's retinue. <sup>16</sup>Moreover the porters were at every gate; none had need to depart from his daily course: for their brethren the Levites prepared for them. <sup>17</sup>Thus were the things that belonged to the sacrifices of the Lord accomplished in that day, in holding the passover, <sup>18</sup>And offering sacrifices upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josias. <sup>19</sup>So the children of Israel which were present at that time held the passover, and the feast of unleavened bread seven days. <sup>20</sup>And such a passover was not held in Israel since the time of the prophet Samuel. <sup>21</sup>Yea, all the kings of Israel held not such a passover as Josias, and the priests, and the Levites, and the Jews, held with all Israel that were present in their dwelling place at Jerusalem. <sup>22</sup>In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josias was this passover held. <sup>23</sup>And the works of Josias were upright before his Lord with a heart full of godliness. <sup>24</sup>Moreover the things that came to pass in his days have been written in times past, concerning those that sinned, and did wickedly against the Lord above every people and kingdom, and how they grieved him exceedingly, so that the words of the Lord were confirmed against Israel. <sup>25</sup>Now after all these acts of Josias it came to pass, that Pharaoh the king of Egypt came to raise war at Carchemish upon Euphrates: and Josias went out against him. <sup>26</sup>But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, O king of Judaea? <sup>27</sup>I am not sent out from the Lord God against thee; for my war is upon Euphrates: and now the Lord is with me, yea, the Lord is with me hasting me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord. <sup>28</sup>Howbeit Josias did not turn back unto his chariot, but undertook to fight with him, not regarding the words of the prophet Jeremy spoken by the mouth of the Lord: <sup>29</sup>But joined battle with him in the plain of Megiddo, and the princes came down against king Josias. <sup>30</sup>Then said the king unto his servants, Carry me away out of the battle; for I am very weak. And immediately his servants carried him away out of the host. <sup>31</sup>Then gat he up upon his second chariot; and being brought back to Jerusalem he died, and was buried in the sepulchre of his fathers. <sup>32</sup>And in all Jewry they mourned for Josias; and Jeremy the prophet lamented for Josias, and the chief men with the women made lamentation for him, unto this day: and this was given out for an ordinance to be done continually in all the nation of Israel. <sup>33</sup>These things are written in the book of the histories of the kings of Judaea, and every one of the acts that Josias did, and his glory, and his understanding in the law of the Lord, and the things that he had done before, and the things now recited, are reported in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. <sup>34</sup>And the people took Joachaz the son of Josias, and made him king instead of Josias his father, when he was twenty and three years old. <sup>35</sup>And he reigned in Judah and in Jerusalem three months: and then the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem. <sup>36</sup>And he set a tax upon the people of a hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold. <sup>37</sup>The king of Egypt also made king Joakim his brother king of Judaea and Jerusalem. <sup>38</sup>And Joakim bound the nobles: but Zarakes his brother he apprehended, and brought him up out of Egypt. <sup>39</sup>FIVE and twenty years old was Joakim when he began to reign in Judaea and Jerusalem; and he did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord. <sup>40</sup>And against him Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon came up, and bound him with a chain of brass, and carried him unto Babylon. <sup>41</sup>Nabuchodonosor also took of the holy vessels of the Lord, and carried them away, and set them up in his own temple at Babylon. <sup>42</sup>But those things that are reported of him, and of his uncleanness and impiety, are written in the chronicles of the kings. <sup>43</sup>And Joakim his son reigned in his stead: for when he was made king he was eighteen years old; <sup>44</sup>And he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem; and did that which was evil before the Lord. <sup>45</sup>So after a year Nabuchodonosor sent and caused him to be brought unto Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord; <sup>46</sup>And made Sedekias king of Judaea and Jerusalem, when he was one and twenty years old; and he reigned eleven years: <sup>47</sup>And he also did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord, and cared not for the words that were spoken by Jeremy the prophet from the mouth of the Lord. <sup>48</sup>And after that king Nabuchodonosor had made him to swear by the name of the Lord, he forswore himself, and rebelled; and hardening his neck, and his heart, he transgressed the laws of the Lord, the God of Israel. <sup>49</sup>Moreover the governors of the people and of the priests did many things wickedly, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and defiled the temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Jerusalem. <sup>50</sup>And the God of their fathers sent by his messenger to call them back, because he had compassion on them and on his dwelling place. <sup>51</sup>But they mocked his messengers; and in the day when the Lord spake unto them, they scoffed at his prophets: <sup>52</sup>So far forth, that he, being wroth with his people for their great ungodliness, commanded to bring up the kings of the Chaldeans against them; <sup>53</sup>Who slew their young men with the sword, round about their holy temple, and spared neither young man nor maid, old man nor child; but he delivered all into their hands. <sup>54</sup>And they took all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the ark of the Lord, and the king's treasures, and carried them away unto Babylon. <sup>55</sup>And they burnt the house of the Lord, and brake down the walls of Jerusalem, and burnt the towers thereof with fire: <sup>56</sup>And as for her glorious things, they never ceased till they had brought them all to nought: and the people that were not slain with the sword he carried unto Babylon: <sup>57</sup>And they were servants unto him and to his children, till the Persians reigned, to fulfil the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremy: <sup>58</sup>Until the land hath enjoyed her sabbaths, the whole time of her desolation shall she keep sabbath, to fulfil threescore and ten years.

CHAPTER 2

of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord, be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem that is in Judæa, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord that dwelleth in Jerusalem. <sup>6</sup>Of such therefore as dwell in divers places, let them that are in his own place help each one with gold, and with silver, <sup>7</sup>With gifts, with horses also and cattle, beside the other things which have been added by vow for the temple of the Lord which is in Jerusalem. <sup>8</sup>Then the chief of the families of Judah and of the tribe of Benjamin stood up; the priests also, and the Levites, and all they whose spirit the Lord had stirred to go up, to build the house for the Lord which is in Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup>And they that dwelt round about them helped them in all things with silver and gold, with horses and cattle, and with very many gifts that were vowed of a great number whose minds were stirred up thereto. <sup>10</sup>King Cyrus also brought forth the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried away from Jerusalem, and had set up in his temple of idols. <sup>11</sup>Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them forth, he delivered them to Mithradates his treasurer, <sup>12</sup>And by him they were delivered to Sanabassar the governor of Judæa. <sup>13</sup>And this was the number of them: A thousand golden cups, a thousand cups of silver, censers of silver twenty nine, vials of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand four hundred and ten, and other vessels a thousand. <sup>14</sup>So all the vessels of gold and of silver were brought up, even five thousand four hundred threescore and nine, <sup>15</sup>And were carried back by Sanabassar, together with them of the captivity, from Babylon to Jerusalem. <sup>16</sup>But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians Belemus, and Mithradates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and Samellius the scribe, with the others that were in commission with them, dwelling in Samaria and other places, wrote unto him against them that dwelt in Judæa and Jerusalem the letter following: <sup>17</sup>To king Artaxerxes our lord, Thy servants, Rathumus the storywriter, and Samellius the scribe, and the rest of their council, and the judges that are in Cœlesyria and Phœnicia. <sup>18</sup>Be it now known to our lord the king, that the Jews that are come up from you to us, being come unto Jerusalem, do build that rebellious and wicked city, and do repair the market-places and the walls of it, and do lay the foundation of a temple. <sup>19</sup>Now if this city be builded and the walls thereof be finished, they will not only refuse to give tribute, but will even stand up against kings. <sup>20</sup>And forasmuch as the things pertaining to the temple are now in hand, we think it meet not to neglect such a matter, <sup>21</sup>But to speak unto our lord the king, to the intent that, if it be thy pleasure, search may be made in the books of thy fathers: <sup>22</sup>And thou shalt find in the chronicles what is written concerning these things, and shalt understand that that city was rebellious, troubling both kings and cities: <sup>23</sup>And that the Jews were rebellious, and raised always wars therein of old time; for the which cause even this city was laid waste. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore now we do declare unto thee, O lord the king, that if this city be builded again, and the walls thereof set up anew, thou shalt from henceforth have no passage into Cœlesyria and Phœnicia. <sup>25</sup>Then the king wrote back again to Rathumus the storywriter, and Beeltethmus, and Samellius the scribe, and to the rest that were in commission, and dwelt in Samaria and Syria and Phœnicia, after this manner: <sup>26</sup>I have read the epistle which ye have sent unto me: therefore I commanded to make search, and it hath been found that that city of old time hath made insurrection against kings; <sup>27</sup>And the men were given to rebellion and war therein: and that mighty kings and fierce were in Jerusalem, who reigned and exacted tribute in Cœlesyria and Phœnicia. <sup>28</sup>Now therefore I have commanded to hinder those men from building the city, and heed to be taken that there be nothing done contrary to this order; <sup>29</sup>And that those wicked doings proceed no further to the annoyance of kings. <sup>30</sup>Then king Artaxerxes his letters being read, Rathumus, and Samellius the scribe, and the rest that were in commission with them, removing in haste unto Jerusalem with horsemen and a multitude of people in battle array, began to hinder the builders; and the building of the temple in Jerusalem ceased until the second year of the reign of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Now king Darius made a great feast unto all his subjects, and unto all that were born in his house, and unto all the princes of Media and of Persia, <sup>2</sup>And to all the satraps and captains and governors that were under him, from India unto Ethiopia, in the hundred twenty and seven provinces. <sup>3</sup>And when they had eaten and drunken, and being satisfied were gone home, then Darius the king went into his bedchamber, and slept, and awaked out of his sleep. <sup>4</sup>Then the three young men of the body-guard, that kept the king's person, spake one to another: <sup>5</sup>Let every one of us say one thing which shall be strongest: and he whose sentence shall seem wiser than the others, unto him shall Darius the king give great gifts, and great honours in token of victory: <sup>6</sup>As, to be clothed in purple, to drink in gold, and to sleep upon gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, and a head-tire of fine linen, and a chain about his neck: <sup>7</sup>And he shall sit next to Darius because of his wisdom, and shall be called Darius his cousin. <sup>8</sup>And then they wrote every one his sentence, and set to their seals, and laid the writing under king Darius his pillow, <sup>9</sup>And said, When the king is risen, some shall give him the writing; and of whose side the king and the three princes of Persia shall judge that his sentence is the wisest, to him shall the victory be given, as it is written. <sup>10</sup>The first wrote, Wine is the strongest. <sup>11</sup>The second wrote, The king is strongest. <sup>12</sup>The third wrote, Women are strongest: but above all things Truth beareth away the victory. <sup>13</sup>Now when the king was risen up, they took the writing, and gave it unto him, and so he read it: <sup>14</sup>And sending forth he called all the princes of Persia and of Media, and the satraps, and the captains, and the governors, and the chief officers; <sup>15</sup>And sat him down in the royal seat of judgement; and the writing was read before them. <sup>16</sup>And he said, Call the young men, and they shall explain their own sentences. So they were called, and came in. <sup>17</sup>And they said unto them, Declare unto us your mind concerning the things ye have written. Then began the first, who had spoken of the strength of wine, <sup>18</sup>And said thus, O sirs, how exceeding strong is wine! it causeth all men to err that drink it: <sup>19</sup>It maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherless child to be all one; of the bondman and of the freeman, of the poor man and of the rich: <sup>20</sup>It turneth also every thought into jollity and mirth, so that a man remembereth neither sorrow nor debt: <sup>21</sup>And it maketh every heart rich, so that a man remembereth neither king nor satrap; and it maketh to speak all things by talents: <sup>22</sup>And when they are in their cups, they forget their love both to friends and brethren, and a little after draw their swords: <sup>23</sup>But when they awake from their wine, they remember not what they have done. <sup>24</sup>O sirs, is not wine the strongest, seeing that it enforceth to do thus? And when he had so spoken, he held his peace.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Then the second, that had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say, <sup>2</sup>O sirs, do not men excel in strength, that bear rule over the sea and land, and all things in them? <sup>3</sup>But yet is the king stronger: and he is their lord, and hath dominion over them; and in whatsoever he commandeth them they obey him. <sup>4</sup>If he bid them make war the one against the other, they do it: and if he send them out against the enemies, they go, and overcome mountains, walls, and towers. <sup>5</sup>They slay and are slain, and transgress not the king's commandment: if they get the victory, they bring all to the king, as well the spoil, as all things else. <sup>6</sup>Likewise for those that are no soldiers, and have not to do with wars, but use husbandry, when they have reaped again that which they had sown, they bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute unto the king. <sup>7</sup>And he is but one man: if he command to kill, they kill; if he command to spare, they spare; <sup>8</sup>If he command to smite, they smite; if he command to make desolate, they make desolate; if he command to build, they build; <sup>9</sup>If he command to cut down, they cut down; if he command to plant, they plant. <sup>10</sup>So all his people and his armies obey him: furthermore he lieth down, he eateth and drinketh, and taketh his rest: <sup>11</sup>And these keep watch round about him, neither may any one depart, and do his own business, neither disobey they him in anything. <sup>12</sup>O sirs, how should not the king be strongest, seeing that in such sort he is obeyed? And he held his peace. <sup>13</sup>Then the third, who had spoken of women, and of truth, (this was Zorobabel) began to speak. <sup>14</sup>O sirs, is not the king great, and men are many, and wine is strong? who is it then that ruleth them, or hath the lordship over them? are they not women? <sup>15</sup>Women have borne the king and all the people that bear rule by sea and land. <sup>16</sup>Even of them came they: and they nourished them up that planted the vineyards, from whence the wine cometh. <sup>17</sup>These also make garments for men; these bring glory unto men; and without women cannot men be. <sup>18</sup>Yea, and if men have gathered together gold and silver and every other goodly thing, and see a woman which is comely in favour and beauty, <sup>19</sup>They let all those things go, and gape after her, and even with open mouth fix their eyes fast on her; and have all more desire unto her than unto gold or silver, or any goodly thing whatsoever. <sup>20</sup>A man leaveth his own father that brought him up, and his own country, and cleaveth unto his wife. <sup>21</sup>And with his wife he endeth his days, and remembereth neither father, nor mother, nor country. <sup>22</sup>By this also ye must know that women have dominion over you: do ye not labour and toil, and give and bring all to women? <sup>23</sup>Yea, a man taketh his sword, and goeth forth to make outroads, and to rob and to steal, and to sail upon the sea and upon rivers; <sup>24</sup>And looketh upon a lion, and walketh in the darkness; and when he hath stolen, spoiled, and robbed, he bringeth it to his love. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore a man loveth his wife better than father or mother. <sup>26</sup>Yea, many there be that have run out of their wits for women, and become bondmen for their sakes. <sup>27</sup>Many also have perished, have stumbled, and sinned, for women. <sup>28</sup>And now do ye not believe me? is not the king great in his power? do not all regions fear to touch him? <sup>29</sup>Yet did I see him and Apame the king's concubine, the daughter of the illustrious Bartacus, sitting at the right hand of the king, <sup>30</sup>And taking the crown from the king's head, and setting it upon her own head; yea, she struck the king with her left hand: <sup>31</sup>And therewithal the king gaped and gazed upon her with open mouth: if she laughed upon him, he laughed also: but if she took any displeasure at him, he was fain to flatter, that she might be reconciled to him again. <sup>32</sup>O sirs, how can it be but women should be strong, seeing they do thus? <sup>33</sup>Then the king and the nobles looked one upon another: so he began to speak concerning truth. <sup>34</sup>O sirs, are not women strong? great is the earth, high is the heaven, swift is the sun in his course, for he compasseth the heavens round about, and fetcheth his course again to his own place in one day. <sup>35</sup>Is he not great that maketh these things? therefore great is truth, and stronger than all things. <sup>36</sup>All the earth calleth upon truth, and the heaven blesseth her: all works shake and tremble, but with her is no unrighteous thing. <sup>37</sup>Wine is unrighteous, the king is unrighteous, women are unrighteous, all the children of men are unrighteous, and unrighteous are all such their works; and there is no truth in them; in their unrighteousness also they shall perish. <sup>38</sup>But truth abideth, and is strong for ever; she liveth and conquereth for evermore. <sup>39</sup>With her there is no accepting of persons or rewards; but she doeth the things that are just, and refraineth from all unrighteous and wicked things; and all men do well like of her works. <sup>40</sup>Neither in her judgement is any unrighteousness; and she is the strength, and the kingdom, and the power, and the majesty, of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth. <sup>41</sup>And with that he held his tongue. And all the people then shouted, and said, Great is truth, and strong above all things. <sup>42</sup>Then said the king unto him, Ask what thou wilt more than is appointed in writing, and we will give it thee, inasmuch as thou art found wisest; and thou shalt sit next me, and shalt be called my cousin. <sup>43</sup>Then said he unto the king, Remember thy vow, which thou didst vow to build Jerusalem, in the day when thou camest to thy kingdom, <sup>44</sup>And to send away all the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart, when he vowed to destroy Babylon, and vowed to send them again thither. <sup>45</sup>Thou didst also vow to build up the temple, which the Edomites burned when Judaea was made desolate by the Chaldeans. <sup>46</sup>And now, O lord the king, this is that which I require, and which I desire of thee, and this is the princely liberality that shall proceed from thee: I pray therefore that thou make good the vow, the performance whereof thou hast vowed to the King of heaven with thine own mouth. <sup>47</sup>Then Darius the king stood up, and kissed him, and wrote letters for him unto all the treasurers and governors and captains and satraps, that they should safely bring on their way both him, and all those that should go up with him to build Jerusalem. <sup>48</sup>He wrote letters also unto all the governors that were in Coelesyria and Phoenicia, and unto them in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus unto Jerusalem, and that they should build the city with him. <sup>49</sup>Moreover he wrote for all the Jews that should go out of his realm up into Jewry, concerning their freedom, that no officer, no governor, no satrap, nor treasurer, should forcibly enter into their doors; <sup>50</sup>And that all the country which they occupied should be free to them without tribute; and that the Edomites should give over the villages of the Jews which then they held: <sup>51</sup>And that there should be yearly given twenty talents to the building of the temple, until the time that it were built; <sup>52</sup>And other ten talents yearly, for burnt offerings to be presented upon the altar every day, as they had a commandment to offer seventeen: <sup>53</sup>And that all they that should come from Babylonia to build the city should have their freedom, as well they as their posterity, and all the priests that came. <sup>54</sup>He wrote also to give them their charges, and the priests' vestments wherein they minister; <sup>55</sup>And for the Levites he wrote that their charges should be given them until the day that the house were finished, and Jerusalem builded up. <sup>56</sup>And he commanded to give to all that kept the city lands and wages. <sup>57</sup>He sent away also all the vessels from Babylon, that Cyrus had set apart; and all that Cyrus had given in commandment, the same charged he also to be done, and sent unto Jerusalem. <sup>58</sup>Now when this young man was gone forth, he lifted up his face to heaven toward Jerusalem, and praised the King of heaven, <sup>59</sup>And said, From thee cometh victory, from thee cometh wisdom, and thine is the glory, and I am thy servant. <sup>60</sup>Blessed art thou, who hast given me wisdom: and to thee I give thanks, O Lord of our fathers. <sup>61</sup>And so he took the letters, and went out, and came unto Babylon, and told it all his brethren. <sup>62</sup>And they praised the God of their fathers, because he had given them freedom and liberty. <sup>63</sup>To go up, and to build Jerusalem, and the temple which is called by his name: and they feasted with instruments of music and gladness seven days.

<sup>1</sup>After this were the chiefs of fathers' houses chosen to go up according to their tribes, with their wives and sons and daughters, with their menservants and maidservants, and their cattle. <sup>2</sup>And Darius sent with them a thousand horsemen, till they had brought them back to Jerusalem safely, and with musical instruments, tabrets and flutes. <sup>3</sup>And all their brethren played, and he made them go up together with them. <sup>4</sup>And these are the names of the men which went up, according to their families amongst their tribes, after their several divisions. <sup>5</sup>The priests, the sons of Phinees, the sons of Aaron: Jesus the son of Josedek, the son of Saraia, and Joakim the son of Zorobabel, the son of Salathiel, of the house of David, of the lineage of Phares, of the tribe of Judah; <sup>6</sup>Who spake wise sentences before Darius the king of Persia in the second year of his reign, in the month Nisan, which is the first month. <sup>7</sup>And these are they of Jewry that came up from the captivity, where they dwelt as strangers, whom Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon. <sup>8</sup>And they returned unto Jerusalem, and to the other parts of Jewry, every man to his own city, who came with Zorobabel, with Jesus, Nehemias, and Zariaas, Resaia, Eneneus, Mardocheus, Beelsarus, Aspharasus, Reelias, Roimus, and Baana, their leaders. <sup>9</sup>The number of them of the nation, and their leaders: the sons of Phoros, two thousand and a hundred seventy and two: the sons of Saphat, four hundred seventy and two: <sup>10</sup>The sons of Ares, seven hundred fifty and six: <sup>11</sup>The sons of Phaath Moab, of the sons of Jesus and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and twelve: <sup>12</sup>The sons of Elam, a thousand two hundred fifty and four: the sons of Zathui, nine hundred forty and five: the sons of Chorbe, seven hundred and five: the sons of Bani, six hundred forty and eight: <sup>13</sup>The sons of Bebai, six hundred twenty and three: the sons of Astad, a thousand three hundred twenty and two: <sup>14</sup>The sons of Adonikam, six hundred sixty and seven: the sons of Bagoi, two thousand sixty and six: the sons of Adinu, four hundred fifty and four: <sup>15</sup>The sons of Ater, of Ezekias, ninety and two: the sons of Kilan and Azetas, threescore and seven: the sons of Azaru, four hundred thirty and two: <sup>16</sup>The sons of Annis, a hundred and one: the sons of Arom: the sons of Bassai, three hundred twenty and three: the sons of Arsiphurith, a hundred and twelve: <sup>17</sup>The sons of Baiterus, three thousand and five: the sons of Bethlomon, a hundred twenty and three: <sup>18</sup>They of Netophas, fifty and five: they of Anathoth, a hundred fifty and eight: they of Bethasmoth, forty and two: <sup>19</sup>They of Kariathiarus, twenty and five: they of Caphira and Beroth, seven hundred forty and three: <sup>20</sup>The Chadiasai and Ammidioi, four hundred twenty and two: they of Kirama and Gabbe, six hundred twenty and one: <sup>21</sup>They of Macalon, a hundred twenty and two: they of Betolion, fifty and two: the sons of Niphis, a hundred fifty and six: <sup>22</sup>The sons of Calamolalus and Onus, seven hundred twenty and five: the sons of Jerechu, three hundred forty and five: <sup>23</sup>The sons of Sanaas, three thousand three hundred and thirty. <sup>24</sup>The priests: the sons of Jeddu, the son of Jesus, among the sons of Sanasib, nine hundred seventy and two: the sons of Emmeruth, a thousand fifty and two: <sup>25</sup>The sons of Phassurus, a thousand two hundred forty and seven: the sons of Charme, a thousand and seventeen. <sup>26</sup>The Levites: the sons of Jesus, and Kadmiel, and Bannas, and Sudias, seventy and four. <sup>27</sup>The holy singers: the sons of Asaph, a hundred twenty and eight. <sup>28</sup>The porters: the sons of Salum, the sons of Atar, the sons of Tolman, the sons of Dacubi, the sons of Ateta, the sons of Sabi, in all a hundred thirty and nine. <sup>29</sup>The temple-servants: the sons of Esau, the sons of Asipha, the sons of Tabaoth, the sons of Keras, the sons of Sua, the sons of Phaleas, the sons of Labana, the sons of Aggaba, <sup>30</sup>The sons of Acud, the sons of Uta, the sons of Ketab, the sons of Accaba, the sons of Subai, the sons of Anan, the sons of Cathua, the sons of Geddur, <sup>31</sup>The sons of Jairus, the sons of Daisan, the sons of Noeba, the sons of Chaseba, the sons of Gazera, the sons of Ozias, the sons of Phinoe, the sons of Asara, the sons of Basthai, the sons of Asana, the sons of Maani, the sons of Naphisi, the sons of Acub, the sons of Achipha, the sons of Asur, the sons of Pharakim, the sons of Basaloth, <sup>32</sup>The sons of Meedda, the sons of Cutha, the sons of Charea, the sons of Barchus, the sons of Serar, the sons of Thomei, the sons of Nasi, the sons of Atipha. <sup>33</sup>The sons of the servants of Solomon: the sons of Assaphioth, the sons of Pharida, the sons of Jeeli, the sons of Lozon, the sons of Isdael, the sons of Saphuthi, <sup>34</sup>The sons of Agia, the sons of Phacareth, the sons of Sabie, the sons of Sariothie, the sons of Masias, the sons of Gas, the sons of Addus, the sons of Subas, the sons of Apherra, the sons of Barodis, the sons of Saphat, the sons of Allon. <sup>35</sup>All the temple-servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon, were three hundred seventy and two. <sup>36</sup>These came up from Thermeleth, and Thelersas, Charaathalan leading them, and Allar; <sup>37</sup>And they could not shew their families, nor their stock, how they were of Israel: the sons of Dalan the son of Ban, the sons of Nekodan, six hundred fifty and two. <sup>38</sup>And of the priests, they that usurped the office of the priesthood and were not found: the sons of Obdia, the sons of Akkos, the sons of Jaddus, who married Augia one of the daughters of Zorzelleus, and was called after his name. <sup>39</sup>And when the description of the kindred of these men was sought in the register, and was not found, they were removed from executing the office of the priesthood: <sup>40</sup>For unto them said Nehemias and Attharias, that they should not be partakers of the holy things, till there arose up a high priest wearing Urim and Thummim. <sup>41</sup>So all they of Israel, from twelve years old and upward, beside menservants and womenservants, were in number forty and two thousand three hundred and sixty. <sup>42</sup>Their menservants and handmaids were seven thousand three hundred thirty and seven: the minstrels and singers, two hundred forty and five: <sup>43</sup>Four hundred thirty and five camels, seven thousand thirty and six horses, two hundred forty and five mules, five thousand five hundred twenty and five beasts of burden. <sup>44</sup>And certain of the chief men of their families, when they came to the temple of God that is in Jerusalem, vowed to set up the house again in its own place according to their ability, <sup>45</sup>And to give into the holy treasury of the works a thousand pounds of gold, five thousand of silver, and a hundred priestly vestments. <sup>46</sup>And the priests and the Levites and they that were of the people dwelt in Jerusalem and the country; the holy singers also and the porters and all Israel in their villages. <sup>47</sup>But when the seventh month was at hand, and when the children of Israel were every man in his own place, they came all together with one consent into the broad place before the first porch which is toward the east. <sup>48</sup>Then stood up Jesus the son of Josedek, and his brethren the priests, and Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and his brethren, and made ready the altar of the God of Israel, <sup>49</sup>To offer burnt sacrifices upon it, according as it is expressly commanded in the book of Moses the man of God. <sup>50</sup>And certain were gathered unto them out of the other nations of the land, and they erected the altar upon its own place, because all the nations of the land were at enmity with them, and oppressed them; and they offered sacrifices according to the time, and burnt offerings to the Lord both morning and evening. <sup>51</sup>Also they held the feast of tabernacles, as it is commanded in the law, and offered sacrifices daily, as was meet: <sup>52</sup>And after that, the continual oblations, and the sacrifices of the sabbaths, and of the new moons, and of all the consecrated feasts. <sup>53</sup>And all they that had made any vow to God began to offer sacrifices to God from the new moon of the seventh month, although the temple of God was not yet built. <sup>54</sup>And they gave money unto the masons and carpenters; and meat and drink, <sup>55</sup>And cars unto them of Sidon and Tyre, that they should bring cedar trees from Libanus, and convey them in floats to the haven of Joppa, according to the commandment which was written for them by Cyrus king of the Persians. <sup>56</sup>And in the second year after his coming to the temple of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Jesus the son of Josedek, and their brethren, and the priests the Levites, and all they that were come unto Jerusalem out of the captivity: <sup>57</sup>And they laid the foundation of the temple of God on the new moon of the second month, in the second year after they were come to Jewry and Jerusalem. <sup>58</sup>And they appointed the Levites from twenty years old over the works of the Lord. Then stood up Jesus, and his sons and brethren, and Kadmiel his brother, and the sons of Jesus, Emadabun, and the sons of Joda the son of Iliadun, and their sons and brethren, all the Levites, with one accord set forward of the business, labouring to advance the works in the house of God. So the builders builded the temple of the Lord. <sup>59</sup>And the priests stood arrayed in their vestments with musical instruments and trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with their cymbals, <sup>60</sup>Singing songs of thanksgiving, and praising the Lord, after the order of David king of Israel. <sup>61</sup>And they sang aloud, praising the Lord in songs of thanksgiving, because his goodness and his glory are for ever in all Israel. <sup>62</sup>And all the people sounded trumpets, and shouted with a loud voice, singing songs of thanksgiving unto the Lord for the rearing up of the house of the Lord. <sup>63</sup>Also of the priests the Levites, and of the heads of their families, the ancients who had seen the former house came to the building of this with lamentation and great weeping. <sup>64</sup>But many with trumpets and joy shouted with loud voice, <sup>65</sup>Insomuch that the people heard not the trumpets for the weeping of the people: for the multitude sounded marvellously, so that it was heard afar off. <sup>66</sup>Wherefore when the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what that noise of trumpets should mean. <sup>67</sup>And they perceived that they that were of the captivity did build the temple unto the Lord, the God of Israel. <sup>68</sup>So they went to Zorobabel and Jesus, and to the chief men of the families, and said unto them, We will build together with you. <sup>69</sup>For we likewise, as ye, do obey your Lord, and do sacrifice unto him from the days of Asbasareth the king of the Assyrians, who brought us hither. <sup>70</sup>Then Zorobabel and Jesus and the chief men of the families of Israel said unto them, It is not for you to build the house unto the Lord our God. <sup>71</sup>We ourselves alone will build unto the Lord of Israel, according as Cyrus the king of the Persians hath commanded us. <sup>72</sup>But the heathen of the land lying heavy upon the inhabitants of Judaea, and holding them strait, hindered their building; <sup>73</sup>And by their secret plots, and popular persuasions and commotions, they hindered the finishing of the building all the time that king Cyrus lived: so they were hindered from building for the space of two years, until the reign of Darius.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Now in the second year of the reign of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the son of Addo, the prophets, prophesied unto the Jews in Jewry and Jerusalem; in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, prophesied they unto them. <sup>2</sup>Then stood up Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Jesus the son of Josedek, and began to build the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, the prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them. <sup>3</sup>At the same time came unto them Sisinnus the governor of Syria and Phœnicia, with Sathrabuzanes and his companions, and said unto them, <sup>4</sup>By whose appointment do ye build this house and this roof, and perform all the other things? and who are the builders that perform these things? <sup>5</sup>Nevertheless the elders of the Jews obtained favour, because the Lord had visited the captivity; <sup>6</sup>And they were not hindered from building, until such time as communication was made unto Darius concerning them, and his answer signified. <sup>7</sup>The copy of the letter which Sisinnus, governor of Syria and Phœnicia, and Sathrabuzanes, with their companions, the rulers in Syria and Phœnicia, wrote and sent unto Darius; <sup>8</sup>To king Darius, greeting: Let all things be known unto our lord the king, that being come into the country of Judaea, and entered into the city of Jerusalem, we found in the city of Jerusalem the elders of the Jews that were of the captivity <sup>9</sup>Building a house unto the Lord, great and new, of hewn and costly stones, with timber laid in the walls. <sup>10</sup>And those works are done with great speed, and the work goeth on prosperously in their hands, and with all glory and diligence is it accomplished. <sup>11</sup>Then asked we these elders, saying, By whose commandment build ye this house, and lay the foundations of these works? <sup>12</sup>Therefore, to the intent that we might give knowledge unto thee by writing who were the chief doers, we questioned them, and we required of them the names in writing of their principal men. <sup>13</sup>So they gave us this answer, We are the servants of the Lord which made heaven and earth. <sup>14</sup>And as for this house, it was builded many years ago by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished. <sup>15</sup>But when our fathers sinned against the Lord of Israel which is in heaven, and provoked him unto wrath, he gave them over into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, king of the Chaldeans; <sup>16</sup>And they pulled down the house, and burned it, and carried away the people captives unto Babylon. <sup>17</sup>But in the first year that Cyrus reigned over the country of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote to build up this house. <sup>18</sup>And the holy vessels of gold and of silver, that Nabuchodonosor had carried away out of the house at Jerusalem, and had set up in his own temple, those Cyrus the king brought forth again out of the temple in Babylonia, and they were delivered to Zorobabel and to Sanabassar the governor, <sup>19</sup>With commandment that he should carry away all these vessels, and put them in the temple at Jerusalem; and that the temple of the Lord should be built in its place. <sup>20</sup>Then Sanabassar, being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem; and from that time to this being still a building, it is not yet fully ended. <sup>21</sup>Now therefore, if it seem good, O king, let search be made among the royal archives of our lord the king that are in Babylon: <sup>22</sup>And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem hath been done with the consent of king Cyrus, and it seem good unto our lord the king, let him signify unto us thereof. <sup>23</sup>Then commanded king Darius to seek among the archives that were laid up at Babylon: and so at Ecbatana the palace, which is in the country of Media, there was found a roll wherein these things were recorded. <sup>24</sup>In the first year of the reign of Cyrus king Cyrus commanded to build up the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem, where they do sacrifice with continual fire: <sup>25</sup>Whose height shall be sixty cubits, and the breadth sixty cubits, with three rows of hewn stones, and one row of new wood of that country; and the expenses thereof to be given out of the house of king Cyrus: <sup>26</sup>And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, both of gold and silver, that Nabuchodonosor took out of the house at Jerusalem, and carried away to Babylon, should be restored to the house at Jerusalem, and be set in the place where they were before. <sup>27</sup>And also he commanded that Sisinnus the governor of Syria and Phœnicia, and Sathrabuzanes, and their companions, and those which were appointed rulers in Syria and Phœnicia, should be careful not to meddle with the place, but suffer Zorobabel, the servant of the Lord, and governor of Judæa, and the elders of the Jews, to build that house of the Lord in its place. <sup>28</sup>And I also do command to have it built up whole again; and that they look diligently to help those that be of the captivity of Judæa, till the house of the Lord be finished: <sup>29</sup>And that out of the tribute of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia a portion be carefully given these men for the sacrifices of the Lord, that is, to Zorobabel the governor, for bullocks, and rams, and lambs; <sup>30</sup>And also corn, salt, wine, and oil, and that continually every year without further question, according as the priests that be in Jerusalem shall signify to be daily spent: <sup>31</sup>That drink offerings may be made to the Most High God for the king and for his children, and that they may pray for their lives. <sup>32</sup>And that commandment be given that whosoever shall transgress, yea, or neglect anything herein written, out of his own house shall a tree be taken, and he thereon be hanged, and all his goods seized for the king. <sup>33</sup>The Lord therefore, whose name is there called upon, utterly destroy every king and nation, that shall stretch out his hand to hinder or endamage that house of the Lord in Jerusalem. <sup>34</sup>I Darius the king have ordained that according unto these things it be done with diligence.

CHAPTER 7

twentieth day of the month Adar, in the sixth year of king Darius. <sup>6</sup>And the children of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the other that were of the captivity, that were added unto them, did according to the things written in the book of Moses. <sup>7</sup>And to the dedication of the temple of the Lord they offered a hundred bullocks, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs; <sup>8</sup>And twelve he-goats for the sin of all Israel, according to the number of the twelve princes of the tribes of Israel. <sup>9</sup>The priests also and the Levites stood arrayed in their vestments, according to their kindreds, for the services of the Lord, the God of Israel, according to the book of Moses: and the porters at every gate. <sup>10</sup>And the children of Israel that came out of the captivity held the passover the fourteenth day of the first month, when the priests and the Levites were sanctified together, <sup>11</sup>And all they that were of the captivity; for they were sanctified. For the Levites were all sanctified together, <sup>12</sup>And they offered the passover for all them of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and for themselves. <sup>13</sup>And the children of Israel that came out of the captivity did eat, even all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the heathen of the land, and sought the Lord. <sup>14</sup>And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days, making merry before the Lord, <sup>15</sup>For that he had turned the counsel of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord, the God of Israel.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup> And after these things, when Artaxerxes the king of the Persians reigned, came Esdras the son of Azariaas, the son of Zechrias, the son of Helkias, the son of Salems, <sup>2</sup>The son of Sadduk, the son of Ahitob, the son of Amarias, the son of Ozias, the son of Memeroth, the son of Zariaas, the son of Savias, the son of Boccas, the son of Abisue, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest. <sup>3</sup>This Esdras went up from Babylon, as being a ready scribe in the law of Moses, that was given by the God of Israel. <sup>4</sup>And the king did him honour: for he found grace in his sight in all his requests. <sup>5</sup>There went up with him also certain of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and Levites, and holy singers, and porters, and temple-servants, unto Jerusalem, <sup>6</sup>In the seventh year of the reign of Artaxerxes, in the fifth month, this was the king's seventh year; for they went from Babylon on the new moon of the first month, and came to Jerusalem, according to the prosperous journey which the Lord gave them for his sake. <sup>7</sup>For Esdras had very great skill, so that he omitted nothing of the law and commandments of the Lord, but taught all Israel the ordinances and judgements. <sup>8</sup>Now the commission, which was written from Artaxerxes the king, came to Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Lord, whereof this that followeth is a copy; <sup>9</sup>King Artaxerxes unto Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Lord, greeting: <sup>10</sup>Having determined to deal graciously, I have given order, that such of the nation of the Jews, and of the priests and Levites, and of those within our realm, as are willing and desirous, should go with thee unto Jerusalem. <sup>11</sup>As many therefore as have a mind thereunto, let them depart with thee, as it hath seemed good both to me and my seven friends the counsellors; <sup>12</sup>That they may look unto the affairs of Judæa and Jerusalem, agreeably to that which is in the law of the Lord, <sup>13</sup>And carry the gifts unto the Lord of Israel to Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed; and that all the gold and silver that can be found in the country of Babylonia for the Lord in Jerusalem, <sup>14</sup>With that also which is given of the people for the temple of the Lord their God that is at Jerusalem, be collected: even the gold and silver for bullocks, rams, and lambs, and things thereunto appertaining; <sup>15</sup>To the end that they may offer sacrifices unto the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem. <sup>16</sup>And whatsoever thou and thy brethren are minded to do with gold and silver, that perform, according to the will of thy God. <sup>17</sup>And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are given thee for the use of the temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem: <sup>18</sup>And whatsoever thing else thou shalt remember for the use of the temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the king's treasury. <sup>19</sup>And I king Artaxerxes have also commanded the keepers of the treasures in Syria and Phœnicia, that whatsoever Esdras the priest and reader of the law of the Most High God shall send for, they should give it him with all diligence, <sup>20</sup>To the sum of a hundred talents of silver, likewise also of wheat even to a hundred measures, and a hundred firkins of wine, and salt in abundance. <sup>21</sup>Let all things be performed after the law of God diligently unto the Most High God, that wrath come not upon the kingdom of the king and his sons. <sup>22</sup>I command you also, that no tax, nor any other imposition, be laid on any of the priests, or Levites, or holy singers, or porters, or temple-servants, or any that have employment in this temple, and that no man have authority to impose anything upon them. <sup>23</sup>And thou, Esdras, according to the wisdom of God ordain judges and justices, that they may judge in all Syria and Phœnicia all those that know the law of thy God; and those that know it not thou shalt teach. <sup>24</sup>And whosoever shall transgress the law of thy God, and of the king, shall be punished diligently, whether it be by death, or other punishment, by penalty of money, or by imprisonment. <sup>25</sup>Then said Esdras the scribe, Blessed be the only Lord, the God of my fathers, who hath put these things into the heart of the king, to glorify his house that is in Jerusalem: <sup>26</sup>And hath honoured me in the sight of the king, and his counsellors, and all his friends and nobles. <sup>27</sup>Therefore was I encouraged by the help of the Lord my God, and gathered together out of Israel men to go up with me. <sup>28</sup>And these are the chief according to their families and the several divisions thereof, that went up with me from Babylon in the reign of king Artaxerxes: <sup>29</sup>Of the sons of Phinees, Gerson: of the sons of Ithamar, Gamael: of the sons of David, Attus the son of Sechenias: <sup>30</sup>Of the sons of Phoros, Zacharias; and with him were counted a hundred and fifty men: <sup>31</sup>Of the sons of Phaath Moab, Eliaonias the son of Zariaas, and with him two hundred men: <sup>32</sup>Of the sons of Zathoes, Sechenias the son of Jezelus, and with him three hundred men: of the sons of Adin, Obeth the son of Jonathan, and with him two hundred and fifty men: <sup>33</sup>Of the sons of Elam, Jesias son of Gotholias, and with him seventy men: <sup>34</sup>Of the sons of Saphatias, Zariaas son of Michael, and with him threescore and ten men: <sup>35</sup>Of the sons of Joab, Abadias son of Jezelus, and with him two hundred and twelve men: <sup>36</sup>Of the sons of Baniyas, Salimoth son of Josaphias, and with him a hundred and threescore men: <sup>37</sup>Of the sons of Babi, Zacharias son of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight men: <sup>38</sup>Of the sons of Astath, Joannes son of Akatan, and with him a hundred and ten men: <sup>39</sup>Of the sons of Adonikam, the last, and these are the names of them, Eliphlat, Jeuel, and Samaias, and with them seventy men: <sup>40</sup>Of the sons of Bago, Uthi the son of Istalcurus, and with him seventy men. <sup>41</sup>And I gathered them together to the river called Theras; and there we pitched our tents three days, and I surveyed them. <sup>42</sup>But when I had found there none of the priests and Levites, <sup>43</sup>Then sent I unto Eleazar, and Iduel, and Maasmas, <sup>44</sup>And Elnathan, and Samaias, and Joribus, Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharias, and Mosollamus, principal men and men of understanding. <sup>45</sup>And I bade them that they should go unto Loddeus the captain, who was in the place of the treasury: <sup>46</sup>And commanded them that they should speak unto Loddeus, and to his brethren, and to the treasurers in that place, to send us such men as might execute the priests' office in the house of our Lord. <sup>47</sup>And by the mighty hand of our Lord they brought unto us men of understanding of the sons of Mooli the son of Levi, the son of Israel, Asebebias, and his sons, and his brethren, who were eighteen, <sup>48</sup>And Asebias, and Annuus, and Osaia his brother, of the sons of Chanuneus, and their sons were twenty men; <sup>49</sup>And of the temple-servants whom David and the principal men had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred and twenty temple-servants, the catalogue of all their names was shewed. <sup>50</sup>And there I vowed a fast for the young men before our Lord, to desire of him a prosperous journey both for us and for our children and cattle that were with us: <sup>51</sup>For I was ashamed to ask of the king footmen, and horsemen, and conduct for safeguard against our adversaries. <sup>52</sup>For we had said unto the king, that the power of our Lord would be with them that seek him, to support them in all ways. <sup>53</sup>And again we besought our Lord as touching these things, and found him favourable unto us. <sup>54</sup>Then I separated twelve men of the chiefs of the priests, Eserebias, and Assamias, and ten men of their brethren with them: <sup>55</sup>And I weighed them the silver, and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king, and his counsellors, and the nobles, and all Israel, had given. <sup>56</sup>And when I had weighed it, I delivered unto them six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels of a hundred talents, and a hundred talents of gold, <sup>57</sup>And twenty golden vessels, and twelve vessels of brass, even of fine brass, glittering like gold. <sup>58</sup>And I said unto them, Both ye are holy unto the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold and the silver are a vow unto the Lord, the Lord of our fathers. <sup>59</sup>Watch ye, and keep them till ye deliver them to the chiefs of the priests and Levites, and to the principal men of the families of Israel, in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of our Lord. <sup>60</sup>So the priests and the Levites, who received the silver and the gold and the vessels which were in Jerusalem, brought them into the temple of the Lord. <sup>61</sup>And from the river Theras we departed the twelfth day of the first month, until we came to Jerusalem, by the mighty hand of our Lord which was upon us: and the Lord delivered us from assault by the way, from every enemy, and so we came to Jerusalem. <sup>62</sup>And when we had been there three days, the silver and gold was weighed and delivered in the house of our Lord on the fourth day unto Marmoth the priest the son of Urias. <sup>63</sup>And with him was Eleazar the son of Phinees, and with them were Josabodus the son of Jesus and Moeth the son of Sabannus, the Levites: all was delivered them by number and weight. <sup>64</sup>And all the weight of them was written up the same hour. <sup>65</sup>Moreover they that were come out of the captivity offered sacrifices unto the Lord, the God of Israel, even twelve bullocks for all Israel, fourscore and sixteen rams, <sup>66</sup>Threescore and twelve lambs, goats for a peace offering, twelve; all of them a sacrifice to the Lord. <sup>67</sup>And they delivered the king's commandments unto the king's stewards, and to the governors of Cœlesyria and Phœnicia; and they honoured the people and the temple of the Lord. <sup>68</sup>Now when these things were done, the principal men came unto me, and said, <sup>69</sup>The nation of Israel, and the princes, and the priests and the Levites, have not put away from them the strange people of the land, nor the uncleannesses of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, Hittites, Pherezites, Jebusites, and the Moabites, Egyptians, and Edomites. <sup>70</sup>For both they and their sons have married with their daughters, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land; and from the beginning of this matter the rulers and the nobles have been partakers of this iniquity. <sup>71</sup>And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and my holy garment, and plucked the hair from off my head and beard, and sat me down sad and full of heaviness. <sup>72</sup>So all they that were moved at the word of the Lord, the God of Israel, assembled unto me, whilst I mourned for the iniquity: but I sat still full of heaviness until the evening sacrifice. <sup>73</sup>Then rising up from the fast with my clothes and my holy garment rent, and bowing my knees, and stretching forth my hands unto the Lord, <sup>74</sup>I said, O Lord, I am ashamed and confounded before thy face; <sup>75</sup>For our sins are multiplied above our heads, and our errors have reached up unto heaven, <sup>76</sup>Ever since the time of our fathers; and we are in great sin, even unto this day. <sup>77</sup>And for our sins and our fathers' we with our brethren and our kings and our priests were given up unto the kings of the earth, to the sword, and to captivity, and for a prey with shame, unto this day. <sup>78</sup>And now in some measure hath mercy been shewed unto us from thee, O Lord, that there should be left us a root and a name in the place of thy sanctuary; <sup>79</sup>And to discover unto us a light in the house of the Lord our God, and to give us food in the time of our servitude. <sup>80</sup>Yea, when we were in bondage, we were not forsaken of our Lord; but he made us gracious before the kings of Persia, so that they gave us food, <sup>81</sup>And glorified the temple of our Lord, and raised up the desolate Sion, to give us a sure abiding in Jewry and Jerusalem. <sup>82</sup>And now, O Lord, what shall we say, having these things? for we have transgressed thy commandments, which thou gavest by the hand of thy servants the prophets, saying, <sup>83</sup>That the land, which ye enter into to possess as a heritage, is a land polluted with the pollutions of the strangers of the land, and they have filled it with their uncleanness. <sup>84</sup>Therefore now shall ye not join your daughters unto their sons, neither shall ye take their daughters unto your sons. <sup>85</sup>Neither shall ye seek to have peace with them for ever, that ye may be strong, and eat the good things of the land, and that ye may leave it for an inheritance unto your children for evermore. <sup>86</sup>And all that is befallen is done unto us for our wicked works and great sins: for thou, O Lord, didst make our sins light, <sup>87</sup>And didst give unto us such a root: but we have turned back again to transgress thy law, in mingling ourselves with the uncleanness of the heathen of the land. <sup>88</sup>Thou wast not angry with us to destroy us, till thou hadst left us neither root, seed, nor name. <sup>89</sup>O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for we are left a root this day. <sup>90</sup>Behold, now are we before thee in our iniquities, for we cannot stand any longer before thee by reason of these things. <sup>91</sup>And as Esdras in his prayer made his confession, weeping, and lying flat upon the ground before the temple, there gathered unto him from Jerusalem a very great throng of men and women and children: for there was great weeping among the multitude. <sup>92</sup>Then Jechonias the son of Jeelus, one of the sons of Israel, called out, and said, O Esdras, we have sinned against the Lord God, we have married strange women of the heathen of the land, and now is all Israel aloft. <sup>93</sup>Let us make an oath unto the Lord herein, that we will put away all our wives, which we have taken of the strangers, with their children, <sup>94</sup>Like as seemeth good unto thee, and to as many as do obey the law of the Lord. <sup>95</sup>Arise, and put in execution: for to thee doth this matter appertain, and we will be with thee to do valiantly. <sup>96</sup>So Esdras arose, and took an oath of the chief of the priests and Levites of all Israel to do after these things; and so they sware.

CHAPTER 9

Pedias, and Anos, Carabasion, and Enasibus, and Mamnitanemus, Eliasis, Bannus, Eliali, Someis, Selemias, Nathanas: and of the sons of Ezora; Sesis, Ezril, Azaelus, Samatus, Zambri, Josephus. <sup>35</sup>And of the sons of Nooma; Mazitias, Zabadeas, Edos, Juel, Banaias. <sup>36</sup>All these had taken strange wives, and they put them away with their children. <sup>37</sup>And the priests and Levites, and they that were of Israel, dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, on the new moon of the seventh month, and the children of Israel in their habitations. <sup>38</sup> And the whole multitude were gathered together with one accord into the broad place before the porch of the temple toward the east: <sup>39</sup>And they said unto Esdras the priest and reader, Bring the law of Moses, that was given of the Lord, the God of Israel. <sup>40</sup>So Esdras the chief priest brought the law unto the whole multitude both of men and women, and to all the priests, to hear the law on the new moon of the seventh month. <sup>41</sup>And he read in the broad place before the porch of the temple from morning until midday, before both men and women; and all the multitude gave heed unto the law. <sup>42</sup>And Esdras the priest and reader of the law stood up upon the pulpit of wood, which was made for that purpose. <sup>43</sup>And there stood up by him Mattathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezekias, Baalsamus, upon the right hand: <sup>44</sup>And upon his left hand, Phaldeus, Misael, Melchias, Lothasubus, Nabarias, Zacharias. <sup>45</sup>Then took Esdras the book of the law before the multitude, and sat honourably in the first place before all. <sup>46</sup>And when he opened the law, they stood all straight up. So Esdras blessed the Lord God Most High, the God of hosts, Almighty. <sup>47</sup>And all the people answered, Amen; and lifting up their hands they fell to the ground, and worshipped the Lord. <sup>48</sup>Also Jesus, Annus, Sarabias, Iadinus, Jacobus, Sabateus, Auteas, Maiannas, and Calitas, Azarias, and Jozabodus, and Ananias, Phalias, the Levites, taught the law of the Lord, and read to the multitude the law of the Lord, making them withal to understand it. <sup>49</sup>Then said Attharates unto Esdras the chief priest and reader, and to the Levites that taught the multitude, even to all, <sup>50</sup>This day is holy unto the Lord; (now they all wept when they heard the law:) <sup>51</sup>Go then, and eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions to them that have nothing; <sup>52</sup>For the day is holy unto the Lord: and be not sorrowful; for the Lord will bring you to honour. <sup>53</sup>So the Levites published all things to the people, saying, This day is holy; be not sorrowful. <sup>54</sup>Then went they their way, every one to eat and drink, and make merry, and to give portions to them that had nothing, and to make great cheer; <sup>55</sup>Because they understood the words wherein they were instructed, and for the which they had been assembled.

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The second book of the prophet Esdras, the son of Saraia, the son of Azariaas, the son of Helkias, the son of Salemas, the son of Sadoc, the son of Ahitob, <sup>2</sup>The son of Achias, the son of Phinees, the son of Heli, the son of Amarias, the son of Aziei, the son of Marimoth, the son of Arna, the son of Ozias, the son of Borith, the son of Abissei, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar, <sup>3</sup>The son of Aaron, of the tribe of Levi; which was captive in the land of the Medes, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of the Persians. <sup>4</sup>And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, <sup>5</sup>Go thy way, and shew my people their sinful deeds, and their children their wickedness which they have done against me; that they may tell their children's children: <sup>6</sup>Because the sins of their fathers are increased in them: for they have forgotten me, and have done sacrifice unto strange gods. <sup>7</sup>Did not I bring them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage? but they have provoked me unto wrath, and despised my counsels. <sup>8</sup>Shake thou then the hair of thy head, and cast all evils upon them, for they have not been obedient unto my law, but it is a rebellious people. <sup>9</sup>How long shall I forbear them, unto whom I have done so much good? <sup>10</sup>Many kings have I overthrown for their sakes;

Pharaoh with his servants and all his host have I smitten down. <sup>11</sup>All the nations have I destroyed before them, and in the east I have scattered the people of two provinces, even of Tyre and Sidon, and have slain all their adversaries. <sup>12</sup>Speak thou therefore unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, <sup>13</sup>Of a truth I brought you through the sea, and where there was no path I made for you highways; I gave you Moses for a leader, and Aaron for a priest. <sup>14</sup>I gave you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders have I done among you; yet have ye forgotten me, saith the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thus saith the Lord Almighty, The quails were for a token to you; I gave you a camp for your safeguard, nevertheless ye murmured there: <sup>16</sup>And ye triumphed not in my name for the destruction of your enemies, but ever to this day do ye yet murmur. <sup>17</sup>Where are the benefits that I have done for you? when ye were hungry and thirsty in the wilderness, did ye not cry unto me, <sup>18</sup>Saying, Why hast thou brought us into this wilderness to kill us? it had been better for us to have served the Egyptians, than to die in this wilderness. <sup>19</sup>I had pity upon your mournings, and gave you manna for food; ye did eat angels' bread. <sup>20</sup>When ye were thirsty, did I not cleave the rock, and waters flowed out to your fill? for the heat I covered you with the leaves of the trees. <sup>21</sup>I divided among you fruitful lands; I cast out the Canaanites, the Pherezites, and the Philistines, before you: what shall I yet do more for you? saith the Lord. <sup>22</sup>Thus saith the Lord Almighty, When ye were in the wilderness, at the bitter river, being athirst, and blaspheming my name, <sup>23</sup>I gave you not fire for your blasphemies, but cast a tree in the water, and made the river sweet. <sup>24</sup>What shall I do unto thee, O Jacob? thou, Judah, wouldst not obey me: I will turn me to other nations, and unto them will I give my name, that they may keep my statutes. <sup>25</sup>Seeing ye have forsaken me, I also will forsake you; when ye ask me to be merciful unto you, I will have no mercy upon you. <sup>26</sup>Whosoever ye shall call upon me, I will not hear you: for ye have defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit manslaughter. <sup>27</sup>Ye have not as it were forsaken me, but your own selves, saith the Lord. <sup>28</sup>Thus saith the Lord Almighty, Have I not prayed you as a father his sons, as a mother her daughters, and a nurse her young babes, <sup>29</sup>That ye would be my people, and I should be your God; that ye would be my children, and I should be your father? <sup>30</sup>I gathered you together, as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings: but now, what shall I do unto you? I will cast you out from my presence. <sup>31</sup>When ye offer oblations unto me, I will turn my face from you: for your solemn feast days, your new moons, and your circumcisions of the flesh have I rejected. <sup>32</sup>I sent unto you my servants the prophets, whom ye have taken and slain, and torn their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will require of your hands, saith the Lord. <sup>33</sup>Thus saith the Lord Almighty, Your house is desolate, I will cast you out as the wind doth stubble. <sup>34</sup>And your children shall not be fruitful; for they have neglected my commandment unto you, and done that which is evil before me. <sup>35</sup>Your houses will I give to a people that shall come; which not having heard of me yet believe me; they to whom I have shewed no signs shall do that which I have commanded. <sup>36</sup>They have seen no prophets, yet they shall call their former estate to remembrance. <sup>37</sup>I take to witness the grace of the people that shall come, whose little ones rejoice with gladness: and though they see me not with bodily eyes, yet in spirit they shall believe the thing that I say. <sup>38</sup>And now, O father, behold with glory; and see the people that come from the east: <sup>39</sup>Unto whom I will give for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, Oseas, Amos, and Micheas, Joel, Abdias, and Jonas, <sup>40</sup>Nahum, and Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggaeus, Zachary, and Malachy, which is called also the angel of the Lord.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, and I gave them my commandments by my servants the prophets; whom they would not hear, but set my counsels at nought. <sup>2</sup>The mother that bare them saith unto them, Go your way, O my children; for I am a widow and forsaken. <sup>3</sup>I brought you up with gladness, and with sorrow and heaviness have I lost you: for ye have sinned before the Lord God, and done that which is evil before me. <sup>4</sup>But what shall I now do unto you? for I am a widow and forsaken: go your way, O my children, and ask mercy of the Lord. <sup>5</sup>As for me, O father, I call upon thee for a witness over the mother of these children, because they would not keep my covenant, <sup>6</sup>That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoil, that there may be no offspring of them. <sup>7</sup>Let them be scattered abroad among the heathen, let their names be blotted out of the earth: for they have despised my covenant. <sup>8</sup>Woe unto thee, Assur, thou that hidest the unrighteous with thee! O thou wicked nation, remember what I did unto Sodom and Gomorrah; <sup>9</sup>Whose land lieth in clods of pitch and heaps of ashes: even so also will I do unto them that have not hearkened unto me, saith the Lord Almighty. <sup>10</sup>Thus saith the Lord unto Esdras, Tell my people that I will give them the kingdom of Jerusalem, which I would have given unto Israel. <sup>11</sup>Their glory also will I take unto me, and give these the everlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for them. <sup>12</sup>They shall have the tree of life for an ointment of sweet savour; they shall neither labour, nor be weary. <sup>13</sup>Ask, and ye shall receive: pray for few days unto you, that they may be shortened: the kingdom is already prepared for you: watch. <sup>14</sup>Take heaven and earth to witness, take them to witness; for I have given up the evil, and created the good: for I live, saith the Lord. <sup>15</sup>Mother, embrace thy children; I will bring them out with gladness like a dove; stablish their feet; for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord. <sup>16</sup>And those that be dead will I raise up again from their places, and bring them out of the tombs: for I have known my name in them. <sup>17</sup>Fear not, thou mother of the children: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord. <sup>18</sup>For thy help will I send my servants Esaias and Jeremy, after whose counsel I have sanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with divers fruits, <sup>19</sup>And as many fountains flowing with milk and honey, and seven mighty mountains, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with joy. <sup>20</sup>Do right to the widow, judge the fatherless, give to the poor, defend the orphan, clothe the naked, <sup>21</sup>Heal the broken and the weak, laugh not a lame man to scorn, defend the maimed, and let the blind man come unto the sight of my glory. <sup>22</sup>Keep the old and young within thy walls. <sup>23</sup>Whosoever thou findest the dead, set a sign upon them and commit them to the grave, and I will give thee the first place in my resurrection. <sup>24</sup>Abide still, O my people, and take thy rest, for thy quietness shall come. <sup>25</sup>Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse, and stablish their feet. <sup>26</sup>As for the servants whom I have given thee, there shall not one of them perish; for I will require them from among thy number. <sup>27</sup>Be not careful overmuch: for when the day of tribulation and anguish cometh, others shall weep and be sorrowful, but thou shalt be merry and have abundance. <sup>28</sup>The nations shall envy thee, but they shall be able to do nothing against thee, saith the Lord. <sup>29</sup>My hands shall cover thee, so that thy children see not hell. <sup>30</sup>Be joyful, O thou mother, with thy children; for I will deliver thee, saith the Lord. <sup>31</sup>Remember thy children that sleep, for I shall bring them out of the secret places of the earth, and shew mercy unto them: for I am merciful, saith the Lord Almighty. <sup>32</sup>Embrace thy children until I come, and proclaim mercy unto them: for my wells run over, and my grace shall not fail. <sup>33</sup>I ESDRAS received a charge from the Lord upon the mount Horeb, that I should go unto Israel; but when I came unto them, they would none of me, and rejected the commandment of the Lord. <sup>34</sup>And therefore I say unto you, O ye nations, that hear and understand, look for your shepherd, he shall give you everlasting rest; for he is nigh at hand, that shall come in the end of the world. <sup>35</sup>Be ready to the rewards of the kingdom, for the everlasting light shall shine upon you for evermore. <sup>36</sup>Flee the shadow of this world, receive the joyfulness of your glory: I call to witness my saviour openly. <sup>37</sup>O receive that which is given you of the Lord, and be joyful, giving thanks unto him that hath called you to heavenly kingdoms. <sup>38</sup>Arise up and stand, and behold the number of those that be sealed in the feast of the Lord; <sup>39</sup>They that withdrew them from the shadow of the world have received glorious garments of the Lord. <sup>40</sup>Look upon thy number, O Sion, and make up the reckoning of those of thine that are clothed in white, which have fulfilled the law of the Lord. <sup>41</sup>The number of thy children, whom thou longestst for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people, which have been called from the beginning, may be hallowed. <sup>42</sup>I Esdras saw upon the mount Sion a great multitude, whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs. <sup>43</sup>And in the midst of them there was a young man of a high stature, taller than all the rest, and upon every one of their heads he set crowns, and was more exalted; whereat I marvelled greatly. <sup>44</sup>So I asked the angel, and said, What are these, my Lord? <sup>45</sup>He answered and said unto me, These be they that have put off the mortal clothing, and put on the immortal, and have confessed the name of God: now are they crowned, and receive palms. <sup>46</sup>Then said I unto the angel, What young man is he that setteth crowns upon them, and giveth them palms in their hands? <sup>47</sup>So he answered and said unto me, It is the Son of God, whom they have confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them that stood so stiffly for the name of the Lord. <sup>48</sup>Then the angel said unto me, Go thy way, and tell my people what manner of things, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seen.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup> In the thirtieth year after the ruin of the city, I Salathiel (the same is Esdras) was in Babylon, and lay troubled upon my bed, and my thoughts came up over my heart: <sup>2</sup>For I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon. <sup>3</sup>And my spirit was sore moved, so that I began to speak words full of fear to the Most High, and said, <sup>4</sup>O Lord that bearest rule, didst thou not speak at the beginning, when thou didst fashion the earth, and that thyself alone, and commandedst the dust, <sup>5</sup>And it gave thee Adam, a body without a soul? yet it was the workmanship of thine hands, and thou didst breathe into him the breath of life, and he was made living before thee. <sup>6</sup>And thou leddest him into paradise, which thy right hand did plant, before ever the earth came forward. <sup>7</sup>And unto him thou gavest thy one commandment: which he transgressed, and immediately thou appointedst death for him and in his generations; and there were born of him nations and tribes, peoples and kindreds, out of number. <sup>8</sup>And every nation walked after their own will, and did ungodly things before thee, and despised thy commandments, and thou didst not forbid them. <sup>9</sup>Nevertheless again in process of time thou broughtest the flood upon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them. <sup>10</sup>And it came to pass that the same hap befell them; like as death was to Adam, so was the flood to these. <sup>11</sup>Nevertheless one of them thou leftest, Noah with his household, even all the righteous men that came of him. <sup>12</sup>And it came to pass, that when they that dwelt upon the earth began to multiply, they multiplied also children, and peoples, and many nations, and began again to be more ungodly than the first. <sup>13</sup>And it came to pass, when they did wickedly before thee, thou didst choose thee one from among them, whose name was Abraham; <sup>14</sup>And him thou lovedst, and unto him only thou shewedst the end of the times secretly by night: <sup>15</sup>And madest an everlasting covenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest never forsake his seed. <sup>16</sup>And unto him thou gavest Isaac, and unto Isaac thou gavest Jacob and Esau. And thou didst set apart Jacob for thyself, but didst put by Esau: and Jacob became a great multitude. <sup>17</sup>And it came to pass, that when thou leddest his seed out of Egypt, thou broughtest them up to the mount Sinai. <sup>18</sup>Thou bowedst the heavens also, and didst shake the earth, and movedst the whole world, and madest the depths to tremble, and troubledst the course of that age. <sup>19</sup>And thy glory went through four gates, of fire, and of earthquake, and of wind, and of cold; that thou mightest give the law unto the seed of Jacob, and the commandment unto the generation of Israel. <sup>20</sup>And yet tookest thou not away from them their wicked heart, that thy law might bring forth fruit in them. <sup>21</sup>For the first Adam bearing a wicked heart transgressed, and was overcome; and not he only, but all they also that are born of him. <sup>22</sup>Thus disease was made permanent; and the law was in the heart of the people along with the wickedness of the root; and so the good departed away, and that which was wicked abode still. <sup>23</sup>So the times passed away, and the years were brought to an end: then didst thou raise thee up a servant, called David, <sup>24</sup>Whom thou commandedst to build a city unto thy name, and to offer oblations unto thee therein of thine own. <sup>25</sup>When this was done many years, then they that inhabited the city did evil, <sup>26</sup>In all things doing even as Adam and all his generations had done: for they also bare a wicked heart; <sup>27</sup>And so thou gavest thy city over into the hands of thine enemies. <sup>28</sup>And I said then in mine heart, Are their deeds any better that inhabit Babylon? and hath she therefore dominion over Sion? <sup>29</sup>For it came to pass when I came hither, that I saw also impieties without number, and my soul saw many evil-doers in this thirtieth year, so that my heart failed me. <sup>30</sup>For I have seen how thou sufferest them sinning, and hast spared the ungodly doers, and hast destroyed thy people, and hast preserved thine enemies; and thou hast not signified <sup>31</sup>Unto any how thy way may be comprehended. Are the deeds of Babylon better than those of Sion? <sup>32</sup>Or is there any other nation that knoweth thee beside Israel? or what tribes have so believed thy covenants as these tribes of Jacob? <sup>33</sup>And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I have gone hither and thither through the nations, and

I see that they abound in wealth, and think not upon thy commandments. <sup>34</sup>Weigh thou therefore our iniquities now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world; and so shall it be found which way the scale inclineth. <sup>35</sup>Or when was it that they which dwell upon the earth have not sinned in thy sight? or what nation hath so kept thy commandments? <sup>36</sup>Thou shalt find that men who may be reckoned by name have kept thy precepts; but nations thou shalt not find.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>And the angel that was sent unto me, whose name was Uriel, gave me an answer, <sup>2</sup>And said to me, Thy heart hath utterly failed thee in regarding this world, and thinkest thou to comprehend the way of the Most High? <sup>3</sup>Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee three ways, and to set forth three similitudes before thee: <sup>4</sup>Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I also will shew thee the way that thou desirest to see, and I will teach thee wherefore the heart is wicked. <sup>5</sup>And I said, Say on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, Go to, weigh me a weight of fire, or measure me a measure of wind, or call me again the day that is past. <sup>6</sup>Then answered I and said, Who of the sons of men is able to do this, that thou shouldest ask me of such things? <sup>7</sup>And he said unto me, If I had asked thee, saying, How many dwellings are there in the heart of the sea? or how many springs are there at the fountain head of the deep? or how many ways are above the firmament? or which are the outgoings of hell? or which are the paths of paradise? <sup>8</sup>Peradventure thou wouldest say unto me, I never went down into the deep, nor as yet into hell, neither did I ever climb up into heaven. <sup>9</sup>Nevertheless now have I asked thee but only of the fire and wind, and of the day, things wherethrough thou hast passed, and without which thou canst not be, and yet hast thou given me no answer of them. <sup>10</sup>He said moreover unto me, Thine own things, that are grown up with thee, canst thou not know; <sup>11</sup>How then can thy vessel comprehend the way of the Most High? and how can he that is already worn out with the corrupted world understand incorruption? <sup>12</sup>And when I heard these things I fell upon my face, and said unto him, It were better that we were not here at all, than that we should come hither and live in the midst of ungodliness, and suffer, and not know wherefore. <sup>13</sup>He answered me, and said, The woods of the trees of the field went forth, and took counsel together, <sup>14</sup>And said, Come, let us go and make war against the sea, that it may depart away before us, and that we may make us more woods. <sup>15</sup>The waves of the sea also in like manner took counsel together, and said, Come, let us go up and subdue the wood of the plain, that there also we may make us another country. <sup>16</sup>The counsel of the wood was in vain, for the fire came and consumed it: <sup>17</sup>Likewise also the counsel of the waves of the sea, for the sand stood up and stopped them. <sup>18</sup>If thou wert judge now betwixt these two, whom wouldest thou justify, or whom condemn? <sup>19</sup>I answered and said, It is a foolish counsel that they both have taken, for the ground is given unto the wood, and the place of the sea is given to bear his waves. <sup>20</sup>Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast given a right judgement, and why judgest thou not in thine own case? <sup>21</sup>For like as the ground is given unto the wood, and the sea to his waves, even so they that dwell upon the earth may understand nothing but that which is upon the earth: and he only that dwelleth above the heavens may understand the things that are above the height of the heavens. <sup>22</sup>Then answered I and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, wherefore is the power of understanding given unto me? <sup>23</sup>For it was not my mind to be curious of the ways above, but of such things as pass by us daily; because Israel is given up as a reproach to the heathen, and the people whom thou hast loved is given over unto ungodly nations, and the law of our forefathers is made of none effect, and the written covenants are nowhere regarded, <sup>24</sup>And we pass away out of the world as grasshoppers, and our life is as a vapour, neither are we worthy to obtain mercy. <sup>25</sup>What will he then do for his name whereby we are called? Of these things have I asked. <sup>26</sup>Then answered he me, and said, If thou be alive, thou shalt see, and if thou livest long, thou shalt marvel; for the world hasteth fast to pass away. <sup>27</sup>For it is not able to bear the things that are promised to the righteous in the times to come: for this world is full of sadness and infirmities. <sup>28</sup>For the evil whereof thou askest me is sown, but the gathering thereof is not yet come. <sup>29</sup>If therefore that which is sown be not reaped, and if the place where the evil is sown pass not away, there cannot come the field where the good is sown. <sup>30</sup>For a grain of evil seed was sown in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much wickedness hath it brought forth unto this time! and how much shall it yet bring forth until the time of threshing come! <sup>31</sup>Ponder now by thyself, how great fruit of wickedness a grain of evil seed hath brought forth. <sup>32</sup>When the ears which are without number shall be sown, how great a floor shall they fill! <sup>33</sup>Then I answered and said, How long? and when shall these things come to pass? wherefore are our years few and evil? <sup>34</sup>And he answered me, and said, Thou dost not hasten more than the Most High: for thy haste is for thine own self, but he that is above hasteneth on behalf of many. <sup>35</sup>Did not the souls of the righteous ask question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long are we here? when cometh the fruit of the threshing time of our reward? <sup>36</sup>And unto them Jeremiel the archangel gave answer, and said, Even when the number is fulfilled of them that are like unto you. For he hath weighed the world in the balance; <sup>37</sup>And by measure hath he measured the times, and by number hath he numbered the seasons; and he shall not move nor stir them, until the said measure be fulfilled. <sup>38</sup>Then answered I and said, O Lord that bearest rule, yet even we all are full of impiety: <sup>39</sup>And for our sakes peradventure it is that the threshing time of the righteous is kept back, because of the sins of them that dwell upon the earth. <sup>40</sup>So he answered me, and said, Go thy way to a woman with child, and ask of her when she hath fulfilled her nine months, if her womb may keep the birth any longer within her. <sup>41</sup>Then said I, No, Lord, that can it not. And he said unto me, In the grave the chambers of souls are like the womb: <sup>42</sup>For like as a woman that travaileth maketh haste to escape the anguish of the travail: even so do these places haste to deliver those things that are committed unto them from the beginning. <sup>43</sup>Then shall it be shewed thee concerning those things which thou desirest to see. <sup>44</sup>Then answered I and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore, <sup>45</sup>Shew me this also, whether there be more to come than is past, or whether the more part is gone over us. <sup>46</sup>For what is gone I know, but what is for to come I know not. <sup>47</sup>And he said unto me, Stand up upon the right side, and I shall expound the similitude unto thee. <sup>48</sup>So I stood, and saw, and, behold, a hot burning oven passed by before me: and it happened, that when the flame was gone by I looked, and, behold, the smoke remained still. <sup>49</sup>After this there passed by before me a watery cloud, and sent down much rain with a storm; and when the stormy rain was past, the drops remained therein still. <sup>50</sup>Then said he unto me, Consider with thyself; as the rain is more than the drops, and as the fire is greater than the smoke, so the quantity which is past did more exceed; but the drops and the smoke remained still. <sup>51</sup>Then I prayed, and said, May I live, thinkest thou, until that time? or who shall be in those days? <sup>52</sup>He answered me, and said, As for the tokens whereof thou askest me, I may tell thee of them in part: but as touching thy life, I am not sent to shew thee; for I do not know it.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Nevertheless as concerning the tokens, behold, the days shall come, that they which dwell upon earth shall be taken with great amazement, and the way of truth shall be hidden, and the land shall be barren of faith. <sup>2</sup>But iniquity shall be increased above that which now thou seest, or that thou hast heard long ago. <sup>3</sup>And the land, that thou seest now to have rule, shall be waste and untrodden, and men shall see it desolate. <sup>4</sup>But if the Most High grant thee to live, thou shalt see that which is after the third kingdom to be troubled; and the sun shall suddenly shine forth in the night, and the moon in the day: <sup>5</sup>And blood shall drop out of wood, and the stone shall give his voice, and the peoples shall be troubled; and their goings shall be changed: <sup>6</sup>And he shall rule, whom they that dwell upon the earth look not for, and the fowls shall take their flight away together: <sup>7</sup>And the Sodomitish sea shall cast out fish, and make a noise in the night, which many have not known: but all shall hear the voice thereof. <sup>8</sup>There shall be chaos also in many places, and the fire shall be oft sent out, and the wild beasts shall change their places, and women shall bring forth monsters: <sup>9</sup>And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall destroy one another; then shall wit hide itself, and understanding withdraw itself into its chamber; <sup>10</sup>And it shall be sought of many, and shall not be found: and unrighteousness and incontinency shall be multiplied upon earth. <sup>11</sup>One land also shall ask another, and say, Is righteousness, is a man that doeth righteousness, gone through thee? And it shall say, No. <sup>12</sup>And it shall come to pass at that time that men shall hope, but shall not obtain: they shall labour, but their ways shall not prosper. <sup>13</sup>To shew thee such tokens I have leave; and if thou wilt pray again, and weep as now, and fast seven days, thou shalt hear yet greater things than these. <sup>14</sup>Then I awaked, and an extreme trembling went through my body, and my mind was troubled, so that it fainted. <sup>15</sup>So the angel that was come to talk with me held me, comforted me, and set me up upon my feet. <sup>16</sup>And in the second night it came to pass, that Phaltiel the captain of the people came unto me, saying, Where hast thou been? and why is thy countenance sad? <sup>17</sup>Or knowest thou not that Israel is committed unto thee in the land of their captivity? <sup>18</sup>Up then, and eat some bread, and forsake us not, as the shepherd that leaveth his flock in the hands of cruel wolves. <sup>19</sup>Then said I unto him, Go thy ways from me, and come not nigh me for seven days, and then shalt thou come unto me. And he heard what I said, and went from me. <sup>20</sup>And so I fasted seven days, mourning and weeping, like as Uriel the angel commanded me. <sup>21</sup>And after seven days so it was, that the thoughts of my heart were very grievous unto me again, <sup>22</sup>And my soul recovered the spirit of understanding, and I began to speak words before the Most High again, <sup>23</sup>And said, O Lord that bearest rule, of all the woods of the earth, and of all the trees thereof, thou hast chosen thee one vine: <sup>24</sup>And of all the lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one country: and of all the flowers of the world thou hast chosen thee one lily: <sup>25</sup>And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one river: and of all builded cities thou hast hallowed Sion unto thyself: <sup>26</sup>And of all the fowls that are created thou hast named thee one dove: and of all the cattle that are made thou hast provided thee one sheep: <sup>27</sup>And among all the multitudes of peoples thou hast gotten thee one people: and unto this people, whom thou lovedst, thou gavest a law that is approved of all. <sup>28</sup>And now, O Lord, why hast thou given this one people over unto many, and hast dishonoured the one root above others, and hast scattered thine only one among many? <sup>29</sup>And they which did gainsay thy promises have trodden them down that believed thy covenants. <sup>30</sup>If thou dost so much hate thy people, they should be punished with thine own hands. <sup>31</sup>Now when I had spoken these words, the angel that came to me the night afore was sent unto me, <sup>32</sup>And said unto me, Hear me, and I will instruct thee; hearken unto me, and I shall tell thee more. <sup>33</sup>And I said, Speak on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, Thou art sore troubled in mind for Israel's sake: lovest thou that people better than he that made them? <sup>34</sup>And I said, No, Lord: but of very grief have I spoken: for my reins torment me every hour, while I labour to comprehend the way of the Most High, and to seek out part of his judgement. <sup>35</sup>And he said unto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, or whereunto was I born? or why was not my mother's womb then my grave, that I might not have seen the travail of Jacob, and the wearisome toil of the stock of Israel? <sup>36</sup>And he said unto me, Number me them that are not yet come, gather me together the drops that are scattered abroad, make me the flowers green again that are withered, <sup>37</sup>Open me the chambers that are closed, and bring me forth the winds that in them are shut up, or shew me the image of a voice: and then I will declare to thee the travail that thou askest to see. <sup>38</sup>And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, who may know these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men? <sup>39</sup>As for me, I am unwise: how may I then speak of these things whereof thou askest me? <sup>40</sup>Then said he unto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things that I have spoken of, even so canst thou not find out my judgement, or the end of the love that I have promised unto my people. <sup>41</sup>And I said, But, lo, O Lord, thou hast made the promise unto them that be in the end: and what shall they do that have been before us, or we that be now, or they that shall come after us? <sup>42</sup>And he said unto me, I will liken my judgement unto a ring: like as there is no slackness of them that be last, even so there is no swiftness of them that be first. <sup>43</sup>So I answered and said, Couldst thou not make them to be at once that have been made, and that be now, and that are for to come; that thou mightest shew thy judgement the sooner? <sup>44</sup>Then answered he me, and said, The creature may not haste above the creator; neither may the world hold them at once that shall be created therein. <sup>45</sup>And I said, How hast thou said unto thy servant, that thou wilt surely make alive at once the creature that thou hast created? If therefore they shall be alive at once, and the creature shall sustain them: even so it might now also support them to be present at once. <sup>46</sup>And he said unto me, Ask the womb of a woman, and say unto her, If thou bringest forth ten children, why doest thou it at several times? pray her therefore to bring forth ten children at once. <sup>47</sup>And I said, She cannot: but must do it by distance of time. <sup>48</sup>Then said he unto me, Even so have I given the womb of the earth to those that be sown therein in their several times. <sup>49</sup>For like as a young child may not bring forth, neither she that is grown old bring forth any more, even so have I disposed the world which I created. <sup>50</sup>And I asked, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will speak before thee: Is our mother, of whom thou hast told me, still young? or doth she now draw nigh unto age? <sup>51</sup>He answered me, and said, Ask a woman that beareth children, and she shall tell thee. <sup>52</sup>Say unto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth like those that were before, but less of stature? <sup>53</sup>And she also shall answer thee, They that be born in the strength of youth are of one fashion, and they that are born in the time of age, when the womb faileth, are otherwise. <sup>54</sup>Consider therefore thou also, how that ye are less of stature than those that were before you. <sup>55</sup>And so are they that come after you less than ye, as born of the creature which now beginneth to be old, and is past the strength of youth. <sup>56</sup>Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I have found favour in thy sight, shew thy servant by whom thou visitest thy creature.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>And he said unto me, In the beginning, when the earth was made, before the outgoings of the world were fixed, or ever the gatherings of the winds blew, <sup>2</sup>Before the voices of the thunder sounded and before the flashes of the lightning shone, or ever the foundations of paradise were laid, <sup>3</sup>Before the fair flowers were seen, or ever the powers of the earthquake were established, before the innumerable hosts of angels were gathered together, <sup>4</sup>Or ever the heights of the air were lifted up, before the measures of the firmament were named, or ever the footstool of Sion was established, <sup>5</sup>And ere the present years were sought out, and or ever the imaginations of them that now sin were estranged, before they were sealed that have gathered faith for a treasure: <sup>6</sup>Then did I consider these things, and they all were made through me alone, and through none other: as by me also they shall be ended, and by none other. <sup>7</sup>Then answered I and said, What shall be the parting asunder of the times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth? <sup>8</sup>And he said unto me, From Abraham unto Abraham, inasmuch as Jacob and Esau were born of him, for Jacob's hand held the heel of Esau from the beginning. <sup>9</sup>For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth. <sup>10</sup>The beginning of a man is his hand, and the end of a man is his heel; between the heel and the hand seek thou nought else, Esdras. <sup>11</sup>I answered then and said, O Lord that bearest rule, if I have found favour in thy sight, <sup>12</sup>I beseech thee, shew thy servant the end of thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night. <sup>13</sup>So he answered and said unto me, Stand up upon thy feet, and thou shalt hear a mighty sounding voice; <sup>14</sup>And if the place whereon thou standest be greatly moved, <sup>15</sup>When it speaketh be not thou afraid: for the word is of the end, and the foundations of the earth shall understand, <sup>16</sup>That the speech is of them: they shall tremble and be moved: for they know that their end must be changed. <sup>17</sup>And it happened, that when I had heard it I stood up upon my feet, and hearkened, and, behold, there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters. <sup>18</sup>And it said, Behold, the days come, and it shall be that when I draw nigh to visit them that dwell upon the earth, <sup>19</sup>And when I shall make inquisition of them that have done hurt unjustly with their unrighteousness, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled, <sup>20</sup>And when the seal shall be set upon the world that is to pass away, then will I shew these tokens: the books shall be opened before the firmament, and all shall see together: <sup>21</sup>And the children of a year old shall speak with their voices, the women with child shall bring forth untimely children at three or four months, and they shall live, and dance. <sup>22</sup>And suddenly shall the sown places appear unsown, the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty: <sup>23</sup>And the trumpet shall give a sound, which when every man heareth, they shall be suddenly afraid. <sup>24</sup>At that time shall friends make war one against another like enemies, and the earth shall stand in fear with those that dwell therein, the springs of the fountains shall stand still, so that for three hours they shall not run. <sup>25</sup>And it shall be that whosoever remaineth after all these things that I have told thee of, he shall be saved, and shall see my salvation, and the end of my world. <sup>26</sup>And they shall see the men that have been taken up, who have not tasted death from their birth: and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned into another meaning. <sup>27</sup>For evil shall be blotted out, and deceit shall be quenched; <sup>28</sup>And faith shall flourish, and corruption shall be overcome, and the truth, which hath been so long without fruit, shall be declared. <sup>29</sup>And when he talked with me, behold, by little and little the place whereon I stood rocked to and fro. <sup>30</sup>And he said unto me, These things came I to shew thee this night. <sup>31</sup>If therefore thou wilt pray yet again, and fast seven days more, I shall yet tell thee greater things than these. <sup>32</sup>For thy voice hath surely been heard before the Most High: for the Mighty hath seen thy righteous dealing, he hath seen aforetime also thy chastity, which thou hast had ever since thy youth. <sup>33</sup>And therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say unto thee, Be of good comfort, and fear not. <sup>34</sup>And be not hasty in regard of the former times, to think vain things, that thou mayest not hasten in the latter times. <sup>35</sup>And it came to pass after this, that I wept again, and fasted seven days in like manner, that I might fulfil the three weeks which he told me. <sup>36</sup>And in the eighth night was my heart vexed within me again, and I began to speak before the Most High. <sup>37</sup>For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soul was in distress. <sup>38</sup>And I said, O Lord, of a truth thou spakest at the beginning of the creation, upon the first day, and saidst thus; Let heaven and earth be made; and thy word perfected the work. <sup>39</sup>And then was the spirit hovering, and darkness and silence were on every side; the sound of man's voice was not yet. <sup>40</sup>Then commandedst thou a ray of light to be brought forth of thy treasures, that then thy works might appear. <sup>41</sup>Upon the second day again thou madest the spirit of the firmament and commandedst it to part asunder, and to make a division betwixt the waters, that the one part might go up, and the other remain beneath. <sup>42</sup>Upon the third day thou didst command that the waters should be gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: six parts didst thou dry up, and keep them, to the intent that of these some being both planted and tilled might serve before thee. <sup>43</sup>For as soon as thy word went forth the work was done. <sup>44</sup>For immediately there came forth great and innumerable fruit, and manifold pleasures for the taste, and flowers of inimitable colour, and odours of most exquisite smell: and this was done the third day. <sup>45</sup>Upon the fourth day thou commandedst that the sun should shine, and the moon give her light, and the stars should be in their order: <sup>46</sup>And gavest them a charge to do service unto man, that was to be made. <sup>47</sup>Upon the fifth day thou saidst unto the seventh part, where the water was gathered together, that it should bring forth living creatures, fowls and fishes: and so it came to pass, <sup>48</sup>That the dumb water and without life brought forth living things as it was bidden, that the peoples might therefore praise thy wondrous works. <sup>49</sup>Then didst thou preserve two living creatures, the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan: <sup>50</sup>And thou didst separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, namely, where the water was gathered together, might not hold them both. <sup>51</sup>Unto Behemoth thou gavest one part, which was dried up on the third day, that he should dwell in the same, wherein are a thousand hills: <sup>52</sup>But unto Leviathan thou gavest the seventh part, namely, the moist; and thou hast kept them to be devoured of whom thou wilt, and when. <sup>53</sup>But upon the sixth day thou gavest commandment unto the earth, that it should bring forth before thee cattle, beasts, and creeping things: <sup>54</sup>And over these Adam, whom thou ordainedst lord over all the works that thou hast made: of him come we all, the people whom thou hast chosen. <sup>55</sup>All this have I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast said that for our sakes thou madest this world. <sup>56</sup>As for the other nations, which also come of Adam, thou hast said that they are nothing, and are like unto spittle: and thou hast likened the abundance of them unto a drop that falleth from a vessel. <sup>57</sup>And now, O Lord, behold, these nations, which are reputed as nothing, be lords over us, and devour us. <sup>58</sup>But we thy people, whom thou hast called thy firstborn, thy only begotten, and thy fervent lover, are given into their hands. <sup>59</sup>If the world now be made for our sakes, why do we not possess for an inheritance our world? how long shall this endure?

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>And when I had made an end of speaking these words, there was sent unto me the angel which had been sent unto me the nights afore: <sup>2</sup>And he said unto me, Up, Esdras, and hear the words that I am come to tell thee. <sup>3</sup>And I said, Speak on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, There is a sea set in a wide place, that it might be broad and vast. <sup>4</sup>But the entrance thereof shall be set in a narrow place so as to be like a river; <sup>5</sup>Whoso then should desire to go into the sea to look upon it, or to rule it, if he went not through the narrow, how could he come into the broad? <sup>6</sup>Another thing also: There is a city builded and set in a plain country, and full of all good things; <sup>7</sup>But the entrance thereof is narrow, and is set in a dangerous place to fall, having a fire on the right hand, and on the left a deep water. <sup>8</sup>And there is one only path between them both, even between the fire and the water, so small that there could but one man go there at once. <sup>9</sup>If this city now be given unto a man for an inheritance, if the heir pass not the danger set before him, how shall he receive his inheritance? <sup>10</sup>And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he unto me, Even so also is Israel's portion. <sup>11</sup>Because for their sakes I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then was decreed that now is done. <sup>12</sup>Then were the entrances of this world made narrow, and sorrowful and toilsome: they are but few and evil, full of perils, and charged with great toils. <sup>13</sup>For the entrances of the greater world are wide and sure, and bring forth fruit of immortality. <sup>14</sup>If then they that live enter not these strait and vain things, they can never receive those that are laid up for them. <sup>15</sup>Now therefore why disquietest thou thyself, seeing thou art but a corruptible man? and why art thou moved, whereas thou art but mortal? <sup>16</sup>And why hast thou not considered in thy mind that which is to come, rather than that which is present? <sup>17</sup>Then answered I and said, O Lord that bearest rule, lo, thou hast ordained in thy law, that the righteous should inherit these things, but that the ungodly should perish. <sup>18</sup>The righteous therefore shall suffer strait things, and hope for wide: but they that have done wickedly have suffered the strait things, and yet shall not see the wide. <sup>19</sup>And he said unto me, Thou art not a judge above God, neither hast thou understanding above the Most High. <sup>20</sup>Yea, rather let many that now be perish, than that the law of God which is set before them be despised. <sup>21</sup>For God straitly commanded such as came, even as they came, what they should do to live, and what they should observe to avoid punishment. <sup>22</sup>Nevertheless they were not obedient unto him; but spake against him, and imagined for themselves vain things; <sup>23</sup>And framed cunning devices of wickedness; and said moreover of the Most High, that he is not; and knew not his ways: <sup>24</sup>But they despised his law, and denied his covenants; they have not been faithful to his statutes, and have not performed his works. <sup>25</sup>Therefore, Esdras, for the empty are empty things, and for the full are the full things. <sup>26</sup>For behold, the time shall come, and it shall be, when these tokens, of which I told thee before, shall come to pass, that the bride shall appear, even the city coming forth, and she shall be seen, that now is withdrawn from the earth. <sup>27</sup>And whosoever is delivered from the foresaid evils, the same shall see my wonders. <sup>28</sup>For my son Jesus shall be revealed with those that be with him, and shall rejoice them that remain four hundred years. <sup>29</sup>After these years shall my son Christ die, and all that have the breath of life. <sup>30</sup>And the world shall be turned into the old silence seven days, like as in the first beginning: so that no man shall remain. <sup>31</sup>And after seven days the world, that yet awaketh not, shall be raised up, and that shall die that is corruptible. <sup>32</sup>And the earth shall restore those that are asleep in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliver those souls that were committed unto them. <sup>33</sup>And the Most High shall be revealed upon the seat of judgement, and compassion shall pass away, and longsuffering shall be withdrawn: <sup>34</sup>But judgement only shall remain, truth shall stand, and faith shall wax strong: <sup>35</sup>And the work shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed, and good deeds shall awake, and wicked deeds shall not sleep. <sup>36</sup>And the pit of torment shall appear, and over against it shall be the place of rest: and the furnace of hell shall be shewed, and over against it the paradise of delight. <sup>37</sup>And then shall the Most High say to the nations that are raised from the dead, See ye and understand whom ye have denied, or whom ye have not served, or whose commandments ye have despised. <sup>38</sup>Look on this side and on that: here is delight and rest, and there fire and torments. Thus shall he speak unto them in the day of judgement: <sup>39</sup>This is a day that hath neither sun, nor moon, nor stars, <sup>40</sup>Neither cloud, nor thunder, nor lightning, neither wind, nor water, nor air, neither darkness, nor evening, nor morning, <sup>41</sup>Neither summer, nor spring, nor heat, nor winter, neither frost, nor cold, nor hail, nor rain, nor dew, <sup>42</sup>Neither noon, nor night, nor dawn, neither shining, nor brightness, nor light, save only the splendour of the glory of the Most High, whereby all shall see the things that are set before them: <sup>43</sup>For it shall endure as it were a week of years. <sup>44</sup>This is my judgement and the ordinance thereof; but to thee only have I shewed these things. <sup>45</sup>And I answered, I said even then, O Lord, and I say now: Blessed are they that be now alive and keep the statutes ordained of thee. <sup>46</sup>But as touching them for whom my prayer was made, what shall I say? for who is there of them that be alive that hath not sinned, and who of the sons of men that hath not transgressed thy covenant? <sup>47</sup>And now I see, that the world to come shall bring delight to few, but torments unto many. <sup>48</sup>For an evil heart hath grown up in us, which hath led us astray from these statutes, and hath brought us into corruption and into the ways of death, hath shewed us the paths of perdition and removed us far from life; and that, not a few only, but well nigh all that have been created. <sup>49</sup>And he answered me, and said, Hearken unto me, and I will instruct thee; and I will admonish thee yet again: <sup>50</sup>For this cause the Most High hath not made one world, but two. <sup>51</sup>For whereas thou hast said that the just are not many, but few, and the ungodly abound, hear the answer thereunto. <sup>52</sup>If thou have choice stones exceeding few, wilt thou set for thee over against them according to their number things of lead and clay? <sup>53</sup>And I said, Lord, how shall this be? <sup>54</sup>And he said unto me, Not only this, but ask the earth, and she shall tell thee; intreat her, and she shall declare unto thee. <sup>55</sup>For thou shalt say unto her, Thou bringest forth gold and silver and brass, and iron also and lead and clay: <sup>56</sup>But silver is more abundant than gold, and brass than silver, and iron than brass, lead than iron, and clay than lead. <sup>57</sup>Judge thou therefore which things are precious and to be desired, whatso is abundant or what is rare. <sup>58</sup>And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, that which is plentiful is of less worth, for that which is more rare is more precious. <sup>59</sup>And he answered me, and said, Weigh within thyself the things that thou hast thought, for he that hath what is hard to get rejoiceth over him that hath what is plentiful. <sup>60</sup>So also is the judgement which I have promised: for I will rejoice over the few that shall be saved, inasmuch as these are they that have made my glory now to prevail, and of whom my name is now named. <sup>61</sup>And I will not grieve over the multitude of them that perish; for these are they that are now like unto vapour, and are become as flame and smoke; they are set on fire and burn hotly, and are quenched. <sup>62</sup>And I answered and said, O thou earth, wherefore hast thou brought forth, if the mind is made out of dust, like as all other created things? <sup>63</sup>For it were better that the dust itself had been unborn, so that the mind might not have been made therefrom. <sup>64</sup>But now the mind groweth with us, and by reason of this we are tormented, because we perish and know it. <sup>65</sup>Let the race of men lament and the beasts of the field be glad; let all that are born lament, but let the fourfooted beasts and the cattle rejoice. <sup>66</sup>For it is far better with them than with us; for they look not for judgement, neither do they know of torments or of salvation promised unto them after death. <sup>67</sup>For what doth it profit us, that we shall be preserved alive, but yet be afflicted with torment? <sup>68</sup>For all that are born are defiled with iniquities, and are full of sins and laden with offences: <sup>69</sup>And if after death we were not to come into judgement, peradventure it had been better for us. <sup>70</sup>And he answered me, and said, When the Most High made the world, and Adam and all them that came of him, he first prepared the judgement and the things that pertain unto the judgement. <sup>71</sup>And now understand from thine own words, for thou hast said that the mind groweth with us. <sup>72</sup>They therefore that dwell upon the earth shall be tormented for this reason, that having understanding they have wrought iniquity, and receiving commandments have not kept them, and having obtained a law they dealt unfaithfully with that which they received. <sup>73</sup>What then will they have to say in the judgement, or how will they answer in the last times? <sup>74</sup>For how great a time hath the Most High been longsuffering with them that inhabit the world, and not for their sakes, but because of the times which he hath foreordained! <sup>75</sup>And I answered and said, If I have found grace in thy sight, O Lord, shew this also unto thy servant, whether after death, even now when every one of us giveth up his soul, we shall be kept in rest until those times come, in which thou shalt renew the creation, or whether we shall be tormented forthwith. <sup>76</sup>And he answered me, and said, I will shew thee this also; but join not thyself with them that are scorers, nor number thyself with them that are tormented. <sup>77</sup>For thou hast a treasure of good works laid up with the Most High, but it shall not be shewed thee until the last times. <sup>78</sup> For concerning death the teaching is: When the determinate sentence hath gone forth from the Most High that a man should die, as the spirit leaveth the body to return again to him who gave it, it adareth the glory of the Most High first of all. <sup>79</sup> And if it be one of those that have been scorners and have not kept the way of the Most High, and that have despised his law, and that hate them that fear God, <sup>80</sup> These spirits shall not enter into habitations, but shall wander and be in torments forthwith, ever grieving and sad, in seven ways. <sup>81</sup> The first way, because they have despised the law of the Most High. <sup>82</sup> The second way, because they cannot now make a good returning that they may live. <sup>83</sup> The third way, they shall see the reward laid up for them that have believed the covenants of the Most High. <sup>84</sup> The fourth way, they shall consider the torment laid up for themselves in the last days. <sup>85</sup> The fifth way, they shall see the dwelling places of the others guarded by angels, with great quietness. <sup>86</sup> The sixth way, they shall see how forthwith some of them shall pass into torment. <sup>87</sup> The seventh way, which is more grievous than all the aforesaid ways, because they shall pine away in confusion and be consumed with shame, and shall be withered up by fears, seeing the glory of the Most High before whom they have sinned whilst living, and before whom they shall be judged in the last times. <sup>88</sup> Now this is the order of those who have kept the ways of the Most High, when they shall be separated from the corruptible vessel. <sup>89</sup> In the time that they dwelt therein they painfully served the Most High, and were in jeopardy every hour, that they might keep the law of the lawgiver perfectly. <sup>90</sup> Wherefore this is the teaching concerning them: <sup>91</sup> First of all they shall see with great joy the glory of him who taketh them up, for they shall have rest in seven orders. <sup>92</sup> The first order, because they have striven with great labour to overcome the evil thought which was fashioned together with them, that it might not lead them astray from life into death. <sup>93</sup> The second order, because they see the perplexity in which the souls of the ungodly wander, and the punishment that awaiteth them. <sup>94</sup> The third order, they see the witness which he that fashioned them beareth concerning them, that while they lived they kept the law which was given them in trust. <sup>95</sup> The fourth order, they understand the rest which, being gathered in their chambers, they now enjoy with great quietness, guarded by angels, and the glory that awaiteth them in the last days. <sup>96</sup> The fifth order, they rejoice, seeing how they have now escaped from that which is corruptible, and how they shall inherit that which is to come, while they see moreover the straitness and the painfulness from which they have been delivered, and the large room which they shall receive with joy and immortality. <sup>97</sup> The sixth order, when it is shewed unto them how their face shall shine as the sun, and how they shall be made like unto the light of the stars, being henceforth incorruptible. <sup>98</sup> The seventh order, which is greater than all the aforesaid orders, because they shall rejoice with confidence, and because they shall be bold without confusion, and shall be glad without fear, for they hasten to behold the face of him whom in their lifetime they served, and from whom they shall receive their reward in glory. <sup>99</sup> This is the order of the souls of the just, as from henceforth is announced unto them, and aforesaid are the ways of torture which they that would not give heed shall suffer from henceforth. <sup>100</sup> And I answered and said, Shall time therefore be given unto the souls after they are separated from the bodies, that they may see that whereof thou hast spoken unto me? <sup>101</sup> And he said, Their freedom shall be for seven days, that for seven days they may see the things whereof thou hast been told, and afterwards they shall be gathered together in their habitations. <sup>102</sup> And I answered and said, If I have found favour in thy sight, shew further unto me thy servant whether in the day of judgement the just will be able to intercede for the ungodly or to intreat the Most High for them, <sup>103</sup> Whether fathers for children, or children for parents, or brethren for brethren, or kinsfolk for their next of kin, or friends for them that are most dear. <sup>104</sup> And he answered me, and said, Since thou hast found favour in my sight, I will shew thee this also: The day of judgement is a day of decision, and displayeth unto all the seal of truth; even as now a father sendeth not his son, or a son his father, or a master his slave, or a friend him that is most dear, that in his stead he may be sick, or sleep, or eat, or be healed: <sup>105</sup> So never shall any one pray for another in that day, neither shall one lay a burden on another, for then shall all bear every one his own righteousness or unrighteousness. <sup>36</sup> And I answered and said, How do we now find that first Abraham prayed for the people of Sodom, and Moses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness: <sup>37</sup> And Joshua after him for Israel in the days of Achar: <sup>38</sup> And Samuel in the days of Saul; and David for the plague: and Solomon for them that should worship in the sanctuary: <sup>39</sup> And Elijah for those that received rain; and for the dead, that he might live: <sup>40</sup> And Hezekiah for the people in the days of Sennacherib: and many for many? <sup>41</sup> If therefore now, when corruption is grown up, and unrighteousness increased, the righteous have prayed for the ungodly, wherefore shall it not be so then also? <sup>42</sup> He answered me, and said, This present world is not the end; the full glory abideth not therein: therefore have they who were able prayed for the weak. <sup>43</sup> But the day of judgement shall be the end of this time, and the beginning of the immortality for to come, wherein corruption is passed away, <sup>44</sup> Intemperance is at an end, infidelity is cut off, but righteousness is grown, and truth is sprung up. <sup>45</sup> Then shall no man be able to have mercy on him that is cast in judgement, nor to thrust down him that hath gotten the victory. <sup>46</sup> I answered then and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had been better that the earth had not given thee Adam: or else, when it had given him, to have restrained him from sinning. <sup>47</sup> For what profit is it for all that are in this present time to live in heaviness, and after death to look for punishment? <sup>48</sup> O thou Adam, what hast thou done? for though it was thou that sinned, the evil is not fallen on thee alone, but upon all of us that come of thee. <sup>49</sup> For what profit is it unto us, if there be promised us an immortal time, whereas we have done the works that bring death? <sup>50</sup> And that there is promised us an everlasting hope, whereas ourselves most miserably are become vain? <sup>51</sup> And that there are reserved habitations of health and safety, whereas we have lived wickedly? <sup>52</sup> And that the glory of the Most High shall defend them which have led a pure life, whereas we have walked in the most wicked ways of all? <sup>53</sup> And that there shall be shewed a paradise, whose fruit endureth without decay, wherein is abundance and healing, but we shall not enter into it, <sup>54</sup> For we have walked in unpleasant places? <sup>55</sup> And that the faces of them which have used abstinence shall shine above the stars, whereas our faces shall be blacker than darkness? <sup>56</sup> For while we lived and committed iniquity, we considered not what we should have to suffer after death. <sup>57</sup> Then he answered and said, This is the condition of the battle, which man that is born upon the earth shall fight; <sup>58</sup> That, if he be overcome, he shall suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victory, he shall receive the thing that I say. <sup>59</sup> For this is the way whereof Moses spake unto the people while he lived, saying, Choose thee life, that thou mayest live. <sup>60</sup> Nevertheless they believed not him, nor yet the prophets after him, no, nor me which have spoken unto them; <sup>61</sup> So that there shall not be such heaviness in their destruction, as there shall be joy over them that are persuaded to salvation. <sup>62</sup> I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the Most High is now called merciful, in that he hath mercy upon them which are not yet come into the world; <sup>63</sup> And compassionate, in that he hath compassion upon those that turn to his law; <sup>64</sup> And long suffering, for that he long suffereth those that have sinned, as his creatures; <sup>65</sup> And bountiful, for that he is ready to give rather than to exact; <sup>66</sup> And of great mercy, for that he multiplieth more and more mercies to them that are present, and that are past, and also to them which are to come; <sup>67</sup> (For if he multiplied not his mercies, the world would not continue with them that dwell therein.) <sup>68</sup> And one that forgiveth, for if he did not forgive of his goodness, that they which have committed iniquities might be eased of them, the ten thousandth part of men would not remain living; <sup>69</sup> And a judge, for if he did not pardon them that were created by his word, and blot out the multitude of offences, <sup>70</sup> There would peradventure be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>And he answered me, and said, The Most High hath made this world for many, but the world to come for few. <sup>2</sup>I will tell thee now a similitude, Esdras; As when thou askest the earth, it shall say unto thee, that it giveth very much mould whereof earthen vessels are made, and little dust that gold cometh of: even so is the course of the present world. <sup>3</sup>There be many created, but few shall be saved. <sup>4</sup>And I answered and said, Swallow down understanding then, O my soul, and let my heart devour wisdom. <sup>5</sup>For thou art come hither without thy will, and departest when thou wouldest not: for there is given thee no longer space than only to live a short time. <sup>6</sup>O Lord, that art over us, suffer thy servant, that we may pray before thee, and give us seed unto our heart, and culture to our understanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby every one shall live that is corrupt, who beareth the likeness of a man. <sup>7</sup>For thou art alone, and we all one workmanship of thine hands, like as thou hast said. <sup>8</sup>Forasmuch as thou quickenest the body that is fashioned now in the womb, and givest it members, thy creature is preserved in fire and water, and nine months doth thy workmanship endure thy creature which is created in her. <sup>9</sup>But that which keepeth and that which is kept shall both be kept by thy keeping: and when the womb giveth up again that which hath grown in it, <sup>10</sup>Thou hast commanded that out of the parts of the body, that is to say, out of the breasts, be given milk, which is the fruit of the breasts, <sup>11</sup>That the thing which is fashioned may be nourished for a time, and afterwards thou shalt order it in thy mercy. <sup>12</sup>Yea, thou hast brought it up in thy righteousness, and nurtured it in thy law, and corrected it with thy judgement. <sup>13</sup>And thou shalt mortify it as thy creature, and quicken it as thy work. <sup>14</sup>If therefore thou shalt lightly and suddenly destroy him which with so great labour was fashioned by thy commandment, to what purpose was he made? <sup>15</sup>Now therefore I will speak; touching man in general, thou knowest best; but touching thy people will I speak, for whose sake I am sorry; <sup>16</sup>And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourn; and for Israel, for whom I am heavy; and for the seed of Jacob, for whose sake I am troubled; <sup>17</sup>Therefore will I begin to pray before thee for myself and for them: for I see the falls of us that dwell in the land; <sup>18</sup>But I have heard the swiftness of the judgement which is to come. <sup>19</sup>Therefore hear my voice, and understand my saying, and I will speak before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken up. And he said, <sup>20</sup>O Lord, thou that abidest for ever, whose eyes are exalted, and whose chambers are in the air; <sup>21</sup>Whose throne is inestimable; whose glory may not be comprehended; before whom the hosts of angels stand with trembling, <sup>22</sup>At whose bidding they are changed to wind and fire; whose word is sure, and sayings constant; whose ordinance is strong, and commandment fearful; <sup>23</sup>Whose look drieth up the depths, and whose indignation maketh the mountains to melt away, and whose truth beareth witness: <sup>24</sup>Hear, O Lord, the prayer of thy servant, and give ear to the petition of thy handywork; <sup>25</sup>Attend unto my words, for so long as I live I will speak, and so long as I have understanding I will answer. <sup>26</sup>O look not upon the sins of thy people; but on them that have served thee in truth. <sup>27</sup>Regard not the doings of them that deal wickedly, but of them that have kept thy covenants in affliction. <sup>28</sup>Think not upon those that have walked feignedly before thee; but remember them which have willingly known thy fear. <sup>29</sup>Let it not be thy will to destroy them which have lived like cattle; but look upon them that have clearly taught thy law. <sup>30</sup>Take thou no indignation at them which are deemed worse than beasts; but love them that have alway put their trust in thy glory. <sup>31</sup>For we and our fathers have passed our lives in ways that bring death: but thou because of us sinners art called merciful. <sup>32</sup>For if thou hast a desire to have mercy upon us, then shalt thou be called merciful, to us, namely, that have no works of righteousness. <sup>33</sup>For the just, which have many good works laid up with thee, shall for their own deeds receive reward. <sup>34</sup>For what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is a corruptible race, that thou shouldest be so bitter toward it? <sup>35</sup>For in truth there is no man among them that be born, but he hath dealt wickedly; and among them that have lived there is none which hath not done amiss. <sup>36</sup>For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodness shall be declared, if thou be merciful unto them which have no store of good works. <sup>37</sup>Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according unto thy words so shall it come to pass. <sup>38</sup>For indeed I will not think on the fashioning of them which have sinned, or their death, their judgement, or their destruction: <sup>39</sup>But I will rejoice over the framing of the righteous, their pilgrimage also, and the salvation, and the reward, that they shall have. <sup>40</sup>Like therefore as I have spoken, so shall it be. <sup>41</sup>For as the husbandman soweth much seed upon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet not all that is sown shall come up in due season, neither shall all that is planted take root: even so they that are sown in the world shall not all be saved. <sup>42</sup>I answered then and said, If I have found favour, let me speak before thee. <sup>43</sup>Forasmuch as the husbandman's seed, if it come not up, seeing that it hath not received thy rain in due season, or if it be corrupted through too much rain, so perisheth; <sup>44</sup>Likewise man, which is formed with thy hands, and is called thine own image, because he is made like unto thee, for whose sake thou hast formed all things, even him hast thou made like unto the husbandman's seed. <sup>45</sup>Be not wroth with us, but spare thy people, and have mercy upon thine inheritance; for thou hast mercy upon thine own creation. <sup>46</sup>Then answered he me, and said, Things present are for them that now be, and things to come for such as shall be hereafter. <sup>47</sup>For thou comest far short that thou shouldest be able to love my creature more than I. But thou hast brought thyself full nigh unto the unrighteous. Let this never be. <sup>48</sup>Yet in this shalt thou be admirable before the Most High; <sup>49</sup>In that thou hast humbled thyself, as it becometh thee, and hast not judged thyself worthy to be among the righteous, so as to be much glorified. <sup>50</sup>For many grievous miseries shall befall them that in the last times dwell in the world, because they have walked in great pride. <sup>51</sup>But understand thou for thyself, and of such as be like thee seek out the glory. <sup>52</sup>For unto you is paradise opened, the tree of life is planted, the time to come is prepared, plenteousness is made ready, a city is builded, and rest is allowed, goodness is perfected, wisdom being perfect aforehand. <sup>53</sup>The root of evil is sealed up from you, weakness is done away from you, and [death] is hidden; hell and corruption are fled into forgetfulness: <sup>54</sup>Sorrows are passed away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortality. <sup>55</sup>Therefore ask thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish. <sup>56</sup>For when they had received liberty, they despised the Most High, thought scorn of his law, and forsook his ways. <sup>57</sup>Moreover they have trodden down his righteous, <sup>58</sup>And said in their heart, that there is no God; yea, and that knowing they must die. <sup>59</sup>For as the things aforesaid shall receive you, so thirst and pain which are prepared shall receive them: for the Most High willed not that men should come to nought: <sup>60</sup>But they which be created have themselves defiled the name of him that made them, and were unthankful unto him which prepared life for them. <sup>61</sup>And therefore is my judgement now at hand, <sup>62</sup>Which I have not shewed unto all men, but unto thee, and a few like thee. Then answered I and said, <sup>63</sup>Behold, O Lord, now hast thou shewed me the multitude of the wonders, which thou wilt do in the last times: but at what time, thou hast not shewed me.

<sup>1</sup>And he answered me, and said, Measure thou diligently within thyself: and when thou seest that a certain part of the signs are past, which have been told thee beforehand, <sup>2</sup>Then shalt thou understand, that it is the very time, wherein the Most High will visit the world which was made by him. <sup>3</sup>And when there shall be seen in the world earthquakes, disquietude of peoples, devices of nations, wavering of leaders, disquietude of princes, <sup>4</sup>Then shalt thou understand, that the Most High spake of these things from the days that were aforetime from the beginning. <sup>5</sup>For like as of all that is made in the world, the beginning is evident, and the end manifest; <sup>6</sup>So also are the times of the Most High: the beginnings are manifest in wonders and mighty works, and the end in effects and signs. <sup>7</sup>And every one that shall be saved, and shall be able to escape by his works, or by faith, whereby he hath believed, <sup>8</sup>Shall be preserved from the said perils, and shall see my salvation in my land, and within my borders, which I have sanctified for me from the beginning. <sup>9</sup>Then shall they be amazed, which now have abused my ways: and they that have cast them away despitefully shall dwell in torments. <sup>10</sup>For as many as in their life have received benefits, and yet have not known me; <sup>11</sup>And as many as have scorned my law, while they had yet liberty, and, when as yet place of repentance was open unto them, understood not, but despised it; <sup>12</sup>The same must know it after death by torment. <sup>13</sup>And therefore be thou no longer curious how the ungodly shall be punished; but inquire how the righteous shall be saved, they whose the world is, and for whom the world was created. <sup>14</sup>And I answered and said, <sup>15</sup>I have said before, and now do speak, and will speak it also hereafter, that there be more of them which perish, than of them which shall be saved: <sup>16</sup>Like as a wave is greater than a drop. <sup>17</sup>And he answered me, saying, Like as the field is, so is also the seed; and as the flowers be, such are the colours also; and such as the work is, such also is the judgement thereon; and as is the husbandman, so is his threshing-floor also. For there was a time in the world, <sup>18</sup>Even then when I was preparing for them that now live, before the world was made for them to dwell in; and then no man spake against me, <sup>19</sup>For there was not any: but now they which are created in this world that is prepared, both with a table that faileth not, and a law which is unsearchable, are corrupted in their manners. <sup>20</sup>So I considered my world, and, lo, it was destroyed, and my earth, and, lo, it was in peril, because of the devices that were come into it. <sup>21</sup>And I saw, and spared them, but not greatly, and saved me a grape out of a cluster, and a plant out of a great forest. <sup>22</sup>Let the multitude perish then, which was born in vain; and let my grape be saved, and my plant; for with great labour have I made them perfect. <sup>23</sup>Nevertheless if thou wilt cease yet seven days more, (howbeit thou shalt not fast in them, <sup>24</sup>But shalt go into a field of flowers, where no house is builded, and eat only of the flowers of the field; and thou shalt taste no flesh, and shalt drink no wine, but shalt eat flowers only;) <sup>25</sup>And pray unto the Most High continually, then will I come and talk with thee. <sup>26</sup>So I went my way, like as he commanded me, into the field which is called Ardat; and there I sat among the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me. <sup>27</sup>And it came to pass after seven days that I lay upon the grass, and my heart was vexed again, like as before: <sup>28</sup>And my mouth was opened, and I began to speak before the Most High, and said, <sup>29</sup>O Lord, thou didst shew thyself among us, unto our fathers in the wilderness, when they went forth out of Egypt, and when they came into the wilderness, where no man treadeth and that beareth no fruit; <sup>30</sup>And thou didst say, Hear me, thou Israel; and mark my words, O seed of Jacob. <sup>31</sup>For, behold, I sow my law in you, and it shall bring forth fruit in you, and ye shall be glorified in it for ever. <sup>32</sup>But our fathers, which received the law, kept it not, and observed not the statutes: and the fruit of the law did not perish, neither could it, for it was thine; <sup>33</sup>Yet they that received it perished, because they kept not the thing that was sown in them. <sup>34</sup>And, lo, it is a custom, that when the ground hath received seed, or the sea a ship, or any vessel meat or drink, and when it cometh to pass that that which is sown, or that which is launched, <sup>35</sup>Or the things which have been received, should come to an end, these come to an end, but the receptacles remain: yet with us it hath not happened so. <sup>36</sup>For we that have received the law shall perish by sin, and our heart also which received it. <sup>37</sup>Notwithstanding the law perisheth not, but remaineth in its honour. <sup>38</sup>And when I spake these things in my heart, I looked about me with mine eyes, and upon the right side I saw a woman, and, behold, she mourned and wept with a loud voice, and was much grieved in mind, and her clothes were rent, and she had ashes upon her head. <sup>39</sup>Then let I my thoughts go wherein I was occupied, and turned me unto her, <sup>40</sup>And said unto her, Wherefore weepest thou? and why art thou grieved in thy mind? <sup>41</sup>And she said unto me, Let me alone, my lord, that I may bewail myself, and add unto my sorrow, for I am sore vexed in my mind, and brought very low. <sup>42</sup>And I said unto her, What aileth thee? tell me. <sup>43</sup>She said unto me, I thy servant was barren, and had no child, though I had a husband thirty years. <sup>44</sup>And every hour and every day these thirty years did I make my prayer to the Most High day and night. <sup>45</sup>And it came to pass after thirty years that God heard me thine handmaid, and looked upon my low estate, and considered my trouble, and gave me a son: and I rejoiced in him greatly, I and my husband, and all my neighbours: and we gave great honour unto the Mighty. <sup>46</sup>And I nourished him with great travail. <sup>47</sup>So when he grew up, and I came to take him a wife, I made a feast day.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>And it so came to pass, that when my son was entered into his wedding chamber, he fell down, and died. <sup>2</sup>Then we all overthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose up to comfort me: and I remained quiet unto the second day at night. <sup>3</sup>And it came to pass, when they had all left off to comfort me, to the end I might be quiet, then rose I up by night, and fled, and came hither into this field, as thou seest. <sup>4</sup>And I do now purpose not to return into the city, but here to stay, and neither to eat nor drink, but continually to mourn and to fast until I die. <sup>5</sup>Then left I the meditations wherein I was, and answered her in anger, and said, <sup>6</sup>Thou foolish woman above all other, seest thou not our mourning, and what hath happened unto us? <sup>7</sup>How that Sion the mother of us all is full of sorrow, and much humbled. <sup>8</sup>It is right now to mourn very sore, seeing we all mourn, and to be sorrowful, seeing we are all in sorrow, but thou sorrowest for one son. <sup>9</sup>For ask the earth, and she shall tell thee, that it is she which ought to mourn for so many that grow upon her. <sup>10</sup>For out of her all had their beginnings, and others shall come; and, behold, they walk almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them is utterly rooted out. <sup>11</sup>Who then should make more mourning, she, that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou, which art grieved but for one? <sup>12</sup>But if thou sayest unto me, My lamentation is not like the earth's, for I have lost the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with pains, and bare with sorrows: <sup>13</sup>But it is with the earth after the manner of the earth; the multitude present in it is gone, as it came: <sup>14</sup>Then say I unto thee, Like as thou hast brought forth with sorrow; even so the earth also hath given her fruit, namely, man, ever since the beginning unto him that made her. <sup>15</sup>Now therefore keep thy sorrow to thyself, and bear with a good courage the adversities which have befallen thee. <sup>16</sup>For if thou shalt acknowledge the decree of God to be just, thou shalt both receive thy son in time, and shalt be praised among women. <sup>17</sup>Go thy way then into the city to thine husband. <sup>18</sup>And she said unto me, That will I not do: I will not go into the city, but here will I die. <sup>19</sup>So I proceeded to speak further unto her, and said, <sup>20</sup>Do not so, but suffer thyself to be prevailed on by reason of the adversities of Sion; and be comforted by reason of the sorrow of Jerusalem. <sup>21</sup>For thou seest that our sanctuary is laid waste, our altar broken down, our temple destroyed; <sup>22</sup>Our psaltery is brought low, our song is put to silence, our rejoicing is at an end; the light of our candlestick is put out, the ark of our covenant is spoiled, our holy things are defiled, and the name that is called upon us is profaned; our freemen are despitefully treated, our priests are burnt, our Levites are gone into captivity, our virgins are defiled, and our wives ravished; our righteous men carried away, our little ones betrayed, our young men are brought into bondage, and our strong men are become weak; <sup>23</sup>And, what is more than all, the seal of Sion—for she hath now lost the seal of her honour, and is delivered into the hands of them that hate us. <sup>24</sup>Thou therefore shake off thy great heaviness, and put away from thee the multitude of sorrows, that the Mighty may be merciful unto thee again, and the Most High may give thee rest, even ease from thy travails. <sup>25</sup>And it came to pass, while I was talking with her, behold, her face upon a sudden shined exceedingly, and her countenance glistened like lightning, so that I was sore afraid of her, and mused what this might be; <sup>26</sup>And, behold, suddenly she made a great cry very fearful; so that the earth shook at the noise. <sup>27</sup>And I looked, and, behold, the woman appeared unto me no more, but there was a city builded, and a place shewed itself from large foundations: then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voice, and said, <sup>28</sup>Where is Uriel the angel, who came unto me at the first? for he hath caused me to fall into this great trance, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. <sup>29</sup>And as I was speaking these words, behold, the angel who had come unto me at the first came unto me, and he looked upon me: <sup>30</sup>And, lo, I lay as one that had been dead, and mine understanding was taken from me; and he took me by the right hand, and comforted me, and set me upon my feet, and said unto me, <sup>31</sup>What aileth thee? and why art thou so disquieted? and why is thine understanding troubled, and the thoughts of thine heart? <sup>32</sup>And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me: yet I did according to thy words, and went into the field, and, lo, I have seen, and yet see, that which I am not able to express. <sup>33</sup>And he said unto me, Stand up like a man, and I will advise thee. <sup>34</sup>Then said I, Speak on, my Lord; only forsake me not, lest I die frustrate of my hope. <sup>35</sup>For I have seen that I knew not, and hear that I do not know. <sup>36</sup>Or is my sense deceived, or my soul in a dream? <sup>37</sup>Now therefore I beseech thee to shew thy servant concerning this trance. <sup>38</sup>And he answered me, and said, Hear me, and I shall inform thee, and tell thee concerning the things whereof thou art afraid: for the Most High hath revealed many secret things unto thee. <sup>39</sup>He hath seen that thy way is right: for that thou sorrowest continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion. <sup>40</sup>This therefore is the meaning of the vision. <sup>41</sup>The woman which appeared unto thee a little while ago, whom thou sawest mourning, and beganest to comfort her: <sup>42</sup>But now seest thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city in building: <sup>43</sup>And whereas she told thee of the death of her son, this is the solution: <sup>44</sup>This woman, whom thou sawest, is Sion, whom thou now seest as a city builded; <sup>45</sup>And whereas she said unto thee, that she hath been thirty years barren, it is, because there were three thousand years in the world wherein there was no offering as yet offered in her. <sup>46</sup>And it came to pass after three thousand years that Solomon builded the city, and offered offerings: then it was that the barren bare a son. <sup>47</sup>And whereas she told thee that she nourished him with travail: that was the dwelling in Jerusalem. <sup>48</sup>And whereas she said unto thee, My son coming into his marriage chamber died, and that misfortune befell her: this was the destruction that came to Jerusalem. <sup>49</sup>And, behold, thou sawest her likeness, how she mourned for her son, and thou beganest to comfort her for what hath befallen her; these were the things to be opened unto thee. <sup>50</sup>For now the Most High, seeing that thou art grieved unfeignedly, and sufferest from thy whole heart for her, hath shewed thee the brightness of her glory, and the comeliness of her beauty: <sup>51</sup>And therefore I bade thee remain in the field where no house was builded: <sup>52</sup>For I knew that the Most High would shew this unto thee. <sup>53</sup>Therefore I commanded thee to come into the field, where no foundation of any building was. <sup>54</sup>For in the place wherein the city of the Most High was to be shewed, the work of no man's building could stand. <sup>55</sup>Therefore fear thou not, nor let thine heart be affrighted, but go thy way in, and see the beauty and greatness of the building, as much as thine eyes be able to see: <sup>56</sup>And then shalt thou hear as much as thine ears may comprehend. <sup>57</sup>For thou art blessed above many, and with the Most High art called by name, like as but few. <sup>58</sup>But to-morrow at night thou shalt remain here; <sup>59</sup>And so shall the Most High shew thee those visions in dreams, of what the Most High will do unto them that dwell upon earth in the last days. So I slept that night and another, like as he commanded me.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>And it came to pass the second night that I saw a dream, and, behold, there came up from the sea an eagle, which had twelve feathered wings, and three heads. <sup>2</sup>And I saw, and, behold, she spread her wings over all the earth, and all the winds of heaven blew on her, and the clouds were gathered together against her. <sup>3</sup>And I beheld, and out of her wings there grew other wings over against them; and they became little wings and small. <sup>4</sup>But her heads were at rest: the head in the midst was greater than the other heads, yet rested it with them. <sup>5</sup>Moreover I beheld, and, lo, the eagle flew with her wings, to reign over the earth, and over them that dwell therein. <sup>6</sup>And I beheld how that all things under heaven were subject unto her, and no man spake against her, no, not one creature upon earth. <sup>7</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, the eagle rose upon her talons, and uttered her voice to her wings, saying, <sup>8</sup>Watch not all at once: sleep every one in his own place, and watch by course: <sup>9</sup>But let the heads be preserved for the last. <sup>10</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, the voice went not out of her heads, but from the midst of her body. <sup>11</sup>And I numbered her wings that were over against the other, and, behold, there were eight of them. <sup>12</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, on the right side there arose one wing, and reigned over all the earth; <sup>13</sup>And so it was, that when it reigned, the end of it came, and it appeared not, so that the place thereof appeared no more: and the next following rose up, and reigned, and it bare rule a great time; <sup>14</sup>And it happened, that when it reigned, the end of it came also, so that it appeared no more, like as the first. <sup>15</sup>And, lo, there came a voice unto it, and said, <sup>16</sup>Hear thou that hast borne rule over the earth all this time: this I proclaim unto thee, before thou shalt appear no more, <sup>17</sup>There shall none after thee attain unto thy time, neither unto the half thereof. <sup>18</sup>Then arose the third, and had the rule as the others before, and it also appeared no more. <sup>19</sup>So went it with all the wings one after another, as that every one bare rule, and then appeared no more. <sup>20</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, in process of time the wings that followed were set up upon the right side, that they might rule also; and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more: <sup>21</sup>Some also of them were set up, but ruled not. <sup>22</sup>After this I beheld, and, lo, the twelve wings appeared no more, nor two of the little wings: <sup>23</sup>And there was no more left upon the eagle's body, but the three heads that rested, and six little wings. <sup>24</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, two little wings divided themselves from the six, and remained under the head that was upon the right side: but four remained in their place. <sup>25</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, these under wings thought to set up themselves, and to have the rule. <sup>26</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, there was one set up, but within a while it appeared no more. <sup>27</sup>A second also, and it was sooner away than the first. <sup>28</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, the two that remained thought also in themselves to reign: <sup>29</sup>And while they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, namely, it that was in the midst; for that was greater than the two other heads. <sup>30</sup>And I beheld how that it joined the two other heads with it. <sup>31</sup>And, behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eat up the two under wings that thought to have reigned. <sup>32</sup>But this head held the whole earth in possession, and bare rule over those that dwell therein with much oppression; and it had the governance of the world more than all the wings that had been. <sup>33</sup>And after this I beheld, and, lo, the head also that was in the midst suddenly appeared no more, like as the wings. <sup>34</sup>But there remained the two heads, which also in like sort reigned over the earth, and over those that dwell therein. <sup>35</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, the head upon the right side devoured it that was upon the left side. <sup>36</sup>Then I heard a voice, which said unto me, Look before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest. <sup>37</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, as it were a lion roused out of the wood roaring: and I heard how that he sent out a man's voice unto the eagle, and spake, saying, <sup>38</sup>Hear thou, I will talk with thee, and the Most High shall say unto thee, <sup>39</sup>Art not thou it that remainest of the four beasts, whom I made to reign in my world, that the end of my times might come through them? <sup>40</sup>And the fourth came, and overcame all the beasts that were past, and held the world in governance with great trembling, and the whole compass of the earth with grievous oppression; and so long time dwelt he upon the earth with deceit. <sup>41</sup>And thou hast judged the earth, but not with truth. <sup>42</sup>For thou hast afflicted the meek, thou hast hurt the peaceable, thou hast hated them that speak truth, thou hast loved liars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast down the walls of such as did thee no harm. <sup>43</sup>Therefore is thy insolent dealing come up unto the Most High, and thy pride unto the Mighty. <sup>44</sup>The Most High also hath looked upon his times, and, behold, they are ended, and his ages are fulfilled. <sup>45</sup>And therefore appear no more, thou eagle, nor thy horrible wings, nor thy evil little wings, nor thy cruel heads, nor thy hurtful talons, nor all thy vain body: <sup>46</sup>That all the earth may be refreshed, and be eased, being delivered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the judgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>And it came to pass, whiles the lion spake these words unto the eagle, I beheld, <sup>2</sup>And, lo, the head that remained appeared no more, and the two wings which went over unto it arose and set themselves up to reign, and their kingdom was small, and full of uproar. <sup>3</sup>And I beheld, and, lo, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great fear: then awaked I by reason of great ecstasy of mind, and from great fear, and said unto my spirit, <sup>4</sup>Lo, this hast thou done unto me, in that thou searchest out the ways of the Most High. <sup>5</sup>Lo, I am yet weary in my mind, and very weak in my spirit; nor is there the least strength in me, for the great fear wherewith I was affrighted this night. <sup>6</sup>Therefore will I now beseech the Most High, that he will strengthen me unto the end. <sup>7</sup>And I said, O Lord that bearest rule, if I have found favour in thy sight, and if I am justified with thee above many others, and if my prayer indeed be come up before thy face; <sup>8</sup>Strengthen me then, and shew me thy servant the interpretation and plain meaning of this fearful vision, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soul. <sup>9</sup>For thou hast judged me worthy to shew me the end of time and the last times. <sup>10</sup>And he said unto me, This is the interpretation of this vision which thou sawest: <sup>11</sup>The eagle, whom thou sawest come up from the sea, is the fourth kingdom which appeared in vision to thy brother Daniel. <sup>12</sup>But it was not expounded unto him, as I now expound it unto thee or have expounded it. <sup>13</sup>Behold, the days come, that there shall rise up a kingdom upon earth, and it shall be feared above all the kingdoms that were before it. <sup>14</sup>In the same shall twelve kings reign, one after another: <sup>15</sup>Whereof the second shall begin to reign, and shall have a longer time than any of the twelve. <sup>16</sup>This is the interpretation of the twelve wings, which thou sawest. <sup>17</sup>And whereas thou heardest a voice which spake, not going out from the heads, but from the midst of the body thereof, this is the interpretation: <sup>18</sup>That after the time of that kingdom there shall arise no small contentions, and it shall stand in peril of falling: nevertheless it shall not then fall, but shall be restored again to its first estate. <sup>19</sup>And whereas thou sawest the eight under wings sticking to her wings, this is the interpretation: <sup>20</sup>That in it there shall arise eight kings, whose times shall be but small, and their years swift. <sup>21</sup>And two of them shall perish, when the middle time approacheth: four shall be kept for a while until the time of the ending thereof shall approach: but two shall be kept unto the end.<sup>22</sup> And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation:<sup>23</sup> In the last days thereof shall the Most High raise up three kingdoms, and renew many things therein, and they shall bear rule over the earth,<sup>24</sup> And over those that dwell therein, with much oppression, above all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the eagle.<sup>25</sup> For these are they that shall accomplish her wickedness, and that shall finish her last end.<sup>26</sup> And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die upon his bed, and yet with pain.<sup>27</sup> But for the two that remained, the sword shall devour them.<sup>28</sup> For the sword of the one shall devour him that was with him: but he also shall fall by the sword in the last days.<sup>29</sup> And whereas thou sawest two under wings passing over unto the head that is on the right side,<sup>30</sup> This is the interpretation: These are they, whom the Most High hath kept unto his end: this is the small kingdom and full of trouble, as thou sawest.<sup>31</sup> And the lion, whom thou sawest rising up out of the wood, and roaring, and speaking to the eagle, and rebuking her for her unrighteousness, and all her words which thou hast heard:<sup>32</sup> This is the anointed one, whom the Most High hath kept unto the end [of days, who shall spring up out of the seed of David, and he shall come and speak] unto them and reprove them for their wickedness and their unrighteousness, and shall heap up before them their contemptuous dealings.<sup>33</sup> For at the first he shall set them alive in his judgement, and when he hath reproved them, he shall destroy them.<sup>34</sup> For the rest of my people shall he deliver with mercy, those that have been preserved throughout my borders, and he shall make them joyful until the coming of the end, even the day of judgement, whereof I have spoken unto thee from the beginning.<sup>35</sup> This is the dream that thou sawest, and this is the interpretation thereof:<sup>36</sup> And thou only hast been meet to know this secret of the Most High.<sup>37</sup> Therefore write all these things that thou hast seen in a book, and put them in a secret place:<sup>38</sup> And thou shalt teach them to the wise of thy people, whose hearts thou knowest are able to comprehend and keep these secrets.<sup>39</sup> But wait thou here thyself yet seven days more, that there may be shewed unto thee whatsoever it pleaseth the Most High to shew thee. And he departed from me.<sup>40</sup> And it came to pass, when all the people saw that the seven days were past, and I not come again into the city, they gathered them all together, from the least unto the greatest, and came unto me, and spake to me, saying,<sup>41</sup> What have we offended thee? and what evil have we done against thee, that thou hast utterly forsaken us, and sittest in this place?<sup>42</sup> For of all the prophets thou only art left us, as a cluster of the vintage, and as a lamp in a dark place, and as a haven for a ship saved from the tempest.<sup>43</sup> Are not the evils which are come to us sufficient?<sup>44</sup> If thou shalt forsake us, how much better had it been for us, if we also had been consumed in the burning of Sion!<sup>45</sup> For we are not better than they that died there. And they wept with a loud voice. And I answered them, and said,<sup>46</sup> Be of good comfort, O Israel; and be not sorrowful, thou house of Jacob:<sup>47</sup> For the Most High hath you in remembrance, and the Mighty hath not forgotten you for ever.<sup>48</sup> As for me, I have not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you: but am come into this place, to pray for the desolation of Sion, and that I might seek mercy for the low estate of your sanctuary.<sup>49</sup> And now go your way every man to his own house, and after these days will I come unto you.<sup>50</sup> So the people went their way into the city, like as I said unto them:<sup>51</sup> But I sat in the field seven days, as the angel commanded me; and in those days I did eat only of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbs.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup> And it came to pass after seven days, I dreamed a dream by night:<sup>2</sup> And, lo, there arose a wind from the sea, that it moved all the waves thereof.<sup>3</sup> And I beheld, and, lo, [this wind caused to come up from the midst of the sea as it were the likeness of a man, and I beheld, and, lo,] that man flew with the clouds of heaven: and when he turned his countenance to look, all things trembled that were seen under him.<sup>4</sup> And whensoever the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, like as the wax melteth when it feelth the fire.<sup>5</sup> And after this I beheld, and, lo, there was gathered together a multitude of men, out of number, from the four winds of heaven, to make war against the man that came out of the sea.<sup>6</sup> And I beheld, and, lo, he graved himself a great mountain, and flew up upon it.<sup>7</sup> But I sought to see the region or place whereout the mountain was graven, and I could not.<sup>8</sup> And after this I beheld, and, lo, all they which were gathered together to fight against him were sore afraid, and yet durst fight.<sup>9</sup> And, lo, as he saw the assault of the multitude that came, he neither lifted up his hand, nor held spear, nor any instrument of war:<sup>10</sup> But only I saw how that he sent out of his mouth as it had been a flood of fire, and out of his lips a flaming breath, and out of his tongue he cast forth sparks of the storm.<sup>11</sup> And these were all mingled together; the flood of fire, the flaming breath, and the great storm; and fell upon the assault of the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burned them up every one, so that upon a sudden of an innumerable multitude nothing was to be perceived, but only dust of ashes and smell of smoke: when I saw this I was amazed.<sup>12</sup> Afterward I beheld the same man come down from the mountain, and call unto him another multitude which was peaceable.<sup>13</sup> And there came much people unto him, whereof some were glad, some were sorry, some of them were bound, and other some brought of them that were offered: then through great fear I awaked, and prayed unto the Most High, and said,<sup>14</sup> Thou hast shewed thy servant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy that thou shouldest receive my prayer:<sup>15</sup> And now shew me moreover the interpretation of this dream.<sup>16</sup> For as I conceive in mine understanding, woe unto them that shall be left in those days! and much more woe unto them that are not left!<sup>17</sup> For they that were not left shall be in heaviness,<sup>18</sup> Understanding the things that are laid up in the latter days, but not attaining unto them.<sup>19</sup> But woe unto them also that are left, for this cause; for they shall see great perils and many necessities, like as these dreams declare.<sup>20</sup> Yet is it better for one to be in peril and to come into these things, than to pass away as a cloud out of the world, and not to see the things that shall happen in the last days. And he answered unto me, and said,<sup>21</sup> The interpretation of the vision shall I tell thee, and I will also open unto thee the things whereof thou hast made mention.<sup>22</sup> Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation:<sup>23</sup> He that shall endure the peril in that time shall keep them that be fallen into danger, even such as have works, and faith toward the Almighty.<sup>24</sup> Know therefore, that they which be left behind are more blessed than they that be dead.<sup>25</sup> These are the interpretations of the vision: Whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the midst of the sea,<sup>26</sup> The same is he whom the Most High hath kept a great season, which by his own self shall deliver his creature: and he shall order them that are left behind.<sup>27</sup> And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came wind, and fire, and storm;<sup>28</sup> And whereas he held neither spear, nor any instrument of war, but destroyed the assault of that multitude which came to fight against him; this is the interpretation:<sup>29</sup> Behold, the days come, when the Most High will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth.<sup>30</sup> And there shall come astonishment of mind upon them that dwell on the earth.<sup>31</sup> And one shall think to war against another, city against city, place against place, people against people, and kingdom against kingdom.<sup>32</sup> And it shall be, when these things shall come to pass, and the signs shall happen which I shewed thee before, then shall my Son be revealed, whom thou sawest as a man ascending.<sup>33</sup> And it shall be, when all the nations hear his voice, every man shall leave his own land and the battle they have one against another.<sup>34</sup> And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered together, as thou sawest, desiring to come, and to fight against him.<sup>35</sup> But he shall stand upon the top of the mount Sion.<sup>36</sup> And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all men, being prepared and builded, like as thou sawest the mountain graven without hands.<sup>37</sup> And this my Son shall rebuke the nations which are come for their wickedness, with plagues that are like unto a tempest;<sup>38</sup> And shall taunt them to their face with their evil thoughts, and the torments wherewith they shall be tormented, which are likened unto a flame: and he shall destroy them without labour by the law, which is likened unto fire.<sup>39</sup> And whereas thou sawest that he gathered unto him another multitude that was peaceable;<sup>40</sup> These are the ten tribes, which were led away out of their own land in the time of Osea the king, whom Salmanasar the king of the Assyrians led away captive, and he carried them beyond the River, and they were carried into another land.<sup>41</sup> But they took this counsel among themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and go forth into a further country, where never mankind dwelt,<sup>42</sup> That they might there keep their statutes, which they had not kept in their own land.<sup>43</sup> And they entered by the narrow passages of the river Euphrates. <sup>44</sup>For the Most High then wrought signs for them, and stayed the springs of the River, till they were passed over. <sup>45</sup>For through that country there was a great way to go, namely, of a year and a half: and the same region is called Arzareth. <sup>46</sup>Then dwelt they there until the latter time; and now when they begin to come again, <sup>47</sup>The Most High stayeth the springs of the River again, that they may go through: therefore sawest thou the multitude gathered together with peace. <sup>48</sup>But those that be left behind of thy people are they that are found within my holy border. <sup>49</sup>It shall be therefore when he shall destroy the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remain. <sup>50</sup>And then shall he shew them very many wonders. <sup>51</sup>Then said I, O Lord that bearest rule, shew me this: wherefore I have seen the man coming up from the midst of the sea. <sup>52</sup>And he said unto me, Like as one can neither seek out nor know what is in the deep of the sea, even so can no man upon earth see my Son, or those that be with him, but in the time of his day. <sup>53</sup>This is the interpretation of the dream which thou sawest, and for this thou only art enlightened herein. <sup>54</sup>For thou hast forsaken thine own ways, and applied thy diligence unto mine, and hast sought out my law. <sup>55</sup>Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called understanding thy mother. <sup>56</sup>And therefore have I shewed thee this; for there is a reward laid up with the Most High: and it shall be, after other three days I will speak other things unto thee, and declare unto thee mighty and wondrous things. <sup>57</sup>Then went I forth and passed into the field, giving praise and thanks greatly unto the Most High because of his wonders, which he did from time to time; <sup>58</sup>And because he governeth the time, and such things as fall in their seasons. And there I sat three days.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>And it came to pass upon the third day, I sat under an oak, and, behold, there came a voice out of a bush over against me, and said, Esdras, <sup>2</sup>And I said, Here am I, Lord. And I stood up upon my feet. <sup>3</sup>Then said he unto me, In the bush I did manifestly reveal myself, and talked with Moses, when my people were in bondage in Egypt: <sup>4</sup>And I sent him, and he led my people out of Egypt; and I brought him up to the mount of Sinai, where I held him by me for many days; <sup>5</sup>And told him many wondrous things, and shewed him the secrets of the times, and the end of the seasons; and commanded him, saying, <sup>6</sup>These words shalt thou publish openly, and these shalt thou hide. <sup>7</sup>And now I say unto thee, <sup>8</sup>Lay up in thy heart the signs that I have shewed, and the dreams that thou hast seen, and the interpretations which thou hast heard: <sup>9</sup>For thou shalt be taken away from men, and from henceforth thou shalt remain with my Son, and with such as be like thee, until the times be ended. <sup>10</sup>For the world hath lost its youth, and the times begin to wax old. <sup>11</sup>For the world is divided into twelve parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, even the half of the tenth part: <sup>12</sup>And there remain of it two parts after the middle of the tenth part. <sup>13</sup>Now therefore set thine house in order, and reprove thy people, comfort the lowly among them, and instruct such of them as be wise, and now renounce the life that is corruptible, <sup>14</sup>And let go from thee mortal thoughts, cast away from thee the burdens of man, put off now thy weak nature, <sup>15</sup>And lay aside the thoughts that are most grievous unto thee, and haste thee to remove from these times. <sup>16</sup>For yet worse evils than those which thou hast seen happen shall be done hereafter. <sup>17</sup>For look, how much the world shall be weaker through age, so much the more shall evils increase upon them that dwell therein. <sup>18</sup>For the truth shall withdraw itself further off, and leasing be hard at hand: for now hasteth the eagle to come, which thou sawest in vision. <sup>19</sup>Then answered I and said, I will speak before thee, O Lord. <sup>20</sup>Behold, I will go, as thou hast commanded me, and reprove the people that now be: but they that shall be born afterward, who shall admonish them? for the world is set in darkness, and they that dwell therein are without light. <sup>21</sup>For thy law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shall be done. <sup>22</sup>But if I have found favour before thee, send the Holy Spirit into me, and I shall write all that hath been done in the world since the beginning, even the things that were written in thy law, that men may be able to find the path, and that they which would live in the latter days may live. <sup>23</sup>And he answered me and said, Go thy way, gather the people together, and say unto them, that they seek thee not for forty days. <sup>24</sup>But look thou prepare thee many tablets, and take with thee

Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ethanus, and Asiel, these five, which are ready to write swiftly; <sup>25</sup>And come hither, and I shall light a lamp of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be ended which thou shalt write. <sup>26</sup>And when thou hast done, some things shalt thou publish openly, and some things shalt thou deliver in secret to the wise: to-morrow this hour shalt thou begin to write. <sup>27</sup>Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said, <sup>28</sup>Hear these words, O Israel. <sup>29</sup>Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, and they were delivered from thence, <sup>30</sup>And received the law of life, which they kept not, which ye also have transgressed after them. <sup>31</sup>Then was the land, even the land of Sion, given you for a possession: but ye yourselves, and your fathers, have done unrighteousness, and have not kept the ways which the Most High commanded you. <sup>32</sup>And forasmuch as he is a righteous judge, he took from you for a while the thing that he had given you. <sup>33</sup>And now ye are here, and your brethren are among you. <sup>34</sup>Therefore if so be that ye will rule over your own understanding, and instruct your hearts, ye shall be kept alive, and after death ye shall obtain mercy. <sup>35</sup>For after death shall the judgement come, when we shall live again: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the ungodly shall be declared. <sup>36</sup>Let no man therefore come unto me now, nor seek after me these forty days. <sup>37</sup>So I took the five men, as he commanded me, and we went forth into the field, and remained there. <sup>38</sup>And it came to pass on the morrow that, lo, a voice called me, saying, Esdras, open thy mouth, and drink that I give thee to drink. <sup>39</sup>Then opened I my mouth, and, behold, there was reached unto me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire. <sup>40</sup>And I took it, and drank: and when I had drunk of it, my heart uttered understanding, and wisdom grew in my breast, for my spirit retained its memory: <sup>41</sup>And my mouth was opened, and shut no more. <sup>42</sup>The Most High gave understanding unto the five men, and they wrote by course the things that were told them, in characters which they knew not, and they sat forty days: now they wrote in the daytime, and at night they ate bread. <sup>43</sup>As for me, I spake in the day, and by night I held not my tongue. <sup>44</sup>So in forty days were written fourscore and fourteen books. <sup>45</sup>And it came to pass, when the forty days were fulfilled, that the Most High spake unto me, saying, The first that thou hast written publish openly, and let the worthy and unworthy read it: <sup>46</sup>But keep the seventy last, that thou mayest deliver them to such as be wise among thy people: <sup>47</sup>For in them is the spring of understanding, the fountain of wisdom, and the stream of knowledge. <sup>48</sup>And I did so.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup>Behold, speak thou in the ears of my people the words of prophecy, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord: <sup>2</sup>And cause thou them to be written in paper: for they are faithful and true. <sup>3</sup>Fear not their imaginations against thee, let not the unbelief of them that speak against thee trouble thee. <sup>4</sup>For all the unbelievers shall die in their unbelief. <sup>5</sup>Behold, saith the Lord, I bring evils upon the whole earth; sword and famine, and death and destruction. <sup>6</sup>For wickedness hath prevailed over every land, and their hurtful works are come to the full. <sup>7</sup>Therefore saith the Lord, <sup>8</sup>I will hold my peace no more as touching their wickedness, which they profanely commit, neither will I suffer them in these things, which they wickedly practise: behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth unto me, and the souls of the righteous cry out continually. <sup>9</sup>I will surely avenge them, saith the Lord, and will receive unto me all the innocent blood from among them. <sup>10</sup>Behold, my people is led as a flock to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt: <sup>11</sup>But I will bring them out with a mighty hand and with a high arm, and will smite Egypt with plagues, as aforetime, and will destroy all the land thereof. <sup>12</sup>Let Egypt mourn, and the foundations thereof, for the plague of the chastisement and the punishment that God shall bring upon it. <sup>13</sup>Let the husbandmen that till the ground mourn: for their seeds shall fail and their trees shall be laid waste through the blasting and hail, and a terrible star. <sup>14</sup>Woe to the world and them that dwell therein! <sup>15</sup>For the sword and their destruction draweth nigh, and nation shall rise up against nation to battle with weapons in their hands. <sup>16</sup>For there shall be sedition among men; and waxing strong one against another, they shall not regard their king nor the chief of their great ones, in their might. <sup>17</sup>For a man shall desire to go into a city, and shall not be able. <sup>18</sup>For because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be destroyed, and men shall be afraid. <sup>19</sup>A man shall have no pity upon his neighbour, but shall make an assault on their houses with the sword, and spoil their goods, because of the lack of bread, and for great tribulation. <sup>20</sup>Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth, to stir up them that are from the rising of the sun, from the south, from the east, and Libanus; to turn themselves one against another, and repay the things that they have done to them. <sup>21</sup>Like as they do yet this day unto my chosen, so will I do also, and recompense in their bosom. Thus saith the Lord God: <sup>22</sup>My right hand shall not spare the sinners, and my sword shall not cease over them that shed innocent blood upon the earth. <sup>23</sup>And a fire is gone forth from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners, like the straw that is kindled. <sup>24</sup>Woe to them that sin, and keep not my commandments! saith the Lord. <sup>25</sup>I will not spare them: go your way, ye rebellious children, defile not my sanctuary. <sup>26</sup>For the Lord knoweth all them that trespass against him, therefore hath he delivered them unto death and destruction. <sup>27</sup>For now are the evils come upon the whole earth, and ye shall remain in them: for God shall not deliver you, because ye have sinned against him. <sup>28</sup>Behold, a vision horrible, and the appearance thereof from the east! <sup>29</sup>And the nations of the dragons of Arabia shall come out with many chariots, and from the day that they set forth the hissing of them is carried over the earth, so that all they which shall hear them may fear also and tremble. <sup>30</sup>Also the Carmonians raging in wrath shall go forth as the wild boars of the wood, and with great power shall they come, and join battle with them, and shall waste a portion of the land of the Assyrians with their teeth. <sup>31</sup>And then shall the dragons have the upper hand, remembering their nature; and if they shall turn themselves, conspiring together in great power to persecute them, <sup>32</sup>Then these shall be troubled, and keep silence through their power, and shall turn and flee. <sup>33</sup>And from the land of the Assyrians shall the lier in wait besiege them, and consume one of them, and upon their host shall be fear and trembling, and sedition against their kings. <sup>34</sup>Behold, clouds from the east and from the north unto the south, and they are very horrible to look upon, full of wrath and storm. <sup>35</sup>They shall dash one against another, and they shall pour out a plentiful storm upon the earth, even their own star; and there shall be blood from the sword unto the horse's belly, <sup>36</sup>And to the thigh of man, and to the camel's hough. <sup>37</sup>And there shall be fearfulness and great trembling upon earth: and they that see that wrath shall be afraid, and trembling shall take hold upon them. <sup>38</sup>And after this shall there be stirred up great storms from the south, and from the north, and another part from the west. <sup>39</sup>And strong winds shall arise from the east, and shall shut it up, even the cloud which he raised in wrath; and the star that was to cause destruction by the east wind shall be violently driven toward the south and west. <sup>40</sup>And great clouds and mighty and full of wrath shall be lifted up, and the star, that they may destroy all the earth, and them that dwell therein; and they shall pour out over every high and eminent one a terrible star, <sup>41</sup>Fire, and hail, and flying swords, and many waters, that all plains may be full, and all rivers, with the abundance of those waters. <sup>42</sup>And they shall break down the cities and walls, mountains and hills, trees of the wood, and grass of the meadows, and their corn. <sup>43</sup>And they shall go on stedfastly unto Babylon, and destroy her. <sup>44</sup>They shall come unto her, and compass her about; the star and all wrath shall they pour out upon her: then shall the dust and smoke go up unto the heaven, and all they that be about her shall bewail her. <sup>45</sup>And they that remain shall do service unto them that have put her in fear. <sup>46</sup>And thou, Asia, that art partaker in the beauty of Babylon, and in the glory of her person: <sup>47</sup>Woe unto thee, thou wretch, because thou hast made thyself like unto her; thou hast decked thy daughters in whoredom, that they might please and glory in thy lovers, which have alway desired thee to commit whoredom withal! <sup>48</sup>Thou hast followed her that is hateful in all her works and inventions: therefore saith God, <sup>49</sup>I will send evils upon thee; widowhood, poverty, famine, sword, and pestilence, to waste thy houses unto destruction and death. <sup>50</sup>And the glory of thy power shall be dried up as a flower, when the heat shall arise that is sent over thee. <sup>51</sup>Thou shalt be weakened as a poor woman with stripes, and as one chastised with wounds, so that thy mighty ones and thy lovers thou shalt not be able to receive. <sup>52</sup>Would I with jealousy have so proceeded against thee, saith the Lord, <sup>53</sup>If thou hadst not always slain my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and saying over their dead, when thou wast drunken, <sup>54</sup>Set forth the beauty of thy countenance? <sup>55</sup>The reward of a harlot shall be in thy bosom, therefore shalt thou receive recompense. <sup>56</sup>Like as thou shalt do unto my chosen, saith the Lord, even so shall God do unto thee, and shall deliver thee into mischief. <sup>57</sup>And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword: and thy cities shall be broken down, and all thine shall perish by the sword in the field. <sup>58</sup>And they that be in the mountains shall die of hunger, and eat their own flesh, and drink their own blood, for very hunger of bread, and thirst of water. <sup>59</sup>Thou unhappy above all shalt come and shalt again receive evils. <sup>60</sup>And in the passage they shall rush on the idle city, and shall destroy some portion of thy land, and mar part of thy glory, and shall return again to Babylon that was destroyed. <sup>61</sup>And thou shalt be cast down by them as stubble, and they shall be unto thee as fire; <sup>62</sup>And shall devour thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountains; all thy woods and thy fruitful trees shall they burn up with fire. <sup>63</sup>They shall carry thy children away captive, and shall spoil thy wealth, and mar the glory of thy face.

<sup>1</sup>Woe unto thee, Babylon, and Asia! woe unto thee, Egypt, and Syria! <sup>2</sup>Gird up yourselves with sackcloth and garments of hair, and bewail your children, and lament; for your destruction is at hand. <sup>3</sup>A sword is sent upon you, and who is he that may turn it back? <sup>4</sup>A fire is sent upon you, and who is he that may quench it? <sup>5</sup>Evils are sent upon you, and who is he that may drive them away? <sup>6</sup>May one drive away a hungry lion in the wood? or may one quench the fire in stubble, when it hath once begun to burn? <sup>7</sup>May one turn again the arrow that is shot of a strong archer? <sup>8</sup>The Lord God sendeth the evils, and who shall drive them away? <sup>9</sup>A fire shall go forth from his wrath, and who is he that may quench it? <sup>10</sup>He shall cast lightning, and who shall not fear? he shall thunder, and who shall not tremble? <sup>11</sup>The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not be utterly broken in pieces at his presence? <sup>12</sup>The earth quaketh, and the foundations thereof; the sea ariseth up with waves from the deep, and the waves of it shall be troubled, and the fishes thereof also, at the presence of the Lord, and before the glory of his power: <sup>13</sup>For strong is his right hand that bendeth the bow, his arrows that he shooteth are sharp, and shall not miss, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world. <sup>14</sup>Behold, the evils are sent forth, and shall not return again, until they come upon the earth. <sup>15</sup>The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth. <sup>16</sup>Like as an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer returneth not backward, even so the evils that are sent forth upon earth shall not return again. <sup>17</sup>Woe is me! woe is me! who will deliver me in those days? <sup>18</sup>The beginning of sorrows, and there shall be great mournings; the beginning of famine, and many shall perish; the beginning of wars, and the powers shall stand in fear; the beginning of evils, and all shall tremble! what shall they do in all this when the evils shall come? <sup>19</sup>Behold, famine and plague, tribulation and anguish! they are sent as scourges for amendment. <sup>20</sup>But for all these things they shall not turn them from their wickedness, nor be alway mindful of the scourges. <sup>21</sup>Behold, victuals shall be so good cheap upon earth, that they shall think themselves to be in good case, and even then shall evils grow upon earth, sword, famine, and great confusion. <sup>22</sup>For many of them that dwell upon earth shall perish of famine; and the other, that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy. <sup>23</sup>And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be left desolate, and the cities thereof shall be cast down. <sup>24</sup>There shall be no husbandman left to till the earth, and to sow it. <sup>25</sup>The trees shall give fruit, and who shall gather them? <sup>26</sup>The grapes shall ripen, and who shall tread them? for in all places there shall be a great forsaking: <sup>27</sup>For one man shall desire to see another, or to hear his voice. <sup>28</sup>For of a city there shall be ten left, and two of the field, which have hidden themselves in the thick groves, and in the clefts of the rocks. <sup>29</sup>As in an orchard of olives upon every tree there be left three or four olives, <sup>30</sup>Or as when a vineyard is gathered there be some clusters left by them that diligently seek through the vineyard; <sup>31</sup>Even so in those days there shall be three or four left by them that search their houses with the sword. <sup>32</sup>And the earth shall be left desolate, and the fields thereof shall be for briers, and her ways and all her paths shall bring forth thorns, because no sheep shall pass therethrough. <sup>33</sup>The virgins shall mourn, having no bridegrooms; the women shall mourn, having no husbands; their daughters shall mourn, having no helpers. <sup>34</sup>In the wars shall their bridegrooms be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish of famine. <sup>35</sup>Hear now these things, and understand them, ye servants of the Lord. <sup>36</sup>Behold, the word of the Lord, receive it: disbelieve not the things whereof the Lord speaketh. <sup>37</sup>Behold, the evils draw nigh, and are not slack. <sup>38</sup>Like as a woman with child in the ninth month, when the hour of her delivery draweth near, within two or three hours doleful pains compass her womb, and when the child cometh forth from the womb, there shall be no tarrying for a moment: <sup>39</sup>Even so shall not the evils be slack to come upon the earth, and the world shall groan, and sorrows shall take hold of it on every side. <sup>40</sup>O my people, hear my word: make you ready to the battle, and in those evils be even as pilgrims upon the earth. <sup>41</sup>He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth away: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose: <sup>42</sup>He that occupieth merchandise, as he that hath no profit by it: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein: <sup>43</sup>He that soweth, as if he should not reap: so also he that pruneth the vines, as he that shall not gather the grapes: <sup>44</sup>They that marry, as they that shall get no children; and they that marry not, as the widowed. <sup>45</sup>Inasmuch as they that labour labour in vain; <sup>46</sup>For strangers shall reap their fruits, and spoil their goods, overthrow their houses, and take their children captive, for in captivity and famine shall they beget their children: <sup>47</sup>And they that traffick traffick to become a spoil: the more they deck their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their own persons, <sup>48</sup>The more will I hate them for their sins, saith the Lord. <sup>49</sup>Like as a right honest and virtuous woman hateth a harlot, <sup>50</sup>So shall righteousness hate iniquity, when she decketh herself, and shall accuse her to her face, when he cometh that shall defend him that diligently searcheth out every sin upon earth. <sup>51</sup>Therefore be ye not like thereto, nor to the works thereof. <sup>52</sup>For yet a little while, and iniquity shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reign over us. <sup>53</sup>Let not the sinner say that he hath not sinned: for he shall burn coals of fire upon his head, which saith, I have not sinned before God and his glory. <sup>54</sup>Behold, the Lord knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts. <sup>55</sup>Who said, Let the earth be made; and it was made: Let the heaven be made; and it was made. <sup>56</sup>And at his word were the stars established, and he knoweth the number of the stars. <sup>57</sup>Who searcheth the deep, and the treasures thereof; he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth. <sup>58</sup>Who hath shut the sea in the midst of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth upon the waters. <sup>59</sup>Who spreadeth out the heaven like a vault; upon the waters hath he founded it. <sup>60</sup>Who hath made in the desert springs of water, and pools upon the tops of the mountains, to send forth rivers from the height to water the earth. <sup>61</sup>Who framed man, and put a heart in the midst of the body, and gave him breath, life, and understanding. <sup>62</sup>Yea, the spirit of God Almighty. He who made all things, and searcheth out hidden things in hidden places, <sup>63</sup>Surely he knoweth your imagination, and what ye think in your hearts. Woe to them that sin, and would fain hide their sin! <sup>64</sup>Forasmuch as the Lord will exactly search out all your works, and he will put you all to shame. <sup>65</sup>And when your sins are brought forth before men, ye shall be ashamed, and your own iniquities shall stand as your accusers in that day. <sup>66</sup>What will ye do? or how will ye hide your sins before God and his angels? <sup>67</sup>Behold, God is the judge, fear him: leave off from your sins, and forget your iniquities, to meddle no more with them for ever: so shall God lead you forth, and deliver you from all tribulation. <sup>68</sup>FOR, behold, the burning wrath of a great multitude is kindled over you, and they shall take away certain of you, and feed you with that which is slain unto idols. <sup>69</sup>And they that consent unto them shall be had in derision and in reproach, and be trodden under foot of them. <sup>70</sup>For there shall be in divers places, and in the next cities, a great insurrection upon those that fear the Lord. <sup>71</sup>They shall be like mad men, sparing none, but spoiling and destroying them that still fear the Lord. <sup>72</sup>For they shall waste and take away their goods, and cast them out of their houses. <sup>73</sup>Then shall be manifest the trial of mine elect; even as the gold that is tried in the fire. <sup>74</sup>Hear, O ye mine elect, saith the Lord: behold, the days of tribulation are at hand, and I will deliver you from them. <sup>75</sup>Be ye not afraid, neither doubt; for God is your guide: <sup>76</sup>And ye who keep my commandments and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sins weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift up themselves. <sup>77</sup>Woe unto them that are fast bound with their sins, and covered with their iniquities. like as a field is fast bound with bushes, and the path thereof covered with thorns, that no man may travel through! <sup>78</sup>It is even shut off, and given up to be consumed of fire.

TOBIT

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup>The book of the words of Tobit, the son of Tobiel, the son of Ananiel, the son of Adiel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asiel, of the tribe of Naphtali; <sup>2</sup>Who in the days of Enemessar king of the Assyrians was carried away captive out of Thisbe, which is on the right hand of Kedesh Naphtali in Galilee above Asher. <sup>3</sup>I Tobit walked in the ways of truth and righteousness all the days of my life, and I did many almsdeeds to my brethren and my nation, who went with me into the land of the Assyrians, to Nineveh. <sup>4</sup>And when I was in mine own country, in the land of Israel, while I was yet young, all the tribe of Naphtali my father fell away from the house of Jerusalem; which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, and the temple of the habitation of the Most High was hallowed and built therein for all ages. <sup>5</sup>And all the tribes which fell away together sacrificed to the heifer Baal, and so did the house of Naphtali my father. <sup>6</sup>And I alone went often to Jerusalem at the feasts, as it hath been ordained unto all Israel by an everlasting decree, having the firstfruits and the tenths of mine increase, and that which was first shorn; and I gave them at the altar to the priests the sons of Aaron. <sup>7</sup>The tenth part of all mine increase I gave to the sons of Levi, who ministered at Jerusalem: and the second tenth part I sold away, and went, and spent it each year at Jerusalem: <sup>8</sup>And the third I gave unto them to whom it was meet, as Deborah my father's mother had commanded me, because I was left an orphan by my father. <sup>9</sup>And when I became a man, I took to wife Anna of the seed of our own family, and of her I begat Tobias. <sup>10</sup>And when I was carried away captive to Nineveh, all my brethren and those that were of my kindred did eat of the bread of the Gentiles: <sup>11</sup>But I kept myself from eating, <sup>12</sup>Because I remembered God with all my soul. <sup>13</sup>And the Most High gave me grace and favour in the sight of Enemessar, and I was his purveyor. <sup>14</sup>And I went into Media, and left in trust with Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, at Rages of Media, ten talents of silver. <sup>15</sup>And when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his son reigned in his stead; and in his time the highways were troubled, and I could no more go into Media. <sup>16</sup>And in the days of Enemessar I did many almsdeeds to my brethren: I gave my bread to the hungry, <sup>17</sup>And my garments to the naked: and if I saw any of my race dead, and cast forth on the wall of Nineveh, I buried him. <sup>18</sup>And if Sennacherib the king slew any, when he came fleeing from Judaea, I buried them privily; for in his wrath he slew many; and the bodies were sought for by the king, and were not found. <sup>19</sup>But one of the Ninevites went and shewed to the king concerning me, how that I buried them, and hid myself; and when I knew that I was sought for to be put to death, I withdrew myself for fear. <sup>20</sup>And all my goods were forcibly taken away, and there was nothing left unto me, save my wife Anna and my son Tobias. <sup>21</sup>And there passed not five and fifty days, before two of his sons slew him, and they fled into the mountains of Ararat. And Sarchedonus his son reigned in his stead; and he appointed over all the accounts of his kingdom, and over all his affairs, Achiacharus my brother Anael's son. <sup>22</sup>And Achiacharus made request for me, and I came to Nineveh. Now Achiacharus was cupbearer, and keeper of the signet, and steward, and overseer of the accounts: and Sarchedonus appointed him next unto himself: but he was my brother's son.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>Now when I was come home again, and my wife Anna was restored unto me, and my son Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seven weeks, there was a good dinner prepared me, and I sat down to eat. <sup>2</sup>And I saw abundance of meat, and I said to my son, Go and bring what poor man soever thou shalt find of our brethren, who is mindful of the Lord; and, lo, I tarry for thee. <sup>3</sup>And he came, and said, Father, one of our race is strangled, and is cast out in the marketplace. <sup>4</sup>And before I had tasted aught, I sprang up, and took him up into a chamber until the sun was set. <sup>5</sup>And I returned, and washed myself, and ate my bread in heaviness, <sup>6</sup>And remembered the prophecy of Amos, as he said, Your feasts shall be turned into mourning, And all your mirth into lamentation. <sup>7</sup>And I wept: and when the sun was set, I went and made a grave, and buried him. <sup>8</sup>And my neighbours mocked me, and said, He is no longer afraid to be put to death for this matter: and yet he fled away: and, lo, he burieth the dead again. <sup>9</sup>And the same night I returned from burying him, and slept by the wall of my courtyard, being polluted; and my face was uncovered: <sup>10</sup>And I knew not that there were sparrows in the wall; and, mine eyes being open, the sparrows muted warm dung into mine eyes, and white films came in mine eyes; and I went to the physicians, and they helped me not: but Achiacharus did nourish me, until I went into Elymais. <sup>11</sup>And my wife Anna did spin in the women's chambers, <sup>12</sup>And did send the work back to the owners. And they on their part paid her wages, and gave her also besides a kid. <sup>13</sup>But when it came to my house, it began to cry, and I said unto her, From whence is this kid? is it stolen? render it to the owners; for it is not lawful to eat anything that is stolen. <sup>14</sup>But she said, It hath been given me for a gift more than the wages. And I did not believe her, and I bade her render it to the owners; and I was abashed at her. But she answered and said unto me, Where are thine alms and thy righteous deeds? behold, thou and all thy works are known.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>And I was grieved and wept, and prayed in sorrow, saying, <sup>2</sup>O Lord, thou art righteous, and all thy works and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou judgest true and righteous judgement for ever. <sup>3</sup>Remember me, and look on me; take not vengeance on me for my sins and mine ignorances, and the sins of my fathers, which sinned before thee: <sup>4</sup>For they disobeyed thy commandments; and thou gavest us for a spoil, and for captivity, and for death, and for a proverb of reproach to all the nations among whom we are dispersed. <sup>5</sup>And now many are thy judgements, true are they; that thou shouldest deal with me according to my sins and the sins of my fathers: because we did not keep thy commandments, for we walked not in truth before thee. <sup>6</sup>And now deal with me according to that which is pleasing in thy sight, command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be released, and become earth: for it is profitable for me to die rather than to live, because I have heard false reproaches, and there is much sorrow in me: command that I be now released from my distress, and go to the everlasting place: turn not thy face away from me. <sup>7</sup>The same day it happened unto Sarah the daughter of Raguel in Ecbatana of Media, that she also was reproached by her father's maidservants; <sup>8</sup>Because that she had been given to seven husbands, and Asmodeus the evil spirit slew them, before they had lain with her. And they said unto her, Dost thou not know that thou stranglest thy husbands? thou hast had already seven husbands, and thou hast had no profit of any one of them. <sup>9</sup>Wherefore dost thou scourge us? if they be dead, go thy ways with them; let us never see of thee either son or daughter. <sup>10</sup>When she heard these things, she was grieved exceedingly, so that she thought to have hanged herself: and she said, I am the only daughter of my father; if I do this, it shall be a reproach unto him, and I shall bring down his old age with sorrow to the grave. <sup>11</sup>And she prayed by the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and blessed is thy holy and honourable name for ever: let all thy works praise thee for ever. <sup>12</sup>And now, Lord, I have set mine eyes and my face toward thee: <sup>13</sup>Command that I be released from the earth, and that I no more hear reproach. <sup>14</sup>Thou knowest, Lord, that I am pure from all sin with man, <sup>15</sup>And that I never polluted my name, nor the name of my father, in the land of my captivity: I am the only daughter of my father, and he hath no child that shall be his heir, nor brother near him, nor son belonging to him, that I should keep myself for a wife unto him: seven husbands of mine are dead already; why should I live? And if it pleaseth thee not to slay me, command some regard to be had of me, and pity taken of me, and that I hear no more reproach. <sup>16</sup>And the prayer of both was heard before the glory of the great God. <sup>17</sup>Raphael also was sent to heal them both, to scale away the white films from Tobit's eyes, and to give Sarah the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the son of Tobit; and to bind Asmodeus the evil spirit; because it belonged to Tobias that he should inherit her. The selfsame time did Tobit return and enter into his house, and Sarah the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper chamber.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>In that day Tobit remembered concerning the money which he had left in trust with Gabael in Rages of Media, <sup>2</sup>And he said in himself, I have asked for death; why do I not call my son Tobias, that I may shew to him of the money before I die? <sup>3</sup>And he called him, and said, My child, when I die, bury me: and despise not thy mother; honour her all the days of thy life, and do that which is pleasing unto her, and grieve her not. <sup>4</sup>Remember, my child, that she hath seen many dangers for thee, when thou wast in her womb. When she is dead, bury her by me in one grave. <sup>5</sup>My child, be mindful of the Lord our God all thy days, and let not thy will be set to sin and to transgress his commandments: do righteousness all the days of thy life, and follow not the ways of unrighteousness. <sup>6</sup>For if thou doest the truth, thy doings shall prosperously succeed to thee, and to all them that do righteousness. <sup>7</sup>Give alms of thy substance; and when thou givest alms, let not thine eye be envious: turn not away thy face from any poor man, and the face of God shall not be turned away from thee. <sup>8</sup>As thy substance is, give alms of it according to thine abundance: if thou have little, be not afraid to give alms according to that little: <sup>9</sup>For thou layest up a good treasure for thyself against the day of necessity: <sup>10</sup>Because alms delivereth from death, and suffereth not to come into darkness. <sup>11</sup>Alms is a good gift in the sight of the Most High for all that give it. <sup>12</sup>Beware, my child, of all whoredom, and take first a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange wife, which is not of thy father's tribe: for we are the sons of the prophets. Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, our fathers of old time, remember, my child, that they all took wives of their brethren, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land. <sup>13</sup>And now, my child, love thy brethren, and scorn not in thy heart thy brethren, and the sons and the daughters of thy people, to take a wife of them: for in scornfulness is destruction and much trouble, and in naughtiness is decay and great want: for naughtiness is the mother of famine. <sup>14</sup>Let not the wages of any man, which shall work for thee, tarry with thee, but render it unto him out of hand: and if thou serve God, recompense shall be made unto thee. Take heed to thyself, my child, in all thy works, and be discreet in all thy behaviour. <sup>15</sup>And what thou thyself hatest, do to no man. Drink not wine unto drunkenness, and let not drunkenness go with thee on thy way. <sup>16</sup>Give of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked: of all thine abundance give alms; and let not thine eye be envious when thou givest alms. <sup>17</sup>Pour out thy bread on the burial of the just, and give nothing to sinners. <sup>18</sup>Ask counsel of every man that is wise, and despise not any counsel that is profitable. <sup>19</sup>And bless the Lord thy God at all times, and ask of him that thy ways may be made straight, and that all thy paths and counsels may prosper: for every nation hath not counsel; but the Lord himself giveth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will. And now, my child, remember my commandments, and let them not be blotted out of thy mind. <sup>20</sup>And now I shew thee of the ten talents of silver, which I left in trust with Gabael the son of Gabrias at Rages of Media. <sup>21</sup>And fear not, my child, because we are made poor: thou hast much wealth, if thou fear God, and depart from all sin, and do that which is pleasing in his sight.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>And Tobias answered and said unto him, Father, I will do all things, whatsoever thou hast commanded me: <sup>2</sup>But how shall I be able to receive the money, seeing I know him not? <sup>3</sup>And he gave him the handwriting, and said unto him, Seek thee a man which shall go with thee, and I will give him wages, whiles I yet live: and go and receive the money. <sup>4</sup>And he went to seek a man, and found Raphael which was an angel; <sup>5</sup>And he knew it not; and he said unto him, Can I go with thee to Rages of Media? and knowest thou the places well? <sup>6</sup>And the angel said unto him, I will go with thee, and I know the way well: and I have lodged with our brother Gabael. <sup>7</sup>And Tobias said unto him, Wait for me, and I will tell my father. <sup>8</sup>And he said unto him, Go, and tarry not. And he went in and said to his father, Behold, I have found one which will go with me. But he said, Call him unto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be a trusty man to go with thee. <sup>9</sup>And he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another. <sup>10</sup>And Tobit said unto him, Brother, of what tribe and of what family art thou? Shew me. <sup>11</sup>And he said unto him, Seekest thou a tribe and a family, or a hired man which shall go with thy son? And Tobit said unto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name. <sup>12</sup>And he said, I am Azarias, the son of Ananias the great, of thy brethren. <sup>13</sup>And he said unto him, Welcome, brother; and be not angry with me, because I sought to know thy tribe and family: and thou art my brother, of an honest and good lineage: for I knew Ananias and Jathan, the sons of Shemaiah the great, when we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the firstborn, and the tenths of our increase; and they went not astray in the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stock. <sup>14</sup>But tell me, what wages shall I give thee? a drachma a day, and those things that be necessary for thee, as unto my son? <sup>15</sup>And moreover, if ye return safe and sound, I will add something to thy wages. <sup>16</sup>And so they consented. And he said to Tobias, Prepare thyself for the journey, and God prosper you. And his son prepared what was needful for the journey, and his father said unto him, Go thou with this man; but God, which dwelleth in heaven, shall prosper your journey; and may his angel go with you. And they both went forth to depart, and the young man's dog with them. <sup>17</sup>But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our child? is he not the staff of our hand, in going in and out before us? <sup>18</sup>Be not greedy to add money to money: but let it be as refuse in respect of our child. <sup>19</sup>For as the Lord hath given us to live, so doth it suffice us. <sup>20</sup>And Tobit said to her, Take no care, my sister; he shall return safe and sound, and thine eyes shall see him. <sup>21</sup>For a good angel shall go with him, and his journey shall be prospered, and he shall return safe and sound. <sup>22</sup>And she made an end of weeping.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>Now as they went on their journey, they came at eventide to the river Tigris, and they lodged there. <sup>2</sup>But the young man went down to wash himself, and a fish leaped out of the river, and would have swallowed up the young man. <sup>3</sup>But the angel said unto him, Take hold on the fish. And the young man caught hold of the fish, and cast it up on the land. <sup>4</sup>And the angel said unto him, Cut the fish open, and take the heart and the liver and the gall, and put them up safely. <sup>5</sup>And the young man did as the angel commanded him; but they roasted the fish, and ate it. And they both went on their way, till they drew near to Ecbatana. <sup>6</sup>And the young man said to the angel, Brother Azarias, to what use is the heart and the liver and the gall of the fish? <sup>7</sup>And he said unto him, Touching the heart and the liver, if a devil or an evil spirit trouble any, we must make a smoke thereof before the man or the woman, and the party shall be no more vexed. <sup>8</sup>But as for the gall, it is good to anoint a man that hath white films in his eyes, and he shall be healed. <sup>9</sup>But when they drew nigh unto Rages, <sup>10</sup>The angel said to the young man, Brother, to-day we shall lodge with Raguel, and he is thy kinsman; and he hath an only daughter, named Sarah. I will speak for her, that she should be given thee for a wife. <sup>11</sup>For to thee doth the inheritance of her appertain, and thou only art of her kindred: <sup>12</sup>And the maid is fair and wise. And now hear me, and I will speak to her father; and when we return from Rages we will celebrate the marriage: for I know that Raguel may in no wise marry her to another according to the law of Moses, or else he shall be liable to death, because it appertaineth unto thee to take the inheritance, rather than any other. <sup>13</sup>Then the young man said unto the angel, Brother Azarias, I have heard that this maid hath been given to seven men, and that they all perished in the bride-chamber. <sup>14</sup>And now I am the only son of my father, and I am afraid, lest I go in and die, even as those before me: for a devil loveth her, which hurteth no man, but those which come unto her: and now I fear lest I die, and bring my father's and my mother's life to the grave with sorrow because of me: and they have no other son to bury them. <sup>15</sup>But the angel said unto him, Dost thou not remember the words which thy father commanded thee, that thou shouldest take a wife of thine own kindred? and now hear me, brother; for she shall be thy wife; and make thou no reckoning of the devil; for this night shall she be given thee to wife. <sup>16</sup>And when thou shalt come into the bride-chamber, thou shalt take the ashes of incense, and shalt lay upon them some of the heart and liver of the fish, and shalt make a smoke therewith: <sup>17</sup>And the devil shall smell it, and flee away, and never come again any more. But when thou goest nigh unto her, rise up both of you, and cry to God which is merciful, and he shall save you, and have mercy on you. Fear not, for she was prepared for thee from the beginning; and thou shalt save her, and she shall go with thee. And I suppose that thou shalt have children of her. And when Tobias heard these things, he loved her, and his soul clave to her exceedingly.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>And they came to Ecbatana, and arrived at the house of Raguel. But Sarah met them; and she saluted them, and they her; and she brought them into the house. <sup>2</sup>And he said to Edna his wife, How like is the young man to Tobit my cousin. <sup>3</sup>And Raguel asked them, From whence are ye, brethren? And they said unto him, We are of the sons of Naphtali, which are captives in Nineveh. <sup>4</sup>And he said unto them, Know ye Tobit our brother? But they said, We know him. And he said unto them, Is he in good health? <sup>5</sup>But they said, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father. <sup>6</sup>And Raguel sprang up, and kissed him, and wept, <sup>7</sup>And blessed him, and said unto him, Thou art the son of an honest and good man. And when he had heard that Tobit had lost his sight, he was grieved, and wept; <sup>8</sup>And Edna his wife and Sarah his daughter wept. And they received them gladly; and they killed a ram of the flock, and set store of meat before them. But Tobias said to Raphael, Brother Azarias, speak of those things of which thou didst talk in the way, and let the matter be finished. <sup>9</sup>And he communicated the thing to Raguel: and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat and drink, and make merry: <sup>10</sup>For it appertaineth unto thee to take my child. Howbeit I will shew thee the truth. <sup>11</sup>I have given my child to seven men, and whensoever they came in unto her, they died in the night. But for the present be merry. And Tobias said, I will taste nothing here, until ye make covenant and enter into covenant with me. <sup>12</sup>And Raguel said, Take her to thyself from henceforth according to the manner: thou art her brother, and she is thine: but the merciful God shall give all good success to you. <sup>13</sup>And he called his daughter Sarah, and took her by the hand, and gave her to be wife to Tobias, and said, Behold, take her to thyself after the law of Moses, and lead her away to thy father. And he blessed them; <sup>14</sup>And he called Edna his wife, and took a book, and wrote an instrument, and sealed it. <sup>15</sup>And they began to eat. <sup>16</sup>And Raguel called his wife Edna, and said unto her, Sister, prepare the other chamber, and bring her in thither. <sup>17</sup>And she did as he bade her, and brought her in thither: and she wept, and she received the tears of her daughter, and said unto her, <sup>18</sup>Be of good comfort, my child; the Lord of heaven and earth give thee favour for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>And when they had finished their supper, they brought Tobias in unto her. <sup>2</sup>But as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and took the ashes of the incense, and put the heart and the liver of the fish thereupon, and made a smoke therewith. <sup>3</sup>But when the devil smelled the smell, he fled into the uppermost parts of Egypt, and the angel bound him. <sup>4</sup>But after they were both shut in together, Tobias rose up from the bed, and said, Sister, arise, and let us pray that the Lord may have mercy on us. <sup>5</sup>And Tobias began to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious name for ever; let the heavens bless thee, and all thy creatures. <sup>6</sup>Thou madest Adam, and gavest him Eve his wife for a helper and a stay: of them came the seed of men: thou didst say, It is not good that the man should be alone; let us make him a helper like unto him. <sup>7</sup>And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for lust, but in truth: command that I may find mercy and grow old with her. <sup>8</sup>And she said with him, Amen. <sup>9</sup>And they slept both that night. And Raguel arose, and went and digged a grave, <sup>10</sup>Saying, Lest he also should die. <sup>11</sup>And Raguel came into his house, <sup>12</sup>And said to Edna his wife, Send one of the maidservants, and let them see whether he be alive: but if not, that we may bury him, and no man know it. <sup>13</sup>So the maidservant opened the door, and went in, and found them both sleeping, <sup>14</sup>And came forth, and told them that he was alive. <sup>15</sup>And Raguel blessed God, saying, Blessed art thou, O God, with all pure and holy blessing; and let thy saints bless thee, and all thy creatures; and let all thine angels and thine elect bless thee for ever. <sup>16</sup>Blessed art thou, because thou hast made me glad; and it hath not befallen me as I suspected; but thou hast dealt with us according to thy great mercy. <sup>17</sup>Blessed art thou, because thou hast had mercy on two that were the only begotten children of their parents: shew them mercy, O Lord; accomplish their life in health with gladness and mercy. <sup>18</sup>But he commanded his servants to fill the grave. <sup>19</sup>And he kept the wedding feast for them fourteen days. <sup>20</sup>And before the days of the wedding feast were finished, Raguel sware unto him, that he should not depart till the fourteen days of the wedding feast were fulfilled; <sup>21</sup>And that then he should take the half of his goods, and go in safety to his father; and the rest, said he, when I and my wife shall die.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>And Tobias called Raphael, and said unto him, <sup>2</sup>Brother Azarias, take with thee a servant, and two camels, and go to Rages of Media to Gabael, and receive the money for me, and bring him to the wedding feast: <sup>3</sup>Because Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart; <sup>4</sup>And my father counteth the days; and if I tarry long, he will be sorely grieved. <sup>5</sup>And Raphael went on his way, and lodged with Gabael, and gave him the handwriting: but he brought forth the bags with their seals, and gave them to him. <sup>6</sup>And they rose up early in the morning together, and came to the wedding feast: and Tobias blessed his wife.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>And Tobit his father made his count every day: and when the days of the journey were expired, and they came not, <sup>2</sup>He said, Is he perchance detained? or is Gabael perchance dead, and there is no man to give him the money? <sup>3</sup>And he was sorely grieved. <sup>4</sup>But his wife said unto him, The child hath perished, seeing he tarrieth long; and she began to bewail him, and said, <sup>5</sup>I care for nothing, my child, since I have let thee go, the light of mine eyes. <sup>6</sup>And Tobit saith unto her, Hold thy peace, take no care; he is in good health. <sup>7</sup>And she said unto him, Hold thy peace, deceive me not; my child hath perished. And she went out every day into the way by which they went, and did eat no bread in the daytime, and ceased not whole nights to bewail her son Tobias, until the fourteen days of the wedding feast were expired, which Raguel had sworn that he should spend there. But Tobias said unto Raguel, Send me away, for my father and my mother look no more to see me. <sup>8</sup>But his father in law said unto him, Abide with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare unto him how things go with thee. <sup>9</sup>And Tobias saith, No; but send me away to my father. <sup>10</sup>But Raguel arose, and gave him Sarah his wife, and half his goods, servants and cattle and money; <sup>11</sup>And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heaven shall prosper you, my children, before I die. <sup>12</sup>And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law; they are now thy parents; let me hear a good report of thee. And he kissed her. And Edna said to Tobias, The Lord of heaven restore thee, dear brother, and grant to me that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarah, that I may rejoice before the Lord: and, behold, I commit my daughter unto thee in special trust: vex her not.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>After these things Tobias also went his way, blessing God because he had prospered his journey; and he blessed Raguel and Edna his wife. And he went on his way till they drew near unto Nineveh. <sup>2</sup>And Raphael said to Tobias, Knowest thou not, brother, how thou didst leave thy father? <sup>3</sup>Let us run forward before thy wife, and prepare the house. <sup>4</sup>But take in thy hand the gall of the fish. And they went their way, and the dog went after them. <sup>5</sup>And Anna sat looking about toward the way for her son. <sup>6</sup>And she espied him coming, and said to his father, Behold, thy son cometh, and the man that went with him. <sup>7</sup>And Raphael said, I know, Tobias, that thy father will open his eyes. <sup>8</sup>Do thou therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub, and shall make the white films to fall away, and he shall see thee. <sup>9</sup>And Anna ran unto him, and fell upon the neck of her son, and said unto him, I have seen thee, my child; from henceforth I will die. And they wept both. <sup>10</sup>And Tobit went forth toward the door, and stumbled: but his son ran unto him, <sup>11</sup>And took hold of his father: and he strake the gall on his father's eyes, saying, Be of good cheer, my father. <sup>12</sup>But when his eyes began to smart, he rubbed them; <sup>13</sup>And the white films scaled away from the corners of his eyes; and he saw his son, and fell upon his neck. <sup>14</sup>And he wept, and said, Blessed art thou, O God, and blessed is thy name for ever, and blessed are all thy holy angels; <sup>15</sup>For thou didst scourge, and didst have mercy on me: behold, I see my son Tobias. And his son went in rejoicing, and told his father the great things that had happened to him in Media. <sup>16</sup>And Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law at the gate of Nineveh, rejoicing, and blessing God: and they which saw him go marvelled, because he had received his sight. <sup>17</sup>And Tobit gave thanks before them, because God had shewed mercy on him. And when Tobit came near to Sarah his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Welcome, daughter: blessed is God which hath brought thee unto us, and blessed are thy father and thy mother. And there was joy to all his brethren which were at Nineveh. <sup>18</sup>And Achiacharus, and Nasbas his brother's son, came: <sup>19</sup>And Tobias' wedding feast was kept seven days with great gladness.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>And Tobit called his son Tobias, and said unto him, See, my child, that the man which went with thee have his wages, and thou must give him more. <sup>2</sup>And he said unto him, Father, it is no harm to me to give him the half of those things which I have brought: <sup>3</sup>For he hath led me for thee in safety, and he cured my wife, and brought my money, and likewise cured thee. <sup>4</sup>And the old man said, It is due unto him. <sup>5</sup>And he called the angel, and said unto him, Take the half of all that ye have brought. <sup>6</sup>Then he called them both privily, and said unto them, Bless God, and give him thanks, and magnify him, and give him thanks in the sight of all that live, for the things which he hath done with you. It is good to bless God and exalt his name, shewing forth with honour the works of God; and be not slack to give him thanks. <sup>7</sup>It is good to keep close the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. Do good, and evil shall not find you. <sup>8</sup>Good is prayer with fasting and alms and righteousness. A little with righteousness is better than much with unrighteousness. It is better to give alms than to lay up gold: <sup>9</sup>Alms doth deliver from death, and it shall purge away all sin. They that do alms and righteousness shall be filled with life; <sup>10</sup>But they that sin are enemies to their own life. <sup>11</sup>Surely I will keep close nothing from you. I have said, It is good to keep close the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. <sup>12</sup>And now, when thou didst pray, and Sarah thy daughter in law, I did bring the memorial of your prayer before the Holy One: and when thou didst bury the dead, I was with thee likewise. <sup>13</sup>And when thou didst not delay to rise up, and leave thy dinner, that thou mightest go and cover the dead, thy good deed was not hid from me: but I was with thee. <sup>14</sup>And now God did send me to heal thee and Sarah thy daughter in law. <sup>15</sup>I am Raphael, one of the seven holy angels, which present the prayers of the saints, and go in before the glory of the Holy One. <sup>16</sup>And they were both troubled, and fell upon their faces; for they were afraid. <sup>17</sup>And he said unto them, Be not afraid, ye shall have peace; but bless God for ever. <sup>18</sup>For not of any favour of mine, but by the will of your God I came; wherefore bless him for ever. <sup>19</sup>All these days did I appear unto you; and I did neither eat nor drink, but ye saw a vision. <sup>20</sup>And now give God thanks: because I ascend to him that sent me: and write in a book all the things which have been done. <sup>21</sup>And they rose up, and saw him no more. <sup>22</sup>And they confessed the great and wonderful works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared unto them.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>And Tobit wrote a prayer for rejoicing, and said, Blessed is God that liveth for ever, And blessed is his kingdom. <sup>2</sup>For he scourgeth, and sheweth mercy: He leadeth down to the grave, and bringeth up again: And there is none that shall escape his hand. <sup>3</sup>Give thanks unto him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: For he hath scattered us among them. <sup>4</sup>There declare his greatness, And extol him before all the living: Because he is our Lord, And God is our Father for ever. <sup>5</sup>And he will scourge us for our iniquities, and will again shew mercy, And will gather us out of all the nations among whom ye are scattered. <sup>6</sup>If ye turn to him with your whole heart and with your whole soul, To do truth before him, Then will he turn unto you, And will not hide his face from you. And see what he will do with you, And give him thanks with your whole mouth, And bless the Lord of righteousness, And exalt the everlasting King. I in the land of my captivity give him thanks, And shew his strength and majesty to a nation of sinners. Turn, ye sinners, and do righteousness before him: Who can tell if he will accept you and have mercy on you? <sup>7</sup>I exalt my God, And my soul doth exalt the King of heaven, And it shall rejoice in his greatness. <sup>8</sup>Let all men speak, and let them give him thanks in Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup>O Jerusalem, the holy city, He will scourge thee for the works of thy sons, And will again have mercy on the sons of the righteous. <sup>10</sup>Give thanks to the Lord with goodness, And bless the everlasting King, That his tabernacle may be builded in thee again with joy, And that he may make glad in thee those that are captives, And love in thee for ever those that are miserable. <sup>11</sup> Many nations shall come from far to the name of the Lord God With gifts in their hands, even gifts to the King of heaven; Generations of generations shall praise thee, And sing songs of rejoicing. <sup>12</sup> Cursed are all they that hate thee; Blessed shall be all they that love thee for ever. <sup>13</sup> Rejoice and be exceeding glad for the sons of the righteous: For they shall be gathered together and shall bless the Lord of the righteous. <sup>14</sup> O blessed are they that love thee; They shall rejoice for thy peace: Blessed are all they that sorrowed for all thy scourges: Because they shall rejoice for thee, When they have seen all thy glory; And they shall be made glad for ever. <sup>15</sup> Let my soul bless God the great King. <sup>16</sup> For Jerusalem shall be builded with sapphires and emeralds and precious stones; Thy walls and towers and battlements with pure gold. <sup>17</sup> And the streets of Jerusalem shall be paved with beryl and carbuncle and stones of Ophir. <sup>18</sup> And all her streets shall say, Hallelujah, and give praise, Saying, Blessed is God, which hath exalted thee for ever.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup> And Tobit made an end of giving thanks. <sup>2</sup> And he was eight and fifty years old when he lost his sight; and after eight years he received it again: and he gave alms, and he feared the Lord God more and more, and gave thanks unto him. <sup>3</sup> Now he grew very old; and he called his son, and the six sons of his son, and said unto him, My child, take thy sons: behold, I am grown old, and am ready to depart out of this life. <sup>4</sup> Go into Media, my child, for I surely believe all the things which Jonah the prophet spake of Nineveh, that it shall be overthrown, but in Media there shall rather be peace for a season; and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from the good land; and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned up, and shall be desolate for a time; <sup>5</sup> And God shall again have mercy on them, and bring them back into the land, and they shall build the house, but not like to the former house, until the times of that age be fulfilled; and afterward they shall return from the places of their captivity, and build up Jerusalem with honour, and the house of God shall be built in it for ever with a glorious building, even as the prophets spake concerning it. <sup>6</sup> And all the nations shall turn to fear the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idols. <sup>7</sup> And all the nations shall bless the Lord, and his people shall give thanks unto God, and the Lord shall exalt his people; and all they that love the Lord God in truth and righteousness shall rejoice, shewing mercy to our brethren. <sup>8</sup> And now, my child, depart from Nineveh, because those things which the prophet Jonah spake shall surely come to pass. <sup>9</sup> But keep thou the law and the ordinances, and shew thyself merciful and righteous, that it may be well with thee. <sup>10</sup> And bury me decently, and thy mother with me; and dwell ye no longer at Nineveh. See, my child, what Aman did to Achiacharus that nourished him, how out of light he brought him into darkness, and all the recompense that he made him: and Achiacharus was saved, but the other had his recompense, and he went down into darkness. Manasses gave alms, and escaped the snare of death which he set for him: but Aman fell into the snare, and perished. <sup>11</sup> And now, my children, consider what alms doeth, and how righteousness doth deliver. And while he was saying these things, he gave up the ghost in the bed; but he was a hundred and eight and fifty years old; and he buried him magnificently. <sup>12</sup> And when Anna died, he buried her with his father. But Tobias departed with his wife and his sons to Ecbatana unto Raguel his father in law, <sup>13</sup> And he grew old in honour, and he buried his father and mother in law magnificently, and he inherited their substance, and his father Tobit's. <sup>14</sup> And he died at Ecbatana of Media, being a hundred and seven and twenty years old. <sup>15</sup> And before he died he heard of the destruction of Nineveh, which Nebuchadnezzar and Ahasuerus took captive; and before his death he rejoiced over Nineveh.

JUDITH

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup> In the twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, who reigned over the Assyrians in Nineveh, the great city; in the days of Arphaxad, who reigned over the Medes in Ecbatana, <sup>2</sup> And built at Ecbatana and round about it walls of hewn stones three cubits broad and six cubits long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits; <sup>3</sup> And set the towers thereof at the gates thereof, a hundred cubits high, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits; <sup>4</sup> And made the gates thereof, even gates that were raised to the height of seventy cubits, and the breadth of them forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty hosts, and the setting in array of his footmen: <sup>5</sup> Even in those days king Nebuchadnezzar made war with king Arphaxad in the great plain: this plain is in the borders of Ragau. <sup>6</sup> And there came to meet him all that dwelt in the hill country, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tigris, and Hydaspes, and in the plain of Arioch the king of the Elymaeans; and many nations of the sons of Chelod assembled themselves to the battle. <sup>7</sup> And Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians sent unto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt westward, to those that dwelt in Cilicia and Damascus and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt over against the sea coast, <sup>8</sup> And to those among the nations that were of Carmel and Gilead, and to the higher Galilee and the great plain of Esdraelon, <sup>9</sup> And to all that were in Samaria and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan unto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Kadesh, and the river of Egypt, and Tahpanhes, and Rameses, and all the land of Goshen, <sup>10</sup> Until thou comest above Tanis and Memphis, and to all that dwelt in Egypt, until thou comest to the borders of Ethiopia. <sup>11</sup> And all they that dwelt in all the land made light of the commandment of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, and went not with him to the war; for they were not afraid of him, but he was before them as one man; and they turned away his messengers from their presence without effect, and with disgrace. <sup>12</sup> And Nebuchadnezzar was exceeding wroth with all this land, and he sware by his throne and kingdom, that he would surely be avenged upon all the coasts of Cilicia and Damascus and Syria, that he would slay with his sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, until thou comest to the borders of the two seas. <sup>13</sup> And he set the battle in array with his host against king Arphaxad in the seventeenth year; and he prevailed in his battle, and turned to flight all the host of Arphaxad, and all his horse, and all his chariots; <sup>14</sup> And he became master of his cities, and he came even unto Ecbatana, and took the towers, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame. <sup>15</sup> And he took Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau, and smote him through with his darts, and destroyed him utterly, unto this day. <sup>16</sup> And he returned with them to Nineveh, he and all his company of sundry nations, an exceeding great multitude of men of war, and there he took his ease and banqueted, he and his host, a hundred and twenty days.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup> And in the eighteenth year, the two and twentieth day of the first month, there was talk in the house of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, that he should be avenged on all the land, even as he spake. <sup>2</sup> And he called together all his servants, and all his great men, and communicated with them his secret counsel, and concluded the afflicting of all the land out of his own mouth. <sup>3</sup> And they decreed to destroy all flesh which followed not the word of his mouth. <sup>4</sup> And it came to pass, when he had ended his counsel, Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians called Holofernes the chief captain of his host, which was next after himself, and said unto him, <sup>5</sup> Thus saith the great king, the lord of all the earth, Behold, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their strength, unto a hundred and twenty thousand footmen; and the number of horses with their riders twelve thousand: <sup>6</sup> And thou shalt go forth against all the west country, because they disobeyed the commandment of my mouth. <sup>7</sup> And thou shalt declare unto them, that they prepare earth and water; because I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of my host, and I will give them for a spoil unto them: <sup>8</sup> And their slain shall fill their valleys and brooks, and the river shall be filled with their dead, till it overflow: <sup>9</sup>And I will lead them captives to the utmost parts of all the earth. <sup>10</sup>But thou shalt go forth, and take beforehand for me all their coasts; and if they shall yield themselves unto thee, then shalt thou reserve them for me till the day of their reproof. <sup>11</sup>But as for them that are disobedient, thine eye shall not spare; but thou shalt give them up to be slain and to be spoiled in all thy land. <sup>12</sup>For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, I have spoken, and I will do this with my hand. <sup>13</sup>And thou, moreover, shalt not transgress aught of the commandments of thy lord, but thou shalt surely accomplish them, as I have commanded thee, and thou shalt not defer to do them. <sup>14</sup>And Holofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors and the captains and officers of the host of Asshur; <sup>15</sup>And he numbered chosen men for the battle, as his lord had commanded him, unto a hundred and twenty thousand, and twelve thousand archers on horseback; <sup>16</sup>And he ranged them, as a great multitude is ordered for the war. <sup>17</sup>And he took camels and asses and mules for their baggage, an exceeding great multitude; and sheep and oxen and goats without number for their provision; <sup>18</sup>And great store of victual for every man, and exceeding much gold and silver out of the king's house. <sup>19</sup>And he went forth, he and all his host, on their journey, to go before king Nebuchadnezzar, and to cover all the face of the earth westward with their chariots and horsemen and chosen footmen. <sup>20</sup>And a great company of sundry nations went forth with them like locusts, and like the sand of the earth: for they could not be numbered by reason of their multitude. <sup>21</sup>And they departed out of Nineveh three days' journey toward the plain of Bectileth, and encamped from Bectileth near the mountain which is at the left hand of the upper Cilicia. <sup>22</sup>And he took all his host, his footmen and horsemen and chariots, and went away from thence into the hill country, <sup>23</sup>And destroyed Put and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rassas, and the children of Ishmael, which were over against the wilderness to the south of the land of the Chellians. <sup>24</sup>And he went over Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and brake down all the high cities that were upon the river Arbonai, until thou comest to the sea. <sup>25</sup>And he took possession of the borders of Cilicia, and slew all that resisted him, and came unto the borders of Japheth, which were toward the south, over against Arabia. <sup>26</sup>And he compassed about all the children of Midian, and set on fire their tents, and spoiled their sheepcotes. <sup>27</sup>And he went down into the plain of Damascus in the days of wheat harvest, and set on fire all their fields, and utterly destroyed their flocks and herds, and spoiled their cities, and laid their plains waste, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword. <sup>28</sup>And the fear and the dread of him fell upon them that dwelt on the sea coast, upon them that were in Sidon and Tyre, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jemnaan; and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him exceedingly.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>And they sent unto him messengers with words of peace, saying, <sup>2</sup>Behold, we the servants of Nebuchadnezzar the great king lie before thee: use us as it is pleasing in thy sight. <sup>3</sup>Behold, our dwellings, and all our country, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks and herds, and all the sheepcotes of our tents, lie before thy face: use them as it may please thee. <sup>4</sup>Behold, even our cities and they that dwell in them are thy servants: come and deal with them as it is good in thine eyes. <sup>5</sup>And the men came to Holofernes, and declared unto him according to these words. <sup>6</sup>And he came down toward the sea coast, he and his host, and set garrisons in the high cities, and took out of them chosen men for allies. <sup>7</sup>And they received him, they and all the country round about them, with garlands and dances and timbrels. <sup>8</sup>And he cast down all their borders, and cut down their groves: and it had been given unto him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all the nations should worship Nebuchadnezzar only, and that all their tongues and their tribes should call upon him as god. <sup>9</sup>And he came towards Esdrael on nigh unto Dotæa, which is over against the great ridge of Judæa. <sup>10</sup>And he encamped between Geba and Scythopolis, and he was there a whole month, that he might gather together all the baggage of his host.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>And the children of Israel that dwelt in Judæa heard all that Holofernes the chief captain of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and after what manner he had spoiled all their temples, and destroyed them utterly. <sup>2</sup>And they were exceedingly afraid before him, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God: <sup>3</sup>Because they were newly come up from the captivity, and all the people of Judæa were lately gathered together; and the vessels, and the altar, and the house, were sanctified after the profanation. <sup>4</sup>And they sent into every coast of Samaria, and to Konæ, and to Bethhoron, and Belmair, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Æsora, and to the valley of Salem; <sup>5</sup>And they possessed themselves beforehand of all the tops of the high mountains, and fortified the villages that were in them, and laid up victual for the provision of war: for their fields were newly reaped. <sup>6</sup>And Joakim the high priest, which was in those days at Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia, and Betomesthaim, which is over against Esdrael on toward the plain that is nigh unto Dothaim, <sup>7</sup>Charging them to seize upon the ascents of the hill country; because by them was the entrance into Judæa, and it was easy to stop them from approaching, inasmuch as the approach was narrow, with space for two men at the most. <sup>8</sup>And the children of Israel did as Joakim the high priest had commanded them, and the senate of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup>And every man of Israel cried to God with great earnestness, and with great earnestness did they humble their souls. <sup>10</sup>They, and their wives, and their babes, and their cattle, and every sojourner and hireling and servant bought with their money, put sackcloth upon their loins. <sup>11</sup>And every man and woman of Israel, and the little children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, fell before the temple, and cast ashes upon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the Lord; and they put sackcloth about the altar: <sup>12</sup>And they cried to the God of Israel earnestly with one consent, that he would not give their babes for a prey, and their wives for a spoil, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the sanctuary to profanation and reproach, for the nations to rejoice at. <sup>13</sup>And the Lord heard their voice, and looked upon their affliction: and the people continued fasting many days in all Judæa and Jerusalem before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty. <sup>14</sup>And Joakim the high priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and they that ministered unto the Lord, had their loins girt about with sackcloth, and offered the continual burnt offering, and the vows and the free gifts of the people; <sup>15</sup>And they had ashes on their mitres: and they cried unto the Lord with all their power, that he would look upon all the house of Israel for good.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>And it was told Holofernes, the chief captain of the host of Asshur, that the children of Israel had prepared for war, and had shut up the passages of the hill country, and had fortified all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the plains: <sup>2</sup>And he was exceeding wroth, and he called all the princes of Moab, and the captains of Ammon, and all the governors of the sea coast, <sup>3</sup>And he said unto them, Tell me now, ye sons of Canaan, who is this people, that dwelleth in the hill country, and what are the cities that they inhabit, and what is the multitude of their host, and wherein is their power and their strength, and what king is set over them, to be the leader of their army; <sup>4</sup>And why have they turned their backs, that they should not come and meet me, more than all that dwell in the west. <sup>5</sup>And Achior, the leader of all the children of Ammon, said unto him, Let my lord now hear a word from the mouth of thy servant, and I will tell thee the truth concerning this people, which dwelleth in this hill country, nigh unto the place where thou dwellest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy servant. <sup>6</sup>This people are descended of the Chaldeans: <sup>7</sup>And they sojourned heretofore in Mesopotamia, because they were not minded to follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of the Chaldeans. <sup>8</sup>And they departed from the way of their parents, and worshipped the God of heaven, the God whom they knew: and they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many days. <sup>9</sup>And their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Canaan: and they dwelt there, and were increased with gold and silver, and with exceeding much cattle. <sup>10</sup>And they went down into Egypt, for a famine covered all the land of Canaan; and there they sojourned, until they were grown up; and they became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their nation. <sup>11</sup>And the king of Egypt rose up against them, and dealt subtilly with them, and brought them low, making them to labour in brick, and made them slaves. <sup>12</sup>And they cried unto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: and the Egyptians cast them out of their sight. <sup>13</sup>And God dried up the Red sea before them, <sup>14</sup>And brought them into the way of Sinai, and Kadesh-Barnea, and they cast out all that dwelt in the wilderness. <sup>15</sup>And they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Heshbon, and passing over Jordan they possessed all the hill country. <sup>16</sup>And they cast out before them the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite, and the Shechemite, and all the Gergashites, and they dwelt in that country many days. <sup>17</sup>And whilst they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because God that hateth iniquity was with them. <sup>18</sup>But when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battles very sore, and were led captives into a land that was not theirs, and the temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by their adversaries. <sup>19</sup>And now they are returned to their God, and are come up from the dispersion where they were dispersed, and have possessed Jerusalem, where their sanctuary is, and are seated in the hill country: for it was desolate. <sup>20</sup>And now, my lord and master, if there is any error in this people, and they sin against their God, we will consider what this thing is wherein they stumble, and we will go up and overcome them. <sup>21</sup>But if there is no lawlessness in their nation, let my lord now pass by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we shall be a reproach before all the earth. <sup>22</sup>And it came to pass, when Achior had finished speaking these words, all the people that compassed the tent and stood round about it murmured; and the great men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him. <sup>23</sup>For, said they, we will not be afraid of the children of Israel: for, lo, it is a people that hath no power nor might to make the battle strong. <sup>24</sup>Wherefore now we will go up, and they shall be a prey to be devoured of all thine army, lord Holofernes.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup>And when the tumult of the men that were about the council was ceased, Holofernes the chief captain of the host of Asshur said unto Achior and to all the children of Moab before all the people of the aliens, <sup>2</sup>And who art thou, Achior, and the hirelings of Ephraim, that thou hast prophesied among us as to-day, and hast said, that we should not make war with the race of Israel, because their God will defend them? And who is God but Nebuchadnezzar? <sup>3</sup>He shall send forth his might, and shall destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliver them: but we his servants shall smite them as one man; and they shall not sustain the might of our horses. <sup>4</sup>For with them we shall burn them up, and their mountains shall be drunken with their blood, and their plains shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not stand before us, but they shall surely perish, saith king Nebuchadnezzar, lord of all the earth: for he said, The words that I have spoken shall not be in vain. <sup>5</sup>But thou, Achior, hireling of Ammon, which hast spoken these words in the day of thine iniquity, shalt see my face no more from this day, until I shall be avenged of the race of those that came out of Egypt. <sup>6</sup>And then shall the sword of mine army, and the multitude of them that serve me, pass through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slain, when I shall return. <sup>7</sup>And my servants shall bring thee back into the hill country, and shall set thee in one of the cities of the ascents: <sup>8</sup>And thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them. <sup>9</sup>And if thou hopest in thy heart that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall. I have spoken it, and none of my words shall fall to the ground. <sup>10</sup>And Holofernes commanded his servants, that waited in his tent, to take Achior, and bring him back to Bethulia, and deliver him into the hands of the children of Israel. <sup>11</sup>And his servants took him, and brought him out of the camp into the plain, and they removed from the midst of the plain country into the hill country, and came unto the fountains that were under Bethulia. <sup>12</sup>And when the men of the city saw them on the top of the hill, they took up their weapons, and went out of the city against them to the top of the hill: and every man that used a sling kept them from coming up, and cast stones against them. <sup>13</sup>And they gat them privily under the hill, and bound Achior, and cast him down, and left him at the foot of the hill, and went away unto their lord. <sup>14</sup>But the children of Israel descended from their city, and came upon him, and loosed him, and led him away into Bethulia, and presented him to the rulers of their city; <sup>15</sup>Which were in those days Ozias the son of Micah, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the son of Gothoniell, and Charmis the son of Melchiel. <sup>16</sup>And they called together all the elders of the city; and all their young men ran together, and their women, to the assembly; and they set Achior in the midst of all their people. And Ozias asked him of that which had happened: <sup>17</sup>And he answered and declared unto them the words of the council of Holofernes, and all the words that he had spoken in the midst of the princes of the children of Asshur, and all the great words that Holofernes had spoken against the house of Israel. <sup>18</sup>And the people fell down and worshipped God, and cried, saying, <sup>19</sup>O Lord God of heaven, behold their arrogance, and pity the low estate of our race, and look upon the face of those that are sanctified unto thee this day. <sup>20</sup>And they comforted Achior, and praised him exceedingly. <sup>21</sup>And Ozias took him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the elders; and they called on the God of Israel for help all that night.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup>But the next day Holofernes gave command to all his army, and to all his people which were come to be his allies, that they should remove their camp toward Bethulia, and take aforehand the ascents of the hill country, and make war against the children of Israel. <sup>2</sup>And every mighty man of them removed that day, and the host of their men of war was a hundred and seventy thousand footmen, and twelve thousand horsemen, beside the baggage, and the men that were afoot among them, an exceeding great multitude. <sup>3</sup>And they encamped in the valley near unto Bethulia, by the fountain, and they spread themselves in breadth over Dothaim even to Belmaim, and in length from Bethulia unto Cyamon, which is over against Esdraelon. <sup>4</sup>But the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude of them, were troubled exceedingly, and said every one to his neighbour, Now shall these men lick up the face of all the earth; and neither the high mountains, nor the valleys, nor the hills, shall be able to bear their weight. <sup>5</sup>And every man took up his weapons of war, and when they had kindled fires upon their towers, they remained and watched all that night. <sup>6</sup>But on the second day Holofernes led out all his horse in the sight of the children of Israel which were in Bethulia, <sup>7</sup>And viewed the ascents to their city, and searched out the fountains of the waters, and seized upon them, and set garrisons of men of war over them, and himself departed to his people. <sup>8</sup>And there came unto him all the rulers of the children of Esau, and all the leaders of the people of Moab, and the captains of the sea coast, and said, <sup>9</sup>Let our lord now hear a word, that there be not an overthrow in thy host. <sup>10</sup>For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their spears, but in the height of the mountains wherein they dwell, for it is not easy to come up to the tops of their mountains. <sup>11</sup>And now, my lord, fight not against them as men fight who join battle, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish. <sup>12</sup>Remain in thy camp, and keep safe every man of thy host, and let thy servants get possession of the fountain of water, which issueth forth of the foot of the mountain: <sup>13</sup>Because all the inhabitants of Bethulia have their water thence; and thirst shall kill them, and they shall give up their city: and we and our people will go up to the tops of the mountains that are near, and will encamp upon them, to watch that not one man go out of the city. <sup>14</sup>And they shall be consumed with famine, they and their wives and their children, and before the sword come against them they shall be laid low in the streets where they dwell. <sup>15</sup>And thou shalt render them an evil reward; because they rebelled, and met not thy face in peace. <sup>16</sup>And their words were pleasing in the sight of Holofernes and in the sight of all his servants; and he appointed to do as they had spoken. <sup>17</sup>And the army of the children of Ammon removed, and with them five thousand of the children of Asshur, and they encamped in the valley, and seized upon the waters and the fountains of the waters of the children of Israel. <sup>18</sup>And the children of Esau went up with the children of Ammon, and encamped in the hill country over against Dothaim: and they sent some of them toward the south, and toward the east, over against Ekrebel, which is near unto Chusi, that is upon the brook Mochmur; and the rest of the army of the Assyrians encamped in the plain, and covered all the face of the land; and their tents and baggage were pitched upon it in a great crowd, and they were an exceeding great multitude. <sup>19</sup>And the children of Israel cried unto the Lord their God, for their spirit fainted; for all their enemies had compassed them round about, and there was no way to escape out from among them. <sup>20</sup>And all the army of Asshur remained about them, their footmen and their chariots and their horsemen, four and thirty days; and all their vessels of water failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia. <sup>21</sup>And the cisterns were emptied, and they had not water to drink their fill for one day: for they gave them drink by measure. <sup>22</sup>And their young children were out of heart, and the women and the young men fainted for thirst, and they fell down in the streets of the city, and in the passages of the gates, and there was no longer any strength in them. <sup>23</sup>And all the people were gathered together against Ozias, and against the rulers of the city, the young men and the women and the children, and they cried with a loud voice, and said before all the elders, <sup>24</sup> God be judge between you and us: because ye have done us great wrong, in that ye have not spoken words of peace with the children of Asshur. <sup>25</sup>And now we have no helper: but God hath sold us into their hands, that we should be laid low before them with thirst and great destruction. <sup>26</sup>And now call them unto you, and deliver up the whole city for a prey to the people of Holofernes, and to all his host. <sup>27</sup>For it is better for us to be made a spoil unto them: for we shall be servants, and our souls shall live, and we shall not see the death of our babes before our eyes, and our wives and our children fainting in death. <sup>28</sup>We take to witness against you the heaven and the earth, and our God and the Lord of our fathers, which punisheth us according to our sins and the sins of our fathers, that he do not according as we have said this day. <sup>29</sup>And there was great weeping of all with one consent in the midst of the assembly; and they cried unto the Lord God with a loud voice. <sup>30</sup>And Ozias said to them, Brethren, be of good courage, let us yet endure five days, in the which space the Lord our God shall turn his mercy toward us; for he will not forsake us utterly. <sup>31</sup>But if these days pass, and there come no help unto us, I will do according to your words. <sup>32</sup>And he dispersed the people, every man to his own camp; and they went away unto the walls and towers of their city; and he sent the women and children into their houses: and they were brought very low in the city.

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>And in those days Judith heard thereof, the daughter of Merari, the son of Ox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Eliah, the son of Ananias, the son of Gideon, the son of Raphaim, the son of Ahitub, the son of Elihu, the son of Eliab, the son of Nathanael, the son of Salamiel, the son of Salasadaï, the son of Israel. <sup>2</sup>And her husband was Manasses, of her tribe and of her family, and he died in the days of barley harvest. <sup>3</sup>For he stood over them that bound sheaves in the field, and the heat came upon his head, and he fell on his bed, and died in his city Bethulia: and they buried him with his fathers in the field which is between Dothaim and Balamon. <sup>4</sup>And Judith was a widow in her house three years and four months. <sup>5</sup>And she made her a tent upon the roof of her house, and put on sackcloth upon her loins; and the garments of her widowhood were upon her. <sup>6</sup>And she fasted all the days of her widowhood, save the eves of the sabbaths, and the sabbaths, and the eves of the new moons, and the new moons, and the feasts and joyful days of the house of Israel. <sup>7</sup>And she was of a goodly countenance, and exceeding beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold, and silver, and menservants, and maidservants, and cattle, and lands; and she remained upon them. <sup>8</sup>And there was none that gave her an evil word; for she feared God exceedingly. <sup>9</sup>And she heard the evil words of the people against the governor, because they fainted for lack of water; and Judith heard all the words that Ozias spake unto them, how he sware to them that he would deliver the city unto the Assyrians after five days. <sup>10</sup>And she sent her maid, that was over all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis, the elders of her city. <sup>11</sup>And they came unto her, and she said unto them, Hear me now, O ye rulers of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your word that ye have spoken before the people this day is not right, and ye have set the oath which ye have pronounced between God and you, and have promised to deliver the city to our enemies, unless within these days the Lord turn to help you. <sup>12</sup>And now who are ye that have tempted God this day, and stand instead of God among the children of men? <sup>13</sup>And now try the Lord Almighty, and ye shall never know anything. <sup>14</sup>For ye shall not find the depth of the heart of man, and ye shall not perceive the things that he thinketh:

and how shall ye search out God, which hath made all these things, and know his mind, and comprehend his purpose? Nay, my brethren, provoke not the Lord our God to anger. <sup>15</sup>For if he be not minded to help us within these five days, he hath power to defend us in such time as he will, or to destroy us before the face of our enemies. <sup>16</sup>But do not ye pledge the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man, that he should be threatened; neither as the son of man, that he should be turned by intreaty. <sup>17</sup>Wherefore let us wait for the salvation that cometh from him, and call upon him to help us, and he will hear our voice, if it please him. <sup>18</sup>For there arose none in our age, neither is there any of us to-day, tribe, or kindred, or family, or city, which worship gods made with hands, as it was in the former days; <sup>19</sup>For the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a spoil, and fell with a great fall before our enemies. <sup>20</sup>But we know none other god beside him, wherefore we hope that he will not despise us, nor any of our race. <sup>21</sup>For if we be taken so, all Judæa shall sit upon the ground, and our sanctuary shall be spoiled; and of our blood shall he require the profanation thereof. <sup>22</sup>And the slaughter of our brethren, and the captivity of the land, and the desolation of our inheritance, shall he turn upon our heads among the Gentiles, wheresoever we shall be in bondage; and we shall be an offence and a reproach before them that take us for a possession. <sup>23</sup>For our bondage shall not be ordered to favour: but the Lord our God shall turn it to dishonour. <sup>24</sup>And now, brethren, let us shew an example to our brethren, because their soul hangeth upon us, and the sanctuary and the house and the altar rest upon us. <sup>25</sup>Besides all this let us give thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth us, even as he did our fathers also. <sup>26</sup>Remember all the things which he did to Abraham, and all the things in which he tried Isaac, and all the things which happened to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when he kept the sheep of Laban his mother's brother. <sup>27</sup>For he hath not tried us in the fire, as he did them, to search out their hearts, neither hath he taken vengeance on us; but the Lord doth scourge them that come near unto him, to admonish them. <sup>28</sup>And Ozias said to her, All that thou hast spoken hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that shall gainsay thy words. <sup>29</sup>For this is not the first day wherein thy wisdom is manifested; but from the beginning of thy days all the people have known thine understanding, because the disposition of thy heart is good. <sup>30</sup>But the people were exceeding thirsty, and compelled us to do as we spake to them, and to bring an oath upon ourselves, which we will not break. <sup>31</sup>And now pray thou for us, because thou art a godly woman, and the Lord shall send us rain to fill our cisterns, and we shall faint no more. <sup>32</sup>And Judith said unto them, Hear me, and I will do a thing, which shall go down to all generations among the children of our race. <sup>33</sup>Ye shall stand at the gate this night, and I will go forth with my maid: and, within the days after which ye said that ye would deliver the city to our enemies, the Lord shall visit Israel by my hand. <sup>34</sup>But ye shall not inquire of mine act: for I will not declare it unto you, till the things be finished that I do. <sup>35</sup>And Ozias and the rulers said unto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies. <sup>36</sup>And they returned from the tent, and went to their stations.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>But Judith fell upon her face, and put ashes upon her head, and uncovered the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed; and the incense of that evening was now being offered at Jerusalem in the house of God, and Judith cried unto the Lord with a loud voice, and said, <sup>2</sup>O Lord God of my father Simeon, into whose hand thou gavest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers, who loosened the girdle of a virgin to defile her, and uncovered the thigh to her shame, and profaned the womb to her reproach; for thou saidst, It shall not be so; and they did so: <sup>3</sup>Wherefore thou gavest their rulers to be slain, and their bed, which was ashamed for her that was deceived, to be dyed in blood, and smotest the servants with their lords, and the lords upon their thrones; <sup>4</sup>And gavest their wives for a prey, and their daughters to be captives, and all their spoils to be divided among thy dear children; which were moved with zeal for thee, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for aid: O God, O my God, hear me also that am a widow. <sup>5</sup>For thou wroughtest the things that were before those things, and those things, and such as ensued after; and thou didst devise the things which are now, and the things which are to come: and the things which thou didst devise came to pass; <sup>6</sup>Yea, the things which thou didst determine stood before thee, and said, Lo, we are here: for all thy ways are prepared, and thy judgement is with foreknowledge. <sup>7</sup>For, behold, the Assyrians are multiplied in their power; they are exalted with horse and rider; they have gloried in the strength of their footmen; they have trusted in shield and spear and bow and sling; and they know not that thou art the Lord that breaketh the battles: the Lord is thy name. <sup>8</sup>Dash thou down their strength in thy power, and bring down their force in thy wrath: for they have purposed to profane thy sanctuary, and to defile the tabernacle where thy glorious name resteth, and to cast down with the sword the horn of thine altar. <sup>9</sup>Look upon their pride, and send thy wrath upon their heads: give into my hand, which am a widow, the might that I have conceived. <sup>10</sup>Smite by the deceit of my lips the servant with the prince, and the prince with his servant: break down their stateliness by the hand of a woman. <sup>11</sup>For thy power standeth not in multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou art a God of the afflicted, thou art a helper of the oppressed, an upholder of the weak, a protector of the forlorn, a saviour of them that are without hope. <sup>12</sup>Yea, yea, God of my father, and God of the inheritance of Israel, Lord of the heavens and of the earth, Creator of the waters, King of every creature, hear thou my prayer: <sup>13</sup>And make my speech and deceit to be their wound and stripe, who have purposed hard things against thy covenant, and thy hallowed house, and the top of Sion, and the house of the possession of thy children. <sup>14</sup>And make every nation and tribe of thine to know that thou art God, the God of all power and might, and that there is none other that protecteth the race of Israel but thou.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>And it came to pass, when she had ceased to cry unto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words, <sup>2</sup>That she rose up where she had fallen down, and called her maid, and went down into the house, in the which she was wont to abide on the sabbath days and on her feast days, <sup>3</sup>And pulled off the sackcloth which she had put on, and put off the garments of her widowhood, and washed her body all over with water, and anointed herself with rich ointment, and braided the hair of her head, and put a tire upon it, and put on her garments of gladness, wherewith she was wont to be clad in the days of the life of Manasses her husband. <sup>4</sup>And she took sandals for her feet, and put her chains about her, and her bracelets, and her rings, and her earrings, and all her ornaments, and decked herself bravely, to beguile the eyes of all men that should see her. <sup>5</sup>And she gave her maid a leathern bottle of wine, and a cruse of oil, and filled a bag with parched corn and lumps of figs and fine bread; and she packed all her vessels together, and laid them upon her. <sup>6</sup>And they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing thereby Ozias, and the elders of the city, Chabris and Charmis. <sup>7</sup>But when they saw her, that her countenance was altered, and her apparel was changed, they wondered at her beauty very exceedingly, and said unto her, <sup>8</sup>The God of our fathers give thee favour, and accomplish thy purposes to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. And she worshipped God, <sup>9</sup>And said unto them, Command that they open unto me the gate of the city, and I will go forth to accomplish the things whereof ye spake with me. And they commanded the young men to open unto her, as she had spoken: <sup>10</sup>And they did so. And Judith went out, she, and her handmaid with her; and the men of the city looked after her, until she was gone down the mountain, until she had passed the valley, and they could see her no more. <sup>11</sup>And they went straight onward in the valley: and the watch of the Assyrians met her; <sup>12</sup>And they took her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I flee away from their presence; because they are about to be given you to be consumed: <sup>13</sup>And I am coming into the presence of Holofernes the chief captain of your host, to declare words of truth; and I will shew before him a way, whereby he shall go, and win all the hill country, and there shall not be lacking of his men one person, nor one life. <sup>14</sup>Now when the men heard her words, and considered her countenance, the beauty thereof was exceeding marvellous in their eyes, and they said unto her, <sup>15</sup>Thou hast saved thy life, in that thou hast hastened to come down to the presence of our lord: and now come to his tent, and some of us shall conduct thee, until they shall deliver thee into his hands. <sup>16</sup>But when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but declare unto him according to thy words; and he shall entreat thee well. <sup>17</sup>And they chose out of them a hundred men, and appointed them to accompany her and her maid; and they brought them to the tent of Holofernes. <sup>18</sup>And there was a concourse throughout all the camp, for her coming was noised among the tents; and they came and compassed her about, as she stood without the tent of Holofernes, until they told him of her. <sup>19</sup>And they marvelled at her beauty, and marvelled at the children of Israel because of her, and each one said to his neighbour, Who shall despise this people, that have among them such women? for it is not good that one man of them be left, seeing that, if they are let go, they shall be able to deceive the whole earth. <sup>20</sup>And they that lay near Holofernes, and all his servants, went forth and brought her into the tent. <sup>21</sup>And Holofernes was resting upon his bed under the canopy, which was woven with purple and gold and emeralds and precious stones. <sup>22</sup>And they told him of her; and he came forth into the space before his tent, with silver lamps going before him. <sup>23</sup>But when Judith was come before him and his servants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance; and she fell down upon her face, and did reverence unto him: and his servants raised her up.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>And Holofernes said unto her, Woman, be of good comfort, fear not in thy heart: for I never hurt any that hath chosen to serve Nebuchadnezzar, the king of all the earth. <sup>2</sup>And now, if thy people that dwelleth in the hill country had not set light by me, I would not have lifted up my spear against them: but they have done these things to themselves. <sup>3</sup>And now tell me wherefore thou didst flee from them, and camest unto us: for thou art come to save thyself; be of good comfort, thou shalt live this night, and hereafter. <sup>4</sup>For there is none that shall wrong thee, but all shall entreat thee well, as is done unto the servants of king Nebuchadnezzar my lord. <sup>5</sup>And Judith said unto him, Receive the words of thy servant, and let thy handmaid speak in thy presence, and I will declare no lie unto my lord this night. <sup>6</sup>And if thou shalt follow the words of thy handmaid, God shall bring the thing to pass perfectly with thee; and my lord shall not fail of his purposes. <sup>7</sup>As Nebuchadnezzar king of all the earth liveth, and as his power liveth, who hath sent thee for the preservation of every living thing, not only do men serve him by thee, but also the beasts of the field and the cattle and the birds of the heaven shall live through thy strength, in the time of Nebuchadnezzar and of all his house. <sup>8</sup>For we have heard of thy wisdom and the subtil devices of thy soul, and it hath been reported in all the earth, that thou only art brave in all the kingdom, and mighty in knowledge, and wonderful in feats of war. <sup>9</sup>And now as concerning the matter, which Achior did speak in thy council, we have heard his words: for the men of Bethulia saved him, and he declared unto them all that he had spoken before thee. <sup>10</sup>Wherefore, O lord and master, neglect not his word; but lay it up in thy heart, for it is true: for our race shall not be punished, neither shall the sword prevail against them, except they sin against their God. <sup>11</sup>And now, that my lord be not defeated and frustrate of his purpose, and that death may fall upon them, their sin hath overtaken them, wherewith they shall provoke their God to anger, whensoever they shall do wickedness. <sup>12</sup>Since their victuals failed them, and all their water was scant, they took counsel to lay hands upon their cattle, and determined to consume all those things, which God charged them by his laws that they should not eat: <sup>13</sup>And they are resolved to spend the firstfruits of the corn, and the tenths of the wine and the oil, which they had sanctified, and reserved for the priests that stand before the face of our God in Jerusalem; the which things it is not fitting for any of the people so much as to touch with their hands. <sup>14</sup>And they have sent some to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there have done this thing, to bring them a licence from the senate. <sup>15</sup>And it shall be, when one shall bring them word, and they shall do it, they shall be given thee to be destroyed the same day. <sup>16</sup>Wherefore I thy servant, knowing all this, fled away from their presence; and God sent me to work things with thee, whereat all the earth shall be astonished, even as many as shall hear it. <sup>17</sup>For thy servant is religious, and serveth the God of heaven day and night: and now, my lord, I will abide with thee, and thy servant will go forth by night into the valley, and I will pray unto God, and he shall tell me when they have committed their sins: <sup>18</sup>And I will come and shew it also unto thee; and thou shalt go forth with all thy host, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee. <sup>19</sup>And I will lead thee through the midst of Judæa, until thou comest over against Jerusalem; and I will set thy seat in the midst thereof; and thou shalt drive them as sheep that have no shepherd, and a dog shall not so much as open his mouth before thee: for these things were told me according to my foreknowledge, and were declared unto me, and I was sent to tell thee. <sup>20</sup>And her words were pleasing in the sight of Holofernes and of all his servants; and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said, <sup>21</sup>There is not such a woman from one end of the earth to the other, for beauty of face, and wisdom of words. <sup>22</sup>And Holofernes said unto her, God did well to send thee before the people, that might should be in our hands, and destruction among them that lightly regarded my lord. <sup>23</sup>And now thou art beautiful in thy countenance, and witty in thy words: for if thou shalt do as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of king Nebuchadnezzar, and shalt be renowned through the whole earth.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>And he commanded to bring her in where his silver vessels were set, and bade that they should prepare for her of his own meats, and that she should drink of his own wine. <sup>2</sup>And Judith said, I will not eat thereof, lest there be an occasion of stumbling: but provision shall be made for me of the things that are come with me. <sup>3</sup>And Holofernes said unto her, But if the things that be with thee should fail, whence shall we be able to give thee the like? for there is none of thy race with us. <sup>4</sup>And Judith said unto him, As thy soul liveth, my lord, thy servant shall not spend those things that be with me, until the Lord work by my hand the things that he hath determined. <sup>5</sup>And the servants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept till midnight, and she rose up toward the morning watch, <sup>6</sup>And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord now command that they suffer thy servant to go forth unto prayer. <sup>7</sup>And Holofernes commanded his guards that they should not stay her: and she abode in the camp three days, and went out every night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself at the fountain of water in the camp. <sup>8</sup>And when she came up, she besought the Lord God of Israel to direct her way to the raising up of the children of his people. <sup>9</sup>And she came in clean, and remained in the tent, until she took her meat toward evening. <sup>10</sup>And it came to pass on the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his own servants only, and called none of the officers to the banquet. <sup>11</sup>And he said to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge over all that he had, Go now, and persuade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that she come unto us, and eat and drink with us. <sup>12</sup>For, lo, it is a shame for our person, if we shall let such a woman go, not having had her company; for if we draw her not unto us, she shall laugh us to scorn. <sup>13</sup>And Bagoas went from the presence of Holofernes, and came in to her, and said, Let not this fair damsel fear to come to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drink wine and be merry with us, and to be made this day as one of the daughters of the children of Asshur, which wait in the house of Nebuchadnezzar. <sup>14</sup>And Judith said unto him, And who am I, that I should gainsay my lord? for whatsoever shall be pleasing in his eyes I will do speedily, and this shall be my joy unto the day of my death. <sup>15</sup>And she arose, and decked herself with her apparel and all her woman's attire; and her servant went and laid fleeces on the ground for her over against Holofernes, which she had received of Bagoas for her daily use, that she might sit and eat upon them. <sup>16</sup>And Judith came in and sat down, and Holofernes' heart was ravished with her, and his soul was moved, and he desired exceedingly her company: and he was watching for a time to deceive her, from the day that he had seen her. <sup>17</sup>And Holofernes said unto her, Drink now, and be merry with us. <sup>18</sup>And Judith said, I will drink now, my lord, because my life is magnified in me this day more than all the days since I was born. <sup>19</sup>And she took and ate and drank before him what her servant had prepared. <sup>20</sup>And Holofernes took great delight in her, and drank exceeding much wine, more than he had drunk at any time in one day since he was born.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>But when the evening was come, his servants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut the tent without, and dismissed them that waited from the presence of his lord; and they went away to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long. <sup>2</sup>But Judith was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes lying along upon his bed: for he was overflowed with wine. <sup>3</sup>And Judith had said to her servant that she should stand without her bedchamber, and wait for her coming forth, as she did daily: for she said she would go forth to her prayer; and she spake to Bagoas according to the same words. <sup>4</sup>And all went away from her presence, and none was left in the bedchamber, neither small nor great. And Judith, standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, look in this hour upon the works of my hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup>For now is the time to help thine inheritance, and to do the thing that I have purposed to the destruction of the enemies which are risen up against us. <sup>6</sup>And she came to the rail of the bed, which was at Holofernes' head, and took down his scimitar from thence; <sup>7</sup>And she drew near unto the bed, and took hold of the hair of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day. <sup>8</sup>And she smote twice upon his neck with all her might, and took away his head from him, <sup>9</sup>And tumbled his body down from the bed, and took down the canopy from the pillars; and after a little while she went forth, and gave Holofernes' head to her maid; <sup>10</sup>And she put it in her bag of victuals: and they twain went forth together unto prayer, according to their custom: and they passed through the camp, and compassed that valley, and went up to the mountain of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof. <sup>11</sup>And Judith said afar off to the watchmen at the gates, Open, open now the gate: God is with us, even our God, to shew his power yet in Israel, and his might against the enemy, as he hath done even this day. <sup>12</sup>And it came to pass, when the men of her city heard her voice, they made haste to go down to the gate of their city, and they called together the elders of the city. <sup>13</sup>And they ran all together, both small and great, for it was strange unto them that she was come: and they opened the gate, and received them, making a fire to give light, and compassed them round about. <sup>14</sup>And she said to them with a loud voice, Praise God, praise him: praise God, who hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by my hand this night. <sup>15</sup>And she took forth the head out of the bag, and shewed it, and said unto them, Behold, the head of Holofernes, the chief captain of the host of Asshur, and behold, the canopy, wherein he did lie in his drunkenness; and the Lord smote him by the hand of a woman. <sup>16</sup>And as the Lord liveth, who preserved me in my way that I went, my countenance deceived him to his destruction, and he did not commit sin with me, to defile and shame me. <sup>17</sup>And all the people were exceedingly amazed, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed art thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people. <sup>18</sup>And Ozias said unto her, Blessed art thou, daughter, in the sight of the Most High God, above all the women upon the earth; and blessed is the Lord God, who created the heavens and the earth, who directed thee to the smiting of the head of the prince of our enemies. <sup>19</sup>For thy hope shall not depart from the heart of men that remember the strength of God for ever. <sup>20</sup>And God turn these things to thee for a perpetual praise, to visit thee with good things, because thou didst not spare thy life by reason of the affliction of our race, but didst avenge our fall, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>And Judith said unto them, Hear me now, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it upon the battlement of your wall. <sup>2</sup>And it shall be, so soon as the morning shall appear, and the sun shall come forth upon the earth, ye shall take up every one his weapons of war, and go forth every valiant man of you out of the city, and ye shall set a captain over them, as though ye would go down to the plain toward the watch of the children of Asshur; and ye shall not go down. <sup>3</sup>And these shall take up their panoplies, and shall go into their camp, and rouse up the captains of the host of Asshur, and they shall run together to the tent of Holofernes, and they shall not find him: and fear shall fall upon them, and they shall flee before your face. <sup>4</sup>And ye, and all that inhabit every coast of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they go. <sup>5</sup>But before ye do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to us, as it were to death. <sup>6</sup>And they called Achior out of the house of Ozias; but when he came, and saw the head of Holofernes in a man's hand in the assembly of the people, he fell upon his face, and his spirit failed.

<sup>7</sup>But when they had recovered him, he fell at Judith's feet, and did reverence unto her, and said, Blessed art thou in every tent of Judah, and in every nation, which hearing thy name shall be troubled. <sup>8</sup>And now tell me all the things that thou hast done in these days. And Judith declared unto him in the midst of the people all the things that she had done, from the day that she went forth until the time that she spake unto them. <sup>9</sup>But when she left off speaking, the people shouted with a loud voice, and made a joyful noise in their city. <sup>10</sup>But when Achior saw all the things that the God of Israel had done, he believed in God exceedingly, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and was joined unto the house of Israel, unto this day. <sup>11</sup>But as soon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes upon the wall, and every man took up his weapons, and they went forth by bands unto the ascents of the mountain. <sup>12</sup>But when the children of Asshur saw them, they sent hither and thither to their leaders; but they went to their captains and tribunes, and to every one of their rulers. <sup>13</sup>And they came to Holofernes' tent, and said to him that was over all that he had, Waken now our lord: for the slaves have been bold to come down against us to battle, that they may be utterly destroyed. <sup>14</sup>And Bagoas went in, and knocked at the outer door of the tent; for he supposed that he was sleeping with Judith. <sup>15</sup>But when none hearkened to him, he opened it, and went into the bedchamber, and found him cast upon the threshold dead, and his head had been taken from him. <sup>16</sup>And he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and groaning and a mighty cry, and rent his garments. <sup>17</sup>And he entered into the tent where Judith lodged: and he found her not, and he leaped out to the people, and cried aloud, <sup>18</sup>The slaves have dealt treacherously: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame upon the house of king Nebuchadnezzar; for, behold, Holofernes lieth upon the ground, and his head is not on him. <sup>19</sup>But when the rulers of the host of Asshur heard the words, they rent their coats, and their soul was troubled exceedingly, and there was a cry and an exceeding great noise in the midst of the camp.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup>And when they that were in the tents heard, they were amazed at the thing that was come to pass. <sup>2</sup>And trembling and fear fell upon them, and no man durst abide any more in the sight of his neighbour, but rushing out with one accord, they fled into every way of the plain and of the hill country. <sup>3</sup>And they that had encamped in the hill country round about Bethulia fled away. And then the children of Israel, every one that was a warrior among them, rushed out upon them. <sup>4</sup>And Ozias sent to Betomasthaim, and Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to every coast of Israel, such as should tell concerning the things that had been accomplished, and that all should rush forth upon their enemies to destroy them. <sup>5</sup>But when the children of Israel heard, they all fell upon them with one accord, and smote them unto Chobai: yea, and in like manner also they of Jerusalem and of all the hill country came (for men had told them what things were come to pass in the camp of their enemies), and they that were in Gilead and in Galilee fell upon their flank with a great slaughter, until they were past Damascus and the borders thereof. <sup>6</sup>But the residue, that dwelt at Bethulia, fell upon the camp of Asshur, and spoiled them, and were enriched exceedingly. <sup>7</sup>But the children of Israel returned from the slaughter, and gat possession of that which remained; and the villages and the cities, that were in the hill country and in the plain country, took many spoils: for there was an exceeding great store. <sup>8</sup>And Joakim the high priest, and the senate of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to behold the good things which the Lord had shewed to Israel, and to see Judith, and to salute her. <sup>9</sup>But when they came unto her, they all blessed her with one accord, and said unto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem, thou art the great glory of Israel, thou art the great rejoicing of our race. <sup>10</sup>Thou hast done all these things by thy hand: thou hast done with Israel the things that are good, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou with the Almighty Lord for evermore. And all the people said, So be it. <sup>11</sup>And the people spoiled the camp for the space of thirty days: and they gave unto Judith Holofernes' tent, and all his silver cups, and his beds, and his vessels, and all his furniture: and she took them, and placed them on her mule, and made ready her wagons, and heaped them thereon. <sup>12</sup>And all the women of Israel ran together to see her; and they blessed her, and made a dance among them for her; and she took branches in her hand, and gave to the women that were with her. <sup>13</sup>And they made themselves garlands of olive, she and they that were with her, and she went before all the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour with garlands, and with songs in their mouths.

CHAPTER 16

<sup>1</sup>And Judith began to sing this thanksgiving in all Israel, and all the people sang with loud voices this song of praise. <sup>2</sup>And Judith said, Begin unto my God with timbrels, Sing unto my Lord with cymbals: Tune unto him psalm and praise: Exalt him, and call upon his name. <sup>3</sup>For the Lord is the God that breaketh the battles: For in his armies in the midst of the people He delivered me out of the hand of them that persecuted me. <sup>4</sup>Asshur came out of the mountains from the north, He came with ten thousands of his host, The multitude whereof stopped the torrents, And their horsemen covered the hills. <sup>5</sup>He said that he would burn up my borders, And kill my young men with the sword, And throw my sucking children to the ground, And give mine infants for a prey, And make my virgins a spoil. <sup>6</sup>The Almighty Lord brought them to nought by the hand of a woman. <sup>7</sup>For their mighty one did not fall by young men, Neither did sons of the Titans smite him, Nor did high giants set upon him: But Judith the daughter of Merari made him weak with the beauty of her countenance. <sup>8</sup>For she put off the apparel of her widowhood For the exaltation of those that were distressed in Israel, She anointed her face with ointment, And bound her hair in a tire, And took a linen garment to deceive him. <sup>9</sup>Her sandal ravished his eye, And her beauty took his soul prisoner: The scimitar passed through his neck. <sup>10</sup>The Persians quaked at her daring, And the Medes were daunted at her boldness. <sup>11</sup>Then my lowly ones shouted aloud, And my weak ones were terrified and crouched for fear: They lifted up their voice, and they were turned to flight. <sup>12</sup>The sons of damsels pierced them through, And wounded them as runagates' children; They perished by the battle of my Lord. <sup>13</sup>I will sing unto my God a new song: O Lord, thou art great and glorious, Marvellous in strength, invincible. <sup>14</sup>Let all thy creation serve thee: For thou spakest, and they were made, Thou didst send forth thy spirit, and it builded them, And there is none that shall resist thy voice. <sup>15</sup>For the mountains shall be moved from their foundations with the waters, And the rocks shall melt as wax at thy presence: But thou art yet merciful to them that fear thee. <sup>16</sup>For all sacrifice is little for a sweet savour, And all the fat is very little for a whole burnt offering to thee: But he that feareth the Lord is great continually. <sup>17</sup>Woe to the nations that rise up against my race: The Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgement, To put fire and worms in their flesh; And they shall weep and feel their pain for ever. <sup>18</sup>Now when they came to Jerusalem, they worshipped God; and when the people were purified, they offered their whole burnt offerings, and their freewill offerings, and their gifts. <sup>19</sup>And Judith dedicated all the stuff of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopy, which she had taken for herself out of his bedchamber, for a gift unto the Lord. <sup>20</sup>And the people continued feasting in Jerusalem before the sanctuary for the space of three months, and Judith remained with them. <sup>21</sup>But after these days every one departed to his own inheritance, and Judith went away to Bethulia, and remained in her own possession, and was honourable in her time in all the land. <sup>22</sup>And many desired her, and no man knew her all the days of her life, from the day that Manasses her husband died and was gathered to his people. <sup>23</sup>And she increased in greatness exceedingly; and she waxed old in her husband's house, unto a hundred and five years, and let her maid go free: and she died in Bethulia; and they buried her in the cave of her husband Manasses. <sup>24</sup>And the house of Israel mourned for her seven days: and she distributed her goods before she died to all them that were nearest of kin to Manasses her husband, and to them that were nearest of her own kindred. <sup>25</sup>And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the days of Judith, nor a long time after her death.

THE REST OF ESTHER (PART OF THE TENTH)

CHAPTER AFTER THE GREEK.)

CHAPTER 10

<sup>4</sup>Then Mardocheus said, These things are of God. <sup>5</sup>For I remember the dream which I saw concerning these matters, and nothing thereof hath failed. <sup>6</sup>As for the little fountain that became a river, and there was light, and the sun, and much water, the river is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen: <sup>7</sup>And the two dragons are I and Aman: <sup>8</sup>And the nations are those that were assembled to destroy the name of the Jews: <sup>9</sup>And my nation, this is Israel, which cried to God, and were saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all these evils, and God hath wrought signs and great wonders, which have not been done among the nations. <sup>10</sup>Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the nations. <sup>11</sup>And these two lots came at the hour, and time, and day of judgement, before God among all the nations. <sup>12</sup>So God remembered his people, and justified his inheritance. <sup>13</sup>Therefore these days shall be unto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month, with an assembly, and joy, and with gladness before God, throughout the generations for ever among his people Israel.

CHAPTER 11

<sup>1</sup>In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest and Levite, and Ptolemy his son, brought the epistle of Phrurai here set forth, which they said was the same, and that Lysimachus the son of Ptolemy, that was in Jerusalem, had interpreted it. <sup>2</sup>In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, in the first day of the month Nisan, Mardocheus the son of Jairus, the son of Semeias, the son of Kiseus, of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dream; <sup>3</sup>Who was a Jew, and dwelt in the city of Susa, a great man, being a servitor in the king's court; <sup>4</sup>And he was of the captivity, which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon carried from Jerusalem with Jechonias king of Judaea; and this was his dream: <sup>5</sup>Behold, noise and tumult, thunderings and earthquake, and uproar upon the earth: <sup>6</sup>And, behold, two great dragons came forth, both of them ready to fight, and their cry was great. <sup>7</sup>And at their cry all nations were ready to battle, that they might fight against the righteous nation. <sup>8</sup>And, lo, a day of darkness and gloominess, tribulation and anguish, affliction and great uproar upon the earth. <sup>9</sup>And the whole righteous nation was troubled, fearing the evils that should befall them, and were ready to perish. <sup>10</sup>Then they cried unto God, and upon their cry, as it were from a little fountain, there came a great river, even much water. <sup>11</sup>The light and the sun rose up, and the lowly were exalted, and devoured the glorious. <sup>12</sup>Now when Mardocheus, who had seen this dream, and what God had determined to do, was awake, he bare it in mind, and until night by all means was desirous to know it.

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>And Mardocheus took his rest in the court with Gabatha and Tharra, the two eunuchs of the king, that were keepers of the court. <sup>2</sup>And he heard their communings, and searched out their purposes, and learned that they were about to lay hands upon Artaxerxes the king; and he certified the king of them. <sup>3</sup>Then the king examined the two eunuchs, and after that they had confessed it, they were led to execution. <sup>4</sup>And the king wrote these things for a memorial; Mardocheus also wrote concerning these things. <sup>5</sup>So the king commanded Mardocheus to serve in the court, and for this he gave him gifts. <sup>6</sup>Howbeit Aman the son of Amadathus, a Bugean, who was in great honour with the king, sought to molest Mardocheus and his people because of the two eunuchs of the king.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>Now this is the copy of the letter: The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes of a hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and to the governors that are set under them. <sup>2</sup>After that I became lord over many nations, and had dominion over the whole world, not lifted up with presumption of my authority, but carrying myself alway with equity and mildness, I purposed to settle my subjects continually in a quiet life, and making my kingdom peaceable, and open for passage to the utmost coasts, to renew peace, which is desired of all men. <sup>3</sup>Now when I asked my counsellors how this might be brought to pass, Aman, that excelled in wisdom among us, and was approved for his constant good will and stedfast fidelity, and had the honour of the second place in the kingdom, <sup>4</sup>Declared unto us, that in all nations throughout the world there was scattered a certain malignant people, that had laws contrary to all nations, and continually set aside the commandments of kings, so as the uniting of our kingdoms, honourably intended by us, cannot go forward. <sup>5</sup>Seeing then we understand that this nation is alone continually in opposition unto all men, following perversely a life which is strange to our laws, and evil affected to our state, working all the mischief they can, that our kingdom may not be firmly stablished: <sup>6</sup>Therefore have we commanded, that they that are signified in writing unto you by Aman, who is ordained over the affairs, and is a second father unto us, shall all, with their wives and children, be utterly destroyed by the sword of their enemies, without all mercy and pity, the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year. <sup>7</sup>That they, who of old and now also are malicious, may in one day with violence go down to the grave, and so ever hereafter cause our affairs to be well settled, and without trouble. <sup>8</sup>Then Mardocheus made his prayer unto the Lord, calling to remembrance all the works of the Lord, <sup>9</sup>And said, O Lord, Lord, thou King Almighty: for the whole world is in thy power, and if it be thy will to save Israel, there is no man that can gainsay thee: <sup>10</sup>For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things that are beneath the heaven; <sup>11</sup>And thou art Lord of all, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord. <sup>12</sup>Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither in contempt nor pride, nor for any desire of glory, that I did not bow down to proud Aman. <sup>13</sup>For I could have been content with good will for the salvation of Israel to kiss the soles of his feet. <sup>14</sup>But I did this, that I might not prefer the glory of man above the glory of God: neither will I bow down unto any but to thee, which art my Lord, neither will I do it in pride. <sup>15</sup>And now, O Lord, thou God and King, the God of Abraham, spare thy people: for their eyes are upon us to bring us to nought, and they desire to destroy the heritage, that hath been thine from the beginning. <sup>16</sup>Despise not thy portion, which thou didst redeem out of the land of Egypt for thine own self. <sup>17</sup>Hear my prayer, and be merciful unto thine inheritance: and turn our mourning into feasting, that we may live, O Lord, and sing praises to thy name: and destroy not the mouth of them that praise thee, O Lord. <sup>18</sup>And all Israel cried out mightily, because their death was before their eyes.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>Queen Esther also, being seized as it were with the agony of death, resorted unto the Lord: <sup>2</sup>And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of anguish and mourning: and instead of the most excellent ointments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her body greatly, and all the places of the ornaments of her joy she covered with her tangled hair. <sup>3</sup>And she prayed unto the Lord, the God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me that am desolate and have no other helper but thee: <sup>4</sup>For my danger is in mine hand. <sup>5</sup>From my youth up I have heard in the tribe of my family, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all the nations, and our fathers from all their progenitors, for a perpetual inheritance, and didst perform for them whatsoever thou didst promise. <sup>6</sup>And now we have sinned before thee, and thou hast given us into the hands of our enemies, <sup>7</sup>Because we glorified their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous. <sup>8</sup>Nevertheless it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captivity: but they have stricken hands with their idols, <sup>9</sup>That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordained, and destroy thine inheritance, and stop the mouth of them that praise thee, and quench the glory of thy house, and thine altar, <sup>10</sup>And open the mouths of the heathen to set forth the virtues of idols, and that a fleshly king shall be magnified for ever. <sup>11</sup>O Lord, give not thy sceptre unto them that be nothing, and let them not laugh at our fall; but turn their device upon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun this against us. <sup>12</sup>Remember, O Lord, make thyself known in the time of our affliction, and give me boldness, O King of the gods, and holder of all dominion. <sup>13</sup>Give me eloquent speech in my mouth before the lion: and turn his heart to hate him that fighteth against us, that there may be an end of him, and of them that are likeminded with him: <sup>14</sup>But deliver us with thine hand, and help me that am desolate and have no other helper but thee, O Lord. <sup>15</sup>Thou hast knowledge of all things; and thou knowest that I hate the glory of the wicked, and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised, and of every alien. <sup>16</sup>Thou knowest my necessity: that I abhor the sign of my high estate, which is upon mine head in the days wherein I shew myself. I abhor it as a menstruous rag, and I wear it not when I am private by myself. <sup>17</sup>And thine handmaid hath not eaten at Aman's table, neither have I honoured the king's feast, nor drunk the wine of the drink offerings. <sup>18</sup>Neither had thine handmaid any joy since the day that I was brought hither to this present, but in thee, O Lord, thou God of Abraham. <sup>19</sup>O God, that art mighty above all, hear the voice of the forlorn, and deliver us out of the hands of the mischievous, and deliver me out of my fear.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup>And upon the third day, when she had ended her prayer, she laid away her garments of service, and put on her glorious apparel. <sup>2</sup>And being majestically adorned, after she had called upon the all-seeing God and saviour, she took her two maids with her: <sup>3</sup>And upon the one she leaned, as carrying herself delicately; <sup>4</sup>And the other followed, bearing up her train. <sup>5</sup>And she was ruddy through the perfection of her beauty, and her countenance was cheerful and right amiable: but her heart was in anguish for fear. <sup>6</sup>Then having passed through all the doors, she stood before the king, who sat upon his royal throne, and was clothed with all his robes of majesty, all glittering with gold and precious stones; and he was very dreadful. <sup>7</sup>Then lifting up his countenance that was flushed with glory, he looked upon her in fierce anger: and the queen fell down, and turned pale, and fainted, and she bowed herself upon the head of the maid that went before. <sup>8</sup>Then God changed the spirit of the king into mildness, who in an agony leaped from his throne, and took her in his arms, till she came to herself again, and comforted her with soothing words, and said unto her, <sup>9</sup>Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheer: <sup>10</sup>Thou shalt not die, for our commandment is for our subjects: come near. <sup>11</sup>So he held up his golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, <sup>12</sup>And embraced her, and said, Speak unto me. <sup>13</sup>Then said she unto him, I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy glory. <sup>14</sup>For wonderful art thou, my lord, and thy countenance is full of grace. <sup>15</sup>And as she was speaking, she fell down for faintness. <sup>16</sup>Then the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

<sup>1</sup>The great king Artaxerxes unto the governors of countries in a hundred and seven and twenty provinces from India unto Ethiopia, and unto them that are well affected to our state, greeting. <sup>2</sup>Many, the more often they are honoured with the great bounty of their benefactors, the more proud they are waxen, <sup>3</sup>And endeavour to hurt not our subjects only, but not being able to bear abundance, do take in hand to practise also against those that do them good: <sup>4</sup>And take not only thankfulness away from among men, but also lifted up with the boastful words of them that were never good, they think to escape the evil-hating justice of God, who alway seeth all things. <sup>5</sup>Oftentimes also fair speech of those that are put in trust to manage their friends' affairs, hath caused many that are in authority to be partakers of innocent blood, and hath enwrapped them in remediless calamities: <sup>6</sup>Beguiling with the false deceit of their lewd disposition the innocent good will of princes. <sup>7</sup>Now ye may see this, as we have declared, not so much by more ancient histories, as ye may, if ye search what hath been wickedly done of late through the pestilent behaviour of them that are unworthily placed in authority. <sup>8</sup>And we must take care for the time to come, to render our kingdom quiet and peaceable for all men, <sup>9</sup>Both by changing our purposes, and always judging things that come before our eyes with more equal proceeding. <sup>10</sup>For Aman, a Macedonian, the son of Amadathus, an alien in truth from the Persian blood, and far distant from our goodness, being as a guest received of us, <sup>11</sup>Had so far forth obtained the favour that we shew toward every nation, as that he was called our father, and was continually honoured of all men, as the next person unto the royal throne. <sup>12</sup>But he, not bearing his high estate, went about to deprive us of our kingdom and our life; <sup>13</sup>Having by manifold and cunning deceits sought of us the destruction, as well of Mardocheus, who saved our life, and continually procured our good, as also of Esther the blameless partaker of our kingdom, together with their whole nation. <sup>14</sup>For by these means he thought, finding us destitute of friends, to have translated the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians. <sup>15</sup>But we find that the Jews, whom this most ungracious wretch hath delivered to utter destruction, are no evil-doers, but live by most just laws: <sup>16</sup>And that they be children of the most high and most mighty living God, who hath ordered the kingdom both unto us and to our progenitors in the most excellent manner. <sup>17</sup>Wherefore ye shall do well not to put in execution the letters sent unto you by Aman the son of Amadathus. <sup>18</sup>For he, that was the worker of these things, is hanged at the gates of Susa with all his family: God, who ruleth all things, speedily rendering vengeance to him according to his deserts. <sup>19</sup>Therefore ye shall publish openly the copy of this letter in all places, and let the Jews live after their own laws, <sup>20</sup>And ye shall aid them, that even the same day, being the thirteenth day of the twelfth month Adar, they may defend themselves against those who set upon them in the time of their affliction. <sup>21</sup>For Almighty God hath made this day to be a joy unto them, instead of the destruction of the chosen people. <sup>22</sup>And ye shall therefore among your commemorative feasts keep it a high day with all feasting: <sup>23</sup>That both now and hereafter there may be safety to us, and the well affected Persians; but to those which do conspire against us a memorial of destruction. <sup>24</sup>Therefore every city or country whatsoever, which shall not do according to these things, shall be utterly destroyed without mercy with fire and sword; it shall be made not only unpassable for men, but also most hateful to wild beasts and fowls for ever.

WISDOM OF SOLOMON

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup> Love righteousness, ye that be judges of the earth, Think ye of the Lord with a good mind, And in singleness of heart seek ye him; <sup>2</sup>Because he is found of them that tempt him not, And is manifested to them that do not distrust him. <sup>3</sup> For crooked thoughts separate from God; And the supreme Power, when it is brought to the proof, putteth to confusion the foolish: <sup>4</sup> Because wisdom will not enter into a soul that deviseth evil, Nor dwell in a body that is held in pledge by sin. <sup>5</sup>For a holy spirit of discipline will flee deceit, And will start away from thoughts that are without understanding, And will be put to confusion when unrighteousness hath come in. <sup>6</sup>For wisdom is a spirit that loveth man, And she will not hold a blasphemer guiltless for his lips; Because God beareth witness of his reins, And is a true overseer of his heart, And a hearer of his tongue: <sup>7</sup>Because the spirit of the Lord hath filled the world, And that which holdeth all things together hath knowledge of every voice. <sup>8</sup>Therefore no man that uttereth unrighteous things shall be unseen; Neither shall justice, when it convicteth, pass him by. <sup>9</sup>For in the midst of his counsels the ungodly shall be searched out; And the sound of his words shall come unto the Lord To bring to conviction his lawless deeds: <sup>10</sup>Because there is an ear of jealousy that listeneth to all things, And the noise of murmurings is not hid. <sup>11</sup> Beware then of unprofitable murmuring, And refrain your tongue from backbiting; Because no secret utterance shall go on its way void, And a mouth that beliieth destroyeth a soul. <sup>12</sup>Court not death in the error of your life; Neither draw upon yourselves destruction by the works of your hands: <sup>13</sup> Because God made not death; Neither delighteth he when the living perish: <sup>14</sup>For he created all things that they might have being; And the generative powers of the world are healthsome, And there is no poison of destruction in them: Nor hath Hades royal dominion upon earth, <sup>15</sup> For righteousness is immortal: <sup>16</sup>But ungodly men by their hands and their words called death unto them: Deeming him a friend they consumed away, And they made a covenant with him, Because they are worthy to be of his portion.

CHAPTER 2

<sup>1</sup>For they said within themselves, reasoning not aright, Short and sorrowful is our life; And there is no healing when a man cometh to his end, And none was ever known that gave release from Hades. <sup>2</sup>Because by mere chance were we born, And hereafter we shall be as though we had never been: Because the breath in our nostrils is smoke, And while our heart beateth reason is a spark, <sup>3</sup>Which being extinguished, the body shall be turned into ashes, And the spirit shall be dispersed as thin air; <sup>4</sup> And our name shall be forgotten in time, And no man shall remember our works; And our life shall pass away as the traces of a cloud, And shall be scattered as is a mist, When it is chased by the beams of the sun, And overcome by the heat thereof. <sup>5</sup>For our allotted time is the passing of a shadow, And our end retreateth not; Because it is fast sealed, and none turneth it back. <sup>6</sup>Come therefore and let us enjoy the good things that now are; And let us use the creation with all our soul as youth's possession. <sup>7</sup>Let us fill ourselves with costly wine and perfumes; And let no flower of spring pass us by: <sup>8</sup>Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds, before they be withered: <sup>9</sup>Let none of us go without his share in our proud revelry: Everywhere let us leave tokens of our mirth: Because this is our portion, and our lot is this. <sup>10</sup>Let us oppress the righteous poor; Let us not spare the widow, Nor reverence the hairs of the old man gray for length of years. <sup>11</sup>But let our strength be to us a law of righteousness; For that which is weak is found to be of no service. <sup>12</sup>But let us lie in wait for the righteous man, Because he is of disservice to us, And is contrary to our works, And upbraideth us with sins against the law, And layeth to our charge sins against our discipline. <sup>13</sup>He professeth to have knowledge of God, And nameth himself servant of the Lord. <sup>14</sup>He became to us a reproof of our thoughts. <sup>15</sup>He is grievous unto us even to behold, Because his life is unlike other men's, And his paths are of strange fashion. <sup>16</sup>We were accounted of him as base metal, And he abstaineth from our ways as from uncleanness. The latter end of the righteous he calleth happy; And he vaunteth that God is his father. <sup>17</sup>Let us see if his words be true, And let us try what shall befall in the ending of his life. <sup>18</sup>For if the righteous man is God's son, he will uphold him, And he will deliver him out of the hand of his adversaries. <sup>19</sup>With outrage and torture let us put him to the test, That we may learn his gentleness, And may prove his patience under wrong. <sup>20</sup>Let us condemn him to a shameful death; For he shall be visited according to his words. <sup>21</sup>Thus reasoned they, and they were led astray; For their wickedness blinded them, <sup>22</sup>And they knew not the mysteries of God, Neither hoped they for wages of holiness, Nor did they judge that there is a prize for blameless souls. <sup>23</sup>Because God created man for incorruption, And made him an image of his own proper being; <sup>24</sup>But by the envy of the devil death entered into the world, And they that are of his portion make trial thereof.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>But the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, And no torment shall touch them. <sup>2</sup>In the eyes of the foolish they seemed to have died; And their departure was accounted to be their hurt, <sup>3</sup>And their journeying away from us to be their ruin: But they are in peace. <sup>4</sup>For even if in the sight of men they be punished, Their hope is full of immortality; <sup>5</sup>And having borne a little chastening, they shall receive great good; Because God made trial of them, and found them worthy of himself. <sup>6</sup>As gold in the furnace he proved them, And as a whole burnt offering he accepted them. <sup>7</sup>And in the time of their visitation they shall shine forth, And as sparks among stubble they shall run to and fro. <sup>8</sup>They shall judge nations, and have dominion over peoples; And the Lord shall reign over them for evermore. <sup>9</sup>They that trust on him shall understand truth, And the faithful shall abide with him in love; Because grace and mercy are to his chosen. <sup>10</sup>But the ungodly shall be requited even as they reasoned, They which lightly regarded the righteous man, and revolted from the Lord; <sup>11</sup>(For he that setteth at nought wisdom and discipline is miserable;) And void is their hope and their toils unprofitable, And useless are their works: <sup>12</sup>Their wives are foolish, and wicked are their children; <sup>13</sup>Accursed is their begetting. Because happy is the barren that is undefiled, She who hath not conceived in transgression; She shall have fruit when God visiteth souls. <sup>14</sup>And happy is the eunuch which hath wrought no lawless deed with his hands, Nor imagined wicked things against the Lord; For there shall be given him for his faithfulness a peculiar favour, And a lot in the sanctuary of the Lord more delightsome than wife or children. <sup>15</sup>For good labours have fruit of great renown; And the root of understanding cannot fail. <sup>16</sup>But children of adulterers shall not come to maturity, And the seed of an unlawful bed shall vanish away. <sup>17</sup>For if they live long, they shall be held in no account, And at the last their old age shall be without honour. <sup>18</sup>And if they die quickly, they shall have no hope, Nor in the day of decision shall they have consolation. <sup>19</sup>For the end of an unrighteous generation is always grievous.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup>Better than this is childlessness with virtue; For in the memory of virtue is immortality: Because it is recognised both before God and before men. <sup>2</sup>When it is present, men imitate it; And they long after it when it is departed: And throughout all time it marcheth crowned in triumph, Victorious in the strife for the prizes that are undefiled. <sup>3</sup>But the multiplying brood of the ungodly shall be of no profit, And with bastard slips they shall not strike deep root, Nor shall they establish a sure hold. <sup>4</sup>For even if these put forth boughs and flourish for a season, Yet, standing unsure, they shall be shaken by the wind, And by the violence of winds they shall be rooted out. <sup>5</sup>Their branches shall be broken off before they come to maturity, And their fruit shall be useless, Never ripe to eat, and fit for nothing. <sup>6</sup>For children unlawfully begotten are witnesses of wickedness Against parents when God searcheth them out. <sup>7</sup>But a righteous man, though he die before his time, shall be at rest. <sup>8</sup>(For honourable old age is not that which standeth in length of time, Nor is its measure given by number of years: <sup>9</sup>But understanding is gray hairs unto men, And an unspotted life is ripe old age.) <sup>10</sup>Being found well-pleasing unto God he was beloved of him, And while living among sinners he was translated: <sup>11</sup>He was caught away, lest wickedness should change his understanding, Or guile deceive his soul. <sup>12</sup>(For the bewitching of naughtiness bedimmeth the things which are good, And the giddy whirl of desire perverteth an innocent mind.) <sup>13</sup>Being made perfect in a little while, he fulfilled long years; <sup>14</sup>For his soul was pleasing unto the Lord: Therefore hastened he out of the midst of wickedness. <sup>15</sup>But as for the peoples, seeing and understanding not, Neither laying this to heart, That grace and mercy are with his chosen, And that he visiteth his holy ones:— <sup>16</sup>But a righteous man that is dead shall condemn the ungodly that are living, And youth that is quickly perfected the many years of an unrighteous man's old age; <sup>17</sup>For the ungodly shall see a wise man's end, And shall not understand what the Lord purposed concerning him, And for what he safely kept him:— <sup>18</sup>They shall see, and they shall despise; But them the Lord shall laugh to scorn. And after this they shall become a dishonoured carcase, And a reproach among the dead for ever: <sup>19</sup>Because he shall dash them speechless to the ground, And shall shake them from the foundations, And they shall lie utterly waste, and they shall be in anguish, And their memory shall perish. <sup>20</sup>They shall come, when their sins are reckoned up, with coward fear; And their lawless deeds shall convict them to their face.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup>Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness Before the face of them that afflicted him, And them that make his labours of no account. <sup>2</sup>When they see it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear, And shall be amazed at the marvel of God's salvation. <sup>3</sup>They shall say within themselves repenting, And for distress of spirit shall they groan, This was he whom aforesaid we had in derision, And made a parable of reproach: <sup>4</sup>We fools accounted his life madness, And his end without honour: <sup>5</sup>How was he numbered among sons of God? And how is his lot among saints? <sup>6</sup>Verily we went astray from the way of truth, And the light of righteousness shined not for us, And the sun rose not for us. <sup>7</sup>We took our fill of the paths of lawlessness and destruction, And we journeyed through trackless deserts, But the way of the Lord we knew not. <sup>8</sup>What did our arrogance profit us? And what good have riches and vaunting brought us? <sup>9</sup>Those things all passed away as a shadow, And as a message that runneth by: <sup>10</sup>As a ship passing through the billowy water, Whereof, when it is gone by, there is no trace to be found, Neither pathway of its keel in the billows: <sup>11</sup>Or as when a bird flieth through the air, No token of her passage is found, But the light wind, lashed with the stroke of her pinions, And rent asunder with the violent rush of the moving wings, is passed through, And afterwards no sign of her coming is found therein: <sup>12</sup>Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark, The air parted closeth up again immediately, So that men know not where it passed through: <sup>13</sup>So we also, as soon as we were born, ceased to be; And of virtue we had no sign to shew, But in our wickedness we were utterly consumed. <sup>14</sup>Because the hope of the ungodly man is as chaff carried by the wind, And as foam vanishing before a tempest; And is scattered as smoke is scattered by the wind, And passeth by as the remembrance of a guest that tarrieth but a day. <sup>15</sup>But the righteous live for ever, And in the Lord is their reward, And the care for them with the Most High. <sup>16</sup>Therefore shall they receive the crown of royal dignity And the diadem of beauty from the Lord's hand; Because with his right hand shall he cover them, And with his arm shall he shield them. <sup>17</sup>He shall take his jealousy as complete armour, And shall make the whole creation his weapons for vengeance on his enemies: <sup>18</sup> He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate, And shall array himself with judgement unfeigned as with a helmet; <sup>19</sup> He shall take holiness as an invincible shield, <sup>20</sup> And he shall sharpen stern wrath for a sword: And the world shall go forth with him to fight against his insensate foes. <sup>21</sup> Shafts of lightning shall fly with true aim, And from the clouds, as from a well drawn bow, shall they leap to the mark. <sup>22</sup> And as from an engine of war shall be hurled hailstones full of wrath; The water of the sea shall be angered against them, And rivers shall sternly overwhelm them; <sup>23</sup> A mighty blast shall encounter them, And as a tempest shall it winnow them away: And so shall lawlessness make all the land desolate, And their evil-doing shall overturn the thrones of princes.

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup> Hear therefore, ye kings, and understand; Learn, ye judges of the ends of the earth: <sup>2</sup>Give ear, ye that have dominion over much people, And make your boast in multitudes of nations. <sup>3</sup> Because your dominion was given you from the Lord, And your sovereignty from the Most High; Who shall search out your works, And shall make inquisition of your counsels: <sup>4</sup>Because being officers of his kingdom ye did not judge aright, Neither kept ye law, nor walked after the counsel of God. <sup>5</sup>Awfully and swiftly shall he come upon you; Because a stern judgement befalleth them that be in high place: <sup>6</sup> For the man of low estate may be pardoned in mercy, But mighty men shall be searched out mightily. <sup>7</sup>For the Sovereign Lord of all will not refrain himself for any man's person, Neither will he reverence greatness; Because it is he that made both small and great, And alike he taketh thought for all; <sup>8</sup>But strict is the scrutiny that cometh upon the powerful. <sup>9</sup> Unto you therefore, O princes, are my words, That ye may learn wisdom and fall not from the right way. <sup>10</sup> For they that have kept holly the things that are holy shall themselves be hallowed; And they that have been taught them shall find what to answer; <sup>11</sup>Set your desire therefore on my words; Long for them, and ye shall be trained by their discipline. <sup>12</sup>Wisdom is radiant and fadeth not away; And easily is she beheld of them that love her, And found of them that seek her. <sup>13</sup> She forestalleth them that desire to know her, making herself first known. <sup>14</sup> He that riseth up early to seek her shall have no toil, For he shall find her sitting at his gates. <sup>15</sup>For to think upon her is perfectness of understanding, And he that watcheth for her sake shall quickly be free from care. <sup>16</sup>Because she goeth about, herself seeking them that are worthy of her, And in their paths she appeareth unto them graciously, And in every purpose she meeteth them. <sup>17</sup>For her true beginning is desire of discipline; And the care for discipline is love of her; <sup>18</sup>And love of her is observance of her laws; And to give heed to her laws confirmeth incorruption; <sup>19</sup>And incorruption bringeth near unto God; <sup>20</sup>So then desire of wisdom promoteth to a kingdom. <sup>21</sup>If therefore ye delight in thrones and sceptres, ye princes of peoples, Honour wisdom, that ye may reign for ever. <sup>22</sup>But what wisdom is, and how she came into being, I will declare, And I will not hide mysteries from you; But I will trace her out from the beginning of creation, And bring the knowledge of her into clear light, And I will not pass by the truth; <sup>23</sup>Neither indeed will I take pining envy for my companion in the way, Because envy shall have no fellowship with wisdom. <sup>24</sup>But a multitude of wise men is salvation to the world, And an understanding king is tranquillity to his people. <sup>25</sup>Wherefore be disciplined by my words, and thereby shall ye profit.

CHAPTER 7

<sup>1</sup> I myself also am mortal, like to all, And am sprung from one born of the earth, the man first formed, <sup>2</sup>And in the womb of a mother was I moulded into flesh in the time of ten months, Being compacted in blood of the seed of man and pleasure that came with sleep. <sup>3</sup>And I also, when I was born, drew in the common air, And fell upon the kindred earth, Uttering, like all, for my first voice, the selfsame wail: <sup>4</sup>In swaddling clothes was I nursed, and with watchful cares. <sup>5</sup>For no king had any other first beginning; <sup>6</sup>But all men have one entrance into life, and a like departure. <sup>7</sup> For this cause I prayed, and understanding was given me: I called upon God, and there came to me a spirit of wisdom. <sup>8</sup>I preferred her before sceptres and thrones, And riches I esteemed nothing in comparison of her. <sup>9</sup>Neither did I liken to her any priceless gem, Because all the gold of the earth in her presence is a little sand, And silver shall be accounted as clay before her. <sup>10</sup> Above health and comeliness I loved her, And I chose to have her rather than light, Because her bright shining is never laid to sleep. <sup>11</sup>But with her there came to me all good things together, And in her hands innumerable riches: <sup>12</sup>And I rejoiced over them all because wisdom leadeth them; Though I knew not that she was the mother of them. <sup>13</sup>As I learned without guile, I impart without grudging; I do not hide her riches. <sup>14</sup>For she is unto men a treasure that faileth not, And they that use it obtain friendship with God, Commended to him by the gifts which they through discipline present to him. <sup>15</sup> But to me may God give to speak with judgement, And to conceive thoughts worthy of what hath been given me; Because himself is one that guideth even wisdom and that correcteth the wise. <sup>16</sup>For in his hand are both we and our words; All understanding, and all acquaintance with divers crafts. <sup>17</sup> For himself gave me an unerring knowledge of the things that are, To know the constitution of the world, and the operation of the elements; <sup>18</sup>The beginning and end and middle of times, The alternations of the solstices and the changes of seasons, <sup>19</sup>The circuits of years and the positions of stars; <sup>20</sup> The natures of living creatures and the ragings of wild beasts, The violences of winds and the thoughts of men, The diversities of plants and the virtues of roots: <sup>21</sup>All things that are either secret or manifest I learned, <sup>22</sup>For she that is the artificer of all things taught me, even wisdom. For there is in her a spirit quick of understanding, holy, Alone in kind, manifold, Subtil, freely moving, Clear in utterance, unpolluted, Distinct, unharmed, Loving what is good, keen, unhindered, Beneficent, <sup>23</sup>loving toward man, Steadfast, sure, free from care, All-powerful, all-surveying, And penetrating through all spirits That are quick of understanding, pure, most subtil: <sup>24</sup> For wisdom is more mobile than any motion; Yea, she pervadeth and penetrateth all things by reason of her pureness. <sup>25</sup>For she is a breath of the power of God, And a clear effluence of the glory of the Almighty; Therefore can nothing defiled find entrance into her. <sup>26</sup>For she is an effulgence from everlasting light, And an unspotted mirror of the working of God, And an image of his goodness. <sup>27</sup>And she, being one, hath power to do all things; And remaining in herself, reneweth all things: And from generation to generation passing into holy souls She maketh men friends of God and prophets. <sup>28</sup>For nothing doth God love save him that dwelleth with wisdom. <sup>29</sup>For she is fairer than the sun, And above all the constellations of the stars: Being compared with light, she is found to be before it; <sup>30</sup>For to the light of day succeedeth night, But against wisdom evil doth not prevail;

CHAPTER 8

<sup>1</sup>But she reacheth from one end of the world to the other with full strength, And ordereth all things graciously. <sup>2</sup> Her I loved and sought out from my youth, And I sought to take her for my bride, And I became enamoured of her beauty. <sup>3</sup>She glorifieth her noble birth in that it is given her to live with God, And the Sovereign Lord of all loved her. <sup>4</sup>For she is initiated into the knowledge of God, And she chooseth out for him his works. <sup>5</sup>But if riches are a desired possession in life, What is richer than wisdom, which worketh all things? <sup>6</sup> And if understanding worketh, Who more than wisdom is an artificer of the things that are? <sup>7</sup>And if a man loveth righteousness, The fruits of wisdom's labour are virtues, For she teacheth soberness and understanding, righteousness and courage; And there is nothing in life for men more profitable than these. <sup>8</sup>And if a man longeth even for much experience, She knoweth the things of old, and divineth the things to come: She understandeth subtilties of speeches and interpretations of dark sayings: She foreseeth signs and wonders, and the issues of seasons and times. <sup>9</sup> I determined therefore to take her unto me to live with me, Knowing that she is one who would give me good thoughts for counsel, And encourage me in cares and grief. <sup>10</sup>Because of her I shall have glory among multitudes, And honour in the sight of elders, though I be young. <sup>11</sup>I shall be found of a quick conceit when I give judgement, And in the presence of princes I shall be admired. <sup>12</sup> When I am silent, they shall wait for me; And when I open my lips, they shall give heed unto me; And if I continue speaking, they shall lay their hand upon their mouth. <sup>13</sup>Because of her I shall have immortality, And leave behind an eternal memory to them that come after me. <sup>14</sup>I shall govern peoples, And nations shall be subjected to me. <sup>15</sup>Dread princes shall fear me when they hear of me: Among my people I shall shew myself a good ruler, and in war courageous. <sup>16</sup>When I am come into my house, I shall find rest with her; For converse with her hath no bitterness, And to live with her hath no pain, but gladness and joy. <sup>17</sup>When I considered these things in myself, And took thought in my heart how that in kinship unto wisdom is immortality, <sup>18</sup>And in her friendship is good delight, And in the labours of her hands is wealth that faileth not, And in assiduous communing with her is understanding, And great renown in having fellowship with her words, I went about seeking how to take her unto myself. <sup>19</sup>Now I was a child of parts, and a good soul fell to my lot; <sup>20</sup>Nay rather, being good, I came into a body undefiled. <sup>21</sup>But perceiving that I could not otherwise possess wisdom except God gave her me (Yea and to know by whom the grace is given, this too came of understanding), I pleaded with the Lord and besought him, And with my whole heart I said,

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>O God of the fathers, and Lord who keepest thy mercy, Who madest all things by thy word; <sup>2</sup>And by thy wisdom thou formedst man, That he should have dominion over the creatures that were made by thee, <sup>3</sup>And rule the world in holiness and righteousness, And execute judgement in uprightness of soul; <sup>4</sup>Give me wisdom, her that sitteth by thee on thy throne; And reject me not from among thy servants: <sup>5</sup>Because I am thy bondman and the son of thy handmaid, A man weak and short-lived, And of small power to understand judgement and laws. <sup>6</sup>For even if a man be perfect among the sons of men, Yet if the wisdom that cometh from thee be not with him, he shall be held in no account. <sup>7</sup>Thou didst choose me before my brethren to be king of thy people, And to do judgement for thy sons and daughters. <sup>8</sup>Thou gavest command to build a sanctuary in thy holy mountain, And an altar in the city of thy habitation, A copy of the holy tabernacle which thou preparedst aforehand from the beginning. <sup>9</sup>And with thee is wisdom, which knoweth thy works, And was present when thou wast making the world, And which understandeth what is pleasing in thine eyes, And what is right according to thy commandments. <sup>10</sup>Send her forth out of the holy heavens, And from the throne of thy glory bid her come, That being present with me she may toil with me, And that I may learn what is well-pleasing before thee. <sup>11</sup>For she knoweth all things and hath understanding thereof, And in my doings she shall guide me in ways of soberness, And she shall guard me in her glory. <sup>12</sup>And so shall my works be acceptable, And I shall judge thy people righteously, And I shall be worthy of my father's throne. <sup>13</sup>For what man shall know the counsel of God? Or who shall conceive what the Lord willeth? <sup>14</sup>For the thoughts of mortals are timorous, And our devices are prone to fail. <sup>15</sup>For a corruptible body weigheth down the soul, And the earthy frame lieth heavy on a mind that is full of cares. <sup>16</sup>And hardly do we divine the things that are on earth, And the things that are close at hand we find with labour; But the things that are in the heavens who ever yet traced out? <sup>17</sup>And who ever gained knowledge of thy counsel, except thou gavest wisdom, And sentest thy holy spirit from on high? <sup>18</sup>And it was thus that the ways of them which are on earth were corrected, And men were taught the things that are pleasing unto thee; And through wisdom were they saved.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>Wisdom guarded to the end the first formed father of the world, that was created alone, And delivered him out of his own transgression, <sup>2</sup>And gave him strength to get dominion over all things. <sup>3</sup>But when an unrighteous man fell away from her in his anger, He perished himself in the rage wherewith he slew his brother. <sup>4</sup>And when for his cause the earth was drowning with a flood, Wisdom again saved it, Guiding the righteous man's course by a poor piece of wood. <sup>5</sup>Moreover, when nations consenting together in wickedness had been confounded, Wisdom knew the righteous man, and preserved him blameless unto God, And kept him strong when his heart yearned toward his child. <sup>6</sup>While the ungodly were perishing, wisdom delivered a righteous man,

When he fled from the fire that descended out of heaven on Pentapolis. <sup>7</sup>To whose wickedness a smoking waste still witnesseth, And plants bearing fair fruit that cometh not to ripeness; Yea and a disbelieving soul hath a memorial there, a pillar of salt still standing. <sup>8</sup>For having passed wisdom by, Not only were they disabled from recognising the things which are good, But they also left behind them for human life a monument of their folly; To the end that where they went astray they might fail even to be unseen: <sup>9</sup>But wisdom delivered out of troubles those that waited on her. <sup>10</sup>When a righteous man was a fugitive from a brother's wrath, wisdom guided him in straight paths; She shewed him God's kingdom, and gave him knowledge of holy things; She prospered him in his toils, and multiplied the fruits of his labour; <sup>11</sup>When in their covetousness men dealt hardly with him, She stood by him and made him rich; <sup>12</sup>She guarded him from enemies, And from those that lay in wait she kept him safe, And over his sore conflict she watched as judge, That he might know that godliness is more powerful than all. <sup>13</sup>When a righteous man was sold, wisdom forsook him not, But from sin she delivered him; She went down with him into a dungeon, <sup>14</sup>And in bonds she left him not, Till she brought him the sceptre of a kingdom, And authority over those that dealt tyrannously with him; She shewed them also to be false that had mockingly accused him, And gave him eternal glory. <sup>15</sup>Wisdom delivered a holy people and a blameless seed from a nation of oppressors. <sup>16</sup>She entered into the soul of a servant of the Lord, And withstood terrible kings in wonders and signs. <sup>17</sup>She rendered unto holy men a reward of their toils; She guided them along a marvellous way, And became unto them a covering in the day-time, And a flame of stars through the night. <sup>18</sup>She brought them over the Red sea, And led them through much water; <sup>19</sup>But their enemies she drowned, And out of the bottom of the deep she cast them up. <sup>20</sup>Therefore the righteous spoiled the ungodly; And they sang praise to thy holy name, O Lord, And extolled with one accord thy hand that fought for them: <sup>21</sup>Because wisdom opened the mouth of the dumb, And made the tongues of babes to speak clearly.

<sup>1</sup>She prospered their works in the hand of a holy prophet. <sup>2</sup>They journeyed through a desert without inhabitant, And in trackless regions they pitched their tents. <sup>3</sup>They withstood enemies, and repelled foes. <sup>4</sup>They thirsted, and they called upon thee, And there was given them water out of the flinty rock, And healing of their thirst out of the hard stone. <sup>5</sup>For by what things their foes were punished, By these they in their need were benefited. <sup>6</sup>When the enemy were troubled with clotted blood instead of a river's ever-flowing fountain, <sup>7</sup>To rebuke the decree for the slaying of babes, Thou gavest them abundant water beyond all hope, <sup>8</sup>Having shewn them by the thirst which they had suffered how thou didst punish the adversaries. <sup>9</sup>For when they were tried, albeit but in mercy chastened, They learned how the ungodly were tormented, being judged with wrath: <sup>10</sup>For these, as a father, admonishing them, thou didst prove; But those, as a stern king, condemning them, thou didst search out. <sup>11</sup>Yea and whether they were far off from the righteous or near them, they were alike distressed; <sup>12</sup>For a double grief took hold on them, And a groaning at the remembrance of things past. <sup>13</sup>For when they heard that through their own punishments the others had been benefited, They felt the presence of the Lord; <sup>14</sup>For him who long before was cast forth and exposed they left off mocking; In the last issue of what came to pass they marvelled, Having thirsted in another manner than the righteous. <sup>15</sup>But in requital of the senseless imaginings of their unrighteousness, Wherein they were led astray to worship irrational reptiles and wretched vermin, Thou didst send upon them a multitude of irrational creatures for vengeance; <sup>16</sup>That they might learn, that by what things a man sinneth, by these he is punished. <sup>17</sup>For thine all-powerful hand, That created the world out of formless matter, Lacked not means to send upon them a multitude of bears, or fierce lions, <sup>18</sup>Or new-created wild beasts, full of rage, of unknown kind, Either breathing out a blast of fiery breath, Or blowing forth from their nostrils noisome smoke, Or flashing dreadful sparkles from their eyes; <sup>19</sup>Which had power not only to consume them by their violence, But to destroy them even by the terror of their sight. <sup>20</sup>Yea and without these might they have fallen by a single breath, Being pursued by Justice, and scattered abroad by the breath of thy power. But by measure and number and weight thou didst order all things. <sup>21</sup>For to be greatly strong is thine at all times; And the might of thine arm who shall withstand? <sup>22</sup>Because the whole world before thee is as a grain in a balance, And as a drop of dew that at morning cometh down upon the earth. <sup>23</sup>But thou hast mercy on all men, because thou hast power to do all things, And thou overlookest the sins of men to the end they may repent. <sup>24</sup>For thou lovest all things that are, And abhorrest none of the things which thou didst make; For never wouldest thou have formed anything if thou didst hate it. <sup>25</sup>And how would anything have endured, except thou hadst willed it? Or that which was not called by thee, how would it have been preserved? <sup>26</sup>But thou sparest all things, because they are thine, O Sovereign Lord, thou lover of men's lives;

CHAPTER 12

<sup>1</sup>For thine incorruptible spirit is in all things. <sup>2</sup>Wherefore thou convictest by little and little them that fall from the right way, And, putting them in remembrance by the very things wherein they sin, dost thou admonish them, That escaping from their wickedness they may believe on thee, O Lord. <sup>3</sup>For verily the old inhabitants of thy holy land, <sup>4</sup>Hating them because they practised detestable works of enchantments and unholy rites <sup>5</sup>(Merciless slaughters of children, And sacrificial banquets of men's flesh and of blood), <sup>6</sup>Confederates in an impious fellowship, And murderers of their own helpless babes, It was thy counsel to destroy by the hands of our fathers; <sup>7</sup>That the land which in thy sight is most precious of all lands Might receive a worthy colony of God's servants. <sup>8</sup>Nevertheless even these thou didst spare as being men, And thou sentest hornets as forerunners of thy host, To cause them to perish by little and little; <sup>9</sup>Not that thou wast unable to subdue the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle, Or by terrible beasts or by one stern word to make away with them at once; <sup>10</sup>But judging them by little and little thou gavest them a place of repentance, Not being ignorant that their nature by birth was evil, and their wickedness inborn, And that their manner of thought would in no wise ever be changed, <sup>11</sup>For they were a seed accursed from the beginning: Neither was it through fear of any that thou didst leave them then unpunished for their sins. <sup>12</sup>For who shall say, What hast thou done? Or who shall withstand thy judgement? And who shall accuse thee for the perishing of nations which thou didst make? Or who shall come and stand before thee as an avenger for unrighteous men? <sup>13</sup>For neither is there any God beside thee that careth for all, That thou mightest shew unto him that thou didst not judge unrighteously: <sup>14</sup>Neither shall king or prince be able to look thee in the face to plead for those whom thou hast punished. <sup>15</sup>But being righteous thou rulest all things righteously, Deeming it a thing alien from thy power To condemn one that doth not himself deserve to be punished. <sup>16</sup>For thy strength is the beginning of righteousness, And thy sovereignty over all maketh thee to forbear all. <sup>17</sup>For when men believe not that thou art perfect in power, thou shewest thy strength, And in dealing with them that know it thou puttest their boldness to confusion. <sup>18</sup>But thou, being sovereign over thy strength, judgest in gentleness, And with great forbearance dost thou govern us; For the power is thine whensoever thou hast the will. <sup>19</sup>But thou didst teach thy people by such works as these, How that the righteous must be a lover of men; And thou didst make thy sons to be of good hope, Because thou givest repentance when men have sinned. <sup>20</sup>For if on them that were enemies of thy servants and due to death Thou didst take vengeance with so great heedfulness and indulgence, Giving them times and place whereby they might escape from their wickedness; <sup>21</sup>With how great carefulness didst thou judge thy sons, To whose fathers thou gavest oaths and covenants of good promises! <sup>22</sup>While therefore thou dost chasten us, thou scourgest our enemies ten thousand times more, To the intent that we may ponder thy goodness when we judge, And when we are judged may look for mercy. <sup>23</sup>Wherefore also the unrighteous that lived in folly of life Thou didst torment through their own abominations. <sup>24</sup>For verily they went astray very far in the ways of error, Taking as gods those animals which even among their enemies were held in dishonour, Deceived like foolish babes. <sup>25</sup>Therefore, as unto unreasoning children, thou didst send thy judgement to mock them. <sup>26</sup>But they that would not be admonished by a mocking correction as of children Shall have experience of a judgement worthy of God. <sup>27</sup>For through the sufferings wherewith they were indignant, Being punished in these creatures which they supposed to be gods, They saw, and recognised as the true God him whom before they refused to know: Wherefore also the last end of condemnation came upon them.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup>For verily all men by nature were but vain who had no perception of God, And from the good things that are seen they gained not power to know him that is, Neither by giving heed to the works did they recognise the artificer; <sup>2</sup>But either fire, or wind, or swift air, Or circling stars, or raging water, or luminaries of heaven, They thought to be gods that rule the world. <sup>3</sup>And if it was through delight in their beauty that they took them to be gods, Let them know how much better than these is their Sovereign Lord; For the first author of beauty created them: <sup>4</sup>But if it was through astonishment at their power and influence, Let them understand from them how much more powerful is he that formed them; <sup>5</sup>For from the greatness of the beauty even of created things In like proportion does man form the image of their first maker. <sup>6</sup>But yet for these men there is but small blame, For they too peradventure do but go astray While they are seeking God and desiring to find him. <sup>7</sup>For living among his works they make diligent search, And they yield themselves up to sight, because the things that they look upon are beautiful. <sup>8</sup>But again even they are not to be excused. <sup>9</sup>For if they had power to know so much, That they should be able to explore the course of things, How is it that they did not sooner find the Sovereign Lord of these his works? <sup>10</sup>But miserable were they, and in dead things were their hopes, Who called them gods which are works of men's hands, Gold and silver, wrought with careful art, and likenesses of animals, Or a useless stone, the work of an ancient hand. <sup>11</sup>Yea and if some woodcutter, having sawn down a tree that is easily moved, Skillfully strippeth away all its bark, And fashioning it in comely form maketh a vessel useful for the service of life; <sup>12</sup>And burning the refuse of his handywork to dress his food, eateth his fill; <sup>13</sup>And taking the very refuse thereof which served to no use, A crooked piece of wood and full of knots, Carveth it with the diligence of his idleness, And shapeth it by the skill of his indolence; Then he giveth it the semblance of the image of a man, <sup>14</sup>Or maketh it like some paltry animal, Smearing it with vermilion, and with paint colouring it red, And smearing over every stain that is therein; <sup>15</sup>And having made for it a chamber worthy of it, He setteth it in a wall, making it fast with iron. <sup>16</sup>While then he taketh thought for it that it may not fall down, Knowing that it is unable to help itself; (For verily it is an image, and hath need of help;) <sup>17</sup>When he maketh his prayer concerning goods and his marriage and children, He is not ashamed to speak to that which hath no life; <sup>18</sup>Yea for health he calleth upon that which is weak, And for life he beseecheth that which is dead, And for aid he supplicateth that which hath least experience, And for a good journey that which cannot so much as move a step, <sup>19</sup>And for gaining and getting and good success of his hands He asketh ability of that which with its hands is most unable.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup>Again, one preparing to sail, and about to journey over raging waves, Calleth upon a piece of wood more rotten than the vessel that carrieth him; <sup>2</sup>For that vessel the hunger for gains devised, And an artificer, even wisdom, built it; <sup>3</sup>And thy providence, O Father, guideth it along, Because even in the sea thou gavest a way, And in the waves a sure path, <sup>4</sup>Shewing that thou canst save out of every danger, That so even without art a man may put to sea; <sup>5</sup>And it is thy will that the works of thy wisdom should not be idle; Therefore also do men intrust their lives to a little piece of wood, And passing through the surge on a raft are brought safe to land. <sup>6</sup>For in the old time also, when proud giants were perishing, The hope of the world, taking refuge on a raft, Left to the race of men a seed of generations to come, Thy hand guiding the helm. <sup>7</sup>For blessed hath been wood through which cometh righteousness: <sup>8</sup>But the idol made with hands is accursed, itself and he that made it; Because his was the working, and the corruptible thing was named a god: <sup>9</sup>For both the ungodly doer and his ungodliness are alike hateful to God; <sup>10</sup>For verily the deed shall be punished together with him that committed it. <sup>11</sup>Therefore also among the idols of the nations shall there be a visitation, Because, though formed of things which God created, they were made an abomination, And stumbling blocks to the souls of men, And a snare to the feet of the foolish. <sup>12</sup>For the devising of idols was the beginning of fornication, And the invention of them the corruption of life: <sup>13</sup>For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever; <sup>14</sup>For by the vaingloriousness of men they entered into the world, And therefore was a speedy end devised for them. <sup>15</sup>For a father worn with untimely grief, Making an image of the child quickly taken away, Now honoured him as a god which was then a dead man, And delivered to those that were under him mysteries and solemn rites. <sup>16</sup>Afterward the ungodly custom, in process of time grown strong, was kept as a law, And by the commandments of princes the graven images received worship. <sup>17</sup>And when men could not honour them in presence because they dwelt far off, Imagining the likeness from afar, They made a visible image of the king whom they honoured, That by their zeal they might flatter the absent as if present. <sup>18</sup>But unto a yet higher pitch was worship raised even by them that knew him not, Urged forward by the ambition of the artificer: <sup>19</sup>For he, wishing peradventure to please one in authority, Used his art to force the likeness toward a greater beauty; <sup>20</sup> And the multitude, allured by reason of the grace of his handywork, Now accounted as an object of devotion him that a little before was honoured as a man. <sup>21</sup>And this became a hidden danger unto life, Because men, in bondage either to calamity or to tyranny, Invested stones and stocks with the incommunicable Name. <sup>22</sup>Afterward it was not enough for them to go astray as touching the knowledge of God; But also, while they live in sore conflict through ignorance of him, That multitude of evils they call peace. <sup>23</sup>For either slaughtering children in solemn rites, or celebrating secret mysteries, Or holding frantic revels of strange ordinances, <sup>24</sup>No longer do they guard either life or purity of marriage, But one brings upon another either death by treachery, or anguish by adulterate offspring. <sup>25</sup> And all things confusedly are filled with blood and murder, theft and deceit, Corruption, faithlessness, tumult, perjury, <sup>26</sup>turmoil, Ingratitude for benefits received, Defiling of souls, confusion of sex, Disorder in marriage, adultery and wantonness. <sup>27</sup>For the worship of those nameless idols Is a beginning and cause and end of every evil. <sup>28</sup>For their worshippers either make merry unto madness, or prophesy lies, Or live unrighteously, or lightly forswear themselves. <sup>29</sup>For putting their trust in lifeless idols, When they have sworn a wicked oath, they expect not to suffer harm. <sup>30</sup>But for both sins shall the just doom pursue them, Because they had evil thoughts of God by giving heed to idols, And swore unrighteously in deceit through contempt for holiness. <sup>31</sup>For it is not the power of them by whom men swear, But it is that Justice which hath regard to them that sin, That visiteth always the transgression of the unrighteous.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup> But thou, our God, art gracious and true, Longsuffering, and in mercy ordering all things. <sup>2</sup>For even if we sin, we are thine, knowing thy dominion; But we shall not sin, knowing that we have been accounted thine: <sup>3</sup>For to be acquainted with thee is perfect righteousness, And to know thy dominion is the root of immortality. <sup>4</sup> For neither were we led astray by any evil device of men's art, Nor yet by painters' fruitless labour, A form stained with varied colours; <sup>5</sup> The sight whereof leadeth fools into lust: Their desire is for the breathless form of a dead image. <sup>6</sup>Lovers of evil things, and worthy of such hopes as these, Are both they that do, and they that desire, and they that worship. <sup>7</sup> For a potter, kneading soft earth, Laboriously mouldeth each several vessel for our service: Nay, out of the same clay doth he fashion Both the vessels that minister to clean uses, and those of a contrary sort, All in like manner; But what shall be the use of each vessel of either sort, The craftsman himself is the judge. <sup>8</sup>And also, labouring to an evil end, he mouldeth a vain god out of the same clay, He who, having but a little before been made of earth, After a short space goeth his way to the earth out of which he was taken, When he is required to render back the soul which was lent him. <sup>9</sup>Howbeit he hath anxious care, Not because his powers must fail, Nor because his span of life is short; But he matcheth himself against goldsmiths and silversmiths, And he imitateth moulders in brass, And esteemeth it glory that he mouldeth counterfeits. <sup>10</sup>His heart is ashes, And his hope of less value than earth, And his life of less honour than clay: <sup>11</sup>Because he was ignorant of him that moulded him, And of him that inspired into him an active soul, And breathed into him a vital spirit. <sup>12</sup>But he accounted our very life to be a plaything, And our lifetime a gainful fair; For, saith he, one must get gain whence one can, though it be by evil. <sup>13</sup>For this man beyond all others knoweth that he sinneth, Out of earthy matter making brittle vessels and graven images. <sup>14</sup>But most foolish were they all, and of feeble soul than a babe, The enemies of thy people, who oppressed them; <sup>15</sup>Because they even accounted all the idols of the nations to be gods; Which have neither the use of eyes for seeing, Nor nostrils for drawing breath, Nor ears to hear, Nor fingers for handling, And their feet are helpless for walking. <sup>16</sup>For a man made them, And one whose own spirit is borrowed moulded them; For no one hath power, being a man, to mould a god like unto himself, <sup>17</sup>But, being mortal, he maketh a dead thing by the work of lawless hands; For he is better than the objects of his worship, Forasmuch as he indeed had life, but they never. <sup>18</sup>YEA, and the creatures that are most hateful do they worship, For, being compared as to want of sense, these are worse than all others; <sup>19</sup>Neither, as seen beside other creatures, are they beautiful, so that one should desire them, But they have escaped both the praise of God and his blessing.

CHAPTER 16

<sup>1</sup>For this cause were these men worthily punished through creatures like those which they worship, And tormented through a multitude of vermin. <sup>2</sup>Instead of which punishment, thou, bestowing benefits on thy people, Preparedst quails for food, Food of rare taste, to satisfy the desire of their appetite; <sup>3</sup>To the end that thine enemies, desiring food, Might for the hideousness of the creatures sent among them Loathe even the necessary appetite; But these, thy people, having for a short space suffered want, Might even partake of food of rare taste. <sup>4</sup>For it was needful that upon those should come inexorable want in their tyrannous dealing, But that to these it should only be shewed how their enemies were tormented. <sup>5</sup>For even when terrible raging of wild beasts came upon thy people, And they were perishing by the bites of crooked serpents, Thy wrath continued not to the uttermost; <sup>6</sup>But for admonition were they troubled for a short space, Having a token of salvation, To put them in remembrance of the commandment of thy law: <sup>7</sup>For he that turned toward it was not saved because of that which was beheld, But because of thee, the Saviour of all. <sup>8</sup>Yea, and in this didst thou persuade our enemies, That thou art he that delivereth out of every evil. <sup>9</sup>For them verily the bites of locusts and flies did slay, And there was not found a healing for their life, Because they were worthy to be punished by such as these; <sup>10</sup>But thy sons not the very teeth of venomous dragons overcame, For thy mercy passed by where they were, and healed them. <sup>11</sup>For they were bitten, to put them in remembrance of thine oracles; And were quickly saved, lest, falling into deep forgetfulness, They should become unable to be roused by thy beneficence: <sup>12</sup>For of a truth it was neither herb nor mollifying plaister that cured them, But thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things; <sup>13</sup> For thou hast authority over life and death, And thou leadest down to the gates of Hades, and leadest up again. <sup>14</sup>But though a man may slay by his wickedness, Yet the spirit that is gone forth he turneth not again, Neither giveth release to the soul that Hades hath received. <sup>15</sup>But thy hand it is not possible to escape; <sup>16</sup>For ungodly men, refusing to know thee, were scourged in the strength of thine arm, Pursued with strange rains and hails and showers inexorable, And utterly consumed with fire; <sup>17</sup>For, what was most marvellous of all, In the water which quencheth all things the fire wrought yet more mightily; For the world fighteth for the righteous. <sup>18</sup>For at one time the flame lost its fierceness, That it might not burn up the creatures sent against the ungodly, But that these themselves as they looked might see that they were chased through the judgement of God: <sup>19</sup> And at another time even in the midst of water it burneth above the power of fire, That it may destroy the fruits of an unrighteous land. <sup>20</sup>Instead whereof thou gavest thy people angels' food to eat, And bread ready for their use didst thou provide for them from heaven without their toil, Bread having the virtue of every pleasant savour, And agreeing to every taste; <sup>21</sup>For thy nature manifested thy sweetness toward thy children; While that bread, ministering to the desire of the eater, Tempered itself according to every man's choice. <sup>22</sup> But snow and ice endured fire, and melted not, That men might know that fire was destroying the fruits of the enemies, Burning in the hail and flashing in the rains; <sup>23</sup>And that this element again, in order that righteous men may be nourished, Hath even forgotten its own power. <sup>24</sup> For the creation, ministering to thee its maker, Straineth its force against the unrighteous, for punishment, And slackeneth it in behalf of them that trust in thee, for beneficence. <sup>25</sup>Therefore at that time also, converting itself into all forms, It ministered to thine all-nourishing bounty, According to the desire of them that made supplication; <sup>26</sup>That thy sons, whom thou lovedst, O Lord, might learn That it is not the growth of the earth's fruits that nourisheth a man, But that thy word preserveth them that trust thee. <sup>27</sup>For that which was not marred by fire, When it was simply warmed by a faint sunbeam melted away; <sup>28</sup>That it might be known that we must rise before the sun to give thee thanks, And must plead with thee at the dawning of the light: <sup>29</sup>For the hope of the unthankful shall melt as the winter's hoar frost, And shall flow away as water that hath no use.

CHAPTER 17

<sup>1</sup>For great are thy judgements, and hard to interpret; Therefore souls undisciplined went astray. <sup>2</sup>For when lawless men had supposed that they held a holy nation in their power, They themselves, prisoners of darkness, and bound in the fetters of a long night, Close kept beneath their roofs, Lay exiled from the eternal providence. <sup>3</sup>For while they thought that they were unseen in their secret sins, They were sundered one from another by a dark curtain of forgetfulness, Stricken with terrible awe, and sore troubled by spectral forms. <sup>4</sup>For neither did the dark recesses that held them guard them from fears, But sounds rushing down rang around them, And phantoms appeared, cheerless with unsmiling faces. <sup>5</sup>And no force of fire prevailed to give them light, Neither were the brightest flames of the stars strong enough to illumine that gloomy night: <sup>6</sup>But only there appeared to them the glimmering of a fire self-kindled, full of fear; And in terror they deemed the things which they saw To be worse than that sight, on which they could not gaze. <sup>7</sup>And they lay helpless, made the sport of magic art, And a shameful rebuke of their vaunts of understanding: <sup>8</sup>For they that promised to drive away terrors and troublings from a sick soul, These were themselves sick with a ludicrous fearfulness: <sup>9</sup>For even if no troublous thing affrighted them, Yet, scared with the creepings of vermin and hissings of serpents, <sup>10</sup>they perished for very trembling, Refusing even to look on the air, which could on no side be escaped. <sup>11</sup>For wickedness, condemned by a witness within, is a coward thing, And, being pressed hard by conscience, always forecasteth the worst lot: <sup>12</sup>For fear is nothing else but a surrender of the succours which reason offereth; <sup>13</sup>And from within the heart the expectation of them being less Maketh of greater account the ignorance of the cause that bringeth the torment. <sup>14</sup>But they, all through the night which was powerless indeed, And which came upon them out of the recesses of powerless Hades, All sleeping the same sleep, <sup>15</sup>Now were haunted by monstrous apparitions, And now were paralysed by their soul's surrendering; For fear sudden and unlooked for came upon them. <sup>16</sup>So then every man, whosoever it might be, sinking down in his place, Was kept in ward shut up in that prison which was barred not with iron: <sup>17</sup>For whether he were a husbandman, or a shepherd, Or a labourer whose toils were in the wilderness, He was overtaken, and endured that inevitable necessity, For with one chain of darkness were they all bound. <sup>18</sup>Whether there were a whistling wind, Or a melodious noise of birds among the spreading branches, Or a measured fall of water running violently, <sup>19</sup>Or a harsh crashing of rocks hurled down, Or the swift course of animals bounding along unseen, Or the voice of wild beasts harshly roaring, Or an echo rebounding from the hollows of the mountains, All these things paralysed them with terror. <sup>20</sup>For the whole world beside was enlightened with clear light, And was occupied with unhindered works; <sup>21</sup>While over them alone was spread a heavy night, An image of the darkness that should afterward receive them; But yet heavier than darkness were they unto themselves.

CHAPTER 18

<sup>1</sup>But for thy holy ones there was great light; And the Egyptians, hearing their voice but seeing not their form, Counted it a happy thing that they too had suffered, <sup>2</sup>Yet for that they do not hurt them now, though wronged by them before, they are thankful; And because they had been at variance with them, they made supplication to them. <sup>3</sup>Whereas thou didst provide for thy people a burning pillar of fire, To be a guide for their unknown journey, And withal a kindly sun for their proud exile.

<sup>4</sup>For well did the Egyptians deserve to be deprived of light and imprisoned by darkness, They who had kept in close ward thy sons, Through whom the incorruptible light of the law was to be given to the race of men. <sup>5</sup>After they had taken counsel to slay the babes of the holy ones, And when a single child had been cast forth and saved to convict them of their sin, Thou tookest away from them their multitude of children, And destroyedst all their host together in a mighty flood. <sup>6</sup>Of that night were our fathers made aware beforehand, That, having sure knowledge, they might be cheered by the oaths which they had trusted: <sup>7</sup>So by thy people was expected salvation of the righteous and destruction of the enemies; <sup>8</sup>For as thou didst take vengeance on the adversaries, By the same means, calling us unto thyself, thou didst glorify us. <sup>9</sup>For holy children of good men offered sacrifice in secret, And with one consent they took upon themselves the covenant of the divine law, That they would partake alike in the same good things and the same perils; The fathers already leading the sacred songs of praise. <sup>10</sup>But there sounded back in discord the cry of the enemies, And a piteous voice of lamentation for children was borne abroad. <sup>11</sup>And servant along with master punished with a like just doom, And commoner suffering the same as king, <sup>12</sup>Yea, all the people together, under one form of death, Had with them corpses without number; For the living were not sufficient even to bury them, Since at a single stroke their nobler offspring was consumed. <sup>13</sup>For while they were disbelieving all things by reason of the enchantments, Upon the destruction of the firstborn they confessed the people to be God's son. <sup>14</sup>For while peaceful silence enwrapped all things, And night in her own swiftness was in mid course, <sup>15</sup>Thine all-powerful word leaped from heaven out of the royal throne, A stern warrior, into the midst of the doomed land, <sup>16</sup>Bearing as a sharp sword thine unfeigned commandment; And standing it filled all things with death; And while it touched the heaven it trode upon the earth. <sup>17</sup>Then forthwith apparitions in dreams terribly troubled them, And fears came upon them unlooked for: <sup>18</sup>And each, one thrown here half dead, another there, Made manifest wherefore he was dying: <sup>19</sup>For the dreams, perturbing them, did foreshew this, That they might not perish without knowing why they were afflicted. <sup>20</sup>But it befell the righteous also to make trial of death, And a multitude were stricken in the wilderness: Howbeit the wrath endured not for long. <sup>21</sup>For a blameless man hastened to be their champion: Bringing the weapon of his own ministry, Even prayer and the propitiation of incense, He withstood the indignation, and set an end to the calamity, Shewing that he was thy servant. <sup>22</sup>And he overcame the anger, Not by strength of body, not by efficacy of weapons; But by word did he subdue the minister of punishment, By bringing to remembrance oaths and covenants made with the fathers. <sup>23</sup>For when the dead were already fallen in heaps one upon another, Standing between he stopped the advancing wrath, And cut off the way to the living. <sup>24</sup>For upon his long highpriestly robe was the whole world, And the glories of the fathers were upon the graving of the four rows of precious stones, And thy majesty was upon the diadem of his head. <sup>25</sup>To these the destroyer gave place, and these the people feared; For it was enough only to make trial of the wrath.

CHAPTER 19

<sup>1</sup>But upon the ungodly there came unto the end indignation without mercy; For their future also God foreknew, <sup>2</sup>How that, having changed their minds to let thy people go, And having speeded them eagerly on their way, They would repent themselves and pursue them. <sup>3</sup>For while they were yet in the midst of their mourning, And making lamentation at the graves of the dead, They drew upon themselves another counsel of folly, And pursued as fugitives those whom with intreaties they had cast out. <sup>4</sup>For the doom which they deserved was drawing them unto this end, And it made them forget the things that had befallen them, That they might fill up the punishment which was yet wanting to their torments, <sup>5</sup>And that thy people might journey on by a marvellous road, But they themselves might find a strange death. <sup>6</sup>For the whole creation, each part in its several kind, was fashioned again anew, Ministering to thy several commandments, That thy servants might be guarded free from hurt. <sup>7</sup>Then was beheld the cloud that shadowed the camp, And dry land rising up out of what before was water, Out of the Red sea an unhindered highway, And a grassy plain out of the violent surge; <sup>8</sup>By which they passed over with all their hosts, These that were covered with thy hand, Having beheld strange marvels. <sup>9</sup>For like horses they roamed at large, And they skipped about like lambs, Praising thee, O Lord, who wast their deliverer. <sup>10</sup>For they still remembered the things that came to pass in the time of their sojourning, How that instead of bearing cattle the land brought forth lice, And instead of fish the river cast up a multitude of frogs. <sup>11</sup> But afterwards they saw also a new race of birds, When, led on by desire, they asked for luxurious dainties; <sup>12</sup>For, to solace them, there came up for them quails from the sea. <sup>13</sup>And upon the sinners came the punishments Not without the tokens that were given beforehand by the force of the thunders; For justly did they suffer through their own wickednesses, For grievous indeed was the hatred which they practised toward guests. <sup>14</sup> For whereas the men of Sodom received not the strangers when they came among them; The Egyptians made slaves of guests who were their benefactors. <sup>15</sup>And not only so, but God shall visit the men of Sodom after another sort, Since they received as enemies them that were aliens; <sup>16</sup> Whereas these first welcomed with feasting, And then afflicted with dreadful toils, Them that had already shared with them in the same rights. <sup>17</sup>And moreover they were stricken with loss of sight (Even as were those others at the righteous man's doors), When, being compassed about with yawning darkness, They sought every one the passage through his own door. <sup>18</sup>For as the notes of a psaltery vary the character of the rhythm, Even so did the elements, changing their order one with another, Continuing always the same, each in its several sound; As may clearly be divined from the sight of the things that are come to pass. <sup>19</sup>For creatures of the dry land were turned into creatures of the waters, And creatures that swim trode now upon the earth: <sup>20</sup> Fire kept the mastery of its own power in the midst of water, And water forgot its quenching nature: <sup>21</sup> Contrariwise, flames wasted not the flesh of perishable creatures that walked among them; Neither melted they the ice-like grains of ambrosial food, that were of nature apt to melt. <sup>22</sup>For in all things, O Lord, thou didst magnify thy people, And thou didst glorify them and not lightly regard them; Standing by their side in every time and place.

ECCLESIASTICUS

CHAPTER 1

<sup>1</sup> All wisdom cometh from the Lord, And is with him for ever. <sup>2</sup>The sand of the seas, and the drops of rain, And the days of eternity, who shall number? <sup>3</sup> The height of the heaven, and the breadth of the earth, And the deep, and wisdom, who shall search them out? <sup>4</sup> Wisdom hath been created before all things, And the understanding of prudence from everlasting. <sup>5</sup> To whom hath the root of wisdom been revealed? And who hath known her shrewd counsels? <sup>6</sup>There is one wise, greatly to be feared, The Lord sitting upon his throne: <sup>7</sup>He created her, And saw, and numbered her, And poured her out upon all his works. <sup>8</sup> She is with all flesh according to his gift; And he gave her freely to them that love him. <sup>9</sup> The fear of the Lord is glory, and exultation, And gladness, and a crown of rejoicing. <sup>10</sup>The fear of the Lord shall delight the heart, And shall give gladness, and joy, and length of days. <sup>11</sup>Whoso feareth the Lord, it shall go well with him at the last, And in the day of his death he shall be blessed. <sup>12</sup> To fear the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; And it was created together with the faithful in the womb. <sup>13</sup> With men she laid an eternal foundation; And with their seed shall she be had in trust. <sup>14</sup> To fear the Lord is the fulness of wisdom; And she satiateth men with her fruits. <sup>15</sup>She shall fill all her house with desirable things, And her garners with her produce. <sup>16</sup>The fear of the Lord is the crown of wisdom, Making peace and perfect health to flourish. <sup>17</sup> He both saw and numbered her; He rained down skill and knowledge of understanding, And exalted the honour of them that hold her fast. <sup>18</sup> To fear the Lord is the root of wisdom; And her branches are length of days. <sup>19</sup> Unjust wrath can never be justified; For the sway of his wrath is his downfall. <sup>20</sup> A man that is longsuffering will bear for a season, And afterward gladness shall spring up unto him; <sup>21</sup> He will hide his words for a season,

And the lips of many shall tell forth his understanding. <sup>22</sup> A parable of knowledge is in the treasures of wisdom; But godliness is an abomination to a sinner. <sup>23</sup> If thou desire wisdom, keep the commandments, And the Lord shall give her unto thee freely: <sup>24</sup> For the fear of the Lord is wisdom and instruction; And in faith and meekness is his good pleasure. <sup>25</sup>Disobey not the fear of the Lord; And come not unto him with a double heart. <sup>26</sup>Be not a hypocrite in the mouths of men; And take good heed to thy lips. <sup>27</sup> Exalt not thyself, lest thou fall, And bring dishonour upon thy soul; And so the Lord shall reveal thy secrets, And shall cast thee down in the midst of the congregation; Because thou camest not unto the fear of the Lord, And thy heart was full of deceit.

<sup>1</sup>My son, if thou comest to serve the Lord, Prepare thy soul for temptation. <sup>2</sup>Set thy heart aright, and constantly endure, And make not haste in time of calamity. <sup>3</sup>Cleave unto him, and depart not, That thou mayest be increased at thy latter end. <sup>4</sup>Accept whatsoever is brought upon thee, And be longsuffering when thou passest into humiliation. <sup>5</sup> For gold is tried in the fire, And acceptable men in the furnace of humiliation. <sup>6</sup> Put thy trust in him, and he will help thee: Order thy ways aright, and set thy hope on him. <sup>7</sup>YE that fear the Lord, wait for his mercy; And turn not aside, lest ye fall. <sup>8</sup>Ye that fear the Lord, put your trust in him; And your reward shall not fail. <sup>9</sup>Ye that fear the Lord, hope for good things, And for eternal gladness and mercy. <sup>10</sup>Look at the generations of old, and see: Who did ever put his trust in the Lord, and was ashamed? Or who did abide in his fear, and was forsaken? Or who did call upon him, and he despised him? <sup>11</sup> For the Lord is full of compassion and mercy; And he forgiveth sins, and saveth in time of affliction. <sup>12</sup>Woe unto fearful hearts, and to faint hands, And to the sinner that goeth two ways! <sup>13</sup>Woe unto the faint heart! for it believeth not; Therefore shall it not be defended. <sup>14</sup>Woe unto you that have lost your patience! And what will ye do when the Lord shall visit you? <sup>15</sup>They that fear the Lord will not disobey his words; And they that love him will keep his ways. <sup>16</sup>They that fear the Lord will seek his good pleasure; And they that love him shall be filled with the law. <sup>17</sup>They that fear the Lord will prepare their hearts, And will humble their souls in his sight, <sup>18</sup> saying, We will fall into the hands of the Lord, And not into the hands of men: For as his majesty is, So also is his mercy.

CHAPTER 3

<sup>1</sup>Hear me your father, O my children, And do thereafter, that ye may be saved. <sup>2</sup>For the Lord hath given the father glory as touching the children, And hath confirmed the judgement of the mother as touching the sons. <sup>3</sup> He that honoureth his father shall make atonement for sins: <sup>4</sup>And he that giveth glory to his mother is as one that layeth up treasure. <sup>5</sup>Whoso honoureth his father shall have joy of his children; And in the day of his prayer he shall be heard. <sup>6</sup>He that giveth glory to his father shall have length of days; And he that hearkeneth unto the Lord shall bring rest unto his mother, <sup>7</sup> And will do service under his parents, as unto masters. <sup>8</sup> In deed and word honour thy father, That a blessing may come upon thee from him. <sup>9</sup> For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of children; But the curse of the mother rooteth out the foundations. <sup>10</sup>GLORIFY not thyself in the dishonour of thy father; For thy father's dishonour is no glory unto thee. <sup>11</sup> For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father; And a mother in dishonour is a reproach to her children. <sup>12</sup>My son, help thy father in his old age; And grieve him not as long as he liveth. <sup>13</sup>And if he fail in understanding, have patience with him; And dishonour him not while thou art in thy full strength. <sup>14</sup>For the relieving of thy father shall not be forgotten: And instead of sins it shall be added to build thee up. <sup>15</sup>In the day of thine affliction it shall remember thee; As fair weather upon ice, So shall thy sins also melt away. <sup>16</sup>He that forsaketh his father is as a blasphemer; And he that provoketh his mother is cursed of the Lord. <sup>17</sup>My son, go on with thy business in meekness; So shalt thou be beloved of an acceptable man. <sup>18</sup> The greater thou art, humble thyself the more, And thou shalt find favour before the Lord. <sup>19</sup>For great is the potency of the Lord, And he is glorified of them that are lowly. <sup>20</sup> Seek not things that are too hard for thee, And search not out things that are above thy strength. <sup>21</sup> The things that have been commanded thee, think thereupon; For thou hast no need of the things that are secret. <sup>22</sup>Be not over busy in thy superfluous works: For more things are shewed unto thee than men can understand. <sup>24</sup> For the conceit of many hath led them astray; And evil surmising hath caused their judgement to slip. <sup>26</sup> A stubborn heart shall fare ill at the last; And he that loveth danger shall perish therein. <sup>27</sup> A stubborn heart shall be laden with troubles; And the sinner shall heap sin upon sin. <sup>28</sup> The calamity of the proud is no healing; For a plant of wickedness hath taken root in him. <sup>29</sup> The heart of the prudent will understand a parable; And the ear of a listener is the desire of a wise man. <sup>30</sup> Water will quench a flaming fire; And almsgiving will make atonement for sins. <sup>31</sup> He that requiteth good turns is mindful of that which cometh afterward; And in the time of his falling he shall find a support.

CHAPTER 4

<sup>1</sup> My son, deprive not the poor of his living, And make not the needy eyes to wait long. <sup>2</sup> Make not a hungry soul sorrowful; Neither provoke a man in his distress. <sup>3</sup> To a heart that is provoked add not more trouble; And defer not to give to him that is in need. <sup>4</sup> Reject not a suppliant in his affliction; And turn not away thy face from a poor man. <sup>5</sup> Turn not away thine eye from one that asketh of thee, And give none occasion to a man to curse thee: <sup>6</sup> For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soul, He that made him will hear his supplication. <sup>7</sup> GET thyself the love of the congregation; And to a great man bow thy head. <sup>8</sup> Incline thine ear to a poor man, And answer him with peaceable words in meekness. <sup>9</sup> Deliver him that is wronged from the hand of him that wrongeth him; And be not fainthearted in giving judgement. <sup>10</sup> Be as a father unto the fatherless, And instead of a husband unto their mother: So shalt thou be as a son of the Most High, And he shall love thee more than thy mother doth. <sup>11</sup> Wisdom exalteth her sons, And taketh hold of them that seek her. <sup>12</sup> He that loveth her loveth life; And they that seek to her early shall be filled with gladness. <sup>13</sup> He that holdeth her fast shall inherit glory; And where he entereth, the Lord will bless. <sup>14</sup> They that do her service shall minister to the Holy One; And them that love her the Lord doth love. <sup>15</sup> He that giveth ear unto her shall judge the nations; And he that giveth heed unto her shall dwell securely. <sup>16</sup> If he trust her, he shall inherit her; And his generations shall have her in possession. <sup>17</sup> For at the first she will walk with him in crooked ways, And will bring fear and dread upon him, And torment him with her discipline, Until she may trust his soul, and try him by her judgements. <sup>18</sup> Then will she return again the straight way unto him, And will gladden him, and reveal to him her secrets. <sup>19</sup> If he go astray, she will forsake him, And give him over to his fall. <sup>20</sup> OBSERVE the opportunity, and beware of evil; And be not ashamed concerning thy soul. <sup>21</sup> For there is a shame that bringeth sin; And there is a shame that is glory and grace. <sup>22</sup> Accept not the person of any against thy soul; And reverence no man unto thy falling. <sup>23</sup> Refrain not speech, when it tendeth to safety; And hide not thy wisdom for the sake of fair-seeming. <sup>24</sup> For by speech wisdom shall be known; And instruction by the word of the tongue. <sup>25</sup> Speak not against the truth; And be abashed for thine ignorance. <sup>26</sup> Be not ashamed to make confession of thy sins; And force not the current of the river. <sup>27</sup> Lay not thyself down for a fool to tread upon; And accept not the person of one that is mighty. <sup>28</sup> Strive for the truth unto death, and the Lord God shall fight for thee. <sup>29</sup> Be not hasty in thy tongue, And in thy deeds slack and remiss. <sup>30</sup> Be not as a lion in thy house, Nor fanciful among thy servants. <sup>31</sup> Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and closed when thou shouldest repay.

CHAPTER 5

<sup>1</sup> Set not thy heart upon thy goods; And say not, They are sufficient for me. <sup>2</sup> Follow not thine own mind and thy strength, To walk in the desires of thy heart; <sup>3</sup> And say not, Who shall have dominion over me? For the Lord will surely take vengeance on thee. <sup>4</sup> Say not, I sinned, and what happened unto me? For the Lord is longsuffering. <sup>5</sup> Concerning atonement, be not without fear, To add sin upon sins: <sup>6</sup> And say not, His compassion is great; He will be pacified for the multitude of my sins: For mercy and wrath are with him, And his indignation will rest upon sinners. <sup>7</sup> Make no tarrying to turn to the Lord; And put not off from day to day: For suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord come forth; And thou shalt perish in the time of vengeance. <sup>8</sup> SET not thine heart upon unrighteous gains: For thou shalt profit nothing in the day of calamity.

<sup>9</sup> Winnow not with every wind, And walk not in every path: Thus doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue. <sup>10</sup> Be stedfast in thy understanding; And let thy word be one. <sup>11</sup> Be swift to hear; And with patience make thine answer. <sup>12</sup> If thou hast understanding, answer thy neighbour; And if not, let thy hand be upon thy mouth. <sup>13</sup> Glory and dishonour is in talk: And the tongue of a man is his fall. <sup>14</sup> Be not called a whisperer; And lie not in wait with thy tongue: For upon the thief there is shame, And an evil condemnation upon him that hath a double tongue. <sup>15</sup> In a great matter and in a small, be not ignorant;

CHAPTER 6

<sup>1</sup> And instead of a friend become not an enemy; For an evil name shall inherit shame and reproach: Even so shall the sinner that hath a double tongue. <sup>2</sup> Exalt not thyself in the counsel of thy soul; That thy soul be not torn in pieces as a bull. <sup>3</sup> Thou shalt eat up thy leaves, and destroy thy fruits, And leave thyself as a dry tree. <sup>4</sup> A wicked soul shall destroy him that hath gotten it, And shall make him a laughingstock to his enemies. <sup>5</sup> Sweet words will multiply a man's friends; And a fair-speaking tongue will multiply courtesies. <sup>6</sup> Let those that are at peace with thee be many; But thy counsellors one of a thousand. <sup>7</sup> If thou wouldest get thee a friend, get him by proving, And be not in haste to trust him. <sup>8</sup> For there is a friend that is so for his own occasion; And he will not continue in the day of thy affliction. <sup>9</sup> And there is a friend that turneth to enmity; And he will discover strife to thy reproach. <sup>10</sup> And there is a friend that is a companion at the table; And he will not continue in the day of thy affliction. <sup>11</sup> And in thy prosperity he will be as thyself, And will be bold over thy servants: <sup>12</sup> If thou shalt be brought low, he will be against thee, And will hide himself from thy face. <sup>13</sup> Separate thyself from thine enemies; And beware of thy friends. <sup>14</sup> A FAITHFUL friend is a strong defence; And he that hath found him hath found a treasure. <sup>15</sup> There is nothing that can be taken in exchange for a faithful friend; And his excellency is beyond price. <sup>16</sup> A faithful friend is a medicine of life; And they that fear the Lord shall find him. <sup>17</sup> He that feareth the Lord directeth his friendship aright; For as he is, so is his neighbour also. <sup>18</sup> My son, gather instruction from thy youth up: And even unto hoar hairs thou shalt find wisdom. <sup>19</sup> Come unto her as one that ploweth and soweth, And wait for her good fruits; For thy toil shall be little in the tillage of her, And thou shalt eat of her fruits right soon. <sup>20</sup> How exceeding harsh is she to the unlearned! And he that is without understanding will not abide in her. <sup>21</sup> As a mighty stone of trial shall she rest upon him; And he will not delay to cast her from him. <sup>22</sup> For wisdom is according to her name; and she is not manifest unto many. <sup>23</sup> GIVE ear, my son, and accept my judgement, And refuse not my counsel, <sup>24</sup> And bring thy feet into her fetters, And thy neck into her chain. <sup>25</sup> Put thy shoulder under her, and bear her, And be not grieved with her bonds. <sup>26</sup> Come unto her with all thy soul, And keep her ways with thy whole power. <sup>27</sup> Search, and seek, and she shall be made known unto thee; And when thou hast got hold of her, let her not go. <sup>28</sup> For at the last thou shalt find her rest; And she shall be turned for thee into gladness. <sup>29</sup> And her fetters shall be to thee for a covering of strength, And her chains for a robe of glory. <sup>30</sup> For there is a golden ornament upon her, And her bands are a riband of blue. <sup>31</sup> Thou shalt put her on as a robe of glory, And shalt array thee with her as a crown of rejoicing. <sup>32</sup> My son, if thou wilt, thou shalt be instructed; And if thou wilt yield thy soul, thou shalt be prudent. <sup>33</sup> If thou love to hear, thou shalt receive; And if thou incline thine ear, thou shalt be wise. <sup>34</sup> Stand thou in the multitude of the elders; And whoso is wise, cleave thou unto him. <sup>35</sup> Be willing to listen to every godly discourse; And let not the proverbs of understanding escape thee. <sup>36</sup> If thou seest a man of understanding, get thee betimes unto him, And let thy foot wear out the steps of his doors. <sup>37</sup> Let thy mind dwell upon the ordinances of the Lord, And meditate continually in his commandments: He shall establish thine heart, And thy desire of wisdom shall be given unto thee.

before the king. <sup>6</sup>Seek not to be a judge, Lest thou be not able to take away iniquities; Lest haply thou fear the person of a mighty man, And lay a stumblingblock in the way of thy uprightness. <sup>7</sup>Sin not against the multitude of the city, And cast not thyself down in the crowd. <sup>8</sup>Bind not up sin twice; For in one sin thou shalt not be unpunished. <sup>9</sup>Say not, He will look upon the multitude of my gifts, And when I offer to the Most High God, he will accept it. <sup>10</sup>Be not fainthearted in thy prayer; And neglect not to give alms. <sup>11</sup>LAUGH not a man to scorn when he is in the bitterness of his soul; For there is one who humbleth and exalteth. <sup>12</sup>Devise not a lie against thy brother; Neither do the like to a friend. <sup>13</sup>Love not to make any manner of lie; For the custom thereof is not for good. <sup>14</sup>Prate not in the multitude of elders; And repeat not thy words in thy prayer. <sup>15</sup>HATE not laborious work; Neither husbandry, which the Most High hath ordained. <sup>16</sup>Number not thyself among the multitude of sinners: Remember that wrath will not tarry. <sup>17</sup>Humble thy soul greatly; For the punishment of the ungodly man is fire and the worm. <sup>18</sup>CHANGE not a friend for a thing indifferent; Neither a true brother for the gold of Ophir. <sup>19</sup>Forgo not a wise and good wife; For her grace is above gold. <sup>20</sup>Entreat not evil a servant that worketh truly, Nor a hireling that giveth thee his life. <sup>21</sup>Let thy soul love a wise servant; Defraud him not of liberty. <sup>22</sup>HAST thou cattle? have an eye to them; And if they are profitable to thee, let them stay by thee. <sup>23</sup>Hast thou children? correct them, And bow down their neck from their youth. <sup>24</sup>Hast thou daughters? give heed to their body, And make not thy face cheerful toward them. <sup>25</sup>Give thy daughter in marriage, and thou shalt have accomplished a great matter: And give her to a man of understanding. <sup>26</sup>HAST thou a wife after thy mind? cast her not out: But trust not thyself to one that is hateful. <sup>27</sup>Give glory to thy father with thy whole heart; And forget not the pangs of thy mother. <sup>28</sup>Remember that of them thou wast born: And what wilt thou recompense them for the things that they have done for thee? <sup>29</sup>FEAR the Lord with all thy soul; And reverence his priests. <sup>30</sup>With all thy strength love him that made thee; And forsake not his ministers. <sup>31</sup>Fear the Lord, and glorify the priest; And give him his portion, even as it is commanded thee; The firstfruits, and the trespass offering, and the gift of the shoulders, And the sacrifice of sanctification, and the firstfruits of holy things. <sup>32</sup>Also to the poor man stretch out thy hand, That thy blessing may be perfected. <sup>33</sup>A gift hath grace in the sight of every man living; And for a dead man keep not back grace. <sup>34</sup>Be not wanting to them that weep; And mourn with them that mourn. <sup>35</sup>Be not slow to visit a sick man; For by such things thou shalt gain love. <sup>36</sup>In all thy matters remember thy last end, And thou shalt never do amiss.

<sup>1</sup>Contend not with a mighty man, Lest haply thou fall into his hands. <sup>2</sup>Strive not with a rich man, lest haply he outweigh thee: For gold hath destroyed many, And turned aside the hearts of kings. <sup>3</sup>Contend not with a man that is full of tongue, And heap not wood upon his fire. <sup>4</sup>Jest not with a rude man, Lest thine ancestors be dishonoured. <sup>5</sup>Reproach not a man when he turneth from sin: Remember that we are all worthy of punishment. <sup>6</sup>Dishonour not a man in his old age; For some of us also are waxing old. <sup>7</sup>Rejoice not over one that is dead: Remember that we die all. <sup>8</sup>Neglect not the discourse of the wise, And be conversant with their proverbs; For of them thou shalt learn instruction, And how to minister to great men. <sup>9</sup>Miss not the discourse of the aged; For they also learned of their fathers: Because from them thou shalt learn understanding, And to give answer in time of need. <sup>10</sup>Kindle not the coals of a sinner, Lest thou be burned with the flame of his fire. <sup>11</sup>Rise not up from the presence of an insolent man, Lest he lie in wait as an ambush for thy mouth. <sup>12</sup>Lend not to a man that is mightier than thyself; And if thou lend, be as one that hath lost. <sup>13</sup>Be not surety above thy power: And if thou be surety, take thought as one that will have to pay. <sup>14</sup>GO not to law with a judge; For according to his honour will they give judgement for him. <sup>15</sup>Go not in the way with a rash man, Lest he be aggrieved with thee; For he will do according to his own will, And thou shalt perish with his folly. <sup>16</sup>Fight not with a wrathful man, And travel not with him through the desert: For blood is as nothing in his sight; And where there is no help, he will overthrow thee. <sup>17</sup>Take not counsel with a fool; For he will not be able to conceal the matter. <sup>18</sup>Do no secret thing before a stranger; For thou knowest not what he will bring forth. <sup>19</sup>Open not thine heart to every man; And let him not return thee a favour.

CHAPTER 9

<sup>1</sup>Be not jealous over the wife of thy bosom, And teach her not an evil lesson against thyself. <sup>2</sup>Give not thy soul unto a woman, That she should set her foot upon thy strength. <sup>3</sup>Go not to meet a woman that playeth the harlot, Lest haply thou fall into her snares. <sup>4</sup>Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, Lest haply thou be caught by her attempts. <sup>5</sup>Gaze not on a maid, lest haply thou be trapped in her penalties. <sup>6</sup>Give not thy soul unto harlots, That thou lose not thine inheritance. <sup>7</sup>Look not round about thee in the streets of the city, Neither wander thou in the solitary places thereof. <sup>8</sup>Turn away thine eye from a comely woman, And gaze not on another's beauty: By the beauty of a woman many have been led astray; And herewith love is kindled as a fire. <sup>9</sup>Sit not at all with a woman that hath a husband; And revel not with her at the wine; Lest haply thy soul turn aside unto her, And with thy spirit thou slide into destruction. <sup>10</sup>Forsake not an old friend; For the new is not comparable to him: As new wine, so is a new friend; If it became old, thou shalt drink it with gladness. <sup>11</sup>ENVY not the glory of a sinner; For thou knowest not what shall be his overthrow. <sup>12</sup>Delight not in the delights of the ungodly: Remember they shall not go unpunished unto the grave. <sup>13</sup>KEEP thee far from the man that hath power to kill, And thou shalt have no suspicion of the fear of death: And if thou come unto him, commit no fault, Lest he take away thy life: Know surely that thou goest about in the midst of snares, And walkest upon the battlements of a city. <sup>14</sup>AS well as thou canst, guess at thy neighbours; And take counsel with the wise. <sup>15</sup>Let thy converse be with men of understanding; And let all thy discourse be in the law of the Most High. <sup>16</sup>Let just men be the companions of thy board; And let thy glorying be in the fear of the Lord. <sup>17</sup>For the hand of the artificers a work shall be commended: And he that ruleth the people shall be counted wise for his speech. <sup>18</sup>A man full of tongue is dangerous in his city; And he that is headlong in his speech shall be hated.

CHAPTER 10

<sup>1</sup>A wise judge will instruct his people; And the government of a man of understanding shall be well ordered. <sup>2</sup>As is the judge of his people, so are his ministers; And as is the ruler of the city, such are all they that dwell therein. <sup>3</sup>An uninstructed king will destroy his people; And a city will be established through the understanding of the powerful. <sup>4</sup>In the hand of the Lord is the authority of the earth; And in due time he will raise up over it one that is profitable. <sup>5</sup>In the hand of the Lord is the prosperity of a man; And upon the person of the scribe shall he lay his honour. <sup>6</sup>Be not wroth with thy neighbour for every wrong; And do nothing by works of violence. <sup>7</sup>Pride is hateful before the Lord and before men; And in the judgement of both will unrighteousness err. <sup>8</sup>Sovereignty is transferred from nation to nation, Because of iniquities, and deeds of violence, and greed of money. <sup>9</sup>Why is earth and ashes proud? Because in his life he hath cast away his bowels. <sup>10</sup>It is a long disease; the physician mocketh: And he is a king to-day, and to-morrow he shall die. <sup>11</sup>For when a man is dead, He shall inherit creeping things, and beasts, and worms. <sup>12</sup>It is the beginning of pride when a man departeth from the Lord; And his heart is departed from him that made him. <sup>13</sup>For the beginning of pride is sin; And he that keepeth it will pour forth abomination. For this cause the Lord brought upon them strange calamities, And overthrew them utterly. <sup>14</sup>The Lord cast down the thrones of rulers, And set the meek in their stead. <sup>15</sup>The Lord plucked up the roots of nations, And planted the lowly in their stead. <sup>16</sup>The Lord overthrew the lands of nations, And destroyed them unto the foundations of the earth. <sup>17</sup>He took some of them away, and destroyed them, And made their memorial to cease from the earth. <sup>18</sup>Pride hath not been created for men, Nor wrathful anger for the offspring of women. <sup>19</sup>WHAT manner of seed hath honour? the seed of man. What manner of seed hath honour? they that fear the Lord. What manner of seed hath no honour? the seed of man. What manner of seed hath no honour? they that transgress the commandments. <sup>20</sup>In the midst of brethren he that ruleth them hath honour; And in the eyes of the Lord they that fear him. <sup>22</sup>The rich man, and the honourable, and the poor,

Their glorying is the fear of the Lord. <sup>23</sup> It is not right to dishonour a poor man that hath understanding; And it is not fitting to glorify a man that is a sinner. <sup>24</sup> The great man, and the judge, and the mighty man, shall be glorified; And there is not one of them greater than he that feareth the Lord. <sup>25</sup> Free men shall minister unto a wise servant; And a man that hath knowledge will not murmur thereat. <sup>26</sup> Be not over wise in doing thy work; And glorify not thyself in the time of thy distress. <sup>27</sup> Better is he that laboureth, and aboundeth in all things, Than he that glorifieth himself, and lacketh bread. <sup>28</sup> My son, glorify thy soul in meekness, And give it honour according to the worthiness thereof. <sup>29</sup> Who will justify him that sinneth against his own soul? And who will glorify him that dishonoureth his own life? <sup>30</sup> A POOR man is glorified for his knowledge; And a rich man is glorified for his riches. <sup>31</sup> But he that is glorified in poverty, how much more in riches? And he that is inglorious in riches, how much more in poverty?

<sup>1</sup> The wisdom of the lowly shall lift up his head, And make him to sit in the midst of great men. <sup>2</sup> Commend not a man for his beauty; And abhor not a man for his outward appearance. <sup>3</sup> The bee is little among such as fly; And her fruit is the chief of sweetmeats. <sup>4</sup> Glory not in the putting on of raiment, And exalt not thyself in the day of honour; For the works of the Lord are wonderful, And his works are hidden among men. <sup>5</sup> Many kings have sat down upon the ground; And one that was never thought of hath worn a diadem. <sup>6</sup> Many mighty men have been greatly disgraced; And men of renown have been delivered into other men's hands. <sup>7</sup> Blame not before thou hast examined: Understand first, and then rebuke. <sup>8</sup> Answer not before thou hast heard; And interrupt not in the midst of speech. <sup>9</sup> Strive not in a matter that concerneth thee not; And where sinners judge, sit not thou with them. <sup>10</sup> My son, be not busy about many matters: For if thou meddle much, thou shalt not be unpunished; And if thou pursue, thou shalt not overtake; And thou shalt not escape by fleeing. <sup>11</sup> There is one that toileth, and laboureth, and maketh haste, And is so much the more behind. <sup>12</sup> There is one that is sluggish, and hath need of help, Lacking in strength, and that aboundeth in poverty; And the eyes of the Lord looked upon him for good, And he set him up from his low estate, <sup>13</sup> And lifted up his head; And many marvelled at him. <sup>14</sup> Good things and evil, life and death, Poverty and riches, are from the Lord. <sup>17</sup> The gift of the Lord remaineth with the godly, And his good pleasure shall prosper for ever. <sup>18</sup> There is that waxeth rich by his wariness and pinching, And this is the portion of his reward: <sup>19</sup> When he saith, I have found rest, And now will I eat of my goods; Yet he knoweth not what time shall pass, And he shall leave them to others, and die. <sup>20</sup> Be stedfast in thy covenant, and be conversant therein, And wax old in thy work. <sup>21</sup> MARVEL not at the works of a sinner; But trust the Lord, and abide in thy labour: For it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord swiftly on the sudden to make a poor man rich. <sup>22</sup> The blessing of the Lord is in the reward of the godly; And in an hour that cometh swiftly he maketh his blessing to flourish. <sup>23</sup> Say not, What use is there of me? And what from henceforth shall my good things be? <sup>24</sup> Say not, I have sufficient, And from henceforth what harm shall happen unto me? <sup>25</sup> In the day of good things there is a forgetfulness of evil things; And in the day of evil things a man will not remember things that are good. <sup>26</sup> For it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord To reward a man in the day of death according to his ways. <sup>27</sup> The affliction of an hour causeth forgetfulness of delight; And in the last end of a man is the revelation of his deeds. <sup>28</sup> Call no man blessed before his death; And a man shall be known in his children. <sup>29</sup> BRING not every man into thine house; For many are the plots of the deceitful man. <sup>30</sup> As a decoy partridge in a cage, so is the heart of a proud man; And as one that is a spy, he looketh upon thy falling. <sup>31</sup> For he lieth in wait to turn things that are good into evil; And in things that are praiseworthy he will lay blame. <sup>32</sup> From a spark of fire a heap of many coals is kindled; And a sinful man lieth in wait for blood. <sup>33</sup> Take heed of an evil-doer, for he contriveth wicked things; Lest haply he bring upon thee blame for ever. <sup>34</sup> Receive a stranger into thine house, and he will distract thee with brawls, And estrange thee from thine own.

<sup>1</sup> If thou do good, know to whom thou doest it; And thy good deeds shall have thanks. <sup>2</sup> Do good to a godly man, and thou shalt find a recompense; And if not from him, yet from the Most High. <sup>3</sup> There shall no good come to him that continueth to do evil, Nor to him that giveth no alms. <sup>4</sup> Give to the godly man, And help not the sinner. <sup>5</sup> Do good to one that is lowly, And give not to an ungodly man: Keep back his bread, and give it not to him, Lest he overmaster thee thereby: For thou shalt receive twice as much evil For all the good thou shalt have done unto him. <sup>6</sup> For the Most High also hateth sinners, And will repay vengeance unto the ungodly. <sup>7</sup> Give to the good man, And help not the sinner. <sup>8</sup> A man's friend will not be fully tried in prosperity; And his enemy will not be hidden in adversity. <sup>9</sup> In a man's prosperity his enemies are grieved; And in his adversity even his friend will be separated from him. <sup>10</sup> Never trust thine enemy: For like as the brass rusteth, so is his wickedness. <sup>11</sup> Though he humble himself, and go crouching, Yet take good heed, and beware of him, And thou shalt be unto him as one that hath wiped a mirror, And thou shalt know that he hath not utterly rusted it. <sup>12</sup> Set him not by thee, Lest he overthrow thee and stand in thy place; Let him not sit on thy right hand, Lest he seek to take thy seat, And at the last thou acknowledge my words, And be pricked with my sayings. <sup>13</sup> Who will pity a charmer that is bitten with a serpent, Or any that come nigh wild beasts? <sup>14</sup> Even so who will pity him that goeth to a sinner, And is mingled with him in his sins? <sup>15</sup> For a while he will abide with thee, And if thou give way, he will not hold out. <sup>16</sup> And the enemy will speak sweetly with his lips, And in his heart take counsel how to overthrow thee into a pit: The enemy will weep with his eyes, And if he find opportunity, he will not be satiated with blood. <sup>17</sup> If adversity meet thee, thou shalt find him there before thee; And as though he would help thee, he will trip up thy heel. <sup>18</sup> He will shake his head, and clap his hands, And whisper much, and change his countenance.

CHAPTER 13

<sup>1</sup> He that toucheth pitch shall be defiled; And he that hath fellowship with a proud man shall become like unto him. <sup>2</sup> Take not up a burden above thy strength; And have no fellowship with one that is mightier and richer than thyself. What fellowship shall the earthen pot have with the kettle? This shall smite, and that shall be dashed in pieces. <sup>3</sup> The rich man doeth a wrong, and he threateneth withal: The poor is wronged, and he shall intreat withal. <sup>4</sup> If thou be profitable, he will make merchandise of thee; And if thou be in want, he will forsake thee. <sup>5</sup> If thou have substance, he will live with thee; And he will make thee bare, and will not be sorry. <sup>6</sup> Hath he had need of thee? then he will deceive thee, And smile upon thee, and give thee hope: He will speak thee fair, and say, What needest thou? <sup>7</sup> And he will shame thee by his meats, Until he have made thee bare twice or thrice, And at the last he will laugh thee to scorn: Afterward will he see thee, and will forsake thee, And shake his head at thee. <sup>8</sup> Beware that thou be not deceived, and brought low in thy mirth. <sup>9</sup> If a mighty man invite thee, be retiring, And so much the more will he invite thee. <sup>10</sup> Press not upon him, lest thou be thrust back; And stand not far off, lest thou be forgotten. <sup>11</sup> Affect not to speak with him as an equal, And believe not his many words: For with much talk will he try thee, And in a smiling manner will search thee out. <sup>12</sup> He that keepeth not to himself words spoken is unmerciful; And he will not spare to hurt and to bind. <sup>13</sup> Keep them to thyself, and take earnest heed, For thou walkest in peril of thy falling. <sup>15</sup> Every living creature loveth his like, And every man loveth his neighbour. <sup>16</sup> All flesh consorteth according to kind, And a man will cleave to his like. <sup>17</sup> What fellowship shall the wolf have with the lamb? So is the sinner unto the godly. <sup>18</sup> What peace is there between the hyena and the dog? And what peace between the rich man and the poor? <sup>19</sup> Wild asses are the prey of lions in the wilderness; So poor men are pasture for the rich. <sup>20</sup> Lowliness is an abomination to a proud man; So a poor man is an abomination to the rich. <sup>21</sup> A RICH man when he is shaken is held up of his friends; But one of low degree being down is thrust away also by his friends. <sup>22</sup> When a rich man is fallen, there are many helpers; He speaketh things not to be spoken, and men justify him: A man of low degree falleth, and men rebuke him withal; He uttereth wisdom, and no place is allowed him. <sup>23</sup> A rich man speaketh, and all keep silence; And what he saith they extol to the clouds: A poor man speaketh, and they say, Who is this? And if he stumble, they will help to overthrow him. <sup>24</sup> Riches are good that have no sin; And poverty is evil in the mouth of the ungodly. <sup>25</sup> The heart of a man changeth his countenance, Whether it be for good or for evil. <sup>26</sup> A cheerful countenance is a token of a heart that is in prosperity; And the finding out of parables is a weariness of thinking.

CHAPTER 14

<sup>1</sup> Blessed is the man that hath not slipped with his mouth, And is not pricked with sorrow for sins. <sup>2</sup> Blessed is he whose soul doth not condemn him, And who is not fallen from his hope. <sup>3</sup> Riches are not comely for a niggard; And what should an envious man do with money? <sup>4</sup> He that gathereth by taking from his own soul gathereth for others; And others shall revel in his goods. <sup>5</sup> He that is evil to himself, to whom will he be good? And he shall not rejoice in his possessions. <sup>6</sup> There is none more evil than he that envieth himself; And this is a recompense of his wickedness. <sup>7</sup> Even if he doeth good, he doeth it in forgetfulness; And at the last he sheweth forth his wickedness. <sup>8</sup> Evil is he that envieth with his eye, Turning away the face, and despising the souls of men. <sup>9</sup> A covetous man's eye is not satisfied with his portion; And wicked injustice drieth up his soul. <sup>10</sup> An evil eye is grudging of bread, And he is miserly at his table. <sup>11</sup> My son, according as thou hast, do well unto thyself, And bring offerings unto the Lord worthily. <sup>12</sup> Remember that death will not tarry, And that the covenant of the grave is not shewed unto thee. <sup>13</sup> Do well unto thy friend before thou die; And according to thy ability stretch out thy hand and give to him. <sup>14</sup> Defraud not thyself of a good day; And let not the portion of a good desire pass thee by. <sup>15</sup> Shalt thou not leave thy labours unto another? And thy toils to be divided by lot? <sup>16</sup> Give, and take, and beguile thy soul; For there is no seeking of luxury in the grave. <sup>17</sup> All flesh waxeth old as a garment; For the covenant from the beginning is, Thou shalt die the death. <sup>18</sup> As of the leaves flourishing on a thick tree, Some it sheddeth, and some it maketh to grow; So also of the generations of flesh and blood, One cometh to an end, and another is born. <sup>19</sup> Every work rotteth and falleth away, And the worker thereof shall depart with it. <sup>20</sup> Blessed is the man that shall meditate in wisdom, And that shall discourse by his understanding. <sup>21</sup> He that considereth her ways in his heart Shall also have knowledge in her secrets. <sup>22</sup> Go forth after her as one that tracketh, And lie in wait in her ways. <sup>23</sup> He that prieth in at her windows Shall also hearken at her doors. <sup>24</sup> He that lodgeth close to her house Shall also fasten a nail in her walls. <sup>25</sup> He shall pitch his tent nigh at hand to her, And shall lodge in a lodging where good things are. <sup>26</sup> He shall set his children under her shelter, And shall rest under her branches. <sup>27</sup> By her he shall be covered from heat, And shall lodge in her glory.

CHAPTER 15

<sup>1</sup> He that feareth the Lord will do this; And he that hath possession of the law shall obtain her. <sup>2</sup> And as a mother shall she meet him, And receive him as a wife married in her virginity. <sup>3</sup> With bread of understanding shall she feed him, And give him water of wisdom to drink. <sup>4</sup> He shall be stayed upon her, and shall not be moved; And shall rely upon her, and shall not be confounded. <sup>5</sup> And she shall exalt him above his neighbours; And in the midst of the congregation shall she open his mouth. <sup>6</sup> He shall inherit joy, and a crown of gladness, And an everlasting name. <sup>7</sup> Foolish men shall not obtain her; And sinners shall not see her. <sup>8</sup> She is far from pride; And liars shall not remember her. <sup>9</sup> Praise is not comely in the mouth of a sinner; For it was not sent him from the Lord. <sup>10</sup> For praise shall be spoken in wisdom; And the Lord will prosper it. <sup>11</sup> Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I fell away; For thou shalt not do the things that he hateth. <sup>12</sup> Say not thou, It is he that caused me to err; For he hath no need of a sinful man. <sup>13</sup> The Lord hateth every abomination; And they that fear him love it not. <sup>14</sup> He himself made man from the beginning, And left him in the hand of his own counsel. <sup>15</sup> If thou wilt, thou shalt keep the commandments; And to perform faithfulness is of thine own good pleasure. <sup>16</sup> He hath set fire and water before thee: Thou shalt stretch forth thy hand unto whichsoever thou wilt. <sup>17</sup> Before man is life and death; And whichsoever he liketh, it shall be given him. <sup>18</sup> For great is the wisdom of the Lord: He is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things; <sup>19</sup> And his eyes are upon them that fear him; And he will take knowledge of every work of man.

<sup>20</sup> He hath not commanded any man to be ungodly; And he hath not given any man licence to sin.

<sup>1</sup> Desire not a multitude of unprofitable children, Neither delight in ungodly sons. <sup>2</sup> If they multiply, delight not in them, Except the fear of the Lord be with them. <sup>3</sup> Trust not thou in their life, Neither rely on their condition: For one is better than a thousand; And to die childless than to have ungodly children. <sup>4</sup> For from one that hath understanding shall a city be peopled; But a race of wicked men shall be made desolate. <sup>5</sup> Many such things have I seen with mine eyes; And mine ear hath heard mightier things than these. <sup>6</sup> In the congregation of sinners shall a fire be kindled; And in a disobedient nation wrath is kindled. <sup>7</sup> He was not pacified toward the giants of old time, Who revolted in their strength. <sup>8</sup> He spared not those with whom Lot sojourned, Whom he abhorred for their pride. <sup>9</sup> He pitied not the people of perdition, Who were taken away in their sins. <sup>10</sup> And in like manner the six hundred thousand footmen, Who were gathered together in the hardness of their hearts. <sup>11</sup> Even if there be one stiffnecked person, It is marvel if he shall be unpunished: For mercy and wrath are with him; He is mighty to forgive, and he poureth out wrath. <sup>12</sup> As his mercy is great, so is his correction also: He judgeth a man according to his works. <sup>13</sup> The sinner shall not escape with his plunder; And the patience of the godly shall not be frustrate. <sup>14</sup> He will make room for every work of mercy; Each man shall find according to his works. <sup>15</sup> Say not thou, I shall be hidden from the Lord; And who shall remember me from on high? I shall not be known among so many people; For what is my soul in a boundless creation? <sup>16</sup> Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, The deep, and the earth, shall be moved when he shall visit. <sup>17</sup> The mountains and the foundations of the earth together Are shaken with trembling, when he looketh upon them. <sup>18</sup> And no heart shall think upon these things: And who shall conceive his ways? <sup>19</sup> And there is a tempest which no man shall see; Yea, the more part of his works are hid. <sup>20</sup> Who shall declare the works of his righteousness? Or who shall endure them? For his covenant is afar off. <sup>21</sup> He that is wanting in understanding thinketh upon these things; And an unwise and erring man thinketh follies. <sup>22</sup> My son, hearken unto me, and learn knowledge, And give heed to my words with thy heart. <sup>23</sup> I will shew forth instruction by weight, And declare knowledge exactly. <sup>24</sup> In the judgement of the Lord are his works from the beginning; And from the making of them he disposed the parts thereof. <sup>25</sup> He garnished his works for ever, And the beginnings of them unto their generations: They neither hunger, nor are weary, And they cease not from their works. <sup>26</sup> No one thrusteth aside his neighbour; And they shall never disobey his word. <sup>27</sup> After this also the Lord looked upon the earth, And filled it with his blessings. <sup>28</sup> All manner of living things covered the face thereof; And into it is their return.

<sup>1</sup> The Lord created man of the earth, And turned him back unto it again. <sup>2</sup> He gave them days by number, and a set time, And gave them authority over the things that are thereon. <sup>3</sup> He endued them with strength proper to them; And made them according to his own image. <sup>4</sup> He put the fear of man upon all flesh, And gave him to have dominion over beasts and fowls. <sup>5</sup> Counsel, and tongue, and eyes, Ears, and heart, gave he them to understand withal. <sup>6</sup> He filled them with the knowledge of wisdom, And shewed them good and evil. <sup>7</sup> He set his eye upon their hearts, To shew them the majesty of his works. <sup>8</sup> And they shall praise the name of his holiness, That they may declare the majesty of his works. <sup>9</sup> He added unto them knowledge, And gave them a law of life for a heritage. <sup>10</sup> He made an everlasting covenant with them, And shewed them his judgements. <sup>11</sup> Their eyes saw the majesty of his glory; And their ear heard the glory of his voice. <sup>12</sup> And he said unto them, Beware of all unrighteousness; And he gave them commandment, each man concerning his neighbour. <sup>13</sup> Their ways are ever before him; They shall not be hid from his eyes. <sup>14</sup> For every nation he appointed a ruler; And Israel is the Lord's portion. <sup>15</sup> All their works are as the sun before him; And his eyes are continually upon their ways. <sup>16</sup> Their iniquities are not hid from him; And all their sins are before the Lord. <sup>17</sup> With him the alms of a man is as a signet; And he will keep the bounty of a man as the apple of the eye. <sup>18</sup> Afterwards he will rise up and recompense them,

And render their recompense upon their head. <sup>24</sup> Howbeit unto them that repent he granteth a return; And he comforteth them that are losing patience. <sup>25</sup> RETURN unto the Lord, and forsake sins: Make thy prayer before his face, and lessen the offence. <sup>26</sup> Turn again to the Most High, and turn away from iniquity; And greatly hate the abominable thing. <sup>27</sup> Who shall give praise to the Most High in the grave, Instead of them which live and return thanks? <sup>28</sup> Thanksgiving perisheth from the dead, as from one that is not: He that is in life and health shall praise the Lord. <sup>29</sup> How great is the mercy of the Lord, And his forgiveness unto them that turn unto him! <sup>30</sup> For all things cannot be in men, Because the son of man is not immortal. <sup>31</sup> What is brighter than the sun? yet this faileth: And an evil man will think on flesh and blood. <sup>32</sup> He looketh upon the power of the height of heaven: And all men are earth and ashes.

<sup>1</sup> He that liveth for ever created all things in common. <sup>2</sup> The Lord alone shall be justified. <sup>4</sup> To none hath he given power to declare his works: And who shall trace out his mighty deeds? <sup>5</sup> Who shall number the strength of his majesty? And who shall also tell out his mercies? <sup>6</sup> As for the wondrous works of the Lord, it is not possible to take from them nor add to them, Neither is it possible to track them out. <sup>7</sup> When a man hath finished, then he is but at the beginning; And when he ceaseth, then shall he be in perplexity. <sup>8</sup> What is man, and whereto serveth he? What is his good, and what is his evil? <sup>9</sup> The number of man's days at the most are a hundred years. <sup>10</sup> As a drop of water from the sea, and a pebble from the sand; So are a few years in the day of eternity. <sup>11</sup> For this cause the Lord was long suffering over them, And poured out his mercy upon them. <sup>12</sup> He saw and perceived their end, that it is evil; Therefore he multiplied his forgiveness. <sup>13</sup> The mercy of a man is upon his neighbour; But the mercy of the Lord is upon all flesh; Reproving, and chastening, and teaching, And bringing again, as a shepherd doth his flock. <sup>14</sup> He hath mercy on them that accept chastening, And that diligently seek after his judgements. <sup>15</sup> My son, to thy good deeds add no blemish; And no grief of words in any of thy giving. <sup>16</sup> Shall not the dew assuage the scorching heat? So is a word better than a gift. <sup>17</sup> Lo, is not a word better than a gift? And both are with a gracious man. <sup>18</sup> A fool will upbraid ungraciously; And the gift of an envious man consumeth the eyes. <sup>19</sup> LEARN before thou speak; And have a care of thy health or ever thou be sick. <sup>20</sup> Before judgement examine thyself; And in the hour of visitation thou shalt find forgiveness. <sup>21</sup> Humble thyself before thou be sick; And in the time of sins shew repentance. <sup>22</sup> Let nothing hinder thee to pay thy vow in due time; And wait not until death to be justified. <sup>23</sup> Before thou makest a vow, prepare thyself; And be not as a man that tempteth the Lord. <sup>24</sup> Think upon the wrath that shall be in the days of the end, And the time of vengeance, when he turneth away his face. <sup>25</sup> In the days of fulness remember the time of hunger, And poverty and want in the days of wealth. <sup>26</sup> From morning until evening the time changeth; And all things are speedy before the Lord. <sup>27</sup> A wise man will fear in everything; And in days of sinning he will beware of offence. <sup>28</sup> Every man of understanding knoweth wisdom; And he will give thanks unto him that found her. <sup>29</sup> They that were of understanding in sayings became also wise themselves, And poured forth apt proverbs. <sup>30</sup> GO not after thy lusts; And refrain thyself from thine appetites. <sup>31</sup> If thou give fully to thy soul the delight of her desire, She will make thee the laughingstock of thine enemies. <sup>32</sup> Make not merry in much luxury; Neither be tied to the expense thereof. <sup>33</sup> Be not made a beggar by banqueting upon borrowing, When thou hast nothing in thy purse.

CHAPTER 19

<sup>1</sup> A workman that is a drunkard shall not become rich: He that despiseth small things shall fall by little and little. <sup>2</sup> Wine and women will make men of understanding to fall away: And he that cleaveth to harlots will be the more reckless. <sup>3</sup> Moths and worms shall have him to heritage; And a reckless soul shall be taken away. <sup>4</sup> He that is hasty to trust is lightminded; And he that sinneth shall offend against his own soul. <sup>5</sup> He that maketh merry in his heart shall be condemned: <sup>6</sup> And he that hateth talk hath the less wickedness. <sup>7</sup> Never repeat what is told thee, And thou shalt fare never the worse. <sup>8</sup> Whether it be of friend or foe, tell it not; And unless it is a sin to thee, reveal it not. <sup>9</sup> For he hath heard thee, and observed thee, And when the time cometh he will hate thee. <sup>10</sup> Hast thou heard a word? let it die with thee: Be of good courage, it will not burst thee. <sup>11</sup> A fool will travail in pain with a word, As a woman in labour with a child. <sup>12</sup> As an arrow that sticketh in the flesh of the thigh, So is a word in a fool's belly. <sup>13</sup> REPROVE a friend; it may be he did it not: And if he did something, that he may do it no more. <sup>14</sup> Reprove thy neighbour; it may be he said it not: And if he hath said it, that he may not say it again. <sup>15</sup> Reprove a friend; for many times there is slander: And trust not every word. <sup>16</sup> There is one that slippeth, and not from the heart: And who is he that hath not sinned with his tongue? <sup>17</sup> Reprove thy neighbour before thou threaten him; And give place to the law of the Most High. <sup>18</sup> All wisdom is the fear of the Lord; And in all wisdom is the doing of the law. <sup>19</sup> And the knowledge of wickedness is not wisdom; And the prudence of sinners is not counsel. <sup>20</sup> There is a wickedness, and the same is abomination; And there is a fool wanting in wisdom. <sup>21</sup> Better is one that hath small understanding, and feareth, Than one that hath much prudence, and transgresseth the law. <sup>22</sup> There is an exquisite subtilty, and the same is unjust; And there is one that perverteth favour to gain a judgement. <sup>23</sup> There is one that doeth wickedly, that hangeth down his head with mourning; But inwardly he is full of deceit, <sup>24</sup> Bowing down his face, and making as if he were deaf of one ear: Where he is not known, he will be beforehand with thee. <sup>25</sup> And if for want of power he be hindered from sinning, If he find opportunity, he will do mischief. <sup>26</sup> A man shall be known by his look, And one that hath understanding shall be known by his face, when thou meetest him. <sup>27</sup> A man's attire, and grinning laughter, And gait, shew what he is.

CHAPTER 20

<sup>1</sup> There is a reproof that is not comely; And there is a man that keepeth silence, and he is wise. <sup>2</sup> How good is it to reprove, rather than to be wroth; And he that maketh confession shall be kept back from hurt. <sup>3</sup> As is the lust of an eunuch to deflower a virgin; So is he that executeth judgements with violence. <sup>4</sup> There is one that keepeth silence and is found wise; And there is one that is hated for his much talk. <sup>5</sup> There is one that keepeth silence, for he hath no answer to make; And there is that keepeth silence, as knowing his time. <sup>6</sup> A wise man will be silent till his time come; But the braggart and fool will overpass his time. <sup>7</sup> He that useth many words shall be abhorred; And he that taketh to himself authority therein shall be hated. <sup>8</sup> There is a prosperity that a man findeth in misfortunes; And there is a gain that turneth to loss. <sup>9</sup> There is a gift that shall not profit thee; And there is a gift whose recompense is double. <sup>10</sup> There is an abasement because of glory; And there is that hath lifted up his head from a low estate. <sup>11</sup> There is that buyeth much for a little, And payeth for it again sevenfold. <sup>12</sup> He that is wise in words shall make himself beloved; But the pleasantries of fools shall be wasted. <sup>13</sup> The gift of a fool shall not profit thee; For his eyes are many instead of one. <sup>14</sup> He will give little, and upbraid much; And he will open his mouth like a crier: To-day he will lend, and to-morrow he will ask it again: Such an one is a hateful man. <sup>15</sup> The fool will say, I have no friend, And I have no thanks for my good deeds; They that eat my bread are of evil tongue. <sup>16</sup> How oft, and of how many, shall he be laughed to scorn! <sup>17</sup> A SLIP on a pavement is better than a slip with the tongue; So the fall of the wicked shall come speedily. <sup>18</sup> A man without grace is as a tale out of season: It will be continually in the mouth of the ignorant. <sup>19</sup> A wise sentence from a fool's mouth will be rejected; For he will not speak it in its season. <sup>20</sup> There is that is hindered from sinning through want; And when he taketh rest, he shall not be troubled. <sup>21</sup> There is that destroyeth his soul through bashfulness; And by a foolish countenance he will destroy it. <sup>22</sup> There is that for bashfulness promiseth to his friend; And he maketh him his enemy for nothing. <sup>23</sup> A LIE is a foul blot in a man: It will be continually in the mouth of the ignorant. <sup>24</sup> A thief is better than a man that is continually lying; But they both shall inherit destruction. <sup>25</sup> The disposition of a liar is dishonour; And his shame is with him continually. <sup>26</sup> He that is wise in words shall advance himself; And one that is prudent will please great men. <sup>27</sup> He that tilleth his land shall raise his heap high; And he that pleaseth great men shall get pardon for iniquity. <sup>28</sup> Presents and gifts blind the eyes of the wise, And as a muzzle on the mouth, turn away reproofs. <sup>29</sup> Wisdom that is hid, and treasure that is out of sight,

What profit is in them both? <sup>31</sup> Better is a man that hideth his folly Than a man that hideth his wisdom.

<sup>1</sup>My son, hast thou sinned? add no more thereto; And make supplication for thy former sins. <sup>2</sup>Flee from sin as from the face of a serpent; For if thou draw nigh it will bite thee: The teeth thereof are the teeth of a lion, Slaying the souls of men. <sup>3</sup>All iniquity is as a twoedged sword; Its stroke hath no healing. <sup>4</sup>TERROR and violence will lay waste riches; So the house of a haughty man shall be laid waste. <sup>5</sup>Supplication from a poor man's mouth reacheth to the ears of God, And his judgement cometh speedily. <sup>6</sup>One that hateth reproof is in the path of the sinner; And he that feareth the Lord will turn again in his heart. <sup>7</sup>He that is mighty in tongue is known afar off: But the man of understanding knoweth when he slippeth. <sup>8</sup>He that buildeth his house with other men's money Is like one that gathereth himself stones against winter. <sup>9</sup>The congregation of wicked men is as tow wrapped together; And the end of them is a flame of fire. <sup>10</sup>The way of sinners is made smooth with stones; And at the last end thereof is the pit of Hades. <sup>11</sup>He that keepeth the law becometh master of the intent thereof; And the end of the fear of the Lord is wisdom. <sup>12</sup>He that is not clever will not be instructed; And there is a cleverness which maketh bitterness to abound. <sup>13</sup>The knowledge of a wise man shall be made to abound as a flood; And his counsel as a fountain of life. <sup>14</sup>The inward parts of a fool are like a broken vessel; And he will hold no knowledge. <sup>15</sup>If a man of knowledge hear a wise word, He will commend it, and add unto it: The dissolute man heareth it, and it displeaseth him, And he putteth it away behind his back. <sup>16</sup>The discourse of a fool is like a burden in the way; But grace shall be found on the lips of the wise. <sup>17</sup>The mouth of the prudent man shall be sought for in the congregation; And they will ponder his words in their heart. <sup>18</sup>AS a house that is destroyed, so is wisdom to a fool; And the knowledge of an unwise man is as talk without sense. <sup>19</sup>Instruction is as fetters on the feet of an unwise man, And as manacles on the right hand. <sup>20</sup>A fool lifteth up his voice with laughter; But a clever man will scarce smile quietly. <sup>21</sup>Instruction is to a prudent man as an ornament of gold, And as a bracelet upon his right arm. <sup>22</sup>The foot of a fool is soon in another man's house; But a man of experience will be ashamed of entering. <sup>23</sup>A foolish man peepeth in from the door of another man's house; But a man that is instructed will stand without. <sup>24</sup>It is a want of instruction in a man to listen at the door; But the prudent man will be grieved with the disgrace. <sup>25</sup>The lips of strangers will be grieved at these things; But the words of prudent men will be weighed in the balance. <sup>26</sup>The heart of fools is in their mouth; But the mouth of wise men is their heart. <sup>27</sup>When the ungodly curseth Satan, He curseth his own soul. <sup>28</sup>A whisperer defileth his own soul, And shall be hated wheresoever he sojourneth.

<sup>1</sup>A slothful man is compared to a stone that is defiled; And every one will hiss him out in his disgrace. <sup>2</sup>A slothful man is compared to the filth of a dunghill: Every man that taketh it up will shake out his hand. <sup>3</sup>A father hath shame in having begotten an uninstructed son; And a foolish daughter is born to his loss. <sup>4</sup>A prudent daughter shall inherit a husband of her own; And she that bringeth shame is the grief of him that begat her. <sup>5</sup>She that is bold bringeth shame upon father and husband; And she shall be despised of them both. <sup>6</sup>Unseasonable discourse is as music in mourning; But stripes and correction are wisdom at every season. <sup>7</sup>He that teacheth a fool is as one that glueth a potsherd together; Even as one that waketh a sleeper out of a deep sleep. <sup>8</sup>He that discourseth to a fool is as one discoursing to a man that slumbereth; And at the end he will say, What is it? <sup>9</sup>Weep for the dead, for light hath failed him; And weep for a fool, for understanding hath failed him: Weep more sweetly for the dead, because he hath found rest; But the life of the fool is worse than death. <sup>12</sup>Seven days are the days of mourning for the dead; But for a fool and an ungodly man, all the days of his life. <sup>13</sup>TALK not much with a foolish man, And go not to one that hath no understanding: Beware of him, lest thou have trouble; And so thou shalt not be defiled in his onslaught: Turn aside from him, and thou shalt find rest; And so thou shalt not be wearied in his madness. <sup>14</sup>What shall be heavier than lead? And what is the name thereof, but a fool? <sup>15</sup>Sand, and salt, and a mass of iron, is easier to bear, Than a man without understanding. <sup>16</sup>TIMBER girt and bound into a building shall not be loosed with shaking: So a heart established in due season on well advised counsel shall not be afraid. <sup>17</sup>A heart settled upon a thoughtful understanding Is as an ornament of plaister on a polished wall. <sup>18</sup>Pales set on a high place will not stand against the wind: So a fearful heart in the imagination of a fool will not stand against any fear. <sup>19</sup>He that pricketh the eye will make tears to fall; And he that pricketh the heart maketh it to shew feeling. <sup>20</sup>Whoso casteth a stone at birds frayeth them away; And he that upbraideth a friend will dissolve friendship. <sup>21</sup>If thou hast drawn a sword against a friend, despair not; For there may be a returning. <sup>22</sup>If thou hast opened thy mouth against a friend, fear not; For there may be a reconciling; Except it be for upbraiding, and arrogance, and disclosing of a secret, and a treacherous blow: For these things every friend will flee. <sup>23</sup>GAIN trust with thy neighbour in his poverty, That in his prosperity thou mayest have gladness: Abide steadfast unto him in the time of his affliction, That thou mayest be heir with him in his inheritance. <sup>24</sup>Before fire is the vapour and smoke of a furnace; So revilings before bloodshed. <sup>25</sup>I will not be ashamed to shelter a friend; And I will not hide myself from his face: <sup>26</sup>And if any evil happen unto me because of him, Every one that heareth it will beware of him. <sup>27</sup>WHO shall set a watch over my mouth, And a seal of shrewdness upon my lips, That I fall not from it, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAPTER 23

<sup>1</sup>O Lord, Father and Master of my life, Abandon me not to their counsel: Suffer me not to fall by them. <sup>2</sup>Who will set scourges over my thought, And a discipline of wisdom over mine heart? That they spare me not for mine ignorances, And my heart pass not by their sins: <sup>3</sup>That mine ignorances be not multiplied, And my sins abound not; And I shall fall before mine adversaries, And mine enemy rejoice over me. <sup>4</sup>O Lord, Father and God of my life, Give me not a proud look, <sup>5</sup>And turn away concupiscence from me. <sup>6</sup>Let not greediness and chambering overtake me; And give me not over to a shameless mind. <sup>7</sup>Hear ye, my children, the discipline of the mouth; And he that keepeth it shall not be taken. <sup>8</sup>The sinner shall be overtaken in his lips; And the reviler and the proud man shall stumble therein. <sup>9</sup>Accustom not thy mouth to an oath; And be not accustomed to the naming of the Holy One. <sup>10</sup>For as a servant that is continually scourged shall not lack a bruise, So he also that sweareth and nameth God continually shall not be cleansed from sin. <sup>11</sup>A man of many oaths shall be filled with iniquity; And the scourge shall not depart from his house: If he shall offend, his sin shall be upon him; And if he disregard it, he hath sinned doubly; And if he hath sworn in vain, he shall not be justified; For his house shall be filled with calamities. <sup>12</sup>There is a manner of speech that is clothed about with death: Let it not be found in the heritage of Jacob; For all these things shall be far from the godly, And they shall not wallow in sins. <sup>13</sup>Accustom not thy mouth to gross rudeness, For therein is the word of sin. <sup>14</sup>Remember thy father and thy mother, For thou sittest in the midst of great men; That thou be not forgetful before them, And become a fool by thy custom; So shalt thou wish that thou hadst not been born, And curse the day of thy nativity. <sup>15</sup>A man that is accustomed to words of reproach Will not be corrected all the days of his life. <sup>16</sup>TWO sorts of men multiply sins, And the third will bring wrath: A hot mind, as a burning fire, will not be quenched till it be consumed: A fornicator in the body of his flesh will never cease till he hath burned out the fire. <sup>17</sup>All bread is sweet to a fornicator: He will not leave off till he die. <sup>18</sup>A man that goeth astray from his own bed, Saying in his heart, Who seeth me? Darkness is round about me, and the walls hide me, And no man seeth me; of whom am I afraid? The Most High will not remember my sins; <sup>19</sup>—And the eyes of men are his terror, And he knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter than the sun, Beholding all the ways of men, And looking into secret places. <sup>20</sup>All things were known unto him or ever they were created; And in like manner also after they were perfected. <sup>21</sup>This man shall be punished in the streets of the city; And where he suspected not he shall be taken. <sup>22</sup>So also a wife that leaveth her husband, And bringeth in an heir by a stranger. <sup>23</sup>For first, she was disobedient in the law of the Most High; And secondly, she trespassed against her own husband; And thirdly, she played the adulteress in whoredom, And brought in children by a stranger. <sup>24</sup>She shall be brought out into the congregation; And upon her children shall there be visitation. <sup>25</sup> Her children shall not spread into roots, And her branches shall bear no fruit. <sup>26</sup> She shall leave her memory for a curse; And her reproach shall not be blotted out. <sup>27</sup> And they that are left behind shall know that there is nothing better than the fear of the Lord, And nothing sweeter than to take heed unto the commandments of the Lord.

<sup>1</sup> Wisdom shall praise herself, And shall glory in the midst of her people. <sup>2</sup> In the congregation of the Most High shall she open her mouth, And glory in the presence of his power. <sup>3</sup> I came forth from the mouth of the Most High, And covered the earth as a mist. <sup>4</sup> I dwelt in high places, And my throne is in the pillar of the cloud. <sup>5</sup> Alone I compassed the circuit of heaven, And walked in the depth of the abyss. <sup>6</sup> In the waves of the sea, and in all the earth, And in every people and nation, I got a possession. <sup>7</sup> With all these I sought rest; And in whose inheritance shall I lodge? <sup>8</sup> Then the Creator of all things gave me a commandment; And he that created me made my tabernacle to rest, And said, Let thy tabernacle be in Jacob, And thine inheritance in Israel. <sup>9</sup> He created me from the beginning before the world; And to the end I shall not fail. <sup>10</sup> In the holy tabernacle I ministered before him; And so was I established in Sion. <sup>11</sup> In the beloved city likewise he gave me rest; And in Jerusalem was my authority. <sup>12</sup> And I took root in a people that was glorified, Even in the portion of the Lord's own inheritance. <sup>13</sup> I was exalted like a cedar in Libanus, And as a cypress tree on the mountains of Hermon. <sup>14</sup> I was exalted like a palm tree on the sea shore, And as rose plants in Jericho, And as a fair olive tree in the plain; And I was exalted as a plane tree. <sup>15</sup> As cinnamon and aspalathus, I have given a scent of perfumes; And as choice myrrh, I spread abroad a pleasant odour; As galbanum, and onyx, and stacte, And as the fume of frankincense in the tabernacle. <sup>16</sup> As the terebinth I stretched out my branches; And my branches are branches of glory and grace. <sup>17</sup> As the vine I put forth grace; And my flowers are the fruit of glory and riches. <sup>18</sup> Come unto me, ye that are desirous of me, And be ye filled with my produce. <sup>19</sup> For my memorial is sweeter than honey, And mine inheritance than the honeycomb. <sup>20</sup> They that eat me shall yet be hungry; And they that drink me shall yet be thirsty. <sup>21</sup> He that obeyeth me shall not be ashamed; And they that work in me shall not do amiss. <sup>22</sup> All these things are the book of the covenant of the Most High God, Even the law which Moses commanded us for a heritage unto the assemblies of Jacob. <sup>23</sup> It is he that maketh wisdom abundant, as Pishon, And as Tigris in the days of new fruits; <sup>24</sup> That maketh understanding full as Euphrates, And as Jordan in the days of harvest; <sup>25</sup> That maketh instruction to shine forth as the light, As Gihon in the days of vintage. <sup>26</sup> The first man knew her not perfectly; And in like manner the last hath not traced her out. <sup>27</sup> For her thoughts are filled from the sea, And her counsels from the great deep. <sup>28</sup> And I came out as a stream from a river, And as a conduit into a garden. <sup>29</sup> I said, I will water my garden, And will water abundantly my garden bed; And, lo, my stream became a river, And my river became a sea. <sup>30</sup> I will yet bring instruction to light as the morning, And will make these things to shine forth afar off. <sup>31</sup> I will yet pour out doctrine as prophecy, And leave it unto generations of ages. <sup>32</sup> Behold that I have not laboured for myself only, But for all them that diligently seek her.

CHAPTER 25

<sup>1</sup> In three things I was beautified, And stood up beautiful before the Lord and men: The concord of brethren, and friendship of neighbours, And a woman and her husband that walk together in agreement. <sup>2</sup> But three sorts of men my soul hateth, And I am greatly offended at their life: A poor man that is haughty, and a rich man that is a liar, And an old man that is an adulterer lacking understanding. <sup>3</sup> In thy youth thou hast not gathered, And how shouldest thou find in thine old age? <sup>4</sup> How beautiful a thing is judgement for gray hairs, And for elders to know counsel! <sup>5</sup> How beautiful is the wisdom of old men, And thought and counsel to men that are in honour! <sup>6</sup> Much experience is the crown of old men; And their glorying is the fear of the Lord. <sup>7</sup> There be nine things that I have thought of, and in mine heart counted happy; And the tenth I will utter with my tongue: A man that hath joy of his children; A man that liveth and looketh upon the fall of his enemies: <sup>8</sup> Happy is he that dwelleth with a wife of understanding; And he that hath not slipped with his tongue; And he that hath not served a man that is unworthy of him: <sup>9</sup> Happy is he that hath found prudence; And he that discourseth in the ears of them that listen. <sup>10</sup> How great is he that hath found wisdom! Yet is there none above him that feareth the Lord. <sup>11</sup> The fear of the Lord passeth all things: He that holdeth it, to whom shall he be likened? <sup>12</sup> GIVE me any plague but the plague of the heart; And any wickedness but the wickedness of a woman; <sup>13</sup> Any calamity, but a calamity from them that hate me; And any vengeance, but the vengeance of enemies. <sup>14</sup> There is no head above the head of a serpent; And there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy. <sup>15</sup> I will rather dwell with a lion and a dragon, Than keep house with a wicked woman. <sup>16</sup> The wickedness of a woman changeth her look, And darkeneth her countenance as a bear doth. <sup>17</sup> Her husband shall sit at meat among his neighbours, And when he heareth it he sigheth bitterly. <sup>18</sup> All malice is but little to the malice of a woman: Let the portion of a sinner fall on her. <sup>19</sup> As the going up a sandy way is to the feet of the aged, So is a wife full of words to a quiet man. <sup>20</sup> Throw not thyself upon the beauty of a woman; And desire not a woman for her beauty. <sup>21</sup> There is anger, and impudence, and great reproach, If a woman maintain her husband. <sup>22</sup> A wicked woman is abasement of heart, And sadness of countenance, and a wounded heart: A woman that will not make her husband happy Is as hands that hang down, and palsied knees. <sup>23</sup> From a woman was the beginning of sin; And because of her we all die. <sup>24</sup> Give not water an outlet; Neither to a wicked woman freedom of speech. <sup>25</sup> If she go not as thou wouldest have her, Cut her off from thy flesh.

<sup>1</sup> Happy is the husband of a good wife; And the number of his days shall be twofold. <sup>2</sup> A brave woman rejoiceth her husband; And he shall fulfil his years in peace. <sup>3</sup> A good wife is a good portion: She shall be given in the portion of such as fear the Lord. <sup>4</sup> Whether a man be rich or poor, A good heart maketh at all times a cheerful countenance. <sup>5</sup> Of three things my heart was afraid; And concerning the fourth kind I made supplication: The slander of a city, and the assembly of a multitude, and a false accusation: All these are more grievous than death. <sup>6</sup> A grief of heart and sorrow is a woman that is jealous of another woman, And the scourge of a tongue communicating to all. <sup>7</sup> A wicked woman is as a yoke of oxen shaken to and fro: He that taketh hold of her is as one that graspeth a scorpion. <sup>8</sup> A drunken woman causeth great wrath; And she will not cover her own shame. <sup>9</sup> The whoredom of a woman is in the lifting up of her eyes; And it shall be known by her eyelids. <sup>10</sup> Keep strict watch on a headstrong daughter, Lest she find liberty for herself, and use it. <sup>11</sup> Look well after an impudent eye; And marvel not if it trespass against thee. <sup>12</sup> She will open her mouth, as a thirsty traveller, And drink of every water that is near: At every post will she sit down, And open her quiver against any arrow. <sup>13</sup> The grace of a wife will delight her husband; And her knowledge will fatten his bones. <sup>14</sup> A silent woman is a gift of the Lord; And there is nothing so much worth as a well-instructed soul. <sup>15</sup> A shamefast woman is grace upon grace; And there is no price worthy of a continent soul. <sup>16</sup> As the sun when it ariseth in the highest places of the Lord, So is the beauty of a good wife in the ordering of a man's house. <sup>17</sup> As the lamp that shineth upon the holy candlestick, So is the beauty of the face in ripe age. <sup>18</sup> As the golden pillars are upon a base of silver, So are beautiful feet with the breasts of one that is stedfast. <sup>19</sup> For two things my heart is grieved; And for the third anger cometh upon me: A man of war that suffereth for poverty; And men of understanding that are counted as refuse: One that turneth back from righteousness to sin; The Lord shall prepare him for the sword. <sup>20</sup> A MERCHANT shall hardly keep himself from wrong doing; And a huckster shall not be acquitted of sin.

CHAPTER 27

<sup>1</sup> Many have sinned for a thing indifferent; And he that seeketh to multiply gain will turn his eye away. <sup>2</sup> A nail will stick fast between the joinings of stones; And sin will thrust itself in between buying and selling. <sup>3</sup> Unless a man hold on diligently in the fear of the Lord, His house shall soon be overthrown. <sup>4</sup> In the shaking of a sieve, the refuse remaineth; So the filth of man in his reasoning. <sup>5</sup> The furnace will prove the potter's vessels; And the trial of a man is in his reasoning. <sup>6</sup> The fruit of a tree declareth the husbandry thereof; So is the utterance of the thought of the heart of a man. <sup>7</sup> Praise no man before thou hearest him reason; For this is the trial of men. <sup>8</sup> If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt obtain her, And put her on, as a long robe of glory. <sup>9</sup> Birds will resort unto their like; And truth will return unto them that practise her. <sup>10</sup> The lion lieth in wait for prey; So doth sin for them that work iniquity. <sup>11</sup> The discourse of a godly man is always wisdom: But the foolish man changeth as the moon. <sup>12</sup> Among men void of understanding observe the opportunity; But stay continually among the thoughtful. <sup>13</sup> The discourse of fools is an offence; And their laughter is in the wantonness of sin. <sup>14</sup> The talk of a man of many oaths will make the hair stand upright; And their strife maketh one stop his ears. <sup>15</sup> The strife of the proud is a shedding of blood; And their reviling of each other is a grievous thing to hear. <sup>16</sup> He that revealeth secrets destroyeth credit, And shall not find a friend to his mind. <sup>17</sup> Love a friend, and keep faith with him: But if thou reveal his secrets, Thou shalt not pursue after him; <sup>18</sup> For as a man hath destroyed his enemy, So hast thou destroyed the friendship of thy neighbour. <sup>19</sup> And as a bird which thou hast loosed out of thy hand, So hast thou let thy neighbour go, and thou wilt not catch him again: <sup>20</sup> Pursue him not, for he is gone far away, And hath escaped as a gazelle out of the snare. <sup>21</sup> For a wound may be bound up, and after reviling there may be a reconciliation; But he that revealeth secrets hath lost hope. <sup>22</sup> ONE that winketh with the eye contriveth evil things; And no man will remove him from it. <sup>23</sup> When thou art present, he will speak sweetly, And will admire thy words; But afterward he will writhe his mouth, And set a trap for thee in thy words. <sup>24</sup> I have hated many things, but nothing like him; And the Lord will hate him. <sup>25</sup> ONE that casteth a stone on high casteth it on his own head; And a deceitful stroke will open wounds. <sup>26</sup> He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it; And he that setteth a snare shall be taken therein. <sup>27</sup> He that doeth evil things, they shall roll upon him, And he shall not know whence they have come to him. <sup>28</sup> Mockery and reproach are from the haughty; And vengeance, as a lion, shall lie in wait for him. <sup>29</sup> They that rejoice at the fall of the godly shall be taken in a snare; And anguish shall consume them before they die. <sup>30</sup> WRATH and anger, these also are abominations; And a sinful man shall possess them.
